Pronunciation

American English

This dictionary shows pronunciations used by the speakers of the most common American English dialects. Sometimes more than one pronunciation is shown. For example, many Americans say the first vowel in data as /deɪ/. While many others say this vowel as /ɛɪ/. We show data as /deɪɛ/, /deɪ/. This means that both pronunciations are possible and are commonly used by educated speakers. We have not, however, shown all American dialects and all possible pronunciations. For example, news is shown only as /nuɛz/ even though a few Americans might pronounce this word as /nuɛz/. In words like caught and dog we show the vowel /ə/ in place of /ɑ/. So that caught and cot are both said as /kæt/.

Use of the Hyphen

When more than one pronunciation is given for a word, we usually show only the part of the pronunciation that is different from the first pronunciation, replacing the parts that are the same with a hyphen: economics /ˌɛkoʊˈnæmiks/, -i-. The hyphen is also used for showing the division between syllables when this might not be clear: boyish /ˈboʊɨʃ/, drawing /ˈdrɔɪŋ/, clockwise /ˈklʌkwɔɪz/.

Symbols

The symbols used in this dictionary are based on the symbols of the International Phonetic Alphabet (IPA) with a few changes. The symbol /y/, which is closer to English spelling than the /j/ used in the IPA, is used for the first sound in you /ju/. Other changes are described in the paragraph American English Sounds.

Abbreviations

No pronunciations are shown for most abbreviations. This is either because they are not spoken (and are defined as “written abbreviations”), or because they are pronounced by saying the names of the letters, with main stress on the last letter and secondary stress on the first: VCR /ˈviːsˈɑːrɪ/; washing /ˈwæʃɪŋ/. Pronunciations have been shown where an abbreviation is spoken like an ordinary word: RAM /ræm/.

Words that are Forms of Main Words

A form of a main word that is a different part of speech may come at the end of the entry for that word. If the related word is pronounced by saying the main word and adding an ending (see list on page A43), no separate pronunciation is given. If the addition of the ending causes a change in the pronunciation of the main word, the pronunciation for the related word is given. For example: impossible /ɪmˈpɒsəbəl/, impossibility /ɪmˈpɒsəbɪlətɪ/. There are some pronunciation changes that we do not show at these entries, because they follow regular patterns: (1) When an -ly or -er ending is added to a main word ending in /baɪ/,-/kæl/, -/pæl/, -/gæl/, or -/dæl/, the /ə/ is usually omitted. For example: practical is shown as /ˈpræktɪkəl/. When -ly is added to it, it becomes practically /ˈpræktɪklɪ/. This difference is not shown. (2) When -ly or -ity is added to words ending in /ɛɪ/,-/əɪ/, the /ɪ/ becomes /ə/. For example: angry /ˈæŋɡrɪ/ becomes angrily /ˈæŋɡrɪli/. This is not shown.

Stress

In English words of two or more syllables, at least one syllable is said with more force than the others. The sign /′/ is put before the syllable with the most force. We say it has main stress: person /ˈpɜrson/, percent /ˈpɜrsənt/. Some words also have a stress on another syllable that is less strong than the main stress. We call this secondary stress, and the sign /ˌ/. is placed before such a syllable: personality /ˌpɜrsəˈneɪlɪtɪ/, personally /ˈpɜrsənəli/. Secondary stress is not usually shown in the second syllable of a two-syllable word, unless it is necessary to show that the second syllable must not be shortened, as in starlit /ˈstɑrlɪt/ compared to starlet /ˈstɑrlɛt/.

Unstressed Vowels

/a/ and /i/

Many unstressed syllables in American English are pronounced with a very short unclear vowel. This vowel is shown as /ə/ or /ɪ/; however, there is very little difference between them in normal connected speech. For example, the word effect /əˈfɛkt/ and effect /ɪˈfɛkt/ usually sound the same. The word rabbit is shown as /ˈræbɪt/, but it may also be pronounced /ˈræbɪt/.

These sounds are very similar. The symbol /ə/ is used in unstressed syllables, and /ɪ/, which is longer, is used in stressed and secondary stressed syllables. When people speak more quickly, secondary stressed syllables become unstressed so that /ɪ/ may be pronounced as /ə/. For example, difficult /ˈdɪfɪkəlt/ and coconut /ˈkʌkənɔt/ may be pronounced as /ˈdɪfɪkɔlt/ and /ˈkʌkənɔt/. Only the pronunciation with /ə/ is shown.

Compound Words with a Space or Hyphen

Many compounds are written with either a space or a hyphen between the parts. When all parts of the compound appear in the dictionary as separate main words, the full pronunciation of the compound is not shown. Only its stress pattern is given. For example: bus stop, town hall. Sometimes a compound contains a main word with an ending. If the main word is in the dictionary, and the ending is a common one, only a stress pattern is shown. For example: washing machine. Washing is not a main word in the Dictionary, but wash is; so only a stress pattern is shown. For example: artificial intelligence. Artificial intelligence is a common ending. But if any part is not a main word, the full pronunciation is given: helter-skelter /ˈhɛltərˈskɛltər/.

Stress Shift

Some words may have a shift in stress. The secondary stress becomes the main stress when the word comes before a noun. The mark /ˌ/ shows this. For example: artificial intelligence /ˌɑrˈtɪfɪʃəl ɪntʃəˈlɪgnəns/.

Syllabic Consonants

The sounds /n/ and /d/ can be syllabic. That is, they can themselves form a syllable, especially when they are at the end of a word (and follow particular consonants, especially /t/ and /d/). For example, in sudden /ˈsʌdən/ the /n/ is syllabic; there is no vowel between the /d/ and the /n/, so no vowel is shown. In the middle of a word, a hyphen or stress mark after /n/ or /d/ shows that it is syllabic: botanist /ˈbɒtənɪst/ and catalog /ˈkæləɡ/ are three-syllable words. The sound r can be either a consonant, /r/, or a vowel, /ɹ/. When /r/ is followed by an unstressed vowel, it may be pronounced as a sequence of two vowels, /ɹ/ plus the following vowel, or as /ə/ followed by a syllable beginning with /ɹ/. For example, the word coloring may be pronounced as /ˈkɒlərɪŋ/ instead of /ˈkələrɪŋ/. Only the pronunciation, /ˈkələrɪŋ/, is shown.
Short Forms Used in the Dictionary

Parts of Speech
Some parts of speech have short forms:

- adj. adjective
- prep. preposition
- adv. adverb
- pron. pronoun
- n. noun
- v. verb
- phr. v. phrasal verb

Other Short Forms
- etc. et cetera (=and so on)
- U.S. United States
- s/he she or he
- sb somebody/someone
- sth something
- sb/sth someone or something

Grammar Patterns
Grammar patterns are shown in dark letters in the example sentences.

Grammar Codes Used in the Dictionary

Nouns – to learn more about the grammar of nouns, see the LEARNER'S HANDBOOK on pages A46–A47.

- [C] COUNTABLE nouns such as chair and store are the most common type of noun in English. Their plural is usually formed by adding -s, and they are used with a plural verb:

  Most of the smaller stores in the area have closed down.

- [U] an UNCOUNTABLE noun, such as happiness and furniture. Uncountable nouns cannot be used with a or an. They do not have plural forms, and are used with a singular verb:

  The new furniture is being delivered on Friday.

- [C,U] a noun that has both countable and uncountable uses, such as wine:

  Our wines are specially chosen by our own buyer.

  This is great wine – where did you buy it?

- [singular] a SINGULAR noun, such as outcome. Singular nouns can be used with a, an, or the, or without any determiner. They have no plural form, and they are used with a singular verb:

  No one knew what the outcome of the discussion was.

- [plural] a PLURAL noun, such as pajamas. Plural nouns do not have a singular form, and are used with a plural verb:

  Your red pajamas are in the wash.

- [C usually singular] a noun such as setting that is countable, but is not used in the plural very often:

  It was a lovely setting for a wedding.

- [C usually plural] a noun such as resource that is countable, and is usually used in the plural:

  The country is rich in natural resources.

- [singular, U] a noun that has both singular and uncountable uses, such as calm:

  The Smiths preferred the calm of the country.

  Marta reacted with amazing calm.

Verbs – to learn more about the grammar of verbs, see the LEARNER'S HANDBOOK on page A48.

- [I] an INTRANSITIVE verb, such as exist. Intransitive verbs are not followed by objects:

  Only five railroads from the old network still exist.

- [T] a TRANSITIVE verb, such as take. Transitive verbs are followed by objects:

  Will you take my jacket to the dry cleaners for me?

- [I,T] a verb that has both intransitive and transitive uses, such as decide:

  It's so hard to decide.

  I can't decide what to wear.

- [linking verb] a verb such as be, become, seem, etc.:

  Jared's father is a teacher.

  Dana seems really sorry.

Adjectives

- [only before noun] an adjective, such as amateur, that is only used before a noun:

  This picture was taken by her husband Larry, a gifted amateur photographer.

- [not before noun] an adjective, such as afraid, that is never used before a noun:

  Small children are often afraid of the dark.
Labels Used in the Dictionary

approving and disapproving
Words and phrases are labeled approving or disapproving if people use them in order to show that they like or dislike someone or something. For example, both childlike and childish describe behavior that is typical of a child, but childlike shows approval and childish shows disapproval.

formal
Formal words and phrases, such as await and moreover, are used only in formal speech and writing, for example in essays or official announcements, not in normal conversation.

humorous
Humorous words and phrases, such as on the warpath, are intended to be funny.

informal
Informal words and phrases, such as grungy and long shot, are used in normal conversation and informal letters or emails to friends. Do not use these words and phrases in essays.

literary
Literary words and phrases, such as foe and inferno, are used mostly in poetry and other types of literature. They are not usually suitable for essays.

nonstandard
Nonstandard words and phrases do not follow the rules of grammar, but are still used a lot. For example, many people use real instead of really. Do not use nonstandard language in essays.

offensive
Offensive words and phrases are likely to make someone upset if you use them. People often use them when they intend to insult other people, but these can also be words and phrases that only particular people consider to be offensive.

old-fashioned
Old-fashioned words and phrases are ones that people still know, but that are not used very often in modern speech or writing.

slang
Slang words and phrases are used by a particular group of people, especially young people, but not by everyone. They are extremely informal and should not be used in essays.

spoken
Spoken words and phrases, such as I mean and by the way, are hardly ever used in writing. They are always informal, unless they have the label spoken formal. Do not use these words and phrases in essays.

taboo
Taboo words and phrases are extremely rude, offensive to everyone, and should be avoided.

technical
Technical words and phrases, such as tautology or pro rata, are used by experts in a particular subject, not by everyone.

written
Written words and phrases, such as ablaize or exclaim, are usually only used in written English.

Subject Labels

- BIOLOGY  the study of all living things
- CHEMISTRY  the study of gases, liquids, and solids, what they are composed of and how they react with each other
- EARTH SCIENCES  the study of the Earth, its weather systems, and the environment
- ECONOMICS  finance and business, and the ways in which money and goods are produced and used
- ENG. LANG. ARTS  languages, literature, art, sculpture, music and the performing arts
- HISTORY  significant events and institutions from the past
- IT  computers, data storage and processing, and communications
- LAW  institutions and principles relating to the legal system
- MATH  arithmetic, algebra, and geometry
- PHYSICS  the study of the universe, what it consists of, and the forces that affect it
- POLITICS  political institutions and activity
- SCIENCE  the aspects of science that go across the boundaries of biology, chemistry, and physics
- SOCIAL SCIENCE  the study of society and how particular social groups think and behave Acknowledgments

Director
Michael Mayor

Senior Publisher
Laurence Delacroix

Managing Editor
Stephen Bullon

Lexicographers
Evadne Adrian-Vallance
Karen Cleveland-Marwick
Chris Fox
Elizabeth Manning
Michael Murphy
Martin Stark

Project Manager
Alan Savill

Production Manager
David Gilmour

Corpus and CD-ROM Development
Steve Crowdy

Computational Linguists and CD-ROM Project Management
Allan Ørsnes
Andrew Roberts

Production Editors
Michael Murphy
Paola Rocchetti

Project Administrator
Denise McKeough

Technical Support Manager
Trevor Satchell

Network Administrator
Kim Lee-Amies

Pronunciation Editor
Dinah Jackson

Proofreaders
Lynda Carey
Isabel Griffiths
Ruth Hillmore
Ruth Noble
Carol Osbourne

Design
Mick Harris

Keyboarder
Pauline Savill

Administrative Assistance
Angela Wright

Artwork
Mark Duffin, Graham Humphries, Chris Paveley, Maltings Partnership, Oxford Designers and Illustrators

Photography credits
Hemera Technologies Inc “Copyright ©2004 (Pearson Education) and its licensors. All rights reserved”; Brand X Pictures; DK Picture Library; IMS Communications Ltd.; Corbis; Gareth Bowden; PhotoDisc; Dorling Kindersley; www.istockphoto.com
The publishers would like to thank Averil Coxhead for permission to highlight the Academic Wordlist (AWL, compiled in 2000) in the dictionary. Averil Coxhead is the author of AWL and a lecturer in English for Academic Purposes at Massey University, New Zealand. For further information on the AWL, go to Averil’s Website at: http://language.massey.ac.nz/staff/awl

The Publishers would also like to thank:

• Professor Jack du Bois of the University of California at Santa Barbara, for the development of the Longman Corpus of Spoken American English. This unique corpus, developed especially for the Longman Dictionary of American English, consists of 5 million words of everyday conversation by US speakers of English. The corpus was designed to provide a representative sample of the US population, by age, sex, region, educational attainment, and ethnic origin. Volunteers were selected to wear a digital cassette recorder and record their conversations over a two-week period. The tapes were then transcribed and built into a computer system so that the lexicographic team could analyze exactly how native speakers use the language.

• the thousands of teachers and students from around the world who have contributed scripts for the Longman Learner’s Corpus. This corpus consists of 12 million words of writing in English by learners, and helps lexicographers to analyze what students know and where they have difficulty.

• the Linguistic Data Consortium for texts included in the 80-million-word Longman Corpus of Written American English

• the many teachers and students who have taken part in the development of the new edition of the dictionary. This has included focus groups, questionnaires, student vocabulary notebooks (in which students kept a record of which words they looked up), classroom piloting of material, and written feedback on text by teachers.

Nancy Ackels, University of Washington Extension, Seattle; Tom Adams, University of Pennsylvania; Monica Alvaraz, California State University, Fullerton; Isabella Anikst, University of California, Los Angeles; Jan Barrett-Chow, Northeastern University, Boston; Catherine Berg, Drexel University, Philadelphia; Gretchen Bitterlin, San Diego Community College; Donna Brinton, University of California, Los Angeles; Arlene Bublick, William Rainey Harper College, Palatine, Illinois; Christine Bunn, City College of San Francisco; Dorothy Burak, University of California, San Diego; Randy Burger, California State Polytechnic, Pomona; Laura Cameron, intensive English Language Institute, Seattle; Sarah Canady, Bellevue Community College, Seattle; Jane Cater, Intensive English Language Institute, Seattle; Rick Chapman, California State University, Fullerton; Martha Compton, University of California, Irvine; Jan Copeland, Long Beach City College, Long Beach; Patrick Cox, Houston Community College; Nick Crump, Merritt College, Oakland; Catherine Crystal, Laney College, Oakland; Kevin Curry, Wichita State University; Susan Davis, EF International; Chuck Delgado, North Valley Occupational Center, Mission Hills, California; Carolyn Dupaqquier, California State University, Fullerton; Nancy Dyer, Intensive English Language Institute, Seattle; Julie Easton, Adult Education Center, Santa Monica; Gerry Eldred, Long Beach City College, Long Beach; Rita Esquivel, Adult Education Center, Santa Monica; Mary Fitzpatrick, College of Marin, Novato; Annette Fruehan, Orange Coast College, California; Caroline Gibbs, College of Marin, Novato; Janet Goodwin, University of California, Los Angeles; Lisa Hale, St Giles College, London; Jim Harris, Rancho Santiago College, Santa Ana; Tamara Heftier, Truman College, Chicago; Patti Heiser, University of Washington Extension; Julie Herrmann, intensive English Language Institute, Seattle; Wayne Heuple, intensive English Language Institute, Seattle; Kathi Hopler, William Rainey Harper College, Palatine, Illinois; Barbara Howard, Daley College, Chicago; Kathryn Howard, San Diego Community College; Stephanie Hunter, University of California, East Los Angeles; Susan Jamieson, Bellevue Community College; Jan Jeffries, Daley College, Chicago; Linda Jensen, University of California, Los Angeles; Winston Joffrin, Bellevue Community College, Seattle; Deborah Jonas, California State University, Long Beach; Kathy Keesler, Orange Coast College, California; Barbara Logan, Intensive English Language Institute, Seattle; Walter Lowe, Bellevue Community College, Seattle; Lynne Lucas, Daley College, Chicago; Felicity MacDonald-Smith, Eurocentres, Cambridge; Robyn Mann, William Rainey Harper College, Palatine, Illinois; Anne McGinley, San Diego State University; Elaine McVey, San Diego State University; Amy Meepoe, Andy Muller, Intensive English Language Institute, Seattle; Pacific University; Jill Neely, Merritt College, Oakland; Maura Newberry, Yvonne Nishio, Evans Community Adult School, Los Angeles; Roxanne Nuhaily, University of California, San Diego; Carla Nynss, California State University, Long Beach; David Olshen, Jorge Perez, Southwestern College, San Diego; Ellen Pentkowski, Truman College, Chicago; Eileen Prince Lou, Northeastern University, Boston; Nancy Quinn, Truman College, Chicago; Ralph Radeil, Bunker Hill Community College, Boston; Eva Ramirez, Laney College, Oakland; Alison Rice, Hunter College; Lenore Richmond, California State University, Fullerton; Jane Rinaldi, California State Polytechnic, Pomona; Bruce Rindler, CELOP, University of Boston; Shirley Roberts, Long Beach City College, Long Beach; William Robertson, Northeastern University, Boston; Bonnie Rose, University of Denver; Teresa Ross, California State University, Long Beach; Paul Safstrom, South Seattle Community College; Karen Santiago, Beaver College, Philadelphia; Irene Schoenberg, Hunter College; Esther Sunde, South Seattle Community College, Seattle; Barbara Swartz, Northeastern University, Boston; Priscilla Taylor, California State University, Los Angeles; Elizabeth Terplan, College of Marin, Novato, California; Bill Trimbale, Modesto Junior College; Wendy Walsh, College of Marin, Novato, California; Colleen Wedelde, Palomar College, San Marcos, California; Sabella Wells, intensive English Language Institute, Seattle; Madeleine Youmans, Long Beach City College, Long Beach; Christine Zilkow, California State University, Fullerton; Janet Zinner, Northeastern University, Boston; Jean Zukowski-Faust, Northern Arizona University.

Yuri Komuro, for assistance in compiling the results of teacher questionnaires and student word diaries.

Norma A. Register, Ph.D, for advice on coverage of socially sensitive language.
Table of Contents

Pronunciation Table
inside front cover
Pronunciation
i Short Forms Used in the Dictionary
ii Grammar Codes Used in the Dictionary
ii
Labels Used in the Dictionary
iii Acknowledgements
iv
Key to the Dictionary
viii–ix
Preface
x

The Dictionary A–Z
1–1167

Picture Dictionary
A2–A12
Geographical Names
A13–A18
LONGMAN
Dictionary of American English
Key to the Dictionary

Words that are spelled the same but have different parts of speech have separate entries.

Definitions explain the meaning of the word in clear simple language, using the 2000-word Longman Defining Vocabulary whenever possible.

Subject labels before a definition show that this word has a specialized meaning in particular subject area.

The most common words in spoken and written English are shown in red letters. This shows you which are the most important words to know.

The meanings of each word are listed in order of frequency. The most common meaning is shown first.

Useful natural examples show how you can use the word.

Thesaurus boxes explain the differences between words with similar meanings, or between words related to a particular topic.

Synonyms (=words with the same meaning), antonyms (=words with the opposite meaning), and related words are shown after the definition.

Pronunciation is shown using the International Phonetic Alphabet.

Usage notes help you avoid making common errors.

Dots show how words are divided into syllables.

Derived words are show at the end of an entry when the meaning is clear from the definition of the main form.
Preface

The 4th edition of the Longman Dictionary of American English has been researched and revised to meet the real needs of learners of English. The up-dated text now includes thousands of words for content areas such as Science, Economics and Social Science, as well as Word Origins and updated thesaurus boxes that give extra help with vocabulary acquisition.

Real Language

All Longman dictionaries are based on the authentic language data in the Longman Corpus Network. This unique computerized language database now contains over 400 million words from all types of written texts, and from real conversations recorded across the US.

The Corpus tells us how frequently words and phrases are used, so there is no guesswork in deciding which ones students need to know most. The Corpus also shows which grammar patterns are the most important to illustrate, which important new words and idioms people use every day, and which words are frequently used together (collocations). We take our example sentences from the Corpus, and this makes the language come alive as never before.

Real Clarity

The definitions in Longman dictionaries are written using only the 2,000 most common English words – the Longman American Defining Vocabulary. Longman pioneered the use of a limited vocabulary as the best way to guarantee that definitions are clear and easy to understand. The meaning you want is easy to find. Words that have a large number of meanings have short, clear signposts to guide you to the right meaning quickly.

The comprehensive grammatical information is easy to understand and use. Important patterns are highlighted in the example sentences, so that you can see at a glance how to use a word in a sentence.

Real Help

The 4th edition of the Longman Dictionary of American English is the result of extensive research into learners needs and abilities. Thesaurus boxes explain thousands of synonyms and antonyms to help users expand their vocabulary, so that instead of using the same words all the time, such as the word angry, for example, they learn how to use related words such as annoyed, irritated, furious, etc. Additional Thesaurus boxes now also help learners expand their academic and content vocabulary.

The writers have also used their knowledge from years of teaching to analyze the Longman Learner’s Corpus, which is a computerized collection of over 8 million words of writing in English by learners. By studying the errors students make in essays and exams, the writers were able to give clear, helpful usage information throughout the dictionary – in the definitions, example sentences, and usage notes – to help students avoid common errors.

The grammar codes and labels are inside the front cover, and the IPA (International Phonetic Alphabet) pronunciation charts are inside the back cover, so they are always easy to find and use.

Whether you are writing an essay, sending an e-mail, or talking with friends, the Longman Dictionary of American English will help you choose the right words, understand them clearly, and use them correctly.
Aa

A, a /eɪ/ the first letter of the English alphabet
A /eɪ/ n. 1 [C] the best grade that a student can get in a class or on a test: I got an A on my math test! | Rick was an A student (always received the best grades in high school). 2 [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS the sixth note in the musical scale of C, or the musical key based on this note 3 [U] a common type of blood

a /ə/ strong /æ/ also an indefinite article 1 used before a noun to show that you are talking about a general type of thing, not a specific thing → THE: Do you have a car? | I’ll find you a pencil. 2 a) one: a thousand dollars | a dozen eggs  b) used before some words that show how much of something there is: a few weeks from now | a lot of people. 3 used before a noun that is one of many similar things, people, events, times, etc.: I’d like to be a teacher. | This is a very good wine. 4 each or every: A square has four sides. 5 once a week/ $100 a day etc. one time each week, $100 a day, etc. 6 used before two nouns that are frequently mentioned together: a cup and saucer | a knife and fork 7 a) used before the -ing form of some verbs when they are used as nouns: a loud screeching of brakes  b) used before some singular nouns that are actions: Take a look at that!

AB A common type of blood

Ab /æb/ adj. 1 an abased person or thing, especially one that you are responsible for, and not go back: How could she abandon her own child? | We had to abandon the car and walk the rest of the way. 2 to stop doing or using something because of problems: The policy had to be abandoned. 3 to stop having a particular idea, belief, or opinion about something: The U.N. seems to have abandoned all hope of finding a peaceful solution to the conflict. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French abandoner “surrendering,” from a bandon “into someone’s power” —abandonment n. [U] ab·ban·don /əˈbaNDən/ (Ac) adj. 1 an abandoned building, car, boat, etc. has been left by the people who owned or used it: The mayor wants all the abandoned buildings in the downtown area to be demolished (=knocked down). 2 an abandoned person or animal has been left completely alone by the person that was looking after him, her, or it: He donates $20 a month to a home for abandoned children.

a·base /əˈberəs/ v. (formal) abase yourself to behave in a way that shows you accept that someone has complete power over you —abasement n. [U] ab·ashed /əˈbeshd/ adj. embarrassed or ashamed: an abashed grin

a·ba·cuss /əˈbaˌkəs/ n. [C] a tool used for counting and calculating, consisting of a frame with small balls that can be slid along on thick wires [Origin: 1300—1400 Latin, Greek abax “flat piece of stone”]

a·ban·don /əˈbaNDən/ (Ac) v. [T] 1 to leave a person or thing, especially one that you are responsible for, and not go back: How could she abandon her own child? | We had to abandon the car and walk the rest of the way. 2 to stop doing or using something because of problems: The policy had to be abandoned. 3 to stop having a particular idea, belief, or opinion about something: The U.N. seems to have abandoned all hope of finding a peaceful solution to the conflict. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French abandoner “surrendering,” from a bandon “into someone’s power” —abandonment n. [U]

a·ba·cuss /əˈbaˌkəs/ n. [C] a tool used for counting and calculating, consisting of a frame with small balls that can be slid along on thick wires [Origin: 1300—1400 Latin, Greek abax “flat piece of stone”]
aberration

away by force [Origin: 1600–1700 Latin. past participle of abducere, from *ab-“away” + ducere “to lead”] —abduction

a·ber·ra·tion /əbəˈreɪʃən/ n. [C,U] something that is completely different from what usually happens or from what someone usually does: Duvall’s lawyer claimed that the crime was an aberration in his client’s otherwise blameless life.

a·bet /əˈbet/ v (abetted, abetting) [T] → aid and abet at hid.

a·bler /əˈbalər/ n. (formal) to hate something, especially because you think it is morally wrong: I abhor discrimination of any kind.

ab·hor·rent /əbˈhɔrənt/ n. (formal) behavior or beliefs that are abhorrent are unacceptable because they are morally wrong —abhorrence n. [U] a·bide /əˈbaɪd/ v [T] can’t abide sb/sth to hate someone or something very much: I can’t abide his stupid jokes.

abide by sth phr. v to obey a law, agreement, etc.: If you’re going to live here, you will abide by my rules.

a·bid·ing /əˈbɪdɪŋ/ adj (literary) continuing for a long time and not likely to change: Our father had an abiding love for nature.

a·bil·i·ty /əˈbɪləti/ n. (plural abilities) [C,U] the state of being able to do something, or your level of skill at doing something: A manager must have the ability to communicate well. | a young girl with great musical/athletic/acting etc. ability | She worked to the best of her ability (=as well as she could) in school. [Origin: 1400–1500 Old French habilité, from Latin habilis “skillful”] ab·in·di·ca·tion /əbˈɪndɪkəˈkeɪʃən/ n. [formal] to officially end a law, system, etc.: plans to abolish the death penalty [Origin: 1400–1500 Old French abolir, from Latin abolire]

a·bol·ish /əˈbəlɪʃ/ v [T] to officially end a law, system, etc.: plans to abolish the death penalty [Origin: 1400–1500 Old French abolir, from Latin abolire]

a·bom·i·na·ble /əˈbɒmənəbl/ adj (formal) extremely bad, or of very bad quality

a·bo·ri·nal /əˈbɒrɪnəl/ adj. 1 Aborigi

ab·o·ri·nal /əˈbɒrɪnəl/ adj. 1 Aborigi

a·bo·ri·mal /əˈbɒrɪməl/ adj different from usual in a way that is strange, worrying, or dangerous [ant] normal: Scientists found abnormal levels of chemicals in the water. | Mike’s parents began to worry about his increasingly abnormal behavior. [Origin: 1800–1900 ab- “away from, not” (from Latin ab- “away, off”) + normal] —abnormally adv: an abnormally high heart rate | It has been an abnormally hot summer. —abnormality /əˌbɒrɪməˈnalɪti/ n. [C,U]

a·board /əˈbɔːrd/ adj. prep on or onto a ship, airplane, or train: The plane crashed, killing all 200 people aboard. | They were prevented from going aboard.

a·bode /əˈbəʊd/ n. [C] (formal) the place where you live

a·bo·na·ny·mous /əˈboʊnəməʊs/ adj. 1 social science someone who wants to end a system of law. 2 history someone who took part in a series of actions intended to end the system and practice of owning, buying, and selling slaves in the U.S. during the 19th century

a·bo·na·ny·mous /əˈboʊnəməʊs/ adj. 1 social science someone who wants to end a system of law. 2 history someone who took part in a series of actions intended to end the system and practice of owning, buying, and selling slaves in the U.S. during the 19th century

a·blo·si·l·i·ty /əˈblaʊsiˈlɪti/ n. [formal] 1 the official end of a law, system, etc., especially one that has existed for a long time: He argued against the abolition of the death penalty. 2 also Abolition History the official ending of the system and practice of owning, buying, and selling slaves in the U.S. during the 19th century a·blu·shion /əˈbləʃən/ n. [U] 1 the official end of a law, system, etc., especially one that has existed for a long time: He argued against the abolition of the death penalty. 2 also Abolition History the official ending of the system and practice of owning, buying, and selling slaves in the U.S. during the 19th century a·bun·dant /əˈbʌndənt/ adj. 1a fact that you will give up a particular belief or way of behaving [ant] renounce —abjuration /əbˈdʒɔrəˈʃən/ n. [U]

a·by·de /əˈbaɪd/ v from Latin habilis "skillful" —habitable adj. relating to the Australian aborigines

a·by·de /əˈbaɪd/ v from Latin habilis "skillful" —habitable adj. relating to the Australian aborigines about a·bound

ab·o·rig·i·ne /əˈbɔrdʒəni/ n. [C] a member of the people who have lived in Australia from the earliest times [Orig. 1500—1600 Latin aborigines (plural), from ab origine “from the beginning”] a·bor·tion /əˈbɔrʃən/ n. [CU] the act of aborting a baby: She decided to have an abortion.

a·bor·live /əˈborlv/ adj. an abortive action is not successful or not finished: The Marines made an abortive attempt to seize the town.

a·bound /əˈbaʊnd/ v. [I] (literary) to exist in large numbers: Coffee shops abound in American small towns.

a·bout /əˈbaʊt/ prep. 1 relating to a particular subject: a book about horses | We were talking about the stock market. | I’ll tell you all about (every/thing) about it later. | About that CD, I need it back by tomorrow.

2 in the nature or character of a person or thing: There’s something weird about that guy. 3 what about/how about (spoken) a) used in order to make a suggestion: How about coming to my house after we’re done here? b) used to ask a question concerning another person or thing involved in a situation: What about Jack? Should we invite him?

ab·out /əˈbaʊt/ adv. 1 a little more or less than a number or amount approximately: I live about 10 miles from here. | We need to leave at about 7:30.

2 almost: Dinner’s just about ready.

about3 adj. 1 be about to do sth if someone is about to do something, or if something is about to happen, s/he will do it or it will happen very soon: I was about to step into the shower when the phone rang. | The parade is about to start. 2 not be about to do sth (informal) used to emphasize that you will not do something: I’m not about to give him any more money!

a·bove /əˈbeɪv/ adj. prep. 1 in or to a higher position than something else (and) below: Raise your arm above your head. | The sound came from the room above. 2 more than a number, amount, or level (and) below: Temperatures rose above freezing today. | Males aged 18 and above could be drafted. 3 louder than other sounds: He couldn’t hear her voice above the noise. 4 higher in rank, more powerful, or more important: He never rose above the rank of corporal. 5 above all (formal) most importantly; Above all, I would like to thank my parents. 6 be above suspicion/criticism etc. to be so honest or good that no one can doubt or criticize you (and) below: The agreement seems to be aboveboard.

a·bove·board /əˈbeɪvˌbɔrd/ adj. [not before noun] honest and legal: The agreement seems to be aboveboard.

a·bra·sion /əˈbreɪʒən/ n. 1 [C] an area on your skin that has been injured by rubbing against some- thing hard: She was treated for cuts and abrasions. 2 [U] the process of rubbing a surface very hard so that it becomes damaged a·bra·sive /əˈbreɪsiv, -rɪv/ adj. 1 rude and annoying: an abrasive personality 2 having a rough surface that can be used to clean something or make it smooth —abrasively adv.

a·breast /əˈbrest/ adv. 1 keep abreast of sth to make sure that you know the most recent facts about a subject: We expect our sales staff to keep abreast of all the latest developments in computer technology. 2 next to someone or something, usually in a line, and facing the same direction: Patrol cars were lined up four abreast.

a·bridged /əˈbrɪdʒt/ adj. ENG. LANG. ARTS an abridged form of a book, play, etc. has been made shorter —unabridged: the abridged version of the dictionary

a·bro·ad /əˈbrɔd/ adv. in or to a foreign country: He suggested that his son go abroad for a year. | There are more than a million Americans living abroad.

2 almost: Dinner’s just about ready.
abrogate

ab·ro·gate /əˈbreɡə/ v. [T] (formal) to officially end a law, legal agreement, practice, etc.: The Sioux chief was forced to sign a document that abrogated the treaty. —ab·ro·ga·tion /əˈbreɡəˈʃon/ n. [C,U]

a·brupt /ˈaˈbrʌpt/ adj. 1 sudden and unexpected: An abrupt change in the weather forced many boats to pull out of the race. 2 not polite or friendly, especially because you do not want to waste time: She was very abrupt on the phone. [Origin: 1500–1600 Latin, past participle of abrumpere, from ab- “away” + rumpere “to break”] —abruptly adv.: The train stopped abruptly.

abs /æb/ n. [plural] (informal) the muscles on your abdomen (=stomach): exercises that strengthen your abs

ABS n. [U] anti-lock braking system a type of car brake that makes the car easier to control when you have to stop very suddenly ab·scess /ˈæbseʃ/ n. [C] biology: a swollen place on your body that is infected and contains a yellow liquid ab·scond /əˈb-skænd, əb-ˈl v [I] (formal) to leave a place without permission, or to leave somewhere after stealing something ab·sense /əˈb-sns/ n. 1 [C,U] an occasion when you are not in a place where people expect you to be, or the time that you are away: The vice president will handle things in my absence. | His frequent absences from work did not go unnoticed. 2 [singular] the lack of something: a complete absence of physical evidence ab·sent /əˈb-snt/ adj. 1 not at work, school, a meeting, etc. because you are sick or decide not to go (off) present: Ten children were absent from class today. 2 absent look/smile/expression a look, etc. that shows you are not thinking about what is happening [Origin: 1300–1400 Old French, Latin, present participle of abesse, from ab- “away” + esse “to be”] ab·sen·tee·ism /əˈb-snənt-ˈi-zəm/ n. [U] regular absence from work or school without a good reason ab·sent·ly /əˈb-snt-ˈli/ adv. in a way that shows you are not interested in or not thinking about what is happening: He gazed absently out of the window.

ab·sent·minded adj. often forgetting or not noticing things because you are thinking of something else —ab·sent·minded·ly adv

ab·so·lu·tely /əˈb-səˌlət-əl/ adj. 1 completely or totally: Are you absolutely sure? | We had absolutely nothing in common. —completely, totally, entirely absolute /ˈæb-səl-ət/ n. 1 SCIENCE a process in which a material or object takes in liquid, gas, or heat: This chapter describes the body’s absorption of nutrients. 2 a process in which a country or organization makes a smaller country, organization, or group of people become part of itself 3 the fact of being very interested in something absent [‘æb’sent] adj [L] 1 to deliberately not vote for or against something: Three members of the committee abstained. 2 to not do something that you would normally enjoy: For two weeks, I abstained from alcohol. — abstention [‘æb.sti.nən] n [C,U] abstemious [‘æb.sti.mju.s] adj [formal] careful not to have too much food, drink, etc. — abstemiously adv abstain [‘æb.sten] v [T] 1 to do cruel or violent things to someone: He used to get drunk and abuse his wife. She was sexually abused as a child. 2 to use something too much or in the wrong way: He abused his position as mayor by giving jobs to his relatives. 3 to say cruel or unknown things to someone abstention [‘æb.sten.ʃən] n 1 (literary) a very dangerous or frightening situation: The country might plunge into the abyss of economic ruin. 2 a very deep hole or space that seems to have no bottom academic [‘æk.ə.də.mik] adj 1 relating to education, especially in a college or university: The academic year starts September 3rd. 2 students often look for jobs in academia. 3 applying for the job must show proof of their academic achievement academic [‘æk.ə.də.me] n [C] a teacher in a college or university: The conference is attended by academics from many of the country’s leading universities accelerate [‘æklər.ət] v [I] if a vehicle abuse [‘æb.yuz] n [C,U] 1 the use of something in a way it should not be used: the government’s abuse of power [‘drʌg.əlkoʊal əb.juz] n [formal] the practice of taking illegal drugs or drinking too much. 3 [U] cruel or offensive things someone says when s/he is angry: People were shouting abuse at the soldiers.

abysmal [‘æb.i.zməl] adj very bad: the country’s abysmal record on human rights [Origins: 1600—1700 abyss “abyss” (14—20 centuries), from Old French abisme, from Late Latin abyssus] abuse [‘æb.yuz] n [C] 1 (literary) a very dangerous or frightening situation: The country might plunge into the abyss of economic ruin. 2 a very deep hole or space that seems to have no bottom or its driver accelerates, it moves faster \( \text{→ drive}^2 \) to happen at a faster rate than usual, or to make something do this: We tried to accelerate the process by heating the chemicals.
A

B

—acceleration /ækˈselərəˈʃən/ n. [U]

accelerator /ækˈselərətər/ n. [C] the part of a car that you press with your foot to make it go faster.

accent /ækˈsent/ n. 1 [C] a way of pronouncing words that someone has because of where she was born or lives: a strong southern accent | a German/Korean, etc. accent \( \text{→ language} \) 2 [C] the part of a word that you emphasize when you say it 3 [C] a mark, usually written above some letters, such as â or ê, that shows how to pronounce that letter 4 [singular] the extra importance or emphasis given to something: In this year’s guide, there is an accent on restaurants that offer value for money. [origin: 1500—1600 French, Latin accentus, from ad- “to” + cantus “song”]

accelerate /ækˈselərət/ v. [T] to emphasize in speech

access /ækˈsɛs/ v. 1 [T] to take something that someone offers you, or to agree to do something that someone asks you to do (ant) refuse: They offered him the job, and he accepted. | Mr. Ryan wouldn’t accept any money from us. | She accepted his offer to repair the damage on her car.

access v. [T] to admit that something bad or difficult is true, and continue with your normal life: He’s not going to change, and you just have to accept it. | I accept that we’ve made mistakes. | It took Ann months to accept her son’s death. | [T] to believe something, because someone has persuaded you to believe it: The jury accepted his story.

access v. [T] to let someone join an organization, university, etc. (ant) reject: I’ve been accepted at/a to Harvard. | [T] to let someone new become part of a group and to treat him/her in the same way as other members: At first, the kids at school didn’t accept him. | [T] to let customers pay for something in a particular way (ant) take: We don’t accept credit cards. | 7 accept responsibility/blame for sth (formal) to admit that you are responsible for something that has happened: Benson accepts full responsibility for his crimes. [origin: 1300—1400 French accepter, from Latin accipere “to receive,” from ad- “to” + capere “to take”]

acceptable /ækˈsepətəbəl/ adj. 1 good enough for a particular purpose: a deal that is acceptable to all sides | a cheap and acceptable substitute for rubber

---

access n. 1 the right to enter a place, use something, see someone, etc.: Anyone with access to the Internet can visit our website. | Many people living in developing countries do not have access to clean drinking water. | 2 the way you enter a building or get to a place, or how easy this is: The only access to the building is through the parking lot. | The law requires businesses to improve access for disabled customers. | gain access at gain^2 [origin: 1300—1400 Old French acces “arrival,” from Latin accessus “approach”]

access v. [T] to find information, especially on a computer: You can even access the Internet from this cell phone.

accessory /ækˈsesərē/ n. (plural accessories) [C] 1 something such as a belt, jewelry, etc. that you wear or carry because it is attractive: a dress with matching accessories | 2 something that you can add to a machine, tool, car, etc. which is not necessary but is useful or attractive | 3 law someone who helps a criminal ac-cli-mate /əˈklaɪmət/ 1 v. [T] to become used to the weather, way of living, etc. in a new place, or to make someone do this: It takes the astronauts a day to get acclimated to conditions in space. —acclimatization /ˌæklɪˈmeɪtɪzəʃən/ n. [U] 2 n. [U] "to embrace," from Vulgar Latin accolare, from Latin collum "neck"

ac-cli-ma-tize /əˈklaɪmətaɪz/ adj. 1 pron. someone who is accident-prone often has accidents 2 pron. someone who is accident-prone often has accidents

ac-claim1 /əˈkleɪm/ v. [T] to praise someone or something publicly: He was acclaimed as the best coach in football. 2 n. [U] strong praise for a person, idea, book, etc.: Morrison’s novels have won critical acclaim.

ac-claimed /əˈkleɪmd/ adj. praised by a lot of people: The film has been highly/widely acclaimed by critics.

ac-cli-mate /əˈklaɪmət/ also ac-cli-ma-tize /əˈklaɪmətaɪz/ v. [T] to become used to the weather, way of living, etc. in a new place, or to make someone do this: It takes the astronauts a day to get acclimated to conditions in space. —acclimatization /ˌæklɪˈmeɪtɪzəʃən/ n. [U] ac-co-lade /əˈkəʊld/ n. [C] praise and approval given to someone, or a prize given to someone for his/her work [Origin: 1600—1700 French accoler “to embrace,” from Latin collum “neck”]

ac-com-modate /əˈkɒmədeɪt/ v. 1 [T] to have enough space for a particular number of people or things: The hall can accommodate 300 people. 2 [T] to give someone a place to stay, live, or work: The dorm was built in 1980 to accommodate new students. 3 [T] to get used to a new situation, place, etc.: It can take northerners a long time to accommodate to Florida’s hot climate. [Origin: 1500—1600 Latin, past participle of commodare, from ad- “to” + commodare “to make fit,” from commodus “suitable”]

ac-com-modation /əˈkɒmədeɪʃən/ n. 1 [C, U] ENG. LANG. ARTS music played while someone sings or plays another instrument: He sang the national anthem, while another student provided piano accompaniment. | an orchestral accompaniment. 2 [C] (formal) something that is good to eat or drink with another food: This wine makes a nice accompaniment to fish. 3 to the accompaniment of something while something else is happening, or while another sound can be heard: The soldiers marched to the accompaniment of drums and whistles.

ac-com-plish /əˈkɒmplɪʃ/ v. (accompanied, accomplished) [T] 1 (formal) to go somewhere with someone: Children under 12 must be accompanied by an adult. She needed someone to accompany her to the doctor. 2 to happen or exist at the same time: Tonight, heavy rains will be accompanied by high winds. 3 ENG. LANG. ARTS to play music while someone is playing or singing the main tune [Origin: 1400—1500 Old French accompagner, from compagne “companion”] 4 n. [C] someone who helps a criminal do something wrong 5 n. [C] something you can do well: We’ve accomplished our goal of raising $45,000. 6 adj. very skillful: an accomplished musician ac-com-plish-ment /əˈkɒmplɪʃmənt/ n. 1 [C] the act of accomplishing something: the accomplishment of policy goals 2 [C] something you can do well: Playing the piano is one of her many accomplishments.

ac-cord1 /əˈkɔːrd/ n. 1 of sb’s own accord without being asked or forced to do something: I didn’t say anything. He left of his own accord. 2 [C] (formal) an official agreement between countries in accord (with sth) (formal) in agreement with someone or something: These results are in accord with earlier research.

accord² [ɪ] (formal) to give someone or something special attention or a particular type of treatment: the wealth and privilege accorded to those in power ac·cord·ance /əˈkɔrdəns/ n. in accordance with sth according to a system or rule: He placed pebbles on the grave, in accordance with Jewish tradition.

ac·cord·ing·ly /əˈkɔrdɪŋli/ adv. 1 in a way that is appropriate for a particular situation, or based on what someone has done or said: If you break the rules, you will be punished accordingly. 2 (formal) as a result of something: hence The law was ruled unconstitutional. Accordingly, Congress amended the bill in line with the court’s ruling.

THESAURUS therefore, so, as a result/consequently/as a consequence, thus, hence

ac·cording·to prep. 1 as shown by something or said by someone: According to our records, you still have six of our books. | The president is still very popular, according to recent public opinion polls. 2 in a way that is directly affected or determined by something: You will be paid according to the amount of work you do. | Everything went according to plan.

ac·cor·di·on /əˈkɔrdiən/ n. [C] a musical instrument that is played by pulling the sides and pushing buttons to produce different notes

ac·cost /əˈkɒst, əˈkɒst/ v. [T] (formal) to go up to someone you do not know and speak to him/her in an impolite or threatening way: I was accosted by a man asking for money.

ac·count¹ /əˈkaʊnt/ n. 1 [C] a written or spoken description of an event or situation: Can you give us an account of what happened? | a detailed account of the attack | By/from all accounts (according to what everyone says). | Frank was once a great player. 2 [C] also bank account an arrangement with a bank that allows you to keep your money there and take money out when you need it: I don’t have much money in my account. | I’d like to open an account, please. | checking account (=one that you can take money out of at any time) | savings account (=one in which you save money so that the amount increases)

THESAURUS therefore, so, as a result/consequently/as a consequence, thus, hence

ac·count² v. account for sth phr. v. to be the reason for something, or to explain the reason for something: How do you account for the $20 that’s missing?

ac·count·a·ble /əˈkaʊntəbəl/ adj. [not before noun] responsible for what you do, and willing to explain it: If anything happens to Max, I’ll hold you accountable (consider you responsible).

ac·count·a·bil·i·ty /əˈkaʊntəbɪlətɪ/ n. [U] ECONOMICS the job of being an accountant

ac·count·ing /əˈkaʊntɪŋ/ n. [U] ECONOMICS the job of being an accountant

ac·cred·i·ted /əˈkredɪtɪd/ adj. having official approval: an accredited college — accreditation /əˈkredɪteɪʃən/ n. [U]

ac·cre·tion /əˈkredɪʃən/ n. 1 [C,U] (formal) a layer that amount in your account. When the amount of money in your account is less than zero, you are overdrawn. Many banks have an online banking service, which allows you to check the balance in your account, make payments, etc. using a computer that is connected to the Internet.

THESAURUS checking account — one that you use regularly for making payments, etc. savings account — one where you leave money for longer periods of time, and which pays you a higher rate of interest than a checking account joint account — one that is used by two people, usually a husband and wife online account — one which allows you to check the balance in your account, make payments, etc. by using a computer that is connected to the Internet

3 take sth into account/take account of sth to consider particular facts when judging or deciding something: The price does not take taxes into account. 4 [C,U] an arrangement with a shop or company that allows you to buy goods and pay for them later: buying a dishwasher on account | Please settle your account | I’d like to charge this to my account (=pay using this arrangement). 5 accounts plural ECONOMICS a record of the money that a company has received and spent: The accounts for last year showed a profit of $2 million. 6 [C] ECONOMICS a company or organization that regularly buys goods or services from another company over a long period of time: Our sales manager won five new accounts this year. 7 not on my/your/etc. account (spoken) not for me or because of me: Don’t stay up late on my account. 8 on no account (formal) used in order to say that someone must not do something: On no account should anyone go near the building.

[origin: 1300—1400 Old French acompter, from compter “to count”]

ac·count·able /əˈkaʊntəbəl/ adj. [not before noun] responsible for what you do, and willing to explain it: If anything happens to Max, I’ll hold you accountable (consider you responsible).

ac·count·a·bil·i·ty /əˈkaʊntəbɪlətɪ/ n. [U] ECONOMICS the job of being an accountant

ac·cred·i·ted /əˈkredɪtɪd/ adj. having official approval: an accredited college — accreditation /əˈkredɪteɪʃən/ n. [U]

ac·cre·tion /əˈkredɪʃən/ n. 1 [C,U] (formal) a layer of a substance which slowly forms on something: an accumulation of minerals 2 (formal) a gradual process by which new things are added and something gradually changes or gets bigger: an accumulation of knowledge

ac-crued /əˈkruːd/ v. [T] to increase over a period of time: tax benefits that accrue to investors

ac-cumu-late /əˈkjʊməˌleɪt/ Ac v. [I,T] to gradually increase in amount, or to make something do this: Drifting snow began to accumulate at the entrance to the tunnel. 3 He accumulated a large fortune from investments in real estate.

accusation /əˈkjuːzəʃən/ Ac a statement saying that someone has done something wrong or illegal: Serious accusations have been made against the Attorney General. 6 The boy’s parents face accusations (=are accused) of neglect and abuse.

access /əˈkɛs/ n. 1 [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS a form of a noun that shows that the noun is the direct object of a verb, in languages such as Latin or German ➔ DATIVE

ac-cus-ation /əˌkjuːˈzeɪʃən/ Ac n. [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS a form of a noun that shows that the noun is the direct object of a verb, in languages such as Latin or German ➔ DATIVE

ac-cus-ate /əˈkyʊzət/ v. [T] to say that someone has done something wrong or illegal: Norton was accused of murder. 3 Are you accusing me of cheating? 5 accused n. [C]

ac-cus-tom-ed /əˈkjuːstəmd/ Adj. (formal) be accustomed to (doing) sth to be used to doing something and accept it as normal: Ed’s eyes quickly grew/became accustomed to the dark. 2 [only before noun] usual: We sat at our accustomed table.

ac-cus-tom-er /əˈkjuːstəmər/ Ac n. 1 a person or people who are accused of a crime in a court of law

ac-cus-tom-ing /əˈkjuːstəmɪŋ/ Ac adj. 1 be accustomed to doing sth to be used to doing something: He estimated the cost of achieving his goals. 5. The company failed to achieve the results its major shareholders had expected. 6. Many of our students are high achievers. 6 achievable adj.

ac-cur-ate /əˈkjuːrət/ adj. 1 correct in every detail: The bombs can be aimed accurately. 5 accurate adj. ➔ right, correct, true ➔ RIGHT

ac-cur-acy /əˈkjuːræsɪ/ Ac n. 1 Amazing accuracy was needed to hit the target. ➔ accuracy

ac-cumu-la-tion /əˈkjʊməˌleɪʃən/ Ac n. [C,U]: the accumulation of greenhouse gases in the upper atmosphere

ac-crue /əˈkruː/ v. 1 to increase over a period of time: tax benefits that accrue to investors accrued /əˈkruːd/ n. the person or people who are accused of a crime in a court of law

ac-quire /əˈkwɪr/ v. 1 to make a formal statement saying that you think someone is guilty of a crime: She filed a complaint against her employers, accusing them of discrimination.

ac-quaint /əˈkwəint/ v. 1 to make formally aware of something: He read about his son’s achievement. 2 to make someone familiar with something: Norton was accused of murder. 3 Are you accusing me of cheating? 5 accused n. [C] Jackson waved, acknowledging his fans. She never acknowledged (that) he was guilty of a crime: Simmons was acquitted of murder. He acquired a reputation for honesty.

ac·knowl·edg·ment /ˌæknoʊl’dʒmənt/ n. the act of admitting or accepting that something is true or official: The public may consider Berry’s acquittal of smuggling ac·quaint·ed /ˌækswànt/ adj. if you have gotten: He’s an old acquaintance of mine from school.

acid /ˈæsɪd/ n. [C,U] a liquid chemical substance. Some types of acid can burn holes in things or damage your skin: hydrochloric acid [Origin: 1600—1700 French acide, from Latin acere “to be sour”] acid-ic /ˈæsɪdɪk/ adj. containing acid ac·quaint·ed /ˌækswànt/ v. (formal) to acquire ac·qui·sition /ˌækswɪˈzɪʃən/ n. [C,U] something that you have gotten: a recent acquisition ac·qui·sition /ˌækswɪˈzɪʃən/ n. [C,U] the act of getting something: the acquisition of new companies

ac·qui·sition /ˌækswɪˈzɪʃən/ n. [C,U] acquisition ac·qui·sition /ˌækswɪˈzɪʃən/ n. [C,U] LAW an official statement in a court of law that someone is not guilty: The trial ended with his acquittal.

ac·qui·sition /ˌækswɪˈzɪʃən/ n. [C,U] the act of getting something: the acquisition of new companies

ac·qui·sition /ˌækswɪˈzɪʃən/ n. [C,U] acquisition

ac·qui·sition /ˌækswɪˈzɪʃən/ n. [C,U] LAW an official statement in a court of law that someone is not guilty: The trial ended with his acquittal.

ac·qui·sition /ˌækswɪˈzɪʃən/ n. [C,U] the act of getting something: the acquisition of new companies

ac·qui·sition /ˌækswɪˈzɪʃən/ n. [C,U] acquisition

ac·qui·sition /ˌækswɪˈzɪʃən/ n. [C,U] LAW an official statement in a court of law that someone is not guilty: The trial ended with his acquittal.
ac·ro·bat·ics /əˈkrəˌbætɪks/ n. [plural] the skill or tricks of an acrobat

ac·ro·bat·ics /əˈkrəˌbætɪks/ n. [plural] the skill or tricks of an acrobat

ac·ro·nym /əˈkrənʌm/ n. [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS a word that is made from the first letters of a group of words. For example, NATO is an acronym for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. [Origin: 1900—2000 acr- “beginning, end” (from Greek akro-) + -onym (as in homonym)]

a-cross /əˈkrɔs/ adv., prep. 1 from one side of something to the other side: The road’s too busy to walk across. | Vince stared across the canyon. | flying across the Atlantic 2 10 feet/5 miles etc. across used to show how wide something is: At its widest point, the river is 2 miles across. 3 on the opposite side of something: Ben lives across the street from us. | Andi sat across from me. | The school is all the way across town. 4 reaching or spreading from one side of an area to the other: There was only one bridge across the bay. | a deep crack across the ceiling 5 across the board affecting everyone or everything: Changes will have to be made across the board.

cry·lic /ˈkrɪlɪk/ adj. CHEMISTRY acrylic paints, cloth, etc. are made from a chemical substance rather than a natural substance

act 1 /ækt/ v. 1 [I] to do something: We must act now in order to protect American jobs. | The jury decided that Walker had acted in self-defense. | We’re acting on the advice of our lawyer (=doing what s/he says). 2 [I] to behave in a particular way: Nick’s been acting strangely recently. | Pam’s acting like a baby. | Gabe acted as if nothing was wrong. 3 [I,T] to perform as a character in a play or movie: I started acting in high school. 4 [I] to produce a particular effect: Salt acts as a preservative.

act sth ↔ out give v. to show how an event happened by performing it like a play: The children read the story and then acted it out.

act up give v. to behave badly, or not work correctly: The car’s acting up again.

act 2 n. 1 [C] something that you do: a criminal act | acts of cruelty | Police caught the suspect in the act of making a bomb.

act·ing /ˈæktɪŋ/ adj. acting manager/director etc. someone who replaces the manager, etc. for a short time

act·ion /ˈækʃən/ n. 1 [U] the job or skill of performing in plays or movies | action movie (=one with a lot of fast exciting scenes) 2 in action (=being used or doing something): The car’s in action. 3 out of action (informal) not working because of damage or injury: My car’s out of action. | Jim will be out of action for two weeks. 4 [U] (informal) exciting things that are happening: New York’s where the action is. | an action movie (=one with a lot of fast exciting scenes) 5 in action doing a particular job or activity; a chance to see ski jumpers in action 6 [C,U] fighting in a war: He was killed in action.

act·ive /ˈækтив/ adj. 1 always doing things, or moving around a lot: Grandpa’s very active for his age. | games for active young-sters 2 involved in an organization or activity by doing things for it: an active member of the American Civil Liberties Union | Mahle is active in the Republican Party. 3 working or operating in the expected way: The alarm is now active. 4 EARTH SCIENCES an active volcano is likely to explode and pour out fire and lava. | (hot, liquid rock) 5 ENG. LANG. ARTS an active verb or sentence has the person or thing doing the action as its subject. In “The boy kicked the ball,” the verb “kicked” is active. (PASSIVE) 6 the active (voice) ENG. LANG. ARTS the active form of a verb → PASSIVE act·ive·ly adv. 1 in a particular way: I acted casually. | She is acting naturally. 2 in any way: He acted surprisingly.

ACT /ækt/ v. 1 act (voice) ENG. LANG. ARTS a verb that describes an action rather than as a state, for example “run” or “jump”

ac·tive·ment /ˌæktɪvˈmɛnt/ n. 1 [C] also active one of the main parts of a play, opera, etc. Hamlet kills the king in Act 5. 2 [C] a short piece of entertainment on television or stage: a comedy act 5 [singular] behavior that is not sincere: He doesn’t care. Laura — it’s just an act. 6 get your act together (informal) to start to do things in a more organized or effective way: If Julie doesn’t get her act together, she’ll never graduate. 7 get in on the act (informal) to become involved in a successful activity that someone else has started act·ive·ness /ˌæktɪvˈnəs/ n. the quality or state of being active actively

ac-tive-ly /akˈtɪvli/ adv. in a way that involves doing things or taking part in something: My parents are actively involved with the church.

ac-tiv-ist /ˌækəˈvɪst/ n [C] someone who works to achieve social or political change: human rights activists —activism n [U]

ac-tiv-i-ty /əkˈtɪvɪti/ n (plural activities) 1 [C] usually plural things that you do for pleasure: after-school activities | She loves nature and outdoor activities. 2 [U] things that you do because you want to achieve something: an increase in terrorist activity | anti-government political activity 3 [U] a situation in which a lot of things are happening or a lot of things are being done: the noise and activity of the city

ac-tor /ˈækta(r)/ n [C] someone who performs in a play or movie: a leading Hollywood actor

ac-tress /ˈæktris/ n [C] a woman who performs in a play or movie

ac-tual /ˈækʃʊəl/ adj. 1 actual: She has turned the lump at the front of her neck, that actually happened? | Actually, it was a lot of fun. 2 used in order to give more information, give your opinion, etc.: The watch actually belonged to my father. | Actually, I think I’ll stay home tonight.

ac-tual-ly /əkˈtʃʊəli/ adv. 1 to notice small differences in sound, taste, etc.: acute hearing 4 to notice small differences in sound, taste, etc.: acute hearing 2 to notice small differences in sound, taste, etc.: acute hearing 3 showing an ability to notice small differences in sound, taste, etc.: acute hearing 4 showing an ability to notice small differences in sound, taste, etc.: acute hearing acute /ˈækʃuət/ adj. 1 very serious or severe: acute pain | acute shortages of food 2 quickly to notice and understand things: an acute observer 3 showing an ability to notice small differences in sound, taste, etc.: acute hearing 4 an acute accent (=a mark used to show how something is pronounced) is a small line written above a vowel. In the word “café,” the letter “é” has an acute accent. [Origin: 1300—1400 Latin, past participle of acuerre “to sharpen,” from acus “needle”]

acute ‘angle n. [C] MATH an acute angle is less than 90°

ac-tu-al·ly /əˈkwɪtlɪ/ adv. feeling or noticing something very strongly: We are acutely aware of the problem.

ac-tu-ate /əˈkwɪteɪt/ v. to make (something) active: drug receptors become activated by a message

ad·a·mant /əˈdæmənt/ adj. 1 determined: adamantly opposed to the project. | They were adamant that the lump at the front of a man’s neck was not cancer. | The judge added that this case was one of the worst she had ever tried.

ad-a-mant·ly /əˈdæməntlɪ/ adv. determine: adamantly opposed to the project.

ad·a·ptive /əˈdaptɪv/ adj. 1 appropriate for a new purpose: The car has been adapted to take unleaded gas. | The house was adapted for wheelchair users.

ad·ap·ta·tion /ˌədəpˈteɪʃən/ n. the process of changing something so that it can be used in a different way or in different conditions ad·ap·ter /ˌədəpˈta(r)/ n. a device that connects two pieces of electrical equipment, or to connect more than one piece of equipment to the same power supply ad·di·tion /adˈdɪʃən/ n. [usually plural additions] the change of plans only added to our confusion.

add up phr. v. 1 add sth + up to put numbers or amounts together and then calculate the total: We’re now adding up the latest figures. 2 not add up to not seem true or reasonable: Her story (=explanation or account of what has happened) just doesn’t add up.

ad-den-dum /ˈædəndəm/ n. (plural addenda /ˈædəndə/) [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS something that is added to the end of a book, usually to give more information.

ad·dict /ˈdɪkst/ n. [C] someone who is unable to stop taking drugs: a heroin addict.

ad-dict·ed /ˈdɪkstid/ adj. unable to stop taking a drug: Marvin was addicted to sleeping pills.

ad-di·tion·al /ˈædɪʃənəl/ n. 1 in addition used in order to add another fact to what has already been mentioned: We installed a new security system. In addition, extra guards were hired. 2 in addition to his job, Harvey also coaches Little League.

add to sth phr. v. to make a feeling or quality stronger and more noticeable: The change of plans only added to our confusion.

ad·dress /ˈdres/ v. 1 to write a name and address on an envelope, package, etc.: There’s a letter here addressed to you. 2 (formal) to speak directly to a person or a group: A guest speaker then addressed the audience. | You should address your question to the chairman. 3 address a problem/question/issue etc. (formal) to start trying to solve a problem: Special meetings address the concerns of new members. 4 to use a particular name or title when speaking or writing to someone: The President should be addressed as “Mr. President.”

ad-e·quate /ˈædəkwət/ adj. 1 enough in quantity or of a good enough quality for a particular purpose (ANT) inadequate: We have not been given adequate information. | Her income is hardly adequate to pay the bills.

ad·e·quate adj. 2 fairly good, but not excellent: an adequate performance (ORIGIN: 1500—1600 Latin, past participle of adequare “to make equal,” from ad-“to” + aequalis “to equal”) ad·e·quate adj. 3 satisfactory, good enough, acceptable, passable, reasonable, respectable —adequacy n. [U] —adequately adv.

ad·dres·sion /ədˈhɾiʒən/ n. [C] someone who agrees with and supports a particular idea, opinion, or political party.

ad-he-sion /ədˈhiʒən/ n. 1 [U] the state of one thing sticking to another thing 2 [C.U.] BIOLOGY a piece of body tissue (=flesh) that has grown around a small injury or damaged area and has joined it to other tissue, or the process of joining... adhesive

two tissues together in this way 3 [U] PHYSICS a force that makes the atoms of different substances join tightly together when the substances touch each other ad·he·sive /adˈhɪsɪv/ adj, n. [C] a substance such as glue, that can stick things together —adhesive adj.: adhesive tape ad hoc /ədˈhɒk/ adj, adv. done when necessary, rather than planned or regular: an ad hoc committee ad·ja·cent /əˈdʒeɪənt/ adj (formal) next to something: The library is adjacent to the main campus. [Origin: 1400—1500 Latin, present participle of adjacere “to lie near,” from ad- “to” + jacere “to lie”] adjacent angles n. [plural] MATH two angles that are next to one another and share one side, formed when a straight line divides one angle into two parts ad·junct /əˈdʒʌŋkt/ v (adjunct, adj.扩充的) to add something such as a competition, or to make additional calculations: The test was administered to all high school seniors. 3 (formal) to give someone a medicine or drug: Painkillers were administered to the boys. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French annístrer, from Latin administrare, from ad- “to” + ministrare “to serve”] ad·min·is·tra·tion /ədˈmɪnɪsˌtreɪʃən/ n. 1 [U] the government of a country at a particular time: He was Secretary of State during the Bush administration. 2 [U] the activities that are involved in managing and organizing the affairs of a company, institution, etc.: We’re looking for someone with experience in administration. 3 the administration the people who manage a company, institution, etc.

ad·min·is·tra·tor /ədˈmɪnɪstər/ n. [C] someone who works in an office, typing letters, keeping records, answering telephone calls, arranging meetings, etc.

ad·min·is·tra·tive /ədˈmɪnɪstrətɪv/ adj relating to the work of managing a company or organization: Our administrative staff will deal with all the paperwork for you. The job is mainly administrative.

ad·min·istrative assistant n. [C] someone who works in an office, typing letters, keeping records, answering telephone calls, arranging meetings, etc.

ad·min·is·tra·tion /ədˈmɪnɪsˌtreɪʃən/ n. 1 [C] someone whose job is related to the management and organization of a company, institution, etc.: A decision will be made next week by the hospital administrators.

ad·mi·ral /ədˈmɪrəl/ adj having many good qualities that you respect and admire: an admirable achievement —admirably adv

ad·mi·ra·ble /ədˈmɪrəbəl/ adj admired by his colleagues. look up to sb — to admire and respect someone who is older and more experienced than you: The other kids looked up to him.
admit /ədˈmɪt/ v [T] (literary) to tell someone that s/he has done something wrong admission /ədˈmɪʃən/ n [U, C] to enter as a member of a school, club, etc.

admissible /ədˈmɪsəbəl/ adj. LAW acceptable or allowed, especially in a court of law (ANT inadmissible) admission charge n the price charged when you go to a movie, sports event, concert, etc.: Admission is $6.50.

The museum has admission of $6.50.

The city has adopted an new approach to fighting crime. —adopted adj. our adopted son adolescent² adj. relating to or typical of a young person who is developing into an adult: adolescent behavior adoptive /əˈdəptɪv/ adj. relating to or typical of a young person who is developing into an adult: adolescent behavior adorable /əˈdɔrəbl/ adj. very attractive and easy to like: What an adorable little puppy!

adolescence /əˈdɔrəlsəns/ n. [U] the period of time, usually between the ages of 12 and 18, when a young person is developing into an adult adolescent² n. [C] a young person who is developing into an adult adoring /əˈdɔrɪŋ/ adj. (Informal) to like something very much [Origin: 1300–1400 French adorer, from Latin adorare, from ad- “to” + orare “to speak, pray”] adoring adj. his adoring fans —adoration /əˈdɔrəʃən/ n. [U] adorn /əˈdɔrn/ v be adorned with sth (formal) to be decorated with something: The church walls were adorned with religious paintings.

adolescent² n. [C,U]
adult

When you are an adult, Mathew reached adulthood. By the time he was an adult, 21, he weighed over 250 pounds. When you are an adult, you need to deal with your problems in an adult way. 3 adult movies/magazines/bookstores etc. movies, magazines, etc. that show sexual acts, etc.
ad-vec-tion /ad'vekʃən/ n. [U] 1 PHYSICS the horizontal movement of heat, cold, or humidity (=amount of water in the air) in the Earth's atmosphere, caused by wind 2 EARTH SCIENCES the horizontal movement of air or water ad-vent /əd'vent/ n. the advent of sth the time when something first begins to be widely used: the advent of the computer ad-ven-ture /əd'venʃər/ n. [C] an exciting experience in which dangerous or unusual things happen ad-ven-tur-er /əd'ven'təriər/ n. [C] someone who enjoys traveling and doing exciting things ad-ven-ture-some /əd'ven'təri'səm/ adj. enjoying exciting and slightly dangerous activities ad-verse /əd'vers/ adj. wanting to do new, exciting, or dangerous things: adventurous travelers ad-verb /əd'verb/ n. [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS in grammar, a word or a group of words that describes or adds to the meaning of a verb, an adjective, another adverb, or a sentence. For example, “slowly” in “He walked slowly” and “very” in “It was a very nice day” are adverbs. [ORIGIN: 1400—1500 French adverbe, from Latin adverbum, from ad- “to” + verbum “word”] —adverbial /əd'vebʊəl/ adj.

ad-ver-sar-y /əd'verˌsəri/ n. (plural adversaries) [C] (formal) a country or person you are fighting or competing against [SYN] opponent ad-verse /əd'vers/ adj., ad-ˌvers/ adj. (formal) not good or favorable: The recession will have an adverse effect on the building industry. —adversely adv ad-ver-si-ty /əd'verˌsətɪ/ n. (plural adversities) [C] difficulties or problems that seem to be caused by bad luck: We remained hopeful in the face of adversity.

ad-ver-tise /əd'vertaiz/ v. 1 [I] to tell the public about a product or service in order to persuade them to buy it: The new perfume is being advertised in women's magazines. | companies who advertise on TV advise /əd'veis/ n. [U] an opinion you give someone about what she should do: The book is full of advice on/about child care. | Can you give me some advice about buying a house? | If I were you, I'd seek (seek) some legal/medical/financial advice. | Did you follow/take your father's advice? | He offered them one piece of advice: Don't panic. [ORIGIN: 1200—1300 Old French avis “opinion”]

THE SAURUS

commercial – an advertisement on TV or radio billboard – a very large sign at the side of a road or on a building, used as an advertisement poster – an advertisement on a wall, often with a picture on it want ads/classified ads – short advertisements in a newspaper, in which people offer things for sale flyer – a piece of paper with an advertisement on it, often given to you in the street junk mail – unwanted letters that you receive in the mail, containing advertisements spam – unwanted emails containing advertisements ad-ver-tis-ing /əd'vertaizɪŋ/ n. [U] the business of advertising things on television, in newspapers, etc.

THE SAURUS

tip – a helpful piece of advice: useful tips on healthy eating suggestion – an idea or plan that someone suggests: He made a few suggestions about how I could improve my essay recommendation – advice given to someone, especially about what to do: Do you have any recommendations about hotels in the city?

guidance – helpful advice about work, education, etc.: His parents should provide more guidance counseling – advice given by someone who is trained to help people with their personal problems or difficult decisions: Each student receives career counseling warning – a piece of advice that tells you that something bad or dangerous might happen, so that you can avoid or prevent it: Cigarette packs must have health warnings printed on them.

advise

advise /adˈvɪz/ v. 1 [T] to tell someone what you think they should do: Doctors advised her to have the operation. 2 [T] (formal) to officially tell someone something: You will be advised when the shipment arrives.

adviser /adˈvɪzər/ n. [C] someone whose job is to give advice about a particular subject: a financial adviser advisory /adˈvɪsəri/ adj. having the purpose of giving advice: an advisory committee advocate /əˈvəʊt/ v. [T] to strongly support a particular way of doing things: Extremists were openly advocating violence. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French avocat, from Latin, past participle of advocare “to summon”] advocacy aerodynamic /əˈdrəʊnəmɪk/ adj. involving the designing and building of aircraft and space vehicles: the aerospace industry aerobic /eəˈbɒɪk/ adj. needing oxygen in order to live, as a contrast to anaerobic.

aerobics /eəˈbɒɪks/ n. [U] a very active type of physical exercise done to music, usually in a class → EXERCISE aerosol /eəˈsɒl/ n. [C] a small metal container from which a liquid can be forced out using high pressure aerospaces /eəˈspeɪs/ n. involving the designing and building of aircraft and space vehicles: the aerospace industry aesthetic /æˈstɛtɪk/ adj. relating to beauty and the study of beauty → aesthetically adv. The building’s design is aesthetically pleasing.

aesthetics /æˈstɛtɪks, est`θɛtɪks, ɪs-/ n. [U] ENG. LANG. ARTS the study of beauty, especially beauty in art afar /əˈfɑːr/ adv. from afar (literary) from a long distance away

AFC n. American Football Conference a group of teams that is part of the NFL

affable /əˈfeɪbəl/ adj. friendly and easy to talk to: an affable guy [Origin: 1400—1500 French, Latin affabilis, from affari, from ad- “to” + fari “to speak”] affably adv.

affair /əˈfɛər/ n. [C] 1 affairs [plural] a) public or political events and activities: a foreign affairs correspondent for CNN b) things connected with your personal life, your financial situation, etc.: You need to get your financial affairs in order. 2 an event or a set of related events, especially unpleasant ones: the Watergate affair affendant /əˈfɛndənt/ adj. having the purpose of being an attachment or accessory: an appendent.

affection /əˈfɛkʃən/ n. [U] 1 to do something that produces a change in someone or something → INFLUENCE. Thousands of homes were affected by the flooding. [We feel that we do not have control over decisions which affect our daily lives.]

affectionate /əˈfɛkʃənət/ adj. having the purpose of being affectionate or showing love and sympathy: an affectionate hug affectionate /əˈfɛkʃənt/ adj. (formal) producing strong emotions such as sadness, pity, etc.: The movie is a genuinely affecting story of a child’s search for his missing mother.

affectionate /əˈfɛkt/ v. [T] 1 to do something that produces a change in someone or something → INFLUENCE. Thousands of homes were affected by the flooding. [We feel that we do not have control over decisions which affect our daily lives.]

affectionate /əˈfɛkt/ v. [T] 2 to make someone feel strong emotions: I was deeply affected by the news of Paul’s death. [Origin: (1–2) 1300—1400 Latin, past participle of afficere “to influence,” from ad- “to” + facere “to do”] affectionate /əˈfɛkt/ adj. not natural or sincere: She seemed affected, and I wasn’t sure what to make of her.

affectionate /əˈfɛkt/ adj. not natural or sincere: She seemed affected, and I wasn’t sure what to make of her.

affectionate /əˈfɛkt/ adj. not natural or sincere: She seemed affected, and I wasn’t sure what to make of her.

affectionate /əˈfɛkt/ adj. not natural or sincere: She seemed affected, and I wasn’t sure what to make of her.

affectionate /əˈfɛkt/ adj. not natural or sincere: She seemed affected, and I wasn’t sure what to make of her.

affectionate /əˈfɛkt/ adj. not natural or sincere: She seemed affected, and I wasn’t sure what to make of her.
love and caring: Bart felt great affection for her. | He doesn’t show affection easily.

af·fes·tion·ate /əˈfesəˈneɪte/ adj. showing that you like or love someone: an affectionate child | an affectionate hug — affectionately adv.

af·fi·ci·on·ist /ˌafɪˈʃɪnəɪst/ n. [C] LAW a written statement about something that you swear is true, used in a court of law [Origin: 1500—1600 Medieval Latin “he or she has made a formal promise,” from affir¬ment].

af·fi·li·ate1 /əˈflɪət/ v. be affiliated with/to sth if a group or organization is affiliated to a larger one, it is related to it or controlled by it: a TV station affiliated to CBS [Origin: 1700—1800 Medieval Latin, past participle of affiliate “to take over as a son,” from Latin aff- “to” + filius “son”] — affiliation /əˈflɪəʃən/ n. [C,U]: What are Jean’s political affiliations?

af·fi·li·ate2 /əˈflɪət, -əˈfliˌeɪt/ n. [C] a small company or organization that is related to or controlled by a larger one af·fin·i·ty /əˈfɪnəti/ n. (plural affinities) 1 [singular] the feeling you have when you like and understand someone or something: The poet has a deep affinity for nature. 2 [C,U] a close similarity or relationship between two things because of qualities or features that they both have [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French affinité “sharing a border, related by marriage”] af·firm /əˈfɜrəm/ v. [T] (formal) to state publicly that something is true: The President affirmed his intention to reduce taxes. — affirmation /əˈfɜrəmənt/ n. [C,U] af·firm·a·tive /əˈfɜrətɪv/ adj. (formal) a word, sign, etc. that is affirmative means “yes” (not) negative — affirmative n. [C]: She answered in the affirmative. — affirmatively adv.

af·firmative ‘action n. [U] the practice of choosing people for jobs, education, etc. who have been treated unfairly because of their race, sex, etc.

af·fix /əˈfiks/ n. [C] ENG, LANG, ARTS a group of letters added to the beginning or end of a word to change its meaning or use, such as “un-,” “mis-,” “-ness,” or “-ly”

af·flic·t /əˈflɪkt/ v. [T usually passive] (formal) to make someone have a serious illness or experience serious problems: a country afflicted by famine | people afflicted with AIDS — affliction /əˈflɪkʃən/ n. [C,U]

af·flu·ent /əˈfljuənt/ adj. having a lot of money, nice houses, expensive things, etc. — affluent, wealthy: an affluent suburb of Baltimore [Origin: 1400—1500 Old French, Latin, present participle of afflire “to flow in large quantities”] — affluence n. [U] content word

af·for·d /əˈfɔrd/ v. [T] 1 can afford a) to have enough money to buy or pay for something: I can’t afford to buy a new car. | Do you think we can afford a computer now? b) to be able to do something without causing serious problems for yourself: We can’t afford to offend regular customers. c) to have enough time to do something: I really can’t afford any more time away from work. 2 (formal) to provide something or allow something to happen: The walls afforded some protection from the wind.

af·ford·a·ble /əˈfɔrdəbəl/ adj. not expensive: affordable housing af·front /ˈfrʌnt/ n. [C usually singular] a remark or action that offends or insults someone af·ten·cy /ˈfərtns/ n. [usually singular] 1 having enough money to operate or stay out of debt: They’re struggling to stay afloat. 2 floating on water a·fresh /ˈɑːfrɪʃ/ adv. [not before noun] 1 fright¬ened because you think that you may get hurt or that something bad may happen [syn. scared]: There’s no need to be afraid. | Small children are often afraid of the dark. | Mary’s afraid to walk home alone.

THESaurus

frightened, scared, terrified, petrified, fearful — frightened

2 very worried that something bad will happen: A lot of people are afraid of losing their jobs. | He was afraid (that) the other kids would laugh at him. 3 I’m afraid (spoken) used in order to politely tell someone something that may annoy, upset, or disappoint him/her: I’m afraid (that) this is a “no smoking” area. | “Are we late?” “I’m afraid so (eyes).” | “Are there any tickets left?” “I’m afraid not (no).” [Origin: 1300—1400 Past participle of affray “to frighten” (14—19 centuries), from Old French affréer]

a·fresh /ˈɑːfrɪʃ/ adv. [not before noun] if you do something afresh, you do it again from the beginning: We decided to move to Texas and start afresh.

Af·ri·ca /ˈæfrɪkə/ n. one of the seven continents, that includes land south of Europe and west of the Indian Ocean

Af·ri·can /ˈæfrɪkən/ adj. relating to or coming from Africa

African (adj) n. someone from Africa

African American n. [C] an American with dark skin, whose family originally came from the part of Africa south of the Sahara Desert — African-American adj.

af·ter·ly /ˈæftərli/ adv. 1 when a particular time or event has happened: I go swimming every day after work. | A month/year after the fire, the house was rebuilt. 2 following someone or something else in a list or a piece of writing, or in order of importance: Whose name is after mine on the list? | After baseball, tennis is my favorite sport. 3 after 10 minutes/3 hours etc. when a particular amount of time has passed: After a while, the woman returned. 4 day after day/year after year etc.
after continuing for a very long time: Day after day, we waited, hoping she’d call. 5 used when telling time to say how many minutes past the hour it is: It’s ten after five. 6 because of something that happened earlier: I’m not surprised he left her, after the way she treated him. 7 after all a) used in order to say that what you expected did not happen: It didn’t rain after all.  b) used in order to say that something should be remembered or considered because it helps to explain what you have just said: Don’t shout at him – he’s only a baby, after all. 8 one after the other also one after another if a series of events, actions, etc. happen one after another, each one happens soon after the previous one: Ever since we moved here, it’s been one problem after another. 9 be after sb to be looking for someone and trying to catch him/her: The FBI is after him for fraud. 10 be after sth (informal) to try to get something that belongs to someone else: You’re just after my money! 11 in spite of: After all the trouble I went to, Reese didn’t even say thank you. [Origin: Old English after]

afterward
afterward – after an event or time that has been mentioned: He said afterward that it had been the scariest experience of his life. next – immediately afterward: What should we do next? later – after the present time or a time you are talking about: We can clean up later. subsequently (formal) – after an event in the past: Subsequently, the company filed for bankruptcy.

different meanings of the word: af·ter·thought /æf'tərθɔ:θ/ n [C usually singular] something that you mention or add later because you did not think of it before: “Bring Claire too,” he added as an afterthought.
af·ter·ward /æf'tərwa:d/ also afterwards adv after an event or time that has been mentioned: We met at college but didn’t get married until two years afterward.

a·gain /i'gen/ adv 1 one more time: Could you say that again? I couldn’t hear you. 2= after all the cake burned, so we had to start all over again (=from the beginning). 3 back to the same condition, situation, or place as before: Thanks for coming! Please come again. 4 He’s home again, after studying in Europe. 3 again and again repeating many times: I’ve tried again and again to contact her. 4 then again (spoken) used in order to add a fact that is different from what you have just said, or makes it seem less likely to be true: She says she’s thirty, but then again she might be lying.

agreement
agreement with an idea, belief, etc.: John was against the idea of selling the house. You can’t do that! It’s against the law (=illegal). 2 in a way that has a bad or unfair effect: discrimination against racial minorities 3 fighting or competing with someone or something: He was injured in the game against the Cowboys. 4 touching a surface: The cat’s fur felt soft against her face. 5 in the opposite direction from something: At least my drive to work is against the traffic. 6 have sth against sb/sth to dislike or disapprove of someone or something: I have nothing against dogs, but I don’t want one myself.

age
the number of years that someone has lived or something has existed: Patrick is my age (=the same age as me). 1 Jamie won his first tournament at the age of 15. 2 Most kids start kindergarten at age 5. 3 girls who become mothers at an early age (=very young) 4 Stop messing around and act your age (=behave in a way that is suitable for how old you are!). 5 Judy’s very smart for her age (=compared to others of the same age). 6 [C,U] a period in someone’s life: Who will look after you in old age? 7 women of child-bearing age 8 [U] the age when you are legally old enough to do something: voting/drinking/reirement age (=when you can legally vote, drink alcohol, etc.) 9 You can’t buy alcohol – you’re under age. 4 [C usually singular] a particular period of history: the modern age 5 be/come of age to be or become old enough to be considered a responsible adult. 6 [U] the state of being old: a letter that was brown with age 7 ages [plural] (informal) a long time: I haven’t been there for ages.

agreement
agreement with an idea, belief, etc.: John was against the idea of selling the house. You can’t do that! It’s against the law (=illegal). 2 in a way that has a bad or unfair effect: discrimination against racial minorities 3 fighting or competing with someone or something: He was injured in the game against the Cowboys. 4 touching a surface: The cat’s fur felt soft against her face. 5 in the opposite direction from something: At least my drive to work is against the traffic. 6 have sth against sb/sth to dislike or disapprove of someone or something: I have nothing against dogs, but I don’t want one myself.

age
the number of years that someone has lived or something has existed: Patrick is my age (=the same age as me). 1 Jamie won his first tournament at the age of 15. 2 Most kids start kindergarten at age 5. 3 girls who become mothers at an early age (=very young) 4 Stop messing around and act your age (=behave in a way that is suitable for how old you are!). 5 Judy’s very smart for her age (=compared to others of the same age). 6 [C,U] a period in someone’s life: Who will look after you in old age? 7 women of child-bearing age 8 [U] the age when you are legally old enough to do something: voting/drinking/reirement age (=when you can legally vote, drink alcohol, etc.) 9 You can’t buy alcohol – you’re under age. 4 [C usually singular] a particular period of history: the modern age 5 be/come of age to be or become old enough to be considered a responsible adult. 6 [U] the state of being old: a letter that was brown with age 7 ages [plural] (informal) a long time: I haven’t been there for ages.

agreement
agreement with an idea, belief, etc.: John was against the idea of selling the house. You can’t do that! It’s against the law (=illegal). 2 in a way that has a bad or unfair effect: discrimination against racial minorities 3 fighting or competing with someone or something: He was injured in the game against the Cowboys. 4 touching a surface: The cat’s fur felt soft against her face. 5 in the opposite direction from something: At least my drive to work is against the traffic. 6 have sth against sb/sth to dislike or disapprove of someone or something: I have nothing against dogs, but I don’t want one myself.

age
the number of years that someone has lived or something has existed: Patrick is my age (=the same age as me). 1 Jamie won his first tournament at the age of 15. 2 Most kids start kindergarten at age 5. 3 girls who become mothers at an early age (=very young) 4 Stop messing around and act your age (=behave in a way that is suitable for how old you are!). 5 Judy’s very smart for her age (=compared to others of the same age). 6 [C,U] a period in someone’s life: Who will look after you in old age? 7 women of child-bearing age 8 [U] the age when you are legally old enough to do something: voting/drinking/reirement age (=when you can legally vote, drink alcohol, etc.) 9 You can’t buy alcohol – you’re under age. 4 [C usually singular] a particular period of history: the modern age 5 be/come of age to be or become old enough to be considered a responsible adult. 6 [U] the state of being old: a letter that was brown with age 7 ages [plural] (informal) a long time: I haven’t been there for ages.
aggressive sales tactics 2 behaving in an angry or violent way toward someone: aggressive behavior

aggressiveness n [U]

ag-gres-sor /agˈrɛsər/ n [C] a person or country that starts a fight or war ag-grieved /əˈɡriːvd/ adj. angry or unhappy because you think you have been treated unfairly a-g-ny /aˈɡnədi/ v [T] to make someone think about an idea or plan

a-go /əˈgou/ adj. used in order to show how far back in the past something happened: Jeff left for work 10 minutes/2 hours ago. | We went to Maine once, but it was a long time ago. | I had the tickets a minute ago! | Scott's dad called a little while ago.

ag-gre-gate /ˈagɡrɪɡeɪt/ v [T] 1 to make a bad situation, illness, or injury worse: The doctors say her condition is aggravated by stress. 2 to annoy someone: What really aggravates me is the way she won't listen. — aggravating adj. — aggravation /ˈagɡrɪɡeɪʃən/ n. [C,U] ag-gre-gate /ˈagɡrɪɡeɪt/ adj. [only before noun] ECONOMICS being the total amount of something, especially money: Aggregate production at the Detroit plant is being increased to handle the extra demand. — aggregate n [singular, U]: The twenty hotels in the chain have an aggregate of 1,952 rooms.

ag-gre-sion /ˈagɡrəʃən/ n. [U] angry or threatening behavior, especially in which you attack someone: an act of aggression [Origin: 1600—1700 Latin aggression, from aggerdī “to attack”] ag-gres-sive /ˈaggresɪv/ adj. 1 very determined to succeed: aggressive sales tactics

ag-gres-sive-ness n [U]
farming: The country has a mainly agrarian economy. [Origin: 1600–1700 Latin agrarius, from a[ger] “field”] ag·ri·cul·ture /əˈɡri kəl/ n. 1 [U] the science or practice of farming [Origin: 1400–1500 French, Latin agricultura, from a[ger] “field” + cultura “use of land for crops”] —ag·ri·cul·tu·ral /əˈɡri kəl tər/ adj.

ag·ree·ment /əˈɡri mənt/ n. 1 [U] to have the same opinion as someone else ant: disagree: I agree with Karen. It’s much too expensive. Don’t say “I am agree.” 2 [U] Most experts agree that global warming is a serious problem. Mike and I certainly don’t agree on/about everything.

ag·ree·able /əˈɡri ə bil/ adj. —ag·ree·a·ble·ly adv. 1 [U] something that is pleasant or nice: I was pleasantly surprised when we agreed to meet. 2 [adj] adj. agreeable to something: I agreeable to staying home with the baby. 3 [U] agreeable to people: Mike and I certainly don’t agree on/about everything.

ag·ree·al·ly /əˈɡri ə la l/ adv. 1 [U] agreeable to something: I found it agreeably surprising when we agreed to meet. 2 [adv] agreeably to something: I was agreeably surprised.

ag·ree·ment /əˈɡri mənt/ n. 1 [U] an arrangement or promise to do something, made by two or more people, organizations, etc.: a trade agreement [Lawyers on both sides finally reached an agreement. 2 [L] a situation in which two or more people have the same opinion as each other ant: disagreement: All of us were in agreement.

ag·ri·cul·tural revo·lu·tion /əˈɡri kəl tər əl rə vox/ n. 1 the Agricultural Revolution history a period a long time ago when people first began to grow crops and raise farm animals on farms 2 [C] history a period when there was great change in farming methods because, for example, chemicals were introduced to farming, or horses were replaced by machines ag·ri·cul·ture /əˈɡri kəl tər/ n. [U] the science or practice of farming [Origin: 1400–1500 French, Latin agricultura, from a[ger] “field” + cultura “use of land for crops”] —ag·ri·cul·tu·ral /əˈɡri kəl tər/ adj.

aim /eɪm/ v 1 [I] to plan or intend to achieve something: We aim to finish by Friday. | a program aimed at creating more jobs 2 aim sth at sb to do or say something that is intended for a particular person or group: TV commercials aimed at children 3 [T] to point a weapon at a person or thing you want to hit: A gun was aimed at his head.

aim /eɪm/ n 1 [C] something that you are trying to achieve: What is the aim of their research? | Our main aim is to provide good service. | I moved to California with the aim of finding a job.

aim·less /eɪm·ləs/ adj without a clear purpose or reason —aimlessly adv: We wandered aimlessly around the city.

ain’t /ɛɪnt/ v. (spoken, nonstandard) a short form of “am not,” “is not,” “are not,” “has not,” or “have not”

air /eər/ n 1 [U] the gases around the Earth, which we breathe: There was a smell of burning in the air. | Let’s go outside and get some fresh air. | air pollution 2 [U] the space above the ground or around things: David threw the ball up into the air. | Are you shipping that box by air or by land? 4 air travel/safety etc. travel, safety, etc. involving or relating to airplanes: the worst air disaster in the state’s history. 5 be in the air if a feeling is in the air, a lot of people have it: There was tension in the air. 6 [singular] a quality that someone or something seems to have: There was an air of mystery about her. 7 be up in the air (spoken) used to say that something has not been decided yet: Our trip is still very much up in the air. 8 [U] (spoken) air conditioning 9 be on/off the air to be broadcasting, or to stop broadcasting 10 airs [plural] a way of behaving that shows someone thinks s/he is more important than s/he really is: You shouldn’t have to put on airs with your own friends. [Origin: (1–2) 1200—1300 Old French, Latin aer, from Greek] 11 [T] to broadcast a program on television or radio: Star Trek was first aired in 1966. 2 [T] to express your opinions publicly: You will all get a chance to air your views. 3 [T] also air out to let fresh air into a room air·bag /eərbæg/ n [C] a bag in a car, that fills with air to protect people in an accident air·bladder /eərbled/ n [C] biology an organ inside the body of most fish, that can fill with air and allows the fish to float in water (also swim bladder) air·borne /eərˈbɔrn/ adj flying or carried through the air air·brush /eərbraʃ/ n [C] a piece of equipment that uses air to put paint onto a surface air·brush /eərbraʃ/ v [T] to use an airbrush to make a picture or photograph look better air·bush /eəbʌʃ/ v * out adv v to remove someone or something from a picture or photograph using an airbrush air·condition·er /eərˌkɑndəˈʃər/ n [C] a machine that makes the air in a room, car, etc. stay cool air·con·di·tion·ing /eərˈkɑndəˈʃən/ n [U] a system of machines that makes the air in a room, building, etc. stay cool —air·condi·tioned adj air·craft /eərˈkrɑft/ n (plural aircraft) [C] an airplane or other vehicle that can fly air·craf·ter /eərˈkrɑfər/ n [C] a ship that airplanes can fly from and land on air·fare /eərˈfɛr/ n [U] the price of an airplane trip air·field /eərˈfild/ n [C] a place where military or small airplanes fly from air·force /eərfɔrs/ also Air Force n [C] usually singular] the part of a country’s military organization that uses airplanes to fight air·i·ly /eəˈrɛli/ adv (literary) in a way that shows you do not think something is important: “I know all that,” she said airily.

air·less /eərlis/ adj without fresh air air·lift /eərlift/ n [C] an occasion when people or things are taken to a place by airplane because it is too difficult or dangerous to get there by road —airlift v [T] air·line /eərˈlain/ n [C] a business that regularly flies passengers to different places by airplane air·lin·er /eərˈlaɪnər/ n [C] a large airplane for passengers air·mail /eərmeɪl/ n [U] letters, packages, etc. that are sent to another country by airplane, or the system of doing this —airmail adj, adv air·mat·ter /eərˈmætər/ n [U] letters, packages, etc. that are sent to another country by airplane, or the system of doing this —airmail adj, adv air·mar·shall /eərˈmæʃəl/ n [C] a sky marshall air·plane /eərˈplɛn/ n [C] a vehicle that flies by using wings and one or more engines (also plane)

air·port /eərˈpɔrt/ n [C] a place where airplanes take off and land, that has buildings for passengers to wait in airspace /ɛərˈspɛrs/ n. [U] the sky above a particular country, considered to be controlled by that country.

air strike n. [C] an attack on a place, in which military aircraft drop bombs on it.

airstrip /ˈɛərstrɪp/ n. [C] a long narrow piece of land, that airplanes can fly from and land on.

air-tight adj. 1 not allowing air to get in or out: airtight containers [planned or done carefully, so that there are no problems or mistakes: Security at the airport is airtight.] 2 airtight sound to warn everyone about something bad or dangerous that is happening: They first sounded the alarm about the problem of nuclear waste in 1955. [Origin: 1500—1600 French alarme, from Old Italian all’arme "to the weapon"]; 4 raise/sound the alarm to warn everyone about something bad or dangerous that is happening: I’ve set the alarm for six o’clock.

alarm clock n. [C] a clock that will make a noise at a particular time to wake you up: see picture at clock.

alarm-ing adj. very frightening or worrying: an alarming increase in violent crime.

alarm-ist adj. making people feel worried about dangers that do not exist: alarmist [although: Many plants can grow at low temperatures, albeit slowly.]

alarm n. [U] something bad or dangerous that is happening: alarmed [although: Many plants can grow at low temperatures, albeit slowly.]

a·larm·ist n. [C] a person or animal with a habit of drinking too much: alcoholic [although: Many plants can grow at low temperatures, albeit slowly.]

alcohol·ism n. [U] a medical condition of being an alcoholic.

alcohol·ics·an·on·ic adj. containing alcohol, or relating to alcohol: alcoholic [although: Many plants can grow at low temperatures, albeit slowly.]

alcohol·ism n. [U] the medical condition of having an alcoholic

---

à la mode /ˌaləˈmōd/ adj. served with ice cream.

à la carte /ˌaləˈkɑrt/ adj. in which you put photographs, stamps, etc. that you want to keep:

album n. [U] in which you put photographs, stamps, etc. that you want to keep:

Al·be·ri·cian adj. used when giving something's real name together with the name s/he is known by: John Phillips, a.k.a. The Mississippi Mudier

a·kin /ˈa·kɪn/ adj. skin to sth (formal) similar to something: His music is much more akin to jazz than rock.

AL the written abbreviation of ALABAMA.

à la carte /ˌaləˈkɑrt/ adj. in a restaurant that is à la carte has its own separate price for each dish: à la carte

a·lac·ri·ty /ˈa·ləkˈrɪtɪ/ n. [U] (formal) speed and eagerness: He agreed with alacrity.
al·cow (əlˈkəw) n. [C] a small place in a wall of a room, that is built further back than the rest of the wall [origin: 1500—1600 French alcôve, from Spanish alcoba, from Arabic al-qubbah “the arch”] al·der·man (əldərˈmən) n. (plural aldermen) [C] politics a city or town government official who is elected ale (əl) n. [U] a type of beer

a·lert (əˈlərt) adj. 1 always watching and ready to notice anything strange, unusual, dangerous, etc.: cyclists must always be alert to the dangers on a busy road. 2 able to think quickly and clearly: I didn’t feel alert enough to do any more work. [origin: 1400 Old French, Latin alertus “awake”] al·go·rithm (ælˈgərithəm) n. [C] mathematics that uses letters and signs to represent operations that are performed on numbers.

al·gal bloom (ælˈgəl bloom) n. [C] biology a sudden and great increase in the amount of algae growing on or near the surface of a body of fresh water, which uses up important supplies of oxygen in the water al·gæ (ælˈgæ) n. [U] biology a very simple plant without stems or leaves that lives in or near water [origin: 1500—1600 Latin algæ “seaweed”] al·gal (ælˈgəl) adj. biology referring to algae or its members al·li·mo·ny (əˈləmənē) n. [C] chemistry a yellow-white metal that appears in group 1 of the periodic table. it is a very reactive metal that reacts with water to form hydroxide and hydrogen gas.

al·li·ate (əˈlət) v. [T] to make someone stop feeling friendly or stop feeling like s/he belongs in a group; policies that will alienate some voters —al·li·a·tion (əˈləshən) n.

a·light (əˈlæt) adj. 1 burning: several cars were set alight by rioters. 2 someone whose face or eyes are alight is happy or excited alight (əˈlæt) v. [T] to warn someone of a problem or of possible danger: as soon as we suspected it was a bomb, we alerted the police.

a·like (əˈlāk) adj. 1 almost exactly the same (especially when something is used as an example or illustration) —al·ike (əˈlāk) adv. 2 in a way that includes both the people, groups, or things you have mentioned: the rule was criticized by teachers and students alike.

al·li·as (əˈliəs) n. [C] biology a set of mathematical instructions that are done in a particular order al·li·as (əˈliəs) prep. used when giving a criminal’s real name together with the name s/he uses: the spy margaret zelle, alias mata hari [origin: 1400—1500 Latin “otherwise”]

al·li·ate (əˈləshən) n. [C] law something that proves that someone was not where a crime happened and is therefore not guilty of the crime: he had a perfect alibi and the police let him go. [origin: 1600—1700 Latin “somewhere else”]

al·li·ate (əˈləshən) v. [T] to make someone stop feeling friendly or stop feeling like s/he belongs in a group; policies that will alienate some voters —al·li·a·tion (əˈləshən) n.

al·li·ate (əˈləshən) n. [C] law something that proves that someone was not where a crime happened and is therefore not guilty of the crime: he had a perfect alibi and the police let him go. [origin: 1600—1700 Latin “somewhere else”]

al·li·ate (əˈləshən) v. [T] to make someone stop feeling friendly or stop feeling like s/he belongs in a group; policies that will alienate some voters —al·li·a·tion (əˈləshən) n.

al·li·ate (əˈləshən) n. [C] law something that proves that someone was not where a crime happened and is therefore not guilty of the crime: he had a perfect alibi and the police let him go. [origin: 1600—1700 Latin “somewhere else”]

al·li·ate (əˈləshən) v. [T] to make someone stop feeling friendly or stop feeling like s/he belongs in a group; policies that will alienate some voters —al·li·a·tion (əˈləshən) n.

al·li·ate (əˈləshən) n. [C] law something that proves that someone was not where a crime happened and is therefore not guilty of the crime: he had a perfect alibi and the police let him go. [origin: 1600—1700 Latin “somewhere else”]

al·li·ate (əˈləshən) v. [T] to make someone stop feeling friendly or stop feeling like s/he belongs in a group; policies that will alienate some voters —al·li·a·tion (əˈləshən) n.

al·li·ate (əˈləshən) n. [C] law something that proves that someone was not where a crime happened and is therefore not guilty of the crime: he had a perfect alibi and the police let him go. [origin: 1600—1700 Latin “somewhere else”]

al·li·ate (əˈləshən) v. [T] to make someone stop feeling friendly or stop feeling like s/he belongs in a group; policies that will alienate some voters —al·li·a·tion (əˈləshən) n.

al·li·ate (əˈləshən) n. [C] law something that proves that someone was not where a crime happened and is therefore not guilty of the crime: he had a perfect alibi and the police let him go. [origin: 1600—1700 Latin “somewhere else”]

al·li·ate (əˈləshən) v. [T] to make someone stop feeling friendly or stop feeling like s/he belongs in a group; policies that will alienate some voters —al·li·a·tion (əˈləshən) n.

al·li·ate (əˈləshən) n. [C] law something that proves that someone was not where a crime happened and is therefore not guilty of the crime: he had a perfect alibi and the police let him go. [origin: 1600—1700 Latin “somewhere else”]

al·li·ate (əˈləshən) v. [T] to make someone stop feeling friendly or stop feeling like s/he belongs in a group; policies that will alienate some voters —al·li·a·tion (əˈləshən) n.

al·li·ate (əˈləshən) n. [C] law something that proves that someone was not where a crime happened and is therefore not guilty of the crime: he had a perfect alibi and the police let him go. [origin: 1600—1700 Latin “somewhere else”]

al·li·ate (əˈləshən) v. [T] to make someone stop feeling friendly or stop feeling like s/he belongs in a group; policies that will alienate some voters —al·li·a·tion (əˈləshən) n.

al·li·ate (əˈləshən) n. [C] law something that proves that someone was not where a crime happened and is therefore not guilty of the crime: he had a perfect alibi and the police let him go. [origin: 1600—1700 Latin “somewhere else”]

al·li·ate (əˈləshən) v. [T] to make someone stop feeling friendly or stop feeling like s/he belongs in a group; policies that will alienate some voters —al·li·a·tion (əˈləshən) n.

al·li·ate (əˈləshən) n. [C] law something that proves that someone was not where a crime happened and is therefore not guilty of the crime: he had a perfect alibi and the police let him go. [origin: 1600—1700 Latin “somewhere else”]

al·li·ate (əˈləshən) v. [T] to make someone stop feeling friendly or stop feeling like s/he belongs in a group; policies that will alienate some voters —al·li·a·tion (əˈləshən) n.

al·li·ate (əˈləshən) n. [C] law something that proves that someone was not where a crime happened and is therefore not guilty of the crime: he had a perfect alibi and the police let him go. [origin: 1600—1700 Latin “somewhere else”]

al·li·ate (əˈləshən) v. [T] to make someone stop feeling friendly or stop feeling like s/he belongs in a group; policies that will alienate some voters —al·li·a·tion (əˈləshən) n.

al·li·ate (əˈləshən) n. [C] law something that proves that someone was not where a crime happened and is therefore not guilty of the crime: he had a perfect alibi and the police let him go. [origin: 1600—1700 Latin “somewhere else”]

al·li·ate (əˈləshən) v. [T] to make someone stop feeling friendly or stop feeling like s/he belongs in a group; policies that will alienate some voters —al·li·a·tion (əˈləshən) n.

al·li·ate (əˈləshən) n. [C] law something that proves that someone was not where a crime happened and is therefore not guilty of the crime: he had a perfect alibi and the police let him go. [origin: 1600—1700 Latin “somewhere else”]

al·li·ate (əˈləshən) v. [T] to make someone stop feeling friendly or stop feeling like s/he belongs in a group; policies that will alienate some voters —al·li·a·tion (əˈləshən) n.

al·li·ate (əˈləshən) n. [C] law something that proves that someone was not where a crime happened and is therefore not guilty of the crime: he had a perfect alibi and the police let him go. [origin: 1600—1700 Latin “somewhere else”]
alkaline solution n. [C] CHEMISTRY a liquid containing an alkali, which has a pH of more than 7 and will turn red LITMUS paper blue

all /'æl/ adv. 1 the whole of an amount, time, or thing: Have you done all your homework? We’ve spent it all. | I’ve been waiting all day/week. | Bill talks about work all the time (=very often or too much). | Professor Ito explained all of this. 2 every one of a group of things or people: Answer all twenty questions. 3 have or know a lot of information, too much) | It was all but impossible to contact him after a while. 4 in all (of) over a certain number of things or people: The students are reading all kinds of books. 5 for all... in spite of a particular fact or situation: For all his faults, he’s a good father. 6 at all (used in questions to mean “in any way”): Did the new drugs help her at all? 7 not at all not in any way. | The snow didn’t affect us at all. 8 in all (including everything or a person in a group): In all, there were 29 people there. 9 all in all (considering everything): All in all, it was a successful event.

TREASURY accusation, charge, complaint → ACCUSATION

allege /'ælIg/ v. [T] to say that something is true, though it has not been proved: Three students alleged that they had been expelled unfairly.

TREASURY accuse, charge → ACCUSE

al-le-ged /'ælIgId/ adj. supposed to be true, but not proven: the group’s alleged connections with organized crime al-le-ged-ly /'ælIgIdli/ adv. used when reporting what other people say is true, although it has not been proved: Felix allegedly offered him a bribe.

al-le-giance /'ælIlIjans/ n. [C,U] loyalty to or support for a leader, country, belief, etc.: The class stood up and pledged allegiance to the flag of the United States of America.

al-le-go-ry /'ælIlOri/ n. (plural allegories) [C,U] ENG. L ANG. ARTS a story, poem, painting, etc. in which the events and characters represent good and bad qualities → allegorical /'ælIlOrikl/ adj.

al-le-le /'æIli/ also al-le-lo-morph /'æIli,moIf/ n. [C] BIOLOGY one of a pair or series of GENES that have a specific position on a CHROMOSOME and control which features an animal or plant gets from its parents

al-le-ly /'æIlI/ interjection HALLELUJAH

al-le-gic /'æIliIk/ adj. 1 BIOLOGY having an allergy; Jess is allergic to milk. 2 BIOLOGY caused by an allergy: an allergic reaction to the bee sting al-le-gy /'æIlI/ n. (plural allergies) [C] BIOLOGY a condition that makes you sick when you eat, touch, or breathe a particular thing: He has an allergy to cats.

al-leviate /'æIlivIet/ v. [T] to make something less bad or severe: Aspirin should alleviate the pain. | The road was built to alleviate traffic problems.

TREASURY reduce, relieve, ease, lessen → REDUCE al-le-gy /'æIlI/ also al-le-way /'æIlI,wei/ n. [C] a narrow street between buildings al-li-ance /'ællIans/ n. [C] a close agreement or connection between people, countries, etc.: the NATO alliance

al-li-ed /'ællId/ adj. (‘alIard) joined or closely related, especially by a political or military agreement: allied forces | The government was allied with oil companies.

al-li-ga-tor /'ællIgItor/ n. [C] a large REPTILE (=type of animal) with a long body, a long mouth, and sharp teeth that lives in hot wet areas of the U.S. and China [origin: 1500–1600 Spanish el lagarto “the lizard,” from Latin lacerta]

all-inclusive adj. including everything: The firm will handle all your stock investments for an all-inclusive fee.

alliteration n. [U] arts the use of several words close together that begin with the same consonant, for example “wet and windy weather,” used in order to produce a special effect in writing or poetry [origin: 1660–1700 Latin litera “letter”]

all-nighter n. [C] (informal) an occasion when you spend the whole night studying or writing allocate v. (allotted, allotting) [T] to decide to use a particular amount of money, time, etc. for a particular purpose: The state plans to increase the funding allocated to low-income housing. [origin: 1600–1700 Medieval Latin, past participle of allocare, from Latin ad- “to” + locare “to place”] —allocation n. [U]: the allocation of educational resources

allot v. (allotted, allotting) [T] to use a particular amount of time for something, or give a particular share of something to someone or something; Each person was allotted four tickets. [T] Two hours were allotted to each interview. —give allowance to

allotment n. [C,U]

allotrope n. [C] chemistry one of the several different physical forms or structures of the same element (=simple chemical substance with only one type of atom). For example, coal and diamonds are allotropes of carbon.

allow v. (allowed, allowing) [T] to give someone permission to do something, have something, or go somewhere: Smoking is not allowed. [T] Reporters were allowed access to the files. [T] Those over 18 are allowed to vote. [T] The cat’s not allowed in the bedroom.

allude v. (alluded, alluding) [T] to consider the possible effects of something and make plans to deal with it: Even allowing for delays, we should finish early.

allowable adj. acceptable according to particular rules: the recommended daily allowance of vitamin C allowance n. [C,U] money you are given regularly or for a special reason: Do your kids get an allowance? [T] a travel allowance allow for v. to consider the possible effects of something and make plans to deal with it: Allow ten days for delivery. [T] I allow myself $75 a week for groceries.

all-time adj. 1 all-time high/low/best etc. the highest, lowest, etc. level there has ever been: The stock reached an all-time high last week. 2 all-time record/classic etc. the best thing of its type ever known: the NHL's all-time leading goal scorer

al-lude v. (alluded, alluding) [t] (formal) to talk about something in a way that is not direct

allow is used in both formal and informal English: You’re not allowed to use a calculator during the test.

let is informal and is used a lot in spoken English: Will your Mom let you come to the party?

permnit is formal and is mainly used in written English: Smoking is not permitted in this building.

authorize (formal) – to give official permission for something: In the early 1990s, rangers were authorized to trap wolves in national forests.

sanction (formal) – to officially accept or allow something: The U.N. refused to sanction the use of force.

condone (formal) – to accept or allow behavior that most people think is wrong: I cannot condone the use of violence.

make allowance for sb/sth to make it possible for something to happen or for someone to do something: The plan preserves the state’s wild areas while allowing economic growth. [T] The waiting period allows for a background check.

all is the usual way of spelling this phrase: Are you all right? The movie was all right.

right is very informal, and most teachers think that it is not correct.

all-time adj. 1 all-time high/low/best etc. the highest, lowest, etc. level there has ever been: The stock reached an all-time high last week. 2 all-time record/classic etc. the best thing of its type ever known: the NHL's all-time leading goal scorer

al-lude v. (alluded, alluding) [t] (formal) to talk about something in a way that is not direct

al·lure /ə′lər/ n. [singular, U] a pleasant or exciting quality that attracts people: the allure of travel —alluring adj.
al·lus·ion /ə′ləsən/ n. [C,U] (formal) something said or written that mentions a subject, person, etc., in a way that is not direct: His poetry is full of allusions to the Bible. —allusive /ə′ləsəv/ adj.
al·lu·vi·um /ə′luvēəm/ n. [U] EARTH SCIENCES soil left by rivers, lakes, floods, etc.
al·ly /′lē/ n. 1. a·lal/ n. (plural allies) [C] a person or country that helps another, especially in war: the U.S. and its European allies [ORIGIN: 1300—1400 Old French allier, from Latin alligare, from ad- “to” + ligare “to tie”] ally /′lē/ n. (allied, allies) ally yourself to/with sb/sth to join with other people or countries to help each other al·ma·mat·er /′alma′matər/, al·ma·nac [sing, U] (formal) 1. the school, college, or university where you used to study 2. the official song of a school, college, or university [ORIGIN: 1700—1800 a Latin phrase meaning “generous mother”] al·ma·nac /′alma,nak/ n. [C] 1. a book giving a list of the days of a year, times the Sun rises and sets, changes in the moon, etc. 2. a book giving information about a particular subject or activity: the Almanac of American Politics al·might·y /′almətē/ adj. 1. having the power to do anything: Almighty God 2. very important or powerful: the almighty dollar al·mond /′almond/ n. a pale brown skin and a lightly sweet taste, or —(said or written that mentions a subject, person, etc.
1600 Late Latin alligare, from Latin alligare, from ad- “to” + ligare “to tie”] al·mul·a·tion /′almələ′shən/ n. [U] (chemistry) a liquid used for dissolving or for carrying substances al·nur·sis /′alnərəs/ n. [C] a nurse

THE SA URUS

on your own — without anyone helping you:
 Firstly, the baby started breathing on her own (all) by yourself — without anyone helping you:
 She raised four children by herself single-handedly — done by one person, without help from anyone else: He almost single-handedly is responsible for the busi-ness's success.
solo — done alone, without anyone else helping you: Lindbergh's solo flight across the Atlantic Ocean independently — without other people's help or control: The children are encouraged to work independently on the projects.
unaided (formal) — without help: She was no longer able to breathe unaided.

2 used in order to emphasize that only one person can do something, that something belongs to only one person, etc.: He alone can do the job, to leave sb alone to LEAVE, to leave sth alone at LEAVE, let alone at LET
a-long /′aləng/ prep. 1. from one place on something such as a line, road, or edge toward the other end of it: We took a walk along the river. | She looked anxiously along the line of faces. 2. in a line next to or on something: a fence along the road | photographs arranged along the wall 3. at a particular place on something, usually something long: The house is somewhere along this road. 4. along the way line during a process or experience, or during someone's life: The company has had more successes than failures along the way.
along adv. 1. going forward: I was driving along, listening to the radio. 2. go come/be along to go to, come to, or be in the place where something is happening: You're welcome to come along. 3. take/bring sb/sth along to take someone or something with you to a place: Why don't you bring your guitar along? 4. along with sb/sth in addition to and at the same time as someone or something else: Many heart patients now take aspirin, along with other drugs. ➔ all along at all, get along at GET, come along at COME a-long-side /′aləng′sād/ adv. prep. 1. close to and in line with the edge of something: a boat tied up alongside the dock 2. used in order to say that people or things do something or exist together: The children were playing alongside each other.
a-loof /′alə夫/ adj. apart from other people and deliberately not doing things with them: He held himself somewhat aloof from the others.
a-loud /′ələud/ adv. in a voice that you can hear: Mama read aloud to us. | I was just thinking aloud (=saying what I was thinking). | The pain made him cry aloud.
a-phal·bet·i·cal /′eləft′bətikəl/ adj. arranged according to the letters of the alphabet: books in alphabetical order — alphabetically adv.
a-phal·bet·i·cal /′eləft′bətikəl/ adj. arranged according to the letters of the alphabet: books in alphabetical order — alphabetically adv.
a·lum·mi·num /′aləmən/ n. [C] PHYSICS a particle (=a very small piece of matter) with a positive charge, that consists of two protons and two neutrons and is sent out by some radioactive substances a-pine /′əlpən/ adj. EARTH SCIENCES being in or related to the Alps or other high mountains: alpine flowers a-read·y /′ərēd/ adv. 1. before a particular time: By the time he arrived, the room was already crowded. 2. before: You already told me that.
al·ter /ˈaltər/ v. [T] to change, or to make someone or something change: "The design of the aircraft’s wings had to be altered slightly." [Origin: 1300–1400 French altérer, from Medieval Latin alterare, from Latin alter “other”] al·ter·na·tion /ˌaltərˈneɪʃən/ n. [C] a change in something or someone, that him, her, or it slightly different: "We’re planning to make a few alterations to the house." [The bacteria can cause alterations in the DNA.]

al·ter·ca·tion /ˌaltərˈkeɪʃən/ n. [C] (formal) a noisy argument al·ter·na·tor /ˌaaltərnətər/ n. [C] in buildings for electrical equipment, used in cars, trucks, etc.

al·ter·na·tive /ˌaaltərnətɪv/ adj. 1 an alternative plan, idea, etc. can be used instead of another one: "We decided to take an alternative way home." 2 different from what is usual or accepted: "Alternative medicine may cure some things, but not diseases like cancer." [Before the oil runs out, we will have to find alternative sources of energy.]

al·ter·na·tive 2 n. [C] something you can choose to do or use instead of something else: "This costs less than the alternative." [There was no alternative to the use of force.

al·ter·na·tive 3 n. [C] PHYSICS a generator (=machine that produces electricity) that produces an alternating current, used in cars, trucks, etc.

al·though /əˈlaʊð/ conjunction 1 in spite of the fact that: "Although the car’s old, it runs well." 2 but: "No, I’ll do it, although I appreciate your offer."
al-ti-tude /a.l’tə.tu/ n. [C,U] the height of something above sea level: aircraft flying at high/low altitude

al-to /ə.al’tou/ n. (plural altos) [C,U] ENG. LANG. ARTS a female singer with a low voice, or the line of a piece of music that this person sings

al-to-geth-er /əl’tə.gətθər/ adv. 1 completely – used in order to emphasize what you are saying: He uses an altogether different method. 2 smoking in public buildings is banned altogether. 2 considering everything or the whole amount: There were five people altogether. 3 It did rain a lot, but altogether it was a good trip.

al-tru-ism /ə.al’tru.izm/ n. [U] the practice of caring about the needs of other people before dealing with your own needs —altruist n. [C] —altruistic adj /ə.al’tru.sti.kəl/ adj

a-lum·num /ə.ləm.nəm/ n. [U] CHEMISTRY a silver-white metal that is an ELEMENT, and that is light and easily bent

a-lum·ni /ə.ləm.nə/ n. (plural the former students of a school, college, or university —alumnus n. [C] —alumni adj /ə.ləm.nə.əli/ adj

a-le·vo·lus /ə.lə.və.ləs/ n. (plural alveoli) [C] BIOLOGY one of the very many small hollow spaces inside your lungs, through which oxygen enters and carbon dioxide leaves see picture at lung al-ways /əl’weiz, -’wiz, -’wiiz/ adv. 1 at all times, or each time: Always lock the doors. 2 we always want to improve our service.

al-ti·tude /a.l’tə.tu/ n. [C,U] the height of something above sea level: aircraft flying at high/low altitude

al-to /ə.al’tou/ n. (plural altos) [C,U] ENG. LANG. ARTS a female singer with a low voice, or the line of a piece of music that this person sings

al-to-geth-er /əl’tə.gətθər/ adv. 1 completely – used in order to emphasize what you are saying: He uses an altogether different method. 2 smoking in public buildings is banned altogether. 2 considering everything or the whole amount: There were five people altogether. 3 It did rain a lot, but altogether it was a good trip.

al-tru-ism /ə.al’tru.izm/ n. [U] the practice of caring about the needs of other people before dealing with your own needs —altruist n. [C] —altruistic adj /ə.al’tru.istik/ adj

a-lum·num /ə.ləm.nəm/ n. [U] CHEMISTRY a silver-white metal that is an ELEMENT, and that is light and easily bent

a-lum·ni /ə.ləm.nə/ n. (plural the former students of a school, college, or university —alumnus n. [C] —alumni adj /ə.ləm.nə.əli/ adj

al-ways /əl’weiz, -’wiz, -’wiiz/ adv. 1 at all times, or each time: Always lock the doors. 2 we always want to improve our service.

for good – used to say that a change is permanent: I’ve given up smoking for good.

3 happening often, especially in an annoying way: The stupid car is always breaking down! 4 as always as is usual or expected: Her singing, as always, was wonderful. 5 you can/could always... (spoken) said in order to make a polite suggestion: You could always try calling her. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old English ealne weg “all the way.”]

GRAMMAR

Use always before a verb, unless the verb is “be”: I always have my driver’s license with me. Use always after the verb “be”: She’s always very helpful.

If there are two or more verbs together, always comes after the first one: He had always dreamed of being a pilot.

Alz-heim-er’s Dis-ease /əl’tə.shəmər’z, di.zə, ’diltsər-, ’-l/ also Alzheimer’s n. [U] BIOLOGY a disease that gradually destroys parts of the brain, especially in older people, so that they forget things and lose their ability to take care of themselves AM /æt/ ’em/ [U] AMplitude modulation a system of broadcasting radio programs, in which the strength of the radio waves changes ⇒ FM am /əm, əm/ strong ðəm/ v. the first person singular and present tense of the verb BE a.m./l’et/ ’em/ used when talking about times that are between MIDNIGHT and NOON ⇒ P.M. I start work at 9:00 a.m. [Origin: 1700—1800 Latin ante meridiem “before noon”] a-mai-gam-ate /ə.migrə.ma’tet/ v. (formal) 1 [I,T] to join in order to form one larger organization 2 [T] to combine two or more things to make one thing —amalgamation /ə.migrə’mən.tən/ n.

a-mass /ə.mæs/ v. [T] to gather together or collect money or information in large amounts: He had amassed a fortune.

am-a-tur /ə.mə.tər/ n. [C] 1 someone who does something because s/he enjoys it, but not for money: an amateur musician [Origin: 1700—1800 French, Latin amator “lover,” from amare “to love”] amateur /ə.mə.tər/ n. [C] 1 someone who does something because s/he enjoys it, but not for money: an amateur musician [Origin: 1700—1800 French, Latin amator “lover,” from amare “to love”] a-maze /ə.məz/ v. [T] to surprise someone very much: He made a shot that amazed everyone. You never cease to amaze me (=always surprise me).

amazed /ə.məzd/ adj. very surprised: We were amazed at how quickly the kids learned. I’m amazed (that) you remember him. Many people were amazed to learn that he had grown up poor.
a-maze-ment /əˈmeɪzmənt/ n. [U] a feeling of great surprise: We watched in/wit/amazement.
a-maz-ing /əˈmeɪzɪŋ/ adj. making someone feel very surprised, often because something is very good or very unexpected: an amazing coincidence.
—amazing-ly adv.

ambig_u_ous /əmˈbɪɡjʊəs/ adj. something that is ambiguous or confusing or something that produces this effect: the ambiguity of her words [The report contains significant ambiguities.]
am-bi-tious /əmˈbiʃəs/ n. [C] an ambitious person.
am-bit_ion /əmˈbitʃən/ n. 1 [C] a strong desire to do or achieve something: Her ambition is to climb Mount Everest. She seems determined to achieve all her ambitions. 2 [U] the quality of being determined to succeed: Saul has no ambition at all.
am-bitious /əmˈbitʃəs/ adj. needing a lot of skill and effort to achieve something; an ambitious mission to Mars 2 having a strong desire to be successful or powerful a young and ambitious man —ambitiously adv.
am-biv_ail_e /əmˌbɪvəˈlənt/ adj. not sure whether you want or like something or not: His wife was ambivalent about having a child. [Origin: 1900—2000 amb- “both” + -valent “having a particular value”] —ambivalence n. [U] am-bly /əmˈbli/ v. [T] to walk slowly in a relaxed way: We ambled along/down the beach.

American Indian

A
am-бу-lance /əmˈbʌləns/ n. [C] a special vehicle for taking sick or injured people to the hospital. Somebody should call an ambulance. [Origin: 1800—1900 French “place near a battle, where wounds are treated,” from ambulant “walking,” from Latin ambulare] am-bush /əmˈbʌʃ/ n. [C] a sudden attack on someone by people who have been hiding and waiting to attack: Two soldiers were killed in an ambush. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French embuschier, from en “in” + busche “wood”] → attack ambush2 v. [T] to attack someone from a place where you have been hiding am-e-l_ior_ate /əmˈɪlɪreɪt/ v. [T] (formal) to make something better —am-e-l_ioration /əmˈɪlɪreɪʃən/ n. [U] am-e-n_à_ble /əˈmɛnəbl/ n. [C] a willing listener or someone who listens to or does something: From what we see and read in the media, his views are not amenable to change. 2 appropriate for a particular type of treatment: jobs that are amenable to flexible scheduling.
am-end /əmˈend/ v. [T] to make small changes or improvements, especially in the words of a law: The act was amended to protect wildlife. [Origin: 1500—1600 Old French amener “to lead up,” from menére “to lead”] am-e_mend /əˈmend/ n. [C] a change, especially in the words of a law: Congress proposed three amendments to the bill.
am-e_mends /əˈmendz/ n. [C] make amendments to do something that you are sorry for something: I tried to make amendments by paying for the new window.
am-e-ni_t_¡_ty /əˈmɛniətə, əˈmɪni-tə/ n. [C] a way that makes things better a change, alter, adapt, adjust, modify, revise → change am-e_mend_ment /əmˈɛmendmənt/ n. [C, U] a change, especially in the words of a law: Congress proposed three amendments to the bill.
am-e_mends /əˈmendz/ n. make amendments to do something that you are sorry for something: I tried to make amendments by paying for the new window.
am-e-ni_t_¡_ty /əˈmɛniətə, əˈmɪni-tə/ n. [C] a way that makes things better a change, alter, adapt, adjust, modify, revise → change
am_e_mend_ment /əmˈɛmendmənt/ n. [C, U] a change, especially in the words of a law: Congress proposed three amendments to the bill.
am-e_mends /əˈmendz/ n. make amendments to do something that you are sorry for something: I tried to make amendments by paying for the new window.
am_e_mend_ment /əmˈɛmendmənt/ n. [C, U] a change, especially in the words of a law: Congress proposed three amendments to the bill.
Americanize

a·mer·i·can·ize /əˈmɛrɪkəˌnɑrɪz/ v. [T] to change something or someone to make him, her, or it more American: After ten years here, we’ve become very Americanized. —Americanization /əˌmɛrɪkəˌnɑrɪˈziːʃən/ n. [U] a·mer·i·cas /əˈmɛrɪkəz/ n. the Americas [plural] North, Central, and South America considered together as a whole a·mi·ca·ble /əˈmɪkəbl/ adj. friendly and pleasant: an amicable child —amiably adv.

a·mid /əˈmɪd/ also a·midst /əˈmɪdst/ prep. (formal) among or in the middle of: life amid the horrors of war [Origin: Old English omnidan “in the middle”]

a·mi·no ac·id /əˈmɪnə ˈæsɪd/ n. [C] CHEMISTRY one of the substances that combine to form proteins [Origin: 1800—1900 amine type of chemical compound, from ammonia]

a·mi·ss /əˈmɪs/ adj. be amiss (formal) to be a problem or to be wrong: She sensed something was amiss.

am·mo /əˈmɒʊ/ n. [U] (informal) ammunition am·mo·ni·a /əˈmɒnɪə/ n. [U] CHEMISTRY a gas or liquid with a strong unpleasant smell, used in cleaning [Origin: 1700—1800 Modern Latin, Latin sal ammoniacus “salt of Ammon,” from Ammon ancient Egyptian god near one of whose temples the substance was obtained] am·mu·ni·tion /əˈmʌnɪʃən/ n. [U] 1 things such as bullets, bombs, etc. that are fired from guns 2 information that can be used in order to criticize someone or win an argument against him/her. The scandai has given his opponents plenty of ammunition. 3 official order forgiving criminals or freeing prisoners, especially people who have opposed the government [Origin: 1500—1600 Greek amnesia “forgetfulness,” from mnasthai “to remember”] am·no·si·a /əˈmɒnɪsɪə/ n. [U] the medical condition of not being able to remember anything [Origin: 1700—1800 Modern Latin, Greek, “forgetfulness”] am·no·si·ac /əˈmɒnɪsɪək/ n., -icity /əˈmɒnɪsɪˈsɪti/ n. [C] someone with amnesia am·nes·ty /əˈmænəstɪ/ n. (plural amnesties) [C,U] an official order forgiving criminals or freeing prisoners, especially people who have opposed the government [Origin: 1500—1600 Greek amnesia “forgetfulness,” from mnasthai “to remember”] a·mo·ba /əˈmoʊbə/ n. [C] BIOLOGY a very small creature that has only one cell

a·mok /əˈmɒk, əˈmɑːk/ adv. run amok to behave or happen in an uncontrolled way [Origin: 1500—1600 Malay]

a·mong /əˈmɑŋ/ also a·mongst /əˈmɑŋst/ prep. 1 in a particular group of people or things: unemployment among men under 25 2 the university is among the top ten in the nation. | Relax, you’re among friends. | They were talking amongst themselves (a group of people were talking). 3 in the middle of, through, or between: We walked among the huge redwood trees. | He stood among the huge piles of papers, frowning. 4 used when mentioning one or two people or things from a larger group: Swimming and diving are among the most popular Olympic events. | We discussed, among other things, ways to raise money.

am·oral /əˈmɒrəl, -mor-əl/ adj. not moral: his amoral actions am·o·rous /əˈmɒrəs/ adj. showing or relating to sexual love a·mor·phous /əˈmɔrfəs/ adj. (formal) without a fixed form or shape, or without clear organization

a·mount /əˈmaʊnt/ n. [U] 1 amount of something there is, or how much is needed: a large amount of money | Please pay the full amount. 2 a huge amount of time | Add a small amount of water.

am·phib·i·ous /əˈmɪfɪəs/ adj. an amphibious vehicle can travel on land and water am·phib·i·ous /əˈmɪfɪəs/ adj. 1 an amphibious vehicle can travel on land and water 2 an amphibious animal can live on land and in water am·phi·the·a·ter /əˈmɪfɪθiˌeɪtə/ n. [C] a large structure with no roof, and rows of seats that curve partly around a central space, used for performances am·ple /əˈmpl/ adj. 1 more than enough: There will be ample opportunity to ask questions. 2 ample belly/bosom etc., a big stomach, etc., in a way that is attractive or pleasant —amply adv.

am·pli·fi·er /əˈmplɪfɪər/ n. [C] a piece of electronic equipment that makes an electrical sound signal stronger, so that it is loud enough to hear ➔ see picture at acoustics am-pli-"fy /æmplɪˈfaɪ/ v (amplified, amplifies) [T] 1 to make something louder or stronger: an amplified guitar 2 (formal) to explain something in more detail —amplification /ˌamplɪˈfeɪʃən/ n. [singular, U] am-pli-tude /ˌæmplɪˈtjuːd/ n. [U] physics the distance between the middle and the top or bottom of a wave of energy such as a sound wave am-pu-tate /ˌæmpyʊˈteɪt/ v. [T] to cut off a part of someone's body for medical reasons: Doctors had to amputate his left leg. [Origins: 1500—1600 Latin, past participle of amputare, from amb- "around" + putare "to cut"] —amputation /ˌæmpyʊˈteɪʃən/ n. [C, U] am-pu-tée /ˌæmpyʊˈtɪ/ n. [C] someone who has had a part of his/her body cut off for medical reasons an-mi /ænˈmi/ the abbreviation of atomic mass unit

a-muck /əˈmʌk/ adv. another spelling of amok

a-muse /əˈmiːz/ v. [T] 1 to make someone laugh or smile: The question seemed to amuse him. 2 to make the time pass in an enjoyable way for someone: the stories she tells to amuse her daughter. [Origins: 1400—1500 Old French amuser, from muse "mouth of an animal"]

a-mused /əˈmiːzd/ adj. 1 something thinking is funny: He looked amused by my embarrassment. 2 keep sb amused to entertain or interest someone for a long time: games to keep the kids amused

a-muse-ment /əˈmiːsəmənt/ n. 1 [U] the feeling you have when you think something is funny: She looked at him with an amused amusement. 2 [C, U] something you do to make the time pass in an enjoyable way: What do you do for amusement?

a-muse-ment park n. [C] a large park where people can play games of skill, go on rides, and see performances a-mus-ing /əˈmiːzɪŋ/ adj. funny and entertaining: Luckily, Joe found it amusing (thought it was funny). a highly/mildly/fairly amusing movie an /æn/ strong art./ indef. article a — used when the following word begins with a vowel sound: an orange | an X-ray | an hour a-nal-ic -ism /əˈnælɪlik/ n. [C] a drug that makes muscles grow quickly, sometimes used illegally by people in sports an-a-cho-ni-sm /ˌænəˈkɒnɪzəm/ n. [C] someone or something that is or seems to be in the wrong historical time: Today, small farmers are almost anachronism. —anachronistic /ˌænəkɒnɪˈstɪk/ adj.

an-a-ro-bic /ˌænəˈrɒbɪk/ adj. biology not needing oxygen in order to live ➔ aerobic an-a-gram /ˌænəˈɡræm/ n. [C] Eng. Lang. Arts a word or phrase made by changing the order of the letters in another word or phrase: "silent" is an anagram of "listen."

a-nal /ˈænəl/ adj. 1 relating to the anus. 2 (disapproving) showing a lot of concern with small details: Don't be so anal.

a-nal-ge-sic /ˌænəlˈdʒɛsɪk/ n. [C] chemistry a drug that reduces pain a-nal-o-gous /əˈnæləˈgəs/ (A) adj. (formal) similar to another situation or thing: The system of roads across the country is analogous to the veins and arteries in the human body.

a-nal-y-sis /ˌænəˈlaɪsɪs/ n. [C] Eng. Lang. Arts something that seems similar in two situations, processes, etc.: We can draw an analogy between the brain and a computer. [Origins: 1400—1500 Greek analogia, from analogos; from ana- "according to" + logos "reason, ratio"]

a-nal-yze /ˌænəˈlaɪz/ v. (analysed, analysing) 1 [C, U] the careful examination of something in order to understand it better or see what it consists of: Analysis of the data shows that skin cancer is on the increase. | The blood sample was sent to the lab for analysis. | The company did a variety of economic analyses to identify the likely cost of each option. 2 [U] a process in which a doctor helps someone to talk about his/her past experiences, relationships, etc. in order to help him/her with mental or emotional problems (psychoanalysis).

a-nal-yt-ic /ˌænəˈlaɪtɪk/ adj. 1 someone whose job is to analyze things: Most political analysts believe that Congress will make amendments to the bill. | a computer systems analyst 2 a doctor who helps people with mental or emotional problems by listening to them talk about their experiences, relationships, etc. (psychoanalyst)

a-nal-yt-ic-al /ˌænəˈlaɪtɪkəl/ adj. (analyses/-al) 1 [C] highly/mildly/fairly amusing a highly/mildly/fairly amusing movie

an-al-yze /ˌænəˈlaɪz/ v. (analysed, analysing) 1 to examine or think about something carefully in order to understand it: We gather the data so that we can analyze the evidence objectively. | The material was taken to a police laboratory to be analyzed.

an-an-aly-sis /əˈnænəˈlaɪsɪs/ n. 2 to examine someone’s mental or emotional problems using psychoanalysis: The therapists work an·pest /əˈnæpɪst/ n [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS an arrangement of words or syllables in poetry, that consists of two short sounds that are not stressed (=emphasized), followed by one long sound that is stressed. The word “immature” and the phrase “by myself” also have this pattern.

an·archy /əˈnærki/ n [U]. 1 a situation in which no one obeys rules or laws: Without the rule of law, we would live in a state of chaos and anarchy. 2 a situation in which there is no government in a country [Origin: 1500—1600 Medieval Latin anarchia, from Greek, from anarchos “having no ruler”] —anarchist n [C] —anarchic [əˈnærɪk/ adj.

a·nath·e·ma /əˈnæθəmə/ n [s, plural, U] (formal) something that is completely the opposite of what you believe in: The party’s liberal ideas that are conservative voters.

an·ces·tor /anˈsɛs.tər/ n [C] DESCENDANT: the traditions of their ancestors [Origin: 1300—1400 Late Latin ancestorm “to set up, dedicate”] a·nec·do·tal /əˈnɛk.dəˈtel/ adj. used in order to say that one thing happens after another: Grant knocked and went in. 3 (spoken) used instead of “to” after “come,” “go,” “try,” and some other verbs: Try and finish your homework before dinner, okay? 4 used when adding numbers: Six and four make ten. 5 used in order to say that one thing is caused by something else: I missed supper and I’m starving! 6 used between repeated words to emphasize what you are saying: She spent more and more time alone.

a·nec·do·tal·ly /əˈnɛk.dəˈtel.lɪ/ adv. consisting of short stories based on someone’s personal experience: There is anecdotal evidence that this can help asthmatic sufferers.

a·nec·do·tal·ly /əˈnɛk.dəˈtel.lɪ/ adv. a robot that looks completely human

a·nec·to·al·ly /əˈnɛk.təˈlɛl/ adj.

a·nec·to·al·ly /əˈnɛk.təˈlɛl/ adj. a short interesting story about a particular person or event: [Origin: 1700—1800 Modern Latin, Greek anekdotēa “things not published,” from ekididōnai “to publish”]

a·nec·to·al·ly /əˈnɛk.təˈlɛl/ adj.

a·nec·to·al·ly /əˈnɛk.təˈlɛl/ adj. a medical condition in which there are not enough red cells in your blood [Origin: 1800—1900 Modern Latin, Greek anamia “bloodlessness,” from haima “blood”] —anemic /əˈnɛmɪk/ adj.

a·nez·k upholstery and reupholstering a chair or sofa.

a·nez·k upholstery and reupholstering a chair or sofa.

a·nez·k upholstery and reupholstering a chair or sofa.

a·nez·k upholstery and reupholstering a chair or sofa.
a·new /əˈnəu/ adv. (literary) in a new or different way: She started life anew in New York.

an·gel /ˈæŋɡəl/ n. [C] 1 a spirit who lives with God in heaven, usually represented as a person with wings and dressed in white. 2 (spoken) someone who is very kind or helpful: Oh, thanks! You’re an angel!  [Origin: Old English angel, from Late Latin anglus, from Greek angelos “bringer of messages, angel”] —angel·ic /ˈæŋɡəlɪk/ adj.

an·ger /ˈæŋgər/ n. [U] a strong feeling of wanting to hurt or criticize someone because s/he has done something bad to you or been unkind to you: his feelings of anger and frustration | Paul shouted at him in anger. | his anger at his mother

an·ger /ˈæŋgər/ v. [T] to make someone feel angry: The court’s decision angered environmentalists.

an·gi·o·sperm /ˌæŋˈgēəˌsperm/ n. [C] BIOLOGY a plant that produces fruit that contains the plant’s seeds.

an·gle /ˈæŋgəl/ n. [C] 1 MATH the space between two lines or surfaces that meet or cross each other, measured in degrees —right angle: an angle of 90 degrees | a 45-degree angle —at an angle not upright or straight: The case was leaning at an angle against the wall. 3 a way of considering a problem or situation: We need to look at this from a new angle.

angry /ˈæŋgrɪ/ adj. feeling or showing anger: I’m so angry with/at her? | My parents were really angry about my grades. | Lerner got angry and started shouting.  [Origin: 1200—1300 Old Norse anger “great sorrow”] —angrily adv.

angst /ˈæŋst/ n. [U] strong feelings of anxiety and sadness because you are worried about your life.

anguish /ˈæŋɡwɪʃ/ n. [U] suffering caused by extreme pain or worry: “Not!” cried her mother in anguish. —anguished adj. her anguished parents

ang·u·lar /ˌæŋˈɡyələr/ adj. 1 having sharp corners: an angular shape 2 very thin, and without much flesh on your bones: a tall, angular young man

an·imal /ˈænəməl/ n. [C] BIOLOGY a living animal

Animals: Human beings are highly intelligent animals. Animals are the kingdom that consists of all living creatures with more than one cell who obtain the food they need in order to live and grow by eating other living things. The word "animal" comes from Latin "anima," which means "soul." "Soul" is a concept that is often used in philosophy, religion, and law to refer to the non-physical aspect of a living being. In some traditions, the soul is said to be the essence of a person or animal, and it is often associated with the idea of an immortal spirit or essence that survives after death. In scientific contexts, the concept of the soul is often contrasted with the concept of the body, which is the material and physical aspect of a living being. The study of animals is an important field of science, and it is often divided into different branches, such as zoology, which studies the diversity and classification of animals, and ethology, which studies the behavior of animals. In addition to their scientific importance, animals also play a role in human culture and society, and they are often associated with different meanings and symbols in different contexts. For example, in many cultures, animals are believed to have special powers or characteristics that can be used to predict the future, bring good luck, or ward off evil. In some cases, animals are also used as symbols of power or authority, and they may be revered as deities or gods. In other cases, animals are used as symbols of weakness or vulnerability, and they may be viewed as objects of pity or sympathy. In general, the study of animals is an important field of science that helps us to understand the diversity and complexity of the natural world, and it is also an important source of inspiration and wonder for people around the world.
an·noy·ance /əˈnɔɪəns/ n. 1 [U] the feeling of being slightly angry. *irritation: a look of annoyance | To her annoyance, he was late. 2 [C] something that makes you slightly angry: The constant noise was an annoyance.

an·noy·ed /əˈnɔɪd/ adj. slightly angry → IRRI-TATED: I was annoyed at myself for telling him. | Joel is really annoyed about the mess. | My sister’s annoyed (that) we didn’t call. | Her father was getting annoyed with her.

annual /ˈænjuəl/ n. 1 [C] a plant that lives for one year or season. 2 calculated over a period of one year: My annual income before taxes is $68,200. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French annuel, from Latin annuus “yearly” and annalis “yearly,” both from annus “year”] —annually adv. The jazz festival is held annually in July.

annual per·centage rate n. [C] ECONOMICS APR.

an·nu·i·ty /əˈnəniəti/ n. (plural annuities) [C] ECONOMICS an amount of money that is paid each year to someone from an INVESTMENT.

an·nu·l /əˈnuːl/ v. (annulled, annulling) [T] LAW to officially state that a marriage or legal agreement no longer exists: Their marriage was annulled last year. —annulment n. [C,U] a·nous /əˈnoʊəs/ adj. [C] PHYSICS the part of a BATTERY that collects ELECTRONS, often a wire or piece of metal with the sign (+) → CATHODE.

a·no·int /əˈnɔɪnt/ v. [T] to put oil or water on someone’s head or body during a religious cer-e-mony —anointment n. [C,U] a·no·mal·i·es /əˈnɔrəməlēz/ n. (plural anomalies) [C,U] (formal) something that is very noticeable because it is so different from what is usual: Women firefighters are still an anomaly in a largely male profession.

a·non·ny·mous /əˈnɔnəməs/ adj. 1 not known by name: an anonymous writer | an official who wished to remain anonymous 2 done, made, or given by someone whose name is not known: an anonymous letter 3 without interesting features or qualities: an anonymous black car [Origin: 1600—1700 Late Latin anonomus, from Greek, from an- “without” + onyma “name”] —anonymously adv.

a·no·rex·i·a /əˈnɔrɛksə/ n. [U] a mental illness that makes people, especially young women, stop eating [Origin: 1500—1600 Modern Latin, Greek, from an- “without” + olexis “desire to eat”] a·no·rex·ic /əˈnɔrɛsik/ adj. having anorexia, or relating to anorexia —anorexic n. [C] an·oth·er /əˈnʌðər/ determiner, pron. 1 one more person or thing of the same kind: Do you want another beer? | I’ll cancel that check and send you another.

a·no·rex·i·a /əˈnɔrɛksIk/ n. [U] ANOREXIA: A nervous eating disorder characterized by fear of gaining weight and loss of appetite. People with anorexia are often thin, but believe they are fat. —anorexic adj.

an·sw·er /əˈnɔrsər/ v. [T] 1 to reply to something that someone has asked or written: Why don’t you answer me? | She thought for a minute before answering. | The witness refused to answer the question. | He answered that he did not know.

2 to reply to a question in a test, competition, etc.: Please answer questions 1—20. 3 answer to sb phr. v. to be judged by someone or have to explain your actions to him/her, especially someone you work for: As chairman of the company, Douglas is directly responsible for answering to shareholders.
answer

answer² n. 1 [C,U] a reply to what someone asks or writes: the answer to my question | Can you give me an answer as soon as possible? | I get a different answer every time I ask him. | In answer to reporters’ questions, Wallace said they were looking into the matter. 2 [C] a reply to a question in a test, competition, etc.: What was the answer to question 7? 3 [C] something that you get as a result of thinking or calculating with numbers: The answer is 255. 4 [C] something that solves a problem: There are no easy/simple/right answers. | the answer to the illegal immigration problem answer(a)ble adj. be answerable (to sb) for sth to have to explain your actions to someone answering machine n. [C] a machine that records your telephone calls when you cannot answer them → PHONE ant /ænt/ n. 1 [C] a common small black or red insect that lives in groups an-tac-id /ænt'æsld/ n. [C] a drug that gets rid of the burning feeling in your stomach when you have eaten too much, drunk too much alcohol, etc.

an-tag-o-nist /ænt'ægnIstIk/ n. | plural | antagonists [C] a common small black or red insect that lives in groups an-tag-o-nize /ænt'æg@nIZ@m/ v. [T] to make someone feel angry with you: The White House has been careful not to antagonize its NATO allies. [Origin: 1600—1700 Greek antagoneisthai, from anti- + agonisthai “to fight”]

Ant-arctic /ænt'ærkIk/ n. the Antarctic the very cold, most southern part of the world —antarctic adj.

Ant-arctic-a /ænt'ærkIkæ/ n. one of the seven continents that is the most southern area of land on Earth

Ant-arctic Circle n. the Antarctic Circle an imaginary line around the world at a particular distance from the most southern point, which is the South Pole → see picture at GLOBE

ante¹ v. ante up (sth) phr. v. to pay an amount of money in order to be able to do or be involved in something ante-eater /ænt'ætIz/ n. [C] an animal that has a very long nose and eats small insects ante-bel-lum /ænt'bi:løm/ adj. existing before a war, especially the American Civil War: an antebellum plantation ante-dent /ænt'ædtInt/ n. 1 [C] (formal) an event, organization, or thing that is similar to the one you have mentioned, but that existed earlier: It was a highly unusual event, without any historical antecedents. 2 sb’s antecedents [plural] (formal) the people in someone’s family who lived a long time ago → THE SAURUS ante-lope /ænt'lu:p/ n. [C] an animal that has long horns, can run very fast, and is very graceful

ante-man /ænt'mæn/ n. [C] 1 a piece of equipment on a television, car, roof, etc. for receiving or sending radio or television signals. 2 [plural] antennas [C] a piece of equipment on a television, car, roof, etc. for receiving or sending radio or television signals. 2 [plural] antennas [C] a piece of equipment on a television, car, roof, etc. for receiving or sending radio or television signals.

ante-lope /ænt'lu:p/ n. [C] an animal that has long horns, can run very fast, and is very graceful

ante-natal /ænt'nt@r@'lAdZIk@l/ adj. biological one of two long thin parts on the head of insects or on some sea animals such as lobsters, that they use to feel things → see picture on page A2

ante-natal /ænt'nt@r@'lAdZIk@l/ adj. biological one of two long thin parts on the head of insects or on some sea animals such as lobsters, that they use to feel things. → see picture on page A2

ante-penult /ænt'pEnp@lUt/ n. | plural | antepenults [U] a common small black or red insect that lives in groups

ante-penult /ænt'pEnp@lUt/ n. | plural | antepenults [U] a common small black or red insect that lives in groups

anti-bi-o-tic /æntI'BAItIk/ n. | plural | antibiotics [C] a common small black or red insect that lives in groups

anti-bi-o-tic /æntI'BAItIk/ n. | plural | antibiotics [C] a common small black or red insect that lives in groups

anti-christ /æntI'krist/ n. [C] usu. plural | a drug that is used in order to kill Daniel was eagerly anticipating something good: not guilty. We did not anticipate that the suspect would drive his car into the building. 2 to think about something that is going to happen, especially something good: Daniel was eagerly anticipating her arrival.

The act of expecting something to happen: They cleaned the church in anticipation of the bishop’s visit.

an·ti·cu·ated [əntɪˈkuːətɪd] / adj. [U] something that seems disappointing because it happens after something that was much better. After all the advertising, the concert itself was kind of an anticlimax.

an·ti·freeze /əntɪˈfrɪz/ n. [C] a substance that prevents a wound from becoming infected: antiseptic lotion an·ti·sep·tic /əntɪˈsɛptɪk/ adj. preventing one company from unfairly controlling prices: antitrust laws an·ti·per·spi·rant /əntɪˈpɜːspərənt/ n. [U] a substance that you put under your arms to prevent you from sweating an·ti·quat·ed /əntɪˈkwətɪd/ adj. old-fashioned and not appropriate for modern needs or conditions: antiquated laws an·ti·quity /əntɪˈkwɪti/ n. (plural antiquities) 1 [U] ancient times: a tradition that stretches back into antiquity 2 [U] the state of being very old: a building of great antiquity 3 [C, usually plural] a building or object made in ancient times: a collection of Roman antiquities an·ti·Sé·mi·tism /əntɪˈsɛmɪtɪzəm/ n. [U] hatred of Jewish people: anti-Semitic an·ti·trus·trant /əntɪˈtrʌsənt/ adj. preventing lasting friendships.

anx·ious /ˈæŋkʃəs/ adj. very worried about something, or showing that you are worried: June’s anxious about the results of her blood test.

anti·body /ˈæntɪbɒdɪ/ n. (plural antibodies) [C] BIOLOGY a substance produced by your body to fight disease any

2 feeling strongly that you want something to happen, especially in order to improve a bad situation: The Moores are anxious to adopt a child. | Company directors were anxious for a meeting.

any\(^1\) pron. 1 some – used in negative statements and questions: Is there any coffee left? | Do you want any? | I don’t think that will make any difference. | Are any of your relatives coming for Christmas? 2 used to say that it does not matter which person or thing you choose from a group, or that something is true of all people or things from that group: Any of the restaurants in Chinatown would be fine. | There are bad things about any job. ➔ in any case at CASE\(^2\), at any rate at RATE\(^1\)

USAGE
Do not say “Any country has its own special dishes.” Say “Every country has its own special dishes.”
Do not say “Any animals have ways of defending themselves from attack.” Say “All animals have ways of defending themselves from attack.”

GRAMMAR
any, a
Use any with uncountable nouns or plural noun forms: Do you have any money?
Use a with singular noun forms: Do you have a car? ➔ A any\(^2\) adv. even a small amount or at all – used in negative statements or questions: Are you feeling any better? | Sandra couldn’t walk any further.

any\(-\)body\(^1\) pron. (informal) ANYONE

any\(-\)how\(^1\) adv. (informal) ANYHOW

any\(-\)more, any\(-\)more\(^1\) adv. not anymore used in order to say that something happened or was true before, but is not now: Frank doesn’t live here anymore.

any\(-\)one\(^1\) pron. 1 any person or any people – used when it does not matter exactly who: Anyone can learn to swim. | Why would anyone want to do that? | Have you told anyone else? 2 a person or someone – used in questions and negative statements: Is anyone home? | She’d just moved and didn’t know anyone.

any\(-\)place\(^1\) adv. (informal) ANYWHERE

any\(-\)thing\(^1\) pron. 1 something or nothing – used in questions and negative statements: Her dad didn’t know anything about it. | Do you need anything else from the store? 2 any thing, event, situation, etc., when it does not matter exactly which: That cat will eat anything. | I was so worried it was hard to think about anything else. 3 or anything (spoken) said when there are several things or ideas that are possible: Do you want a Coke or anything? 4 anything like sb/sth similar to someone or something: Carrie doesn’t look anything like her sister. 5 anything but used in order to emphasize that someone or something does not have a particular quality: The book is anything but boring. 6 anything goes used in order to say that anything is acceptable: Don’t worry about what to wear – anything goes at Ben’s parties.

an\(-\)y\(^1\) time\(^1\) adv. at any time: Call me anytime. | Are you going to see him anytime soon?

an\(-\)y\(^1\) way\(^1\) adv. 1 in spite of something: It was raining, but we went anyway.

SPOKEN PHRAS A ES
2 used in order to continue a story or change the subject of a conversation: I think she’s Lori’s age, but anyway, she just had a baby. | Anyway, where do you want to go for lunch? 3 used when you are ending a conversation: Anyway, I guess I’d better go. 4 used when you are saying something to support what you have just said: We decided to sell it because nobody uses it anyway. 5 used in order to add something that slightly changes what you have said: Think about it a while – a few days, anyway. 6 used in order to find out the real reason for something: What were you doing at his house anyway?

an\(-\)y\(^2\) where\(^1\) adv. 1 in or to any place, when it does not matter exactly where: Fly anywhere in the U.S. with this special offer. | I can’t imagine living anywhere else. 2 somewhere or nowhere – used in questions and negative statements: I can’t find my keys anywhere. | Are you going anywhere exciting? 3 not anywhere near not at all. She doesn’t consider her collection anywhere near complete. 4 anywhere from one to ten any age, number, amount, etc. between the two numbers: He may get anywhere from 12 to 15% of the vote. 5 not anywhere (spoken) not to be successful at something: I’m trying to set up a meeting, but I don’t seem to be getting anywhere.

a\(-\)or\(-\)ta\(^1\) n. [C] BIOLOGY the largest artery (=tube for carrying blood) in the body, that takes blood from the left side of the heart to all parts of the body except the lungs ➔ see picture at HEART

a\(-\)part\(^1\) adv. 1 separated by distance or time: The two towns are 15 miles apart. | Our birthdays are only two days apart. | The baby’s never been apart from his mother. 2 separated into many pieces: He had to take the camera apart to fix it. | The book just came apart in my hands. ➔ fall apart at FALL\(^1\) 3 apart from a) except for: Apart from a couple of spelling mistakes, your paper looks fine. b) in addition to: What do you do for fun? Apart from volleyball, I mean.

a\(-\)part\(-\)head\(^1\) n. [U] HISTORY a system in which the different races in a country are separated from each other [Origin: 1900—2000 Afrikaans “separateness”]

a\(-\)part\(-\)ment\(^1\) n. [C] a place to live that consists of a set of rooms in a large building: My apartment is really small. | She lives in a studio/one-bedroom/two-bedroom apartment. ➔ HOUSE\(^3\)
Apoplectic

[Origin: 1600—1700 French appartement, from Italian appartamento, from appartare “to put aside, separate”]

Apartment building also apartment house n. [C] a building that is divided into separate apartments

Apartment complex n. [C] a group of apartment buildings built at the same time in the same area

Apathetic /ˌapəˈθētɪk/ adj. not interested in something: students who are apathetic about learning

Apathy /ˌapəθi/ n. [U] the feeling of not being interested in something or not caring about life: public apathy about the coming election

Ape /əp/ n. [C] a large monkey without a tail or with a very short tail, such as a gorilla

Apéritif /ˌapəˈrif/ n. [C] a small alcoholic drink that you have before a meal

Aperture /ˌapəˈtʃuər/ n. [C] a small opening, especially one that lets light into a camera

Aphrodisiac /ˌæfroʊˈdɪsɪək/ n. [C] a food or drug that makes someone feel sexual excitement [Origin: 1700—1800 Greek aphrodisiakos, from Aphrodite the ancient Greek goddess of love] —aphrodisiac adj.

Aphrodisiac /ˌæfroʊˈdɪsiək/ n. [C] a food or drug that makes someone feel sexual excitement [Origin: 1700—1800 Greek aphrodisiakos, from Aphrodite the ancient Greek goddess of love] —aphrodisiac adj.

A-Piece /əˈpiːs/ adv. each: Oranges are 20¢ a-piece (=for each one). We gave $10 a-piece for the gift (=each of us gave $10).

Aplomb /əˈplɔm, əˈplɔm/ n. (formal) with aplomb in a confident or skillful way, especially in a difficult situation: She answered all their questions with aplomb.

Apocalypse /ˈæpakəlps/ n. 1 [U] a dangerous situation that results in great destruction, death, or harm 2 the Apocalypse the religious idea of the destruction and end of the world —apocalyptic /ˌæpəˌkælɪptɪk/ adj.

Apoorphyal /ˌæpəˈrəfɪəl/ adj. an apocryphal story about a famous person or event is well known but probably not true

Ape /əp/ n. [C] a large monkey without a tail or with a very short tail, such as a gorilla

Apéritif /ˌapəˈrif/ n. [C] a small alcoholic drink that you have before a meal

Aperture /ˌapəˈtʃuər/ n. [C] a small opening, especially one that lets light into a camera

Aphrodisiac /ˌæfroʊˈdɪsɪək/ n. [C] a food or drug that makes someone feel sexual excitement [Origin: 1700—1800 Greek aphrodisiakos, from Aphrodite the ancient Greek goddess of love] —aphrodisiac adj.

A-Piece /əˈpiːs/ adv. each: Oranges are 20¢ a-piece (=for each one). We gave $10 a-piece for the gift (=each of us gave $10).

Aplomb /əˈplɔm, əˈplɔm/ n. (formal) with aplomb in a confident or skillful way, especially in a difficult situation: She answered all their questions with aplomb.

Apocalypse /ˈæpakəlps/ n. 1 [U] a dangerous situation that results in great destruction, death, or harm 2 the Apocalypse the religious idea of the destruction and end of the world —apocalyptic /ˌæpəˌkælɪptɪk/ adj.

Apoorphyal /ˌæpəˈrəfɪəl/ adj. an apocryphal story about a famous person or event is well known but probably not true

Ape /əp/ n. [C] a large monkey without a tail or with a very short tail, such as a gorilla

Apéritif /ˌapəˈrif/ n. [C] a small alcoholic drink that you have before a meal

Aperture /ˌapəˈtʃuər/ n. [C] a small opening, especially one that lets light into a camera

Aphrodisiac /ˌæfroʊˈdɪsɪək/ n. [C] a food or drug that makes someone feel sexual excitement [Origin: 1700—1800 Greek aphrodisiakos, from Aphrodite the ancient Greek goddess of love] —aphrodisiac adj.

A-Piece /əˈpiːs/ adv. each: Oranges are 20¢ a-piece (=for each one). We gave $10 a-piece for the gift (=each of us gave $10).

Aplomb /əˈplɔm, əˈplɔm/ n. (formal) with aplomb in a confident or skillful way, especially in a difficult situation: She answered all their questions with aplomb.

Apocalypse /ˈæpakəlps/ n. 1 [U] a dangerous situation that results in great destruction, death, or harm 2 the Apocalypse the religious idea of the destruction and end of the world —apocalyptic /ˌæpəˌkælɪptɪk/ adj.

Apoorphyal /ˌæpəˈrəfɪəl/ adj. an apocryphal story about a famous person or event is well known but probably not true

Ape /əp/ n. [C] a large monkey without a tail or with a very short tail, such as a gorilla

Apéritif /ˌapəˈrif/ n. [C] a small alcoholic drink that you have before a meal

Aperture /ˌapəˈtʃuər/ n. [C] a small opening, especially one that lets light into a camera

Aphrodisiac /ˌæfroʊˈdɪsɪək/ n. [C] a food or drug that makes someone feel sexual excitement [Origin: 1700—1800 Greek aphrodisiakos, from Aphrodite the ancient Greek goddess of love] —aphrodisiac adj.

A-Piece /əˈpiːs/ adv. each: Oranges are 20¢ a-piece (=for each one). We gave $10 a-piece for the gift (=each of us gave $10).

Aplomb /əˈplɔm, əˈplɔm/ n. (formal) with aplomb in a confident or skillful way, especially in a difficult situation: She answered all their questions with aplomb.

Apocalypse /ˈæpakəlps/ n. 1 [U] a dangerous situation that results in great destruction, death, or harm 2 the Apocalypse the religious idea of the destruction and end of the world —apocalyptic /ˌæpəˌkælɪptɪk/ adj.

Apoorphyal /ˌæpəˈrəfɪəl/ adj. an apocryphal story about a famous person or event is well known but probably not true

Ape /əp/ n. [C] a large monkey without a tail or with a very short tail, such as a gorilla

Apéritif /ˌapəˈrif/ n. [C] a small alcoholic drink that you have before a meal

Aperture /ˌapəˈtʃuər/ n. [C] a small opening, especially one that lets light into a camera

Aphrodisiac /ˌæfroʊˈdɪsɪək/ n. [C] a food or drug that makes someone feel sexual excitement [Origin: 1700—1800 Greek aphrodisiakos, from Aphrodite the ancient Greek goddess of love] —aphrodisiac adj.

A-Piece /əˈpiːs/ adv. each: Oranges are 20¢ a-piece (=for each one). We gave $10 a-piece for the gift (=each of us gave $10).

Aplomb /əˈplɔm, əˈplɔm/ n. (formal) with aplomb in a confident or skillful way, especially in a difficult situation: She answered all their questions with aplomb.

Apocalypse /ˈæpakəlps/ n. 1 [U] a dangerous situation that results in great destruction, death, or harm 2 the Apocalypse the religious idea of the destruction and end of the world —apocalyptic /ˌæpəˌkælɪptɪk/ adj.

Apoorphyal /ˌæpəˈrəfɪəl/ adj. an apocryphal story about a famous person or event is well known but probably not true

Ape /əp/ n. [C] a large monkey without a tail or with a very short tail, such as a gorilla

Apéritif /ˌapəˈrif/ n. [C] a small alcoholic drink that you have before a meal

Aperture /ˌapəˈtʃuər/ n. [C] a small opening, especially one that lets light into a camera

Aphrodisiac /ˌæfroʊˈdɪsɪək/ n. [C] a food or drug that makes someone feel sexual excitement [Origin: 1700—1800 Greek aphrodisiakos, from Aphrodite the ancient Greek goddess of love] —aphrodisiac adj.
appalling /aˈpærəl/ adj. very shockingly bad: animals kept in appalling conditions apparent /əˈpærənt/ adj. seeming to be true or real, although it may not actually be: Their apparent lack of interest.

apparatus /əˈpærətəs/ n.pl. a set of instruments, tools, machines, etc. used for a particular purpose: an apparatus for breathing underwater.

apparel /əˈpærəl/ n. (formal) clothes: men’s apparel appeal /əˈpɛl/ n. 1 [C] an urgent public request for help, money, information, etc.: The water company appealed to everyone to save water. | charities appealing for money. 2 appeal to sb to seem attractive or interesting to someone: The program should appeal to older viewers. 3 [I,T] LAW to make a formal request to a higher court or to someone in authority to change a decision: We plan to appeal the verdict.

appealing /əˈpɛlɪŋ/ adj. attractive or interesting: an appealing smile. | These adventure stories are particularly appealing to young readers.

appear /əˈpɪər/ v. 1 [I] to begin to be seen: Dark clouds began to appear in the sky. | A face appeared at the window. 2 [linking verb] to seem: The man appeared to be dead. | He tried hard to appear calm. | Light colors make a room appear bigger than it is.

appearance /əˈpɜrəns/ n. 1 the way someone or something looks or seems to other people: He cared little about his appearance.

apostle /əˈpɑstl/ n. 1 one of the 12 men chosen by Christ to teach his message. | someone who believes strongly in a new idea and tries to persuade other people to believe it. [Origin: 900—1000 Late Latin apostolus, from Greek, “ bringer of messages, apostle.”] — apostolic /əˌpɑstəˈlɪk/ adj.
ap·pease /ə'piz/ v. [T] to make someone less angry, or stop him/her from attacking you by giving him/her what she wants: A goat was killed to appease the spirits.
ap·pea·se·ment /ə'pizmənt/ n. [C,U] HISTORY the act of trying to persuade people not to attack you, or to make them less angry by giving them what they want, especially in politics: People who opposed the war were accused of appeasement.
ap·pel·late /ə'pelət/ adj. LAW an appellate court, judge, etc. is able to change a decision that was made earlier in a court of law ap·pend /ə'pend/ v. [T] (formal) to add something to a piece of writing: The results of the survey are appended to this document.
ap·pend·age /ə'pendidʒ/ n. something that is added or attached to something larger or more important ap·pen·di·ci·sis /ə'pen'di-səs/ n. [U] an illness in which your appendix swells and becomes painful ap·pen·dix /ə'pendiks/ n. [C] 1 BIOLOGY a small organ in your body that has little or no use 2 (plural appendixes or appendices) ENGL. LANG. ARTS a part at the end of a book that contains additional information: The text results are described in detail in the appendix. [Origin: 1500—1600 Latin from appendere “to hang something from”].
ap·pe·ti·tive /ə'pə,ti:tiv/ n. [C] 1 a desire for food: I seem to have lost my appetite lately. | Don’t eat that cake now – you’ll ruin/spoil your appetite. 2 a desire or liking for a particular activity: his appetite for books ap·pe·tiz·er /ə'pə,taizər/ n. [C] a small dish of food served at the beginning of a meal ap·pe·tiz·ing /ə'pə,taizəŋ/ adj. food that is appetizing looks or smells very good ap·plaud /ə'ploud/ v. [T] 1 to hit your open hands together to show that you have enjoyed a play, concert, speaker, etc. | Clap: As Maria walked onto the stage, the audience applauded. 2 (formal) to express strong approval of an idea, plan, etc.: We applauded the company’s efforts to improve safety.
ap·plau·some /ə'plouz/ n. [U] the sound of people hitting their hands together in order to show that they enjoy or approve of something: There was a burst of applause as the band came on stage. | Let’s give Rodney a big round of applause!
ap·ple /ə'plpol/ n. [C] a hard round red or green fruit that is white inside, or the tree this fruit grows on: apple pie [Origin: Old English appel] → see picture on page 414
ap·ple·cider n. [C,U] CIDER ap·ple·sauce /ə'pplə'səʊ/ n. [U] a thick smooth food made from cooked apples ap·plet /ə'plət/ n. [C] if a computer program that is a larger part of, and which performs a particular job, such as finding documents on the Internet ap·pli·ance /ə'plərəns/ n. [C] a piece of electrical equipment such as a REFRIGERATOR or a DISHWASHER, used in people’s homes: kitchen appliances ap·pli·ca·ble /ə'pləkəbəl/ adj. affecting or relating to a particular person, group, or situation: These tax laws are not applicable to foreigners.
ap·pli·can·cy /ə'pləkəntsi/ n. [C] someone who has formally asked for a job, place at a college, etc., especially by writing a letter: There were 30 applicants for the job.
ap·pli·ca·tion /ə'pləkəʃən/ n. [C] a formal, usually written, request for a job, place at a college, etc.: an application form | a job application | The counselor will help students fill out college applications. 2 [C] a piece of SOFTWARE: multimedia applications 3 [C] the use of a machine, idea, etc. for a practical purpose: the application of fair housing laws | The research has many practical applications. 4 [C,U] the act of putting something like paint, medicine, etc. onto a surface: the application of fertilizer to the crops ap·pli·ca·tor /ə'pləkətər/ n. [C] a special brush or tool used for putting paint, glue, medicine, etc. on something ap·plied /ə'plərd/ adj. a subject such as applied mathematics or applied science is studied for a practical purpose
ap·ply /ə'pləli/ v. (applied applies) 1 [I] to make a formal, especially written, request for a job, place at a college, permission to do something, etc.: Fifteen people applied for the job. | He has applied for U.S. citizenship. | Anna applied to several colleges in California. 2 [I,T] to have an effect on, involve, or concern a particular person, group, or situation: The nutrition labeling requirements apply to most foods. 3 [T] to use a method, idea, etc. in a particular situation, activity, or process: Internships give students a chance to apply their skills in real situations. 4 [T] to put something on a surface, or press on the surface of something: Apply the lotion evenly. | Apply pressure to the wound. 5 [T] apply yourself (to sth) to work very hard and very carefully, especially for a long time: He never really applied himself in school.
ap·point /ə'pəʊnt/ v. [T] 1 to choose someone for a job, position, etc.: Palmer was appointed to the Board of Trustees. | Dr. Gordon was appointed as the local representative. 2 (formal) to arrange or decide a time or place for something to happen: Judge Bailey appointed a new time for the trial. | They met at the appointed time.
ap·point·ee /ə'pəʊnti/ n. [C] someone who is chosen to do a particular job: A Presidential appointee appointment

ap-point-ment əˈpɔrˌmənt/ n. 1 a meeting that has been arranged for a particular time and place: an appointment with a reporter | I’d like to make an appointment with Dr. Hanson. | Lisa has an appointment at two. | She called a client to cancel an appointment. 2 [C/U] the act of choosing someone for a job, position, etc.: the appointment of a new Supreme Court Justice 3 by appointment after arranging to meet at a particular time: Dr. Sutton will only see you by appointment.
ap-point-ment book n. [C] a book you keep at work with a calendar in it, in which you write meetings, events, and other things you plan to do.
ap-por-tion əˈpɔrˈʃən/ v. [T] (formal) to decide how something should be divided between various people.
ap-po-si-tion əˈpoʊzəʃən/ n. [U] ENG. LANG. ARTS when two or more noun phrases are in apposition, they describe the same thing or person, but do not have a word such as “and” or “or” between them. For example, in the sentence “His brother, a musician, lived in New York,” the two phrases “His brother” and “a musician” are in apposition.
ap-po-si-tive əˈpoʊzətiv/ n. [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS a noun phrase that is used with another noun phrase, that gives information about the same person or thing.
ap-prai-sal əˈprierəsəl/ n. [C/U] an official judgment about how valuable, effective, or successful someone or something is: an appraisal of a watch (=finding out how much it is worth) | a performance appraisal (=a judgment how well someone does his/her job).
ap-praise əˈprizer/ v. [T] to make an appraisal of someone or something: The furniture was appraised at $14,000. | an appraising look.
ap-pre-ci-ble əˈpreʃəbəl/ adj. large enough to be noticed, felt, or considered important: There has been no appreciable change in the patient’s condition. | appreciably adv.: Real estate values increased appreciably in the last year.
ap-pre-ci-ate əˈpreʃət/ v. 1 [T] to be grateful for something: Mom really appreciated the flowers you sent. | Thanks for meeting with me. I appreciate it. | I’d really appreciate it if you’d turn the TV down. 2 [T] to understand and enjoy the good qualities or value of something: Dorm food made me appreciate Mom’s home cooking. 3 [T] to understand a difficult situation or problem: I appreciate that many parents struggle to afford college fees. | You don’t seem to appreciate how hard this is for us. 4 [I] to gradually increase in value: depreciate: The stock has appreciated steadily since the firm went public in 1996. [Origin: 1600—1700 Late Latin, past participle of appræciare, from Latin ad- “to” + prætium “price.”]
ap-pre-ci-a-tion əˈpreʃəʃən, əˈpreʃə- əˈpreʃən/ n. [singular, U] 1 the feeling of being grateful for something: I’d like to show/express my appreciation for everything you’ve done. 2 an understanding of the importance or meaning of something: The course helps children to develop an appreciation of poetry and literature. | I teach classes in music appreciation. 3 the enjoyment you feel when you recognize the good qualities of something: When Linda returned home, her appreciation for her family got deeper. 4 ECONOMICS a rise in the value of something: the appreciation of the dollar against the yen. ap-pre-ci-a-tive əˈpreʃətiv/ adj. feeling or showing how much you enjoy, admire, or feel grateful for something or someone: Appreciative laughter broke out in the room. —appreciatively adv.
ap-pre-hend əˈprɛnənd/ v. [T] (formal) to find a criminal and take him/her to prison [Origin: 1300—1400 Latin apprehendere “to take hold of,” from ad- “to” + apprehendere “to seize”].
ap-pre-hen-sion əˈprɛnəʃən/ n. [C/U] 1 anxiety or fear, especially about the future: my sense of apprehension about flying 2 (formal) the act of catching a criminal.
ap-pre-hen-sive əˈprɛnəsiv/ adj. worried or anxious, especially about the future: She was apprehensive about the demands of the job. —apprehensively adv.
ap-pren-tice əˈprentis/ n. [C] someone who works for an employer for an agreed amount of time, usually for low pay, in order to learn a particular skill.
ap-pren-tice-ship əˈprentisʃip/ n. [C/U] the job of being an apprentice, or the time spent as one.
ap-prize əˈpriz/ v. [T] (formal) to formally or officially tell someone about something: Mrs. Bellamy has been apprised of the situation.
ap-proach əˈprəʊ/ v. 1 [I/T] to move closer to someone or something: The officer approached him and asked to see his license. | She heard the sound of a car approaching. 2 [T] to ask someone for something when you are not sure if she will do what you want: She was approached by two schools about teaching jobs. 3 [I,T] to almost be a particular time, age, amount, temperature, etc.: By mid-afternoon, the temperature was...
approving adj: an approving nod approvingly adv
approx the written abbreviation of APPROXIMATELY APR /'eprɪl/ n [C] ECONOMICS annual percentage rate the rate of interest that you must pay when you borrow money apricot /ˈɑːprɪtʃ/ n [C] a small soft yellow-orange fruit with a single large seed
April /ˈeprɪl/ (written abbreviation Apr.) n [C,U] the fourth month of the year, between March and May; Sometimes it snows in April. | The twins were born on April 15th. | Mira will begin her training next April. | The president signed the treaty April 14th.
approach /əˈprəʊtʃ/ n [C] 1 [C] a way of doing something or dealing with a problem: The school takes a practical approach to teaching science.
approach-able /əˈprəʊtʃəbl/ adj friendly and easy to talk to: Dr. Grieg is very approachable.
approach-a-ble /əˈprəʊtʃəbl/ adj: a) correct or good for a particular time, situation, or purpose (correct) appropriate: The movie is appropriate for all ages. | books appropriate to elementary school children | There may come a time when it is appropriate to cut jobs. | an appropriate time to honor our veterans | appropriately adv: appropriately approach-ment /əˈprəʊtʃmənt/ n [U] (formal) praise or approval approve /əˈpruːv/ v [T] 1 [T] official permission or acceptance: The deal requires the approval of shareholders. | A two-thirds majority vote is required for approval. | The drug has won FDA approval. | The board never gave its approval. 2 the belief that someone or something is good or doing something right: a child trying to win/earn her father’s approval approve of /əˈpruːv əv/ v [I] to believe that someone or something is good or acceptable: Her disapproval; 54% of voters approve of the president’s performance. | Her parents did not approve of her marriage. 2 [T] to officially agree to something: The Senate is expected to approve the bill next week.
approach-the-able /əˈprəʊtʃθəbl/ adj: a) correct or good for a particular time, situation, or purpose (correct) appropriate: The movie is appropriate for all ages. | books appropriate to elementary school children | There may come a time when it is appropriate to cut jobs. | an appropriate time to honor our veterans | appropriately adv: appropriately
approach/ment /əˈprəʊtʃmənt/ n [U] (formal) praise or approval
appropriate /əˈprəʊtʃprɪt/ adj: a) correct or good for a particular time, situation, or purpose (correct) appropriate: The movie is appropriate for all ages. | books appropriate to elementary school children | There may come a time when it is appropriate to cut jobs. | an appropriate time to honor our veterans | appropriately adv: appropriately approach/er /əˈprəʊtʃər/ n [C] a way of doing something or dealing with a problem: The school takes a practical approach to teaching science.
April Fool's Day

April Fool's Day n. April 1, a day for playing funny tricks on people.

Aquifer /ˈækwaɪfər/ n. [C] a piece of clothing you wear to protect your clothes when you cook.

Aquarium /ˈækwaːriəm/ n. [C] an aquatic mixture of water and at least one other substance.

Apron /ˈærəpən/ n. (formal) apropos of something relating to something just mentioned. Appropriate (not relating to anything previously mentioned), he suddenly asked me if I liked cats!

April 1, a day for playing funny tricks on people.

Aqueduct /ˈækwaːdukt/ n. a water bridge, for carrying water across a valley.

Aptitude Test n. [C] a test used for finding out what someone's best skills are: the Scholastic Aptitude Test.

Aquatic /ˈækwətɪk/ adj. aquatic plants.

Arabic numeral /ˈærəbɪk ˈnjuːmərəl/ n. [C] Math the sign 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, or 0, or a combination of these signs, used as a number.

Arable land is good for growing crops. [Origin: 1400—1500 Latin arabilis, from arare “to plow”]

Araneous solution n. [C] Chemistry a liquid mixture of water and at least one other substance.

Aquifer /ˈækwaɪfər/ n. Earth Sciences a layer of stone or earth, under the surface of the ground, that contains water.

April Fool's Day

April Fool's Day n. April 1, a day for playing funny tricks on people.

Aquifer /ˈækwaɪfər/ n. [C] a piece of clothing you wear to protect your clothes when you cook.

Aquarium /ˈækwaːriəm/ n. [C] an aquatic mixture of water and at least one other substance.

Apron /ˈærəpən/ n. (formal) apropos of something relating to something just mentioned. Appropriate (not relating to anything previously mentioned), he suddenly asked me if I liked cats!

April 1, a day for playing funny tricks on people.

Aqueduct /ˈækwaːdukt/ n. a water bridge, for carrying water across a valley.

Aptitude Test n. [C] a test used for finding out what someone's best skills are: the Scholastic Aptitude Test.

Aquatic /ˈækwətɪk/ adj. aquatic plants.

Arabic numeral /ˈærəbɪk ˈnjuːmərəl/ n. [C] Math the sign 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, or 0, or a combination of these signs, used as a number.

Arable land is good for growing crops. [Origin: 1400—1500 Latin arabilis, from arare “to plow”]

Araneous solution n. [C] Chemistry a liquid mixture of water and at least one other substance.

Aquifer /ˈækwaɪfər/ n. Earth Sciences a layer of stone or earth, under the surface of the ground, that contains water.
arch·way /ərˈki:əl/ n. [U] the study of ancient societies by examining what remains of their buildings, graves, tools, etc. [Origin: 1600–1700 French archéologie, from Late Latin archaeologia “history of ancient times,” from Greek arkhaios “ancient” + logos “study”]

—archaeologist n. [C]

—archaeological /ərˈki:ələdʒi/ adj.

ar·cha·ic /ərˈkɑːs/ adj. belonging to the past, or old-fashioned and no longer used arch-bish·op /ərˈtʃɪp/ n. [C] a priest with a very high rank ar·cher·y /ərˈtʃɜːri/ n. [U] the sport of shooting arrows from a bow arch·type /ərˈtaɪp/ n. [C] 1 [usually singular] a perfect example of something, because it has all the most important qualities of things that belong to that type: For a bedtime snack, milk and cookies are still the archetype. 2 [ENG. LANG. ARTS] a character in a story, movie, etc. or a person who is very familiar to people and is considered a model for other characters —archetypical /ərˈtʃɪptɪk/ adj.: She grew up in an archetypal small Midwestern town. —archetypically /ərˈtʃɪptɪkli/ adv.

archipel·a·go /ərˈkiːpləˌɡoʊ/ n. (plural archipelagos) [C] EARTH SCIENCES a group of small islands [Origin: 1600–1700 Archipelago “Aegean Sea” (16–19 centuries), from Italian, “main sea,” from Greek arkhi “chief” + pelagos “sea”]

ar·chi·tec·ture /ərˈkɪtʃər/ n. [U] 1 the style and design of a building or buildings: medieval architecture | the architecture of Venice. 2 the art and practice of planning and designing buildings —architectural /ərˈkɪtʃərəl/ adj.

ar·chive /ərˈkɑːv/ n. [C] usually plural 1 a large number of records, reports, letters, etc. relating to the history of a country, organization, family, etc., or the place where these records are stored: an archive of the writer’s unpublished work. 2 copies of a computer’s files that are stored on a disk or in the computer’s memory in a way that uses less space than usual, so that the computer can keep them for a long time arch·way /ərˈtʃweɪ/ n. [C] a passage or entrance under an arch or arches

Ar·tic /ərˈtɪk/ n. the Arctic the most northern part of the Earth, including parts of Alaska and Greenland, and the sea called the Arctic Ocean —arctic adj.

Ar·ctic Cir·cle /ərˈtɪk sərˈkəl/ n. the Arctic Circle an imaginary line around the world at a particular distance from the most northern point, which is the North Pole ➔ see picture at GLOBE

ar·dent /ərˈdɑːnt/ adj. having very strong feelings of admiration or determination about something: the team’s ardent fans [Origin: 1300–1400 Old French, Latin, present participle of ardere “to burn”] —ardently adv.

—are a /ərˈziə/ n. [C] 1 a particular part of a place, city, country, etc.: Mom grew up in the Portland area. | people who live in urban/rural areas (=in cities or the country) | The police have searched the farm and the surrounding area (=the area around a place).

—area code n. [C] the three numbers before a telephone number, that you use when you telephone someone outside your local area in the U.S. and Canada.
a·re·na /əˈrɛna/ n. [C] 1 a building with a large flat central area surrounded by raised seats, used for sports or entertainment: A new sports arena is under construction downtown. 2 the political/public/national arena all the people and activities relating to politics or public life: More women are entering the political arena.
aren’t /ərænt/ v. 1 the short form of “are not”: They aren’t here. 2 the short form of “am not,” used in questions: I’m in big trouble, aren’t I? ar·gon /ərˈgɒn/ n. [U] CHEMISTRY (symbol Ar) a type of gas that is an ELEMENT and that is found in the air. It does not react chemically with other gases or substances, and it is sometimes used in electric lights. argu·a·ble /ərˈɡyəəˈbəl adj. if something is arguable, people can argue about it, because it is not certain argu·a·bly /ərˈɡyəəˈbli/ adv. used when giving your opinion that there are good reasons why something might be true: Wagner is arguably the best athlete in the school.
argue /ərgju/ v. 1 [I] to disagree with someone, usually by talking or shouting in an angry way: The kids were constantly arguing. | Two men at the bar were arguing over/against politics. | The catcher was arguing with the umpire.

THESAURUS
have an argument: They started arguing over money. | We’ve had serious arguments before but never split up.
fight or have a fight: My mom and dad were always fighting. | The neighbors had a huge fight.
quarrel or have a quarrel – to have an angry argument: Let’s not quarrel about money. | She had a quarrel with her boyfriend.
sequele/bicker – to argue about unimportant things: The kids were bickering over what program to watch.

2 [I.T] to clearly explain or prove why you think something is true or should be done: Democrats argued that the cuts would hurt the poor. | Some experts argue for/against sex education in schools. | [origin: 1300—1400 Old French arguer, from Latin arguerē “to make clear”]
argu·ment /ərˈɡyəmənt/ n. [C] 1 a disagreement, especially one in which people are angry and shout: an argument with my husband | Jodie and I had a big argument last night. | Congressional arguments about/over the budget deficit 2 a set of reasons you use to try to prove that something is right or wrong, true or false, etc.: the arguments for/against becoming a vegetarian | the argument that the policy discriminates against women argu·men·ta·tive /ərˈɡyəmənˈtətiv/ adj. someone who is argumentative often argues or likes arguing ar·i·a /ərɪə/ n. [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS a song that is sung by only one person in an OPERA ar·id /ərɪd/ adj. EARTH SCIENCES getting very little rain, and therefore very dry: arid land | an arid climate Ar·ies /əˈrɪz/ n. 1 [U] the first sign of the ZODIAC, represented by a RAM 2 [C] someone born between March 21 and April 19 ar·ise /əˈrɪz/ v. (past tense arose /əˈrəuz/, past participle arisen /əˈrɪzn/) to happen or appear: the questions that arose during the discussion | the problems that arose from losing a job 2 (literary) to get up ar·is·to·ra·cy /ərɪˈstɔrəsi/ n. (plural aristocracies) 1 [C] usually singular) the people in the highest social class, who traditionally have a lot of land, money, and power 2 [U] POLITICS the system in which a country is governed by the people of the highest social class 3 [singular] HISTORY the group of rich and powerful men from a high social class who ruled the city states and controlled the government of ancient Greece [origin: 1400—1500 French aristocratie, from Latin aristokratia, from aristos “best” + -kratia “-cracy”] aristocrat /əˈriːstər/ n. [C] aristocratic /əˈrɪstrəˈkrætɪk/ adj.
ar·ith·me·tic /əˈrɪθmətɪk/ n. [U] MATH the science of numbers involving adding, dividing, multiplying, etc.: → MATHEMATICS [origin: 1200—1300 Old French arismetique, from Latin, from arithmētin “to count”] arithmetic /əˌrɪθˈmɛtɪk/ adj.
ar·i·t·h·me·tic ‘se·quence also arithmetic pro·gres·sion n. [C] MATH a set of numbers in order of value, in which a particular number is added to each to produce the next number, for example 2, 4, 6, 8 → GEOMETRIC SEQUENCE, NONLINEAR PROGRESSION arm /ɑrm/ n. [C] 1 one of the two long parts of your body between your shoulders and your hands: He put his arm around her. | Marie touched her arm. | He had a tattoo on his left/right arm. I had a pile of books in my arms. | She took him by the arm (holding his arm) and pushed him out the door. | see picture on page A3 2 arms [plural] weapons used for fighting wars → ARMED: sales of arms to the rebels | nuclear arms | the right to bear arms (keep weapons for protection) 3 the part of a chair, SOFA, etc. that you rest your arms on 4 a sleeve 5 a long part of an object, that moves as if it is an arm: the arm of the record player 6 a particular part of a group: the political arm of the terrorist organization | be up in arms (informal) to be very angry and ready to argue or fight: Parents should be up in arms about the quality of the schools. | [origin: (1) Old English ærm] [origin: (2) 1100—1200 Old French armes (plural), from Latin arma] arm·s v. [T] to give someone the weapons or information s/he needs → ARMED: The ship was armed with 130 missiles. | Armed with a court order, Gilley moved the squatters off his land.
ar·ma·dil·lo /ˌɑrmeɪˈdɪlo/ n. (plural armadillos) [C] a small animal with a pointed nose and a hard shell that lives in hot dry parts of North and South America [Origin: 1500—1600 Spanish armado “armed person”] ar-ma-ments /aˈrɑːmənts/ n. (plural) weapons and military equipment; nuclear armaments arm-band /ˈarmbænd/ n. [C] a band of material that you wear around your arm, for example to show that someone you love has died arm-chair /ˈɜrmʃər/ n. [C] a chair with sides that you can rest your arms on ➔ see picture at SEAT armed /ˈaːrdmd/ adj. carrying one or more weapons: an armed guard | a charge of armed robbery (=stealing using guns) | The fort was heavily armed (=had a lot of weapons).

armed forces n. the armed forces [plural] a country’s military organizations arm-ful /ˈɑːrmfl/ n. [C] the amount of something that you can hold in one or both arms: an armful of books ar-mi-stice /ˈɑːrmiːstɪs/ n. [C] an agreement to stop fighting, usually for a specific period of time ar-mor /ˈɑːmər/ n. [U] 1 metal or leather clothing worn in past times by men and horses in battle: a suit of armor 2 a strong layer of metal that protects vehicles, ships, and aircraft armored /ˈɑːrmərd/ adj. protected against bullets or other weapons by a strong layer of metal: an armored car ar-mory /ˈɑːmrəri/ n. (plural armories) [C] a place where weapons are stored arm-pit /ˈɑːrmpɪt/ n. [C] the hollow place under your arm where it joins your body arms control n. [U] HISTORY the attempts by powerful countries to limit the number and types of war weapons that exist arms race n. 1 [C usually singular] POLITICS the competition between different countries to have a larger number of powerful weapons 2 the Arms Race HISTORY the competition between the U.S. and the Soviet Union to produce and have the greatest number of powerful weapons, especially nuclear weapons. The Arms Race began at the end of World War II and continued until the late 1980s.

ar-my /ˈɑːrmi/ n. (plural armies) [C] 1 also Army a military force that fights wars on land: The two armies advanced across Europe. | Our son is in the army. | He dropped out of school to join the army.

2 a large group of people or animals involved in the same activity: an army of ants [Origin: 1500—1400 Old French arme “army, group of warships”] a-ro-ma /əˈrɒmə/ n. [C] a strong pleasant smell: the aroma of fresh coffee ➔ aromatic a-ro-ma-ther-a-py /əˈrɒməˌθerəpi/ n. [U] the use of pleasant-smelling oils to help you feel well

a-round /əˈraʊnd/ adv. 1 surrounding something or someone: We put a fence around the yard. | Mario put his arms around her. 2 to or in many parts of a place: Stan showed me around the office. | An international company with offices all around (=in all parts of) the world 3 in or near a particular place: Is there a bank around here? 4 used when guessing a number, amount, time, etc., without being exact: Dodger Stadium seats around 50,000 people.

around measuring a particular distance on the outside of a round object: Redwood trees can measure 30 or 40 feet around. ➔ around the clock

a-round-the-clock adj. [only before noun] continuing or happening all the time, both day and night: a station where you can get around-the-clock news ➔ around the clock a-rouse /əˈraʊz/ v. [T] 1 to make someone have a particular feeling: Her behavior aroused the suspicions of the police. 2 to make someone feel sexually excited ➔ arousal ar-raign /əˈreɪn/ v. [T] LAW to make someone come to court to hear what his/her crime is ➔ arraignment

ar-range /əˈrendʒ/ v. [T] to make plans for something to happen: Jeff will arrange our flights. | We’ve arranged to go to the cabin this weekend. | I’ve arranged for Mark to join us. | We still have to arrange where to meet. 2 [T] to put a group of things or people in a particular order or position: The file is arranged alphabetically.

ar-range-ment /əˈrɛndʒmənt/ n. [C] usually plural the things that you must organize for something to happen: travel arrangements | We’ve been making arrangements for the wedding.
array

[1] something that has been organized or agreed on: We have a special arrangement with the bank. | I'm sure we can come to some arrangement.

array /ar′re/ n [C,U] a group of things in a particular order or position, or the activity of arranging things in this way: a flower arrangement arrest /ə′rɛst/ v [T] 1 be in arrears to owe someone money because your regular payment to him/her is late: We're six weeks in arrears with the rent. 2 money that is owed and should already have been paid: The firm promised to pay all wage arrears promptly and in full.

arrest /ə′rɛst/ v [T] 1 if the police arrest someone, the person is taken away because the police think s/he has done something illegal: He was arrested and charged with murder. 2 think s/he has done something illegal: The police arrested Eric for shoplifting.

arrive /ə′rɪv/ v [I] 1 to get to a place: Your letter arrived last week. 2 to happen: At last the big day arrived!

arrive in, arrive at

Use arrive in with the name of a town, city, country, etc.: What time do you arrive in New York? When she first arrived in the U.S., she didn't speak any English.

arrive in at

Use arrive in at with a building such as an airport, a station, or a school: They arrived at the airport half an hour early. He was in a bad mood when he arrived at school.

arrogant /ə′rɒgənt/ adj behaving in a rude way because you think you are more important than other people: an arrogant, selfish man arrogance /ə′rɒgəns/ n [U]: I couldn't believe her arrogance.

arrogantly adv.

arrogance

[2] to happen: At last the big day arrived!

arrive at a conclusion/decision

to finally decide what to do about something: 4 to begin to exist, or start being used: Our toy sales have doubled since computer games arrived.

arrest /ə′rɛst/ v [T] 1 be in arrears to owe someone money because your regular payment to him/her is late: We're six weeks in arrears with the rent. 2 money that is owed and should already have been paid: The firm promised to pay all wage arrears promptly and in full.

arrest /ə′rɛst/ v [T] 1 if the police arrest someone, the person is taken away because the police think s/he has done something illegal: He was arrested and charged with murder. 2 think s/he has done something illegal: The police arrested Eric for shoplifting.

arrive /ə′rɪv/ v [I] 1 to get to a place: Your letter arrived last week. 2 to happen: At last the big day arrived!

arrive in, arrive at

Use arrive in with the name of a town, city, country, etc.: What time do you arrive in New York? When she first arrived in the U.S., she didn't speak any English.

arrive in at

Use arrive in at with a building such as an airport, a station, or a school: They arrived at the airport half an hour early. He was in a bad mood when he arrived at school.

arrogant /ə′rɒgənt/ adj behaving in a rude way because you think you are more important than other people: an arrogant, selfish man

arrogance /ə′rɒgəns/ n [U]: I couldn't believe her arrogance.

arrogantly adv.

arrogance

[2] to happen: At last the big day arrived!

arrive at a conclusion/decision

to finally decide what to do about something: 4 to begin to exist, or start being used: Our toy sales have doubled since computer games arrived.

arrest /ə′rɛst/ v [T] 1 be in arrears to owe someone money because your regular payment to him/her is late: We're six weeks in arrears with the rent. 2 money that is owed and should already have been paid: The firm promised to pay all wage arrears promptly and in full.

arrest /ə′rɛst/ v [T] 1 if the police arrest someone, the person is taken away because the police think s/he has done something illegal: He was arrested and charged with murder. 2 think s/he has done something illegal: The police arrested Eric for shoplifting.

arrive /ə′rɪv/ v [I] 1 to get to a place: Your letter arrived last week. 2 to happen: At last the big day arrived!

arrive in, arrive at

Use arrive in with the name of a town, city, country, etc.: What time do you arrive in New York? When she first arrived in the U.S., she didn't speak any English.

arrive in at

Use arrive in at with a building such as an airport, a station, or a school: They arrived at the airport half an hour early. He was in a bad mood when he arrived at school.

arrogant /ə′rɒgənt/ adj behaving in a rude way because you think you are more important than other people: an arrogant, selfish man

arrogance /ə′rɒgəns/ n [U]: I couldn't believe her arrogance.

arrogantly adv.

arrogance

[2] to happen: At last the big day arrived!

arrive at a conclusion/decision

to finally decide what to do about something: 4 to begin to exist, or start being used: Our toy sales have doubled since computer games arrived.

arrest /ə′rɛst/ v [T] 1 be in arrears to owe someone money because your regular payment to him/her is late: We're six weeks in arrears with the rent. 2 money that is owed and should already have been paid: The firm promised to pay all wage arrears promptly and in full.

arrest /ə′rɛst/ v [T] 1 if the police arrest someone, the person is taken away because the police think s/he has done something illegal: He was arrested and charged with murder. 2 think s/he has done something illegal: The police arrested Eric for shoplifting.

arrive /ə′rɪv/ v [I] 1 to get to a place: Your letter arrived last week. 2 to happen: At last the big day arrived!

arrive in, arrive at

Use arrive in with the name of a town, city, country, etc.: What time do you arrive in New York? When she first arrived in the U.S., she didn't speak any English.

arrive in at

Use arrive in at with a building such as an airport, a station, or a school: They arrived at the airport half an hour early. He was in a bad mood when he arrived at school.

arrogant /ə′rɒgənt/ adj behaving in a rude way because you think you are more important than other people: an arrogant, selfish man

arrogance /ə′rɒgəns/ n [U]: I couldn't believe her arrogance.

arrogantly adv.

arrogance

[2] to happen: At last the big day arrived!

arrive at a conclusion/decision

to finally decide what to do about something: 4 to begin to exist, or start being used: Our toy sales have doubled since computer games arrived.
Several famous works of art were stolen from the museum.

Artists

- painter – someone who paints pictures
- photographer – someone who takes photographs
- sculptor – someone who makes sculptures
- potter – someone who makes objects out of clay

Art

- painting – the art or skill of making a picture using paint
- drawing – the art or skill of making a picture using a pen or pencil
- photography – the art or skill of producing photographs
- sculpture – the art or skill of making objects out of stone, wood, or clay
- pottery – the activity of making pots, plates, etc.
- ceramics – the art or skill of making pots, plates, etc.

Artistic Activity

- artistic – good at painting, drawing, etc.
- artistic freedom – the science of how to make computers do things that people can do, such as make decisions or see things
- artistic selection – the process of breeding only those plants and animals that have useful qualities or features, in order to develop plants and animals with only these good qualities or features

Artifacts

- artifact – a tool, weapon, etc. that was made in the past and is historically important
- artificial – made from artificial substances, not natural ones
- artificial leg – an artificial leg

Artistry

- artistry – someone who produces art, especially paintings: an exhibition of paintings by local artists

Artificial

- artificial – made to look or seem like something else in order to deceive people
- artificially – made by people, but similar to something natural
- artificially colored – false

Artificial Intelligence

- artificial intelligence – the science of how to make computers do things that people can do, such as make decisions or see things

Artificial Respiration

- artificial respiration – a way of making someone breathe again when s/he has stopped, by blowing air into his/her mouth

Artificial Selection

- artificial selection – the process of breeding only those plants and animals that have useful qualities or features, in order to develop plants and animals with only these good qualities or features

Artificial Leg

- artificial leg – an artificial leg
as·ce·dan·cy /əsˌsɛdəns/ n. (informal) interest in art, or seeming to know a lot about art: The movie has lots of artsy camera work.

art·work /ɑrtˈwɜrk/ n. 1 [U] pictures, photographs, etc. that are prepared for a book, magazine, etc. 2 [C,U] paintings and other pieces of art as [əz; strong əz] adv., prep., conjunction 1 used to compare people or things: I can’t run nearly as fast as I used to. 2 used to say what someone’s job is or what purpose something has: In the past, women were mainly employed as secretaries or teachers. 3 in a particular way or state: Make sure you leave this room as you found it. 4 while something is happening: Be patient with your puppy as he adjusts to his new home. 5 in a particular time or season: The pay raise will come into effect as of January. 10 as to concerning: The President asked for opinions as to the likelihood of war. 11 as soon as: As soon as the President asked for opinions, the President asked for opinions as to the likelihood of war.

as·cent /əsˈsɛnt/ n. 1 moving or climbing to a higher position: the ascent of Everest. 2 [U] the process of becoming more important or successful: Jerry’s quick ascent into management surprised no one. 3 [C] a path or road that goes gradually up:

ant·des·cent /əntˈdɛsənt/ v. [T] (formal) to find out the truth about something: The police have ascertained that the killer did not act alone. [Origin: 1500—1600 Old French ascertainer, from certaîn] as·cer·tain·ed /əsˈtɛrnɪt/ adj.

as·tro·nym·ic /əˈstrəʊˌnɪmɪk/ adj. living a simple life without any physical comforts or pleasures: ascetic n [C] —asceticism /əˈsɛtɪsɪzm/ n [U]

as·cri·be /əˈskraɪb/ v. to ascribe sth to sb/sth: v. (formal) to say that something is caused by a particular person or thing: Carter ascribed his problems to a lack of money.

a·sex·u·al /əˈsɛksjuəl/ adj. 1 not having sexual organs or not involving sexual activity. 2 not interested in sex.

a·sexual repro·duc·tion /əˌsɛksjuərəˌprʌdəˈʃən/ n. [U] biology a process by which some plants and some living creatures produce a new plant or creature without male and female sex cells joining together.

ash /æʃ/ n. 1 [C,U] the soft gray powder that remains after something has been burned; cigarette ash ➔ see picture at Volcano. 2 ashes [plural] the ash that remains after the body of a dead person has been cremated (=burned). 3 [C,U] a tree that is common in Britain and North America, or the wood from this tree.

a·shamed /əˈʃɪmd/ adj. 1 feeling embarrassed or guilty about something: I felt ashamed of the things I had said to him. 2 you should be ashamed of yourself, acting like that! Fred was ashamed to admit his mistake. 3 We have nothing to be ashamed of.

a·shore /əˈʃɔr/ adv. onto or toward the shore of a lake, river, sea, or ocean: The body washed ashore on a remote beach. ➔ We came ashore at Long Beach.

ash·tra·y /əˈstræɪ/ n. 1 a small dish for used cigarettes and cigarette ash.

A·sia /əˈziə/ n. [C] one of the seven continents that includes land between the Ural Mountains and the Pacific ocean.

A·sian /əˈziən/ n. [C] someone who comes from Asia, or whose family came from Asia. ➔ Asian adj.

Asian-American /əˈziənəˈmɛriːkən/ adj. an American whose family originally came from Asia.
a·side  /əˈsaɪd/ adv. 1 to the side or away from you: Jim stepped aside to let me pass. 2 He took/ put aside Kate aside so they could talk privately. 2 put/set sth aside a) to keep or not use something so that you can use it later: I try to put aside $30 a week for my vacation. b) to leave something to be dealt with at another time: We put aside our differences to fight a common enemy. 3 aside from sb/sth a) except for someone or something: Aside from coal, copper is the state’s largest natural resource. b) in addition to: Aside from providing maps of the downtown area, the book also contains a guide to the city’s best restaurants. (V) apart from aside² n. [C] 1 a remark you make in a quiet voice so that only a few people can hear. 2 ENG. LANG. ARTS words spoken by an actor to the people watching a play, that the other characters in the play do not hear. ask /əsk/ v. [T] 1 to make a request for someone to tell you something: “What’s your name?” she asked. I asked him his phone number. 2 Can I ask a question? 3 He asked how this could have happened. 4 Ask Elaine if she knows what time it is. 5 Visitors often ask about the place. 6 You should ask around (mask a lot of people) before deciding. /əsk/ v. [T] 2 to make a request for help, advice, information, etc.: If you need anything, just ask. I asked Paula to mail the letters. 2 Some people don’t like to ask for help. 3 I had to ask my parents for money. 4 Ask your dad if we can borrow his car. 5 Karen asked to see the doctor.

aside³ n. [C] 1 a tall thin straight tree that grows in the western U.S.

as·pen  /əˈspæn/ n. [C] a tall thin straight tree that grows in the western U.S.

as·per·sion  /əˈspɜr·ʃən/ n. [C] cast aspirations on sb/sth to criticize someone or something, or make an unfair judgment. Latin aspiratio “throwing drops of water onto someone in a religious ceremony.” from aspergere, from ad- “to” + sperecre “to scatter.”

as·phalt  /əˈsfəlt/ n. [U] a hard black substance used on the surface of roads as·phyx·i·ate  /əˈsfɪksi·eɪt/ v. [T] (formal) to stop someone breathing: suffocate —asphyxiation /əˈsfɪksi·eɪʃən/ n. [U]

as·pi·ra·tion  /əˈspɪrəˈʃən/ n. [C] usually plural, U a strong desire to have or achieve something: a young man with political aspirations as·pire  /əˈspɜr/ v. [I] to have a strong desire to achieve something: Milligan aspires to be Governor of the state. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French aspirer, from Latin aspireare “to breathe on.”] —aspiring adj: aspiring young actors aspirin /æsˈpərɪn/ n. (plural aspirins or aspirin) [C,U] a drug that reduces pain and fever: I took an aspirin and went to bed. [Origin: 1800—1900 German acetylsäure type of acid from which aspirin is obtained, from Modern Latin spiraea type of bush from which this acid is obtained] ass /æs/ n. [C] (old-fashioned) a donkey

as-sail /əˈsɛl/ v. [T] 1 [usually passive] (literary) if a thought or feeling assails you, it worries or upsets you: As soon as I'd finished the test, I was assailed by doubts. 2 to criticize someone or something severely: countries who are assailed for their human rights records. 3 (formal) to attack someone or something violently as-sail-ant /əˈsɛlənt/ n. [C] (formal) someone who attacks someone else as-sas-sin /əˈsæsən/ n. [C] someone who murders an important person as-sas-si-nate /əˈsæsənət/ v. [T] to murder an important person: a plot to assassinate the President. —assassination /əˈsæsənətʃən/ n. [C,U] ass-emb-ly /əˈsembli/ n. (plural assemblies) 1 [C] a group of people who are elected to make laws or decisions for a country, state, or organization: the New York State Assembly. 2 [C,U] a meeting of a group of people for a particular purpose: The mayor told an assembly of reporters that the fire was now under control. [The military government imposed strict controls on freedom of assembly (the right of people to gather as a group to discuss something).]

as-sem-bly, line /əˈsembli/ n. [C] a system for making things in a factory, in which the products move past a line of workers who each make or check one part as-sem-bly-wom-an /əˈsembliwəmən/ n. (plural assemblywomen) [C] a woman who is a member of a state assembly as-sent /əˈsɛnt/ n. [U] (formal) official agreement: The court gave its assent. —assent v. [I] as-sert /əˈsɜrt/ v. [T] 1 to state firmly that something is true: Professor Ross asserts that American schools are not strict enough. 2 to behave in a determined and confident way to make people respect you: The president tried to assert his power over the military. [Don't be afraid to assert yourself in the interview.]

as-sess /əˈsɛs/ v. [T] 1 to make a judgment about a person or situation after thinking carefully about it: Psychologists will assess the child's behavior. [The research aims to assess the impact of advertising on children. We're trying to assess what went wrong.]

as-ses-sor /əˈsɛsər/ n. [C,U] the quality, amount, or value of something: They assessed the house at $90,000. [Origin: 1400—1500 Old French assesseur, from Latin, past participle of assessere “to sit beside, help in making judgments,” from ad- “to” + sedere “to sit.”] —assessment n. [C,U]: The Federal Reserve Bank’s assessment of the economy is gloomy. [A reading assessment test] as-set /əˈset/ n. 1 assets [plural] something, such as a building, machine, or money, which a company owns and uses to produce goods or services: financial asset: a firm with $1.3 billion in assets. 2 [C usually singular] something that helps you to succeed: a sense of humor is a real asset. [You're an asset to the company, George. [Origin: 1800—1900 assets (singular) “enough money to pay debts,” from Old French asset “enough”] assistance /əsˈsɪstəns/ n. [U] help; give sb a hand (with sth), lend a hand (with sth), aid, facilitate, aid and abet → HELP³

as-sist·ance /əsˈsistəns/ [Ac] n. [U] help or support: The company provides technical assistance for new computer users. | We offer financial assistance to students. | Can I be of any assistance (‘help you’)? | No one would come to her assistance (‘help her’).

as-sist·ant /əsˈsistənt/ [Ac] n. [C] 1 someone whose job is to help someone who has a higher rank: an administrative assistant 2 assistant manager/director/editor etc. someone whose job is just below the position of manager, director, etc.

THE THESAURUS position¹

as-so-ci·ate /əsəˈsɛɪt/ v. [T] 1 [transitive] if you associate two people or things, you see that they are connected in some way: I always associate summer with travel. 2 be associated with sb/sth a) to be related to a particular subject, activity, group, etc.: health problems associated with tobacco  b) also associate yourself with sb/sth to show support for someone or something: I refuse to be friends with anyone who associates himself with racists. 3 associate with sb to spend time with someone: I don’t like the people she associates with. [Origin: 1300—1400 Latin, past participle of associare, from ad- “to” + sociare “to join”] as-so-ci·a·tion /əsəˈsɛɪʃən/ n. 1 [C] an organization for people who do the same kind of work or have the same interests: the National Education Association 2 in association with sb/sth together with someone or something else: Community groups are working in association with the schools. 3 [C usually plural] a memory or feeling that is related to a particular place, event, etc.: Los Angeles has happy associations for me.

as·sim·i·late /əˈsɪməleɪt/ v. 1 [T] to accept someone completely as a member of a group, or to become an accepted member of a group: Many ethnic groups have been assimilated into American society. 2 [T] to learn and understand information: We need someone who can assimilate new ideas quickly. —assimilation /əˈsɪməleɪʃən/ n. [U]

as·sist /əˈsɪst/ v. [T] (formal) to help someone do something: Two nurses assisted Dr. Bernard in performing the operation. [Origin: 1400—1500 French assistir “to be present, help,” from Latin assistere, from ad- “to” + sistere “to cause to stand”]

THE THESAURUS help, give sb a hand (with sth), lend a hand (with sth), aid, facilitate, aid and abet → HELP³

as·sim·i·late /əˈsɪməleɪt/ v. 1 [T] to accept someone completely as a member of a group, or to become an accepted member of a group: Many ethnic groups have been assimilated into American society. 2 [T] to learn and understand information: We need someone who can assimilate new ideas quickly. —assimilation /əˈsɪməleɪʃən/ n. [U]

as·sign /əˈsaɪn/ v. [T] 1 to give someone a job to do: I’ve been assigned the task of looking after the new students. | Guards were assigned to the President. 2 to give something to someone: They assigned me a small room. 3 to give a particular time, value, place, etc. to something: To solve the equation, X and Y must be assigned a value. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French assigner, from Latin assignare, from ad- “to” + signare “to mark”]

as·sign·ment /əˈsaɪnmənt/ n. 1 [C,U] a job or piece of work that is given to someone: Have you all turned in your homework assignments? | The newspaper is sending her an assignment in Cambodia.

THE THESAURUS essay, composition, paper → ESSAY

2 [U] the act of giving people particular jobs to do: The resources manager is responsible for the assignment of funds to each project.

as·sid·u·ous /əˈsɪdʒəs/ adj. (formal) very careful to make sure that something is done correctly or completely: an assiduous examination of the paintings —assiduously adv. —assiduousness n. [U] as·so·ci·ate /əˈsoʊʃət/ v. [T] (literary) to make a bad feeling less painful or severe: relieve: What could possibly assuage his guilt? [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French assouagier, from Latin ad- “to” + suavis “sweet”]

as·sume /əˈsəm/ v. [T] 1 to think that something is true, although you have no proof: Your light wasn’t on, so I assumed (that) you were out. | Assuming (that) Dad agrees, when do you want to shop for cars?

THE THESAURUS

be under the impression that ... — to wrongly believe that something is true: They were under the impression that he was an FBI agent.
assumed

presume – to think that something is true because it is likely, and you have no reason to doubt this: The defendant is presumed innocent until proved guilty.

take it for granted (that) – to be sure that something is true, without ever asking yourself whether you are right or not: I never asked if he was single—I just took it for granted.

2 (formal) to take control, power, or a particular position: Stalin assumed power/control in 1941. 3 assume an air/expression of sth (formal) to pretend to feel something or be something you are not: Andy assumed an air of innocence when the teacher walked by.

as-sumed /əˈsʌmd/ adj an assumed name/identity a false name: Davis applied for a loan under an assumed name.

as-sump-tion /əˈsʌmpʃən/ n. 1 [C] something that you think is true, although you have no proof: How can you make an assumption about her if you’ve never met her? The budget is based on the assumption that the economy will grow at 7%. 2 [U] (formal) the act of starting to have control or power: the general’s assumption of power after the revolution.

as-sur-ance /əˈsərəns/ (Ac) n. 1 [C] a promise that something is true or will happen: We need an assurance that you can pay off your loan. The doctors assured me (that) her life was not in danger. 2 [U] confidence in your own abilities or the truth of what you are saying: Cindy answered their questions with quiet assurance.

as-sur-ed /əˈsɜːrd/ (Ac) adj 1 showing confidence in your abilities: Despite her assured manner, Amy felt nervous. 2 certain to be achieved: Victory was assured.

as-sur-ed-ly /əˈsɜːrdli/ (Ac) adv (formal) definitely or certainly: The governor is most assuredly in favor of the reforms.

as-ta-tine /əˈsteɪtɪn/ -tin/ n. [U] CHEMISTRY (symbol At) a radioactive chemical element belonging to the halogen group.

as-ter-isk /əˈstɜːrɪsk/ n. [C] a mark like a star (*), used especially to show something interesting or important: [origin: 1300–1400 Latin asteriskus, from Greek, “little star”] as-ter-oid /əˈstərəʊd/ n. [C] PHYSICS a large object made of rock, that moves around in space ➔ SPACE 1 [origin: 1800–1900 Greek asteroides “like a star,” from aster “star”] as-then-o-sphere /əˈθɛnəsfoʊr/ n. the asthenosphere EARTH SCIENCES a weak area of the Earth’s mantle (part of the Earth around the central core) consisting of several hundred kilometers of rock that can change its usual shape under pressure.

as-thma /əˈzmə/ n. [U] an illness that makes it difficult to breathe: [origin: 1300–1400 Medieval Latin asma, from Greek asthma, from asthenein “to breathe hard”] ➔ asthmatic /əˈsthmætɪk/ adj as-ton·ish·ment /əˈstɒnɪʃmənt/ n. ➔ despairs ➔ Whites ➔ astonishment ➔ astounded ➔ astounding ➔ surprisingly ➔ astonishingly as·ton·ish /əˈstɒnɪʃ/ v. [T] to surprise someone very much: Einstein’s work still astonishes physicists. [origin: 1500–1600 astone “to astonish” (14–17 centuries) from Old French estoner, from Latin tonare “to thunder”] as-ton·ing·ly /əˈstɒnɪŋli/ adv very surprising: astounding news ➔ astonishingly ➔ astonishing ➔ stupefying ➔ surprising ➔ surprisingly as-ton·ish·ing /əˈstɒnɪʃɪŋ/ adj very surprising: thrilling news ➔ astonishingly ➔ astonishing ➔ stupefying ➔ surprisingly ➔ surprisingly as-tound·ed /əˈstɔʊndɪd/ adj so surprising that it is difficult to believe: the band’s astounding success ➔ astonishingly as-tound·ing /əˈstɔʊndɪŋ/ adj so surprising that it is difficult to believe: the band’s astounding success ➔ astonishingly as-tound·ing·ly /əˈstɔʊndɪŋli/ adv so surprising that it is difficult to believe: the band’s astounding success ➔ astonishingly

as-tound·ing·ly /əˈstɔʊndɪŋli/ adv so surprising that it is difficult to believe: the band’s astounding success ➔ astonishingly

as-tound·ing·ly /əˈstɔʊndɪŋli/ adv so surprising that it is difficult to believe: the band’s astounding success ➔ astonishingly

as-tound·ing·ly /əˈstɔʊndɪŋli/ adv so surprising that it is difficult to believe: the band’s astounding success ➔ astonishingly

a-stray /əˈstreɪ/ adv. 1 go astray (formal) to be lost: One of the documents we sent them has gone.
astray. 2 lead sb astray to encourage someone to do bad or immoral things a-stride /ˈastrɪd/ adv. prep. having one leg on each side of something; a young girl sitting astride a horse as-trin-gent /ˈastrɪnɡənt/ adj. 1 criticizing someone very severely: aristocratic remarks. 2 CHEMISTRY able to make your skin less oily or stop a wound from bleeding: an astringent cream as-tro-naut /ˈæstrəˌnɔt/ n. ,naut n. [C] someone who travels in a spacecraft as-tro-nom-i-cal /ˈæstrəˌnɒmikl/ adj. 1 extremely large in amount: astronomical prices. 2 relating to the study of the stars and PLANETES —astronomer n. [C] as-tute /ˈæstət/ adv. quick to understand as ituation or feeling is directed toward:

as-tynom-i-cal /ˈæstrəˌnɒmikl/ adj. —astromer n. [C] a-toll /ˈætəl/ n. [U] sports in general

At-lan-tic O-cean /ˈætləntɪk ˈoʊʃən/ n. the Atlantic Ocean, the Atlantic. The large ocean between North and South America in the west, and Europe and Africa in the east

A-tlan-tic O-cean /ˈætələntɪk ˈoʊʃən/ n. [C] a book of maps: a world atlas [Origin: 1500—1600 Atlas giant in an ancient Greek story who had to hold up the sky; because his name was used as the title of a 16th-century book of maps]

a-tm /ˈætəm/ n. [C] Automated Teller Machine a machine that you use with a card to get money from your bank account —ACCOUNT

a-tmos-phere /ˈætməˌsfər/ n. 1 [singular, U] the feeling that an event, situation, or place gives you: The atmosphere in the bar was casual. | The restaurant has a nice friendly atmosphere. | an atmosphere of suspicion 2 [singular] PHYSICS the mixture of gases that surrounds the Earth or another PLANET —atmospheric /ˌætməˌsfərɪk/ adj. 1 atmospheric /ˈætməˌsfərɪk/ adj. see picture on page 58

a-tmospheric /ˈætməˌsfərɪk/ adj. the pressure caused by the weight of the gases in the Earth's atmosphere pressing down on the surface of the Earth a-tom /ˈætəm/ n. -tal/ n. [C] EARTH SCIENCES a CORAL ISLAND in the shape of a ring atom /ˈætəm/ n. [C] PHYSICS the smallest part of an element that can exist alone [Origin: 1500—1600 Latin atomus, from Greek, from atomos “that cannot be divided”] atomic /ˈætəmɪk/ adj. PHYSICS relating to atoms and the energy produced by splitting them; atomic energy atomic bomb n. [C] a very powerful bomb that splits atoms to cause an extremely large explosion atomic mass n. [U] PHYSICS the weight of an atom, usually given in atomic mass units atomic mass number n. [C] PHYSICS the total number of protons in the nucleus (=central part) of an atom atomic mass unit n. [U] PHYSICS (written abbreviation amu) an amount used as a standard for representing the mass (=weight) of an atom, based on the weight of a carbon-12 atom atomic number n. [C] PHYSICS an atomic mass number at-o-nal /ˌætəˈn(ə)l/ adj. ENG. LANG. ARTS atonal music is not based on a particular key (=seven musical notes with a particular base note) —atonally adv. —atonality /ˌætəˈnæləti/ n. [U] a-tone /əˈtoun/ v. [I] (formal) to do something to show that you are sorry for doing something wrong: Reilly would like to atone for his mistakes. —atonement n. [U]

atrium /ˈætriəm/ n. (plural atriums or atria /ˈætriə/) [C] 1 a large open hall, usually in the middle of a large building, that reaches from the ground up several levels and often to a glass ceiling at the top of the building 2 BIOLOGY one of the two enclosed spaces in the top of your heart, from which blood is sent into the ventricles SYN auricle ➔ see picture at heart a-tro-cious /əˈtroʊʃəs/ adj. extremely bad: atrocious weather | My spelling is atrocious. —atrociously adv.

atrocious weather n. a very cruel or violent action: the atrocities of war atrophy /ˈætrofri/ n. (plural atrophies) [C,U] to become weak, or make something become weak, because of lack of use or lack of blood: His muscles had atrophied after the surgery.

attach /əˈtætʃ/ v. [T] 1 to fasten or join one thing to another: Please attach a photograph to your application.

attach /əˈtætʃ/ v. [T] 2 to attach to sb/sth to like someone or something very much, especially because you have known him/her or had it for a long time: As a doctor, I cannot get too attached to my patients. 3 to connect a document or file to an email so that you can send them together: I attach a copy of the spreadsheet with this email for your records. 4 attach importance/blame etc. to sth to believe that something is important, valuable, guilty, etc.: They seem to attach more importance to money than to happiness.

attach-ment /əˈtætʃmənt/ [C] n. 1 [C,U] a strong feeling of loyalty, love, or friendship: a mother’s deep attachment to her baby 2 [C] a piece of equipment that you attach to a machine to make it do a particular job: The vacuum cleaner has various attachments. 3 [C] n. a file that you send with an email message: I can’t open the attachment.

attack /əˈtæk/ n. [C] 1 a violent action that is intended to hurt a person or damage a place: There have been several attacks on foreigners recently. | a terrorist attack | a bomb/knife/missile etc. attack | The city is under attack (=being attacked).

attack /əˈtæk/ n. [C] a short surprise military attack on a place: assault — an attack by an army to take control of a place: ambush — a sudden attack by people who have been waiting and hiding: counterattack — an attack that you make against someone who has attacked you attack /əˈtæk/ n [C,U] a short period of time when you are ill, worried, afraid, etc.; an attack of asthma panic attacks
[ORIGIN: 1600—1700 French attaque, from stacca "sharp post"] → HEART ATTACK

at·tend [ˈtend] v [I,T] to try to hurt or kill someone: Dan was attacked as he got into his car. | He was arrested for attacking his brother with a knife. 2 [T] to criticize someone strongly: Newspapers attacked the President for failing to cut taxes.

at·ten·tion /ˈtɛnʃən/ n [U] 1 the state of carefully watching, listening, or thinking about someone or something: Sorry, what did you say? | My attention wasn’t really on the game. | He ended his sports career and turned his attention to politics. | This assignment requires your full/undivided/complete attention. | May/Can I have your attention, please (said when asking a group of people to listen carefully to you)? | Most children have a short attention span (=period of time that they are interested in watching, listening, etc. to something). | Her boss admired her attention to detail. 2 the interest that people show in something: Charlie tried to get attract/catch our attention. | The governor’s race has drawn the attention of the nation’s media. | Rob loves being the center of attention (=the person everyone notices). 3 special care or treatment: The back yard really needs some attention – it’s full of weeds. | Some of the children required urgent medical attention. | 4 stand at/to attention if soldiers stand to attention, they stand very straight, with their feet together at·ten·tive /ˈtɛn-tɪv/ adj; listening or watching carefully: an attentive audience  → attentively adv → attentiveness n [U]

at·tem·plat·ed /əˈtem-plət/ adj 1 having or showing a plan: an attempt to be funny 2 an attempt to be nice to your sister? | His early attempts at writing were a dismal failure. | In an attempt to save money, I offered to do the work myself. 2 an attempt of trying to kill someone, especially someone important or famous, that fails: an assassination attempt on the President

at·tem·po·tar·y /əˈtem-pərē/ adj 1 to be present at an event, such as a meeting, concert, etc.: More than 1,000 people attended the conference. | Please let us know if you are unable to attend. 2 to go to a school, church, etc.: Neither of my parents attended college. attend to sb/sth pbr v (formal) to give attention to someone or something: I have some business to attend to.

at·ten·dance /əˈtendəns/ n [C,U] 1 the number of people who attend an event, such as a meeting, concert, etc.: an average attendance of 4,000 fans per game. | Be quiet while I take attendance (to count how many students are in class today). 2 the act of regularly going to a meeting, class, etc.: He continued his daily attendance at Mass.

at·ten·dant /əˈtendənt/ n [C] someone whose job is to take care of customers in a public place: a parking lot attendant attitude /əˈtăt-ə/id/ n [C,U] 1 the way that you behave toward someone or something: attitudes about smoking have changed immensely.

at·tack /əˈtæk/ n [C] 1 a short period of time when you are ill, worried, afraid, etc.; an attack of asthma | panic attacks | 2 [C] a short period of time when you are sick, worried, afraid, etc.; an attack of asthma attacKS /əˈtækz/ v [T] to try to hurt or kill someone: Dan was attacked as he got into his car. | He was arrested for attacking his brother with a knife. 2 [T] to criticize someone strongly: Newspapers attacked the President for failing to cut taxes.

in a particular situation: Their whole attitude changed once they found out Ron was rich. | Cathy has a real attitude problem (she is not helpful or pleasant to be with). 3 [U] (informal) the confidence to do unusual and exciting things without caring what other people think: a young singer with attitude attorney /əˈtɔrni/ n. (plural attorneys) [C] LAW a lawyer [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French avocat, past participle of avocer “to give a particular job or position to”] attorney general n. [C] the chief lawyer in a state, or of the government in the U.S.

attract /əˈtrak/ v. [T] 1 to make someone like something or feel interested in it: The story attracted a lot of attention from the media. | What attracted you to Atlanta? 2 to make someone come to a place: Disneyland attracts millions of tourists each year. 3 be attracted to sb to like someone in a sexual way: I was immediately attracted to him. 4 to make someone or something move toward another thing: Flowers attract bees.

attract-able /əˈtraktrəbl/ adj. 1 pretty or nice to look at: an attractive young woman | an attractive location for a wedding | Women seem to find him attractive.

attract-ive /əˈtraktiv/ adj. 1 interesting or exciting: an attractive salary/offer | Advertising campaigns make alcohol attractive to young people.

at-tri-bu-ted /əˈtribyaʊtɪd/ [Ac] adj. (formal) to be caused by something: The price increase is attributable to a rise in the cost of paper.

at-trib-u-ted /əˈtribyaʊtɪd/ [Ac] v. attribute sth to sb/sth phr. v. 1 to believe or say that someone or something is responsible for causing something: Many diseases can be attributed to stress. 2 to say that most people believe that someone said, wrote, or painted, etc. something: These paintings are generally attributed to Rembrandt.

at-tu-trib-ute /əˈtribjuət/ [LAW] v. 1 to give to the tribes, pay] — attribution at-turi-bute /əˈtribjuət/ n. [U] a good or useful quality: Kindness is just one of her many attributes.

au-burn /əˈbɔrn/ adj. [C] informal =place that many tourists visit | at the county fair cute – used about a baby or young child who is attractive gorgeous/stunning – used about anyone who is very attractive hot (informal) – used about someone you think is sexually attractive au-burn /əˈbɔrn/ adj. auburn hair is a reddish brown color [Origin: 1400—1500 Old French auburn “blond,” from Medieval Latin alburnus “white”] —auburn n. [U] auction /əˈkjuʃən/ n. [C] an event at which things are sold to the person who offers the most money [Origin: 1500—1600 Latin auction “increase,” from augere; because the money offered increases] — auction v. [T] au-dience /əˈdɪns/ n. [C] someone who is in charge of an auction

au-da-cious /əˈdeʃəs/ adj. formal the quality of having enough courage to take risks or do things that are shocking or rude: I can’t believe he had the audacity to call your father at 3 a.m.

di-ble /ˌdiːbəl/ adj. loud enough to be heard [ANT] inaudible: Her voice was barely audible. | an audible sigh of relief — audibly adv.

di-ence /ˌdiːns/ n. [C] the people watching or listening to a performance: an audience of 300 people | Members of the audience were invited to ask questions. — THEATER 2 the people who watch a particular television program, read a particular book or magazine, etc.: The show attracts a regular audience of 20 million viewers.

au-dio /əˈdʒɪɔ/ adj. relating to recording and broadcasting sound — VIDEO: audio equipment [Origin: 1900—2000 audio- “of hearing,” from Latin aundre “to listen”]

audi- /ɔːdɪ-/ v. [T] 1 ECONOMICS to officially examine a company’s financial records in order to check that they are correct. 2 to study a subject at college without getting a grade for it → audit n. [C] — auditor n. [C] audition /əˈdɪʃən/ n. [C] a short performance by an actor, singer, etc. to test whether s/he is good enough to perform in a play, concert, etc.: The ballet company is holding auditions for “Swan Lake.”
audience /əˈdɪns/ n. [U] to perform in an audition, or judge someone in an audition: He plans to audition for a part in “Swan Lake.” auditorium /əˈdɪtəriəm/ n. [C] a large building used for concerts or public meetings

August /ɔːˈgʌst/ adj. August 31st, a month in the year, between July and September: The winner will be announced on August 31st. | Last August, we traveled through Europe. | The changes will take effect next August. [Origin: 1000—1100 Latin Augustus, from Augustus Caesar (63 B.C. – 14 A.D.), Roman emperor] aunt /ənt, aʊnt/ n. [C] the sister of your mother or father, or the wife of your uncle: Aunt Jean → RELATIVE [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French aunte, from Latin auita]

au pair /əˈpɛːr/ n. [C] a young person who stays with a family in a foreign country and looks after their children [Origin: 1800—1900 French “on equal terms”] aura /əˈrɔː/ n. [C] a quality or feeling that seems to come from a person or place: There’s an aura of mystery around the castle. [Origin: 1700—1800 Latin “air, light wind,” from Greek] aural /əˈrɔːl/ adj. related to the sense of hearing auricle /əˈrɪkl/ n. [C] BIOLOGY one of the two spaces inside the top of your heart, from which blood is sent into the ventricles [SYN atrium] auristic /əˈrizəst/ n. under the auspices of sb/sth (formal) with the help and support of a person or organization: The research was done under the auspices of Harvard Medical School. [Origin: 1700—1800 auresis “telling the future by watching the behavior of birds, good influence” (16—19 centuries), from Latin auspiciwm] aus-pi-cious /əˈspɪʃəs, -ˈsɪz/ adj. showing that something is likely to be successful [SYN inauspicious]: an auspicious start/beginning to her career

Australia /əˈstreɪliə/ n. one of the seven continents that is also its own country

Australian /əˈstreɪlɪən/ adj. relating to Australia or its people authoritative /əˈthɔːrətɪv/ adj. 1 someone who writes a book, story, article, play, etc.: Who is your favorite author? | Banville is the author of “The Book of Evidence.” 2 the person who starts a plan or idea: Senator Norris was the principal author of the bill. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old North French aucteur, from Latin auctor “maker, writer”] authoritarian /əˈθɔːtərɪən, əˈθɔːr-/[ACC] adj. forcing people to obey strict rules or laws and not allowing any freedom: an authoritarian government → authoritarian n. [C]: Papa was a strict authoritarian authoritative /əˈθɔːtərɪətɪv, əˈθɔːr-/[ACC] adj. 1 an authoritative book, account, etc. is respected because the person who wrote it knows a lot about the subject: an authoritative account of...

authority

the country’s history | The figures in the report come from an authoritative source. 2 behaving or speaking in a confident, determined way that makes people respect and obey you. The captain spoke to the passengers in a calm and authoritative voice.

—authoritatively adv.

au·to·cracy /ˌau.təˈkrəsi/ n. 1 [U] the power someone has because of his/her official position: You have no authority over me! | Could I speak to someone in authority (who has a position of power), please? | She has the authority to sign checks. | people in positions of authority 2 the authorities the people or organizations that are in charge of a particular place: Please report any suspicious activities to the authorities immediately. 3 [C] someone who is respected because of his/her knowledge about a subject: Dr. Ballard is a leading authority on tropical diseases. [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French auctorité, from Latin auctoritas “opinion, decision, power”]

au·to·graph /ˌau.təˈɡrɑːf/ n. 1 [C] a famous person’s name, written in his/her own writing: Can I have your autograph? | —autograph v. [T]: a jacket autographed by all the players can you authorize my expenses? | can you authorize my mission for something: Can you authorize my

au·tis·m m /ˌau.tɪz.əm/ n. [U] a problem in the way the brain works that makes someone unable to communicate in a normal way, or to form normal relationships —autistic adj.

au·to·mat·ed /ˌau.təˈmeɪ.tɪd/ adj. using computers and machines to do a job, rather than people: The automated manufacturing system processes orders as they arrive.

—automation /ˌəʊ.təˈmeɪ.ʃən/ n. [U]: In this industry, the trend towards automation started in the 1950s.

au·to·mat·ic /ˌau.təˈmeɪ.tɪk/ adj. 1 an automatic machine is designed to operate by itself after you start it: The automatic safety switch will stop the engine in an emergency. 2 certain to happen: We get an automatic pay increase every year. 3 done without thinking: At first, driving is hard, but then it just becomes automatic. | Fear is an automatic response to a threatening situation. [Origin: 1700—1800 Greek automatós “acting by itself”] —automatically adv.: She automatically assumed that he was guilty. | The program runs automatically when the user logs on.

au·to·mo·bi·le /ˌau.təˈməʊ.bil/ n. [C] a car

au·to·mo·tive /ˌau.təˈmoʊ.tɪv/ adj. relating to cars: the automotive industry

au·ton·o·mous /ˌau.təˈnɔʊ.məs/ adj. having the power to make your own decisions or rules: an autonomous nation —autonomously adv.: The autonomous nation runs automatically when the user logs on.

au·tono·mous /ˌau.təˈnɔʊ.məs/ adj. political autonomy

au·tono·mous /ˈau.təˌnɔməs/ n. [C]: politics a large area within a country, that has the official right to be independent and govern itself

au·top·s y /ˌau.təˈpɔːsi/ n. (plural autopsies) [C] an official examination of a dead body to discover the cause of death

au·top·sy /ˌau.təˈpɔːsi/ n. [C] biology any chromosome that does not influence whether a person or animal is male or female —autosomal adj.: autosomal chromosomes au·to·tro·phy /ˌau.təˈtrɔf.ri/ n. [C] biology a living thing that produces its own food from substances that do not contain living things, using the energy from the Sun or from a chemical process. Most plants and living creatures such as bacteria are autotrophs.

au·to·work·er /ˌau.təˈwɜːk.ər/ n. [C] someone whose job is to make cars au·tum·nal /ˌau.təˈmænl/ adj.

aux·il·ia·ry /ˈɔsəˌlɛri/ n. auxiliary police —auxiliary adj. giving extra help or support: auxiliary police —auxiliary verb n. [C] English, Lang. Arts a verb that is used with another verb to form questions, negative sentences, and tenses. In English, the auxiliary verbs are “be,” “do,” and “have.”

av·ail /əˈvɛəl/ n. to no avail without success: We searched everywhere to no avail.

avail /əˈvɛəl/ v. avail yourself of sth (formal) to accept an offer, or use an opportunity: Avail yourself of every chance to improve your English.

available /əˈveɪləb(ə)l/ (v) adj 1 if something is available, you can have it, buy it, or use it: The database in the library is available for anyone. | Several thousand seats are available for tonight’s show. | films available on DVD | The book is available in the museum’s bookstore. | Once it is approved by the FDA, the vaccine will become readily/widely available (readily available, or available from many places). 2 [not before noun] someone who is available is not busy and has enough time to talk to you: I’m available after lunch. | The District Attorney is not available for comment. —availability /əˈveɪləbɪlɪtɪ/ n. [U]: the easy availability of guns in the U.S.

avalanche /əˈvælənʃ/ n. [C] 1 EARTH SCIENCES a large amount of snow, ice, and rocks that falls down the side of a mountain. 2 an avalanche of sth a very large number of things that happen or arrive at the same time: The station received an avalanche of letters. | [Origin: 1700—1800 French, French dialect laventse, avalantse]

avant-garde /əˈvæntɡɑːrd/ n. [C] 1 art, literature, or music that is very modern and different from existing art, etc., often in a way that is strange or shocking —avant-garde adj: the avant-garde art of the 1960s | a piece of avant-garde writing | an avant-garde painting | an avant-garde exhibition | that famous avant-garde performer —avant-garde adj —avant-garde n

aversion /əˈvɜːrʒən/ n. [singular, U] a strong dislike of something or someone: Mary has an aversion to cats.

average /əˈvɜːrɪdʒ/ n. 1 [C,U] the amount that you get if you add together several figures and divide by the total number of figures: The average age of teachers is rising steadily. 2 [only before noun] having qualities that are typical of most people or things: In an average week, I drive about 250 miles. | The average American has not even thought about next year’s election.

available /əˈveɪləb(ə)l/ (v) adj 1 if something is available, you can have it, buy it, or use it: The database in the library is available for anyone. | Several thousand seats are available for tonight’s show. | films available on DVD | The book is available in the museum’s bookstore. | Once it is approved by the FDA, the vaccine will become readily/widely available (readily available, or available from many places). 2 [not before noun] someone who is available is not busy and has enough time to talk to you: I’m available after lunch. | The District Attorney is not available for comment. —availability /əˈveɪləbɪlɪtɪ/ n. [U]: the easy availability of guns in the U.S.

avocado /əˈvɑːkoʊd/ n. [C] 1 a small green fruit with thick dark skin, used in guacamole | [Origin: 1600—1700 Spanish aguacate “avocado,” from Nahuałahuacatl “testicle, avocado,” influenced by Spanish avocado “lawyer”] | see picture on page 414

avoid /əˈvɜːrd/ v. 1 to prevent something bad from happening: Exercise will help you avoid heart disease. He had to swerve to avoid being hit by the other car. —avoiding adj —avoidance n [U]

a·vowed /əˈvɑːd(ə)/ adj 1 said or admitted publicly: an avowed atheist

average /əˈvɜːrɪdʒ/ n. 1 [C,U] the amount that you get if you add together several figures and divide by the total number of figures: The average age of teachers is rising steadily. 2 [only before noun] having qualities that are typical of most people or things: In an average week, I drive about 250 miles. | The average American has not even thought about next year’s election.
await

a·wait /əˈwet/ v [T] (formal) 1 to wait for something: Briggs is awaiting trial for murder. 2 if a situation or event awaits someone, it is going to happen to him/her: A terrible surprise awaited them.

a·wake1 /əˈwek/ adj [not before noun] not sleeping: Is she awake yet? | I couldn’t stay awake during the movie. | I was wide awake (=completely awake) before dawn. | The baby kept us awake (=stopped us from sleeping) all night.

awake2 v (past tense awake /əˈwoʊk/) past participle awoken /əˈwoʊkən/ [T] (literary) 1 to wake up, or to wake someone up: I awoke to the sound of rain pounding on the roof. 2 to suddenly begin to feel an emotion, or to make someone do this awaken /əˈwaken/ to make someone begin to realize something: Churches are awakening to the needs of their older members.

awak·en·ing /əˈwakenɪŋ/ n. [C] a situation when you suddenly realize that you understand or feel something: a spiritual awakening a·ward1 /əˈwɔrd/ n [C] 1 a prize or money given to someone for something that s/he has achieved: the award for best actor | an award of $10,000 to each victim | an experienced reporter who has won many awards. 2 an amount of money that is given to someone because of a judge’s decision: an award for injuries suffered award2 v [T] to officially give someone an award: He was awarded the Nobel Prize. | A large sum of money was awarded to the survivors.

a·ware /əˈwɔr/ adj [not before noun] 1 realizing that something is true, exists, or is happening (not) aware: Are you aware of the dangers of smoking? | Are you aware (that) your son has been skipping classes? | “Are there any more problems?” “Not that I’m aware of.” | Now that the school has been made aware of the situation, it will act. 2 politically/socially/environmentally etc. aware interested in politics, etc., and knowing a lot about it a·ware·ness /əˈwɔrnəs/ n. [U] knowledge or understanding of a particular subject or situation: The TV ads are meant to raise the public’s awareness of environmental issues. | The possibility of getting drafted increased the students’ political awareness.

a·wash /əˈwɔʃ/ adj 1 awash with/in sth having too much of something: TV is awash with talk shows. 2 covered with water a·way1 /əˈweɪ/ adv 1 moving further from a place, or staying far from a place: Go away! | Diane drove away quickly. | Move away from the fire! 2 in a different direction: She looked away and began to cry. 3 7 miles/40 feet/2 weeks etc. away used to say how far it is to a place, thing, or time in the future: a town about 50 miles away from Chicago | Christmas is only a month away. 4 into a safe place: Put all your toys away now, please. 5 not at home, at work, or in school: I’m sorry, Ms. Parker is away this week. 6 used to say that something disappears or is removed: He gave his money away to charity. | The music died away. 7 used to say how close someone is to achieving something or experiencing something: At one point, they were only two points away from victory. 8 without stopping: He’s been working away on the patio all day.

a·way2 adj away team/game/match a sports team that is playing at an opponent’s field, or a game they are playing there (not) home a·we /ə/ n. [U] a feeling of great respect for someone or something: We were in awe of our father.

—awed adj: an awed silence a·we·in·spir·ing adj making you feel awe: an awe-inspiring achievement awe·some /ˈæsəm/ adj 1 very impressive, serious, or difficult: an awesome responsibility. 2 (spoken) extremely good: That concert was awesome!

a·we·struck /ˈɔstrʌk/ adj feeling great awe: We gazed awestruck at the pyramids.

a·wful1 /ˈɔfl/ adj 1 very bad: an awful movie | The weather was awful. | This soup tastes awful!

—awful2 adj (spoken, nonstandard) very: She’s awful cute.

a·w·ful·ly /ˈɔflɪ/ adv. (spoken) very: Helen looks awfully tired.

a·while /əˈwɜːl/ adv for a short time: I stood at the bedroom door awhile, watching the boys sleeping.

awk·ward /əˈkwɔrd/ adj 1 embarrassing: This puts us in an awkward position. | For a few moments there was an awkward silence. 2 moving or behaving in a way that does not seem relaxed or comfortable: an awkward teenager awk·ward·ly /əˈkwɔrdli/ adv. 1 in a difficult way: She acted awkwardly when they asked her a question.

aw·ful·ness /ˈɔflɪns/ n. [U] the fact of being very bad: the awfulness of the situation.

aw·ful·ly /ˈɔflɪ/ adv. 1 in a difficult way: She acted awkwardly when they asked her a question.

aw·ful·ness /ˈɔflɪns/ n. [U] the fact of being very bad: the awfulness of the situation.

aw·ful·ly /ˈɔflɪ/ adv. 1 in a difficult way: She acted awkwardly when they asked her a question.
time. 4 difficult to use or handle: The camera is awkward to use.

THESAURUS
difficult, hard, tough, challenging, demanding, complicated, complex \(\rightarrow\) DIFFICULT [Origin: 1500—1600 awk “turned the wrong way” (15—17 centuries) (from Old Norse \(\langle\text{ofugr}\rangle + \langle\text{-ward}\rangle\) —awkwardly adv.

—awkwardness n. [U] awk-ning /\(\text{\textbackslash n}\) n. [C] a sheet of material outside a store, tent, etc., used for protection from the Sun or the rain a-woke /\(\text{\textbackslash o\textbackslash k}\) aw/ v. the past tense of awake

a-wok-en /\(\text{\textbackslash o\textbackslash k\textbackslash \textbackslash n}\) en/ the past participle of awake

AWOL /\(\text{\textbackslash e\textbackslash w\textbackslash l}\) o\(\text{\textbackslash l}\) / adj. Absent Without Leave absent from your military group without permission: Private Ames has gone AWOL.

a-wry /\(\text{\textbackslash r\textbackslash y}\) r/ adj. go awry to not happen in the way that was planned: My carefully laid plans had already gone awry.

ax /\(\text{\textbackslash z}\) x/ n. [C] 1 a tool with a metal blade on a long handle, used for cutting wood 2 give sb/sth the ax (informal) to dismiss someone from his/her job, or get rid of something: The TV station gave Brown the ax. 3 get the ax (informal) to be dismissed from your job 4 have an ax to grind to have a personal reason for doing something: I have no political ax to grind.

ax /\(\text{\textbackslash z}\) x/ n. [T] (informal) to get rid of a plan, a service, or someone’s job: Did you hear they’re axing 500 jobs?

ax-i-om /\(\text{\textbackslash z\textbackslash k\textbackslash \textbackslash s\textbackslash a\textbackslash m}\) \(\text{\textbackslash z}\) / n. [C] (formal) a rule or principle that is considered by most people to be true ax-i-o-mat-ic /\(\text{\textbackslash z\textbackslash k\textbackslash \textbackslash s\textbackslash \textbackslash m\textbackslash a\textbackslash t\textbackslash i\textbackslash k}\) \(\text{\textbackslash t}\) / adj. a principle that is axiomatic does not need to be proved because people can see that it is true ax-1 /\(\text{\textbackslash z\textbackslash k\textbackslash z}\) x/ n. (plural axes /\(\text{\textbackslash z\textbackslash k\textbackslash s\textbackslash z}\) /) 1 EARTH SCIENCES the imaginary line around which a large object, such as the Earth, turns \(\rightarrow\) see picture at GLOBE 2 MATH a line at the side or bottom of a graph, used for marking measurements 3 MATH a line drawn across the middle of a regular shape, that divides it into two equal parts

‘Axis’ Powers n. [plural] the Axis Powers HISTORY a group of countries, including Germany, Italy, and Japan, that united against the ALLIED POWERS (=Great Britain, the Soviet Union, the United States, and other countries) in World War II

ax-e /\(\text{\textbackslash z\textbackslash k}\) e/ n. [C] the bar that connects two wheels on a vehicle ax-on /\(\text{\textbackslash z\textbackslash k\textbackslash \textbackslash n}\) xon/ n. [C] BIOLOGY a long thin part of a nerve cell, along which short electrical signals containing messages travel away from the cell toward other cells

ABBREVIATIONS

A.A. n. [C] Bachelor of Arts a university degree in a subject such as history or literature \(\rightarrow\) B.A.: He graduated from Stanford with a B.A. in English.

baba /\(\text{\textbackslash b\textbackslash a\textbackslash b}\) / bab/ v. (I) to make the sound a sheep makes babble /\(\text{\textbackslash b\textbackslash b\textbackslash l}\) / bab/ v. (I,T) to talk a lot in a way that does not make sense: I couldn’t understand what he was babbling about. —babble n. [U] babe /\(\text{\textbackslash b\textbackslash b\textbackslash \textbackslash e}\) / \(\text{\textbackslash b\textbackslash a\textbackslash b}\) / n. 1 (spoken, informal) an attractive young woman 2 (literary) a baby baa /\(\text{\textbackslash b\textbackslash a}\) / baa/ v. [I] to make the sound a sheep makes baboon /\(\text{\textbackslash b\textbackslash a\textbackslash b\textbackslash \textbackslash \textbackslash n}\) / ba-bun/ n. [C] a large monkey that lives in Africa and south Asia [Origin: 1400—1500 French babouin, from baboue “ugly face”] baby /\(\text{\textbackslash b\textbackslash \textbackslash e\textbackslash \textbackslash \textbackslash i}\) / baby(n)/ n. 1 a very young child: A baby was crying upstairs. | Joyce had a baby (=gave birth to a baby) in September. | Pam is expecting a baby (=will have a baby). | a baby boy/girl leader, especially one living in Iran, who has special knowledge of Islamic law

aye /\(\text{\textbackslash e\textbackslash \textbackslash \textbackslash \textbackslash \textbackslash \textbackslash a}\) / adv. (spoken, formal) used in order to say yes, especially when voting

AZ the written abbreviation of ARIZONA

Az-tec /\(\text{\textbackslash a\textbackslash z\textbackslash t\textbackslash e\textbackslash k}\) / n. HISTORY one of the tribes who lived in and controlled Mexico from the 14th century until the 16th century: The Aztecs played a game that had elements of both soccer and basketball. | Aztec jewelry

ABBREVIATIONS

B. b/bi/ the second letter of the English alphabet

B. B. /\(\text{\textbackslash b\textbackslash \textbackslash e}\) / b/ n. 1 [C] a grade that a teacher gives to a student’s work to show that it is good but not excellent: Greg got a B in Chemistry. 2 [C,U] ING. LANG. ARTS the seventh note in the musical SCALE of C, or the musical KEY based on this note 3 [U] a common type of blood

B, b /bi/ a. [C] the written abbreviation of BORN: A. Lincoln, b. 1809

B.A. n. [C] Bachelor of Arts a university degree in a subject such as history or literature \(\rightarrow\) B.S.: He graduated from Stanford with a B.A. in English.

BABY /\(\text{\textbackslash b\textbackslash a\textbackslash b\textbackslash i}\) / babi/ n. (plural babies) 1 a very young child: A baby was crying upstairs. | Joyce had a baby (=gave birth to a baby) in September. | Pam is expecting a baby (=will have a baby). | a baby boy/girl

ABBREVIATIONS

A baby that has just been born is called a newborn.

A very young baby who cannot walk or talk yet is called an infant.

A baby who has learned how to walk is called a toddler.

When babies crawl, they move around on their hands and knees. Babies usually crawl before they learn how to walk.

When you take a baby somewhere, you can push him/her there in a baby carriage, which is like a baby boom

bed on wheels. You can push an older baby along in a stroller, which is like a chair on wheels. Babies sleep in a special bed with bars on it, called a crib. If a baby is being fed milk from its mother's breast, the baby is nursing, or the mother is breast-feeding the baby. If a baby drinks milk from a bottle, s/he is being bottle-fed. When a baby is old enough to sit up and eat food, s/he sits in a highchair.

bachelor's degree

baby boom

66

My back was really aching. | The cararched its back and hissed. | He lay on his back, staring at the sky. | Mrs. Ducas stood with her back to the camera. | b) the bone that goes from your neck to your buttocks: He broke his back in a motorcycle accident.

PART OF STH [C usually singular, U] the part of something that is furthest from the front: a grocery list on the back of an envelope | The index is at the back of the book. | The pool's in back of the house. | Kids should always wear seat belts, even in back (=in the seats behind the driver). | Tom's working on the car out back (=behind a building).

SEAT [C] the part of a seat that you lean against when you are sitting: Back leaned against the back of the chair.

behind sb's back if you do something bad or unkind behind someone's back, you do it without him/her knowing: I can't believe she said that about me behind my back!

at/in the back of your mind a thought or feeling at the back of your mind is influencing you, even though you are not thinking about it: There was always a slight fear in the back of his mind.

get off my back (spoken) said when you want someone to stop annoying you or asking you to do something: I'll do it in a minute. Just get off my back!

be on sb's back (spoken) to keep telling someone to do something, in a way that annoys him/her: The boss has been on my back about being late.

have your back to/against the wall to be in a very difficult situation with no choice about what to do: | turn your back on (to) to support someone or something, especially by using your money or power: The bill is backed by several environmental groups.

back (third person singular) back (first person singular) back (first person plural) back (second person singular) back (third person plural) Back (third person plural)

back v.

1 [I,T] to move backward, or to make a vehicle move backward: Teresa backed the car into the garage. | We slowly backed away from the snake. 2 [T] to support someone or something, especially by using your money or power: The bill is backed by several environmental groups. 3 [T] to risk money on the team, person, horse, etc. that you think will win something: Which team did you back in the Super Bowl? 4 to decide not to do something you have promised to do: They backed out of the deal at the last minute.

back off to move away from something: Back off a little, you're driving too close. 2 (spoken) said in order to tell someone to stop telling you what to do, or to stop criticizing you: Back off! I don't need your advice.

back onto if a building backs onto a place, the back of the building faces it: The house backs onto a busy road.

back out to decide not to do something you promised to do: They backed out of the deal at the last minute.

back up to make a vehicle go backward, or to make it move backward: Back up a little so they can get by. 3 back sth up it to make a copy of information on a computer 4 be backed up traffic that is backed up is moving very slowly back adj. [only before noun] 1 at the back of something | front: the back door | We sat in the back row of the theater. 2 back street/road a street that is away from the main streets 3 back rent/taxes/pay money that someone owes from an earlier date back·ache /bækˈæk/ n. [C] a pain in your back back·bit·ing /bækˌbîtɪŋ/ n. [U] rude or cruel talk about someone who is not present back·board /bækˈbɔːrd/ n. [C] the board behind the basket in the game of basketball back·bone /bækˈbəʊn/ n. 1 [C] BIOLOGY SPINE + more on page A3 2 the backbone of sth the most important part of something: The cocoa industry is the backbone of Ghana’s economy. 3 [U] courage and determination: Stuart doesn’t have the backbone to be a good manager.

back·break·ing /bækˈbriŋkɪŋ/ adj. backbreaking work is very difficult and tiring back·date /bæk,deɪt/ v. [T] to write an earlier date on a document or check than the date when it was really written back·drop /bækˈdrɒp/ n. [C] 1 the conditions in which something happens: a love story set against the backdrop of war 2 the painted cloth at the back of a stage back·er /bækˈɛr/ n. [C] someone who supports a plan, especially by providing money: We’re still trying to find backers for the new enterprise.
back·fire /bækˈfaɪər/ v. [I] 1 if a plan or action backfires, it has the opposite effect to the one you wanted. 2 if a car backfires, it makes a sudden loud noise because the engine is not working correctly back·gam·mon /bækˌɡæmˈmən/ n. [U] a game for two players, using flat round pieces and dice on a board back·ground /bækˈɡraʊnd/ n. 1 [C] someone’s education, family, and experience: kids from very different ethnic/religious/cultural backgrounds 2 [usually singular] the area that is behind the main things that you are looking at, especially in a picture or photograph: The background is slightly out of focus. | Palm trees swayed in the background. 3 in the background someone who keeps or stays in the background tries not to be noticed: The president’s wife preferred to stay in the background. 4 [singular] sounds that are in the background are not the main ones that you can hear: I could hear cars honking in the background. 5 [singular, U] the general conditions in which something happens background radiation n. [U] PHYSICS a very low level of radiation that is present naturally in the air, water, soil, and objects such as buildings back·hand /bækˌhænd/ n. [C usually singular] a way of hitting the ball in tennis, etc. with the back of your hand turned toward the ball ➔ forehand back·hand·ed /bækˌhændid/ adj. backhanded compliment a statement that seems to express praise or admiration, but is actually insulting back·ing /bækˈɪŋ/ n. [U] The agency has provided financial backing for the project.
back·lash /bækˈlaʃ/ n. [singular] a strong reaction from people against an idea or person: a political backlash against immigrants back·log /bækˈlɒg, -ˈlaɡ/ n. [C] work that still needs to be done and should have been done earlier: a huge backlog of orders back·pack /bækˈpæk/ n. [C] a bag used to carry things on your back, especially when you go walking ➔ see picture at bag back·pack·er /bækˈpækər/ n. [C] a person who travels carrying a backpack —backpacker n. [C] —backpacking n. [U] back·se·at /bækˌsɛt/ n. [C] 1 the seat behind where the driver sits in a car: Holly and I were sitting in the back seat. 2 back seat driver someone who gives unwanted advice about how to drive to the driver of a car: 3 take a back seat to accept or be put in a less important position: His career has taken a back seat while he raises his son. back·side /bækˈsaɪd/ n. [C] (informal) the part of your body that you sit on back·slash /bækˈslæʃ/ n. [C] a line (\) used in writing to separate words, numbers, or letters back·space /bækˈspeɪs/ n. [singular] a button on a computer keyboard or typewriter, that you press to move backward toward the beginning of the line back·stab·bing /bækˌstæbɪŋ/ n. [U] the act of secretly doing bad things to someone else, especially saying bad things about him/her, in order to gain an advantage for yourself —backstabber n. [C] back·step /bækˈstɛp/ adv. behind the stage in a theater back·stroke /bækˌstroʊk/ n. [singular] a style of swimming on your back ➔ see picture at swim back·to·back adj. adv. happening one after the other: back-to-back wins back·track /bækˈtræk/ v. [I] 1 to change something you have said so that it is not as strong as it was earlier: Congress is backtracking on some of the welfare cuts imposed last year. 2 to go back the way you have just come: We had to backtrack about a mile.
back·up /bækˈʌp/ n. 1 [C] something that you can use to replace something that does not work or is lost: Always have a backup plan. | a backup backward

power supply 2 [C] a copy of a computer document, program, etc., which is made in case the original becomes lost or damaged: Make a backup of any work you do on the computer. 3 [C,U] extra help or support that can be used if it is needed: The officers decided to call for backup before entering the building.

backward1 /'bækward/ also backwards adj: 1 in the direction that is behind you (and forward). She took a step backwards. 2 toward the beginning or the past: Can you say the alphabet backwards? 3 with the back part in front. your T-shirt is on backwards. 4 toward a worse state (and forward). The new law is seen by some as a backward step.

backward2 adj: 1 [only before noun] made toward the direction that is behind you (and forward). She left without a backward glance. 2 developing slowly and less successfully than others: a backward country.

backwards /'bækwardz/ adj: a backwards town.

backyard, back yard /'bæk'yard/ n. [C] the area of land behind a house.

backward3 adj: a backward country.

bacon /'bækon/ n. [U] meat from a pig, that has been put in salt and cut into thin pieces: bacon and eggs (Origin: 1300—1400 Old French, from an ancient Germanic word meaning "back").

bac•te•ri•um /bæk'terıəm/ n. (plural bacteria i-r-pl.) [C usually plural] biology a very small living thing consisting of a single cell. Some bacteria cause disease, but others are important in many natural processes. The plural form, "bacteria," is much more common than the singular form. (Origin: 1800—1900 Modern Latin, Greek bak'terion "stick, rod," because of their shape)

bad1 /bæd/ adj: (comparative worse, superlative worst) 1 not good or not nice (and good): I'm afraid I have some bad news for you. | a really bad smell. | a lousy move. | a lousy written book | She did badly on the exam.

bad2 adv: (spoken, nonstandard) badly badger /'bædʒə/ n. [C] an animal with black and white fur, that lives under the ground.

badlands /'bæd,landz/ n. [plural] earth sciences an area of rocks and hills where no crops can be grown.

badly /'bædlı/ adv: (comparative worse, superlative worst) 1 in a way that is not good (and well): a badly written book | She did badly on the exam. | Don't say "I sing very bad." Say "I sing very badly." 2 to a great or serious degree: The refugees badly need food and clean water. | Our house was badly damaged during the storm.

THE SAURUS

awful – very bad or unpleasant: The weather was awful.

terrible – extremely bad: The hotel food was terrible.

horrible – very bad or upsetting: What a horrible thing to say.

appalling /æpə'lıəl/ (formal) – very bad and very shocking: She suffered appalling injuries. | a horrific plane crash lousy (informal) – very bad in quality: a lousy movie.

horrendous (formal) – very bad and very frightening or shocking: a horrendous crash.

atrocious (formal) – extremely bad and often very severe: Her driving is atrocious. | icy, atrocious weather conditions.

abysmal (formal) – very bad, used especially to describe the standard of something: The quality of care at the hospital was abysmal.

HORRIBLE

evil/wicked – used to describe an evil person or his/her actions: a fairy tale about a wicked witch | evil thoughts.

immoral/wrong – morally wrong, and not accepted by society: It's wrong to steal.

depraved – morally wrong and evil: a depraved killer.

reprehensible (formal) – reprehensible behavior is very bad and deserves criticism: His conduct was reprehensible.

PROBLEMATIC

damaging or harmful (and good): Smoking is bad for your health. | Pollution in the lake is having a bad effect on fish stocks.

serious or severe: a bad cold | Traffic in this city is getting worse by the day.

too bad (spoken) said when you are sorry something that has happened: It's too bad she had to give up teaching.

feel bad to feel ashamed or sorry about something: I felt bad about missing your birthday.

a bad time a time that is not suitable or convenient: Is this a bad time to call?

food that is bad is not safe to eat because it is not fresh: The milk has gone bad.

permanently injured or not working correctly: a bad heart | a bad back.

not bad (spoken) good or acceptable: "How are you?" "Oh, not bad.

bad language/words swearing or rude words.
bag /bæɡ/ n. 1 a) a container made of paper, plastic, cloth, etc., that opens at the top: a paper bag | a shopping bag b) a large bag that you use to carry your clothes, etc. when you are traveling: She packed her bags and left. c) a purse 2 the amount a bag can hold: two bags of rice 3 in the bag certain to be won or to be a success: We knew the game was in the bag. 4 bags under your eyes dark circles or loose skin under your eyes [Orig: 1200—1300 Old Norse baggi] bag2 v (bagged, bagging) [T] 1 to put things in a bag: He got a job bagging groceries at the supermarket. 2 informal to manage to get something that a lot of people want: I'll get there early and bag some seats. bagel /ˈbæɡəl/ n. [C] a type of bread that is shaped like a ring [Orig: 1900—2000 Yiddish bagel, from Old High German bœgel “ring”] bagful /ˈbæɡfəl/ n. [C] the amount a bag can hold baggage /ˈbæɡɪdʒ/ n. [U] 1 the bags that you carry with you when you are traveling | [O] luggage 2 beliefs, opinions, and experiences from the past that influence the way a person behaves or thinks: emotional baggage [Orig: 1400—1500 French bagage “bundle”] baggy /ˈbægɪ/ adj. baggy clothes are big and loose: a baggy T-shirt bag lady n. [C] (informal) an impolite word for a woman who lives on the street and carries all her possessions with her bagpipes /ˈbæɡpəps/ n. [plural] a Scottish musical instrument which is played by blowing air into a bag and forcing it out through pipes bail /beɪl/ n. [U] LAW money left with a court of law so that someone can be let out of prison while waiting for his/her trial. | bail out to escape from a situation that you no longer want to be involved in: After ten years in the business, McArthur is bailing out. bailiff /ˈbeɪlɪf/ n. [C] law an officer who watches prisoners and keeps order in a court of law bait /beɪt/ n. [singular, U] 1 food used for attracting fish or animals so that you can catch them. 2 something that is offered to someone to persuade him/her to do something: Plenty of people took the bait (=accepted what was offered) and lost their life savings. bait2 v [T] 1 to put food on a hook to catch fish, or in a trap to catch animals. 2 deliberately try to make someone angry by criticizing him/her, using rude names, etc.: He started baiting me, trying to get me to fight. bake /beɪk/ v. [T] to cook something such as bread or cakes in an oven: I'm baking a cake. | baked potatoes [Orig: Old English bæcn] bakery /ˈbeɪkəri/ n. [plural] a place where bread, cakes, cookies, etc. are made or sold bake sale n. [C] an occasion when the members of a school group, church organization, etc. make cookies, cakes, etc. and sell them in order to make money for the organization balance

balance /ˈbælkəns/ n. 1 [U] the ability to stand and walk steadily, without falling: Billy fell when he lost his balance (=was unable to stay steady). | Tricia could not keep her balance (=could not stay steady), and slipped on the ice. | He hit me when I was still off balance (=not standing steady). | 2 (singular, U) a state in which different or opposite qualities are given equal importance, or exist together in a way that is good: Try to keep a balance between work and play. | The car’s designers wanted to strike a balance between safety and style (=make sure that two things have equal importance). | We must not upset the balance of nature. 3 [C] a) ECONOMICS the amount of money that you have in your bank account: a balance of $1,247. b) ECONOMICS the amount of money that you owe: the balance of the amount of money that you owe. c) CHEMISTRY the amount of money that you have in your bank account: a balance of $1,247. | b) ECONOMICS the amount of money that you owe: the balance of the amount of money that you owe. c) CHEMISTRY the amount of money that you have in your bank account: a balance of $1,247. | b) ECONOMICS the amount of money that you owe: the balance of the amount of money that you owe. c) CHEMISTRY the amount of money that you have in your bank account: a balance of $1,247. | b) ECONOMICS the amount of money that you owe: the balance of the amount of money that you owe. c) CHEMISTRY the amount of money that you have in your bank account: a balance of $1,247.

balancing /ˈbælnɪŋ/ adj. becoming bald: a balding man in his mid-thirties.

ball /bɔːl/ n. 1 a round object that you throw, hit, or kick in a game or sport: tennis balls. 2 CHEMISTRY around object that you throw, hit, or kick in a game or sport: tennis balls.

bald /bɔːld/ adj. having little or no hair on your head: I’m going bald. | a bald spot/patch (=a small area with no hair) 2 not having enough of what usually covers something: bald tires.

bald-eagle /ˈbɔldˈeɡl/ n. [C] a large North American wild bird with a white head and neck that is the national bird of the U.S. ➔ see picture at EAGLE.

balance of power between Congress and the President in which political or military strength is shared by the two branches of government.

balance sheet /ˈbælkənsʃiːt/ n. [C] ECONOMICS a written statement of how much a business has earned and how much it has spent.

balanced diet /ˈbælkwntst/ adj. 1 fair and sensible: The government needs to take a balanced approach to the problem. 2 THESAURUS fair, just, reasonable, equitable, even-handed, impartial, unbiased ➔ fair.

balanced equation /ˈbælkənstʃiːn/ n. [C] CHEMISTRY a chemical equation which has the same number of atoms on each side of the equals sign. For example, 2H₂ + O₂ → 2H₂O + 1O₂, is a balanced equation.

balance of power /ˈbælkənstʃiːn/ n. [singular] POLITICS a situation in which political or military strength is shared equally between different political groups or different countries. The legislation could change the balance of power between Congress and the President.

ball game /ˈbælɡeɪm/ n. [C] 1 a game of baseball, basketball, or football 2 a whole new ball game/a different ball game a situation that is very different from the one you were in before.

ballet /ˈbælət/ n. 1 a performance in which a story is told using dance and music, without any speaking: the ballet “Swan Lake.” | a ballet dancer ➔ THEATER 2 [U] this type of dancing.
bald 💰 💰 💰

ball·point pen /ˈbɔːlpɔɪnt/ adj. /ˈbɔːlpɔɪnt/ n. [U] Physics the study of how objects move through the air when they are thrown or shot from a gun.

bal·loon /ˈbɔːloon/ n. [C] 1 a small brightly colored rubber bag that can be filled with air. Can you blow up these balloons? 2 a hot-air balloon.

balloon² v. [I] to suddenly become much larger.

bal·lot /ˈbɔːlot/ n. 1 [C] a piece of paper that you use to vote. 2 [C,U] a system of voting in secret, or an occasion when you vote in this way: He won 54% of the ballot (the number of votes in an election). 3 There were 17 propositions on the ballot (=17 things to be voted on). [Origin: 1500—1600 Italian ballott, from balle “ball;” because small balls were used for voting].

ballot box /ˈbɔːlot/ n. [C] 1 the ballot box the system of voting in an election: The issue will be decided at the ballot box. 2 a box that ballot papers are put in during the vote.

ball park n. [C] 1 a field for playing baseball, with seats for people to watch the game. 2 a ball park figure/estimate a number or amount that is almost but not exactly correct.

ball-point pen /ˈbɔːlpɔɪnt/ ‘pen/ n. [C] a pen with a small ball at the end that rolls ink onto the paper.

ball-room /ˈbɔːrum/ n. [C] a large room for formal dances.

balm /bɔːlm/ n. [U] an oily liquid that you rub onto your skin to reduce pain.

balm-y /ˈbɔːmlı/ adj. balmy weather or air is warm and pleasant: a balmy summer night.

ba·lo·ney /ˈbɔːloun/ n. [U] 1 (informal) something that is silly or not true: His explanation sounded like a bunch of baloney to me. 2 another spelling of BOLOGNA.

bam·boo /ˈbɛmbuː/ n. [C,U] a tall plant with hard hollow stems, often used for making furniture. [Origin: 1500—1600 Malay bambu].

bam·boo·ze /ˈbɛmbuːz/ n. [T] (informal) to trick or confuse someone.

ban¹ /bæn/ n. [C] an official order saying that people must not do something: a global ban on nuclear testing. 2 on traveling to Cuba.

ban² v. (banned, banning) [T] to officially say that something is not allowed: The city council banned smoking in public areas in 1995. The government banned Zhang from making films.

ban·dy /ˈbændɪ/ v. (banded, bandies) be banned about/around to be mentioned by a lot of people. Her name was bandied about in connection with the recent scandal.
bane /bæn/ n the bane of sth to be the thing that causes trouble or makes people unhappy: Locusts are the bane of farmers.

bang1 /bæŋ/ v 1 [T] to make a loud noise, especially by hitting something against something hard: Lawren was banging on the wall with his fist. | The screen door banged shut behind him.

bang2 n [C] 1 a sudden loud noise such as an explosion or something hitting a hard surface: There was a loud bang outside the kitchen door. ➔ see picture on page 17 2 a painful blow to the body when you hit against something or something hits you: a nasty bang on the head 3 with a bang in a way that is very exciting or noticeable: He began his presidential campaign with a bang. 4 bangs [plural] hair that is cut straight across the front of your head, above your eyes ➔ see picture on page 462 banged-up adj [informal] damaged or injured: a banged-up old car

ban- /bæn/ v [T] to make someone leave a place as a punishment: The king banished Roderigo from the court.

ban- is- ter /bænisˈtər/ n [C] a row of wooden posts with a bar along the top; that stops you from falling over the edge of the stairs ba- jo /ˈbædʒoʊ/ n (plural ba- jos) [C] a musical instrument like a guitar, with four or more strings, a circular body, and a long neck

bank1 /bæŋk/ n [C] 1 the company or place where you can keep your money or borrow money: I went to the bank at noon to deposit my check. | a bank loan | We have very little money in the bank. ➔ account 2 land along the side of a river or lake: the river bank | the banks of the Charles River

bank2 v 1 [T] to put or keep money in a bank: She’s managed to bank more than $300,000. 2 [i] to use a particular bank: Do you bank with/ at First National? 3 [i] if an airplane, motorcycle, etc. banks, it slopes to one side when it is turning 4 [i] to have steep sides like a hill: The racetrack banks steeply in the third turn.

bank on sb/sth etc v to depend on something happening or someone doing something: We were banking on Jesse being here to help.

bank- er /bæŋkˈɪər/ n [C] someone who has an important job in a bank bank- ing /bæŋkˈɪŋ/ n [U] ECONOMICS the business of a bank bank- rupt /ˈbæŋkrupt/ adj ECONOMICS unable to pay your debts: Many small businesses went bankrupt during the recession. [Origin: 1500—1600 bankrupt “bankruptcy” (16—18 centuries), from French banqueroute, from Old Italian banca “bank” + rottu “broken”] bankrupt2 v [T] ECONOMICS to make someone become bankrupt: The deal nearly bankrupted us.

bank- rupt- cy /bæŋkˈræptsi/ n (plural bank- ruptcies) [C,U] ECONOMICS the state of being unable to pay your debts: The company was forced to declare bankruptcy.

—bank, teller n [C] a TELLER ban- ner /bæŋkˈnɛr/ n [C] a long piece of cloth with writing on it: voters waving election banners 2 a belief or principle: Civil rights groups have achieved a lot under the banner of fair and equal treatment.

ban- ner- d /bæŋkˈnɛrdi/ adj excellent or successful: a banner year for American soccer ban- quet /bæŋkˈwet/ n [C] a formal meal for many people ban- ter /bæŋtər/ n [U] friendly conversation with a lot of jokes in it: light-hearted banter —banter v [I] bap- tism /ˈbæpˌtɪzəm/ n [C,U] a religious ceremony in which a priest puts water on someone to make him/her a member of the Christian church —baptismal /ˈbæptɪzməl/ adj

Bap- tist /ˈbæptɪst/ adj relating to the Protestant church that believes baptism is only for people old enough to understand its meaning —Baptist n [C] bap- tize /ˈbæptɪz/ v [T] to perform a baptism

bar1 /bɑːr/ n [C] 1 a place where alcoholic drinks are sold and can be drunk: a cocktail bar 2 a counter where alcoholic drinks are served: O’Keefe and I stood at the bar. | He ordered a drink from the woman behind the bar. 3 a long narrow piece of metal or wood: iron bar 4 a salad/ coffee/sushi etc. bar a place where a particular kind of food or drink is served 5 a small block of something: a bar of soap | a candy bar 6 bar to (doing) sth something that prevents something bargaining chip

2 an agreement to do something in return for something else: Management and unions have struck a bargain over wage increases. The company is buying a hard bargain in the negotiations (they made sure the agreement was favorable to them).

bargain² v. [L] to discuss the conditions of a sale, agreement, etc., in order to get a fair deal: auto workers bargaining with management | teachers bargain for higher pay | union leaders bargaining over wages bargain for/on nth prn. v. to expect that something will happen: I hadn’t really bargained on things being so expensive there. | I got more than I bargained for in this job.

bargaining chip n [C] something that one person or group in a business deal or political agreement has that can be used in order to gain an advantage in the deal barge /ˈbɑrɡ/ n. [C] a boat with a flat bottom, used for carrying goods on a canal or river [Origin: 1200–1300 Old French, Late Latin barca]

barge 2 v. [I] (informal) to walk somewhere so quickly or carelessly that you push people or hit things: Dana barged past the guards at the door. She barged her way through the crowds.

barge in also barge into smth for v. to interrupt someone or go into a place when you were not invited: The police just barged in.

bar graph also 'bar chart n. [C] MATH a type of graph with a series of boxes, in which the height of each box represents a particular amount bar-i-tone /ˈbær.ə.tōn/ n. [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS a male singing voice that is fairly low, but not the lowest, or a man with a voice like this ➔ BASS bar-i-um /ˈbær.i.əm/ 'bař-əm n. [U] CHEMISTRY (symbol Ba) a soft silver-white metal that is an ELEMENT

bark 1 v. 1 [I] to make the sound that a dog makes 2 [U] also bark out to say something in a loud angry voice: Perry barked at his assistant. 3 be barking up the wrong tree (informal) to be doing something that will not get the result you want: I realize now that I was barking up the wrong tree. [Origin: Old English beorcan] bark 2 n. 1 [C] the sound a dog makes 2 [U] the outer covering of a tree ➔ see picture at PLANT barley /ˈbɑr.lɪ/ n. [U] a grain used for making food and alcohol barn /bɑrn/ n. [C] a large building on a farm, for storing crops or keeping animals in [Origin: Old English berearn, from bere “barley” + arn “place”] bar-na-cle /ˈbær.nə.kl/ n. [C] a small sea animal with a hard shell, that sticks firmly to rocks, boats, etc. [Origin: 1500–1600 barnacle type of goose (12–21 centuries), from Medieval Latin barnacula; from the former belief that the goose was born from a barnacle] barn-yard /ˈbɑrn.yərd/ n. [C] the area on a farm around a barn ba-rom-e-ter /ˈbɑr.əm.ə.tər/ n. [C] 1 an instrument for measuring changes in the air pressure and weather 2 something that shows any changes in a situation: The election is seen as a barometer of the nation’s mood. [Origin: 1600–1700 Greek baros “weight, pressure” + English -meter] ➔ barometric /ˈbær.əm.ə.trɪk/ adj ba-roque /ˈboʊrək/ adj. ENG. LANG. ARTS relating to the very decorative style of art, music, buildings, etc. popular in Europe in the 17th century bar-ra-me/met’rɪk/ adj.

bar-ra-cade /ˈbɑr.rə.kaɪd/ n. [C] something that is put across a road, door, etc. to prevent people from going past: Protesters were kept behind barricades. [Origin: 1500–1600 French barrique “barrel,” because early barricades were made from barrels] barricade 2 v. [T] to use a barricade to prevent someone or something from going somewhere: They barricaded themselves in and the police had to storm the building.

bar-ri-er /ˈbɑr.ri.ər/ n. [C] 1 something that prevents people from doing something: an attempt to reduce trade barriers “The language barrier prevents many people from working abroad.” A lack of education is a barrier to many good jobs. 2 a type of fence that keeps people or things separate, or prevents people from entering a place: The police put up barriers to hold back the crowds. 3 a physical object that separates two areas, groups of people, etc.: The mountains form a natural barrier between the two countries bar-ring /ˈbɑr.rɪŋ/ prep. unless something happens: Barring any last-minute problems, we should finish Friday.

bar-ri-o /ˈbɑr.ri.o/ n. (plural barrios) [C] an area in a city where many poor Spanish-speaking people live [Origin: 1800–1900 Spanish, Arabic barri “of the open country”]

bar-room /ˈbɑr.ruːm/ n. [C] (informal) a BAR bar-tend-er /ˈbɑr.tɛndər/ n. [C] someone whose job is to make and serve drinks in a bar bar-ter /ˈbɑtər/ v. [T] to exchange goods or services instead of money: I had to barter with the locals for food.

ba-salt /ˈbɑsəlIt/ n. [U] EARTH SCIENCES a type of hard dark green or black rock that comes from a VOLCANO base 1 /ˈbeɪs/ v. [T] to use somewhere as your main place of business: a law firm based in Denver | Ohio-based/Miami-based etc. [Origin: 1300—bask /bask/ v [T] 1 to enjoy sitting or lying somewhere warm: a snake basking in the sun 2 to enjoy the attention or approval you receive from someone: She basked in her mother's praise.

bass /bæs/ n. (C) 1 a container made of thin pieces of dried plants, wire, etc., used for carrying or holding things: a picnic basket | a laundry basket (=for putting dirty clothes in) | a basket of fruit 2 the net in basketball: Dean scored/made a basket (=threw the ball into the basket) with just under a minute to play.

basket-ball /ˈbæskɪt.bɔːl/ n. 1 [U] a game between two teams, in which each team tries to throw a ball through a net 2 [C] the ball used in this game basket case n. (C) (informal) someone who you think is crazy basket /ˈbɑːst/ n. 1 [C] also basket guitar a guitar that plays low notes 2 [C] (U) eng. lang. arts the lowest male singing voice, or a man with a voice like this 3 [U] the lower half of the whole range of musical notes 4 [C] a double bass bas·si·net /ˈbæsi.nɛt/ n. a fish that lives both in the ocean and in rivers, lakes, etc., or the meat from this fish

bas·si·net /ˈbæsi.nɛt/ n. 1 [C] (U) eng. lang. arts in a book, a play, etc., a sudden change from a subject that is beautiful, moral, or serious to something that is ordinary, silly, or not important bath·robe /ˈbɑːθrəʊb/ n. 1 [C] (U) eng. lang. arts a loose piece of clothing like a coat, that you wear especially before or after taking a bath or shower bath·room /ˈbɑːθrʊm/ n. 1 a room where there is a toilet and usually a bathtub or a shower and sink.

baste /ˈbɑːst/ v. [T] to pour liquid fat over food that is cooking bat·tery /ˈbɑːtərɪ/ n. [C] (informal) that protects old beliefs or ways of doing things: the country's reputation as a bastion of free speech bat /bæt/ n. 1 a long wooden stick used for hitting the ball in baseball 2 a small animal like a mouse with wings that flies at night • see picture at wood-wind

bat·ter /ˈbɑːtər/ v. (batted, batting) [U] 1 to hit a ball with a bat. Brent is up to bat next (she will try to hit the ball next). 2 bat your eyes/eyelashes if a woman batters her eyes, she opens and closes them several times quickly in order to look attractive to men 3 not bat an eye/eyelash (informal) without showing any emotion or guilty feelings: He used to tell the worst lies without batting an eye. 4 go to bat for sb (informal) to help and support someone: Andy really went to bat for me with my manager. 5 bat a thousand (informal) to be very successful batch /ˈbætʃ/ n. [C] a group of things or people that arrive or are dealt with at the same time: She's just baked another batch of cookies batted /ˈbætɪd/ adj. with bated breath in a very excited and anxious way: I waited for her answer with bated breath.

bath /ˈbɑːθ/ n. (plural baths /ˈbɑːθz/, /ˈbaːθz/) 1 an act of washing your body in the water that you put in a bathtub: You need to take a bath before you go to bed. | Dan, will you give the kids a bath (="wash them"") tonight? 2 a bathroom, used especially in advertising: a three-bedroom, two-bath house 3 water that you sit or lie in to wash yourself: I love to sit and soak in a hot bath. | Lisa ran a bath (=put water in a bathtub) for herself.

bathing suit /ˈbeɪθɪŋ suːt/ n. [C] a piece of clothing you wear for swimming toilet /ˈtoʊlɪt/ n. • see picture at toilet

treasu·rus /ˈtreɪsərəs/ n. • see picture at treasure battered /ˈbɑːtərd/ adj. 1 old and slightly damaged: a battered old guitar 2 battered woman/child a woman who has been attacked by her husband, boyfriend, etc., or a child who has been attacked by a parent battery /ˈbætəri/ n (plural batteries) 1 [C] an object that provides electricity for something such as a radio or car. a dead battery (one with no power) 2 [U] LAW the crime of beating someone 3 [C] a set of many things of the same type: a battery of medical tests

battle /ˈbætl/ n 1 [C] a fight between two armies or groups, especially during a war: the Battle of Bunker Hill | Thousands of soldiers were killed in battle (=during a war or battle). 2 [C] a situation in which people or groups compete or argue with each other: the battle for control of Congress | a long and costly legal battle 3 [C] an attempt to stop something happening or to achieve something difficult: the battle against racial discrimination | a long battle with lung cancer | Gina fought a losing battle to hold back the tears.  [ORIGIN: 1200—1300 Old French bataille, from Late Latin battalla “fighting,” from Latin battuere “to hit”]

Thesaurus

fight, campaign, drive, struggle, crusade ➔ fight battle v (T) to try very hard to achieve something difficult: My mother battled bravely against breast cancer. | Doctors battled to save his life.

battlefield /ˈbætfl/ n also battle-ground /ˈbætlgrəʊnd/ n 1 [C] a place where a battle is being fought or has been fought 2 a subject that disagree or argue a lot about: This area of medical research has become an ethical battlefield.

battleship /ˈbætlʃip/ n [C] a large warship armed with large guns and used to attack or defend other ships.

be 1 (bi) auxiliary verb (past tense was, past participle been) 1 used with a present participle to form the continuous tenses of verbs: Jane was reading by the fire. | Don’t talk to me while I’m (=I am) working. 2 used with a past participle to form the passive: Smoking was not permitted in public places, such as restaurants. | I was shown a copy of the contract. 3 used in conditional sentences to talk about an imagined situation: If I were rich, I’d buy myself a Rolls Royce. 4 he could lose his job if he were to be charged with a crime. 5 sb is to do sth (formal) a) used in order to say what will happen: I’ll be (=I will be) leaving tomorrow. b) used in order to say what must happen: The children are to go to bed by 8:00. 6 sb /sth is to be seen/found/heard etc. (formal) used to say that someone or something can be seen, etc.: The money was nowhere to be found. ➔ is, am, are, been

be v (linking verb) 1 used in order to give or ask for information about someone or something, or to describe that person or thing in some way: January is the first month of the year. 2 used to introduce a direct question: What are you doing? 3 to describe the state of being as a result of doing something: He became angry. 4 used to express surprise, incomprehension, or annoyance: How can you do that? 5 used to express the result of doing something: She went to school. 6 to say that something is true, or to talk about something in general: That is true. 7 used to talk about the time at which something happened: The man arrived at 8:00. 8 used to say that something was true in the past: She was at school at 8:00.

beach ball n [C] an inflated plastic ball that you roll in the sand or pass around at the beach.

bay window n [C] a window that sticks out from the wall of a house, with glass on three sides

baazaar /ˈbɑːzər/ n [C] an event at which a lot of people sell various things to collect money for an organization; a market in Asian or Middle Eastern countries [ORIGIN: 1500—1600 Persian bazaar]

BB gun /ˈbibiˌgɑːn/ n [C] a gun that uses air pressure to shoot small metal balls

BBQ /ˈbɑːbiˌkjuː/ the abbreviation of barbecue

B.C. adv Before Christ used after a date to show that it was before the birth of Christ [ABBR A.D.: 2600 B.C.]

be 1 (bi) auxiliary verb (past tense was, past participle been) 1 used with a present participle to form the continuous tenses of verbs: Jane was reading by the fire. | Don’t talk to me while I’m (=I am) working. 2 used with a past participle to form the passive: Smoking was not permitted in public places, such as restaurants. | I was shown a copy of the contract. 3 used in conditional sentences to talk about an imagined situation: If I were rich, I’d buy myself a Rolls Royce. 4 he could lose his job if he were to be charged with a crime. 5 sb is to do sth (formal) a) used in order to say what will happen: I’ll be (=I will be) leaving tomorrow. b) used in order to say what must happen: The children are to go to bed by 8:00. 6 sb /sth is to be seen/found/heard etc. (formal) used to say that someone or something can be seen, etc.: The money was nowhere to be found. ➔ is, am, are, been

be 2 v (linking verb) 1 used in order to give or ask for information about someone or something, or to describe that person or thing in some way: January is the first month of the year. | The concert was last night. 2 used to introduce a direct question: What are you doing? 3 to describe the state of being as a result of doing something: He became angry. 4 used to express surprise, incomprehension, or annoyance: How can you do that? 5 used to express the result of doing something: She went to school. 6 to say that something is true, or to talk about something in general: That is true. 7 used to talk about the time at which something happened: The man arrived at 8:00. 8 used to say that something was true in the past: She was at school at 8:00.

beach /biːtʃ/ n [C] EARTH SCIENCES an area of sand or small stones at the edge of an ocean or a lake: We spent the day at the beach. | children playing on the beach | a beach house ➔ see picture on page A11

beach n [C] a large plastic ball that you fill with air and play with at the beach beach house ➔ see picture on page A11

beach /ˈbeɪʃ//ˈbiːʃ/ n 1 EARTH SCIENCES a large area of sand at the seashore: a beach house ➔ see picture on page A11

beach /ˈbiːʃ/ n 1 EARTH SCIENCES an area of sand or small stones at the edge of an ocean or a lake: We spent the day at the beach. | children playing on the beach | a beach house ➔ see picture on page A11

beach ball n [C] a large plastic ball that you fill with air and play with at the beach

beach /ˈbeɪʃ/ n 1 EARTH SCIENCES a large area of sand at the seashore: a beach house ➔ see picture on page A11

beach /ˈbeɪʃ/ n 1 EARTH SCIENCES an area of sand or small stones at the edge of an ocean or a lake: We spent the day at the beach. | children playing on the beach | a beach house ➔ see picture on page A11

beach /ˈbiːʃ/ n 1 EARTH SCIENCES a large area of sand at the seashore: a beach house ➔ see picture on page A11
beacon
89
bean /ˈbiːn/ n [C] a small ball of plastic, wood, glass, or metal, used for making jewelry. 2 a small drop of liquid: beads of sweat [orig: Old English bed, gebed “prayer,” because people counted beads while saying their prayers].
bead /ˈbiːd/ n [C] 1 a small ball of plastic, wood, glass, etc. used for making jewelry 2 a small drop of liquid: beads of sweat [orig: Old English bead, “bead”].
bean /ˈbiːn/ n [C] 1 a plant that produces beans 2 a plant that produces beans 3 a seed used in making coffee or cocoa, and food such as chocolate [orig: Old English] beak /ˈbeɪk/ n [C] 1 the pointed mouth of a bird [orig: Latin beaks, from Latin beaks]; see picture on page A2 2 a long piece of wood or metal used in building houses, bridges, etc.
bear /ˈbeər/ v 1 [I] to smile in a very happy way: Uncle Willie beamed at us proudly.
2 [I] to send out energy, light, radio, or television: a laser beam 3 the beam of a flashlight was shining directly in my eyes. 2 a long piece of wood or metal used in building houses, bridges, etc.
bear fruit bear with me 11
bear down on
bear down on ➔ bring sth to bear (on)
➔ bring sth to bear (on)
➔ to move quickly toward someone or something in a threatening way: We ran as the truck bore down on us.
➔ bear down on
➔ bear down on
➔ to move quickly toward someone or something in a threatening way: We ran as the truck bore down on us.
➔ bear down on
➔ bear down on
➔ to move quickly toward someone or something in a threatening way: We ran as the truck bore down on us.
➔ bear down on
➔ bear down on
➔ to move quickly toward someone or something in a threatening way: We ran as the truck bore down on us.
➔ bear down on
➔ bear down on
➔ to move quickly toward someone or something in a threatening way: We ran as the truck bore down on us.
➔ bear down on
➔ bear down on
➔ to move quickly toward someone or something in a threatening way: We ran as the truck bore down on us.
➔ bear down on
➔ bear down on
➔ to move quickly toward someone or something in a threatening way: We ran as the truck bore down on us.
➔ bear down on
➔ bear down on
➔ to move quickly toward someone or something in a threatening way: We ran as the truck bore down on us.
which the value of stocks is decreasing → BULL MARKET beast /biːst/ n. [C] 1 (literary) a wild animal 2 (old-fashioned) a cruel person

beat /bεt/ v (past tense beat, past participle beaten /ˈbɪt/ˈəʊ/) 1 DEFEAT [T] to get more points, votes, etc. than other people in a game or competition: New York beat Boston 4–1. | Stuart usually beats me at chess. | Has anyone ever beaten the record for home runs set by Babe Ruth?

beat /bεt/ n. 1 [C] one of a series of regular movements or sounds: a heart rate of 80 beats per minute | the beat of the drum 2 [singular] the pattern of sounds in a piece of music 3 [singular] a subject or area of a city that someone is responsible for as his/her job | beat the traffic 4 foster senator election.

beat /bεt/ adj (informal) very tired: You look beat!

beat /bεt/ n. 1 [C] for as his/her job: | Foster, boyfriends went crazy and beat me up.

beat /bεt/ phr.v. 1 if the Sun beats down, it shines brightly and is hot 2 if the rain beats down, it rains very hard beat sb/sth ↔ off phr.v. to hit someone who is attacking you until s/he goes away.

beat /bεt/ phr.v. 1 to get or do something before someone else: I wanted the car, but someone beat me to it. 2 beat sb ↔ up phr.v. 1 to hit someone until s/he is badly hurt: My boyfriend went crazy and beat me up. 2 beat yourself up (informal) to blame yourself too much for something: Don’t beat yourself up over this!

beat /bεt/ phr.v. 1 to avoid talking about something embarrassing or upsetting: I avoided the subject completely.

beat /bεt/ phr.v. 2 to win a victory over someone: I don’t think anybody will be able to defeat Kennedy in a Senate election.

beat /bεt/ phr.v. 3 to defeat someone completely: The allies vanquished the enemy.

beat /bεt/ phr.v. 4 to defeat someone or something completely: The allies vanquished the enemy.

beat /bεt/ phr.v. 5 to defeat someone, especially a country, and get control of land and people: The Greeks conquered the Trojans.

beat /bεt/ phr.v. 6 to hit against the surface of something continuously, or to make something do this: waves beating on against the shore beat /bεt/ phr.v. 7 to avoid talking about something embarrassing or upsetting: Stop beating around the bush, and say it!

beat /bεt/ phr.v. 8 to avoid something early in order to avoid problems, because later everyone will be doing it: We left at 5:00 to beat the traffic. | Shop early and beat the Christmas rush!

beat /bεt/ phr.v. 9 to be better or more enjoyable than something else: It’s not the greatest job, but it beats waitressing. | You can’t beat (=nothing is better than) San Diego for good weather.

beat /bεt/ phr.v. 10 an impolite way to tell someone to leave at once: “Where’s Myrna?” “Beats me.”

beating /ˈbeɪtɪŋ/ n. 1 a severe beating → take a beating 2 an act of hitting someone many times as a punishment or in a fight: a severe beating 2 take a beating to lose very badly in a game or competition.

beater /ˈbɛtə(r)/ n. 1 a kitchen tool that is used for mixing foods together 2 wife/child beater someone who hits his wife or his/her child beat-up /ˈbɛtəp/ adj (informal) old and slightly damaged: a beat-up old car beau-ti-ful /ˈbjuːtɪfʊl/ adj. 1 extremely attractive to look at: She was the most beautiful woman I’ve ever seen. | a beautiful baby | The views from the mountaintop were beautiful.

beau-ti-ci-an /ˈbjuːtɪʃən/ n. [C] (old-fashioned) a hairdresser beau-ti-ful /ˈbjuːtɪfʊl/ adj. 2 attractive, good-looking, nice-looking, pretty, handsome, gorgeous, stunning, cute, hot → ATTRACTIVE hit SB [T] to hit someone many times with your hand, a stick, etc.: He used to come home and beat us. | The woman had been beaten to death.

hit STH [T] to hit against the surface of something: waves beating on against the shore hit [HIT] to make a regular sound or movement, or to make something do this: She could feel her heart beating. | I could hear drums beating.

hit [HIT] to mix foods together quickly using a fork or a kitchen tool: Beat the eggs and add them to the sugar mixture. → see picture on page A5 hit [HIT] to win a victory over someone: I don’t think anybody will be able to defeat Kennedy in a Senate election.

hit [HIT] to defeat someone completely: The allies vanquished the enemy.

hit [HIT] to defeat someone or something completely: The allies vanquished the enemy.

hit [HIT] to defeat someone, especially a country, and get control of land and people: The Greeks conquered the Trojans.
beauty

2 very good, or giving you great pleasure: beautiful music | The weather was beautiful.

beauty /ˈbjuːti/ n. (plural beauties) 1 [U] a quality that people, places, or things have that makes them very attractive to look at: a woman of great beauty | the beauty of Yosemite. 2 [U] a quality that something such as a poem, song, etc. has that gives you pleasure: the beauty of Keats’s poetry 3 [C] (informal) something that is very good or impressive: His new car’s a beauty. 4 the beauty of sth is... used to explain why something is especially good: The beauty of this exercise is that you can do it anywhere. 5 [C] (old-fashioned) a woman who is very beautiful [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French buauté, from Latin bellus “pretty”] beauty salon also beauty parlor n. [C] a salon beaver /ˈbɛvər/ n. [C] an North American animal that has thick fur, a wide flat tail, and cuts down trees with its teeth ➔ see picture at RODENT be-bop /ˈbɪbɒp/ n. [U] a style of JAZZ music become /bɪˈkʌm/ v. the past tense of BECOME

become of someone or something: Whatever became of Grandma’s dishes? | No one knows what will become of him when his mother dies.

become → BECOME

become of someone or something: Whatever became of Grandma’s dishes? | No one knows what will become of him when his mother dies.

be-cause /bɪˈkɔːz, -ˌkɔz/ -ˌkɔz conjunction used when you are giving the reason for something: You can’t go because you’re too young. | We weren’t able to have the picnic because of the rain. | They liked him simply because he could play basketball. | He moved to Florida partly/largely/mainly because he liked the weather. [Origin: 1300—1400 by cause (that)]

bed /bed/ n. 1 [C]U a piece of furniture for sleeping on: a double bed (=a bed for two people) | a single bed (=a bed for one person) | I was lying in bed reading. | She looked like she had just gotten out of bed. | What time do you usually put the kids to bed? | Jamie usually goes to bed around seven o’clock. | Sara, have you made your bed yet (=pulled the sheets, etc. into place)? | Come on, it’s time for bed (=time to go to sleep). | 2 go to bed with sb (informal) to have sex with someone 3 [C] the ground at the bottom of the ocean, a river, or a lake: a river bed 4 [C] an area of ground that has been prepared for plants to grow in: flower beds 5 a bed of sth a layer of something that is a base for something else: potato salad on a bed of lettuce [Origin: Old English bedd]

bed v. (bedded, bedding) bed down phr v. to make yourself comfortable and sleep in a place where you do not usually sleep: I’ll just bed down on the sofa.

bed and breakfast also B&B n. [C] a house or a small hotel where you pay to sleep and have breakfast.
breakfast: We plan to stay at a bed and breakfast while we’re in England.

---

bedlam /ˈbedləm/ n. [U] a situation in which there is a lot of noise and you are not able to think clearly: When the bomb exploded, there was bedlam. [Origin: 1600–1700 bedlam “mental hospital” (17–18 centuries), from Bedlam “Bethlehem” (10–17 centuries); from the Hospital of St. Mary of Bethlehem, former London mental hospital] bed-pen /ˈbedpɛn/ n. [C] a container used as a toilet by someone who is too sick or old to get out of bed

beef /biːf/ n. 1 [U] meat from a cow: roast beef

---

beefy /ˈbiːfi/ adj. a beefy man is big and strong bed-pan /ˈbedpæn/ n. [C] a container used as a toilet by someone who is too sick or old to get out of bed

beefing v. informal to make someone stronger or more interesting: Security around the White House has been beefed up since the attack.

---

before adv. at an earlier time: They’d met before, at one of Sandra’s parties. | Sales were up 14% from the year/month/day/etc. before (=the previous year, etc.).

beef /biːf/ v. (informal) to complain: They’re always beefing about something.

beef /biːf/ n. (informal) to go quickly and directly toward someone or something: The bear made a beeline for the woods.

---

bedtime /ˈbedtɛm/ n. usually go to bed: It’s way past your bedtime!

---

bedroom /ˈbedrʊm/ n. [C] a room for sleeping in: a four-bedroom house | We use the spare bedroom as an office.

beet /biːt/ n. [C] a dark red vegetable that is the root of a plant beet /biːt/ v. (bested, beeting) informal to appropriate or seem right for someone: a funeral beeting a national hero — beeting adj.

beetle /biːtl/ n. [C] an insect with a hard round body: Would you like a beer? — root beer beef /biːf/ v. informal to push the wrong key.

---

bee-line /ˈbilain/ n. make a beeline for sb/sth (informal) to go quickly and directly toward someone or something: The bear made a beeline for the woods.

bedtime /ˈbedtɛm/ n. usually go to bed: It’s way past your bedtime!
beforehand

we know the results. | John wants to talk to you before you go. 2 so that something bad does not happen: You'd better lock your bike before it gets stolen. 3 before you know it (spoken) used in order to say that something will happen very soon: We'd better get going – it'll be dark before you know it.

be-friend /bɪˈfrɛnd/ v [T] (formal) to become someone's friend, especially someone who needs your help; An old woman befriended me and made me dinner.

be-fuddled /bɪˈfʌdlɪd/ adj. completely confused

beg /bɛɡ/ v (begged, begging) [T, I] 1 to ask for something in a way which shows you want it very much; I begged him to stay, but he wouldn't. | a prisoner begging to be released | beg for forgiveness. 2 to ask someone for food, money, etc. because you need it badly; homeless families begging for food 3 I beg your pardon (spoken) a used in order to ask someone politely to repeat something: “It's 7:00.” “I beg your pardon?” | “It's 7:00.” b (formal) used in order to say you are sorry: Oh, I beg your pardon – I didn't hurt you! | c (formal) used in order to show that you strongly disagree: “You never had to work this hard in your life!” I beg your pardon!

beg-gan /bɛɡən/ v the past tense of BEGIN beg-gar /ˈbegər/ n [C] 1 someone who lives by asking people for food and money 2 beggars can't be choosers (spoken) used in order to say that when you have no money, no power to choose, etc., you have to accept whatever is available

be-gin /bɛɡn/ v (past tense began, past participle begun, present participle beginning) 1 [I,T] to start doing something, or to start to happen or exist; The meeting will begin at 10:00. | He began his career 30 years ago. | She began painting when she was a child. | I began to realize that he was lying.

be-gun /bɛɡn/ v the past participle of BEGIN

be-half /bɛɡhɔːl/ n on behalf of sb/on sb's behalf also in behalf of someone/in sb's behalf instead of someone, or as someone's representative: He agreed to speak on her behalf. | Lawyers have filed several suits on behalf of the victims.

be-have /bɛˈhev/ v 1 [I] to do or say things in a particular way: Lions in a zoo do not behave like lions in the wild. | He began behaving differently towards me. | We were behaving as if/though nothing was wrong. 2 [I,T] to be polite and not cause trouble | do not misbehave. | Will you boys please behave? | If you behave yourself, you can stay up late. | a well-behaved child

be-hav-i-or /bɛˈheɪvər/ n [U] 1 the things that a person or animal does, or the way in which they do them: I'm not very pleased with your behavior. | criminal behavior | Reward your pet for good behavior. | We've noticed a change in his behavior toward the other children.

THE SAURUS

conduct (formal) – the way someone behaves:

manner – the way in which someone talks or behaves with other people: They were teasing her in a friendly manner.

demeanor (formal) – the way someone behaves, dresses, speaks, etc. that shows what his/her character is like; her cheerful demeanor behind /bɪhænd/ v. 1 at the back of something; I was driving behind a truck on the freeway. | The liquor store is behind the times. 2 not as successful or advanced as someone or something else: The Lakers were four points behind the Celtics at half time. | Work on the new building is three months behind schedule (=later than it should be). 3 supporting a person, idea, etc.; Congress is behind the President on this issue. 4 responsible for something, or causing something to happen: The police believe a local gang is behind the killings. 5 behind the times old-fashioned [OuXon: Old English behindan, from hinder “from behind”]

behind2 adv. 1 at or toward the back of something; Several other runners followed close behind. | The car was bumped from behind. 2 in the place where someone or something was before: I got there and realized I’d left the tickets behind. | Barb stayed behind to wait for Tina. 3 be/get behind to be late or slow in doing something: We are three months behind with the rent.

behind3 n. [C] (informal) the part of your body that you sit on behold /bɛhəld/ v. [T] to cut off someone’s head as a punishment beheld /bɛhəld/ v. the past tense and past participle of BEHOLD beige /bɛı̂/n. [U] a pale brown color —beige adj.

beige /bɛı̂/n. 1 [C] a living thing or imaginary creature → HUMAN BEING: stories about strange beings from outer space 2 come into being to begin to exist: Their political system came into being in the early 1900s.

be-law-ed /bɛləd/ adj. happening or arriving late: a belated birthday card | a belated effort to apologize be-thru /bɛˈθru/ v. to come out loudly through your mouth (SYN burp) 2 [T] to send out a large amount of smoke, flames, etc.; factories belching blue smoke be-lea-guered /bɛˈliɡərd/ adj. (formal) having a lot of problems: the beleaguered tobacco industry believe /bɪˈliːv/ v. (believed, believing) [T] (formal) to give you a wrong idea about something: With a quickness that belied her age, she ran across the road.

belief /bɪˈliːf/ n. 1 [singular] U] the feeling that something is definitely true or definitely exists: the medieval belief that the Sun went around the Earth [a strong belief in God] [Contrary to popular belief] (=despite what most people believe), eating carrots does not improve your eyesight. 2 [singular] the feeling that someone or something is good and can be trusted: a strong belief in the importance of education 3 [usually plural] an idea or set of ideas that you think are true: religious beliefs believe beyond belief used to emphasize that something is very bad, good, strange, etc.: It seemed cruel beyond belief.

believable /bɪˈliːvəbəl/ adj. able to be believed because it seems possible, likely, or real: There’s not a single believable character in the book.

believe in /bɪˈliːvɪn/ v. 1 [T] to be sure that something is true or that someone is telling the truth: Do you believe her? | You shouldn’t believe everything you read. | Young children often believe (that) animals can understand them. | I found his excuse hard to believe. —Don’t say “...no one believed in him.” —“...no one believed him.”

believe (that) can’t believe you lied to me! | Would you believe it, he even remembered my bel·li·cose /beˈlɪkəs/ or bel·lig·er·ent /bəˈlɪgərənt/ adj. aggressive; belligerent behavior be-long /bɪˈlɒŋ/ v. 1 to be sure that something or someone definitely exists: Do you believe in ghosts? 2 to think that someone or something is good, important, or right: He believes in the democratic system.

be-long·er /ˈbɪləŋər/ n. [C] 1 someone who believes that a particular idea or thing is very good: I’m a firm/great believer in healthy eating. 2 someone who believes in a particular religion be-little /ˈbɛlɪtɪl/ v. [T] (formal) to make someone or something seem small or unimportant: I don’t like the way he belittles his children.

be·long·to /ˈbɛləŋtəʊ/ v. to be in the right place or situation: Please put the chair back where it belongs. 1 Books like that don’t belong in the classroom. 2 if you belong somewhere, you feel happy and comfortable there: I’m going back to Colorado where I belong.

be-long·ings /ˈbɛləŋɪŋz/ n. [plural] property, possessions, things, stuff, effects, valuables be·lief /ˈbɛliːf/ n. [C] (plural beliefs) 1 a feeling that something is true, such as a religious belief: He had a strong belief that God existed. 2 an opinion or idea that is held to be true: She has a belief in the power of positive thinking. 3 a religious belief or teaching: The church’s beliefs are based on the Bible.

be·low /ˈbɛləʊ/ prep. 1 under something: The floor is too low to reach comfortably. 2 lower on the same page: Tom’s spelling is below average. 3. [past tense and past participle bent /ˈbɛnt/ ] 1 to move a part of your body so that it is not straight, or so that you are not standing upright: He bent over to tie his shoelace. 2 to bend a large area of land that has particular qualities: America’s farm belt 4 have sth under your belt to have already done something useful or important: At 25, she already has two novels under her belt.

be·mused /ˈbɛmʌzd/ adj. slightly confused: a bemused expression be·nig·nous /ˈbɛnɪɡəʊs/ adj. 1 harmless: a benign tumor. 2 peaceful: a benign climate.

be·nif·fac·tory /bəˈnɪfɪkətərɪ/ adj. (literary) loved very much: His beloved wife Kelly...

be·long·er /ˈbɛləŋər/ n. [singular] 1 a member of a group or organization: Mary and her husband belong to the yacht club. 2 belong to sb if something belongs to you, you own it: Who does this umbrella belong to?

be-long·ings /ˈbɛləŋɪŋz/ n. [plural] the things that you own, especially things that you are carrying with you be·low·er /ˈbɛləʊər/ n. [C] 1 a lower place or position than someone or something else: Sales for this year are below last year’s. 2 less than a particular number or amount: It was 10 below outside (=10 below zero in temperature).

be·low·est /ˈbɛləʊɪst/ adj., superl. 1 to be in the lowest place or situation: At 25, she already has two novels under her belt. 2 to be the lowest possible: Sales for this year are below last year’s.

be·long·to /ˈbɛləŋtəʊ/ v. to be the right place or situation: Please put the chair back where it belongs. 1 Books like that don’t belong in the classroom. 2 if you belong somewhere, you feel happy and comfortable there: I’m going back to Colorado where I belong.

be·long·to /ˈbɛləŋtəʊ/ v. 1 belong to sth to be a member of a group or organization: Mary and her husband belong to the yacht club. 2 belong to sb

be·long·to /ˈbɛləŋtəʊ/ v. 1 to be the right place or situation: Please put the chair back where it belongs. 1 Books like that don’t belong in the classroom. 2 if you belong somewhere, you feel happy and comfortable there: I’m going back to Colorado where I belong.
push or press something so that it is no longer flat or straight: First, the blacksmith heated the metal and then bent it into shape. 3 bend over backwards to try very hard to help someone: The neighbors bent over backwards to help when we moved into the house. 4 bend the rules to allow someone to do something that is not normally allowed: Can’t we bend the rules just this one time? (Orig: Old English bendan)

bend n [C] a curve in something, especially a road or river: a sharp bend in the road beneficent /ben·ef·is·t(ə)nt/ adj (formal) kind and generous [Orig: 1400—1500 Latin bene “well” + facere (present participle of velare “to wish”)]

benevolence n [U]

beneficiaries n [plural beneficiaries] [C] 1 someone who gets advantages from an action or change: The rich were the main beneficiaries of the tax cut. 2 someone who gets money when someone dies: The estate will be divided between relatives and other beneficiaries.

benevolent /ben·ef·vo·lent/ adj kind and helpful: The new director promised to be benevolent in reducing harmful cholesterol. (Orig: 1400—1500 Latin beneficium “kindness, favor,” from bene “well” + facere “to do”) bent adj 1 curved and no longer flat or straight: a bent nail benefit v (benefitted or benefited, benefitting or benefiting) [T] if you benefit from something or if it benefits you, it helps you: These policy changes mainly benefit small companies. 2 local employers benefit from having a trained workforce. bereaved /beˈriːvd/ adj. (formal) if someone is bereaved, someone’s love has died [Orig: Old English bereafian, from reafian “to rob”] —bereavement n. [C, U] be-seek /beˈsɛkt/ v. (past tense and past participle besought) to ask or beseeched [T] (literary) to ask for something in an eager or anxious way be-side /biˈsайдz/ prep. 1 next to or very close to someone or something: Gary sat down beside me. 2 a place near land where a ship can be kept be-side/ly-um /biˈsайдiəm/ n. [U] CHEMISTRY (symbol Be) a light strong gray metal that is an ELEMENT, used especially as a building material or mixed with other metals to make ALLOYS be-seek /biˈsɛkt/ v. (past tense and past participle besought) present participle besetting) [T] (formal) to make someone have a lot of trouble or problems: The family was beset by financial difficulties.

be-side /biˈsайдd/ prep. 1 next to or very close to someone or something: Gary sat down beside me. 2 a cabin beside the lake. 2 used in order to compare two people or things: Pat looked big and clumsy beside her sister. 3 be beside the point to not be important compared to something else: “I’m not hungry.” “That’s beside the point; you need to eat!” 4 be beside yourself (with anger/fear/grief/joy/etc.) to feel a particular emotion very strongly: Matt was beside himself with excitement. [Orig: Old English be sidan “at or to the side”]

be-sides /biˈsайдz/ prep. adv. 1 in addition to something or someone: Besides going to college, she works 15 hours a week. 2 (spoken) said when giving another reason: I wanted to help her out. Besides, I needed the money.

be-siege /biˈsайдʒ/ v. 1 be besieged by people/worries/thoughts/etc. to be surrounded by a lot of people, or to be very worried, etc.: a rock star besieged by fans 2 be besieged with letters/questions/demands/etc. to receive a lot of letters, be asked a lot of questions, etc.: The radio station was besieged with letters of complaint. 3 [T] to surround a place with an army

be-sought /biˈsɔkt/ v. the past tense and past participle of BESEECH

best1 /beʃt/ adj. (the superlative of “good”) better than anyone or anything else: the best player on the team! What’s the best way to get to El Paso? | The best thing to do is to stop worrying. | [my best friend (=the one I know and like the most) [Orig: Old English best]

best2 adv. [the superlative of “well”] 1 more than anyone else or anything else: Helene knows him best. | Which song do you like best? 2 in a way that is better than any other: It works best if you warn it up first. 3 as best you can (spoken) as well as you can: I’ll deal with the problem as best I can.

best3 adj. 1 the best a) someone or something that is better than any others: Which motorcycle is the best? b) the most successful situation or results you can achieve: All parents want the best for their children. 2 do/try your best to try very hard to achieve something: I did my best, but I still didn’t pass. 3 to the best of your knowledge/belief/ability etc. used in order to say that something is as much as you know, believe, etc. to be able to do. I’m sure he’ll do the work to the best of his ability. 4 at best used in order to emphasize that something is not very good, even when you consider it the best possible way: At best, sales have been good but not great. 5 at your/best performing as well as or as effectively as you are able to. The movie shows Hollywood at its best. 6 make the best of it to accept a bad situation and do what you can to make it better: It’s not going to be fun, but we’ll have to make the best of it. 7 be for the best used in order to say that a particular event may seem bad now, but might have a good result later. She’s upset that they broke up, but it’s probably for the best.

best-tial /ˈbeʃtjəl, -ˈbiːʃtəl/ adv. behaving like an animal, especially in a cruel way. —bestially adv.

best’man n. [singular] a friend of a BRIDEGROOM (=man who is getting married), who helps him to get ready and stands next to him during the wedding → WEDDING be-stow /biˈstəʊ/ v. [T] (formal) to give someone something valuable or important best-sell-er /ˈbeʃtsɛlər/ n. [C] a new book that a lot of people have bought —best-selling adj. [only before noun]: a best-selling novel bet1 /bɛt/ v. (past tense and past participle bet) present participle betting) 1 [T] to risk money on the result of a race, game, competition, or other future event → GAMBLE. She bet all her money on a horse that came in last. | I bet him $20 that he wouldn’t do it.

SPOKEN PHRASES

2 I’ll bet a) said when you think something is true or likely to happen: I bet they’ll be late. | I’ll bet that made her mad! b) said in order to show that you agree with someone, or understand how she feels: “I was furious.” “I bet you were!” c) you bet a) said in order to agree with someone, or to say that you are definitely going to do something: “Would you like to come?” “You bet!” b] used in order to reply to someone when s/he thanks you for something: “Thanks for all your help, Bob.” “You bet.”

bet

1) [C] an agreement to risk money on the result of a race, game, competition, or other future event, or the money that you risk: Higgins had a bet on the World Series. 2) [a $10 bet] 2 your best bet (spoken) said in order to give someone advice about the best thing to do: Your best bet would be to take Highway 9.

be·tap ar·ti·cle

an action, situation, or thing that is likely to be successful or produce the results you want: The earrings seemed like a good bet for a birthday present.

beta pari·t·i·cle /ˌbeɪtə pərˈtɪkəl/ [C] PHYSICS an electron given off by the nucleus (=central part) of a radioactive atom when it is breaking apart

beta ra·di·a·tion /ˌbeɪtə rəˈdərəʃən/ [U] PHYSICS a dangerous form of radiation that is produced when the nucleus (=central part) of a radioactive atom is breaking apart bet·cha /ˈbetʃə/ a way of writing “bet you,” used to show how people sound when the y speak: Betcha I can run faster than you.

be·trey /ˈbɪtrey/ v [T] 1 to behave dishonestly toward someone who loves you or trusts you: He felt that she had betrayed him. 2 to be disloyal to your company, etc., for example by giving secret information to its enemies 3 to show feelings that you are trying to hide: Keith’s voice betrayed his nervousness.

be·trey·al /ˌbɪtriˈeɪl/ [C]U the act of betraying your country, friends, or someone who trusts you better /ˈbɪtər/ adj. 1 [the comparative of ‘good’] higher in quality, or more useful, appropriate, interesting, etc. than something or someone else: Smaller classes are definitely a change for the better. Your English is getting better (=improving). 2 [the comparative of ‘well’] less sick than you were, or no longer sick: He’s much better today. 3 it is better or it would be better used in order to give advice: It’s better to get a written agreement. | It would be better if you stayed here. 4 have seen better days (informal) to be in a bad condition: The sofa had definitely seen better days.

better

adv. [the comparative of ‘well’] 1 to a higher standard or degree: He can speak French a lot better than I can. | She knows this town better than you do. 2 better late than never used in order to say that it is better for something to happen late rather than not happen at all.

The better used in order to emphasize that something should happen as soon as possible, that it should be as big as possible, etc.: He needs a wife, and the sooner the better. 4 had better (do sth) a] used in order to say that you or someone else should do something: I think I’d better leave now. 5 do better to perform better or reach a higher standard: We did better than all the other schools.

bet·ter

1 the better the one that is the higher in quality, more appropriate, etc. when you are comparing two similar people or things: It’s hard to decide which one is the better. 2 get the better of sth a] if a feeling gets the better of you, you do not control it when you should: His curiosity got the better of him and he opened the letter. b) to defeat someone 3 for the better in a way that improves the situation: Smaller classes are definitely a change for the better.

bet·ter

v [T] (formal) to achieve something that is higher in quality, amount, etc. than something else better off

adj. 1 more successful, richer, or having more advantages than you did before: The more prepared you are, the better off you’ll be. 2 sb is better off doing sth (spoken) said when giving advice about what someone should do: You’re better off leaving before the traffic builds up.

be·tween /ˌbɪtɪn/ prep. 1 in or into the space or time that separates two things, people, events, etc.: Jay was sitting between Kate and Lisa. | You know I don’t want you to eat between meals. |

be·tween

adv. in or into the space that separates two things, people, etc., in or into the time that separates two events: two yards with a fence between healthy, well, fine, in (good) health, physically fit ➔ HEALTHY

THESARUS

3 it is better or it would be better used in order to give advice: It’s better to get a written agreement. | It would be better if you stayed here. 4 have seen better days (informal) to be in a bad condition: The sofa had definitely seen better days.

better

adv. [the comparative of ‘well’] 1 to a higher standard or degree: He can speak French a lot better than I can. | She knows this town better than you do. 2 better late than never used in order to say that it is better for something to happen late rather than not happen at all.

USAGE

Between and among are both used to talk about the position of someone or something. Use between when there is one other person or thing on each side of someone or something.
The store is between the bank and the post office.

Use among when there are two or more people or things around someone or something: I found the letter hidden among some old papers.

IN-BETWEEN

beverage /'bervədʒ, ˈbervərdʒ/ n. [C] (formal) a drink: alcoholic beverages [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French beverage, from beivre “to drink,” from Latin bibere]

be·v·er·age

bev·y /ˈbɛvɪ/ n. (plural bevies) [C] a large group of people: a bevvy of teenagers be·ware /ˈbɛwər/ v. [T] used in order to warn someone to be careful: Beware of the dog! [Origin: 1200—1300 be + ware “careful” (11—19 centuries) (from Old English wær)]

be·wil·der·ed /ˈbɪwildrəd/ adj. very confused and not sure what to do or think: a bewildered expression — bewilderment n. [U] be·wil·der·ing /ˈbɪwildrɪŋ/ adj. making you feel very confused: a bewildering number of choices be·witched /ˈbɪwtɪtʃt/ adj. so interested in or attracted by someone or something that you cannot think clearly —bewitching adj.

be·yond /ˈbɪjɔnd/ prep. adv. 1 on or to the farther side of something: There was a forest beyond the river. | a view from the mountains, with the plains beyond 2 later than a particular time, date, etc.: The ban has been extended beyond 2010. | planning for the year 2020 and beyond 3 more than a particular amount, level, or limit: The population has grown beyond estimated levels. 4 outside the range or limits of someone or something: an apple just beyond my reach | Chemistry was beyond my understanding. 5 beyond belief/doubt/recognition etc. used in order to say that you cannot believe something, doubt something, etc.: In just six years, the town had changed beyond all recognition. | The car has been damaged beyond repair. 6 it’s beyond me why/what etc. (spoken) said when you do not understand something: It’s beyond me why they ever got married at all. 7 used in order to mean “except” in negative sentences: Santa Fe doesn’t have much industry beyond tourism.

bi·as /ˈbaɪəs/ n. [singular, U] an opinion about whether a person, group, or idea is good or bad, which influences how you deal with it: Some employers have a bias against women. | When analyzing data, you must avoid having a bias toward any particular result. [Origin: 1500—1600 French biais, from Old Provençal] —bias v. [T]: The wording of a test question may bias the answer.

bi·ased /ˈbaɪəst/ adj. unfairly preferring one person or group over another: The referee was definitely biased. | biased news reporting bib /ˈbaɪb/ n [C] a piece of cloth that you tie under a baby’s chin to protect his/her clothes while s/he eats bib-li-o-graph-ic /ˌbaɪ.bɪˈloʊrəɡfɪk/ adj relating to the Bible bib-li-o-graph-i-cal /ˌbaɪ.bɪˈloʊrəɡrəfi/ n (plural bibliographies) [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS a list of all the books and articles used in the preparation of another book, or a list of books and articles on a particular subject bi-cen-ten-ni-al /ˌbaɪˈsɛn.təni.əl/ n [C] the day or year exactly 200 years after an important event: the bicentennial of the Declaration of Independence bi-cep /ˈbaɪ.sɛp/ n [C usually plural] BIOLOGY the large muscle on the front of your upper arm bick-er /ˈbɪkɚ/ v [I] to argue about something that is not very important: The kids were bickering about/over who would sleep in the top bunk.

bicycle /ˈbaɪsɪkl/ n [C] a vehicle with two wheels, that you ride by pushing the pedals with your feet. She usually rides her bicycle to work. [ORIGIN: 1300—1400 French, from bi- “two” + Greek kuklos “wheel.”] bid /bɪd/ v 1 (past tense and past participle bidding) 1 [T] to offer to pay a particular price for something: Foreman bid $150,000 for an antique table. | The two men ended up bidding against each other at the auction. 2 [I] to offer to do work for someone at a particular price: Four companies were invited to bid for the contract. —bid-der n [C]: There are five bidders for the contract.

bid-der n [C] 2 (past tense bade or bid, past participle bidden) past participle of bid to offer to pay a particular price for something, or offering to do work. 2 do sb’s bidding (literary) to do what someone tells you to do bide /bɪd/ v: bide your time to wait until the right time to do something bi-en-ni-al /ˌbaɪ.ən.əl/ adj happening once every two years [ORIGIN: 1600—1700 Latin biennium “two-year period,” from bi- “two” + annus “year”] bi-fo-cals /ˌbaɪ.foʊˈkælz, ˌbaɪ.foʊˈkælz/ n plural a pair of special glasses made so that you can look through the upper part to see things that are far away and through the lower part to see things that are close big /bɪɡ/ adj (comparative bigger, superlative biggest) 1 more than average size or amount [ANT] small: a big house | Los Angeles is the biggest city in California. | That boy gets bigger every time I see him.

bidding /ˈbɪdɪŋ/ n [U] the activity of offering to pay a particular price for something, or offering to do work.

bike /bайk/ n [C] 1 an offer to pay a particular price for something: They put in a bid for the house. 2 an offer to do work for someone at a particular price: The company accepted the lowest bid for the project. 3 an attempt to achieve or gain something: the mayor’s successful bid for the Senate. | The prisoners made a desperate bid to escape.

big-eyed /bɪg.ɪd/ adj slightly more formal: That’s a big piece of cake! | It’s the largest hotel in the city.
Thesaurus

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Word</th>
<th>Definition</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>bigamy</td>
<td>1. fat, overweight, heavy, large, obese, chubby, plump, stout, corpulent,</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>round</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Big 'Apple</td>
<td>n the Big Apple (informal) a name for New York City</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Big 'Bang</td>
<td>n the Big Bang PHYSICS a single very large explosion that many scientists believe started the universe, and from which pieces of matter are still traveling out into space</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>big 'brother</td>
<td>n [C] any person, organization, or system that seems to control people’s lives and restrict their freedom</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>big 'business</td>
<td>n [U] ECONOMICS very large companies, considered as a group with a lot of influence</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>big 'deal</td>
<td>n [singular] (spoken) 1 said when you do not think something is as important as someone else thinks it is: It’s just a game.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Big 'Dipper</td>
<td>n [C] a group of seven bright stars seen in the northern sky in the shape of a bowl with a long handle</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>big 'gie</td>
<td>/ˈbɪgɪ/ n no biggie (spoken) said when something is not important, or when you are not upset or angry about something: “Oh, I’m sorry.” “That’s okay, no biggie.”</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>big 'government</td>
<td>n [U] POLITICS government, when people think it is controlling their lives too much</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>big-head-ed</td>
<td>/ˈbɪgˌhedəd/ adj someone who is bigheaded thinks s/he is better than other people</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

big-shot

- big-shot n [C] (informal) someone who is very important or powerful |
- big-ticket adj very expensive: big-ticket items such as houses and cars |
- big time adv (spoken) a lot or very much: He messed up big time. |
- big time n the big time (informal) the position of being very famous or important: The author has finally hit the big time. —big-time adj [only before noun]: big-time drug dealers |
- big-wig /ˈbɪgwɪg/ n [C] (informal) an important person |
- bike /bɪk/ n [C] (informal) 1 a bicycle: The kids were riding their bikes. | Do you want to go for a bike ride? | 2 a MOTORCYCLE |
- bike v [I] to ride a bicycle |
- bik-er /ˈbɪkər/ n [C] someone who rides a MOTORCYCLE |
- bi-ki-ni /ˈbɪkiːni/ n [C] a piece of clothing in two parts, that women wear for swimming | [ORIGIN: 1900—2000 French Bikini Atoll, after a nuclear bomb test was held there in 1946] |
- bi-lat-er-al /ˌbaɪˈlætərəl/ adj bilateral agreement/treaty etc. an agreement, etc. between two groups or countries: bilateral Mideast peace talks —bilaterally adv |
- bi-lateral 'symmetry | n [U] BIOLOGY a quality that some animals, including humans, have, which means that they have two very similar sides. For example, humans have an arm and a leg on each side, an eye on each side, and so on. |
- bile /ˈbai/ n [U] BIOLOGY a liquid produced by the LIVER to help the body DIGEST food |
- bi-lin-gual /ˌbaɪˈlɪŋgwəl/ adj 1 able to speak two languages: Their children are completely bilingual. | 2 written or spoken in two languages: a bilingual dictionary |
bilk /bilk/ v
 bilt sb out of sth phr. v (informal) to trick someone, especially by taking his/her money without warning.

bill /bil/ n [C] 1 a written list showing how much you have to pay for services you have received, work that has been done, etc.: I have to remember to pay the phone bill this week. | The bill for the repairs came to $800.

bil·lion /bil·li·on/ n (plural billions) an insulting word meaning an attractive but stupid woman [Origin: 1900—2000 Italian “baby”] bi·month·ly /b´monθli/ adj, adv happening or being done every two months, or twice each month: a bimonthly magazine bin /bín/ n [C] a large container for storing things bi·na·ry /b´nor/i adj the binary system a system of counting, used in computers, in which only the numbers 0 and 1 are used bi·no·mi·al /b´norəmi/ adj 1 binomial expression 2 binomial number billiard /b´liar/ n [U] a game like pool, in which the balls go into the holes in a special order [Origin: 1500—1600 French billard “(stick used in) billiards,” from bille “piece of wood, stick”] billion /b´liən/ number (plural billions) 1,000,000,000: $7 billion | Billions of dollars have been invested. —billionth number bill of rights n [singular] 1 politics an official written list of the most important rights of the citizens of a country | 2 the Bill of Rights history the first ten amendments to the U.S. Constitution, that state the basic rights of U.S. citizens billow /bilou/ v [I] 1 if something made of cloth billows, it moves in the wind and fills with air: Her long skirt billowed in the breeze. | 2 if a cloud or smoke billows, it rises in a round mass

cloth billows, it moves in the wind and fills with air: Her long skirt billowed in the breeze. | 2 if a cloud or smoke billows, it rises in a round mass

bind /baind/ v (past tense and past participle bound /bouns/) 1 [T] to tie something firmly with string or rope: His legs were bound with rope. | 2 [T] also bind together to form a strong relationship between two people, countries, etc.: Religious belief binds this remote community together. | 3 [T] if you are bound by an agreement or promise, you must do what you agreed or promised to do: Each country is bound by the treaty. | 4 [L.T.] biology to stick together in a mass, or to make small pieces of something stick together: The hydrogen molecule binds with the oxygen molecule. | 5 [T] to fasten the pages of a book together and put them in a cover: The book was printed and bound in Spain.

bind² n. [C] an annoying or difficult situation: I’m so mad at him for putting me in this bind!

bind·er /b´ondsər/ n. [C] a cover for holding loose sheets of paper, magazines, etc. together bind·ing /baind/ adj a contract or agreement that is binding must be obeyed: The contract isn’t binding until you sign it.

binding² n. 1 [C] the cover of a book 2 [U] material sewn along the edge of a piece of cloth for strength or decoration bingo /bíngeo/ n. [C] (informal) a short period of time when you do too much of something, especially drinking alcohol: He went on a drinking binge last week. —bingo v. [I]: Whenever she’s depressed, she binges on chocolate.

bingo go /b´inggo/ n. [U] a game played for money or prizes in which you win if a set of numbers chosen by chance are the same as one of the lines of numbers on your card bin·oc·u·lars /b´nəkələrz, bain-ər/ n. [plural] a pair of special glasses that you hold up and look through to see things that are far away [Origin: 1800—1900 binocular “using both eyes” (18—21 centuries), from Latin binus “two by two” + oculus “eye”] bi·no·mi·al /b´nəməl/ n. [C] math a mathematical expression that has two parts connected by the sign + or the sign −, for example 3x + 4y or x − ? —binomial adj.: a binomial expression binomial nomenclature

bi·nomial /ˈbaɪnəməl/ n. [singular, U] biology a system of naming animals, plants, and other living things with a scientific word consisting of two separate parts. The first part of the word is the genus (=group of related animals, plants, etc., which do not breed), and the second part is the species (=group of animals, plants, etc. which breed and produce new animals, plants, etc.).

bi·o·chem·is·try /ˈbaɪəkɛmɪstri/ n. [U] the scientific study of the chemistry of living things —biochemist n. [C] —biochemical /ˈbaɪəkɛmɪkl/ adj. a complex biochemical process bi·o·de·grad·a·ble /ˈbaɪədɪɡrədəbl/ adj. biology 1 a material, product, etc. that is biodegradable is able to change or decay naturally so that it does not harm the environment: Most plastic is not biodegradable. ➔ environment bi·o·di·ver·sit·y /ˈbaɪədɪvɜrsəti/ n. [U] 1 the number and variety of different plants, animals, and other living things in a particular place: The loss of biodiversity will weaken the ecosystem. ➔ the biodiversity of the forest bi·o·fu·el /ˈbaɪəfjuəl/ n. 1 a substance produced from plants or other natural matter, that can be used as fuel. ➔ fuel, for a car, truck, etc.

bi·og·ra·pher /ˌbaɪəˈɡrɑːfər/ n. [C] Eng. lang. arts someone who writes a biography of someone else bi·og·ra·phy /ˌbaɪəˈɡræfi/ n. (plural biographies) [C] Eng. lang. arts a book about a person’s life: a biography of Louis Armstrong ➔ book[1] [origin: 1600—1700 Late Greek biographia, from Greek bios “life” + -graphia “writing”] bi·ol·o·gy /ˈbaɪələdʒi/ n. (U) 1 relating to the natural processes performed by living things: a biological process 2 (only before noun) relating to biology: the biological sciences 3 biological weapons/warfare/attack etc. weapons, attacks, etc. that involve the use of living things, including bacteria, to harm people. ➔ biologically bi·o·log·ic·al /ˌbaɪəˈlɑːdʒɪkl/ adj. 1 biology the total number or weight of animals, plants, or other living things within a particular environment ➔ biology[2] plant and animal matter, especially waste from farming, that can be used to provide power or energy: biomass fuels bi·o·met·ric /ˌbaɪəˈme-trɪk/ adj. biometric equipment measures things such as a person’s iris (=the colored part of the eye) or fingerprints, and can be used to check who someone is, for example when she shows a passport at an airport: Biometric technology, including fingerprint and iris scanners, is being installed at all major airports.

bi·op·sy /ˌbaɪəˈpsɪ/ n. (plural biopsies) [C] biology: a medical test in which cells, tissue, etc. are removed from someone’s body in order to find out more about a disease she may have bi·tech·no·logy /ˌbaɪətɛkˈnɒlədʒi/ n. [U] biology the use of living things such as cells and bacteria in science and industry to make drugs, chemicals, etc.

bi·par·ti·san /ˌbaɪəpɑːrtɪˈsæn/ adj. politics involving two political parties, especially parties with completely different opinions or beliefs: The Senate is close to reaching a bipartisan agreement on the bill.

bird /bɜːd/ n. [C] 1 a tree with bark like paper that comes off easily, or the wood of this tree 2 the animal with wings and feathers that lays eggs and can usually fly: [origin: Old English bridde] ➔ early bird at early[1]: kill two birds with one stone at kill[3] bird·brained adj. (informal) silly or stupid bird·ie /ˈbɜːdi/ n. [C] informal a small light object that you hit over the net in the game of badminton bird of prey n. (plural birds of prey) [C] any bird that kills other birds and small animals for food bird·seed /ˈbɜːrdzɛd/ n. [U] a mixture of seeds for feeding birds bird’s eye view n. [singular] a view from a very high place: a bird’s eye view over the city birth /bɜːθ/ n. 1 give birth if a woman gives birth, she produces a baby from her body: she gave birth to a baby girl at 6:20 a.m. ➔ baby[1] [U] the time when a baby comes out of its mother’s body: The baby weighed 7 pounds at birth. ➔ birth date [the date on which you were born]? 3 [U] someone’s family origin: her grandfather was French by birth. ➔ the birth of a nation [origin: 1200—1300 Old Norse byrðr] birth cer·ti·ficate n. [C] an official document that shows when and where you were born birth·con·trol n. [U] the practice of controlling the number of children you have, or the methods used ➔ contraception birth·day /ˈbɜːθdeɪ/ n. [C] the date on which someone was born, usually celebrated each year: When is your birthday? ➔ birthday present/card/party ➔ Happy Birthday! ([said to someone on his/her birthday]) birth·mark /ˈbɜːθmɑːrk/ n. [C] a permanent mark on someone’s skin that/she has had since birth birth·place /ˈbɜːθplɑːs/ n. [C] usually singular] the place where someone was born: Cézanne’s birthplace birth·rate /ˈbɜːθreɪt/ n. [C] the average number of babies born during a particular period of time in a country or area bi·cuit /ˈbaɪəsɪkt/ n. [C] a type of bread that is baked in small round shapes bi·sect /ˈbaɪəsɛkt/ v. [T] math to divide something, especially a line or angle, into two equal parts —bisection /bɪˈsɛkʃən/ n. [U] bi·sex·u·al /ˈbaɪˌsɛksjʊəl/ adj. sexually attracted to both men and women —bisexuality /ˌbaɪˌsɛksjuəˈleɪtɪərɪəl/ n. [C] bish·op /ˈbɪʃəp/ n. [C] a Christian priest with a high rank who is in charge of the churches and priests in a large area; e.g. Old English episcop, from Late Latin episcopus, from Greek episkopos “person in charge, bishop” bi·son /ˈbaɪsən/ n. (plural bison or bison) [C] a buffalo bit1 /bɪt/ n. [C]

1 SMALL PIECE a small piece of something: The floor was covered with tiny bits of glass. | I tore the letter to bits (into small pieces) and threw it away.
2 COMPUTER it the smallest unit of information that can be used by a computer → BYTE
3 TOOL the sharp part of a tool for cutting or making holes: a drill bit
4 HORSE a piece of metal that is put in the mouth of a horse to control its movements [Origin: (3) Old English bita “piece bitten off, small piece of food”]

bit2 /bɪt/ adv., pro n (informal) 1 a (little) bit slightly, but not very: I’m a little bit tired. | Enrollment is down a bit from last year. 2 quite a bit a fairly large amount: He owes me quite a bit of money. 3 a bit of sb/sth a small amount of a particular quality or thing: We just need a bit of luck. 4 a bit a short amount of time: We’ll talk about the Civil War in just a bit. 5 a bit a bit gradually: I could see that she was learning, bit by bit. 6 every bit as... just as Ray was every bit as good-looking as his brother.

bit3 v. the past tense of bit bitch /bɪtʃ/ n. [C] a female dog

bite1 /bait/ n. (past tense bit/baɪt/, past participle bitten /ˈbaɪtn/) to cut or crush something with your teeth: The dog bit him and made his hand bleed. | I had just bitten into the apple. | I wish I could stop biting my nails (=biting the nails on my fingers). 2 [U] if an insect or snake bites you, it injures you by making a hole in your skin → STING: I think I’ve been bitten. | She was bitten by a rattlesnake. 3 bite the bullet to start dealing with a bad situation because you can no longer avoid it: I finally bit the bullet and called her. 4 bite sb’s head off (spoken) to speak to someone very angrily, especially when there is no good reason to do this: I asked if she wanted help, and she bit my head off! 5 bite your tongue to not say what you really think, even though you want to... 6 bite the dust (informal) to die, fail, be defeated, or stop working → BITE OFF MORE THAN YOU CAN CHEW to try to do more than you are able to do. 8 [If] to start having the effect that was intended, especially a bad effect: The new tobacco taxes have begun to bite. 9 [If] if a fish bites, it takes food from a hook [Origin: Old English bitan]

bite2 /bait/ n. [C] 1 the act of cutting or crushing something with your teeth: He took a bite of the cheese. 2 a wound made when an animal or insect bites you → STING: I’m covered in mosquito bites! 3 a bite (to eat) (informal) a quick meal: We can grab a bite at the airport before we go.

‘bite-size’ also ‘bite-sized’ adj. the right size to fit in your mouth easily: bite-size pieces of chicken bit·ting /ˈbaɪtɪŋ/ adj. 1 a biting wind feels very cold 2 biting criticism or remarks are very unkind bit·map /bɪtˌmæp/ (written abbreviation BMP) n. [C] or a computer image that is stored or printed as an arrangement of bits bit·ten /ˈbaɪtn/ v. the past participle of bite

bit·ter /ˈbaɪtər/ adj. 1 angry and upset because you feel something bad or unfair has happened to you: I feel very bitter about what happened. | a bitter old man 2 [only before noun] making you feel very unhappy and upset: a bitter disappointment | She knew from bitter experience that they wouldn’t agree. 3 a bitter argument, battle, etc. is one in which people oppose or criticize each other with strong feelings of hate or anger: a bitter legal battle over custody of the children 4 having a strong taste, like coffee without sugar 5 extremely cold: a bitter wind | We had to walk home in the bitter cold.

bit·ter·less /ˈbaɪtərles/ adj.
6 to/until the bitter end continuing until the end even though this is difficult: We will fight until the bitter end to defend our land. —bitterness /ˈbaɪtərəns/ n. [U] bit·ter·ly /ˈbaɪtərli/ adv. 1 with a lot of anger or sadness: I was bitterly disappointed. 2 bitterly cold very cold bit·ter·sweet /ˌbaɪtərˈswɛt/ adj. feelings, memories, or experiences that are bittersweet are happy and sad at the same time: a bittersweet goodbye bi·val·ve /ˌbaɪvəl/ n. [C] biology any sea animal that has two shells that join together, for example an oyster bi·weekly /ˌbaɪˈwiːklɪ/ adj. happening or being done every two weeks, or twice a week: a biweekly meeting bi·zar·re /ˈbaɪzər/ adj. very unusual and strange: His increasingly bizarre behavior is starting to worry me.

bla–bub /ˈbɪtər/ adj. strange, funny, peculiar; curious, mysterious, odd, weird, eccentric → STRANGE blab /ˈblaːb/ v. (blabbed, blabbing) [I] (spoken) to blabbermouth

talk too much about something, often something that should be secret: This is not something you go blabbering to your friends about.

black /ˈbleɪk/

black

black /ˈbleɪk/

black

black·mouth

black·mouth /ˈbleɪkˌmaʊθ/ [C] (spoken) someone who always talks too much and often says things that should be secret

black1 /ˈbleɪk/ adj. 1 having a color that is darker than every other color, like the sky at night: a black dress | Outside, it was pitch black (＝completely dark). 2 also Black someone who is black has dark skin, and is from a family that was originally from Africa → AFRICAN AMERICAN 3 black coffee does not have milk in it: I take my coffee black. 4 sad and without hope for the future: a mood of black despair 5 black humor/comedy humor that makes jokes about serious subjects [origin: Old English blac¬] → blackness n. [U] black2 n. 1 [U] the color of the sky at night: She was wearing black (＝dressed in black clothing). 2 [C] also Black someone who has dark skin, and whose family originally came from Africa 3 be in the black ECONOMICS to have money in your bank account [not] be in the red

black·out

black·out /ˈbleɪkˌaʊt/ v. to suddenly become unconscious: Sharon blacked out and fell to the floor.

black and ‘blue adj. skin that is black and blue has bruises (=dark marks) on it as a result of being hit or injured: Her leg was black and blue where she had fallen.

black and ‘white adj. 1 showing pictures of images in black, white, and gray (＝color: old black and white movies) 2 in black and white 3. a) written or printed: The rules are there in black and white. b) in a very simple way, as if there are clear differences between good and bad: He tends to see the issues in black and white.

black·belt n. [C] a high rank in judo or karate, or someone who has this rank black·ber·ry

black·ber·ry /ˈbleɪkˌbery/ n. (plural blackberries) [C] a very sweet black or dark purple berry black·bird

black·bird /ˈbleɪkˌbɜːrd/ n. [C] a common American and European bird, the male of which is completely black black·board

black·board /ˈbleɪkˌbɔːrd/ n. [C] a board with a dark smooth surface, usually in a school, that you write on with chalk black·box n. [C] a piece of equipment on an airplane, that records what happens on a flight and can be used to discover the cause of accidents black·e·con·omy n. the black economy ECONOMICS business activity that takes place secretly, especially in order to avoid tax black·en /ˈbleɪkən/ v. 1 [T] to become black, or to make something black: Smoke had blackened the kitchen walls. 2 blacken sb's name/character/reputation etc. to say unpleasant things about someone so that other people will have a bad opinion of him/her black·eye n. [C] if you have a black eye, you have a dark area around your eye because you have been hit black·head

black·head /ˈbleɪkˌhed/ n. [C] a small spot on someone’s skin that has a black center black·hole n. [C] PHYSICS an area in space where the force of gravity is so strong that light and matter cannot escape. A black hole forms when a star stops existing. → SPACE black·jack

black·jack /ˈbleɪkˌdʒæk/ n. [U] a card game, usually played for money, in which you try to get as close to 21 points as possible

black·list

black·list /ˈbleɪkˌlst/ v. [T] to put someone or something on a list of people or things that are considered bad or dangerous: More than 200 people in the movie industry were blacklisted during the McCarthy era. —blacklist n. [C] black · ‘mag·ic n. [U] magic that is believed to use the power of the Devil for evil purposes

black·mail

black·mail /ˈbleɪkˌmeɪl/ n. [U] the practice of making someone do what you want by threatening to tell secrets about him/her [origin: 1500—1600 black + mail “payment” (11—20 centuries) (from Old Norse mal “speech, agreement”)]

black·list

black·list /ˈbleɪkˌlst/ n. [T] —blackmailer n. [C]

black·market n. [C] ECONOMICS the system by which people illegally buy and sell foreign money, goods, etc. that are difficult to obtain: These rare animals are being sold on the black market. | a black market in foreign currency

black·out

black·out /ˈbleɪkˌaʊt/ n. [C] 1 a period of darkness caused by a failure of the electricity supply: Several neighborhoods in the San Francisco area experienced blackouts last night. 2 if someone has a blackout, she becomes unconscious 3 also news blackout a situation in which particular pieces of news or information are not allowed to be reported black·sheep n. [C] usually singular] someone who is regarded by other members of his/her family as a failure or embarrassment: My sister’s the black sheep of the family.

black·smith

black·smith /ˈbleɪkˌsmɪθ/ n. [C] someone who makes and repairs things made of iron black·tie adj. a party or social event that is black-tie is one at which you have to wear formal clothes black·top

black·top /ˈbleɪkˌtɒp/ n. [C,U] the thick black substance used for covering roads blad·der

blad·der /ˈbleɪdər/ n. [C] BIOLOGY the part of your body that holds urine until it is passed out of your body → see picture of ORGAN blast

2 go blank a) to be suddenly unable to remember something: My mind went blank as I stood up to speak. b) to stop showing any images, writing, etc.: The screen suddenly went blank. 3 showing no expression, understanding, or interest: I said hello, and she gave me a blank look [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French blanc “white”]

blank² n [C] 1 an empty space on a piece of paper, where you are supposed to write a word or letter: Fill in the blanks on the application form. 2 a cartridge (=container for a bullet in a gun) that has an explosive but no bullet: The police were only firing blanks. —blankness n [U]

blank 'check n [singular] 1 a check that has been signed but has not had the amount written on it 2 (informal) the authority to do whatever you want, without any limits: Congress gave President Johnson a blank check to wage war in Vietnam.

blanket¹ n [C] 1 a heavy cover that keeps you warm in bed. 2 [singular] (literary) a thick covering of something: a blanket of snow on the mountains [Origin: 1300—1400 blanket “white cloth” (13—15 centuries), from Old French blankete, from blanc “white”] blanket² adj blanket statement/rule/ban etc. a statement, rule, etc. that affects everyone or includes all possible cases: The government imposed a blanket ban on the trade in ivory.

blanket³ v [T] to cover something with a thick layer: The mountains were blanketed in snow.

blanketly /'blæknli/ adv in a way that shows no expression, understanding, or interest: He was staring blankly at the wall.

blank 'verse n [U] ENG. LANG. ARTS poetry that has a particular rhythm, but does not rhyme: Much of Shakespeare’s plays are written in blank verse.

blare /'blær/ v [T] to make a very loud unpleasant noise: blaring horns | a radio blaring out music —blare n [singular]

blase /blas/ adj not worried or excited about things that most people think are important, impressive, etc.: He’s very blasé about money now that he’s got that job.

blasphemous /'blæsfōməs/ adj showing disrespect for God or people’s religious beliefs: The church has condemned the painting as blasphemous. | a blasphemous book blasphemous /'blæsfəm/ n [U] something you say or do that is insulting to God or to people’s religious beliefs —blasphemous /blasfem/ [T]

blast¹ /'blæst/ n [C] 1 a sudden strong movement of wind or air: a blast of icy air 2 an explosion: The blast was heard three miles away. | a bomb blast 3 a blast (spoken) an enjoyable and exciting experience: We had a blast at Mitch’s party. 4 full blast as strongly, loudly, or fast as possible: She had the TV on full blast. 5 a sudden very loud noise: a trump blaster

bleed /bild/ v (past tense and past participle bled) [I] to lose blood, especially from an injury: Your nose is bleeding. | He bled to death after being shot in the stomach. [Origins: Old English bledan, from blood “blood”] —bleeding n. [U] The bleeding had almost stopped.

blemish /blemiz/ n [C] a small mark that spoils the appearance of something or someone: a small blemish on her cheek [Origins: 1300—1400 Old French blemir “to make pale, injure”] —blemished adj blend /blend/ v [I, T] 1 to mix together soft or liquid substances to form a single smooth substance: Blend the eggs with the sugar. | Stir in the sauce and blend well. —blended adj

bleach /bleit/ v [T] to make something white or lighter by using chemicals or the light of the Sun: bleached hair bleat /bleit/ v [I] to make the sound that a sheep or goat makes —bleat n. [C]

bleaker /blekt/ adj. 1 without anything to make you feel happy or hopeful: Without a job, the future can seem bleak. 2 cold and unpleasant: a bleak November day [Origins: 1300—1400 Old Norse blekitr “pale, white”] —bleakness n. [U]

bleary /bleetri/ adj. unable to see clearly because you are tired or have been crying: Sam woke up looking bleary-eyed. —blearily adv

blas·tu·la /bla·stu·la/ n [C] biology an embryo (=a person or animal that has not yet been born) in the early stage of its development, when it is a hollow ball of cells blat·tant /bla·tant/ adj. very noticeable and offensive: Blatant discrimination —blatantly adv

bleak /blekt/ adj. cold and unpleasant: a bleak winter blaze /bleiz/ n. [singular] 1 the strong bright flames of a fire: Several firefighters were injured in the blaze.

bloom /bloum/ n. [plural] rows of seats where people sit to watch sports

blue /blu/ adj. 1 [U] to ask God to protect you when someone sneezes 2 to ask God to protect someone or something: May God bless you and keep you safe from harm. 3 to make something holy: The priest blessed the bread and wine. 4 be blessed with sth to have a special ability, good blind·fold
noun 1 [only before noun] enjoyable or desirable: a moment of blessed silence 2 (formal) holy and loved by God: the Blessed Virgin Mary blind·ing

noun 1 [C] something good that improves your life and makes you happy: The rain was a real blessing after all that heat. 2 [U] someone's approval or encouragement for a plan, activity, etc.: She left home with her parents' blessing. 3 a mixed blessing something that is both good and bad: Living close to the office was a mixed blessing. 4 a blessing in disguise something that seems to be bad but that you later realize is good: The lack of tourism on the island could be a blessing in disguise. 5 [singular, U] protection and help from God, or the prayer in which you ask for this: The priest gave the blessing.

bless·ed
noun 1 [singular, U] informal expensive things such as jewelry that are worn to be dazzling, glaring expensive things such as jewelry that are worn to be dazzling, glaring ⇒ BRIGHT bless·ing

noun 1 [C] a strong feelings that you have, with without thinking about why you have them: the army's blind obedience to the emperor 2 to be blind to sth completely fail to notice or realize something: He was blind to the faults of his own children. 3 a blind corner (to sth) to ignore something that you know should not be happening: Teachers were turning a blind eye to smoking in the school. 4 blind corner/bend 5 turn a blind eye (to sth) to ignore something that you use to cover someone's eyes so that she cannot see —blindfold noun 1 [C] a piece of cloth that you use to cover someone's eyes so that she cannot see.

bless·ly
adverb 1 (disapproving) not thinking about something or trying to understand it: Don't just blindly accept what you are told. 2 not seeing or noticing what is around you: She sat staring blindly out the window.

blind·side noun 1 [in] (informal) to hit the side of a car with your car in an accident blind·spot

noun 1 [C] something that you are unable or unwilling to understand: He has a blind spot when it comes to his daughter's problems. 2 the part of the road that you cannot see in front of you or in your mirrors when you are driving a car: The other car was right in my blind spot.

blind
to
verb 1 in the blink of an eye very quickly: With email, we can send messages across the globe in the blink of an eye. 2 on the blink (informal) not working correctly: The radio's on the blink again.

blind·fold
noun 1 [C] a piece of cloth or other material that you can pull down to cover a window ⇒ VENETIAN BLIND

blind·fold
noun 1 [C] a DATE (romantic meeting) arranged between a man and a woman who have not met each other before

blind
adjective 1 unable to see: My grandmother is almost totally blind. 2 (informal) strong feelings that you have, without thinking about why you have them: the army's blind obedience to the emperor 3 to be blind to sth completely fail to notice or realize something: He was blind to the faults of his own children. 4 a blind corner (to sth) to ignore something that you know should not be happening: Teachers were turning a blind eye to smoking in the school. 5 blind corner/bend 6 blind corner/bend a corner, bend, etc. that you cannot see around when you are driving [Origin: Old English] —blindness noun 1 [U]

blind
verb 1 [T] 1 to make someone unable to see, either permanently or for a short time: The deer was blinded by our headlights. 2 to make someone unable to notice or realize the truth about something: Being in love blinded me to his faults.

blind·fold
noun 1 [C] a DATE (romantic meeting) arranged between a man and a woman who have not met each other before

blind
adjective 1 extremely hot: blistering summer days 2 blistering attack/ criticism etc. very angry and disapproving remarks blithe adjective seeming not to care or worry about the effects of what you do: the blithe blight

noun 1 [singular, U] something that damages or spoils something else, the condition of being damaged or spoiled: an area suffering from urban blight (=severe problems that only a city has) —blight noun 1 [T] 1 to close and open your eyes quickly: He blinked as he stepped out into the sunlight. 2 [I] if a light blinks, it goes on and off continuously: The answering machine light was blinking.

blew
verb the past tense of blow

blight
noun 1 [singular, U] something that damages or spoils something else, the condition of being damaged or spoiled: an area suffering from urban blight (=severe problems that only a city has) —blight
noun 1 [T] 1 to close and open your eyes quickly: He blinked as he stepped out into the sunlight. 2 [I] if a light blinks, it goes on and off continuously: The answering machine light was blinking.
assumption that he would always have a job—blithely adv.: They blithely ignored the danger.

blitz /ˈblɪts/ n. [C] 1 a situation when you use a lot of effort to achieve something, often in a short time: an advertising blitz 2 a sudden military attack, especially from the air—blitz v. [T] block /ˈblɒk/ n. [C] EARTH SCIENCES a long heavy storm with a lot of wind and snow bloat·ed /ˈbloʊtɪd/ adj. looking or feeling larger than usual because of being too full of water, food, gas, etc.: I feel bloat·ed after that meal.

blob /ˈblɒb/ n. [C] a small drop of a thick liquid: a blob of paint

e block /ˈblɒk/ n. [C] a large drop of a thick liquid: a blob of paint block·age /ˈblɒkˌdʒi/ n. [C] the action of surrounding an area with soldiers or ships, to stop people or supplies leaving or entering a place: a naval blockade—blockade v. [T]

block·ade /ˈblaʊkˌdʒi/ n. [C] something that is blocking a pipe, tube, etc.: a blockage in the drain

block·bust·er /ˈblɒk,bʌstər/ n. [C] (informal) a book or movie that is very successful: the latest Hollywood blockbuster

block·ade /ˈblaʊkˌdʒi/ n. [C] something that is blocking a pipe, tube, etc.: a blockage in the drain

block·bust·er /ˈblɒk,bʌstər/ n. [C] (informal) a book or movie that is very successful: the latest Hollywood blockbuster

block·party /ˈblɒkˌpɜːti/ n. [C] a party that is held in the street for all the people living in the area blog /ˈblɒɡ/ n. [C] a website that is made up of information about a particular subject, in which the newest information is always at the top of the page blonde·blond /ˈblɒnd/ adj. 1 blonde hair is pale or yellow 2 someone who is blonde has pale or yellow hair blonde·blond /ˈblɒnd/ n. [C] (informal) a woman who has pale or yellow hair: a good-looking blonde blood /blaʊd/ n. [U] 1 the red liquid that your heart pumps through your body: She lost a lot of blood in the accident. | The Red Cross is asking people to give/donate blood (share blood taken from them for the medical treatment of other people). — see picture of bleed. 2 in cold blood in a cruel and deliberate way: He murdered the old man in cold blood. 3 the family or group to which you belong from the time you are born: There’s French blood on his mother’s side. | a blood rela/tive (=related by birth, not by marriage) 4 new blood new members in a group or organization who bring new ideas and energy: We need some new blood in the department. 5 be/run in sb’s blood to be a strong and natural part of someone’s character: A love of politics was in his blood. 6 bad blood feelings of anger and hate between people: There’s been bad blood between them for years. 7 -blooded having a particular type of blood: Fish are cold-blooded. [Origin: Old English blod] blood·and·guts adj. (informal) full of action and violence: a blood-and-guts horror movie bloody

bloodless

bloodbath

bloop

bloom

bloodcurdling

bloodhound

bloody civil war

bloody nose

bloody revolution

bloodshot

bloodtype

bloodshy

blotched

blotting paper

blouse

blow

blow a whistle (on sb)
blow

feel very surprised and excited about something: Seeing her again really blew my mind.

[ORIGIN: Old English blawan]

1 blow sb away v (spoken) to completely surprise someone: It just blows me away how friendly the islanders are.
2 blow sb to death v to defeat someone completely, especially in a game: One move and I'll blow you away!
3 blow a hole in sb/sth v (spoken) to make a hole in someone or something: He blew a hole in the wall.
4 blow up sb/sth v (spoken) to destroy something, or to be destroyed, by an explosion: A car was blown up near the embassy. | Their plane blew up in mid-air.
5 blow up v (spoken) to destroy something, or to be destroyed, by an explosion: A car was blown up near the embassy. | Their plane blew up in mid-air.

blow-by-blow n [C] (informal) a detailed account of an event, that gives all the details exactly as they happened.

吹

1 blow away v (blow-dries. blow-dries) [T] to dry hair and give it shape by using a blow dryer
2 blow-dryer n [C] a small electric machine that you hold and use to blow hot air onto your hair in order to dry it
3 blown /blown/ v the past participle of BLOW blow-out /ˈblouət/ n [C] (informal) 1 an occasion when a tire bursts suddenly as a vehicle is moving. 2 a big expensive meal or a large party blow-torch /ˈbleuˈtɔːʃ/ n [C] a piece of equipment that produces a small very hot flame, used especially to remove paint blow-up n [C] 1 a photograph, or part of a photograph, that has been made larger. 2 (informal) a sudden loud argument

BLT n. [C] a sandwich that contains BACON, LETTUCE, and TOMATO

blub-ber n [U] the fat of sea animals, especially WHALES blubber v [I] (informal) to cry loudly, especially in a way that annoys people blud-geon /ˈblʌdʒən/ v [T] to hit someone many times with a heavy object: He was bludgeoned to death with a hammer.

blue /blu/ adj 1 having the same color as a clear sky during the day: the blue lake | a dark/light blue dress 2 [not before noun] (informal) sad: I've been feeling kind of blue lately.

blow n. [C] 1 something very sad and disappointing that happens to you: Not getting the job was a blow to Kate's confidence. 2 the death of their father was a terrible blow. 2 a hard hit with a hand, tool, or weapon: The victim suffered several blows to the head. 3 the act of blowing air out of your mouth: One blow and the candles were out. 4 come to blows if two people come to blows, they start hitting each other: They almost came to blows over the money.

blue bell /ˈbluːbɛl/ n [C] a small plant with blue flowers that grows in the forest.

blue-ber ry /ˈbluːberi/ n (plural blueberries) [C] a small dark blue round BERRY: blueberry muffins blue-bird /ˈbluːbɜrd/ n [C] a small North American wild bird that sings and has a blue back and wings blue-blooded adj belonging to a royal or noble family —blue-blood n [U] blue book n. [C] 1 a book with a blue cover, that is used in colleges for writing answers to test questions. 2 a book with a list of prices that you should expect to pay for any used car blue cheese n. [C,U] a strong-tasting pale cheese with blue spots in it blue chip adj blue chip companies SHARES etc. companies or stocks that are very unlikely to blunt

blunt v. [T] to make something less strong:
- attempts to try to blunt the impact of anti-smoking laws
- bluntly, you’re failing the class.

bluntish /ˈblʌntsɪʃ/ adj: speaking in a direct honest way that sometimes upsets people: To put it bluntly, you’re failing the class.

blur /ˈblɜːr/ n. [singular] something that you cannot see clearly or cannot remember clearly: a blur of horses running past. The days following the accident were all a blur.

blurry /ˈblɜːri/ adj; blurry photos

blue·print /ˈbluːprɪnt/ n. [U] a plan for achieving something:  a blueprint for health care reform

blue·grass /ˈbluːɡrɑːs/ n. [U] a type of COUNTRY MUSIC

blue·jay /ˈbluːdʒeɪ/ n. [C] a common North American wild bird that has blue, black, and white feathers

blue·law n. [C] (informal) a law that controls activities that are considered immoral, such as drinking alcohol, working on Sundays, etc.

blue·movie n. [C] a movie that shows a lot of sexual activity

blue·print /ˈbluːprɪnt/ n. [C] 1 a plan for achieving something:  a blueprint for health care reform 2 a print of a plan for a building, machine, etc. on special blue paper

blue·ribbon n. [C] a small piece of blue material given to someone who wins a competition

blue·shift n. [U] PHYSICS a change in the light given off by an object in space such as a star, in which the light appears more blue as the object is moving toward the person looking at it.

Blues hift /ˈbluːz hɪft/ n. [U] a change in the light given off by an object in space such as a star, in which the light appears more blue as the object is moving toward the person looking at it.

blur·tooth /ˈblɜːrtəʊθ/ n. [U] (trademark) a type of TECHNOLOGY that uses radio to allow electronic equipment such as a CELL PHONE and a computer to work together without a wire connecting them bluff /ˈblʌf/ v. [T] to pretend that you are going to do something or that you know something, in order to get what you want: I don’t believe you — I think you’re bluffing!

bluff /ˈblʌf/ n. 1 [C/U] an attempt to make someone believe that you are going to do something when you do not really intend to: He threatened to resign, but I’m not sure it’s a bluff. 2 call sb’s bluff to tell someone to do what s/he threatens because you believe s/he has no intention of doing it. 3 [C] EARTH SCIENCES a very steep cliff or slope: the bluffs near the river

blunder·der /ˈblʌндər/ n. [C] a careless or stupid mistake: a terrible political blunder

blunder /ˈblʌndər/ v. [I] 1 to make a careless or stupid mistake: Police admitted that they blundered when they let Wylie go. 2 to move forward in an unsteady way, as if you cannot see well bluntly /ˈblʌntli/ adv: speaking in an honest way even if it upsets people:  bluntly: Did you have to be so blunt?

boar /ˈbɔːr/ n. [C] 1 a male pig 2 a wild pig

---

boar /ˈbɔːr/ n. [C] 1 a male pig 2 a wild pig

---

Bo·mov·ie /ˈbɔːmov/ n. [C] a movie that is made cheaply and is of low quality

B.O. /ˈbiː ˈoʊ/ n. [spoken] body odor a bad smell from someone’s body, caused by SWEAT bo·a con·strict·or /ˈboʊə kənˈstrɪktər/ n. [C] a large snake that is not poisonous, but kills animals by crushing them

---

B.-mov·ie /ˈbəʊmov/ n. [C] a movie that is made cheaply and is of low quality
'boarding pass n. [C] a card that you must show before you get on an airplane or a ship
'boarding school n. [C] a school where students live as well as study
'boarding house n. [C] a private house where you pay to sleep and eat
'boarding room n. [C] a room where you pay to sleep and eat
'boarding walk n. [C] a raised path made of wood, usually built next to the ocean boast1 v. [I] 1 [I] to talk too much about your own abilities and achievements in a way that annoys other people [176] brag: Scott was boasting about winning the game. 2 [T] if a place boasts something good, the place has it: The new athletic center boasts an Olympic-sized swimming pool.
boast2 n. [C] something you like telling people because you are very proud of it boastful adj. talking too much about your own abilities and achievements —boastfully adv.
boat n. 1 [C] a vehicle that travels across water: ship; fishing boats | You can only get to the island by boat. 2 be in the same boat (as sb) to be in the same unpleasant situation as someone else: We’re all in the same boat, so stop complaining. [Origin: Old English bæt] boat of rock (boat of rock) v. [T] to miss the boat at miss, rock the boat at rock2 boat, people n. [plural] people who escape from bad conditions in their country in small boats bob v. [I,T] 1 to move up and down on water: a boat bubbling up and down on the water bobbing adj. —bobbing adv. /ˈbɒbɪŋ/ [I] to move up and down on water: a boat bubbling up and down on the water bone n. [C] a small round object that you wind thread onto bobby pin n. [C] a small round object that you wind thread onto bodily adj. by moving all of your body or some- one else’s body: She had to be carried bodily to bed.
bodily harm n. —bodily harm adv.
bodily functions n. (=things your body does, especially going to the toilet) | He did not suffer any bodily harm.
body n. [C] 1 physical body /ˈbɒdi/ [n. (plural bodies) a] the physical structure of a person or animal: a strong healthy body | You boating pass n. [C] a card that you must show before you get on an airplane or a ship

'boarding school n. [C] a school where students live as well as study
'boarding house n. [C] a private house where you pay to sleep and eat bold /bol/ adj: brave, courageous, heroic, valiant, daring, fearless, intrepid ➔ brave body /ˈbɒdi/ n. [U] 1 a) a person whose job is to protect an important person b) the central part of a person or animal’s body, not including the head, arms, legs or wings: a creature with a short body and long legs c) the body of a dead person: The body of a girl had been found in the river.

bodyguard /ˈbɒdiɡɑrd/ n. [C] a person whose job is to protect an important person body language n. [U] movements that you make without thinking, that show what you are feeling or thinking: I could tell from his body language that he was nervous.

body odor n. [U] › n. [C,U] EARTH SCIENCES an area of wet muddy ground body work /ˈbɒdiwɜrk/ n. [U] the frame of a vehicle, not including the engine, wheels, etc.

bog /bɒɡ/ v. (bogged, bogging) get/be bogged down (in sth) to become too involved in thinking about or dealing with one particular thing, so that you are not able to make any progress: Let’s not get bogged down in minor details.

bogey-man /ˈbɒɡɪˌmen/ n. (plural bogeymen /ˈmɛn/) [C] 1 an evil spirit, especially in children’s imagination or stories 2 someone who people think is evil or unpleasant bog-iel /ˈbɒgiɔl/ v. the mind boggles/sth boggles the mind (informal) used in order to say that something is difficult to believe or very confusing: The paperwork you have to fill out just boggles the mind.

bogus /ˈbɒgəs/ adj (informal) not true or real, although someone tries to make you think it is: [Origin: 1800—1900 bogus “machine for making illegal money”] bo-he-mi-an /ˈboʊəˈhɪmɪən/ adj living in a very informal or relaxed way and not accepting society’s rules or behavior: a bohemian lifestyle [Origin: 1800—1900 Bohemian “of Bohemia, area and former country in the Czech Republic;” because of an association between Bohemia and traveling artists and gypsies] ➔ bohemian n. [C]

boil /bɔɪl/ v. [I] 1 if a liquid boils, or if you boil a liquid, it is hot enough for bubbles to rise to the surface and for the liquid to change to steam: Drop the noodles into boiling salted water. | Water boils at 100 degrees Centigrade. 2 to cook food in boiling water: Boil the vegetables for 10 minutes.

boil down to phr. v. [I] if an argument, etc. boils down to an idea or statement, that statement is the main point or cause: Think of the money you can make — that’s what it all boils down to.

boil over phr. v. 1 to boil and flow over the sides of a pan 2 if a situation or emotion boils over, people begin to get angry

boilv /bɔɪlv/ n. 1 [singular] the act or state of boiling: Bring the soup to a boil and cook for 5 minutes. | Wait until the water comes to a boil. 2 [C] a painful infected swelling under the skin boiler /ˈbɔɪər/ n. [C] a container for boiling water, that provides heat and hot water in a house or steam in an engine boiling /ˈbɔɪlɪŋ/ also boiling hot adj extremely hot: It’s boiling hot in here.

boiling point n. [C] the temperature at which a liquid boils boisterous /ˈbəʊstərəs, ˈbəʊstrəs/ adj. noisy and full of energy: boisterous children bold /bəuld/ adj 1 confident and willing to take risks: Yamamoto’s plan was bold and original.

bold /bəuld/ adj 2 very clear and strong or bright: wallpaper with bold stripes bold /′bɒld/ adj 3 in bold (type/print/letters) bolster /bouls'tər/ also bolster up v. [T] to improve something by giving support and confidence: She tried to bolster his confidence.

bom·ba·tic /boum'ba-tik/ adj. extremely bombastic; extremely verbose bold /bould/ adj. bold, bold-faced • boldly adv. • boldness n. [U] bo·lo·gna /bou'lō-gnə/ n. [C] a type of cooked meat often eaten in sandwiches bolts, it is not successful evidence:

bolts /boult/ n. [C] 1 a piece of metal that you use to fasten two things together using a bolt: The bench is bolted to the sidewalk. 2 a screw with a flat head and no point, used with a nut for fastening two pieces of metal together 3 bolt of lightning that appears as a white line in the sky 4 a large long roll of cloth bolt upright in bed.

bolts /boult/ adv. sit/stand bolt upright to sit or stand with your back very straight: Suddenly, Dennis sat bolt upright in bed.

bombs, it is not successful evidence:

bomb /boumb/ n. [C] 1 a weapon made of material that will explode: Bombs were dropped on the city. 2 [informal] a play, movie, etc. that is not successful 3 the atomic bomb or any nuclear weapon 4 a container in which insect poison, paint, etc. is kept under pressure: a flea bomb (=used for killing fleas) [Origin: 1600—1700 French bombe, from Italian bomba]

bombastic /boum'ba-stik/ adj. (disapproving) bombastic language contains long words that sound important but have no real meaning bomb·er /boum'ber/ n. [C] 1 an airplane that carries and drops bombs. 2 someone who puts a bomb somewhere: a suicide bomber (someone who carries a bomb and allows himself/herself to be killed when the bomb explodes) bomb·shell /boum'ʃel/ n. [C] (informal) a shocking piece of news: Last night, she dropped the bombshell and told him she wouldn’t marry him.

bon·a·fide /bou'nə-faɪd/ adj. real, true, and not pretending to be something else: a bona fide job offer bon·e·marrow /bou'nə-mar'ə/ n. [U] biology the soft substance in the hollow center of bones: a bone marrow transplant bon·fire /'bɒnˌfaɪə/ n. [C] a large outdoor fire [Origin: 1500—1600 bonfire “fire made from bones” (14—17 centuries)]

Thesaurus: fire, flames, blaze, inferno, campfire ➔ fire bon·gos /'bɒŋgoʊz/ also bongo drums n. [plural] a pair of small drums that you play with your hands bon·kers /'bɒŋkaɪəz/ adj. [not before noun] (informal) slightly crazy; I’d go bonkers if I had to stay at home with the kids all day.

bon·net /'bɒnət/ n. [C] a hat that ties under the chin, worn by babies and by women in the past bo·nus /'bɒnəs/ n. [C] 1 money added to someone’s pay, especially as a reward for good work: a Christmas bonus | a $2,000 bonus

Thesaurus: pay, income, salary, wages, earnings, remuneration ➔ pay

2 something good that you did not expect in a situation: The fact that our house is so close to the television bo·ny /ˈbʌni/ adj. 1 very thin: a bony hand | 2 full of bones: bony fish boo /bʊ/ v. [T] to shout “boo” to show that you do not like a person, performance, etc.

book1 /bʊk/ n. [C] 1 ENG. LANG. ARTS a set of printed pages held together in a cover so that you can read them: I’m reading a good book. | a book by William Faulkner | a book about photography | She wrote a book of short stories which was published last year.

Thesaurus of books

Types of books

fiction – books which describe imaginary events nonfiction – books which describe real things or events reference book – a book such as a dictionary or encyclopedia that you look at to find specific information text book – a book that is used in the classroom hardcover/hardback – a book which has a hard stiff cover paperback – a book which has a soft cover novel – a book about imaginary events science fiction – a book about imaginary events in the future or space travel biography – a book about a person’s life, written by another person autobiography – a book about someone’s life, written by that person himself or herself bookworm

2 a set of sheets of paper held together in a cover so that you can write on them: an address book | 3 a set of things such as stamps, tickets, etc. held together inside a paper cover: a book of matches | 4 books [plural] ECONOMICS written records of the financial accounts of a business

5 by the book exactly according to rules or instructions: They do everything strictly by the book. [Origin: Old English boek] ➔ throw the book at sb at throw

book2 v. 1 [T] to arrange for someone such as a speaker or singer to perform on a particular date: They have a speaker booked for next Tuesday. | 2 [I,T] to arrange to stay at a hotel, fly on an airplane, etc. at a particular time in the future: I’ve booked a room for us at the Hilton. | The flight is fully booked (=has no seats left). | 3 [T] to put someone’s name officially in police records, with the charge made against him/her: Romey was booked on suspicion of murder.

book-case /bʊkˈkeɪs/ n. [C] a piece of furniture with shelves to hold books book-end /bʊkˈɛnd/ n. [C] one of a pair of objects that you put at each end of a row of books to prevent them from falling book-ie /bʊki/ n. [C] (informal) someone whose job is to collect money that people bet on a race, sport, etc. and who pays them if they win book-ing /bʊkˈɪŋ/ n. [C] an arrangement in which a hotel, theater, etc. agrees to let you have a particular room, seat, etc. at a future time: Cheaper prices are available on early bookings.

book-keep-ing /bʊkˈkɪpɪŋ/ n. [U] the job or activity of recording the financial accounts of an organization ➔ bookkeeper n. [C] book-let /bʊkˈlɛt/ n. [C] a very short book that contains information: a booklet on AIDS book-mark /bʊkˈmɑːk/ n. [C] 1 a piece of paper that you put in a book to show you the last page you have read 2 in a way of saving the address of a page on the Internet so that you can find it easily book-shelf /bʊksˈɛl/ n. (plural bookshelves) [C] a shelf on a wall, or a piece of furniture with shelves, used for holding books book-store /bʊkˈstɔːr/ n. [C] a store that sells books book-worm /bʊkˈwɜːm/ n. [C] (informal, disapproving) someone who likes to read very much boom /bʊm/ n. [C] 1 ECONOMICS a sudden increase in business activity or the popularity of something | a boom in sales | the economic boom of the 1950s 2 a loud deep sound that you can hear for several seconds after it begins: the boom of guns in the distance.

boom2 v. [I] 1 ECONOMICS if business or the economy is booming, it is very successful and growing quickly: We’re happy to report that business is booming this year. 2 to make a loud deep sound —booming adj.: a booming economy.

boom box n. [C] (informal) a large radio and CD player, that you can carry with you.

boom town n. [C] (informal) a city that suddenly becomes very successful because of new industry.

boon /būn/ n. [C] something that is very useful and makes your life a lot easier. The new sports complex will be a great boon to the city.

boondocks /ˈbundəks/ also boonies /ˈbuniz/ n. (informal) the boondocks/boonies [plural] a place that is a long way from any town.

booster /ˈbuːstər/ n. [C] someone who behaves in an unacceptable way in social situations —boorish adj.

boost1 /ˈbʊst/ n. 1 [singular] something that helps someone be more successful and confident, or that helps something increase or improve: Immigrants provide a boost to the U.S. economy. | a good public booster for his campaign | a boost from extra vitamins 2 give sb a boost to lift or push someone so s/he can get over or onto something high or tall.

boost2 v. [T] 1 to increase or improve something and make it more successful: The new facility will help boost oil production. | The win boosted the team’s confidence. 2 to help someone get over or onto something high or tall by lifting or pushing him/her up.

booster /ˈbʊstər/ n. [C] 1 a small quantity of a drug that increases the effect of one that was given before; a muscles booster shot | 2 confidence/morale/ego etc. booster something that increases or improves someone’s confidence, etc.: Letters from home are a great morale booster for the soldiers. 3 someone who gives a lot of support to a person, organization, or idea: fund-raisers organized by the school’s booster club | a rocket that provides more power for a spacecraft.

boot /bʊt/ n. 1 [C] a type of shoe that covers your whole foot and the lower part of your leg: hiking boots | see picture at SHOE 2 to boot (spoken) used at the end of a list of remarks, to emphasize the last one: Jack’s tall, handsome, and rich to boot. [origin: (1) 1300—1400 Old French bote]}

boot /bʊt/ v. 1 [T] to make a computer ready to be used by putting in its instructions 2 [T] (informal) to force someone to leave a place, job, or organization: Offenders are boosted out of from the dorms.

boots camp n. [C] a training camp for people who have joined the Army, Navy, or Marines.

boot-ee /ˈbʊti/ n. [C] a sock that a baby wears instead of a shoe.

booth /bʊθ/ n. [C] 1 a small, partly enclosed place where one person can do something privately: a phone booth | a voting booth | 2 a partly enclosed place in a restaurant, with a table between two long seats 3 a place at a market or fair, where you can buy things, play games, or find information.

boot-leg /ˈbʊtˈlɛg/ adj. bootleg products are made and sold illegally —bootlegging n. [U] —bootlegger n. [C] boot-straps /ˈbʊtsræps/ n. pull yourself up by your bootstraps to get out of a difficult situation by your own effort.

boofy /ˈbuːfi/ n. [U] (literary) valuable things taken or won by the winners in a war, competition, etc.

boozed /ˈbuəzd/ v. [I] (informal) to drink a lot of alcohol —boozed adj. —booz-er n. [C] bop /bɒp/ v. (bopped, bopping) [I] to hit someone gently.

bop2 n. 1 [C] a gentle hit.

bord-er /ˈbɔːrdər/ n. [C] 1 the official line that separates two countries, states, or areas: the border between the U.S. and Mexico | The gang escaped across the border. | Mexico’s border with Guatemala.

boke /bɒk/ v. to share a border with another country: Spain borders Portugal. 2 to form a line around the edge of something: willow trees bordering the river.

border line n. [U] adj. very close to being unacceptable: His grades are borderline.

border line n. [U] adj. the point at which one quality, condition, etc. ends and another begins: The stories are on the borderline between romance and pornography.

bore /bɔːr/ v. the past tense of bore.

bore2 v. 1 [T] to make someone feel bored: The classes bored me. 2 |IT| to make a deep round hole in a hard surface: To build the tunnel, they had to bore through solid rock.

bore 1 n. [C] 3 [L] if someone’s eyes bore into you or through you, she looks at you in a way that makes you feel nervous or afraid bore 3 n. 1 [C] someone who talks too much about the same things: Ralph is such a bore! 2 [singular] something you have to do but do not like: Ironing is a real bore.

bored 1 a. adj. tired and impatient because you do not think something is interesting, or because you have nothing to do. I ignored him, hoping he’d get bored and leave. |I was bored with school. |I’m so bored. 2 |Don’t say “I’m so boring.” | boredom /bɔːrdəm/ n. [U] the feeling you have when you are bored boring /ˈbɔːrɪŋ/ a. not interesting in any way: a boring book

born /bɔːrn/ a. 1 be born when a person or animal is born, it comes out of its mother’s body or out of an egg: We saw a lamb being born. |I was born in the South. |Lincoln was born on February 12. 2 be born to do/be sth to be very good at doing a particular job, activity, etc.: Mantle was born to play baseball. 3 born leader/teacher etc. someone who has a natural ability to lead, teach, etc. 4 something that is born starts to exist: Unions were born out of (=started because of) a need for better working conditions. |[Origin: Old English boren, past participle of beran]

born-again ‘Christian n. [C] someone who has become an EVANGELICAL Christian after having an important religious experience borne /ˈbɔːrn/ the past participle of bear

bor·ough /ˈbɔːrəʊ/ n. [C] a town or part of a large city, that is responsible for managing its own schools, hospitals, roads, etc. |[Origin: Old English hurge “castle, town defended by a wall”]

bor·row /ˈbɔːrəʊ, ˈbɔːrə/ v. [T] 1 to use something that belongs to someone else and give it back to him/her later → LEND: Can I borrow your bike? 2 |Wallace borrowed money from his father to start a business. 3 They borrowed heavily (=borrowed a lot of money) to cover their losses. 2 to take or copy ideas or words: English has borrowed many words from French. |[Origin: Old English borgian] —borrower n. [C]

bor·row·ing /ˈbɔːrəʊɪŋ/ bor·row·er 1 n. [U] ECONOMICS the activity of borrowing money, or the total amount of money that is borrowed → LENDING: When interest rates are low, borrowing is cheap. Government/public borrowing has doubled in the last ten years. |Federal Reserve figures showed consumer borrowing is slowing down. 2 borrowings [plural] ECONOMICS the total amount of money that a person, company, or organization has borrowed, usually from a bank bos·om /ˈbɒzəm/ n. 1 [C] (written) a woman’s chest 2 bosom buddy (informal) a very close friend boss 1 /ˈbɒs/ n. 1 [C] the person who employs you or who is in charge of your work: The boss let us leave early today.

boss 2 also boss around v. [T] to tell people to do things, give them orders, etc., especially when you have no authority to do it: She’s always bossing her brother around.

bossy /ˈbɒsɪ/ a. always telling other people what to do, in a way that is annoying: her bossy older sister bot·a·ny /ˈbɒtənɪ/ n. [U] BIOLOGY the scientific study of plants —botanist n. [C] —botanical /ˈbɒtənɪkəl/ adj.: botanical gardens

botch /bɒtʃ/ also botch up v. [T] (informal) to do something badly because you were careless or did not have the skill to do it well: The police botched the investigation.
both /boʊθ/ quantifier, pron. 1 used in order to talk about two people or things together: They both have good jobs. | Hold it in both hands. | Both of my grandfathers are farmers. 2 both ... and ... used in order to emphasize that something is true of two people, things, situations, etc.: Dan plays both football and basketball. 3 have it both ways (informal) used when someone wants the advantages from two situations that cannot exist together on the bottom of your shoe? 3 the bottom the lowest position in an organization or company, or on a list, etc. (top) top: He started at the bottom, and now he managers the store. | Tony is at the bottom of the class in reading. 4 (informal) a word meaning the part of your body that you sit on, used especially when talking to children 5 the ground under an ocean, river, etc., or the flat land in a valley: The bottom of the river is rocky. | a ship on/ at the bottom of the bay 6 also bottoms the part of a set of clothes that you wear on the lower part of your body: pajama bottoms 7 get to the bottom of sth (informal) to find the cause of a problem or situation: We will get to the bottom of this and find out who was responsible. [Origin: Old English botm] ➔ rock bottom

ANT

B

bot·tom

bot·tle

bot·tled

bot·tle·neck

/botm/ n. [C] 1 the lowest part of something (top) top: the bottom of the hill | The fruit at the bottom of the basket was spoiled. 2 the flat surface on the lowest side of an object: What’s both

both /boʊθ/ adj. in the lowest place or position: the bottom drawer bottom /ˈbɑʊtəm/ n. 1 bottom out phr. v. if a situation, price, etc. bottoms out, it stops getting worse or lower, usually before it starts improving again: The recession seems to have bottomed out.

bou·quet /ˈbuːkət/ n. 1 a container with a narrow top, for keeping liquids in, usually made of glass or plastic: a wine bottle | a baby’s bottle 2 the amount of liquid that a bottle contains: We drank the entire bottle. 3 hit the bottle to start drinking a lot of alcohol regularly [Origin: Old English bott.] ➔ wine bottle

bottle /ˈbɑʊtəl/ v. [T] to put a liquid into a bottle after you have made it: wine bottled in California

bottled /ˈbɑʊtəld/ adj. bottled water/beer etc. water, beer, etc. that is sold in a bottle

bottle-neck /ˈbɑʊtəlnek/ n. [C] 1 a place in a road where the traffic cannot pass easily, so that cars are delayed 2 a delay in part of a process that makes the whole process take longer: Removing the bottleneck in the flow of materials has increased production significantly.

bot·tom /ˈbɑʊtəm/ n. [C] 1 the lowest part of something (top) top: the bottom of the hill | The fruit at the bottom of the basket was spoiled. 2 the flat surface on the lowest side of an object: What’s

B

BACTERIA

BIOLOGY

BIOLOGY

Bou-le-vard /buˌlevɑrd, ′bu-ˌl- n. [C] a wide road in a town or city

bou·quet /ˈbuːkət/ n. 1 a set of clothes that you wear on the lower part of your body: pajama bottoms 7 get to the bottom of sth (informal) to find the cause of a problem or situation: We will get to the bottom of this and find out who was responsible. [Origin: Old English botm] ➔ rock bottom

bottom /ˈbɑʊtəm/ n. 1 bottom out phr. v. if a situation, price, etc. bottoms out, it stops getting worse or lower, usually before it starts improving again: The recession seems to have bottomed out.

bou·quet /ˈbuːkət/ n. 1 a container with a narrow top, for keeping liquids in, usually made of glass or plastic: a wine bottle | a baby’s bottle 2 the amount of liquid that a bottle contains: We drank the entire bottle. 3 hit the bottle to start drinking a lot of alcohol regularly [Origin: Old English bott.] ➔ wine bottle

bottle /ˈbɑʊtəl/ v. [T] to put a liquid into a bottle after you have made it: wine bottled in California

bottled /ˈbɑʊtəld/ adj. bottled water/beer etc. water, beer, etc. that is sold in a bottle

bottle-neck /ˈbɑʊtəlnek/ n. [C] 1 a place in a road where the traffic cannot pass easily, so that cars are delayed 2 a delay in part of a process that makes the whole process take longer: Removing the bottleneck in the flow of materials has increased production significantly.

bot·tom /ˈbɑʊtəm/ n. [C] 1 the lowest part of something (top) top: the bottom of the hill | The fruit at the bottom of the basket was spoiled. 2 the flat surface on the lowest side of an object: What’s

B

BACTERIA

BIOLOGY

Bou-le-vard /buˌlevɑrd, ′bu-ˌl- n. [C] a wide road in a town or city

bou·quet /ˈbuːkət/ n. 1 a set of clothes that you wear on the lower part of your body: pajama bottoms 7 get to the bottom of sth (informal) to find the cause of a problem or situation: We will get to the bottom of this and find out who was responsible. [Origin: Old English botm] ➔ rock bottom

bottom /ˈbɑʊtəm/ n. 1 bottom out phr. v. if a situation, price, etc. bottoms out, it stops getting worse or lower, usually before it starts improving again: The recession seems to have bottomed out.

bou·quet /ˈbuːkət/ n. 1 a container with a narrow top, for keeping liquids in, usually made of glass or plastic: a wine bottle | a baby’s bottle 2 the amount of liquid that a bottle contains: We drank the entire bottle. 3 hit the bottle to start drinking a lot of alcohol regularly [Origin: Old English bott.] ➔ wine bottle

bottle /ˈbɑʊtəl/ v. [T] to put a liquid into a bottle after you have made it: wine bottled in California

bottled /ˈbɑʊtəld/ adj. bottled water/beer etc. water, beer, etc. that is sold in a bottle

bottle-neck /ˈbɑʊtəlnek/ n. [C] 1 a place in a road where the traffic cannot pass easily, so that cars are delayed 2 a delay in part of a process that makes the whole process take longer: Removing the bottleneck in the flow of materials has increased production significantly.
you decide something [ORIGIN: 1500—1600 bounce “to hit” (13—19 centuries)] bounce around [sth] phr v to move quickly from one place to another: After college, I bounced around Europe for a year. I bounced around between jobs quite a bit before ending up here.

bounce back phr v to feel better quickly, or to become successful again after having a lot of problems: Experts expect the economy to bounce back.

bounce² n. 1 [C] an act of bouncing: Catch the ball on the first bounce. 2 [U] the ability to bounce bouncer /ˈbaʊnsər/ n. [C] someone whose job is to make people who behave badly leave a club, bar, etc.

bouncy /ˈbaʊnsɪ/ adj. healthy and active —used especially about babies: a bouncing baby boy bound·a·ry /ˈbaʊnserɪ/ (plural boundaries) [C] 1 a group of flowers given to someone as a present or carried at a formal occasion 2 [C/U] the smell of a wine: a rich bouquet [ORIGIN: 1700—1800 French, Old North French bosquet “plants growing thickly together, from Old French bosc “forest”] boundless /ˈbaʊndləs/ adj. without any limits or end: boundless optimism bountiful /ˈbɔntɪfl/ adj. a generous amount of something, especially food: —bountiful adj.: a bountiful harvest bouquet /ˈbɔkwɛt/ n. 1 [C] a group of flowers given to someone as a present or carried at a formal occasion 2 [C/U] the smell of a wine: a rich bouquet [ORIGIN: 1700—1800 French, Old North French bosquet “plants growing thickly together, from Old French bosc “forest”] bourbon /ˈboʊrboʊn/ n. [U] a type of American whiskey made from corn [ORIGIN: 1800—1900 Bourbon county in Kentucky] bourgeois /boʊˈʁwɑːz, -ˌwɔː/ adj. (disapproving) too interested in having a lot of possessions and a high position in society [ORIGIN: 1500—1600 French “person who lives in a town,” from Old French bourgeois, from a “town”] bourgeoisie /boʊʁwɔːˈzi/ n. the MIDDLE CLASS

bow /bau/ v. 1 a short form of “about”, used in writing to show how people sound when they speak bow /bou/ n. [C] 1 a short period of time during which you do something a lot or suffer from a particular illness: a bout of illness 2 a BOXING or WRESTLING competition boutique /ˈbɔtɪk/ n. [C] a small store that sells very fashionable clothes or decorations bow·ing /ˈbɔɪŋ/ adj. BIOLOGY relating to cows, or like a cow [ORIGIN: 1800—1900 Late Latin bovinus, from Latin bos “ox, cow”] bow² /bau/ v. [LT] to bend your head or the top part of your body forward, as a sign of respect or as a way of thanking an AUDIENCE after you perform:

bow

He bowed, then began to play. | David bowed his head in prayer.

bow down phr. v. to bend forward from your waist, especially when you are already kneeling, in order to pray: Old women bowed down before the statue of Mary.

bow out phr. v. to decide not to take part in something any longer: Two more Republicans have bowed out of the race.

bow to sb/sth phr. v. to finally agree to do something that other people want you to do, even though you do not want to: Congress may bow to public pressure and reduce the gas tax.

bow\[^{2}\] /bou\[w\] /adj. [part of a hip to remove the parts of a book, play, etc. which you roll a heavy ball to try to knock down a small area, or to decide not to take part in something as a protest: to go bowling; to refuse to buy something: to boycott all products tested on animals. [origin: 1800—1900 Latin basin, from Greek pyxos, from pyxos type of tree, whose wood was used for making boxes]

box\[^{1}\] /baks/ n. [C] 1 a container for putting things in, especially one with four stiff straight sides: a cardboard box [I put all her things in a box. 2 the amount that a box can hold: a box of candy 3 an area of seats in a theater, sports stadium, etc. that is separate from where other people are sitting —see picture at theater 4 the area in a court of law where the jury sit 5 a small area on an official form for people to write information in: Write your name in the box at the top. 6 a P.O. box [origin: 900—1000 Latin basins, from Greek pyxos, from pyxos type of tree, whose wood was used for making boxes]

box\[^{2}\] v. 1 [L,T] to fight someone as a sport while wearing big leather gloves 2 [T] also box up to put things in a box or in boxes: He boxed up his belongings and put his furniture in storage. 3 [I,T] to enclose someone or something in a small place where it is not possible to move freely: A Honda was parked behind me, boxing me in.

box-car /baks, kar/ n. [C] a railroad car with high sides and a roof, that is used for carrying goods box-er /baks\[e\]r/ n. [C] 1 someone who boxes, especially as a job: a heavyweight boxer 2 a dog with short light brown hair and a flat nose boxer\[^{1}\] shorts n. [plural] loose underwear for men —see picture at clothes box-ing /baks\[i\]ng/ n. [U] the sport of fighting while wearing big leather gloves box-office n. [C] a place in a theater, concert hall, etc. where tickets are sold —see picture at theater box\[^{2}\] spring n. [C] a base containing metal springs, that you put under a mattress to make a bed boy\[^{1}\] /bou\[y\]/ n. [C] 1 a male child or young man: a club for both boys and girls 2 some young boys (—young boys) were playing with a ball, 3 one of the big boys (—wilder boys) was picking on Sam.

boy\[^{2}\] also oh ’boy’ interjection said in order to emphasize a statement: Boy, is he mad!

boy-cott /’baks\[k\]t/ v. [T] to refuse to buy something, use something, or take part in something as a way of protesting: We boycotted all products tested on animals. [origin: 1832—97, English official in Ireland who refused to reduce rents, so the local people bowl\[^{1}\] /’boul/ n. [C] 1 a wide round container that is open at the top, used for holding liquids, food, etc.: Mix the eggs and butter in a large bowl. 2 also bowlful the amount that a bowl will hold; a bowlful of rice 3 a part of an object that is shaped like a bowl: a toilet bowl 4 also Bowl a special game played by two of the best football teams after the normal playing season: the Rose Bowl [origin: Old English bolu] refused to do any business with him] —boycottn. [C]

THE S AURUS
protest, march, demonstrate, riot, hold/stage a sit-in, go on a hunger strike ➔ PROTEST boy-friend /ˈbaʊfrɛnd/ n. [C] a boy or man with whom you have a romantic relationship: Have you met Leah’s boyfriend?

boy-hood /ˈbraʊhəd/ n. [U] (literary) the time in a man’s life when he is very young boy-ish /ˈbraɪʃ/ adj. looking or behaving like a boy: his boyish laughter

Boyle’s law /ˈboʊləlz/ n. PHYSICS a scientific rule stating that the amount of space a gas fills at a particular temperature decreases (=goes down) as pressure increases and increases as pressure decreases

Boy Scout n.
1 The Boy Scouts an organization for boys, that teaches them practical skills and helps develop their character ➔ GIRL SCOUTS
2 a member of the Boy Scouts

bo-zo /ˈboʊzoʊ/ n. (plural bozos) [C] (informal) someone who you think is stupid or silly

bps, BPS /biˈpiːs/ it bits per second a measurement of how fast a computer or MODEM can send or receive information

bra /ˈbreɪə/ n. [C] a piece of underwear that a woman wears to support her breasts ➔ see picture at CLOTHES

brace /ˈbreɪs/ v. [T] 1 to prepare for something unpleasant that is going to happen: Hospitals are bracing themselves for a flu epidemic this winter. 2 to prevent something from falling or moving by supporting it: His feet were braced against the wall.

brace /ˈbreɪs/ n. 1 braces plural a connected set of wires that people, especially children, wear on their teeth to make them straight 2 [C] something used or worn in order to support something: a brace bracelet /ˈbreɪslɛt/ n. [C] a band or chain that you wear around your wrist or arm as a decoration ➔ see picture at JEWELRY

bracing /ˈbreɪsɪŋ/ adj. 1 bracing air or weather is cold and makes you feel very awake and healthy 2 making you feel excited and interested: Meeting such a powerful man was a bracing experience.

bracket /ˈbrækt/ n. [C] 1 income/tax/age etc. bracket ECONOMICS an income, tax, etc. that is inside a particular range: the highest tax bracket 2 ENG. LANG. ARTS one of the pair of marks [ ] put around extra information: All grammar information is given in brackets. 3 a piece of metal, wood, or plastic put in or on a wall to support something such as a shelf

brackish /ˈbrækʃ/ adj. brackish water is not pure because it is slightly salty brain /ˈbreɪn/ n. 1 [U] BIOLOGY the organ inside your head that controls how you think, feel, and move: brain damage the part of the brain that controls movement 2 [C] usually plural, U the ability to think clearly and learn quickly: The kid’s definitely got brains. 3 [C] (informal) someone who is very intelligent: Some of the best brains in the country are here tonight. 4 be the brains behind sth to be the person who thought of and developed a particular plan, system, organization, etc. ➔ no-brainer, pick sb’s brain(s) at PICK1, rack your brain(s) at RACK brain /ˈbreɪn/ v. [T] (old-fashioned) to hit someone on the head very hard brain-child /ˈbreɪnˌfaɪld/ n. [singular] (informal) an idea, organization, etc. that someone has thought of without any help from anyone else: The project was the brain-child of photographer Rick Smolan.

brainless /ˈbreɪnls/ adj. (informal) silly and stupid: a brainless movie brain-power /ˈbreɪnˌpaʊər/ n. [U] intelligence, brainstorm [ˈbreɪnstrəʊm] v. [T] to think of many different ways of doing something, developing ideas, or solving a problem, especially in a group: The students brainstormed about getting more people to participate. —brainstorming n.

brainstorm² n. [singular] (informal) a sudden intelligent idea brainwash [ˈbreɪnwɔːʃ, -wɔʃ] v. [T] to make someone believe something that is not true, by using force, confusing him/her, or continuously repeating it over a long period of time: Two former members of the Church claim they were brainwashed into joining. —brainwashing n. [U] brainy [ˈbreɪni] adj. (informal) able to think clearly and learn quickly: a brainy kid brainless adj. (informal) new and not used: a brand-new car branchild [ˈbreɪntʃild] n. [C] 1 a piece of equipment that makes a vehicle go more slowly or stop: Maria hit the brakes/stopped on the brakes (=made the car stop quickly). 2 put the brakes on sth to stop something that is happening: efforts to put the brakes on rising prices brake v. [I] to make a vehicle go more slowly or stop by using its brake: Miguel braked suddenly. ➔ DRIVE brazen adj. (informal) behaving and talking very confidently: a brazen young man brand [brand] n. 1 (plural brands) [C,U] a strong alcoholic drink made from wine, or a glass of this drink [Origin: 1600—1700 brandewijn (=burnt wine, distilled wine)] brandish v. [T] to wave something around in a dangerous and threatening way: He burst into the store brandishing a knife. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French brandir from brand “sword”] brand name n. [C] ECONOMICS the name a company gives to the goods it has produced: brand names such as Jell-O and Coca-Cola brand-new adj. new and not used: a brand-new car brandy [ˈbrændi] n. (plural brandies) [C,U] a strong alcoholic drink made from wine, or a glass of this drink [Origin: 1600—1700 brandewijn “burnt wine, distilled wine”] brash [braʃ] adj. (disapproving) behaving and talking very confidently: a brash young man brass [braːs] n. 1 [U] a very hard bright yellow metal that is a mixture of COPPER and ZINC 2 the brass (section) the people in an ORCHESTRA of band who play musical instruments such as the TRUMPET or horn

brassiere [braˈʃiər] n. [C] a BRA brass knuckles n. [plural] a set of metal rings worn over your knuckles, used as a weapon brassy [ˈbraːsi] adj. 1 sounding loud and unpleasant 2 (disapproving) a woman who is brassy talks loudly and behaves in a way that is too confident brat [ˈbreɪt] n. [C] (informal) a badly behaved child: Stop acting like a spoiled brat. 2 an Army/Air Force/military etc. brat a child whose family moves often, because one or both parents work for the Army, etc.

bravo [ˈbraʊvəʊ] n. [U] behavior that is intended to show how brave you are, but is often unnecessary brave [ˈbreɪv] adj. dealing with danger, pain, or difficult situations with courage (brave) cowardly:

brave soldiers | her brave fight against cancer [Origin: 1400—1500 French, Old Italian and Old Spanish. brave “brave, wild,” from Latin barbarus] —bravely adv.

THESaurus
courageous – someone who is courageous behaves very bravely: an honest and courageous leader heroic – extremely brave or determined, and admired by many people: the heroic work of the doctors valiant (formal) – very brave, especially in a difficult situation: The firefighters made a valiant effort to rescue the people in the burning building daring – willing to do dangerous things: the daring young men who flew the first airplanes bold – confident and willing to take risks: Rebecca was a bold woman, willing to say what she thought.
fearless – not afraid of anything or anyone: a fearless campaigner for human rights intrepid (formal) – willing to do dangerous things or go to dangerous places: Lewis and Clark were the intrepid explorers who first crossed the country to the Pacific coast.

brave v [T] to deal with a difficult, dangerous, or unpleasant situation: 15,000 people braved the hot sun to see Mandela.

brave n [C] a young fighting man from a Native American tribe bravery n [U] brave behavior and cowardice: an act of great bravery

THESaurus
courage, guts, nerve, valor, mettle → COURAGE

bravo n [U] bravura

bravo v [I] to do something as a sign of approval, to show your approval when someone, especially a performer, has done well brawl n [C] a noisy fight, especially in a public place: a drunken brawl

THESaurus
fight, free-for-all, scuffle, scrap → FIGHT

brawl v [I] to fight in a noisy way, especially in a public place: youths brawling in the street

brawn n [U] physical strength: She’s the brain and he’s the brawn behind the operation.
—bravely adj.: bravely arms

bray v [I] if a donkey brays, it makes a loud sound

brave —braveness

brazen adj. showing that you do not feel ashamed about behavior that most people think is wrong or immoral: a brazen lie —brazenly adv.

break n [C,U] an act of breaking a law, rule, agreement, etc.: You are in breach of your contract.

break v [T] if something breaks or someone breaks it, it separates into two or more pieces, especially because it has been hit or dropped: Be careful or it’ll break. I broke off a handful of basil to put in the sauce. They had to break the window to get into the house.

THESaurus
smash – used when a plate, glass, etc. breaks or is broken with a lot of force: Angry crowds smashed windows downtown.
shatter – used when a plate, glass, etc. breaks into a lot of small pieces: The glass hit the floor, shattering everywhere.
| break | crack – used when a plate, glass, etc. is damaged so that there is a line between two parts of it: | 11 DAY [i] if day breaks, light begins to show in the sky as the Sun rises |
| tear – used about paper or cloth: I tore the letter to pieces. | 17 VOICE [i] a) if a boy’s voice breaks, it becomes lower as he gets older b) if someone’s voice breaks, it does not sound smooth because s/he is feeling strong emotions |
| snap – used about something that breaks into two pieces, making a loud noise: The stick snapped in two. | 18 WAVE [i] if a wave breaks, it begins to look white on top because it is coming close to the shore [Origin: Old English brecan] → break the ice at ice³ |
| burst – used when a pipe with liquid inside it breaks: Our pipes had burst in the freezing weather. | break away phr. v. 1 to escape from someone who is holding you: Nelson broke away from the policemen. 2 to leave your family, a group, a political party, etc. and become separate from them: The three Baltic States were the first to break away from the Soviet Union. |
| pop – used when a bubble or balloon breaks: The wind was so strong some of the balloons popped. | break down phr. v. 1 if a large machine breaks down, it stops working: A truck had broken down in the intersection. 2 to fail or stop working in a successful way: The talks broke down completely in June 2002. 3 break sth ↔ down to change or remove something that prevents people from working together or having a good relationship: attempts to break down prejudice |
| 2 BODY PART [T] if you break a part of your body, the bone splits into two or more pieces: Sharon broke her leg skiing. | 4 break sth ↔ down to hit something, such as a door, so hard that it falls down |
| body part [T] to make a person or animal suffer because of something that is wrong with it, or that happens to it: She broke her leg skiing. | 5 break (sth ↔) down CHEMISTRY if a substance breaks down, or something breaks it down, it changes as a result of a chemical process: Bacteria break down the raw sewage. [The waste products break down into ammonia. |
| [T] to damage the surface of something so that it splits or has a hole in it: Do not use this product if the seal has been broken. | 6 to be unable to stop yourself from crying: She broke down during the funeral. |
| 6 break a record to do something faster or better than it has ever been done before: After breaking the world record, she decided to retire from athletics. | 7 break sth ↔ down to separate something into smaller parts so that it is easier to do or understand: Try to break the question down into two parts. |
| 7 break sth ↔ to sb/sth to tell someone about something bad that has happened: Ellie called us to break the news personally. | break into sth phr. v. 1 to enter a building using force, in order to steal something 2 break sb/sth ↔ in to make a person or animal become used to the work he, she, or it has to do: a training camp for breaking in new soldiers |
| 8 promise/agreement [T] to not do what you promised to do: politicians who break their election promises | 3 to interrupt someone when s/he is speaking: She broke in, saying “You know that’s not true!” 4 break sth ↔ in to make new shoes or boots less stiff and more comfortable by wearing them |
| 9 break your neck (informal) to hurt yourself very badly: Don’t run; you’ll slip and break your neck. | break off phr. v. 1 break sth ↔ off to end a relationship, especially a political or romantic one: Lisa and Mike have broken off their engagement. 2 break (sth ↔) off to suddenly stop talking: She broke off, tears in her eyes. [Suddenly, they saw me and broke off their conversation. |
| 10 break for lunch/coffee etc. to stop working in order to eat or drink something | 5 break (sth ↔) off to suddenly begin running 3 to become involved in a new activity, especially a business activity: companies trying to break into the East European markets |
break out phr. v.
1 if something bad such as a disease, fire, or war breaks out, it begins to happen: Last night, a fire broke out in the 12th Street warehouse.
2 to change the way you live or behave: Rose was determined to break out of the cycle of poverty.
3 to suddenly begin to have red spots on your skin, especially on your face: Chocolate makes me break out.
4 break out in a sweat to start SWEATING
5 to escape from prison break through phr. v.

1 to manage to do something successfully: His coach thinks he is ready to break through to the big leagues.
2 break through (sth) if the Sun breaks through, you can see it through the clouds break up phr. v.
1 break sth * * up to separate something into smaller parts: The phone company was broken up to encourage competition.
2 to end a marriage or romantic relationship, or to stop being together as a group: Troy and I broke up last month. | The band broke up shortly after releasing their second album.
3 break sth * * up to stop a fight or stop a group of people doing something: The FBI broke up a crack ring.
4 if a crowd or meeting breaks up, people start to leave
5 break (sth * * * *) up to break something into small pieces, or to break something into small pieces: The plane hit the water and broke up. | We used shovels to break up the soil.
break with sb/sth phr. v.
1 to leave a group or organization because you have had a disagreement with them: Lewis broke with the Administration on this issue.
2 break with tradition/the past etc. to do something in a completely new way break 2 n.

1 A REST [C] a period of time when you stop working or doing something: Matthews spoke for three hours without taking a break. | She took a two-year break from competitive running. | Harris is on his lunch/coffee break. | We needed a break, so we went up to the mountains. | Spring break (=spring vacation from college) is at the end of March.

breakthrough 2 n. [C] an escape from a prison break-up /'breIk@p/ n. [C] the act of ending a marriage or other relationship 2 the separation of an organization, country, etc. into smaller parts: the breakup of Yugoslavia breast /breist/  n.  1 [C] one of the two round raised parts on a woman’s chest that produce milk when she has a baby  2 [C] the part of the body between the neck and the stomach: He cradled his injured arm against his breast.  3 [CU] the front part of a bird’s body, or the meat from this part: turkey breast ➔ see picture on page A2 [Origin: Old English breast] breast-bone /'brɛsˈboʊn/  n.  [C] BIOLOGY the long flat bone in the front of your chest, that is connected to the top seven pairs of RIBS breast-feed v (breast-fed)  [IT] if a woman breast-feeds, she feeds a baby with milk from her breasts breast-stroke /'breistˌstroʊk/  n.  [U] a way of swimming in which you push your arms out from your chest and then bring them back in a circle to your sides, while on your stomach in the water ➔ see picture at swim breath /breθ/  n.  1 [CU] the air that goes in or comes out of your lungs when you breathe, or the action of breathing air into or out of your lungs: Officers could smell alcohol on his breath, | The cat has had bad breath (=it smells bad).  ➔ Take a deep breath (=breathe in a lot of air once) and relax.  ➔ I was hot and sweaty and out of breath (=having difficulty breathing because I had just been exercising).  ➔ One of the symptoms is shortness of breath (=being unable to breathe easily).  ➔ My heart was pounding and I was gasping for breath (=struggling hard to get enough air to breathe).  2 hold your breath a) to breathe in and keep the air in your lungs: I couldn’t hold my breath anymore.  ➔ b) to wait anxiously to see what is going to happen: Patrice held her breath, waiting for Dan’s reply.  3 catch your breath to begin breathing normally again after you have been running or exercising: I had to sit down to catch my breath.  4 a breath of fresh air a) a short time when you breathe air outside a building, after being inside: I stepped outside for a breath of fresh air.  ➔ b) something that is different, exciting, and enjoyable: These books bring a breath of fresh air into the classroom.  5 under your breath in a quiet voice: “I hate you,” he muttered under his breath.  6 (don’t) waste your breath (spoken) used in order to tell someone that it is not worth saying something: You’re wasting your breath; he won’t change his mind.  7 don’t hold your breath used in order to say that something is not going to happen soon ➔ 8 take your breath away to be extremely beautiful or exciting: a view that will take your breath away [Origin: Old English breath] breath-a-ble /ˈbreθəbəl/  adj.  1 clothing that is breathable allows air to pass through it easily ➔ 2 able to be breathed: The air was thin but breathable.

breath-a-lyzer /'breθəˌlaɪzər/  n.  [C] (trade-mark) a piece of equipment used by the police to see if a car driver has drunk too much alcohol: a Breathalyzer test ➔ breathalyze v [T]

breath /breθ/ v  1 [IT] to take air into your lungs and send it out again: the quality of the air we breathe | Relax and breathe deeply (=take in a lot of air).  ➔ He was sweating and breathing hard (=breathing deeply and quickly).

take a breath – to take air into your lungs: Take deep breaths and try to relax.  ➔ inhale (formal) – to breathe in air, smoke, or gas: Try not to inhale the fumes from the glue.  ➔ exhale (formal) – to breathe out, smoke, etc. out through your mouth and nose: Take a deep breath, then exhale slowly.

Ways of breathing

pant – to breathe quickly with short breaths, especially after exercising: I ran to the station and arrived sweaty and panting.

wheeze – to breathe with difficulty, making a noise in your throat and chest, usually because you are sick: I woke up the next morning coughing and wheezing.

be short of breath also be out of breath – to have difficulty breathing, often after physical activity such as running, or because of sickness: Patients quickly become short of breath and unable to stand.

gasp for breath – to breathe quickly and loudly, because you are having difficulty breathing either from exercising or because you are sick: He was gasping for breath and his heart was pounding fiercely.

gasp for air – to be unable to breathe because there is not enough air: He came up from under the water, gasping for air.

2 [IT] to blow air, smoke, or smells out of your mouth: Roy breathed on his hands to warm them.

3 breathe a sigh of relief to stop being worried about something: We all breathed a sigh of relief as he climbed off the roof.

4 breathe down sb’s neck (informal) to watch what someone is doing so carefully that it makes him/her feel nervous or annoyed: I can’t work with you breathing down my neck.

5 not breathe a word to not tell anyone about a secret [Origin: 1200—1300 BC] breathe (sth + -) in phr v  to take air into your lungs: She breathed in deeply.  ➔ Wyatt breathed in the fresh sea air.

breathe (sth + -) out phr v  to send air out from your lungs: OK, now breathe out slowly.  ➔ He breathed out a sigh of relief.

breath-er /'breθə(r)/  n.  [C] (informal) a short period of rest from an activity: OK, everybody, take a breather.

breath-ing /'breθɪŋ/  n.  [U] the process of breathing air in and out: his deep, regular breathing breath-less /'breθləs/ adj.  having difficulty breathing in a normal way ➔ breathlessly adv.

breath-tak-ing /'breθteɪkɪŋ/  adj.  extremely impressive, exciting, or surprising: breathtaking scenery
thethesaurus

impressive, imposing, dazzling, awe-inspiring, majestic, magnificent

→ IMPRESSIVE

breathy /ˈbreɪθi/ adj. if someone’s voice is breathy, you can hear his/her breath when she speaks breed /brɛd/ v (past tense and past participle bred) 1 [T] 1 biology if animals breed, they have babies 2 [T] biology to keep animals or plants in order to produce babies, or to develop new animals or plants: He breeds horses. 3 [T] to cause a particular feeling or condition: The crowded living conditions bred disease and crime. [Origin: Old English bredan] breed2 n [C] 1 a type of animal, especially one that people have kept to breed: Labradors and other breeds of dog 2 a particular type of person or type of thing: the first in a new breed of home computers breeder /ˈbriːdər/ n [C] someone who breeds animals or plants breeding /ˈbrɛdɪŋ/ n [U] 1 biology the act or process of animals producing babies: the breeding season 2 biology the activity of keeping animals or plants in order to produce babies, or to develop new types 3 (old-fashioned) polite social behavior breeding ground n [C] a place or situation where something grows or develops: The projects were a breeding ground for gangs.

breeze /ˈbriːz/ n [C] 1 a light gentle wind

the thesaurus

wind, gust, gale, storm, hurricane, tornado, typhoon → WIND breeze2 v [I] (informal) to walk somewhere in a quick confident way: She breezed into my office and sat down.

breeze through sth phr v (informal) to finish a piece of work or pass a test very easily: Sherry breezed through her final exams.

breezy /ˈbrɛzɪ/ adj. 1 confident and relaxed: his breezy way of speaking 2 breezy weather is when the wind blows in a fairly strong way brethren /ˈbrɛðrən/ n [plural] (old-fashioned, written) male members of an organization, especially a religious group briefly /ˈbrɪflɪ/ adv n [U] (formal) 1 the quality of expressing something in very few words: The speech was praised for its brevity. 2 the quality of continuing for only a short time: the brevity of the meeting [Origin: 1400—1500 Latin brevitatis, from brevis “short”] brew /bruː/ v [I,T] 1 if tea or coffee brews, or you brew it, you make it with boiling water and leave it to get a stronger taste 2 [I,T] if something unpleasant is brewing, it will happen soon: There’s a storm brewing. 3 [T] to make beer brew2 n [C,U] beer, or a can or glass of beer brewer /ˈbruːər/ n [C] a person or company that makes beer brewery /ˈbruːəri/ n (plural breweries) [C] a place where beer is made, or a company that makes beer

'brew pub n [C] a bar or restaurant that serves beer that is made locally, rather than by large companies bribé /ˈbrɪbɛ/ n [C] money or gifts that you use to persuade someone to do something, usually something dishonest: a judge accused of taking bribes] The officials said that they had been offered bribes before an important game. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French “bread given to a beggar”] bribe2 v [T] to give someone a bribe: Customs officials were bribed to let the trucks through.

bribery /ˈbrɪbərɪ/ n [U] the act of giving or taking bribes brick-a-brac /ˈbrɪkəˌbræk/ n [U] small objects that are used for decoration in a house brick /brɪk/ n [C,U] a hard block of baked clay used for building walls, houses, etc. [Origin: 1400—1500 French brique, from Middle Dutch bricke] bricklayer /ˈbrɪklɛər/ n [C] someone whose job is to build things with bricks —bricklaying n. [U] bridal /ˈbrɪdəl/ adj relating to a bride or a wedding: a bridal gown bride /ˈbrɪd/ n [C] a woman at the time she gets married or just after she is married: You may kiss the bride. → WEDDING [Origin: Old English brēdē] bridegroom /ˈbrɪdɡrʊm/ n [C] a groom bridesmaid /ˈbrɪdzmɪd/ n [C] a woman who helps the bride and stands beside her during her wedding bridge /ˈbrɪdʒ/ n 1 [C] a structure built over a river, road, etc. that allows people or vehicles to cross from one side to the other: the Brooklyn Bridge 2 [C] something that provides a connection between two ideas, subjects, groups, or situations: His new book acts as a bridge between art and science. 3 the bridge the raised part of a ship from which it can be controlled 4 [U] a card game for four players, who play in pairs 5 the bridge of your nose the upper part of your nose, between your eyes 6 [C] a piece of metal for keeping a false tooth in place [Origin: (1) Old English brēdūm] bridge2 v [T] 1 to reduce the difference between two things: attempting to bridge the gap between rich and poor 2 to build or form a bridge over something: a log bridging the stream bridle /ˈbrɪdl/ n [C] a set of leather bands put on a horse’s head and used to control its movements bridle2 v. 1 [T] to put a bridle on a horse 2 [I,T] to become angry or offended: Amy bridled at the restrictions put on her.

brief /briːfl/ (AC) adj 1 continuing for a short time: a brief period of silence

2 using only a few words and not describing things in detail: I’ll try to be brief. | a brief letter | In brief, the report found a direct relationship between a change in price and a change in demand. [Oriens: 1200—1300 Old French, Latin brevis]

---

bri·gade /ˈbrɪɡəd/ n [C] 1 a large group of soldiers forming part of an army 2 a group of people who have similar qualities or beliefs: the environmentalist brigade

brig·a·dier gen·er·al, Brigadier General /ˌbrɪɡədɪər ˈdʒenərəl/ n [C] an officer who has a high rank in the Army, Air Force, or Marines bright /brɪt/ adj 1 shining strongly, or with plenty of light: a bright sunny day | bright lights

3 bright colors are strong and easy to see: a bright red sweater | 4 happy and full of energy: a bright smile | 5 likely to be successful: You have a bright future ahead of you | 6 bright and early (spoken) very early in the morning: I’ll be here bright and early to pick you up | 7 the bright side the good things about something that is bad in other ways: Look on the bright side — at least you didn’t lose your job.

bright·en /ˈbrɪtən/ v [T] to become brighter or lighter, or to make something do this: The weather should brighten in the afternoon. | 2 [T] to make something more pleasant or attractive: Flowers would brighten up this room.

bril·li·ant /ˈbrɪl.i.ənt/ adj 1 brilliant light or color is very bright and strong: brilliant sunshine | 2 extremely intelligent: a brilliant scientist bright·ness /ˈbrɪt.nəs/ n [U]

brin·key /ˈbrɪn.ki/ adj 1 shining strongly, or with plenty of light: a bright sunny day | bright lights brine /brɪn/ n [U] water that contains a lot of salt

bring /brɪŋ/ v (past tense and past participle brought /brɪt/ [T]) 1 to take someone or something with you to a place or person: I brought these pictures for you. | Will you bring me a glass of water? | Can I bring a friend to the party? | Dave brought a friend home with him. | She brought her daughter along (=with her).

---

bri·gade /ˈbrɪɡəd/ n [C] a special flat bag used for carrying papers or documents brief·case /ˈbrɪflˌkeɪs/ n [C] a special flat bag used for carrying papers or documents

brie·f /brɪf/ n [C] 1 LAW a short statement giving facts about a law case: a legal brief | The plaintiffs’ attorneys filed a brief asking the judge to dismiss the evidence.
2 a short report: The brief should outline the current economic situation in Eastern Europe.
3 briefs [plural] men’s or women’s underwear worn on the lower part of the body brief·ly adv: He worked briefly for the state, promoting tourism. | The president spoke briefly to reporters.

brief·case /ˈbrɪflˌkeɪs/ n [C] 1 continuing for a short time: a brief period of silence

THE SAURUS

THE SAURUS

THE SAURUS

THE SAURUS

THE SAURUS

THE SAURUS

THE SAURUS

THE SAURUS

THE SAURUS

THE SAURUS

THE SAURUS

THE SAURUS

THE SAURUS

THE SAURUS

THE SAURUS

THE SAURUS
to another: Don’t forget to take your umbrella. I’ll take you to the airport.

get – to go to another place and come back with something or someone: I’ll get my keys.

ew 2 to cause a particular type of result or reaction: The article brought angry letters from readers.

The fishing industry brings lots of money into the area.

efforts to bring peace to the region.

3 to make someone or something come to a place: The project has brought inner city children new opportunities.

What brings you here? “I need to talk to Mike.” 4 to move something in a particular direction: Bring your arm up level with your shoulder.

He brought the axe down with a thud.

5 to begin a legal case against someone: Criminal charges were brought against 14 officials.

6 bring the total/number/score etc. to sth used in order to say what the new total, etc. is: 165 agents are being hired, bringing the total to 2,313.

7 not bring yourself to do sth to not be able to do something, especially because you know it will upset or harm someone: Brenda couldn’t bring herself to tell him that Helen was dead.

8 to cause someone or something to reach a particular state or condition: Bring the mixture to a full boil.

| The demonstration was brought to a peaceful conclusion/ end.

9 bring sth to sb’s attention a phrase, used especially in formal writing, that means to tell someone something: Thank you for bringing the problem to our attention.

10 bring sth to bear (on) to use something in order to get the result you want: Pressure was brought to bear by women’s rights groups, and the club began admitting women.

bring sth ↔ about phr. v. to make something happen: Lewis promised to bring about the needed changes.

bring sb/sth around phr. v.

1 to change the subject of a conversation gradually to something new: They keep bringing the conversation/subject around to their son.

2 to make someone become conscious again bring back phr. v.

1 bring sth ↔ back to start using something again that had been used in the past; Some states have brought back the death penalty.

2 bring back sth to make you remember something: The smell of suntan lotion brought back memories of the summer.

bring sb/sth ↔ down phr. v.

1 to reduce something to a lower level: The changes have brought costs down.

2 to make something fall or come down: A missile brought the plane down.

3 bring down a government/president etc. to force a government, etc. to stop being in control of a country.

bring sth ↔ forth phr. v. (formal) to make something happen, appear, or become available: No evidence has been brought forth against Mr. Keele.

bring sth ↔ forward phr. v.

1 to change an arrangement so that something happens sooner: They had to bring the wedding forward because Lynn got a new job.

2 to introduce or suggest a new plan or idea: Many arguments were brought forward supporting the changes.

bring sb/sth ↔ in phr. v.

1 to ask or persuade someone to become involved in a discussion, help with a problem, etc.: The FBI were brought in to investigate.

2 to earn or produce a particular amount of money: The painting should bring in at least a million dollars.

3 bring in a verdict if a court or jury brings in a verdict, it says whether someone is guilty or not bring sb/sth ↔ off phr. v. to succeed in doing something that is very difficult: She’ll get a promotion if she brings off the deal.

bring sb/sth ↔ on phr. v. to make something bad or unpleasant happen or begin: Stress can bring on an asthma attack.

bring sb/sth ↔ out phr. v. to make something become easier to notice, see, taste, etc.: That shirt brings out the green in her eyes.

2 bring out the best/worst in sb to emphasize someone’s best or worst qualities: Becoming a father has brought out the best in Dan.

3 to produce and begin to sell a new product, book, record, etc.: The band is bringing out a new CD in September.

bring sb/sth ↔ together phr. v. if an event brings a group of people together, it makes them care about each other more: Stuart’s death really brought the family together.

bring sb/sth ↔ up phr. v.

1 to start to talk about a particular subject or person: The issue was brought up during the last election.

2 to educate and care for a child until s/he is old enough to be independent: She brought up three children by herself.

I was brought up a Catholic-Muslim etc. (=taught to believe a particular religion).

3 to make something appear on a computer screen: He brought up an airplane modeling website.

brink /brɪŋk/ n. the brink (of sth) a situation in which you may soon begin a new or different situation: Scientists say they’re on the brink of a major discovery.

brisk /brɪsk/ adj.

1 quick and full of energy: a brisk walk.

2 trade or business that is brisk is very busy.

3 weather that is brisk is cold and clear —briskly adv.

bristly adj.

p Pale bristly hair is short and stiff.

bristle2 v. [t] to behave in a way that shows you are very angry or annoyed: He bristled at my suggestion.

2 if an animal’s hair bristles, it stands up stiffly because the animal is afraid or angry bristle with sth phr. v. to have a lot of something that sticks out: Her hair bristled with curlers.

bristly adj.

1 bristly hair is short and stiff.

2 having short stiff hairs on it: The old man’s face was all bristly with white whiskers.

britch- es /ˈbrɪtʃɪs/ n. [plur] 1 too big for your britches (informal) very confident, in a way that annoys other people.

2 (old-fashioned) pants

British /ˈbrɪtʃɪʃ adj. relating to or coming from Great Britain; the British government. broadcast /brɔːkast/ n. [C] a program on the radio or television: a news broadcast broadcast v. (part tense and past participle broadcast) [T] to send out a radio or television program: Channel 5 will broadcast the game at six o’clock.

broadcaster /brɔːkɑːstər/ n. [C] 1 someone who speaks on radio and television programs ➔ NEWSCASTER 2 a company that sends out television or radio programs broadcaster /brɔːkastər/ n. [C] 1 someone who speaks on radio and television programs ➔ NEWSCASTER 2 a company that sends out television or radio programs broadcasting /brɔːkɑːstɪŋ/ n. [U] the business of making radio and television programs broaden /ˈbrɔːdən/ v. 1 [T] to increase something such as your knowledge, experience, or number of activities: The class will broaden your knowledge of wine. 2 broaden your appeal to younger readers. 3 [T] to make something wider, or to become wider: The river broadens out here.

broadband /ˈbrɔːdbænd/ n. [U] a system in which computers are connected to the Internet and can receive information at very high speed ➔ INTERNET broadsheet /ˈbrɔːdʃiːt/ n. [C] a serious newspaper printed on large sheets of paper ➔ NEWSPAPER

broadside /ˈbrɔːdsайд/ adv. with the longest side facing you: He hit the car broadside.

broadsheet /ˈbrɔːdsheɪt/ n. [C] a serious newspaper printed on large sheets of paper ➔ NEWSPAPER

broadsheet /ˈbrɔːdsheɪt/ n. [C] a serious newspaper printed on large sheets of paper ➔ NEWSPAPER

broadcast /ˈbrɔːkast/ n. [C] a program on the radio or television: a news broadcast broadcast /ˈbrɔːkast/ v. (part tense and past participle broadcast) [T] to send out a radio or television program: Channel 5 will broadcast the game at six o’clock.

broadside /ˈbrɔːdsайд/ adv. with the longest side facing you: He hit the car broadside.

broadside /ˈbrɔːdsайд/ adv. with the longest side facing you: He hit the car broadside.

British

British /ˈbrɪtʃ/ adj. 1 hard but easily broken: The paper was old and brittle. 2 a system, relationship, feeling, etc. that is brittle is easily damaged or destroyed: a brittle friendship. 3 showing no kind feelings: a brittle laugh. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old English gebryttan “to break into pieces”]

broach /ˈbrɔːtʃ/ v. broach the subject/question etc., to mention a subject that may be embarrassing or cause an argument: It’s often difficult to broach the subject of sex.

broach /ˈbrɔːtʃ/ v. broach the subject/question etc., to mention a subject that may be embarrassing or cause an argument: It’s often difficult to broach the subject of sex.

broach /ˈbrɔːtʃ/ v. broach the subject/question etc., to mention a subject that may be embarrassing or cause an argument: It’s often difficult to broach the subject of sex.

break /briːk/ n. 1 a sudden drop or end of something: 2 the moment when something unexpected happens: 3 the action of breaking something: 4 the act of breaking free from the control or influence of something: 5 a situation in which someone did not do what she promised to do: 6 a broken agreement/promise etc., a situation in which someone did not do what she promised to do: 7 a broken heart a feeling of extreme sadness because someone you love has died or left you: 8 broken English/French etc., if someone...

break /briːk/ n. 1 a sudden drop or end of something: 2 the moment when something unexpected happens: 3 the action of breaking something: 4 the act of breaking free from the control or influence of something: 5 a situation in which someone did not do what she promised to do: 6 a broken agreement/promise etc., a situation in which someone did not do what she promised to do: 7 a broken heart a feeling of extreme sadness because someone you love has died or left you: 8 broken English/French etc., if someone...
speaks broken English, French, etc., s/he speaks very slowly, with a lot of mistakes, because s/he does not know the language well broken-down adj. broken, old, and needing a lot of repair; a broken-down sofa broken-hearted adj. very sad, especially because someone you love has died or left you broker¹ /ˈbrʊəkər/ n. [C] Economics someone whose job is to buy and sell property, insurance, etc. for someone else: a real-estate broker ➔ Stockbroker broker² v. [T] to arrange the details of a deal, plan, etc. so that everyone can agree to it: an agreement brokered by the UN brokerage /ˈbrʊəkərɪdʒ/ n. [U] Economics the business of being a broker brochure /ˈbruːʃər/ n. [U] Chemistry a dark red poisonous chemical liquid that changes easily into a gas, often used in photography or for making other chemicals change color. It is a chemical element belonging to the halogen group.

bronchi /ˈbrɒŋkə/ n. plural of bronchus bronchial tube n. [C usually plural] Biology one of two tubes that take air into your lungs from your trachea. ➔ see picture at Organ bronchiole /ˈbrɒŋkɪəl/ n. [C] Biology a narrow tube that carries air into the lung from the bronchial tubes (=the main air passages leading to the lungs). ➔ see picture at Lung bronchitis /ˈbrɒŋkɪtɪs/ n. [U] an illness that affects your breathing and makes you cough ➔ bronchitic /ˈbrɒŋkɪtɪk/ adj.

bronchus /ˈbrɒŋkəs/ n. (plural bronchi /ˈbrɒŋki/) [C] Biology one of two tubes that take air into your lungs from your trachea. ➔ see picture at Lung bronce /ˈbrɔːns/ n. (plural bronzes /ˈbrɔːns/) [C] a wild horse bronze² /ˈbrɔːnz/ n. 1 [U] a hard metal that is a mixture of copper and tin. 2 [U] a dull red-brown color. 3 [C] a work of art made of bronze: a bronze by Henry Moore [Origin: 1700—1800 French-Italian bronzo] bronze² adj. 1 made of bronze: a bronze statue 2 having the red-brown color of bronze bronze Age n. The Bronze Age History the period of time, between about 6,000 and 3,500 years ago, when bronze was used for making tools, weapons, etc. ➔ Iron Age, Stone Age bronze medal n. [C] a prize that is given to the person who finishes third in a race, competition, etc., usually made of bronze brooch /ˈbrʊʃ/ n. Jewelry that you fasten to your clothes brood /ˈbruːd/ v. [I] to think for a long time about something that you are worried, angry, or sad about: Louise was brooding about/over what had happened at work.

brown-nose  v. [T] (informal, disapproving) to try to make someone in authority like you by being very nice to him/her —brown-nose  n. [C] brown-stone  /braʊnstəʊn/  n. 1 [U] a type of red-brown stone, often used for building in the eastern U.S. 2 [C] a house with a front made of this stone browse  /braʊz/  v. 1 [I] to look at the goods in a store without wanting to buy a particular thing: “Can I help you?” “No thanks, I’m just browsing.” 2 [I] to look through the pages of a book, magazine, etc. without a particular purpose, reading only the most interesting parts: I was browsing through the catalog, and I found this. 3 [I,T] v. to search for information on a computer or on the Internet: software for browsing the Internet brows-er  /braʊzər/  n. [C] a computer program that lets you find and use information on the Internet: a Web browser bruise  /bruɪz/  v. 1 [I] to bruise a person or piece of fruit, or to get a bruise: He fell and bruised his knee. 2 n. [U]

bruise²  v. [I,T] to bruise a person or piece of fruit, or to get a bruise: Go brush your teeth. He hadn’t brushed his hair. 2 [T] to remove something with a brush or your hand: She brushed the crumbs off her lap. 3 [I,T] v. to touch someone or something lightly as you pass by: Her hair brushed against my arm.

bruise³  n. [C] a mark on the skin of a person or piece of fruit, where it has been damaged by a hit or a fall: She was covered in cuts and bruises. [Origin: Old English brysan “to press, to break,” later influenced by Old French broiser, bruisser “to break”] brush  /brʌʃ/  n. 1 [C] an object that you use for cleaning, painting, making your hair neat, etc., consisting of a handle with bristles or thin pieces of plastic attached to it ➔ hairbrush, paintbrush, toothbrush 2 [U] small bushes and trees covering an open area of land: a brush fire 3 [C] a short time when you are in an unpleasant situation or argument: the boy’s first brush with the law (=when he was stopped by police) [Origin: (1) 1300—1400 Early French broisse, from Old French broiç] brush²  v. 1 [T] to use a brush to clean something or to make it look smooth and neat: Go brush your teeth. 2 [T] to remove something with a brush or your hand: She brushed the crumbs off her lap. 3 [I,T] to touch someone or something lightly as you pass by: Her hair brushed against my arm.

brush-off  n. [singular] (informal) rude or unfriendly behavior that shows you are not interested in someone: I thought she really liked me, but she gave me the brush-off.

brusher  /bruːzər/  n. [C] ➔ brush brush up on  [phr. v.] to quickly practice and improve your skills or knowledge of a subject: I have to brush up on my French before I go to Paris.

brusque  /bruːskə/ adj. using very few words, in a way that seems impolite: a brusque manner [Origin: 1600—1700 French, Italian brusco, from Medieval Latin bruscus type of bush with sharp points]

brus-sels sprout  /bruːsəl sproʊt/ n. [C] a small round green vegetable that has a slightly bitter taste [Origin: 1600—1700 Brussels, where it was first grown] ➔ see picture at vegetable bru-tal  /bruːtal/ adj. 1 very cruel and violent: a brutal attack 2 not sensitive to people’s feelings: the brutal truth ➔ brutally adv. ➔ brutality /bruːˈtelɪti/ n. [C,U] bru-tal-ize  /bruːtəˌlaɪz/ v. [T] to treat someone in a cruel and violent way bru-te  /bruːt/ n. 1 [C] a man who is rough, cruel, and not sensitive 2 an animal, especially a large one bru-te²  adj. brute force/strength physical strength that is used rather than thought or intelligence bru-tish  /bruːtɪʃ/ adj. very cruel: brutish behavior

b.B.S. n. [C] Bachelor of Science a university degree in a science subject ➔ B.A.

bub-ble  /ˈbʌbəl/ n. [C] a ball of air in a liquid or solid substance: soap bubbles | the bubbles in a glass of soda buck v. [I] 1 to produce bubbles: Heat the sauce until it starts to bubble. 2 also bubble over to be full of a particular emotion, activity, etc.; The kids were bubbling over with excitement.

bubble gum n. [U] a type of chewing gum that you can blow into a bubble bubbly adj. 1 full of bubbles 2 happy and friendly: a bubbly personality buck n. [U] (informal) CHAMPAGNE budget v. (buckled) to bend because of heat or pressure buckle v. [I] if your knees buckle, they become weak buckling n. the process by which simple living creatures produce new creatures by separating to form two new parts bucky adj. /b'kabli/ 1 full of bubbles 2 happy and friendly: a bubbly personality bud n. [plural buds] a young flower or leaf that is still tightly rolled up budget v. (budgeted, budgeting) to produce budgets

Budget cuts (an decrease in the amount of money spent) have meant job losses. | He wants to balance the budget (=make the money that is spent equal to the money coming in) and cut taxes. | Budgetary cuts (+n. 1) a plan of how to spend the money that is available in a particular period in time, or the money itself: a budget of $2 million for the project | The budget for the new library system | The Union wouldn’t budget from their demands.

budding poet n. a beginning to develop: a budding poet budding adj. (budding) beginning to develop: a budding poet budgetary adj. (budgeted, budgeting) to plan and control how much you will spend: $150,000 has been budgeted for the after-school program.

B

BUFF

buggy /bɪˈɡɪ/ n plural buggies or buggalo [C] a light carriage pulled by a horse

buf·fon /buˈfɒn/ n [C] someone who does silly things that make you laugh [origin: 1500-1600 French boufon, from Old Italian buffone] —buffonery n [U] buff /bʌf/ (informal) having an attractive body bug /bʌg/ n [C] 1 any small insect; a little green bug 2 (informal) a germ (=very small creature) that causes an illness that is not very serious; a stomach bug 3 (IT) a small mistake in a computer program that stops it from working correctly bugle /ˈbʌɡl/ n [C] a musical instrument like a trumpet, which is used in the army to call soldiers [origin: 1300-1400 bugle horn “instrument made from buffalo horn, bugle” (13-16 centuries), from bugle “buffalo”] bugey /ˈbaʊɡə/ n (plural buggies or buffalo) [C] 1 a large animal like a cow, with a very large head and thick hair on its neck and shoulders [synonym: bison] 2 an animal like a large black cow, with long curved horns that lives in Africa and Asia buffer /ˈbʌftər/ n [C] 1 something that protects one thing from being affected by another thing: The walls are a buffer against noise from the airport. Use your commuting time as a buffer between work and home. 2 buffer zone an area between two armies, which is intended to separate them so that they do not fight 3 also buffer state politics a smaller country between two larger countries, which makes war between the large countries less likely 4 if a place in a computer’s memory for storing information for a short time 5 also buffer solution chemistry a substance in a solution, that reduces effects on the pH (the level of acid) when an acid or base is added to the solution bu·gle /ˈbʌɡl/ n (plural buggies or buffaloes) [C] 1 a large animal like a cow, with a very large head and thick hair on its neck and shoulders [synonym: bison] 2 an animal like a large black cow, with long curved horns that lives in Africa and Asia

buf·fet /bʊˈfɛt, bU ˈfɛt/ n [C] a meal in which people serve themselves at a table and then sit down somewhere else to eat: a breakfast buffet buf·fet·er /bʊˈfɛtər/ n [C] a person who buggles, bugles, or bugles buf·foon /bʊˈfʊn/ n [C] someone who does silly things that make you laugh [origin: 1500-1600 French boufon, from Old Italian buffone] —buffonery n [U]

build /bɪld/ v (past tense and past participle built /bɪlt/) 1 [T] to make something such as a house, factory, ship, etc.: the money to build a new bridge | more homes are being built near the lake | houses built of bricks

3 also build up to increase, or to make something increase: The tension between them was building. | In diabetes, sugar builds up in the bloodstream and causes damage. | a confidence-building pre-game talk [origin: Old English byldan]

build sth ↔ into sth v 1 to make something a permanent part of a system, agreement, etc.: A completion date was built into the contract. 2 to make something so that it is a permanent part of a structure, machine, etc.: a cash machine built into the wall build on sth v 1 build on sth to use your achievements in order to develop something further: The soccer league hopes to build on the popularity of the game among young people. 2 build sth on sth to base something on an idea or thing; a relationship built on loyalty and trust build up sth ↔ build up sb’s hopes v to unfairly make someone think that he/she will get what he/she is hoping for: Don’t build her hopes up.

THE THESAURUS

defect, problem, flaw, fault, imperfection ↔ defect

4 the travel/skiing/writing etc. bug (informal) a sudden strong interest in doing something, that usually only continues for a short time: I’d been bitten by the travel bug. 5 a small piece of electronic equipment for listening secretly to other people’s conversations build up sb’s hopes up ↔ build up sth’s hopes v to unfairly make someone think that he/she will get what he/she is hoping for: Don’t build her hopes up. bulge /ˈbʌlʒ/ n. 1 [C] a bulging with sth 2 [I] to stick out in a rounded shape: bags bulging with shopping build up to sth phr. v. to gradually prepare for something: I had built up to swimming 50 lengths.

build2 n [singular, U] the shape and size of someone’s body: She has black hair and a slim build.

build-er /ˈbɪldə(r)/ n. [C] 1 a person or company that builds buildings. 2 someone or something that makes something develop or form: The win was a real confidence-builder for the team. 3 her role as a bridge builder between the communities build-ing /ˈbɪldɪŋ/ n. 1 [C] a structure such as a house, church, or factory, that has a roof and walls: Tall buildings lined the street. 2 [U] the process or business of building things building block n. 1 [C] a block of wood or plastic for young children to build things with. 2 building blocks [plural] the pieces or parts that make it possible for something big or important to exist: Reading and writing are the building blocks of education.

building code n. [C] one of a set of official rules about the standards that must be followed in the structure and safety of new buildings, or when changing the inside of an existing building build-up /ˈbɪldʌp/ n. [singular, U] a gradual increase: a buildup of greenhouse gases in the atmosphere. 2 [C] the length of time spent preparing for an event: the buildup to the war built1 /bʊlt/ v. the past tense and past participle of build built2 adj. used to describe someone’s size or shape: a man who is built like a tank built-in adj. forming a part of something that cannot be separated from it: a modern kitchen with built-in cabinets bulb /ˈbʌlb/ n. 1 [C] the glass part of an electric light, that the light shines from: a 40-watt bulb. 2 biology a root shaped like a ball, that grows into a plant: tulip bulbs • see picture at plant bulbous /ˈbʌlbəs/ adj. fat and round: a bulbous nose bulge1 /ˈbʌldʒ/ n. [C] 1 a curved place on the surface of something, caused by something under or inside it: The gun made a bulge under his jacket. 2 an increase in the amount or level of something: the population bulge that happened after World War II bulge2 v. [I] to stick out in a rounded shape: bags bulging with shopping bu-li-mi-a /ˈbʊliːmɪə, bu-ɪ-ə/ n. [U] a mental illness in which someone eats too much and then vomits because s/he is afraid of gaining weight [Origin: 1800—1900 Modern Latin, Greek Δυσλίμεια “great hunger,” from bous “ox, cow” + limos “hunger”] —bulimic /ˈbʊliːmɪk/ adj.

bulk /ˈbʌlk/ n. 1 the bulk (of sth) the main or largest part of something: The bulk of the work has already been done. 2 [C,U] the large size of something or someone: the elephant’s huge bulk | Let dough rise in a warm place until it has doubled in bulk. 3 in bulk in large quantities: Businesses buy paper in bulk.

bulk y /ˈbʌlkɪ/ adj. big and heavy: a bulky package

bull /ˈbʊl/ n. 1 [C] a male cow, or the male of some other large animals, such as an elephant or whale. 2 [U] (informal) something someone says that is stupid or not true: That’s bull. I never saw him before. 3 take the bull by the horns (informal) to bravely or confidently deal with a difficult, dangerous, or unpleasant problem [Origin: (1) Old English bulza] bull-dog /ˈbʊldɔɡ/ n. [C] a dog with a large head, a flat nose, a short neck, and short thick legs bull-doze /ˈbʊldoʊz/ v. [T] to move dirt and rocks, destroy buildings, etc. with a bulldozer bull-do-er /ˈbʊldəʊzər/ n. [C] a powerful vehicle with a broad metal blade, used for moving dirt and rocks, destroying buildings, etc.

bul-let /ˈbʊlət/ n. [C] a small round piece of metal that is fired from a gun bul-le-tin /ˈbʊlətɪn/ n. [C] 1 a short official news report or announcement that is made to tell people about something important: a news bulletin. 2 a letter or printed statement that a group or organization produces to tell people its news [Origin: 1700—1800 French, Italian bullettino, from bulla “official announcement by the Pope”] bulletin board n. [C] 1 a board on a wall, that you put information or pictures on. 2 a place in a system of computers where you can read or leave messages bull-fight /ˈbʊlfɪt/ n. [C] a type of entertainment in some countries, in which a man fights and kills a bull. —bullfighter n. [C] —bullfighting n. [U] bull-horn /ˈbʊlhaʊrn/ n. [C] a piece of equipment that you hold up to your mouth when you talk, to make your voice louder bull-ion /ˈbʊliən/ n. [C] blocks of gold or silver bull-ish /ˈbʊlɪʃ/ adj. ECONOMICS expecting the price of shares on a stock market to rise [art] bearish bull market n. [C] ECONOMICS a stock market in which the prices of stocks are rising and prices are expected to continue rising [art] bear market bull-pen /ˈbʊlpen/ n. [C] the area in a baseball field, in which pitchers practice throwing bull’s-eye n. [C] the center of a target that you try to hit when shooting bull-er /ˈbʊlər/ v. [T] to threaten to hurt someone or frighten him/her, especially someone weaker or smaller than you: At camp, the bigger boys bullied him. | Don’t let them bully you into working on Saturdays. —bully n. [C] bum1 /ˈbʌm/ n. [informal] 1 (disapproving) a man who has no home or job, and who asks people... on the street for money. 2 someone who is very lazy: Get up, you lazy bum! 3 beach/ski etc. bum someone who spends all of his/her time on the beach, skiing, etc.

bum v (bummed, bumping) [T] (slang) to ask someone if you can borrow or have something small: He bummed a cigarette from her.

bum around phr. v (slang) to spend time doing nothing, or in a very lazy way. 2 bum around to travel around, living very cheaply, without having any plans: He spent a year bumping around Europe.

bum? adj. (informal) 1 bad and useless: He got a bum deal. 2 injured: a bum leg

bumblebee /ˈbʌmblbi/ n [C] a large hairy bee bumble /ˈbʌmbl/ adj. behaving in a careless way and making a lot of mistakes bummed /ˈbʌmd/ also bumped out adj. (spoken) feeling disappointed: I'm really bummed that we can't go!

bum-er /ˈbʌmər/ n. [singular] (spoken) a situation that is disappointing: You can't go? What a bummer.

bump 1 /bʌmp/ v 1 [I,T] to hit or knock against something, especially by accident: It was so dark I bumped into a tree. Don't bump your head!

THESAURUS hit, collide, bang, strike

2 [I] to move up and down as you move forward in a vehicle: We bumped along the dirt road.

bump into ab phr. v (informal) to meet someone you know when you were not expecting to: Guess who I bumped into this morning?

bump ab [T] off phr. v (informal) to kill someone bump 2 n. [C] 1 an area of skin that is swollen because you have hit it on something: a bump on his head

THESAURUS injury, wound, bruise, contusion, cut, laceration, scrape, sprain, fracture ➔ INJURY

2 a small raised area on a surface: a bump in the road 3 a movement in which one thing hits against another thing, or the sound that this makes: The elevator stopped with a bump.

bump-er /ˈbʌmpər/ n [C] 1 the part at the front and back of a car that protects it if it hits anything 2 bumper-to-bumper bumper-to-bumper traffic is very close together and moving slowly bumper 2 adj. very large: a bumper crop

bumper sticker n [C] a small sign with a message on it on the bumper of a car bump-y /ˈbʌmpi/ adj. 1 a bumpy surface has a lot of raised parts on it: a bumpy road 2 a bumpy trip by car or airplane is uncomfortable because of bad road or weather conditions

bun /bʌn/ n. [C] 1 a type of bread that is small and round: a hamburger bun 2 if a woman has her hair in a bun, she fastens her hair in a small round shape at the back of her head bunch 1 /bʌntʃ/ n. [singular] a group or number of similar people or things, or a large amount of something: The doctor asked me a bunch of questions. 2 a bunch of grapes There are a whole bunch of little restaurants by the beach. 3 This beer is the best of the bunch.

bunch 2 v. [I,T] also bunch together to stay close together in a group, or to form a group: The runners were bunched together. 2 also bunch up to pull material together tightly in folds: Her socks were bunched up around her ankles.

bundle 1 /ˈbʌndl/ n. 1 [C] a group of things such as papers, clothes, or sticks that are fastened or tied together: a bundle of newspapers 2 [C] a lot of money: That car must have cost a bundle. 4 be a bundle of nerves/laughs etc. informal to be very nervous, a lot of fun, etc.

bundle 2 v. 1 [I,T] also bundle up to make a bundle: Dave bundled up the newspapers. 2 [I,T] also bundle up to dress in a lot of warm clothes because it is cold: Fans were bundled up against the cold. 3 [T] to make someone move quickly into a particular place: The police bundled him into a car. 4 [T] to include computer software or other services when you sell a new computer bun-ga-low /ˈbʌŋgəlou/ n. [C] a small house that usually has only one level ➔ HOUSE (Origin: 1600—1700 Hindī bāngla “(house) in the Bengal style”)

bun-gee jump-ing /ˈbʌŋɡi dʒʌmpɪŋ/ n. [U] a sport in which you jump off something very high while you are attached to a long length of special rope that stretches ➔ bungee jump n. [C] — bungee jumper n. [C]

bung-le /ˈbʌŋgli/ v. [T] to do something badly: They bungled the job completely. — bungler n. [C] — bungling adj.

bun-ion /ˈbʌnɪən/ n. [C] a painful sore on your big toe bunk /bʌŋk/ n. 1 [C] a narrow bed that is attached to the wall, for example on a train or a ship 2 [C] bureaucrat

burden

bunker

bureau

buoy

buoyant

bureaucratic

organization that collects or provides information:

divided into departments and operated by a large number of officials who are not elected, or as a system in which this happens something that is difficult or worrying that you are responsible for:

the duty to prove that something is true something heavy that you have to carry burden on buoyancy

buoyant

burdened buoy up

buoyant mood

buoyant, buoyantly

burden

1 to make someone worry or cause problems for him/her: families burdened with debt

2 to make someone carry something heavy burden on burden with debt

burden

1 (past tense and past participle burned or burnt)

1 DESTROY/INJURE WITH FIRE

2 PRODUCE FLAMES

3 get burned (spoken) a to be emotionally hurt by someone or something: I'm going to take things slowly because I don't want to get burned again. b to lose a lot of money, especially in a business deal

4 FUEL

5 FACE/CHEEKS

6 FAT/ENERGY

7 CD/DVD

8 LIGHT

burg-er burglar

burglarize

burglar-ize

burglarize

burglarize

burglarize

burglarizes burglaries

burgundy

burgundy

burn

burn

burn

burn

burn

burn

burn

burn

burn

burn

burn

burn

burn

burn

burn

burn

burn

burn

burn

burn

burn

burn

burn

burn

bur-geon-ing

burgery

burglar

burglarize

burglary

burglary

burglary

burglary

burglary

burglary

burglary

burglary

burglary

burglary

burglary

burglary
burn (sth + -) down phr. v. 1 if a building burns down or is burned down, it is destroyed by fire burn sth + - off phr. v. burn off energy/fat/calories to use energy that is stored in your body by doing physical exercise burn out phr. v. 1 burn (sth + -) out if a fire burns out or burns itself out, it stops burning because there is no coal, wood, etc. left 2 burn (sth + -) out if an engine or electric wire burns out or is burned out, it stops working because it has become too hot
3 be burned out if a building, car, etc. is burned out, the inside of it is destroyed by fire
4 burn (sb) out to work so hard over a period of time that you become very tired and do not want to continue: After three years of 14-hour days, he was burned out.
burn up phr. v. 1 burn up if something burns up or is burned up, it is completely destroyed by fire or great heat 2 burn sb up (informal) to make someone angry: The way she treats him really burns me up.
burn2 n. [C] an injury or mark caused by fire or heat: a burn on her arm burner (—burst, —burned) n. 1 [C] the part of a stove that produces heat or a flame 2 put sth on the back burner (informal) to delay dealing with something until a later time burning /′burniŋ/ adj. 1 on fire: The boys were rescued from the burning house.
2 feeling very hot: a burning fever
3 burning ambition/need etc. a very strong ambition, need etc.
4 burning question/issue a very important or urgent question etc.
5 burning adj.
burnished /′bərnɪʃt/ adj. [T] to polish metal until it shines —burnished adj.
burnt /′bərnɪt/ v. a past tense and past participle of burn burb /′burbp/ v. (informal) 1 [I] if you burp, gas comes up from your stomach through your mouth and makes a noise 2 [T] to help a baby get rid of stomach gas, especially by rubbing his/her back —burb n. [C]
burrito /′bərito/ n. (plural burritos) [C] a Mexican food made from a tortilla folded around meat or beans burro /′bəroʊ, ′bəroʊ/ n. (plural burros) [C] a small donkey burrow1 /′burwl, ′bərowl/ n. (plural burrows) [C] a hole or passage in the ground: Gophers had burrowed under the wall.
burrow2 v. (C) to make a hole or passage in the ground: a rose bush burst1 /′burst/ v. (past tense and past participle burst) 1 [T] to break open or apart suddenly and violently, or to make something do this: a game in which kids sit on balloons to try to burst them burst2 n. a burst of sth a short sudden period of increased activity, loud noise, or strong feeling: a sudden burst of laughter bursting /′bərstɪŋ/ adj. be bursting to be very full of something: This town is bursting with tourists.
burst2 /′bərst/ v. 1 burst out laughing/crying etc. to suddenly start to laugh, cry, etc.
2 to suddenly say something in a strong way: “I don’t believe it!” she burst out angrily burst2 n. a burst of sth a sudden, short period of increased activity, loud noise, or strong feeling: a sudden burst of laughter bursting /′bərstɪŋ/ adj. be bursting to be very full of something: This town is bursting with tourists.
burst into /′bərst ɪnto/ sth phr. v. to suddenly start to do something: Ellen burst into tears (=began crying).
bursting /′bərstɪŋ/ adj. be bursting to be very full of something: This town is bursting with tourists.
bury /′bəri/ v. (buried, buries) [T] 1 to put a dead body into a grave: Aunt Betty was buried in Woodlawn Cemetery.
2 to cover something with something else so that it cannot be seen: a dog burying a bone —burying adj.
busty /′bəstɪ/ adj. (pl. bustier) [C] a large vehicle that people pay to travel on: Are you going to drive or go by bus? Five people got on the bus.
—bus v. [T] 1 to take a group of people somewhere in a bus: Many children are being bused to school in other areas.
2 to take away dirty dishes from the tables in a restaurant: a job busing tables —busier adj. (busier) [C] a man whose job is to take away dirty dishes from the tables in a restaurant bus /′bʌs/ n. [C] a plant with many thin branches growing up from the ground: a rose bush —busier adj. (busier) [C] a man whose job is to take away dirty dishes from the tables in a restaurant
bursting /′bərstɪŋ/ adj. be bursting to be very full of something: This town is bursting with tourists.
bush /′bʌʃ/ n. [C] a bushy plant with thorny branches growing from the ground: a rose bush —bushier adj. (bushier) [C] a man whose job is to take away dirty dishes from the tables in a restaurant bursting /′bərstɪŋ/ adj. be bursting to be very full of something: This town is bursting with tourists.
bustle

bus·i·ly /'busi·lē/ adv. in a busy way busi·ness /'buz·nēs/ n.

1 WORK DONE BY COMPANIES [U] the activity of buying or selling goods or services: We do a lot of business with a company in Texas. | jobs in the music/advertising/publishing business

2 A COMPANY [C] an organization that produces or sells goods or services: a real-estate business | He runs a printing business. | the owner of a small business

3 YOUR JOB [U] work that you do as part of your job: Al’s gone to Japan on business. | a business trip

4 AMOUNT OF WORK [U] the amount of work a company does, or the amount of money it makes: Business is good/bad/slow during the winter.

5 be in business to be operating as a company: He’s in business for himself (she owns a small company).

6 go into business/go out of business to begin or stop operating as a company: Many small companies have recently gone out of business.

7 big business a) large and powerful companies in general: the Republican’s links with big business b) something that makes a lot of profit: Toys are big business.

8 PERSONAL LIFE [U] if something is not your business, you should not be involved in it or ask about it: It’s none of your business how much I earn. | Why don’t you just mind your own business (=used in order to tell someone rudely that you do not want his/her advice, help, etc.)

9 SUBJECT/ACTIVITY [singular] a subject, event, or activity, especially one that you have a particular opinion of: Rock climbing can be a risky business.

10 get down to business to start dealing with an important subject

11 business as usual if a situation is business as usual, things are happening as they usually do, even though there is a reason why you might expect them not to happen normally: The owners have changed, but it’s business as usual for the popular restaurant.

12 mean business (informal) to be determined to do something: The border is being guarded by troops who mean business.

13 have no business doing sth if someone has no business doing something, s/he should not do it: He was drunk and had no business driving. [ORIGIN: 1300—1400] business card n. [C] a card that shows your name, the name of your company, the company’s address, etc.

busi·ness·like /'buz·nēs·lāk/ adj. effective and practical in the way you do things: a businesslike attitude big business

bust

bust /böst/ n. informal 1 a place where buses start and finish their trips | bust stop n. [C] a place at the side of a road, marked with a sign, where buses stop for passengers

2 a) something that ends as a situation, or that stops an activity: an underground bust | bust of someone’s head, shoulders, and upper chest: a bust of Beethoven bust n. [C] 1 a woman’s breasts, or the measurement around a woman’s breasts and back: a 34-inch bust 2 (informal) a situation in which the police go into a place in order to catch people doing something illegal: a drug bust 3 ENG. LANG. ARTS a model of someone’s head, shoulders, and upper chest: a bust of Beethoven bust v. [I] to move around quickly, looking very busy: Linda bustled around the kitchen.

bust /böst/ n. informal 1 a place where buses start and finish their trips

2 bust sb (for sth) if the police bust someone, they catch someone who has done something illegal: A new car would bust our budget. 4 crime-busting/union-busting/budget-busting etc. used with nouns to show that a situation is being ended or an activity is being stopped

bust n. [C] 1 a woman’s breasts, or the measurement around a woman’s breasts and back: a 34-inch bust 2 (informal) a situation in which the police go into a place in order to catch people doing something illegal: a drug bust 3 ENG. LANG. ARTS a model of someone’s head, shoulders, and upper chest: a bust of Beethoven

bust v. [I] to move around quickly, looking very busy: Linda bustled around the kitchen.

bust /böst/ n. informal 1 a place where buses start and finish their trips

2 bust sb (for sth) if the police bust someone, they catch someone who has done something illegal: A new car would bust our budget. 4 crime-busting/union-busting/budget-busting etc. used with nouns to show that a situation is being ended or an activity is being stopped

bust n. [C] 1 a woman’s breasts, or the measurement around a woman’s breasts and back: a 34-inch bust 2 (informal) a situation in which the police go into a place in order to catch people doing something illegal: a drug bust 3 ENG. LANG. ARTS a model of someone’s head, shoulders, and upper chest: a bust of Beethoven

bust v. [I] to move around quickly, looking very busy: Linda bustled around the kitchen.
busy

bus-y /ˈbʌzi/ adj. (comparative busier, superlative busiest) 1 a busy person is working hard and has a lot of things to do: Hawkins is busy with a customer. 2 a busy mother 3 I found some paper and crayons to keep the kids busy. 2 a busy time is full of work or other activities: a very busy day 3 a busy place is full of people or vehicles, or has a lot happening in it: a busy airport 4 a telephone that is busy is being used: I keep getting a busy signal. 5 (disapproving) a pattern or design that is busy is full of details.

busy-ly adv. used to do something in order to make time seem to go faster: He busied himself with cleaning.

busi-ness n. (plural busy-nesses) [C] someone who is too interested in other people's private activities.

but prep. except for: Joe can come any day but Monday. [T] nobody here but me.

butch-er /ˈbʌtʃər/ n. [C] someone who owns or works in a store that sells meat [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French boucher, from bouc “male goat”].

butcher v. [T] 1 to kill animals and prepare them to be used as meat 2 to kill people in a cruel way — butchery n. [U]

butch-er’s /ˈbʌtʃərз/ n. [C] the main male servant of a house.

butch-er’s-’-bouc /ˈbʌtʃərз-’bɔk/ n. [C,U] informal one of the soft parts of your body that you sit on.

butch-er’s-’-hat /ˈbʌtʃərз-’hæt/ n. [C,U] a type of candy made from butter and sugar boiled together.

butch-er’s-’-tail /ˈbʌtʃərз-’tæl/ n. [C] butch-er’s-’-tail.

butch-er’s-’-tail /ˈbʌtʃərз-’tæl/ n. [C] the end of a cigarette after most of it has been smoked.

butch-er’s-’-tail /ˈbʌtʃərз-’tæl/ n. [C] the end of the handle of a gun.

butch-er’s-’-tail /ˈbʌtʃərз-’tæl/ n. [C] the part of your body that you sit on.

butch-er’s-’-tail /ˈbʌtʃərз-’tæl/ n. [C] a hole for a button to be put through to fasten a shirt, coat, etc.

butch-et /ˈbʌtʃət/ n. [C] a type of candy made from butter and sugar boiled together.

butch-er’s-’-tail /ˈbʌtʃərз-’tæl/ n. [C] a type of candy made from butter and sugar boiled together.

butch-er’s-’-tail /ˈbʌtʃərз-’tæl/ n. [C] the main male servant of a house.

butch-er’s-’-tail /ˈbʌtʃərз-’tæl/ n. [C] the part of your body that you sit on.

butch-er’s-’-tail /ˈbʌtʃərз-’tæl/ n. [C] a hole for a button to be put through to fasten a shirt, coat, etc.
butress /ˈbʌtres/ n. [T] (formal) to do something to support a system, idea, argument, etc.: The evidence clearly buttresses the Treasury’s argument.

buttress /ˈbʌtres/ n. [C] a structure built to support a wall buxom /ˈbʊksəm/ adj. a woman who is buxom has large breasts buy /bɔɪ/ v. (past tense and past participle bought /bɔt/) 1 [T] to get something by paying money for it: Let me buy you a drink. It’s best to buy plants from a good nursery. The money will be used to buy equipment for the school.

2 [T] (informal) to believe an explanation or reason for something: “I’ll tell the police it was an accident.” “They’ll never buy it.”

THE SAURUS

purchase (formal) – to buy something: Tickets for the performance can be purchased by phone.

acquire (formal) – to buy a company or property: They want to acquire valuable works of art as cheaply as possible.

get – to buy or obtain something: I never know what to get Dad for his birthday.

procure (formal) – to buy or obtain something, especially something that is difficult to get: The organization helps workers procure insurance at cheaper rates.

snap sth up – to buy something immediately, especially when it is very cheap: Real estate in the area is being snapped up by developers.

pick sth up – to buy something: Could you pick up some milk on your way home?

stock up – to buy a lot of something that you intend to use later: Before the blizzard, we stocked up on food.

THE SAURUS

believe, accept, take sb’s word, swallow, fall for sth to sth ➔ BELIEVE

3 buy time (informal) to do something that will get you more time to finish something: 4 [T] also buy off (informal) to pay money to someone in order to persuade him/her to do something dishonest bribe: They say the judge was bought.

buy into sth phr. v. 1 to accept that an idea is right and allow it to influence you: women who buy into the idea of having a “perfect body” 2 ECONOMICS to buy part of a business or organization: How much does it cost to buy into a hamburger franchise?

buy sb/sth ↔ out phr. v. ECONOMICS to buy someone’s share of a business or property that you previously owned together, so that you gain control buy sth ↔ up phr. v. to quickly buy as much as you can of something: Even small local newspapers have been bought up by the national newspaper chains.

buy /bɔɪ/ n. be a good/bad buy to be worth or not worth the price you paid: These shoes were a good buy.

THE SAURUS

customer, client, shopper, patron, consumer ➔ CUSTOMER

2 someone whose job is to choose and buy the goods that a store or company will sell

THE SAURUS

customer, client, shopper, patron, consumer ➔ CUSTOMER

buy-out /ˈbʌraʊt/ n. [C] ECONOMICS a situation in which someone gains control of a company by buying all of its stock: a management buyout buzz /ˈbʊz/ v. 1 [I] to make a continuous noise like the sound of a bee: What’s making that buzzing noise? 2 [I] if a group of people or a place is buzzing, people are making a lot of noise because they are excited: The room buzzed with excitement. 3 [I] to call someone by pressing a buzzer: Tina buzzed for her secretary.

buzz off phr. v. (informal) used in order to tell someone to go away in an impolite way buzz /ˈbʊz/ n. 1 [C] a continuous noise like the sound of a bee: the buzz of traffic in the distance see picture on page A7 2 [singular] (informal) a strong feeling of excitement, pleasure, or success, especially one you get from alcohol or drugs buzzard /ˈbʌzərd/ n. [C] a large wild bird that eats dead animals buzz−er /ˈbʊzə/ n. [C] a small thing like a button, that makes a buzzing sound when you press it: Press the buzzer if you know the answer.

buzz−word /ˈbʊzwɜːd/ n. [C] a word or phrase relating to a particular subject that is suddenly very popular by /bɔɪ/ prep. 1 used with passive forms of verbs to show who did something or what caused something: a play by Shakespeare | a film made by Steven Spielberg | Her money is controlled by her family. 2 near or beside: He was standing by the window. 3 past: Two dogs ran by me. 4 used in order to say what means or method someone uses to do something: Send the letter by air mail. | Carolyn earns extra money by babysitting. | We went from New York to Philadelphia by car/airplane/ train/bus. 5 no later than a particular time: This report has to be done by 5:00. 6 by mistake/ accident without intending to do something: She locked the door by mistake. 7 according to a particular way of doing things: By law, cars cannot pass a school bus that has stopped. 8 used in order to show which part of something someone holds: I picked up the pot by the handle. | She grabbed him by the arm. 9 used in order to show a distance, amount, or rate: The room is 24 feet by 36 feet. | Are you paid by the hour? 10 by the way (spoken) used in order to begin talking about a subject that is not related to the one you were talking about: Oh, by the way, Vicky called while you were out. 11 (all) by yourself completely alone: They left the boy by himself for two days! 12 day by day/little by little etc. used in order to show that something happens gradually: Little by little, he began to understand the language.

by /bɔɪ/ adv. 1 past: One or two cars went by. | Three hours went by before we heard any news. 2 come/stop/go by to visit or go to a place for a short time when you intend to go somewhere else afterward: Come by (come to my house, office, etc.) any time tomorrow. 3 by and large used when talking generally about something: By and large, the new arrangements are working well.

bye [baɪ] also bye-bye interjection (spoken) goodbye: Bye, Sandy.

by-election n. [C] politics a special election to replace a politician who has left the government or died by-gone /ˈbaɪɡən/ adj. bygone days/, age/ora etc. a period in the past by-gones /ˈbaɪɡənz/ n. let bygones be bygones (informal) to forgive someone for something bad that s/he has done to you by-law /ˈbaɪlaʊ/ n. [C] a rule made by an organization by-line n. [C] a line at the beginning of a newspaper or magazine article that gives the writer’s name

BYOB adj. bring your own bottle used in order to describe a party or event that you bring your own alcoholic drinks to by-pass /ˈbaɪpɑːs/ n. [C] 1 a medical operation that repairs the system of arteries around the heart: a triple heart bypass operation 2 a road that goes around a town or other busy place rather than through it bypass v. [T] 1 to avoid a place by going around it: If we bypass the town, we’ll save time. 2 to avoid obeying a rule, system, or someone in an official position: He bypassed the complaints procedure and wrote straight to the chairman.

by-product /ˈbaɪprɒdʌkt/ n. [C] 1 a substance that is produced during the process of making something else: Sausages are made from a variety of meats and meat by-products. 2 an unexpected result of an event or of something you do: Job losses are a by-product of the economic slowdown.

by-stander /ˈbaɪstændər/ n. [C] someone who watches what is happening without taking part: Several innocent bystanders were killed.

byte /ˈbaɪt/ n. [C] 1 a unit for measuring the amount of information a computer can use, equal to 8 bits by-way /ˈbaɪˌweɪ/ n. [C] a small road or path that is not used very much by-word /ˈbaɪˌwɜːrd/ n. [C] the name of someone or something that has become so well known for a particular quality that it represents that quality: The housing projects have become a byword for poverty.

C C c /sɪ/ 1 the third letter of the English alphabet 2 the number 100 in the system of Roman numerals

C1 /sɪ/ n. 1 [C] a grade given to a student’s work to show that it is of average quality: Terry got a C on the final exam. 2 [C, U] Eng. Lang. Arts the first note in the musical scale of C Major, or the musical key based on this note

C² Physics the written abbreviation of Celsius or centigrade

C, the written abbreviation of Circa

CA the written abbreviation of California cab /ˈkeɪb/ n. [C] 1 a car with a driver who you pay to drive you somewhere (on taxi): We’ll just take a cab home.

cab-a-re-t /ˈkeɪbəret/ n. [C, U] entertainment such as music and dancing performed in a restaurant while customers eat and drink [Origin: 1600—1700 French “drinking place, bar”] cab-bage /ˈkæbɪdʒ/ n. [C, U] a large round vegetable with thick green or purple leaves that can be cooked or eaten raw [Origin: 1400—1500 French cabouche “head”] → see picture at vegetable cab-bie, cabby /ˈkæbɪ/ n. [C] (informal) someone who drives a cab cab-in /ˈkæbɪn/ n. [C] 1 a small house made of wood, usually in a forest or the mountains: a log cabin 2 a small room on a ship, in which you sleep 3 the area inside an airplane where the passengers sit → see picture at airplane [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French cabune, from Old Provençal cabuna “small wooden building”] cab-in crew n. [C] the people who take care of the passengers and serve meals on an airplane cab-i-net /ˈkeɪbənɪt/ n. [C] 1 a piece of furniture with doors and shelves or drawers, used for storing or showing things: a filing cabinet | the kitchen cabinets 2 an important group of politicians who make decisions or advise the leader of a government: cabinet members [Origin: 1500—1600 French “small room,” from Old North French cabine “room for gambling”]

ca-bie /ˈkeɪbɪ/ n. [C] a plastic or rubber tube containing wires that carry electronic signals, telephone messages, etc.: an underground telephone cable 2 [U] a system of broadcasting television by using cables, paid for by the person watching it: I’ll wait for the movie to come out on cable. 3 [C,U] a thick strong metal rope used on ships, to support bridges, etc. 4 [C] a TELEGRAM cable* vi [I,T] to send a TELEGRAM cable car n. [C] 1 a vehicle that is pulled along by a cable, used like a bus to take people from one place to another 2 a vehicle that hangs from a cable and takes people up a mountain cable car

caboose /ka’bous/ n. [C] a small railroad car at the end of a train cache /ka’ʃe/ n. [C] 1 a group of things that are hidden, or the place where they are hidden: The soldiers found a cache of weapons in the forest. 2 a special part of a computer’s MEMORY that helps it work faster by storing information for a short time — cache v [T] cachet /ka’ʃe/ n. [U] a quality that is good or desirable: It’s a great college, but it lacks the cachet of Harvard.

cackle /‘kækəl/ v [I] 1 to make the loud noise a chicken makes 2 to laugh or talk in a loud rough voice cackle n. [C]

cacophonous adj

cacophony /‘kækəfəni/ n. [singular] (formal) a mixture of loud sounds together that are not pleasant to listen to: a cacophony of car horns cactus /‘kektəs/ n. (plural cacti /kektəsi or cactuses) [C] a desert plant with thick stems and sharp points see picture on page A10

cadaver /‘kɑːdəvər/ n. [C] (formal) a dead human body cad-dy /‘kædri/ n. (plural caddies) [C] someone who carries the equipment for someone who is playing GOLF — caddy vi [I] cadence /‘kædəns/ n. [C] 1 the way someone’s voice rises and falls 2 ENG. LANG. ARTS a regular repeated pattern of sounds cadet /ka’dæt/ n. [C] someone who is studying to become an officer in the military or the police cadium /‘kædmɪəm/ n. [U] CHEMISTRY (symbol Cd) a type of metal that is an ELEMENT and that is used in BATTERIES cadre /kɑːdri, ‘ka-ˌdrē/ n. [C] (formal) a small group of specially trained people in a profession, political party, or military force: a cadre of highly trained scientists cajon /‘seɪbən/ n. [C] another spelling of CESAREAN

cafe /ka’fɛ/ n. [C] 1 a small restaurant [Origin: 1900—1900 American Spanish “coffee shop,” from Spanish café “coffee”] cafe-ter-ia /ka’fɛtrɪə/ n. [C] a restaurant where people get their own food at a COUNTER and take it to a table themselves: the school cafeteria caffeine /kæfɪn/ n. [U] a chemical substance in coffee, tea, and some other drinks that makes people feel more active: caffeine-free beverages cage /keɪdʒ/ n. [C] 1 a structure made of wires or bars in which birds or animals can be kept: a hamster cage [Origin: 1100—1200 Old French, Latin cavea “hollow place, cage”] cage v [T] to put an animal or bird in a cage cag-ey /‘keɪdi/ adj. (informal) not willing to talk about your plans or intentions: The White House is being very caggy about the contents of the report.

cahoots /‘kɑːhʊts/ n. be in cahoots (with sb) (informal) to be working secretly with others, usually to do something that is not honest cai-man /‘keɪmən/ n. [C] a type of small CROCODILE that lives in tropical areas of North, Central, and South America cajole /ka’dʒʊl/ vi [T] to persuade someone to do something by praising him/her or making promises to him/her: She cajoled him into helping. [Origin: 1600—1700 French cajoler “to make noises like a bird in a cage, cajole,” from Old North French caiole “birdcage”] cajole n. [U] PERSUADE

cajoler /‘keɪloər/ n. [C] a member of a group of people in southern Louisiana whose family originally came from the French-speaking part of Canada —Cajun adj.

Ca-jun
cake

cake /ˈkeɪk/ n. 1 [C,U] a sweet food made by baking a mixture of flour, fat, sugar, and eggs: chocolate cake | a birthday cake | Do you want a piece of cake? 2 [C] a small piece of something, made into a flat shape: a cake of soap 3 salmon/rice/potato etc. cake fish, rice, etc. that has been formed into a flat round shape and cooked 4 be a piece of cake (informal) to be very easy: We looked at the other team and thought, “piece of cake!” 5 take the cake (informal) to be worse than anything else you can imagine: Of all the stupid things you’ve done, this takes the cake! 6 have your cake and eat it too (informal) to have all the advantages of something without any of the disadvantages [Origin: 1100—1200 Old Norse kaka] cake /keɪk/ v. be caked in/with sth to be covered with a thick layer of something: Irene’s boots were caked with mud.

cal. or Cal. CHEMISTRY a written abbreviation of CALORIE.

calamity /ˈkæləməti/ n. (plural calamities) [C] a very bad unexpected event that causes a lot of damage or suffering: If the crops fail again, it will be a calamity for the country. —calamitous adj.

calci-um /ˈkælsəm/ n. [U] CHEMISTRY (symbol Ca) a silver-white metal that is an ELEMENT and that helps to form teeth, bones, and CHALK [Origin: 1800—1900 Modern Latin, Latin calx “lime”] cal-cu-late /ˈkælkjəleɪt/ v. [T] MATH to find out something or measure something using numbers: These instruments calculate distances precisely. Researchers calculated that the chances of having an accident rose 4.3%. I’m trying to calculate how long it will take us to drive to Denver.

THESAURUS

figure out — a less formal word for calculate: Let’s try to figure out how much this will cost! tally up — to calculate the total number of points won, things done, etc.: Can you tally up the scores?

add sth and sth — to put two or more numbers together to find the total: Add 7 and 5 to make 12.

subtract sth from sth also take sth away from sth — to reduce one number by another number: If you subtract 12 from 15, you get 3. I’d take away 2 if 6.
multiply — to add a number to itself a particular number of times: 4 multiplied by 10 is 40.
divide — to calculate how many times one number contains another number: 10 divided by 2 equals 5.

plus (spoken) — used between numbers to show that you are adding them together: Two plus two equals four.

minus (spoken) — used between numbers to show that you are taking one away from the other: Six minus five is one.

2 be calculated to do sth to be intended to have a particular effect: The ads are calculated to attract Hispanic buyers. [Origin: 1500—1600 Latin, past participle of calculate, from calculus “stone used in counting”] cal-cu-lat-ed /ˈkælkjəˌleɪtɪd/ adj. 1 calculated risk/gamble something you do after thinking carefully, although you know it may have bad results 2 deliberately and carefully planned to have a particular effect: a calculated attempt to deceive the public cal-cu-lat-ing /ˈkælkjəˌleɪtɪŋ/ adj. (disapproving) someone who is calculating makes careful plans to get what s/he wants, without caring about how it affects other people cal-cu-la-tion /ˈkælkjəˌleɪʃən/ n. [C usually plural] MATH the act of adding, multiplying, or dividing numbers to find out an amount, price, etc.: I made a few quick calculations. an approximate calculation of the cost by their calculations, the debt will be paid off in four years.

cal-cu-la-tor /ˈkælkjəˌleɪtər/ n. [C] a small machine that can add, multiply, divide, etc. numbers cal-cu-lus /ˈkælkjəˌləs/ n. [U] MATH the part of mathematics that studies changing quantities, such as the speed of a falling stone or the slope of a curved line cal-de-ra /ˈkældərə/ n. [C] EARTH SCIENCES a large deep hole in the top of a VOLCANO, formed by an ERUPTION (≡explosion which sends smoke, fire, and rock into the sky)

cal-en-dar /ˈkæləndər/ n. [C] 1 a set of pages showing the days, weeks, and months of a year, that you usually hang on the wall 2 all the things that you plan to do in the following days, months, etc.: My calendar is full this week. 3 a system that divides and measures time in a particular way: the Jewish calendar 4 calendar year/month a period of time that continues from the first day of the month or year until the last day of the month or year [Origin: 1100—1200 Anglo-French calendrier, from Medieval Latin calendarium, from Latin kalendae “first day of an ancient Roman month”] calf /kælf/ n. (plural calves /kælevz/) [C] 1 the part at the back of your leg between your knee and foot 2 the baby of a cow, or of some other large animals such as an ELEPHANT cal-i-ber /ˈkæliˌbər/ n. [C] 1 the level of quality or ability that someone or something has achieved: musicians of the highest caliber 2 the width of a bullet or the inside part of a gun [Origin: 1500—1600 French calibre, from Old Italian calibro, cal·i·brate /ˈkæliˌbreɪt/ v [T] SCIENCE to mark an instrument or tool so you can use it for measuring —calibration /ˈkæliˌbreɪʃən/ n. [C, U] cal·i·co /ˈkalɪko/ n. [U] a light cotton cloth with a small pattern on it cal·iph /ˈkælɪf/ n. [C] HISTORY a title of some Muslim rulers, especially in the past. A caliph’s right to rule came from being related to the Prophet Muhammad. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French calife, from Arabic khilafah “person who comes after;” because a caliph is regarded as a successor of Muhammad]

CALL /ˈkæl/ n. [U] it computer-assisted language learning the use of computers to help people learn foreign languages call /ˈkæl/ v.

1 TELEPHONE [T] to telephone someone: I called about six o’clock. | He said he’d call me tomorrow.
2 DESCRIBE [T] to describe someone or something in a particular way, or to say that she has a particular quality: News reports have called it the worst disaster of this century. | Are you calling me a liar?
3 ASK/OFFER [T] to ask or order someone to come and help you with a difficult situation: The governor called on both sides to observe the cease-fire.
4 ARRANGE [T] to arrange for something to happen at a particular time: A meeting was called for 3 p.m. Wednesday.
5 SAY/SHOUT [T] to say or shout something so that someone can hear you: “I’m coming!” Paula called.

THESAURUS

describe – to say what someone or something is like by giving details: The suspect has been described as a young white man.
characterize – to describe the character of someone or something in a particular way: Psychologists characterized her as mentally unstable.
label – to use a particular word or phrase in order to describe someone: He labeled their comments “ridiculous.”
brand – to call someone a very bad type of person, often unfairly: His opponents branded him a racist.
portray – to describe or show someone or something in a particular way: a politician who portrayed himself as an opponent of big business

6 NAME [T] to give a person, animal, or thing a name: What are you going to call the dog? | What was that movie called again (=what was its name)?
7 READ NAMES [T] also call out to read names or numbers in a loud voice in order to get someone’s attention: When I call your name, go stand at the front.
8 call the shots (informal) to be the person who decides what to do in a situation: He’s the boss, so he gets to call the shots.
9 call it a day (spoken) said when you want to stop working, either because you are tired or because you have done enough: Come on, guys, let’s call it a day.

call (sb) back phr. v. to telephone someone again, or to telephone someone who tried to telephone you earlier: Okay, I’ll call back around three. | Can I call you back later?
call for sth phr. v.
1 to ask publicly for something to be done: Parents are calling for a return to basics in education.
2 to need or deserve a particular type of behavior or treatment: a situation that calls for immediate action 3 to say that a particular type of weather is likely to happen: The forecast calls for more rain.
call in phr. v.
1 call sb ↔ in to ask or order someone to come and help you with a difficult situation: The governor called on both sides to observe the cease-fire.
2 to telephone the place where you work, especially to report something: Jan called in sick this morning.
3 to telephone a radio or television show to give your opinion or ask a question call ab/th ↔ off phr. v.

1 to decide that a planned event will not happen or will not continue: The game had to be called off due to bad weather.
2 to order a dog or person to stop attacking someone: Call off your dog!
call on sb phr. v.
1 to formally ask someone to do something: The UN has called on both sides to observe the cease-fire.
2 to visit someone for a short time: a salesman calling on customers call out phr. v.

1 call sb/th ↔ out to say something loudly: “Phone for you,” Rosie called out.
2 call sb/th ↔ up to ask or order someone to come and help you with a difficult situation: The Army has been called out to help fight the fires.

call up phr. v.
1 call sb ↔ up to telephone someone: Dave called me up to tell me about it.
2 call sb/th ↔ up it to make information appear on a computer screen call2 n. [C] 1 an action of talking to someone by telephone: Were there any phone calls for me? | I got a call yesterday from Teresa. | Just give me a call from the airport. | I have to make a telephone call center

call. [Why haven’t you returned my call (=telephoned me back)?] a local/long-distance call

2 be on call ready to go to work if you are needed: Heart surgeons are on call 24 hours a day. 3 a shout or cry: a call for help 4 the sound that a bird or animal makes 5 a request or demand for someone to do something: There have been calls for him to resign. 6 no call for sth/no call to do sth (spoken) used in order to tell someone that his/her behavior is wrong or that something is unnecessary: She had no call to talk to you like that. 7 a decision made by the referee in a sports game: All the calls went against us. 8 a message or announcement: the last call for flight 134 9 a short visit to someone call center n. [C] an office where a lot of people are employed to deal with customers who telephone them with questions, orders for goods, etc.

call-er /'kal33/ n. [C] someone who is making a telephone call call girl n. [C] a prostitute cal-lig-ra-phy /'kælɪg्रærəfi/ n. [U] the art of writing using special pens or brushes, or the beautiful writing produced in this way [origin: 1600—1700 Greek kalligrapheia, from kallos “beauty” + - graphein “to write”] call-ing /'kællɪŋ/ n. [C] a strong desire or feeling of duty to do a particular type of work, especially work that helps other people: She found her calling as a nurse.
call-in show n. [C] a radio or television program in which people telephone to give their opinions cal-lous /'kæləs/ adj. unkind and not caring that other people are suffering —callousness n. [U] —callously adv.
cal-lus /'kælməs/ n. [C] an area of hard rough skin: calluses on his feet —calloused adj.
call waiting n. [U] a telephone service that allows you to receive another call without ending the call you are already making calm adj. 1 relaxed and not angry or upset: Glen was calm and composed at the funeral. 2 about anything: My dad’s pretty laid-back, but my mother’s always nagging. 3 easilygoing — easilygoing: you’ll get along with her fine. 4 friendly, relaxed, and calm: Ann’s family is pretty mellow, and they liked me. 5 calm, and not nervous or excited: Try to stay cool during the interview. placid (formal) calm and peaceful and not easy to annoy or make excited: She was a good-natured, placid woman. serene (formal) —very calm or peaceful: the serene expression on her face 4 (informal) —very calm, and not nervous or excited calmly adv.

calm down 1 become quiet after you have been angry, excited, or upset, or to make someone become quiet. Calm down and tell me what happened. 2 It took a while to calm the kids down. [origin: 1300—1400 Old French calmer, from Late Latin caudam “heat;” because everything is quiet and still in the heat of the middle part of the day] 3 adj. 1 relaxed and not angry or upset: Glen was calm and composed at the funeral. 2 keep/stay calm!

The synonyms of calm are quiet, tranquil, peaceful, and quietness. The antonyms of calm are flashy, partisan, and irritable. Calm is used to describe a state of being free from fear, anxiety, or disturbance, and is often associated with a sense of composure and control. It is a desirable quality to have in a person, as it allows them to remain composed and focused even in stressful or challenging situations. Calmness is often associated with a sense of inner peace and contentment, and is a quality that is highly valued in many cultures. It is also a quality that is often sought after in leadership roles, as it is believed to enable leaders to make rational and informed decisions, and to inspire confidence in those who look up to them.
people [origin: 900—1000 Latin camelus, from Greek kamélos] cam-e-o /'kæmioʊ/ n [plural cameos] 1 (eng. lang. arts) a small part in a movie or play acted by a famous actor: Brad Pitt made a cameo appearance in the show. 2 a piece of jewelry with a raised shape, usually of a person’s face, on a dark background: a cameo brooch cam-er-a /'kæmərə, -ərə/ n [c] a piece of equipment used for taking photographs, or for making movies or television programs [origin: 1700—1800 camera obscura “box with a hole through which an image is able to appear on the inside of the box” (18—21 centuries), from modern Latin, “dark room”] ➔ see picture on page A6 cam-o-mile /'kæməˌmil, -ˈmaɪl/ n [c.u.] a plant with small white and yellow flowers, often used for making tea
cam-ou-flage /'kæməˌflæʒ, -ˈfloʊʒ/ n [c.u.] the act of hiding something by making it look the same as the things around it, or the things you use to do this: a soldier in camouflage | The Arctic fox’s white fur is an excellent winter camouflage. [origin: 1900—2000 French camoufler “to change the appearance of,” from italian camuffare] ➔ camouflage v [t]
camp¹ /'kæmp/ n [c.u.] 1 a place where people stay in tents in the mountains, forest, etc. for a short time: We got back to camp at sunset. | The base camp (main camp) was 6,000 feet below the summit. | a mining/logging camp (=one where people stay when they are doing those jobs) 2 a place where children go to do special activities during their vacation, often staying there for a week or more: a summer camp for girls only 3 a place where people are kept for a particular reason, when they do not want to be there: a refugee camp 4 a group of people who support the same ideas or principles, especially in politics: The debate between the two camps is becoming heated. [origin: 1500—1600 French, Latin campus “field”] ➔ concentration camp, day camp camp² v. [i] to set up a tent or shelter in a place and stay there for a short time ➔ camping n. [u]: We went camping in Yellowstone Park.
camp out phr v to sleep outdoors, usually in a tent: The kids camped out in the backyard.
cam-paign¹ /'kæmpˈpeɪn/ n [c] a series of actions that are intended to achieve a particular result, especially in business, politics, or war: a presidential campaign | a military campaign | a campaign for/against a constitutional amendment [origin: 1500—1600 French campagne, from Italian campagna “level country, campaign,” from Latin campus; because soldiers went out into the country for military exercises] cam-paign² v. [i] to take part in a public series of actions to try to achieve a particular result, especially in business or politics: a group campaigning for/against gun control cam-er-a-man /'kæmərəˌmæn, -ˈmæn,-mən/ cam-er-a-wom-an /'kæmərəˌwʊmən, -wʊmən/ (plural cameronens -'mæn, -mən/ camerawomen -'wʊmən) [c] someone who operates a camera for a television or film company ➔ Photograper cam-isa-ble /'kæmɪˌsəʊl/ n [c] a light piece of clothing that women wear on the top half of their bodies under other clothes cam-pion /'kæmpʃən/ n [c] a strong person who is strong enough to win a fight

The prefix cam- is from Greek kamélos, a camel (Greek kamelos for “camel”). This prefix occurs in the names of many words related to photography and to designs made to look like jewelry, which is why it is found in words such as cameo, camaraderie, and camouflaging. It is also found in other words such as camp, which refers to a place where you stay when you are doing something different from your usual routine, and to the idea of a crowd of people in a large group, which is where the prefix came to refer to a group of people. The prefix can be used in other words such as campsite, which refers to a place where you can stay when you are doing something different from your usual routine, and to the idea of a crowd of people in a large group, which is where the prefix came to refer to a group of people.
can-1 /ˈkæn/ v [T] 1 to decide that something you have planned will not happen: I had to cancel my trip. 2 to end an agreement or arrangement, especially because you no longer want something: We’re canceling our subscription to the magazine. [Origin: 1300—1400 French canceller “to cross out,” from Latin cancellare “to make like a frame of crossed bars”] cancel ↔ out phr. v to have an equal but opposite effect on something, so that a situation does not change: The losses canceled out the profits made the previous year.
can-cel-la-tion /kənsəˈleɪʃən/ n. [C,U] 1 a decision that something you have planned will not happen: The show’s low ratings led to cancellation. 2 a decision to end an agreement or arrangement: the cancellation of an employment contract
Can·cer /ˈkænsə(r)/ n. 1 [U] the fourth sign of the ZODIAC, represented by a CRAB 2 [C] someone born between June 22 and July 22
Cancer n [C] a serious disease in which cells in one part of the body start to grow in a way that is not normal: cases of breast/tumour etc. cancer
She has cancer. | He died of cancer at the age of 63. [Origin: 1600—1700 Latin “crab, cancer”] —cancerous adj can-did /ˈkændɪd/ adj telling the truth, even when the truth may be unpleasant or embarrassing: He was surprisingly candid about the difficulties the government is facing. [Origin: 1600—1700 French candid, from Latin candidus “bright, white”] —candidly adv THESAURUS honest, frank, direct, upfront, straight, straightforward, blunt, forthright → HONEST can-di·da·cy /ˈkændɪdiˌsɪ/ n. (plural candidacies) [C,U] the fact of being a candidate, usually for a political position: She announced her candidacy for the Senate.
can-di·date /ˈkændɪdət, -dət/ n. [C] 1 someone who is competing in an election or who is being considered for a job: a presidential candidate | Sara seems to be a likely candidate for the job. 2 someone or something that may be chosen for something: Which patients are good candidates for the new treatment? | The book is a strong candidate to win the award. [Origin: 1600—1700 Latin candidatus, from candidus “dressed in white;” because someone trying to get elected in ancient Rome wore white clothes] can-died /ˈkændɪd/ adj cooked in or covered with sugar; candied fruit can·di·le·cy /ˈkændɪlɪˌsɪ/ n. (plural candles) [C] a round stick of WAX with a piece of string through the middle, that you burn to produce light: She sat down and lit the candle. [Origin: 600—700 Latin candela, from candere “to shine”] → see picture at LIGHT Can·di·le·stick /ˈkændɪliˈstɪk/ n. [C] a specially shaped metal or wooden object used for holding candles cannabis /ˈkænəbɪs/ n. [U] the quality of being honest and telling the truth → CANDID: She spoke with candor about the affair.
candy /ˈkændi/ n. (plural candies) 1 [CU] a sweet food made of sugar or chocolate, or a piece of this: a box of candy | I gave her a piece of candy. 2 mind/brain/eye etc. candy (informal) something that is entertaining or pleasant to look at, but that does not make you think [ORIGIN: 1200—1300 Old French candi, from Arabic qandī “covered with sugar”] candy bar n. [C] a long narrow bar of candy, usually covered with chocolate candy cane n. [C] a stick of hard sugar with a curved shape, colored red and white cane /keɪn/ n. [C] a long thin stick, usually with a curved handle, used for helping you walk: She walks with a cane because of her arthritis. [ORIGIN: 1300—1400 Old French, Old Provençal cana, from Latin canna, from Greek κάννα] canine /ˈkænɪn/ adj. BIOLOGY relating to dogs canister /ˈkænɪstr/ n. [C] a metal container with a lid, used for storing dry food or a gas: a flour/sugar/rat canister canker /ˈkæŋkər/ n. 1 [CU] BIOLOGY an infected area on the wood of trees, or the disease that causes this 2 [C] also canker sore a painful sore inside your mouth canabis /ˈkænəbɪs/ n. [U] MARIJUANA canned /ˈkændɪd/ adj. 1 preserved without air in a container: canned tomatoes 2 canned music/laughter/applause music, etc. that has been recorded and is used on television or radio programs cannibal /ˈkænɪbəl/ n. [C] someone who eats human flesh [ORIGIN: 1500—1600 Spanish canibal “member of the Carib people of the West Indies, who were said to eat human flesh”] —cannibalism n. [U] —cannibalistic /ˌkænɪbəˈlɪstɪk/ adj.

cannon /ˈkænən/ n. [C] a large gun, fixed to the ground or on wheels, used in past times cannot /ˈkɑːnət/ n. [U], ko‘nut, ka-l modal verb the negative form of CAN: I cannot accept your offer.

can-ny /ˈkænɪl/ adj. smart, careful, and showing that you understand a situation very well canoe /ˈkænu/ n. [C] a long light narrow boat that is pointed at both ends, which you move using a paddle [ORIGIN: 1500—1600 French, Spanish canoa, from Arawakan (a group of South American languages)] —canoe v. [I] —canoeing n. [U] canopy /ˈkænpəli/ n. [C] 1 (formal) a generally accepted rule or standard for behaving or thinking 2 ENG. LANG. ARTS the books, pieces of music, etc. that are recognized as being the most important: the literary canon 3 an established law of the Christian church can opener n. [C] a tool used for opening cans of food can-oppy /ˈkænəpɪ/ n. (plural canopies) [C] 1 a cover attached above a bed or seat, used as a decoration or as a shelter 2 EARTH SCIENCES the top branches and leaves of the tallest trees in a forest, which completely cover large areas of the forest —canopied adj.
can’t /ˈkænt/ modal verb the short form of “cannot”: I can’t go with you today.
can-ta-loupe /ˈkæntəlˌoup/ n. [CU] a type of MELON with a hard skin and sweet orange flesh [ORIGIN: 1700—1800 Cantalupo former house of the Pope near Rome in Italy, where it was grown] can-ta-ker-ous /ˈkæntərkərəs/ adj. easily annoyed and complaining a lot: a cantankerous old man can-teen /ˈkæntʃən/ n. [C] a small container for carrying water or other drinks 2 a store or place where people in the military can buy things or go to be entertained [ORIGIN: 1700—1800 French cantine, from Italian cantina “wine store”] canter /ˈkæntər/ v. [T] when a horse canters, it runs fast, but not as fast as possible —canter n. [C] canto /ˈkæntoʊ/ n. (plural cantos) [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS one of the parts into which a very long poem is divided → STANZA Can-to-nese /ˌkæntəˈnɪz/ n. [U] a language used in Hong Kong and parts of southern China canvas /ˈkænvəs/ n. 1 [U] a type of strong cloth that is used for making tents, sails, bags, etc.: a canvas bag 2 [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS a painting done with oil paints, or the piece of cloth that it is painted on [ORIGIN: 1300—1400 Old North French canaves, from Latin canvīsis “hemp”] canvass /ˈkænvəs/ v. [T] 1 to try to persuade people to support a political party, politician, plan, etc. by going from place to place and talking to people: Supporters were canvassing door to door. 2 to ask people about something in order to get information: Residents were canvassed about community needs.
cap /kæp/ n. [C] 1 a soft hat with a curved part sticking out at the front: a baseball cap 2 a hat that fits closely over your head: a shower cap 2 something that covers and protects the end or top of an object: a bottle cap a pen cap

cap /kæp/ n. [C] 1 a soft hat with a curved part sticking out at the front: a baseball cap 2 a hat that fits closely over your head: a shower cap 2 something that covers and protects the end or top of an object: a bottle cap a pen cap

cap /kæp/ n. [C] 1 a soft hat with a curved part sticking out at the front: a baseball cap 2 a hat that fits closely over your head: a shower cap 2 something that covers and protects the end or top of an object: a bottle cap a pen cap

cap /kæp/ n. [C] 1 a soft hat with a curved part sticking out at the front: a baseball cap 2 a hat that fits closely over your head: a shower cap 2 something that covers and protects the end or top of an object: a bottle cap a pen cap

cap /kæp/ n. [C] 1 a soft hat with a curved part sticking out at the front: a baseball cap 2 a hat that fits closely over your head: a shower cap 2 something that covers and protects the end or top of an object: a bottle cap a pen cap someone can earn or spend: a cap on campaign spending [ORIGIN: 900—1000 Late Latin cappa “covering for the head, cloak”] ➔ ICE CAP, KNEE-CAP

cap² v. (capped, capping) [T] 1 to be the last and usually best thing that happens in a game, situation, etc.: Wilkes capped a perfect season by winning the 100-meter sprint. 2 to cover the top of something: the snow-capped peaks of the Rocky Mountains a tower capped with a golden dome 3 to cover a tooth with a special hard white substance: Her front teeth had to be capped. 4 ECONOMICS to limit the amount of something, especially money, that can be used or spent: The law caps the amount of interest credit card companies can charge.

capability /ˈkeipərəlɪti/ [kæpəˈbɪləti/ n. (plural capabilities) [C] the ability of a machine, person, or organization to do something, especially something difficult: The country has the capability to produce nuclear weapons. | the computer’s graphical capability | The virus has the capability of attaching itself to a specific white blood cell.

[THESAROUS] ability, power, capacity ➔ ABILITY

ca·pa·ble /ˈkeipəbəl/ [AC] adj. 1 capable of (doing) sth having the power, skill, or other qualities that are needed to do something: He is not capable of making these decisions by himself. | The machine is capable of very precise calculations. 2 able to do things well: Mary Beth is a capable lawyer. | The hospital’s staff were all very capable. [ORIGIN: 1500—1600 French, Late Latin capabilis “able to take things in, from Latin capere “to take”] capaciousness /ˈkeipəsæsən/ [kæpəˈseɪʃən/ n. [U] —capacious adj.

capaci·ty /ˈkeipəsəti/ [AC] n. (plural capacitie s) 1 [singular, U] the amount that something can hold, produce, or carry: The computer has a capacity of 400 megabytes. | The theater was filled to capacity (—completely full). 2 [C,U] the ability to do or produce something: a child’s capacity for learning | The groups have the capacity to influence Congress. | The factory is not yet working at full capacity.

[THESAROUS] ability, power, capability ➔ ABILITY

3 [singular] someone’s job, position, or duty: She has traveled a lot in her capacity as a photojournalist. [ORIGIN: 1400—1500 French capacité, from Latin capacitas]

cape /ˈkeip/ [n. [C] 1 a long loose piece of clothing without sleeves that fastens around your neck and hangs from your shoulders: The bishop was wearing a long red cape. 2 EARTH SCIENCES a large piece of land surrounded on three sides by water: Cape Cod

ca·per /ˈkeipər/ n. [C] 1 a small dark green part of a flower, that is used in cooking to give a sour taste to food 2 a planned activity, especially an illegal or dangerous one caper² v. [I] to jump around and play in a happy excited way cap·i·lar·i·ty /ˈkeipələrəti/ [n. (plural capillaries) [C] BIOLOGY a very small narrow tube that carries blood around your body ➔ ARTERY, VEIN

cap·i·tal /ˈkeipətəl/ n. 1 [C] the city where a country or state’s main government is ➔ CAPITOL: The New York state capital is Albany. | What’s the capital of Sweden? 2 [singular, U] ECONOMICS money or property you use to start a business or to make more money: Investors lent him the capital to start the business. 3 [C] a letter of the alphabet written in its large form, for example at the beginning of someone’s name: Please write your name in capitals. | a capital “T” 4 [C] a place that is important for a particular activity: Hollywood is the capital of the movie industry. [ORIGIN: 1100—1200 Latin capitalis, from caput “head”] capital G adj. 1 ECONOMICS relating to money that you use to start a business, make more money, improve things, etc.: We need greater capital investment to improve our schools. 2 capital letter a letter of the alphabet that is printed in its large form, for example at the beginning of someone’s name: 3 capital offense/crime LAW a crime that may be punished by death capital ‘gain n. [C] ECONOMICS the profit you make by selling something for more than it cost you to buy: The sale of its overseas assets resulted in a capital gain of $10 million for the group.

cap·i·tal·ism /ˈkeipətəlɪzəm/ [n. [U] ECONOMICS an economic and political system in which businesses belong mostly to private owners, not to the government ➔ COMMUNISM, SOCIALISM cap·i·tal·ist /ˈkeipətəlist/ adj. ECONOMICS relating to a system or person who supports or takes part in capitalism ➔ CAPITALIST n. [C] cap·i·tal·ize /ˈkeipətələɪz/ v. [T] 1 to write a letter of the alphabet using a capital letter 2 ECONOMICS to supply a business with money so that it can operate | 3 ECONOMICS to calculate the value of a business, based on the value of its shares ➔ capitalization /ˈkeipətələzən/ n. [U] capitalize on sth phr. v. to use something in order to gain an advantage: The company is trying to capitalize on the popularity of fruit-based drinks.

capital ‘punishment n. [U] the punishment of legally killing someone for a crime who has done

[THESAROUS] punishment, sentence, penalty, fine, community service, corporal punishment ➔ PUNISHMENT

cap·i·tol /ˈkeipətəl/ n. 1 the Capitol the building in Washington, D.C. where the U.S. Congress meets 2 [C] the building in each U.S. state where the people who make laws for that state meet Capitol Hill n. politics the place where the U.S. Congress meets, often used to refer to Congress itself. The hill has wide support on Capitol Hill.

cap·pu-ci-no /kæpˈpʊtsɪˈnoʊ/ n. (plural cappuccinos) [C,U] a type of Italian coffee made with hot milk cap·ri·corn /kæpˈrɪkɔːrn/ n. (plural capricornus) [C,U] the tenth sign of the zodiac, represented by a goat. 2 [C] someone born between December 22 and January 19 cap·ti·vate /kæptɪˈvæt/ v. [T] to attract and interest someone very much: Alex was captivated cap·ti·vate /kæptɪˈvæt/ n. [C] a particularly captivating story cap·ti·ve /kæptɪv/ adj. 1 kept in prison or in a place that you are not allowed to leave: captive animals | His son had been taken captive (=taken and kept as a prisoner). 2 captive audience people who listen to or watch someone or something because they have to, not because they want to captive /ˈkæptɪv/ n. 2 [C] someone who is kept as a prisoner, especially in a war [syn. hostage] cap·ture /ˈkæptʃər/ n. [U] the state of being kept as a prisoner or in a small space: Many animals won’t breed in captivity.

cap·tive /ˈkæptɪv/ n. [C] (formal) someone who is keeping another person as a prisoner cap·tu·re /ˈkæptʃʊr/ v. [T] 1 to catch someone in order to keep him/her as a prisoner: 40 French soldiers were captured.

2 to get control of a place that previously belonged to an enemy, during a war: The town was captured by enemy troops. 3 capture sb’s imagination/attention etc. to make someone feel very interested in something 4 to succeed in showing or describing something, using words or pictures: The book really captures the essence/spirit of what the 1920s were like. 5 to get something that you are competing with others for, especially in business or politics: Mayor Agnos captured 30% of the vote. 6 to catch an animal without killing it [Orig: 1500—1600 French, Latium, from captus] capture /ˈkæptʃər/ v. [T] 1 the act of catching someone in order to keep him/her as a prisoner: The two soldiers somehow managed to avoid capture.

2 the act of getting control of something: the capture of the village car /kær/ n. 1 [C] a vehicle with four wheels and an engine, used by a small number of people for traveling from one place to another: Joe got in the car and buckled his seat belt. | She got out of the car. | You can’t park your car here. 2 one of the connected parts of a train: I’ll meet you in the dining car.

car·a·mel /kærəˈmɛl/ n. [CU] candy made of cooked sugar, butter, and milk [Orig: 1700—1800 French, Spanish caramel] car·a·pace /kærəˈpeɪs/ n. [C] biology a hard shell on the outside of some animals such as a crab or turtle car·at /ˈkærət/ n. [C] a unit for measuring how pure gold is, or how heavy jewels are: Pure gold is 24 carats.

car·avan /ˈkærəvən/ n. [C] a group of people carbohydrate

with animals or vehicles, who travel together [Origin: 1500—1600 Italian caravana, from Persian karvāna] car·bo·hy·drate /ˌkɑrbəˈhaɪdrət/ -drat, -drət/ n. [C,U] CHEMISTRY a substance in foods such as rice, bread, and potatoes that provides your body with heat and energy.
car·bon·at·ed /ˌkɑrbəˈnætəd/ adj. carbonated drinks have a lot of BUBBLES in them.
car·bon·copy /ˌkɑrbəˈkɒpi/ n. [C] someone or something that is very similar to another person or thing.
car·bon·cycle /ˌkɑrbəˈsɪkəl/ n. [C] EARTH SCIENCES a continuous series of related events in which carbon that exists in the air as carbon dioxide is taken in by plants, and is in gas, coal, etc. car·bon·dioxide /ˌkɑrbəˈdɔɪdəs/ n. [U] CHEMISTRY the gas produced when people and animals breathe out.
car·bon·footprint /ˌkɑrbəˈfʊtprɪnt/ n. [C] EARTH SCIENCES a measure of the amount of harmful carbon dioxide that a person, company, industry, etc. produces when doing his, her, or its normal activities, such as driving a car, heating a building, or producing goods.
car·bon·mo·noxide /ˌkɑrbəˈmɔnəksaɪd/ n. [U] CHEMISTRY a poisonous gas produced when engines burn gasoline.
car·bon·paper /ˌkɑrbəˈpærər/ n. [C,U] special paper with a blue or black substance on one side, used especially in the past to make copies of documents written on a TYPEWRITER.
car·bu·re·tor /ˌkɑrbəˈruːtər/ n. [C] the part of an engine that mixes the air and gasoline to provide power.
car·cass /ˌkɑrkəs/ n. [C] the body of a dead animal.
car·cin·o·gen /ˌkɑrˈsɪnədʒən/ n. [C] BIOLOGY a substance that can cause CANCER—cancerogenic /ˌkɑrˈsɪnədʒɪk/ adj.
car·ci·no·ma /ˌkɑrsɪˈnəma/ n. [C] BIOLOGY a small growth on your skin or in your body caused by CANCER → TUMOR.
card /kɑrd/ n. [C] 1 a small piece of plastic or paper that shows information about someone or something: a library card | an employee ID card | Here’s my business card. 2 a small piece of plastic which you use to pay for goods or to get money → CREDIT CARD, DEBIT CARD: I’ll use my card. 3 a piece of folded stiff paper, usually with a picture on the front, that you send to people on special occasions: a birthday card 4 one of a set of small pieces of stiff paper with pictures or numbers on them that are used for playing games: Let’s play cards (=play a game using cards): a deck of cards 5 a POSTCARD 6 baseball/sports etc. card a small piece of thick stiff paper with a picture on one side, that is part of a set which people collect 7 a small piece of thick stiff paper that information can be written or printed on → INDEX CARD: a set of recipe cards 8 the thing inside a computer that the CHIPS are attached to that allows the computer to do specific things: a sound card 9 be in the cards to seem likely to happen: The increase in price has been in the cards for a long time. 10 play your cards right (informal) to do the things that make you succeed in getting what you want. 11 put/lay your cards on the table (informal) to be completely honest about what your plans and intentions are [Origin: 1400—1500 French carte, from Old Italian carta “sheet of paper,” from Latin charta] card adj [T] to ask someone to show a card proving that she is old enough to be in a particular place or to buy alcohol or cigarettes: I can’t believe I still get carded.
card-board /ˈkɑrbərˌbɔrd/ n. [U] a thick material like stiff paper, used especially for making boxes.
card·catalog /ˌkɑrdəˈkætərəl/ n. [C] a set of cards that contain information about something, especially books in a library, and that are arranged in a particular order.
car-di·ac /ˌkɑrdiˈæk/ adj. [only before noun] BIOLOGY relating to the heart or to heart disease.
car·di·ac·ar·rest /ˌkɑrdiˈækərəst/ n. [C] BIOLOGY a heart attack.
car-di·gan /ˌkɑrdiˈɡæn/ n. [C] a sweater that is fastened at the front [Origin: 1800—1900 Earl of Cardigan (1797-1868), British soldier]. car·di·nal /ˌkɑrdiˈnəl/ adj. [only before noun] very important or basic: a cardinal rule.
card·inal·al·le·lum /ˌkɑrdiˈnələləm/ n. [MATH] any of the numbers 1, 2, 3, etc. that show the quantity of something → ORDINAL NUMBER. car·di·ol·ogy /ˌkɑrdiˈɔlədʒi/ n. [U] the study or science of medical treatment of the heart.
care /kɑr/ v. [T] to be concerned about or interested in someone or something: He doesn’t care about anybody but himself. I don’t care what you do. 2 [I] to like or love someone: He really cared for you.
spoken phrases
3 who cares? used in order to say that something does not worry or upset you because you think it is not important 4 I/he/they etc. couldn’t care less used in order to say that someone is not at all concerned about or interested in something: I career

/ˈkeər/ n. 1 a job or profession that you have been trained for and intend to do for a long time: a career in law | She’s considering making a career change. 2 the period of time in your life that you spend working: Will spent most of his career as a teacher. 3 career soldier/teacher etc. someone who intends to be a soldier, teacher, etc. for most of his/her life, not just for a particular period of time: a career diplomat [Oriph: 1500—1600 French carrière, from Old Provençal carriera “street,” from Latin currus] care-free /ˈkɛfrɪ/ adj. without any problems or worries: a carefree summer vacation care-ful /ˈkɛfrəl/ adj. 1 trying very hard not to make mistakes, damage something, or cause problems [ant] careless: a careful driver | Anna was careful not to upset Steven. 2 (be) careful! (spoken) used in order to tell someone to think about what s/he is doing so that something bad does not happen: Be careful — there’s broken glass on the sidewalk! 3 paying a lot of attention to detail: careful planning

THESAURUS

methodical – done in a careful and well-organized way, or always doing things this way: a methodical approach to the problem thorough – careful to do everything that you should and avoid mistakes: The police conducted a thorough investigation of the affair meticulous – very careful about details; and always trying to do things correctly: She keeps meticulous records. systematic – organized carefully and done thoroughly: We need a systematic way to measure employees’ performance. painstaking – very careful and thorough: Cleaning the paintings involves a lot of painstaking work. scrupulous (formal) – done very carefully so that every detail is correct: The research shows scrupulous attention to detail. conscientious (formal) – careful to do everything that it is your job or duty to do: a conscientious student care-giver /ˈkɛrɪgəvər/ n. [C] someone who takes care of a child or of someone who is old or sick care-less /ˈkɛrlɪs/ adj. not paying enough attention to what you are doing, so that you make mistakes, damage things, cause problems, etc. [ant] careful: a careless mistake | It was very careless of you to leave your keys in the car. —carelessly adv. —carelessness n. [U]

care_package n. [C] a package of food, candy, etc. that is sent to someone living away from home, especially a student at college care-ress /ˈkɛrəs/ v. [T] to gently touch or kiss someone in a way that shows you love him/her —careness n. [C]

care-taker /ˈkɛrtɛkər/ n. [C] 1 someone whose job is to take care of a building or land when the person who owns it is not there. 2 someone such as a nurse, who takes care of other people touch, feel, handle, stroke, rub, scratch, pat, pet, tickle → TOUCH

THESAURUS

care-taker

1 HELP [U] the process of doing things for someone because s/he is old, sick, weak, etc.: Your father will need constant medical care. | They shared the care of their children. 2 KEEPING STH IN GOOD CONDITION [U] the process of keeping something in good condition or working correctly: skin care | With proper care, your washing machine should last years. 3 take care of sb/sth a) to watch and help someone and be responsible for him/her: Who’s taking care of the baby? b) to keep something in good condition or working correctly: Karl will take care of the house while we’re on vacation. c) to do the work or make the arrangements that are necessary for something to happen: I’ll take care of making the reservations. d) to pay for something: Don’t worry about the bill — it’s taken care of.

4 take care a) (spoken) used when saying goodbye to family or friends b) to be careful: It’s very icy, so take care driving home. 5 CAREFULNESS [L] carefulness to avoid damage, mistakes, etc.: You need to put more care into your work. | Handle the package with care. 6 WORRY [CU] something that causes problems and makes you anxious or sad: Eddie doesn’t have a care in the world (sues) does not have any problems or worries). 7 in care of sb (written abbreviation c/o) used when sending letters to someone at someone else’s address: Send me the package in care of my cousin.

care-en /ˈkɛrɪn/ v. [I] to move quickly forward in an uncontrolled way, making sudden sideways movements: Morillo’s truck careened down the hillside and burst into flames.

care-er /ˈkɛrɪər/ n. [C] 1 a job or profession that you have been trained for and intend to do for a long time: a career in law | She’s considering making a career change. 2 would you care for sb/sth?/would you care to meet us after the show? | Would you care for a drink?

care for sb/sth v. 1 to do things for someone who is old, sick, weak, etc. and not able to do things for himself/herself: (by) look after: Angie cared for her mother after her stroke. 2 not care for sb/sth to not like someone or something: I don’t care for his brother.

careful adj.

—carefully adv. Please listen carefully.

care-less /ˈkɛrlɪs/ adj. not paying enough attention to what you are doing, so that you make mistakes, damage things, care problems, etc. [ant] careful: a careless mistake | It was very careless of you to leave your keys in the car. —carelessly adv. —carelessness n. [U]

care-package n. [C] a package of food, candy, etc. that is sent to someone living away from home, especially a student at college

care-er /ˈkɛrɪər/ n. [C] 1 someone whose job is to take care of a building or land when the person who owns it is not there. 2 someone such as a nurse, who takes care of other people cargo

car-go /ˈkərɡoʊ/ n. (plural cargoes) [C,U] the goods that are being carried in a ship, airplane, truck, etc.: The ship was carrying a cargo of oil. [Origin: 1600—1700 Spanish “load, charge.” from cargar “to load,” from Late Latin caricare]

Car-i-be-an /ˌkærəˈbēən, kəˈribiən/ adj. from or relating to the islands in the Caribbean Sea, such as the Bahamas and Jamaica —Caribbean n. [C]

Car-i-ca-ture /ˌkærɪˈkætʃər, -tʃʊr/ n. [C] ENG. ARTS a funny drawing or description of someone that makes him/her seem silly, or the activity doing this [Origin: 1700—1800 Spanish “load, charge,” from Latin caricare “to load, make seem larger, worse, etc.”] from Late Latin caricare —caricature v. [T]

Car-ies /ˈkærɪz/ n. [U] BIOLOGY decay in one or more teeth

Car-ing /ˈkærɪŋ/ adj. someone who is caring is kind to other people and tries to help them: a warm and caring person

Car-jack-ing /ˈkær dʒəkɪŋ/ n. [C,U] the crime of using a weapon to force the driver of a car to drive you somewhere or give you his/her car —carjacker n. [C]

Car-nage /ˈkærnɪdʒ/ n. [U (formal)] the killing and wounding of a lot of people, especially in a war

Car-nal /ˈkærnəl/ adj. (formal) relating to sex: carnal desires

Car-na-tion /ˈkærnɪəʃən/ n. [C] a white, pink, or red flower that smells nice

Car-ni-val /ˈkærnɪvəl/ n. 1 [C] a noisy outdoor event where you can ride on special machines and play games for prizes 2 [C,U] a public event at which people play music, wear special clothes, and dance in the streets: carnival time in Rio [Origin: 1500—1600 Italian carnevale, from carne “meat” + levare “to remove;” because after Carnival people stopped eating meat for a period]

Car-ol /ˈkærəl/ n. [C] a CHRISTMAS CAROL

Car-rot-id Ar-tery /ˈkærətɪd ˈɑrtrəri/ n. [C] BIOLOGY one of the two arteries in your neck that supply blood to your head

Car-rousel /ˈkærəsəl/ n. [C] a large fish that lives in lakes or rivers and can be eaten

Car-ri-er /ˈkærər/ n. (plural carriers) [C,U] 1 transporting goods or passengers from one place to another, especially by airplane 2 BIOLOGY someone who passes a disease to other people without having it himself/herself 3 a telephone or insurance company: a cell phone carrier

Car-rot /ˈkærət/ n. [C] a long orange vegetable that grows under the ground [Origin: 1400—1500 French carotte, from Late Latin, from Greek karōton] —see picture at VEGETABLE

Car-rousel n. [C] another spelling of CAROUSEL

Car-ry /ˈkærri/ v. (carried, carries) 1 LIFT AND TAKE [T] to hold something in your hands or arms, or on your back, as you take it somewhere: Can you carry that suitcase for me? 2 to transport: the wagon was carrying a load of coal

Cart – to carry or take something large and heavy somewhere: Workers carted away several tons of trash |haul| – to carry or pull something heavy: Contractors have begun hauling away the debris.
|transport| (T) to move or carry goods, people, etc. from one place to another in a vehicle: Helicopters are used to transport military equipment.
|bear| (formal) – to bring or carry something: They carried bearing gifts.
|tote| (informal) – to carry something; guards toting machine guns
|lug| (informal) – to pull or carry something that is very heavy: We lugged our bags and chairs to the beach.
|schlep| (informal) – to carry or pull something heavy: He schlepped the luggage up the steps.

|vehicle/ship/plane| [T] to take people or things from one place to another: The bus was carrying 25 passengers.
|pipe/road/wire| [T] if pipe, road, wire, etc. carries something such as liquid or electricity, the liquid etc. flows along, on, or in it: Pipes carry the water across the desert.
|have with you| [T] to have something with you: You do or say

|insurance, etc.| [T] if a store carries goods, it has a supply of them for sale: I’m sorry, we don’t carry that brand anymore.
|information/news etc.| [T] to contain a particular piece of information or news: The morning paper carried a story about the demonstration in New York.
|have a quality| [T] to have a particular quality: The job carries certain risks. Lee’s opinions usually carry a lot of weight (=have influence) with the boss. Matthew’s voice did not carry much conviction (=she did not sound certain).
|be/get carried away| to be or become so excited that you are no longer in control of what you do or say.
|carry insurance/a guarantee etc.| to have insurance, etc.: All our products carry a 12-month guarantee.
|disease| [T] biology to have a disease and pass it to others: Many diseases are carried by insects.
|carry yourself| to stand and move in a particular way: It was obvious by the way they carried themselves that they were soldiers.
|crime/punishment| [T] if a crime carries a particular punishment, that is the usual punishment for the crime: Murder carries a life sentence in this state.
|carry sth too far| to do or say too much about something: It was funny at first, but you’ve carried the joke too far.
|election| [T] to win an election in a state or particular area: Reagan carried California in 1980.
|support| [T] to support the weight of something else: Those columns carry the whole roof.
|sound smell| [I] to be able to go as far as a particular place or a particular distance: The sound of their laughter carried as far as the lake.

|17 carry a tune| to sing the notes of a song correctly.
|18 mathematics| [T] also carry over to move a total to the next row of figures for adding to other numbers [Origin: 1300–1400 Old North French carrier “to take in a vehicle,” from car “vehicle,” from Latin carrus].
|carry sth ↔ off| phr. v. to do something difficult successfully: No one believed he could carry the plan off.
|carry on| phr. v. 1 to continue doing something: Jane plans to carry on and finish writing the book.
|carry sth ↔ over| phr. v. 1 to do something that has to be organized and planned: The police department will carry out a thorough investigation.
|carry sth ↔ through| phr. v. 2 to do something that you have said you will do: The bombers have threatened to carry out more attacks.
|carry-on| adj. a carry-on bag is one that you can take with you onto an airplane.
|carry-ry-out| /ˈkærriˌaʊt/ n. [C] a takeout
|car seat| n. [C] a special seat for babies or young children, that you attach to the seat of a car.
|car-sick| /ˈkærIk/ adj. feeling sick because of the movement of traveling in a car. —carsickness n.
|cart| /ˈkɑrt/ n. [C] also shopping cart a large wire basket on wheels that you use when shopping.
|carry over| phr. v. 1 to make an amount of something available to be used at a later time: Can I carry over my vacation time to next year? 2 to complete or finish something successfully: Once he starts a project, he always carries it through.
|carry-on| adj. a carry-on bag is one that you can take with you onto an airplane.
|carry-and-sell| phr. v. [I,T] to carry or take something large and heavy somewhere: Workers carried and sold several tons of trash.

|thesaurus| carry, haul, transport, bear, tote, lug, schlepp → carry cartography

substance that can bend and stretch, which is around the joints in your body car·to·gra·phy /kɑrˈtɑɡrəfi/ n. [U] the skill or practice of making maps —cartographer n. [C] car·ton /ˈkaːtn/ n. [C] a box made of cardboard, that contains food or a drink: a milk carton | a carton of juice car·toon /ˈkaːtun/ n. [C] 1 a movie or television program made with characters that are drawn and not real: a Bugs Bunny cartoon ➔ MOVIE 2 a funny drawing in a newspaper, usually about someone or something that is in the news [ORIGIN: 1500–1600 Italian cartone “pasteboard, cartoon,” from carta “sheet of paper”] car·toon·ist /ˈkaːtənɪst/ n. [C] someone who draws cartoons car·trige /ˈkɑrtɪdʒ/ n. [C] 1 a small piece of equipment that you put inside something to make it work: The printer needs a new ink cartridge. 2 a tube containing explosive material and a bullet for a gun cart·wheel /ˈkɑrtˌwiːl/ n. [C] a movement in which you throw your body sideways onto your hands and bring your legs over your head —cartwheel v. [I] carve /kɑrˈv/ v. 1 [T] to make an object by cutting it from a piece of wood or stone: The statue was carved from a single block of marble. 2 [T] to cut a pattern or letter on the surface of something: Someone had carved their initials on the tree. 3 [I,T] to cut a large piece of cooked meat into smaller pieces with a large knife: Dad always carves the turkey. ➔ see picture at cut carve sth ↔ out phr. v. carve out a career/ niche/reputation etc. to become successful and be respected carve sth ↔ up phr. v. (disapproving) to divide land, a company, etc. into smaller parts: The country was carved up after the war.

carv·ing /ˈkɑrvɪŋ/ n. [C] an object that has been cut from wood, stone, etc. 2 [U] the activity of cutting objects from wood, stone, etc., or cutting patterns into wood, stone, etc.

car·wash n. [C] a place where you can take your car to be washed with special equipment cas·cade /ˈkæskeɪd/ n. [C] 1 a small steep waterfall. 2 (literary) something that seems to flow or hang down: Her hair fell in a cascade of soft curls. —cascade v. [I]

case1 /keɪs/ n. 1 SITUATION/EXAMPLE [C] a particular situation, or an example of that situation (SYN example, instance: In some cases, snoring indicates a real medical problem. | Miller’s actions were a clear case of sexual harassment. | We live far apart now, but that won’t always be the case. | Many western cities are growing. Las Vegas is a case in point (a clear example). 2 (just) in case a) as a way of being prepared for something that might happen: Take your umbrella in case it rains. b) if: In case my train is late, start the meeting without me. 3 COURT [C] LAW a legal matter or question that must be decided in a court of law: a court case | Watson is expected to winlose the case. 4 POLICE [C] a crime or set of events that the police are trying to find out the truth about: Sturgis is investigating a murder case. 5 ARGUMENT [C] all the facts or reasons that support one side of an argument: The prosecution’s case against him is very strong. | There is a good case for changing the rule. 6 CONTAINER [C] a container for storing something: a jewelry case | a case of wine 7 in case of sth or when something happens: In case of fire, break the glass and push the alarm button. 8 DISEASE/ILLNESS [C] an example of a disease or illness, or the person suffering from this disease or illness: There have been ten cases of malaria in the village recently. 9 in that case (spoken) used in order to say what you will do or what will happen in a particular situation: “I’ll be home late tonight.” “Well, in that case, I won’t cook dinner.” 10 in any case used in order to give the reason why you will do something, or to say that you are determined to do it: Sure we’ll take you home – we’re going that way in any case. 11 be on sb’s case (spoken) to be criticizing someone a lot: Dad’s always on my case about something. 12 get off my case (spoken) used in order to tell someone to stop criticizing you: OK, OK, just get off my case, will you? 13 GRAMMAR [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS the form of a word, usually a noun, or the way the form changes, showing its relationship to other words in a sentence [Origin: (6) 1200—1300 Old North French casse, from Latin capsas “box, case”]

cashier /ˈkæʃɪər/ n. C a service of a person who looks around a place that you intend to steal from, in order to find out information.

case-load /ˈkɛsloʊd/ n. C the number of people a doctor, social worker, etc. has to deal with.

case-study n. C A detailed study of a particular person, group, or situation over a long period of time.

case-work /ˈkæswork/ n. [U] work done to help particular people or their social problems — caseworker n. C

cash /ˈkæʃ/ n. [U] money in the form of coins and bills: There’s a small discount if you pay cash. | He had about $200 in cash in his wallet.

cashflow /ˈkæʃflɔʊ/ n. [C] money, bill, coin, penny, nickel, dime, quarter, change, currency.

cast /kæst/ v. (past tense and past participle cast) [T] 1 ACTORS to choose a particular actor for a part in a play, etc.: He cast as the romantic leading man in many famous movies.

2 cast a Doubt to make people feel less certain about something: Recent information has cast doubt on the evidence.

3 cast a Vote to vote in an election: I’d like to know more about the candidates before I cast my vote.

4 cast a Spell on (over sb/sth) a) to make someone feel very strongly attracted to something and keep his/her attention completely: Within minutes, Sinatra’s voice had cast a spell on the audience. b) to say magic words to make something happen.

5 cast a Shadow to make people feel less happy or hopeful about something: Her father’s illness cast a shadow over the wedding celebrations. b) (literary) to make a shadow appear on something: trees casting a shadow across the lawn.

6 cast Light in/onto sth a) to explain or give new information about something: His research has cast light on the origin of the universe. b) (literary) to send light onto a surface.

7 cast a Look/glance at (sb/sth) (literary) to look at someone or something: She cast an anxious glance at Gay.

8 ART to make something by pouring metal or plastic into a specially shaped container: A statue of Lincoln cast in bronze.
cast

CAST · a · way /ˈkæstəˌweɪ/ n. [C] someone who is alone on an island after his/her ship has sunk cast-a-way /ˈkæstəˌweɪ/ n. [C] a small boat with sails and two separate hulls (sail that goes in the water)

cast-off /ˈkæstəf/ pl n. [plural cast-offs] clothes or other things that someone does not want and gives or throws away cast-iron /ˈkæstərɪn/ adj. 1 a type of iron that is very hard cast-iron skill 2 cast-iron excuse/sabotage cast-iron excuse/alibi/guarantee etc. an excuse, etc. that is very certain and cannot fail

cast-off /ˈkæstəf/ pl n. [plural cast-offs] clothes or other things that someone does not want and gives or throws away

cast-ket /ˈkætrekt/ v. [T] to remove the sexual organs of a male animal or a man —castration /ˈkæstrəʃən/ n. [C/U] cas-u-al-ty /ˈkæsəˌtæti/ n. (plural casualties) [C] 1 someone who is hurt or killed in an accident or war: The army suffered heavy casualties (=a lot of people were hurt or killed). 2 be a casualty of sth to suffer because of a particular event or situation: The city library is the latest casualty of the cutbacks.

cas-t (2) /kæst/ n. [C] 1 all of the actors in a movie, play, etc.: an all-star cast (=all the actors are famous) 2 a hard cover for a part of your body, that supports a broken bone while it gets better: a leg cast 3 a mold (especially shaped container) into which you pour metal or plastic in order to make an object of a particular shape

cas-t-a-way /ˈkæstəˌweɪ/ n. [C] someone who is alone on an island after his/her ship has sunk

cast-er /ˈkæster/ n. [C] a small wheel fixed to the bottom of a piece of furniture so it can be moved easily

caste /ˈkæst/ n. [C] SOCIAL SCIENCE one of the social classes in India into which people are born, that cannot be changed

cas-t-er /ˈkæster/ n. [C] a small wheel fixed to the bottom of a piece of furniture so it can be moved easily

cas-t-off /ˈkæstəf/ pl n. [plural cast-offs] clothes or other things that someone does not want and gives or throws away

cas-t-a-way /ˈkæstəˌweɪ/ n. [C] someone who is alone on an island after his/her ship has sunk

cas-t-er /ˈkæster/ n. [C] a small wheel fixed to the bottom of a piece of furniture so it can be moved easily

cas-t-to-get /ˈkæstəˈɡeit/ v. [T] (formal) to criticize or punish someone in a severe way —castigation /ˈkæstəˈgeɪʃən/ n. [U]

cas-t-off /ˈkæstəf/ pl n. [plural cast-offs] clothes or other things that someone does not want and gives or throws away

cast-iron /ˈkæstərɪn/ adj. 1 a type of iron that is very hard

cast-iron excuse/alibi/guarantee etc. an excuse, etc. that is very certain and cannot fail

cas-te /ˈkæst/ n. [C] SOCIAL SCIENCE one of the social classes in India into which people are born, that cannot be changed

cas-t-er /ˈkæster/ n. [C] a small wheel fixed to the bottom of a piece of furniture so it can be moved easily

cas-t-off /ˈkæstəf/ pl n. [plural cast-offs] clothes or other things that someone does not want and gives or throws away

cast-ing /ˈkæstɪŋ/ n. [U] the act of choosing actors for a movie, play, etc.: a casting director cas-t-iron /ˈkæstərɪn/ adj. 1 a type of iron that is very hard

cas-te /ˈkæst/ n. [C] SOCIAL SCIENCE one of the social classes in India into which people are born, that cannot be changed

cas-t-er /ˈkæster/ n. [C] a small wheel fixed to the bottom of a piece of furniture so it can be moved easily

cas-t-off /ˈkæstəf/ pl n. [plural cast-offs] clothes or other things that someone does not want and gives or throws away

cast-iron /ˈkæstərɪn/ adj. 1 a type of iron that is very hard

cast-iron excuse/alibi/guarantee etc. an excuse, etc. that is very certain and cannot fail

cas-te /ˈkæst/ n. [C] SOCIAL SCIENCE one of the social classes in India into which people are born, that cannot be changed

cas-t-er /ˈkæster/ n. [C] a small wheel fixed to the bottom of a piece of furniture so it can be moved easily

cas-t-off /ˈkæstəf/ pl n. [plural cast-offs] clothes or other things that someone does not want and gives or throws away

Sport is talked about a lot in casual conversation. | His casual attitude toward work really irritates me. 3 [only before noun] without any serious interest or attention: Most casual observers won’t notice anything different. 4 knowing someone without wanting a close relationship with him/her: a casual acquaintance | We had a casual relationship when we were at college. —casually adv.: He was casually dressed.

cas-u-al-ly /ˈkæsəˌlɪ/ adv.: He was casually dressed.

The city library is the latest casualty of the cutbacks.
condition that affects the eye and makes you slowly lose your sight

catch /kætʃ/ v (past tense and past participle caught) (C/U) 1. to hold on to or stop something that is moving through the air: He caught the ball and started to run. 2. to find someone who thinks they have done something illegal: They have caught the man suspected of the murder. 3. to find a fish or animal by using a trap, net, or hook: Did you catch any fish?

catch /kætʃ/ n. 1. a terrible event that causes a lot of destruction or suffering: The oil spill will be an ecological catastrophe. —catastrophic /ˌkætəˈstrəfɪk/ adj.: catastrophic floods

THE SAURUS

accident, disaster, mishap

catch1 /kætʃ/ v. 1. to get hold of and stop something that is moving through the air: He caught the ball and started to run. 2. to find someone who thinks they have done something illegal: They have caught the man suspected of the murder. 3. to find a fish or animal by using a trap, net, or hook: Did you catch any fish?

3. SEE SB DOING STH [T] to see someone doing something wrong or illegal: I caught him looking through my letters. 4. GET SICK [T] to get an illness: Put your coat on or you’ll catch a cold. 5. catch a train/plane/bus to get on a train, etc. in order to travel somewhere: I should be able to catch the 12:05 train. 6. NOT BE TOO LATE [T] not to be too late to do something, talk to someone, etc.: If you hurry, you might catch her before she leaves. 7. GET STUCK [T] to become stuck on or in something by mistake: His shirt caught on the fence and tore. 8. catch sb by surprise/catch sb off guard to do something or happen in an unexpected way, so that someone is not ready to deal with it 9. SEE/SMELL [T] to see or smell something for a moment: I suddenly caught sight of Luisa in the crowd. 10. catch sb's eye a) to attract someone’s attention and make him/her look at something: A photograph on his desk caught my eye. b) to look at someone at the same moment that s/he is looking at you: Every time she caught his eye, she would look away embarrassed. 11. be caught in/without etc. sth to be in a situation that is difficult because you cannot easily get out of it, or because you do not have what you need: We got caught in the storm. 12. catch (on) fire to start burning, especially accidentally.

13. catch your breath to begin to understand something: It may take time for the children to catch on. 14. catch sb's attention/interest/imagination to make someone feel interested in something: a story that will catch children’s imaginations. 15. STOP PROBLEM/DISEASE [T] to discover a problem, especially a disease, and stop it from developing: It’s a type of cancer that can be cured, if it is caught early.

SPOKEN PHRASES

16. not catch sth to not hear or understand something clearly: I’m sorry, I didn’t catch your name. 17. you won’t catch me doing sth used in order to say you would never do something: You won’t catch me ironing his shirts. 18. Catch you later! used in order to say goodbye.

catch on phr. v. 1. to begin to understand something: It may take time for some of the children to catch on. 2. to become popular: The idea never caught on in this country.

catch up phr. v. 1. to reach a person or vehicle that was in front of you by going faster than him, her, or it: I had to run to catch up with her. 2. to reach the same standard or level as other people: If you miss class, it can be difficult to catch up. 3. be/get caught up in sth to be or become involved in something, especially without wanting to: young people who get caught up in crime catch up on sth phr. v to do something that needs to be done that you have not had time to do in the past: I need to catch up on some work.

catch2 n. 1. [C] the act of catching something that has been thrown or hit: That was a great catch! 2. [U] a game in which two or more people throw a ball to each other: Let’s play catch. 3. [C] (informal) a hidden problem or difficulty: The rent is so low there must be a catch.

THE SAURUS

disadvantage, drawback, downside, bad point

catch-22 /ˈkætʃ-22/ n. singular, U. a situation in which, whatever you do, you are prevented from achieving what you want: You can’t catch·er /ˈkætʃər/ n. [C] the baseball player who squats behind the batter in order to catch balls that are not hit catch·ing /ˈkætʃɪŋ/ adj. [not before noun] (informal) a disease or illness that is catching spreads easily from one person to another catch phrase n. [C] a word or phrase that is easy to remember and is repeated by a political party, newspaper, etc.

catch·y /ˈkætʃɪ/ adj. a catchy tune or phrase is easy to remember: There are some really catchy songs on the album.

cat·e·chis·m /ˌkætəˈkɪzəm/ n. [C] a set of questions and answers about the Christian religion, that people learn before becoming members of the church cat·e·go·ri·cal /ˌkætəˈgrəikal/ adj. clearly stating that something is true: Weber’s agent issued a categorical denial that the incident had ever happened. —categorically adv.: James categorically denied the charges.

cat·e·go·ri·zing /ˌkætəˈɡərɪzəŋ/ v. [T] to put people or things into groups according to what type, level, etc. they are: We’ve categorized the wines by region.

cat·e·go·ry /ˌkætəˈɡərɪ/ n. (plural categories) [C] a group of people or things that are all of the same type: There are several categories of patients. | Voters fall into one of three categories.

THESSAURUS type, kind, sort, brand, make, model, genre, variety, species ➔ TYPE cat·er /ˈkætər/ v. [I,T] to provide and serve food and drinks at a party, meeting, etc., usually as a business: Who’s catering your daughter’s wedding? —caterer n. [C] cater to sb phr. v. to provide a particular group of people with something that they need or want: newspapers that cater to business people cat·er·ing /ˈkætərɪŋ/ n. [U] the job of providing and serving food and drinks at parties, meetings, etc.

cat·er·pil·lar /ˈkætərˌpɪlər, ˈkætəˌpɪlər/ n. [C] a small creature with a long rounded body and many legs that develops into a butterfly or moth [Origin: 1400–1500 Old North French catepelose “hairy cat, caterpillar” ➔ see picture on page A2] cat·fish /ˈkætfɪʃ/ n. [C,U] a common fish with long hairs around its mouth that lives mainly in rivers and lakes, or the meat from this fish

ca-thar·tic /ˈkæθɑrtɪk/ adj. (literary) helping you to deal with difficult emotions and get rid of them —catharsis /ˈkæθɑrsɪs/ n. [U]

cath·ode /ˈkæθəʊd/ n. [C] PHYSICS the negative electrode, marked (−), from which an electric current leaves a piece of equipment such as a battery ➔ ANODE

cath·o·lic /ˈkæθəlɪk, ˈkæθəlɪk/ adj. relating to the part of the Christian religion whose leader is the Pope —Catholic n. [C] —Catholicism /ˌkæθəˈlɪkɪzəm/ n. [U] catholic adj. (formal) including a great variety of things: Susan has catholic tastes in music. [Origin: 1300–1400 French catholique, from Late Latin, from Greek katholikos “general, universal”] cat·i·on /ˈkætəˌjɒn/ n. [C] PHYSICS an ion with a positive electrical charge that is attracted to the part on a battery that sends out a negative electrical charge cat·nap /ˈkætnæp/ n. [C] informal) a short sleep during the day cat·nip /ˈkætnɪp/ n. [U] a type of grass with a pleasant smell that cats are attracted to

CAT scan /ˈkæt skæn/ also CT scan /ˈkæt skæn/ n. [C] an image of the inside of someone’s body produced by a special piece of hospital equipment called a scanner cat·sup /ˈkætsʌp, ˈkæt-ʃʌp/ n. [U] another spelling of KETCHUP cat·tle /ˈkætl/ n. [plural] cows and BULLS kept on a farm cat·ty /ˈkætɪ/ adj. (informal) deliberately unkind in what you say about someone —cattiness n. [U] cat·ty·corn·ed adj. KITTY-CORNER cat·walk /ˈkætwɔrk/ n. [C] a long raised path that models walk on in a fashion show ➔ a narrow structure high up in a building or above something such as a bridge, built for people to walk on while they are working cau·ca·sian /ˈkerəsən/ adj. someone who is Caucasian belongs to the race that has pale skin —Caucasian n. [C] cau·cus /ˈkɔkəs/ n. [C] POLITICS a group of people in a political party, who meet to discuss and decide on political plans cau·ght /kɔt/ v. the past tense and past participle of CATCH cau·liflow·er /ˈkɔlɪˌflɔr, ˈkɒləˌflɔr/ n. [C,U] a white vegetable with short firm stems and thick green leaves, and as the small round flower-like parts [Origin: 1500–1600 Italian cavolfiore, from cavolo “cabbage” + fioro “flower” ➔ see picture at VEGETABLE cau·the·dral /ˈkɑθədrəl/ n. [C] the main church in a particular area [Origin: 1500–1600 Old French cathedrale “cathedral” (13–21 centuries); Old Latin cathedra “chair, bishop’s chair”]

cath·ode /ˈkæθəʊd/ n. [C] PHYSICS the negative electrode, marked (−), from which an electric current leaves a piece of equipment such as a battery ➔ ANODE

cath·ode /ˈkæθəʊd/ n. [C] PHYSICS the negative electrode, marked (−), from which an electric current leaves a piece of equipment such as a battery ➔ ANODE

cath·ode /ˈkæθəʊd/ n. [C] PHYSICS the negative electrode, marked (−), from which an electric current leaves a piece of equipment such as a battery ➔ ANODE

cath·ode /ˈkæθəʊd/ n. [C] PHYSICS the negative electrode, marked (−), from which an electric current leaves a piece of equipment such as a battery ➔ ANODE cau·sa·tion /kəˈzeɪʃən/ n. [U] MATH the relationship between two VARIABLES (=mathematical quantity that is not fixed), in which a change in one produces a change in the other

'cause /kəz/ conjunction (spoken) because cause1 /kəz/ n. 1 [C] a person, event, or thing that makes something happen: What was the cause of the accident. 2 [C, U] a reason for doing something or having a particular feeling: There is no cause for concern/an alarm. 3 [C] a principle or aim that a group of people support or fight for: I don’t mind giving money if it’s for a good cause. [Origin: 1200–1300 Old French, Latin causa]

cause2 v. [T] to make something happen, especially something bad: Heavy traffic is causing long delays. | We still don’t know what caused the computer to crash.

cause and effect n. [U] ENG. LANG. ARTS a way of organizing a piece of written work, in which you describe an event or a situation and explain the reasons why it happened and the effects that it has caus·tic /ˈkæstɪk/ adj 1 caustic remark/comment etc. something you say that is extremely unkind or full of criticism. 2 CHEMISTRY a caustic substance can burn through things by chemical action

cau·tion1 /ˈkæʃən/ n. [U] 1 the quality of doing something carefully, not taking risks, and avoiding danger: The animals should be handled with caution. | Travelers in the area should use extreme caution. 2 word/note of caution a warning to be careful: A word of caution – be sure to make copies of all files.

cau·tion2 v. [T] (formal) to warn someone that something might be dangerous or difficult: The children were cautioned against talking to strangers.

cau·tion·ar·y /ˈkæʃənərē/ adj giving a warning: a cautionary tale (=a story that is used to warn people)

cau·tious /ˈkæʃəs/ adj careful to avoid doing something: a cautious driver | He was cautious about making any predictions. —cautiously adv.

cav·a·lier /ˈkevələr/ adj not caring or thinking enough about other people or how serious a situation might be: drivers with a cavalier attitude toward road safety cav·al·ry /ˈkevəlri/ n. [U] soldiers who fight while riding on horses cave1 /kev/ n. [C] a large natural hole in the side of a cliff or under the ground [Origin: 1200–1300 Old French, Latin cavea, from caveus “hollow”] cave2 v. cave in phr. v. 1 if the top or sides of something cave in, they fall down or inward: The roof of the old house had caved in. 2 to stop opposing something because you have been persuaded or threatened cave·man /ˈkevəmən/ n. (plural cavemen/-men/) [C] someone who lived in a cave many thousands of years ago cave·em·n/i /ˈkevəmən/ n. [C] a large deep cave —cavernous adj.

cav·i·ty /ˈkævətē/ n. (plural cavities) 1 a hole in a tooth, made by decay: The dentist told me that I have a cavity. 2 a hole or space inside something solid

ca·vort /ˈkævərt/ v. [I] to jump or dance in an excited or sexual way

ca·vort /ˈkævərt/ v. [I] to jump or dance in an excited or sexual way

CB n. [C, U] Citizens Band a radio on which people can speak to each other over short distances

CBS n. Columbia Broadcasting System one of the national companies that broadcasts television and radio programs in the U.S.

cc 1 the abbreviation of CUBIC CENTIMETER: a 2,000 cc engine 2 carbon copy used in business letters and emails to show that you are sending a copy to someone else

CD n. [C] 1 compact disc a small circular piece of hard plastic on which music or computer information is recorded ➔ see picture on page A6 2 a CERTIFICATE OF DEPOSIT

CD player n. [C] a piece of equipment used for playing music CDs
CD-ROM

CD-ROM /si ˈdɛrəm/ n. [C,U] a compact disc read-only memory a CD on which a large amount of computer information is stored

CD-RW n. [C,U] a compact disc-reWritable a type of CD that you can record music, images, or other information onto, using special equipment on your computer, and that can be recorded onto several times cease /sɛs/ v. [I,T] (formal) to stop doing something, or to make an activity stop happening: By noon, the rain had ceased. | He never ceases to amaze me (=I am always surprised by what he does). | East Germany ceased to exist in 1990, shortly after the collapse of the Berlin Wall. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French cesser, from Latin cessare “to stop,” from cedere “to give up”] cease-fire /ˈsiːsˈfɑːri/ n. [C] an agreement for both sides in a war to stop fighting for a period of time cease-less /sɪ̱sɪəl/ adj. (formal) continuing for a long time without stopping: the ceaseless motion of the waves —ceaselessly adv.

cedar /ˈsiːdər/ n. [C.U] a tall evergreen tree with leaves shaped like needles, or the red sweet-smelling wood of this tree ➔ see picture on page A10 cede /sɛd/ v. [T] (formal) to give land, power, etc. to another country or person cel-lar /ˈsiːlər/ adj. ☀️ from Latin cella “small room” ceil-ing /ˈsiːlɪŋ/ n. [C] 1 the inside surface of the top part of a room ➔ ROOF: an apartment with high ceilings 2 the largest number or amount of something that is officially allowed: They have put a ceiling of $2 million on the project ceil-er-y /ˈsiːlərɪ/ n. [U] a vegetable with long firm pale green stems, often eaten raw [Origin: 1600—1700 Italian dialect selerì, from Late Latin selerì non “parsley,” from Greek] ➔ see picture at VEGETABLE famous, well-known, legendary, infamous, notorious, renowned, noted, distinguished, eminent ➔ FAMOUS cel-e-brate /ˈsiːlɪbreɪt/ v. [T] to do something special because of a particular event or special occasion: It’s our anniversary, and we’re going out to dinner to celebrate. | How do you want to celebrate your birthday?

THE SA URUS

cele-bration /ˈsiːlɪbreɪʃən/ n. [C] an occasion or party when you celebrate something: New Year’s celebrations 2 [U] the act of celebrating cele-brity /ˈsiːlɪbrəti/ n. (plural celebrities) [C] a famous person, especially someone in the entertainment business: Hollywood celebrities cel-lo /ˈsɛləʊ/ n. [U] a stringed musical instrument that you hold between your knees and play by pulling a bow (special stick) across the strings

Cel-lo·phone /ˈsɛləˌfoʊn/ n. [U] (trademark) a thin transparent material used for wrapping things cell /ˈsɛl/ n. [C] 1 BIOLOGY the smallest part of any living thing except a VUSIC: red blood cells 2 a small room where prisoners are kept: a jail cell 3 PHYSICS a piece of equipment that produces electricity from chemicals, heat, or light: cars powered by fuel cells 4 a small space that an insect or other small creature has made to live in or use ➔ see picture at HIVE [Origin: 1100—1200 Old French cellle, from Latin cellula “small room”] cell·lar·y /ˈsɛləri/ n. [U] a room under a house or other building, often used for storing things

‘cell’ body n. [C] BIOLOGY the main part of a nerve cell, which contains the NUCLEUS (=central part) and the parts that keep the cell alive

‘cell’ culture n. [C] BIOLOGY a group of cells grown in a special chemical solution from a single original cell

‘cell’ cycle n. [C] BIOLOGY a process in which a cell divides and forms two new cells

‘cell’ di-vision n. [U] BIOLOGY the process by which a cell divides to form two new cells

‘cell’ list /ˈtʃelɪst/ n. [C] someone who plays the cello

‘cell’ mem·brane n. [C.U] BIOLOGY a thin layer of material that covers a cell, through which substances pass in and out ➔ see picture at CELL

‘cell’·lo·phone /ˈsɛləˌfoʊn/ n. (plural cellos) [C] a large wooden musical instrument that you hold between your knees and play by pulling a bow (special stick) across the strings

‘cell’ pho·ne /ˈsɛləˌfɑːn/ n. [U] a telephone that you carry with you ➔ see picture on page A6 cell respiration also cellular respiration n. [U] biology the process in which a cell changes sugar and other substances into the energy it needs, usually by using oxygen cell specialization n. [U] biology the fact that different cells in the body have different purposes and are involved in different activities cel-lu-lar /ˈsɛljuər/ adj. 1 relating to cellular phones: a cellular network 2 biology relating to the cells in a plant or animal cellular phone n. [C] a cell phone → see picture on page A6 cel-lu-lite /ˈsɛljuət/ n. [U] fat just below someone’s skin that makes it look uneven and unattractive cel-lu-oid /ˈsɛljuəd/ n. [U] (trademark) a substance like plastic, used in the past to make film cel-lu-lose /ˈsɛljuəlʊs/ n. [U] biology a substance that forms the walls of plant cells cell wall n. [C] biology the stiff outer part of the cells of plants and bacteria, which helps to support the growing plants or bacteria

Cel-si-us /ˈsɛlsiəs/, -səs/ n. [U] physics (written abbreviation °C) a temperature scale in which water freezes at 0° and boils at 100° (by) centigrade → fahrenheit [origin: 1800—1900 anders cel-sius (1701—44), swedish scientist who invented the scale] cen-ment /ˈsentmənt/ n. [U] a gray powder used in building that is mixed with sand and water and allowed to dry and become hard [origin: 1300—1400 Old French ciment, from Latin coementum “small pieces of stone used in making mortar”] cement n. [T] 1 to make a relationship, position, etc. stronger: “china has cemented its trade connections with the U.S.” 2 to cover something with cement cen-ter /ˈsentər/ n. (plural centers) [C] a place where dead people are buried [origin: 1300—1400 old french cimetiere, from late latin coemeterium, from Greek koimeterion “sleeping room, burying place”]

Ce-no-zo-ic /ˌsɛnəʊˈzoʊik/ n. the Cenozoic earth sciences the period of time in the earth’s history from when the dinosaurs died out about 65 million years ago until the present day → meso-zoic, paleozoic, precambrian —Cenozoic adj.: the Cenozoic era cen-sor /ˈsɛnsər/ v. [T] to examine books, movies, etc. and remove anything that is offensive, politically dangerous, etc. → censorship n. [U] censor n. [C] someone whose job is to censor books, movies, etc.

cen-sure /ˈsɛnsər/ v. [T] (formal) to officially criticize someone → censure n. [U] cen-sus /ˈsɛnsəs/ n. (plural censuses) [C] an occasion when a government collects information about the number of people in a country, their ages, jobs, etc.: “when was the first U.S. census taken?” cent /ˈsent/ n. [C] 1 a unit of money that is worth 1/100 of a dollar. Its sign is ¢. 2 put in/add/say your two cents’ worth (informal) to give your opinion about something, when no one has asked to hear it [origin: 1300—1400 old french “hundred,” from latin centum] cen-ten-ni-al /ˈsentənəniəl/ also cen-ten-a-ry /ˈsentənəri/ n. [C] the day or year exactly 100 years after an important event: this year marked the centennial of the composer’s death.
cen-ter /ˈsentər/ n. [C] 1 the middle part or point of something: “we moved the table to the center of the room.” 2 an old hotel in the center of town 2 a building used for a particular purpose: a shopping center 3 the Kennedy space center 3 a place where there is a lot of a particular type of business or activity: a major banking center 4 be at the center of sth to be the main cause of something bad, or have a very important part in it: “the senator is at the center of a controversy over political donations.” 5 be the center of attention to be the person that everyone is giving attention to → 6 the center a political position which does not support extreme views 7 in basketball, the player who usually plays near the basket 8 in football, the player who starts the ball moving in each play center v. [T] to move something to a position at the center of something else: “is this painting centered?”

center on/around sth phr. v. if something centers on a particular thing, that is the most important thing in it or what it mainly concerns: “their whole life centers around their children.” 2 the discussion centered on gun control.
center field n. [singular] the area in baseball in the center of the out field → centerfielder n. [C] center of gravity n. [singular] the point on an object at which it can balance cen-ter-piece /ˈsentərpiːs/ n. [C] the most important, attractive, or noticeable part of something: the centerpiece of Canada’s foreign policy 2 a decoration in the middle of a table, usually made of flowers cen-ti-gram /ˈsentəriɡræm/ n. [U] physics centi-metre cen-ti-me-ter /ˈsentəriˈmiːtər/ n. [C] (written abbreviation cm) a unit for measuring length, equal to 1/100 of a meter, or 0.39 inches cen-ti-pede /ˈsentəpɪd/ n. [C] a very small creature with a long thin body and many legs (origin: 1600—1700 Latin centipeda, from cent- “hundred” + pes “foot”)

cent-ral /sentral/ adj. 1 [only before noun] in the middle of an object or area: Central Asia | the central part of the island 2 [only before noun] having control over the rest of a system, organization, etc.: The computers are linked to a central database. 3 more important than anything else: Owen played a central role in the negotiations. | The environment was central to his election campaign.

THERAeUS | art, painting, drawing, photography, sculpture, pottery ➔ ART

4 a place that is central is near the center of a town: | I want a hotel that’s central. —centrally adv.

central air conditioning n. [U] a system for making the air in a building cooler, in which cool air is produced in one place and taken to the rest of the building by pipes central bank n. [C] ECONOMICS the official bank of a country, which is responsible for controlling the country’s money supply and controlling the country’s banking system. A central bank can also lend money to the country’s other banks.

central heating n. [U] a system of heating buildings, in which heat is produced in one place and taken to the rest of the building by pipes central Intelligence Agency n. the CIA central nervous system n. [C] BIOLOGY the main part of the nervous system, consisting of your brain and your spinal cord central processing unit n. [C] IT a CPU cen-tri-fug-al /sên'trifrəgal,-'trəfəl/ adj. PHYSICS moving away from the center: centrifugal movement cen-tri-fug-al force n. [C,U] PHYSICS a force that makes things move away from the center of something when they are moving or turning quickly around it (origin: 1700—1800 Modern Latin centrifugus, from centri- “center” + Latin fuge “to run away”)

cen-tri-fug-al force n. [C,U] PHYSICS a force that makes things move toward the center of something when they are moving or turning quickly around it (origin: 1700—1800 Modern Latin centripetus, from centri- “center” + Latin petere “to go to, try to find”)

cen-tri-ty /sentri'ti/ n. (plural centuries) [C] 1 one of the 100-year periods measured from before or after the year of Christ’s birth: the 6th/11th/21st etc. century | My grandparents moved west at the turn of the century (=at the beginning of the century). 2 a period of 100 years

CEO n. [C] Chief Executive Officer the person with the most authority in a large company ce-ram-i cs /sə'ræmɪks/ n. [plural, U] ENG. LANG. ARTS pots, plates, etc. made from clay, or the art of making them —ceramic adj.

THERAeUS | basic, fundamental, essential, elementary, underlying ➔ BASIC ce-re-al /sə'reəl/ n. 1 [C]U breakfast food made from grain and usually eaten with milk: a bowl of cereal 2 [C] a plant grown to produce grain for foods, such as wheat, rice, etc. (origin: 1800—1900 French céréale, from Latin cerealis “of Ceres,” from Ceres ancient Roman goddess of grain and farming) cer-e-bel-lum /sə'rəbeləm/ n. (plural cerebellums or cerebella) [C] BIOLOGY the bottom part of your brain that controls your muscles ➔ see picture at brain*

cerebra /sə'rebrə/ n. a plural form of cerebrum cere-bral /sə'rebrəl/ adj. BIOLOGY relating to the brain (origin: 1800—1900 French cérébral, from Latin cerebrum “brain”) cerebral cortex n. [C] BIOLOGY the outer layer of the front part of your brain, where you think and receive information from your ears, eyes, etc.

cerebral palsy n. [U] BIOLOGY a medical condition that affects someone’s ability to move or speak, caused by damage to the brain at birth cere-brum /sə'rebrəm/ n. (plural cerebra /-brə/ or cerebrums) [C] BIOLOGY the front, larger part of the brain, where thoughts and decisions happen, and that also controls movements of the body ➔ see picture at brain* cere-mo-ni-al /sə'rəmoʊniəl/ adj. used in a ceremony, or done as part of a ceremony: Native American ceremonial pipes cere-mo ny /sə'reməni/ n. (plural ceremonies) 1 [C] a formal event that happens in public on special occasions: a wedding ceremony | a graduation ceremony | The treaty was signed during a ceremony at the White House. 2 [U] the formal actions and words always used on particular occasions: With great ceremony, the Mayor opened the new concert hall. (origin: 1300—1400 Old French cerymonie, from Latin caerimonio)

cert-ain /sər'tən/ adj. 1 completely sure: I’m not certain (that) he’s telling me the truth. | She was absolutely certain he was the killer. | No one was certain what to expect. | Are you certain about that?

THERAeUS | sure, convinced, confident, satisfied, positive ➔ SURE* certain to be offered the job. | The poison causes certain death. 3 [only before noun] a certain thing, person, idea, etc. is a particular thing, person, etc. that you are not naming or describing exactly: The plant grows in certain conditions. | There are certain things I just can’t talk about with her. 4 make certain (that) a) to check that something is correct or true: We need to make certain that it’s going to fit first. b) to do something in order to be sure something will happen: Employers are required to make certain that all employees are treated fairly. 5 a certain a) some, but not a lot: I had to spend a certain amount of time practicing, but it wasn’t hard. | I agree with you to a certain extent (i.e., partly, but not completely). b) difficult to describe exactly: The restaurant has a certain charm. 6 for certain without any doubt: I can’t say for certain when her plane will arrive. [origin: 1200—1300 Old French, Vulgar Latin certaneus, from Latin certus “decided, certain”] certainly /sør’tInli/ adv without any doubt [synonym: definitely]: Diana certainly spends a lot of money on clothes. | His lawyers will almost certainly appeal. [“Can I borrow your notes?” “Certainly (eyes, of course).”] certain-tain-ly /sør’tInTri/ adv. (informal) crazy cer-ti-fi-ate /sør’tIfækt/ n [C] an official document that states the facts about something or someone: a birth/marriage/death certificate (=giving details of someone’s birth, etc.) [origin: 1400—1500 French certificat, from Late Latin, past participle of certicare, from Latin certus “decided, certain”] ➔ GIFT CERTIFICATE cer-ti-fi-cate of de-pot-ent /sør’tIfækt Ifæpor/ n [C] Economics a bank account that you must leave a particular amount of money in for a particular amount of time in order to get interest cer-ti-fi-ca-tion /sør’tIfækʃən/ n [C,U] an official document that says that someone is allowed to do a certain job, that something is of good quality, etc., or the process of doing this cer-ti-fied /sør’tIfed/ adj. (certified, certifies) [T] 1 to officially state that something is correct or true: Two doctors certified that the patient was dead. 2 to give someone an official document that states that s/he has completed a course of training: He has been certified as a mechanic. | a certified nurse cer-vix /sør’viks/ n [C] Biology the narrow opening into a woman’s uterus [origin: 1400—1500 Latin “neck”] ➔ CERVICAL /sør’vIkəl/ adj.

cer-sar-e-an /sør’zərin/ also cer-sar-ean /sør’zəriən/ n [C] an operation in which a woman’s body is cut open to take a baby out [origin: 1600—1700 Julius Caesar (100—44 B.C.), Roman soldier and political leader, who is said to have been born in this way] cer-si-um /sør’sizəm/ n [U] Chemistry (symbol Cs) a very soft silver-gold metal that is an element cer-sa-tion /sør’səʃən/ n [C] (formal) a pause or stop: the cessation of nuclear tests cer-se-pool /sør’səpəl/ n [C] a large hole or container under the ground for collecting waste water from a building

CFC n. [C] Science chlorofluorocarbon a gas used in aerosols and refrigerators which causes damage to the Ozone Layer

CGI n. [U] computer-generated imagery the use of computers to produce artificial images and sounds in movies and television programs ➔ SPECIAL EFFECTS chaos /tʃəʊs/ n. [U,T] 1 a feeling of being put out of order: To the surfers’ chagrin, the beach was closed. 2 a state of disorder, confusion: a state of chaos

chain1 /ʃeɪn/ n. 1 [C,U] a series of metal rings connected together: a delicate gold chain | a bicycle chain (=that makes the wheels turn) ➔ see picture at BICYCLE1 2 [C] a group of stores, hotels, etc. that is owned by the same person or company: a chain of restaurants | a hotel chain 3 chain of events a series of related events or actions: the chain of events that caused World War I 4 [C] a series of similar things in a line: a mountain chain | a chain of islands 5 in chain prisoners in chains have heavy chains fastened around their legs or arms, to prevent them from escaping [origin: 1200—1300 Old French chaueine, from Latin catena] 6 chainmail /ʃeɪnmɪl/ n. [U] a method of sending mail, in which a written record is kept of when it is sent and when it is received certified /sør’tIfad/ adj. (certified, certifies) [T] 1 to officially state that something is correct or true: Two doctors certified that the patient was dead. 2 to give someone an official document that chain-saw /ʃeɪn’zɔ/ n. [C] a tool used for cutting wood, consisting of a circular chain with sharp edges, that is moved by a motor chain-smoke  v  [T] to smoke cigarettes one after the other —chain-smoker n  [C] chain store  n  [C] one of a group of stores owned by the same company chair  /ˈtʃeər/ n  1  [C] a piece of furniture for one person to sit on: He sat in a chair next to the fireplace.  ➔ see picture at seat  2  [C] someone who is in charge of a meeting, a committee, or a university department: She was named chair of the Public Safety Committee.  3 the chair the position of being in charge of a meeting or committee [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French chaier, from Latin cathedra, from Greek, from kata- + hēdra “seat”] chairman  /ˈtʃeərˌmən/  (plural chairmen  -mən/)  [C] 1  someone, especially a man, who is in charge of a meeting or committee  2  someone, especially a man, who is in charge of a large company or organization

USAGE Chairman can be used for both men and women, though some women prefer to be called a chairwoman. Many people prefer to use chairperson, especially if the sex of the person is not known.

chairperson  /ˈtʃeərˌpɜrsən/  (plural chairpersons  -pɜrsənz/)  [C] someone who is in charge of a meeting or directs the work of a committee or organization chairwoman  /ˈtʃeərˌwʊmən/  (plural chairwomen  -wʊmən/)  [C] a woman who is a chairperson cham·ber  /ˈkæmər/ n  1  [C] a room used for a special purpose: a gasoline chamber (=used for killing people by gas or for hurting them) | the council chamber in the Town Hall  2  [C] an enclosed space inside something, such as your body or a machine: a gun with six chambers | the four chambers of the heart  3  [C] politics one of the two parts of a parliament or legislature (=institutions that have the power to make or change laws): the upper/lower chamber of parliament  4  chambers  (plural) the offices used by judges [Origin: 1100—1200 Old French cham-bre, from Late Latin camera, from Latin, “curved roof,” from Greek kamara] chambermaid  /ˈkæməˌmeid/  n  [C] a woman whose job is to clean hotel bedrooms chamber music  n  [U] classical music performed by a small group of musicians Chamber of Commerce  n  an organization of business people in a town or city, whose aim is to encourage business cha·let /ˈʃælət, ˈʃælet/ n  [C] a wooden house, especially one in a mountain area chalk  /tʃækl/ n  1  [U] earth sciences soft white rock  2  [C] small sticks of this substance, used for writing or drawing: a piece of chalk [Origin: Old English cealc, from Latin calcis, from Greek chalkis “small stone”] chalk off  v  chalk sth  ➔ up  phr  v  (informal) to succeed in winning or getting something: Boston chalked up another win over Detroit last night.  —chalk·ier /ˈtʃæklər/ adj  —chalk·ily /-əli/ adv

chall·eng·er  /ˈtʃæləndʒər/ n  1  [C,U] something that tests your skill or ability, especially in a way that is interesting: the challenge of a new job  Together we can meet (=deal with) this challenge.  The firm faces several challenges if it is to improve sales. | The trial will pose a (=be a) difficult challenge for the defense.  2  [C] the act of questioning whether something is right, fair, or legal: If I make any decisions myself, my boss thinks it’s a direct challenge to her authority.  3  [C] an invitation from someone to try to beat him/her in a fight, game, argument, etc.: The mayor has accepted the challenge for a debate.

challenge  /ˈtʃæləndʒ/ v  [T] 1  to question whether something is right, fair, or legal: They plan to challenge the court’s decision.  2  to invite someone to compete or fight against you: They challenged us to a game of tennis.  3  to test the skills or abilities of someone or something: A good teacher challenges his or her students, often so that they achieve more than they think they can.  —challenger n  [C] chal·len·ged /ˈtʃæləndʒd/ adj  visually/mentally/physically challenged an expression for describing someone who has difficulty doing things because s/he is blind, etc., used in order to be polite chall·en·ging /ˈtʃælənʤɪŋ/ adj  difficult in an interesting way: a challenging new job chance /ˈtʃæns/ n. [C] 1 the person in charge of some universities. 2 politics the leader of the government in some countries [origin: 1000—1100 Old French chancelier, from Late Latin cancellarius “doorkeeper, secretary”] cham-pion /ˈtʃæpiən/ n. [C] 1 a person, team, etc. that has won a competition, especially in sports: the world heavyweight boxing champion | the defending/reigning national soccer champions (=the champions right now) 2 champion of sb/sth someone who fights for and defends an aim or idea: a champion of civil rights cham-pi-on-ship /ˈtʃæpiənʃip/ n. 1 [C] also championships [plural] a competition to find the best player or team in a particular sport: the women’s figure skating championships chanc·er /ˈtʃænsər/ n. 1 a person, team, or idea: She consistently championed the cause of working mothers.

chanc·y /ˈtʃænsi/ adj. (informal) uncertain or involving risks: The weather there can be chance in the spring.

chan·de·lier /ˈtʃændəliər/ n. [C] a frame that holds lights or candles, hangs from the ceiling, and is decorated with small pieces of glass change /tʃeɪndʒ/ n. 1 [singular] the position or period of being a champion: Can she win the championship again? 2 [plural] a name or decision or opinion about something: The company has been changed to become different, or to make someone or something become different: Ed changed after Ricky died. | There are plans to change the voting system. | In the fall, its leaves change from green to gold. | The rain on the roads had changed to ice during the night.

alter – to change something, or to make something change: Can we alter the date of the meeting?
adapt/adjust/modify – to change something slightly: The group is pressuring Congress to modify the plan. | His doctor has adjusted the dosage of his medication.
revise/ amend – to change something because of new information or ideas: The rules of volleyball were revised to give the game a faster pace. | The act was amended to protect wildlife.
reform/reorganize/structure – to change a system or organization: plans to reform the welfare system. | The company has been restructured from top to bottom.
transform/revolutionize – to change something completely: They’ve completely transformed the downtown area. | The discovery of penicillin revolutionized medicine.

twist/distort/misrepresent – to deliberately change facts, information, someone’s words, etc. in a way that is not completely true or correct: He accused reporters of twisting his words.

change3 v. [T] to stop doing or using one thing, and start doing or using something else: I’m thinking about changing jobs. | The company has changed its name to Cortland Capital. | I think we’d better change the subject (=talk about something else). 3 change your mind to change your decision or opinion about something: I’ve changed my mind about selling the house. 4 [U/T] to take off your clothes and put on different ones: I went upstairs to change my shirt. | Go upstairs and change into your play clothes. | Eric went to go changed. 5 [T] to put something new or different in place of something else: We had to get out and change the tire. | She cleaned the room and changed the sheets (=put clean sheets on the bed). | Do you mind changing the baby (=putting a clean diaper on the baby)? 6 [T] if you change money, you give it to someone and she gives it back to you.
change

in smaller amounts, or in money from a different country: Can you change a $10 bill? | I want to change my dollars into pesos. 7 to get out of one train, bus, or aircraft, and into another in order to continue your trip: We had to change planes in Chicago. 8 change hands to become someone else’s property: The house has changed hands twice in the last ten years. (Origin: 1100—1200 Old French chanter, from Latin cambiare “to exchange”) change  phr.v. to move things into different positions: The room looks bigger since we changed the furniture around.

change over phr.v. to stop doing or using one thing and start doing or using something different: We’re changing over to the new software next month.

change adj. 1 [C,U] the process or result of something or someone becoming different: Many people find it hard to accept change. | a change in diet | a change of temperature | Grandma’s health has taken a change for the worse (=become worse). 2 [C] an action or event that involves replacing one thing with another: The car needs an oil change. | a change of leadership | the change from communism to democracy 3 [singular] something that is interesting or enjoyable because it is different from what is usual: Why don’t we go out for a change? | I need a change. 4 [U] a) the money you get back when you pay more money than something costs: Here’s your change. b) money in the form of coins: I have about a dollar in change. c) coins or paper money that add up to the same value as a larger unit of money: Do you have change for a dollar?

THE DICTIONARY

changeable adj. likely to change, or changing often: Kids’ tastes are very changeable.

clothes changeable adj. set of clothes that you can use if necessary: I keep a change of clothes just in case.

change of channel phr.v. to go somewhere with someone else’s property: Our team changed hands twice during the match.

channel 1 n. 1 [C] one of the parts into which a book is divided: Chapter 6 | For homework, read the first two chapters of the book. | This detailed study contains chapters on each geographic region. 2 a particular period in someone’s life or in history: a sad chapter in our country’s history | one of the most shameful chapters of French history 3 the local members of a large organization or club: the local chapter of the Sierra Club (Origin: 1100—1200 Old French chapitre, from Late Latin capitulum, from Latin caput “head”) capable adj. the qualities that make a person, place, or thing different from any other: There’s a very serious side to her change channel phr.v. to direct something toward a particular purpose, place, or situation: Cody needs to channel his creativity into something useful. | Profits are channeled to conservation groups.

change phr.v. to repeat a word or phrase many times: Crowds of protesters chanted “Give peace a chance!”

change channels phr.v. to change from one activity or system to another: the changeover from military to civilian rule.

change of location n. 1 [U] to go somewhere with someone else’s property: Our team changed hands twice during the match.

change in diet n. 1 [U] a change of leadership | the change from communism to democracy 3 [singular] something that is interesting or enjoyable because it is different from what is usual: Why don’t we go out for a change? | I need a change. 4 [U] a) the money you get back when you pay more money than something costs: Here’s your change. b) money in the form of coins: I have about a dollar in change. c) coins or paper money that add up to the same value as a larger unit of money: Do you have change for a dollar?

changeover n. changeover from military to civilian rule.

change to n. 1 [U] a change of leadership | the change from communism to democracy 3 [singular] something that is interesting or enjoyable because it is different from what is usual: Why don’t we go out for a change? | I need a change. 4 [U] a) the money you get back when you pay more money than something costs: Here’s your change. b) money in the form of coins: I have about a dollar in change. c) coins or paper money that add up to the same value as a larger unit of money: Do you have change for a dollar?

changeover n. 1 [U] the process or result of something or someone becoming different: Many people find it hard to accept change. | a change in diet | a change of temperature | Grandma’s health has taken a change for the worse (=become worse). 2 [C] an action or event that involves replacing one thing with another: The car needs an oil change. | a change of leadership | the change from communism to democracy 3 [singular] something that is interesting or enjoyable because it is different from what is usual: Why don’t we go out for a change? | I need a change. 4 [U] a) the money you get back when you pay more money than something costs: Here’s your change. b) money in the form of coins: I have about a dollar in change. c) coins or paper money that add up to the same value as a larger unit of money: Do you have change for a dollar?

change phr.v. to repeat a word or phrase many times: Crowds of protesters chanted “Give peace a chance!”

change channels phr.v. to change from one activity or system to another: the changeover from military to civilian rule.
character. | All these new buildings have really changed the character of this town. | He swore, which was completely out of character (=not typical of the way he usually behaves). 2 [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS a person in a book, play, movie, etc.: I don't like the main character in the book. 3 [U] qualities that make someone or something special or interesting: an old house with a lot of character. 4 [U] good qualities such as courage, loyalty, and honesty that people admire: a woman of great moral character. 5 [C] a particular kind of person: Dan's a strange character. 6 [C] an unusual and humorous person: Charlie's such a character! 7 [C] a letter, mark, or sign used in written, printing, or on a computer: Chinese characters [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French caractere, from Latin character “mark, particular quality”] characteristic /kærəktəˈrɪstɪk/ adj. a special quality or feature that someone or something has, and that makes that person or thing different from others; Each wine has particular characteristics; the characteristics of a good manager quality — something that has as part of his/her character, especially something good: Tina has a lot of good qualities.

THESAURUS

trait — a particular quality in someone’s character: The personality test reveals traits such as shyness or risk-taking.

attribute — a good or useful quality: What attributes should a good manager possess?

feature — an important, interesting, or typical part of something: An important feature of Van Gogh’s paintings is their bright color.

property — a natural quality of something: an herb with heating properties.

aspect — one part of a situation, activity, etc. that has many parts: She enjoys most aspects of her job.

characteristic adj. typical of a particular thing or person: The vase is characteristic of 18th-century Chinese art. | Mark, with characteristic kindness, offered to help. —characteristically adv.

characreize /kærəktaɪz/ v. [T] 1 to be typical of someone or something: Alzheimer’s disease is characterized by memory loss. 2 to describe the character of someone or something in a particular way: His book characterizes Eisenhower as a natural leader.

THESAURUS

portray © CALL1 —characterization /kærəktaɪzəˈʃən/ n. [C.U]

cha·rade /ˈʃærəd/ n. 1 [C] a situation in which people pretend to think, feel, etc. something, although they clearly do not: Their happy marriage is just a charade. 2 charades [U] a game in which one person uses actions and no words to show the meaning of a word or phrase, and other people have to guess what it is char·coal /ˈtʃærkəʊl/ [U] a black substance made of burned wood, used as FUEL or for drawing charge /tʃɑːr/ n. 1 MONEY [C.U] the amount of money you have to pay for something: an admission charge of $5 | There’s a $70 charge for every extra piece of luggage. | We deliver free of charge (=at no cost).

THESAURUS

cost, expense, price, fee, fare, rent, rate © COST1 2 CONTROL [U] the position of having control over or responsibility for something or someone: Who is in charge of the department? | Diane took charge of the business when her husband died. 3 CRIME [C.LAW] a statement that says that someone has done something illegal or bad: He’s in court on charges of murder. | He denied charges that he used illegal drugs. | The charge against her was shoplifting. | They decided not to bring/press charges (=to officially say that they think someone is guilty of a crime). | The police agreed to drop the charges (=decided to stop making charges) against him.

THESAURUS

accusation, allegation, indictment, complaint © ACCUSATION 4 ELECTRICITY [U] PHYSICS electricity that is put into a piece of electrical equipment such as a BATTERY 5 ATTACK [C] an attack in which people or animals move forward quickly 6 ENERGY [U] PHYSICS the electrical energy contained in all MATTER (=the material that everything in the universe is made of), which exists in a positive and negative form [Origin: 1100—1200 Old French chargier, from Latin currirace, from Latin currus]

charge v. 1 a) [U] to ask for a particular amount of money for something you are selling: How much do you charge for your eggs? | They charged me $2 for a candy bar. b) [T] to record the cost of something that someone buys or uses, so that s/he can pay for it later: Charge the room to my account. | “Would you like to pay cash?” “No, I’ll charge it (=pay with a CREDIT CARD).” 2 [T] to state officially that someone might be guilty of a crime: Ron’s been charged with assault.

THESAURUS

accuse, allege, indict © ACCUSE 3 [L.T] if a BATTERY charges, or if you charge it, it takes in and stores electricity 4 [L.T] to move quickly forward, especially in a threatening way: The bear charged toward her at full speed.

THESAURUS

rush, race, dash, hurry, speed, hasten © RUSH1 charge card n. [C] a CREDIT CARD that you can use in a particular store char·ri·ot /ˈtʃaːrəɪət/ n. [C] a vehicle with two wheels pulled by a horse, used in ancient times in battles and races.

char·ris·ma /ˈkɑːrɪzma/ n. [U] the natural ability to attract other people and make them admire you: He has a lot of charisma. [Origin: 1600—1700 Greek “favor, gift,” from charizesthai “to favor”] —char·mis·ti·cian /ˌkærɪzəˈmətɪks/ n. adj.

char·l·ta·ble /ˈtʃærtərəbəl/ adj. relating to charities and their work: The money went to a charitable group. 2 kind, generous, and sympathetic —char·ita·bil·ly adv.

char·i·ty /ˈtʃærəti/ n. 1 [C] an organization that gives money, goods, or help to people who need it: Several charities sent aid to the flood victims. | a charity event. 2 [U] charity organizations in general: He’s donated over $200,000 to charity. | The auction raised more than $75,000 for charity. 3 [U] money or gifts given to people who need help: She’s too proud to accept charity. 4 [U] (formal) kindness or sympathy that you show toward other people [Origin: 1100—1200 Old French charité, from Late Latin caritas “Christian love”] char·la·tan /ˈtʃɛrəltən/ n. [C] a person who pretends to have special skills or knowledge in order to cheat people char·mam /tʃɑːrm/ 1 [C/U] the special quality someone or something has that makes people like him, her, or it: Lee’s boyish charm | This town has a charm you couldn’t find in a big city. 2 [C] something you wear, have, etc. because you believe it brings you good luck: a lucky charm. [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French carme “song,” from Latin canem “to sing”] cham·ma /tʃɑːrmə/ v. [T] to attract or please someone: Grant has been charming audiences for years. —cham·mer n. [C] charmed /tʃɑːrmd/ adj. lead/live/have a charmed life to be lucky all the time, especially by succeeding in avoiding danger, injury, etc.

cham·ming /tʃɑːmɪŋ/ adj. very pleasing or attractive: What a charming house! —cham·ming·ly adv.

charred /tʃɑːrd/ adj. something that is charred is so burned that it has become black chart1 /tʃɑːrt/ n. [C] 1 a drawing, set of numbers, graph, etc. that shows information: medical charts | The chart shows last year’s sales. | Students should present the results of their experiment in the form of a chart. 2 the charts [plural] the official list of the most popular songs and records, produced each week: Her new album went to the top of the charts. 3 a map, especially of the ocean or stars: navigation charts [Origin: 1500—1600 French charte, from Latin charta “piece of papyrus, document,” from Greek chartē]

chart2 v. [T] 1 to record information about something over a period of time: Scientists have been charting temperature changes in the oceans. | a book that charts the history of the city | Each case of the disease was charted on a graph. 2 to make a plan of what should be done in order to achieve something: She needs to chart a course for her future. 3 to make a map of an area: The survey team began charting the hills and ravines in the area.

chair·ter /ˈtʃærtər/ n. 1 [C] a written statement of the principles, duties, and purposes of an organization: the UN charter. 2 [C/U] the practice of renting a boat, aircraft, etc. from a company, usually for a short time, or the boat, etc. that is used in this way: a charter service | fishing boats for charter chair·ter·flight n. [C] an airplane trip that is arranged for a particular group or for a particular purpose.

chair·ter·mem·ber n. [C] an original member of a club or organization.

chair·ter·school n. [C] a school that is run by parents, companies, etc. rather than by the public school system, but which the state government provides money for.

chase1 /tʃeɪz/ v. [T] to quickly follow someone or something in order to catch him, her, or it: Cops chased the mugger down the street. | a cat chasing after a mouse thesauras follow, pursue, run after, tail, track, stalk ➔ follow

2 [T] to make someone or something leave a place by running after them: There was a raccoon in the yard, but the dog chased it away. 3 [I/T] to try very hard to get something: reporters chasing after a story

chase2 n. [C] an act of following someone or something quickly to catch him, her, or it: a car chase | Police spotted the speeding car and gave chase (=chased it).
chasm /'ka:zəm/ n. 1 [singular] a big difference between ideas or groups of people: the chasm between rich and poor 2 [C] a very deep space between two areas of rock or ice chast-er adj. (old-fashioned) not having sex, or not showing sexual feelings chaste /hə:st/ adj. [C] a frame on which the body, engine, etc. of a vehicle are built chat·ter /ˈchatər/ v. [T] informal, or to talk in a quick and friendly informal way, especially about unimportant things: We were chatting about the weather.

chat·ty /ˈchatē/ adj. informal friendly informal conversation: I had a long chat with Rick.

chat·ter·ize /ˈchatərɪz/ v. (chattered chatting) [I] to criticize or punish someone chat·ter·ty /ˈchatərteɪ/ n. [U] the principle or state of not having sex with anyone except your husband or wife chat /ˈchat/ v. [I] to talk to someone about something: I think Dan's chatting on Debbie again.

cha·teau /ʃəˈtɔː/ n. (plural chateaux 'tʃɔːz/ or chateaux) [C] a castle or large country house in France cha·teau·room /ʃəˈtɔːrʊm/ n. [C] a place on the Internet where you can have a conversation with people by writing messages to them and immediately receiving their reply cha·teau·ty /ʃəˈtɔːteɪ/ n. [U] liking to talk a lot in a friendly informal style: a chatty letter cha·uffeur /ʃəˈfʊər, jɔːr-/ n. [C] someone whose job is to drive a car for someone else from chauffeur “to heat” —chauffeur v. [I]: I spent all day chauffeuring my kids everywhere.

cha·uf·feur·ness /ʃəˈfʊərˌnɪs/ n. [U] —chauffeur·istic adj.

cheap /tʃiːp/ adj. 1 not expensive, or lower in price than you expected: an inexpensive coat. Back then, gas was really cheap. I bought the cheapest computer I could find. Their jeans are dirt cheap (=very low in price)!

check /tʃek/ v. 1 [I,T] to look at or test something carefully in order to be sure that it is correct, in good condition, safe, etc.: “Did Barry lock the back door?” “I don’t know — I’ll check.” I need to check the mailbox; I’m expecting a letter. It’s a good idea to check for ticks after being out in the woods. | Make sure you double-check (check twice) the spellings of these names. 2 [I] to ask someone about something: Check with Dave to see if you can leave early. | Can you check whether we’re still having a meeting? | We’d better check that he received your message. 3 [T] to leave your bags, coat, etc. in a special place where they can be kept safe or put on an airplane, bus, etc., or to take someone’s bags in order to do this: Can I check that bag for you, sir? 4 [T] to suddenly stop yourself good/great/excellent value, it is worth the price you pay for it. At $3, it’s a good deal. | The hotel offers great value for your money if you think that something is worth more money than you paid for it, you can say that it is a bargain: You can get some real bargains at the market. | Bargain prices if a price or product is competitive, it is slightly cheaper than other similar things, but is still good quality: goods for your home at competitive prices cheap·en /tʃiːn/ v. 1 [T] to make someone or something seem to have or deserve less respect: As an actress, I’d be cheapening myself by doing TV commercials. 2 [I,T] to become lower in price or value, or to make something do this: The dollar’s rise in value has cheapened imports.

EXPENSIVE

cheap·en·ing·ly adv. (cheapeningly)

cheap·en·ing·ness n.

cheap·en·ment n.

cheap·en·ing adj. (cheapening)

cheap·en·ing·ly adv. (cheapeningly)

cheap·en·ing·ness n.

cheat /tʃiːt/ v. 1 [I,T] to behave in a dishonest way in order to win or get an advantage: He always cheats at cards. She was caught cheating on the history test. 2 [I] to trick or deceive someone: The salesman cheated me out of $100. | The band’s 30-minute show left fans feeling cheated (=feeling that they had been treated unfairly). —cheat·ing n. [U] check·off sb phr. v. to be unfaithful to your husband, wife, or sexual partner by secretly having sex with someone else: I think Dan’s cheating on Debbie again.

cheat·ed adj. also cheat·er /tʃiːtə/ n. [C] someone who cheats check·er /tʃeɪkə/ n. [C] an inexpensive coat check

from saying or doing something: I had to check the urge to laugh out loud. 5 [T] to stop something bad from getting worse: The treatment checks the spread of the cancer.

check in phr v. to go to the desk at a hotel, airport, etc. to say that you have arrived: Please check in at gate number 5.

check sth ↔ off phr v. to put a mark (✓) next to something on a list to show that you have dealt with it: Check their names off the list as they arrive.

check on sb/sth phr v. to make sure that someone or something is all right or is doing what he, she, or it is supposed to be doing: I have to go check on the roast.

check out phr v. 1 a) check sth ↔ out to make sure that something is actually true, correct, or acceptable: The police checked out his story with the other suspects. "He said I could probably get a scholarship." “You should check it out—that would be great.” b) if something checked out, it is proven to be true, correct, or acceptable: If your references check out, you can start the job on Monday. 2 check sth ↔ out (spoken) to look at someone or something because he, she, or it is interesting or attractive: Hey, check out that car! 3 to pay the bill and leave a hotel: You must check out before 12 o’clock. 4 check sth ↔ out to borrow a book from a library: You can only check out five books at a time.

check sth ↔ over phr v. 1 to look closely at something to make sure it is correct or acceptable: Can you check over my paper for spelling mistakes? 2 to examine someone to make sure she is healthy: The doctor checked her over and couldn’t find anything wrong.

check up on sb/sth phr v. to try to find out if someone is doing what she is supposed to be doing: She was calling every ten minutes to check up on me.

check² n. 1 money [C] one of a set of printed pieces of paper that you can sign and use to pay for things: a check for $50 2 to pay by check (✓) to use a check to pay for something: Did you cash the check (✓) (get cash in exchange for the check)?

collocations

checkbook /ˈtʃekˌbuk/ n. [C] a book of checks checked /ˈtʃekt/ adj. having a regular pattern of different colored squares: a checkered skirt checkered /ˈtʃekəd/ adj. 1 marked with squares of two different colors: a checkered flag 2 checkered past/history etc. periods of failure as well as success in someone’s or something’s past: a cop with a checkered past checkers /ˈtʃekərs/ n. [U] a game for two players, using 12 flat round pieces each and a special board with 64 squares check-in n. 1 [U] the process of reporting your arrival at a hotel, airport, hospital, etc.: Passengers should arrive early for check-in. 2 [sing. /ˈtʃekənt/ a place where you report your arrival at an airport, hotel, etc.: Be at the check-in counter at least two hours before your flight. ➔ check in at CHECK checking account n. [C] a bank account that you can take money out of at any time callback /ˈtʃekˌlɪst/ n. [C] a list of things you have to do for a particular job or activity checkmate /ˈtʃekmæt/ n. [U] the position in a game of chess when the king cannot escape and the game has ended cHECKOUT COUNTER /ˈtʃekˈaut,kaʊntər/ also checkout n. [C] the place in a SUPERMARKET where you pay for things

thesaurus

bill, invoice, tab ➔ BILL check·point /tʃɪkˈpɔɪnt/ n. [C] a place, especially at a border between countries, where an official person stops people and vehicles to examine them check-up, check·up /tʃɪkˈʌp/ n. [C] an occasion when a doctor or dentist examines you to see if you are healthy: Dentists recommend regular check-ups.

ched·dar /tʃɛdˈdɔr/ n. [U] a firm smooth yellow or orange cheese cheek /tʃeik/ n. [C] the soft round part of your face below each of your eyes: He kissed her lightly on the cheek. » see picture on page A16 [Origin: Old English ceacel] » see picture on page A3 cheek·bone /tʃeikˈboʊn/ n. [C] the bone just below your eye: She had high cheekbones and green eyes. » see picture on page A3 deer·led·er /tʃɛəˈlɪdər/ n. 1 a member of a team of young women who encourage a crowd to cheer at sports events deer·ly /tʃɛərɪ/ adj. happy, or making you feel happy: Sullivan was in a cheery mood.

deer·sea·son /tʃɛəˈsɛn/ n. [C] a period of time when deer are in a particular area:

cheese /tʃiːz/ n. [C,U] a solid food made from milk, that is usually white or yellow: a grilled cheese sandwich | a piece/slice/wedge of cheese I’d like a bagel with cream cheese. [Origin: Old English cese] cheese·burg·er /tʃiːzˈbɜːrə/ n. [C] a hamburger cooked with a piece of cheese on top of the meat cheese·cake /tʃiːzkɛk/ n. [C,U] a sweet cake made with soft white cheese cheese·cloth /tʃiːzkɔtl/ n. [U] a type of very thin cotton cloth, used especially for wrapping food che·re·ful /tʃiːrəˈfʊl/ adj. cheerful and easygoing guy | a cheerful and easygoing guy | a cheerful voice/smile 2 bright, pleasant, and making you feel happy: a cheerful kitchen —cheer·fully adv. —cheer·fulness n. [U]

cheer·er /tʃɪər/ n. 1 a member of a team of young women who encourage a crowd to cheer up | 2 to become happier: Cheer up, Connie!

cheer·ful·ly /tʃɪərˈfʊli/ adv. happy, or making you feel happy cheer·ful·ness /tʃɪərˈfʊləs/ n. [U] cheer·ful·ty /tʃɪərˈfʊlti/ n. [U] cheer·led·er /tʃɪəˈlɪdər/ n. [C] a member of a team of young women who encourage a crowd to cheer at sports events cheer·less /tʃɪəˈlɛs/ adj. not cheery

cheer·ly /tʃɪəˈli/ adv. happy, or making you feel happy: Sullivan was in a cheery mood.

cheer·ly·ness /tʃɪəˈliːns/ n. [U] cheer·ly·ly /tʃɪəˈliːli/ adv. happy, or making you feel happy

cheer·ly·ness /tʃɪəˈliːns/ n. [U]

cheer·ly·ly /tʃɪəˈliːli/ adv. happy, or making you feel happy

cheer·ly /tʃɪəˈli/ adv. happy, or making you feel happy: Sullivan was in a cheery mood.

cheer·less /tʃɪəˈlɛs/ adj. not cheery cheer·less·ly /tʃɪəˈlɛsli/ adv. in a gloomy, sad, or unhappy way:

cheer·less·ness /tʃɪəˈlɛsn/ n. [U]

cheer·ful·ful·ly /tʃɪərˈfʊlfɪli/ adv. happy, or making you feel happy: Sullivan was in a cheery mood.

cheer·ful·ful·ness /tʃɪərˈfʊlfʊln/ n. [U]

cheer·ful·ful·ly /tʃɪərˈfʊlfɪli/ adv. happy, or making you feel happy: Sullivan was in a cheery mood.

cheer·ful·ful·ness /tʃɪərˈfʊlfʊln/ n. [U]

cheer·ful·ful·ly /tʃɪərˈfʊlfɪli/ adv. happy, or making you feel happy: Sullivan was in a cheery mood.

cheer·ful·ful·ness /tʃɪərˈfʊlfʊln/ n. [U]

cheer·ful·ful·ly /tʃɪərˈfʊlfɪli/ adv. happy, or making you feel happy: Sullivan was in a cheery mood.

cheer·ful·ful·ness /tʃɪərˈfʊlfʊln/ n. [U]

cheer·ful·ful·ly /tʃɪərˈfʊlfɪli/ adv. happy, or making you feel happy: Sullivan was in a cheery mood.

cheer·ful·ful·ness /tʃɪərˈfʊlfʊln/ n. [U]

cheer·ful·ful·ly /tʃɪərˈfʊlfɪli/ adv. happy, or making you feel happy: Sullivan was in a cheery mood.

cheer·ful·ful·ness /tʃɪərˈfʊlfʊln/ n. [U]

cheer·ful·ful·ly /tʃɪərˈfʊlfɪli/ adv. happy, or making you feel happy: Sullivan was in a cheery mood.

cheer·ful·ful·ness /tʃɪərˈfʊlfʊln/ n. [U]

cheer·ful·ful·ly /tʃɪərˈfʊlfɪli/ adv. happy, or making you feel happy: Sullivan was in a cheery mood.

cheer·ful·ful·ness /tʃɪərˈfʊlfʊln/ n. [U]

cheer·ful·ful·ly /tʃɪərˈfʊlfɪli/ adv. happy, or making you feel happy: Sullivan was in a cheery mood.

cheer·ful·ful·ness /tʃɪərˈfʊlfʊln/ n. [U]

cheer·ful·ful·ly /tʃɪərˈfʊlfɪli/ adv. happy, or making you feel happy: Sullivan was in a cheery mood.

cheer·ful·ful·ness /tʃɪərˈfʊlfʊln/ n. [U] chemotherapy

is chemistry between two people, they like each other or work well together.

cherish /ˈkɜːrɪʃ/ v [T] 1 if you cherish something, it is very important to you: He cherishes his privacy. 2 to take care of someone or something you love very much.

cheri/ /ˈʃɛri/ n. (plural cherries) 1 [C] a small round soft red fruit with a large seed: a bowl of cherry pie ➔ see picture on page 434 2 [C,U] a tree that produces cherries, or the wood of this tree [Origin: 1300—1400 Old North French cherise (taken as plural), from Latin cerasus "cherry tree," from Greek kerasos].

cherub /ˈʃɜːrəb/ n. [C] an ANGEL shown in paintings as a small child with wings.

chess /ʃes/ n. [U] a game for two players in which you must trap your opponent’s king in order to win: Do you know how to play chess? [Origin: 1100—1200 Old French esches, plural of esce] ➔ see picture at escape.

chest /kɛst/ n. [C] 1 the front part of your body between your neck and stomach: a man with a hairy chest | chest pains ➔ see picture on page A3 2 a large strong box with a lid, that you use to keep things in: a large wooden chest 3 get sth off your chest (informal) to tell someone about something that has worried or annoyed you for a long time [Origin: Old English cest, from Latin cista "box, basket"].

chestnut /ˈkɛstnʌt/ n. 1 [C] a smooth red-brown nut you can eat 2 [C,U] the tree on which these nuts grow, or the wood of this tree 3 [U] a dark red-brown color ➔ chestnut adj.

chest of drawers n. (plural chests of drawers) [C] a piece of furniture with drawers that clothes can be kept in.

chew /ʃu/ v. [I,T] 1 to bite food several times before swallowing it: The meat’s so tough I can hardly chew it. I gave the dog a bone to chew on, 2 to bite something several times without eating it: Students are not allowed to chew gum in the classroom. [Origin: Old English ceowan].

chewy /ˈʃuːi/ adj. food that is chewy is not hard and dry, and needs to be chewed before you swallow it: moist chewy brownies.

chic /ʃɪk/ adj. fashionable and showing good judgment about style: a chic clothes store.

chicanery /ˈʃɪkənəri/ n. [U] the use of complicated plans or tricks to deceive people: He refused to stoop to such political chicanery.

Chief Executive Officer n. the Chief Executive Officer POLITICS the President of the United States.

Chief of Staff n. [C] an official of high rank, who advises the person in charge of an organization or government: the White House Chief of Staff.
child-bearing  n.  the period of being pregnant and then giving birth. 2 childbirth  n.  the period of a woman’s life during which she is able to have babies. 2 women of childbirth  2 birth  2 childbirth age  2 childbearing age  2 birth  2 childbirth  n.  the period of giving birth: His wife had died in childbirth. 2 youngest  n.  a young person, used especially in writing: The after-school program is great for younger children and teenagers. 2 teenager  n.  an informal word for a child. 2 toddler  n.  when you have just learned to walk. 2 baby  n.  when you are first born. 2 childless  adj.  having no children: childless couples 2 childlikei  n.  a young person who is not yet legally an adult: It is illegal to sell alcohol to minors. 2 minor  n.  an African animal that is like a monkey without a tail. 2 chimpanzee  n.  an African animal that is like a monkey without a tail.
chin  /tʃɪn/ n. [C] the front part of your face below your mouth: She tied the scarf under her chin.  [ORIGIN: Old English cinn]  ➔ see picture on page A3 chi-na /tʃaːnə/ n. [U] plates, cups, etc. that are made from white clay of good quality  [ORIGIN: 1500—1600 Persian chini “Chines;” because it was originally made in China]

Chi-na-town /tʃaːnə,təʊn/ n. an area in a city where there are Chinese restaurants and stores, and where a lot of Chinese people live

Chi-nese /tʃəˈniːz/ adj. 1 relating to or coming from China 2 relating to a Chinese language

Chi-nese adj. /tʃəˈniːzəl/ n. 1 [U] any of the languages that come from China, such as Mandarin or Cantonese 2 the Chinese [plural] the people of China chink /tʃɪŋk/ n. [C] a narrow crack or hole in something, that lets light or air through: I could see light through a chink in the wall.

chi-ros /tʃɪˈroʊz/ n. [plural] loose pants made from heavy cotton chintz /tʃɪnts/ n. [U] smooth cotton cloth with brightly colored patterns on it: chintz covers on the chairs chintz-y /tʃɪntsɪ/ adj. (informal) cheap and badly made: a chintzy chest of drawers 2 unwilling to give people things or spend money chin-up n. [C] an exercise in which you hang on a bar and pull yourself up until your chin is above the bar chip1 /tʃɪp/ n. [C] 1 FOOD a thin dry flat piece of potato or TACOS cooked in very hot oil and eaten cold: chips and salsa  a bag of potato chips 2 COMPUTER a small piece of SILICON with electronic parts on it that is used in computers: a silicon chip chip2 v. (chipped, chipping) [I,T] 1 to break a small piece off something accidentally: She fell and chipped a tooth. 2 to remove something by breaking it off in small pieces: She started chipping the ice off the windshield.

chip away at sth phr v. to gradually make something weaker or less effective: His comments were starting to chip away at my self-esteem chip in phr v. if each person in a group chips in, they each give a small amount of money so that they can buy something: We all chipped in to buy Amy a graduation present.

chip-munk /tʃɪpˈmʌŋk/ n. [C] a small brown North American animal similar to a SQUIRREL, that has black and white lines on its fur ➔ see picture at RODENT chip-per /tʃɪpə/ adj. (informal) happy and healthy chi-ro-prac-tor /ˈkaɪərə,præktər/ n. [C] someone who treats medical problems such as back pain by moving and pressing the muscles and bones  [ORIGIN: 1800—1900 Latin chiro- “of the hand” (from Greek cheiro- + Greek praktikos, from prassein “to do”) chirp /tʃɜːp/ v. [I] if a bird or insect chirps, it makes short high sounds —chirp n. [C] chis-el /tʃɪsəl/ n. [C] a metal tool with a sharp edge, used to cut wood or stone chisel v. [T] to use a chisel to cut wood or stone, especially into a particular shape chit-chat n. [U] (informal) informal conversation about unimportant things chi-val-rous /ˈkaɪvələrəs/ adj. (formal) a man who is chivalrous behaves in a polite and honorable way to women —chivalry /ˈkaɪvəlri/ n. [U] chive /tʃɪv/ n. [C usually plural] a long thin green plant that looks and tastes like an onion and is used in cooking chlor-ide /ˈklaɪəd/ n. [C,U] CHEMISTRY a chemical compound that is a mixture of chlorine and another substance: sodium chloride chlor-ri-nat-ed /ˈklaɪərəˌnevəd/ adj. CHEMISTRY chlorinated water has had chlorine added to it in order to kill BACTERIA chlor-o-ri-ne /ˈkloʊrɪn/ n. [U] CHEMISTRY (symbol Cl) a dark yellow-green gas, often used to keep swimming pools clean. It is a chemical ELEMENT belonging to the halogen group.  [ORIGIN: 1800—1900 Greek chloros “green”]

chlor-o-ro-flu-ro-car-bon /ˌkloʊrəˌflʊrəˈkɑːbən/ n. [C] SCIENCE a CFC

chlor-o-ro-form /ˈkloʊrəˌfɔːrm/ n. [U] CHEMISTRY a liquid that makes you unconscious if you breathe it chlor-o-ro-phyl /ˈkloʊrəˌfɪl/ n. [U] BOTANY the green substance in plants  [ORIGIN: 1800—1900 French chlorophylle, from Greek chloros “green” + phyllon “leaf”]

chlo·rine /ˈkloʊrɪn/ n. [U] 1 “green” element in the periodic table symbol Cl 2 a gas that is a yellow-green gas, and is a very good oxidizing agent (from Greek chlē “green”, since it was used in dyes)

chlo·ro·form /ˈkloʊrəˌfɔːrm/ n. [U] 1 a liquid that makes you unconscious if you breathe it 2 a light liquid that is used in farmers to make doctors unconscious during operations (from Greek chloros “green” + former “before” + German form “shape”) cholesterol /ˌkɒləˈstərl/ n. [C] BIOLOGY a substance in your body which doctors think may cause heart disease; She’s had high cholesterol for many years. [Origin: 1800—1900 Greek cholē “bile” + stereo “solid” + English -ol “chemical compound”] choke /tʃɔk/ v. (past tense choked) past participle choked /tʃəʊkt/ n. 1 the act of choking, or the sound someone makes when she is choking. 2 a piece of equipment that controls the amount of air going into a car engine choke up phr. v. be/get choked up to feel such strong emotions about something that you are almost crying choke on v. to fill a space or passage so that things cannot move through it: The roads were choked with traffic.

choke up phr. v. to control a strong feeling so that you do not show it: Anna choked back tears as she tried to explain.

choke up phr. v. to feel almost unable to talk: because something is in your throat or there is not enough air: Her voice was choked with rage.

choke off phr. v. to put your hands around someone’s throat and press on it so she cannot breathe: He choked me so I couldn’t talk or breathe.

choke off phr. v. to prevent someone from doing something: They have prepared for this because there is a lot of pressure on you choke 2 adj. having a high quality or standard: Choice apples choke 3 adj. difficult to please: Jean’s very choosy about what she eats.

choke up phr. v. (chopped, chopping) 1 to cut something, especially food, into smaller pieces: Can you chop up some onions for me? | Chop the tomatoes into fairly large pieces.

choke up phr. v. to cut, slice, dice, peel, carve, shred, grate → cut choke 4 adj. not before a noun (informal) completely full: The bus was choke-full of people.

choke-full /ˈtʃɑːkˈfʌl/ adj. [not before noun] (informal) completely full: The bus was choke-full of people.

chocolate /ˈtʃɒklət/ n. 1 [U] a sweet brown food that is eaten as candy or is used in cooking: a chocolate bar | chocolate cake. 2 [C] a small candy that consists of something such as a nut or came covered with chocolate: a box of chocolates. [Origin: 1600—1700 Spanish, Nahua xocoatl]

chocolate chip n. [C] (usually plural) a small piece of chocolate put in foods such as cookies and cakes choice 1 /ˈtʃɔɪs/ n. 1 [CU] the right to choose or the chance to choose between two or more things: a choice between three candidates. 2 [C] the act of choosing someone or something: career choices. 3 [C] usually singular] the range of people or things that you can choose from: We had little choice in the matter. The bookstore has a wide choice of magazines.

choice 2 adj. having a high quality or standard: Choice apples choir /ˈkɔər/ n. [C] a group of people who sing together, especially in a church or school: Amelia sings in the choir.

choke 1 /tʃɔk/ v. 1 [L1T] to have difficulty breathing: The fumes were choking me. 2 [L2T] to put your hands around someone’s throat and press on it so she cannot breathe: He choked me so I couldn’t talk or breathe. 3 [L3T] to be almost unable to talk because of strong emotion: Her voice was choked with rage.

choke 2 v. [L4T] to fill a space or passage so that things cannot move through it: The roads were choked with traffic.

choke 3 v. [L5T] (spoken) to fail at doing something that you have prepared for because there is a lot of pressure on you choke 4 v. [L6T] to control a strong feeling so that you do not show it: Anna choked back tears as she tried to explain.

2 [l.T] to cut something by hitting it many times with a heavy sharp tool such as an ax: She was outside chopping wood for the fire.

chop off v. to remove something by cutting it with a sharp tool: The branch had been chopped off.

chop sticks n. (spoken) a pair of thin sticks used for eating food, especially by people in Asia.

choppy adj. choppy water has many small waves.

choreographer n. [C] the art of arranging how dancers should move during a performance [Origin: 1700—1800 French choreographie, from Greek choreia “dance” + graphein “to write”].

choreography n. [C] the art of arranging how dancers should move during a performance.

choral adj. ENGLISH ARTS related to music that is sung by a large group of people ➔ CHORUS: choral music chorus n. [C] a part of a song that is repeated after each verse.

chorus line n. [C] the cast of actors who perform together in a show but do not have the main parts.

chorus of thanks/disapproval/protest etc. something expressed by a lot of people at the same time.

chose /tʃuːズ/ v. the past tense of CHOOSE.

chosen /tʃuːズn/ v. the past participle of CHOOSE.

chow down /tʃaʊ daʊn/ v. (spoken) to eat, especially in a noisy way or in a way that shows you are very hungry.

chow-der n. [U] a thick soup made with milk, vegetables, and usually fish: clam chowder.

Christmas /ˈkrɪstəm/ also Jesus Christ, Jesus n. the man who Christians believe to be the son of God, and whose life and teaching Christianity is based on.

Christian adj. ENGLISH ARTS relating to Christianity: Christian ministers | Christian beliefs [Origin: 1200—1300 Latin christianus, from Greek, from Christos “Christ,” from chrriein “to pour holy oil on.”] —Christian n. [C]

Christianity: [C] the religion that is based on the life and teaching of Jesus Christ.

Christian Science n. [U] a religion whose members believe they can cure their own illnesses using their minds rather than with medical help.

Christian Scientist n. [C]

Christmas /ˈkrɪsmæs/ n. 1 December 25, the day when Christians celebrate the birth of Jesus Christ: Are you going home for Christmas? | a Christmas present 2 the period of time just before and after this day: We spent Christmas in Colorado. [Origin: Old English Crīstes mæssa “Christ’s Mass.”]

Christmas carol n. [C] a Christian song that people sing at Christmas.

Christmas Day n. December 25, the day when Christians celebrate the birth of Jesus Christ.

Christmas Eve n. December 24, the day before Christmas.

Christmas tree n. [C] a tree that people put inside their house and decorate for Christmas.
the two parts of a chromosome divides into during the process in which two new cells are formed from an original cell.

chrysalis /'krisəliːs/ n. [C] BIOLOGY a substance that chromosomes are formed from, that consists of DNA, RNA, and PROTEINS

chrome /'krʌmə/ also chromi-um /'krʌmi-əm/ n. [U] a hard metal substance used for covering objects with a shiny protective surface: the car’s chrome hubcaps chronic /'kronɪk/ adj. 1 a chronic disease or illness is one that continues for a long time and cannot be cured. • a chronic problem is one that continues for a long time and cannot easily be solved: California is trying to cope with chronic water shortages. [Origin: 1400—1500 French chroniques “skin, color” + soma “body,” because chromosomes easily take up coloring substances]

chronicle /'kronɪkl/ n. [C] HISTORY a written record of historical events, arranged in the order in which they happened —chronically adv.: patients who are chronically ill

chronicle /'kronɪkl/ n. [C] HISTORY a written record of historical events, arranged in the order in which they happened —chronically adv.: patients who are chronically ill chronological /'kronɪklɒdʒɪkl/ adj. arranged according to when something happened: a list of World Series champions in chronological order —chronologically adv.

chronology /'kroʊnələdʒi/ n. [C] a list of events arranged according to when they happened: a chronology of events in the Middle East

chronometer /'kroʊnəmətər/ n. [C] a garden plant with large brightly colored flowers chubby /'ʃʌbi/ adj. slightly fat, used especially about children —chubbiness n. [U]

chuck /tʃʌk/ v. [T] (informal) 1 to throw something in a careless or relaxed way: Chuck that magazine over here, would you? 2 also chuck away/out to throw something away: Just go ahead and chuck out the old batteries.

churlish /'tʃɜrlɪʃ/ adj. (formal) not polite or friendly churn

churn1 /ˈtʃɜrn/ n. [C] a container in which milk is shaken until it forms butter churn2 v. 1 [I] if your stomach churns, you feel sick because you are frightened or nervous: Thinking about the test made my stomach churn. 2 [T] to make butter using a churn. 3 [I,T] also churn up if water, mud, etc. churns, or if something churns it, it moves around violently chute /ʃuːt/ n. 1 a long narrow structure that slopes down, so that things or people can slide down it from one place to another: a mail chute 2 (informal) a parachute chutz-pah /ˈhʌtspɑː/ n. [U] (informal, approving) if someone has chutzpah, she has a lot of confidence and says rude or shocking things without feeling embarrassed [Origin: 1800—1900 Yiddish, Late Hebrew huspah].

CIA n. the CIA Central Intelligence Agency the department of the U.S. government that collects secret information about other countries cider /ˈsaɪdər/ also apple cider n. [C,U] a drink made from apples cigar /ˈsaɪɡər/ /ˈsaɪɡər/ n. a) a thin tube-shaped thing that people smoke, and that is made from finely cut tobacco leaves that have been rolled up 2) a pack of cigarettes [Origin: 1800—1900 French cigare “cigar,” from Spanish cigaro] cinema /ˈsɪnmə/ /ˈsɪnmə/ n. (plural cinemas /ˈsaɪəniəm/ /ˈsaɪəniəm/) [C] BIOLOGY one of many hair-like structures that grow from the surface of some cells, that help move liquids past the cell or help the living thing move around cinch1 /ˈsaɪnk/ n. be a cinch (informal) a) to be almost certain to happen: The Cubs are a cinch to win the National League East. b) to be very easy to do: The test was a cinch. | Good pie crust is a cinch to make.

cinch2 v. [I,T] to pull a belt, strap, etc. tightly around something cinder block n. [C] a large gray brick used to build houses, etc., made from cement and cinders cine-ma /ˈsɪnəmə/ /ˈsɪnəmə/ n. 1 [U] the art or business of making movies: an important director in Brazilian cinema. 2 [C] (old-fashioned) a movie theater. [Origin: 1900—2000 cinematograph “movie camera, movie show” (19—20 centuries), from French cinématographe, from Greek kinein “movement” + French -graphie “recording instrument”.

cine-ma-to-gram-phy /ˌsɪnməˈtɑɡrəfɪ/ /ˌsɪnməˈtɑɡrəfɪ/ n. [U] the skill or art of movie photography

— cinematographer n. [C]

cinna-mon /ˈsaɪnəmən/ /ˈsaɪnəmən/ n. [U] a sweet-smelling brown spice used especially in baking cakes and cookies cipher /ˈsaɪfər/ n. [C] a system of secret writing

— code

circ-1 /ˈsɜːkəl/ /ˈsɜːkəl/ n. 1 a round shape like the letter O: Draw a circle around the right answer. ➔ see picture at SHAPE1 2 a group of people or things forming the shape of a circle: The women sat in a circle. 3 a group of people who know each other or have a common interest: a large circle of friends. She is very well-known in political/legal/medical/etc. circles (=the group of people who work in a particular profession or industry). 4 come/go full circle to end in the same situation in which you began, even though there have been changes during the time in between: After the experiments of the 1960s, education has come full circle in its methods of teaching reading. 5 go/run around in circles to think or argue about something a lot without deciding anything or making any progress [Origin: 1000—1100 Old French cercle, from Latin circularis].

circ-2 v. 1 [T] to draw a circle around something: Circle the correct answer. 2 [I,T] to move in a circle around something: a plane circling an airport before landing.

circuit /ˈsaɪkət/ /ˈsaɪkət/ n. 1 the talk show/golf lecture/etc. circuit all the places that are usually visited by someone who is doing a particular activity: Vesey returned to the nightclub circuit as a singer. 2 [C] the complete circle that an electric current travels [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French circuite, from Latin circularis, past participle of circumire, circumire “to go around”]

— cycle

— trip

SYN
circuit board n. [C] PHYSICS a set of connections between points on a piece of electrical equipment, that uses a thin line of metal to conduct ("carry") the electricity circuit breaker n. [C] PHYSICS a piece of equipment that stops an electric current if it becomes dangerous

circuit, court n. [C] LAW a court of law in a U.S. state that meets in different places within the area it is responsible for

circu-lous /səˈkyʊlar/ adj. (formal) going from one place to another in a way that is longer than the most direct way: the river’s circuitous course circuit-ry /səˈkɪrɪtI/ n. [U] PHYSICS a system of electric circuits

circu-lar /səˈkyʊər/ adj. 1 shaped like a circle: a circular table

2 moving around in a circle: a circular hike around a round, oval, semicircular, triangular, rectangular, cylindrical ➔ SHAPES

3 going around on a regular basis ➔ routine

4 moving between points on a piece of electrical equipment, or passing from one person to another: a circular piece of equipment that stops an electric current if it becomes dangerous circumference /səˈkʌmfərəns/ n. [U] the distance around the outside of a circle or a round object: the circumference of the Earth circumflex /səˈkʌmfleks/ n. [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS a mark placed above a letter in some words in French, Portuguese, etc. to show its pronunciation, for example “ī” circumflexion /səˈkʌmfleksIən/ n. [U] (formal) the practice of using too many words to express an idea instead of saying it directly, or a statement that does this —circumlocutory circum-navigate /səˈkʌmnəvəɡət/ v. [T] (formal) to sail, fly, or travel all the way around the Earth, an island, etc.: the first successful attempt to circumnavigate the globe —circumnavigation circum-scribe /səˈkʌmˌskrɪb/ v. [T] (formal) restrict circum-scribed /səˈkʌmˌskraɪbd/ adj. MATH used to describe a shape that goes around and touches the outside points or edges of a square, a triangle, or other flat geometric shape

circum-spect /səˈkʌmˌspɛkt/ adj. (formal) thinking carefully about things before doing them —circumspectly circum-stan-tial /səˈkʌmˈstænʃəl/ adj. 1 usually plural] the facts or conditions that affect a situation, action, event, etc.: You shouldn’t judge him until you know the circumstances. | There are plenty of people in similar circumstances. | Prisoners can leave their cells only under certain circumstances. 2 under the circumstances also given the circumstances used in order to say that a particular situation makes an action, decision, etc. necessary, acceptable, or true when it would not normally be: Under the circumstances, she did the best job she could. 3 under no circumstances used in order to emphasize that something must definitely not happen: Under no circumstances are you to leave the house. 4 under a large part in her getting the job. 5 circumstances [plural] (formal) the conditions in which you live, especially how much money you have: The family’s financial problems won’t improve until their economic circumstances change. | Origins: 1100—1200 Old French, Latin circumstancia, from circumstare “to stand around”

circum-stan-tial-ly /səˈkʌmˈstænʃəlI/ adv. based on something that appears to be true but is not proven: The case against McCarthy is based largely on circumstantial evidence. circumvent

cir-cu-m-vent /ˈsərkəmˌvent, ˈsərkəmˌvənt/ v. [T] (formal) to avoid having to obey a rule or law, especially in a dishonest way: The company has opened an office abroad in order to circumvent the tax laws. —circumvention /ˈsərkəmˌventən/ n. [U] cir-cus /ˈsərkəs/ n. [C] a group of performers and animals that travel to different places doing tricks and other kinds of entertainment: circus acts [Origin: 1300—1400 Latin “circle, circus”] cir-cho-sis /ˌsərˈkōsəs/ n. [U] BIOLOGY a serious disease of the liver, often caused by drinking too much alcohol [Origin: 1800—1900 Modern Latin, Greek kirkhos “orange-colored;” from the appearance of the diseased liver]

cir-rus /ˈsərəs/ n. [plural cirri /ˈsərə/] [C,U] EARTH SCIENCES a type of cloud that is light and shaped like feathers, high in the sky ➔ CUMULONIMBUS, CUMULUS, Nimbus, STRATUS cis-ten-tr /ˌsɪstrəntr/ n. [C] a large container that water is stored in cit-a-del /ˈsɪtədəl, -ədəl/ n. [C] HISTORY a strong fort built in past times as a place where people could go for safety if their city was attacked cit-a-tion /ˈsaʊərteɪʃən/ n. [C] 1 LAW an official order for someone to appear in court or pay a FINE for doing something illegal: Turner was issued a traffic citation for reckless driving. 2 an official statement publicly praising someone’s actions or achievements: a citation for bravery 3 ENG. LANG. ARTS a line taken from a book, speech, etc. [BY] quotation: The speech contained a citation from “Hamlet.”

cite /saɪt/ v. [T] 1 to mention something as an example or proof of something else: The mayor cited the latest crime figures as proof of the need for more police.

—civically adj.
civil disobedience n. [U] actions done by a large group of people in order to protest against the government, but without being violent —civilian adj.

civil engineer-ing n. [U] the planning, building, and repair of roads, bridges, large buildings, etc.

civi-il-i-zation /ˌsɪvɪləˌzaʃən/ n. [U] 1 a society that is well organized and developed: modern American civilization | the ancient civilizations of Greece and Rome 2 [U] all the societies in the world considered as a whole: The book looks at the relationship between religion and civilization.

civi-lize /ˈsɪvəˌlaɪz/ v. [T] (old-fashioned) to improve a society so that it is more organized and developed civi-lized /ˈsɪvəˌlaɪzd/ adj. 1 a civilized society is one that has laws and customs and a well-developed social system: Care for the elderly is essential in a civilized society. 2 behaving in a polite and sensible way: Let’s discuss this in a civilized way.

civil liberty n. (plural civil liberties) [CU] social science the right of all citizens to be free to do whatever they want while obeying the law and respecting the rights of other people.
civil rights n. [plural] social science the legal rights that every person in a particular country has. In the U.S., these include the right to have the same treatment whatever your race or religion.
civil rights movement n. the civil rights movement history the actions by black people in the U.S. during the 1950s and 1960s to gain equal rights and to end segregation (=when people of different races are kept apart).
civil servant n [C] someone who works in the civil service.
civil service n. the civil service the government departments that deal with all the work of the government except the military.
civil war n. 1 [CU] a war in which opposing groups of people from the same country fight each other. 2 the Civil War history a war that was fought from 1861 to 1865 in the U.S. between the northern and southern states over whether it was right to own slaves.
clash /klæʃ/ v. [T] to make a short hard sound: the sound of high heels clacking across the courtyard —clack n. [singular] clad /klæd/ adj. (literary) wearing or covered in a particular thing: The model was clad in silk and lace.
claim1 /klɛm/ v. 1 [T] to state that something is true even though it might not be: The company claims that their products will help you lose weight. | George claims to remember exactly what Emily said that night. 2 [I,T] to officially ask for money that you have a right to receive: Your income must be less than a certain amount to claim food stamps. 3 [T] to state that you have a right to something, or to take something that belongs to you. Lost items can be claimed between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. 4 T if a war, accident, etc. claims lives, people die because of it: Officials say the violence has claimed 21 lives. | Origin: 1300—1400 Old French clamer, from Latin clamare (“to cry out, shout”).
claim2 n. 1 [C] a statement that something is true even though it might not be: Carole denied claims that he was involved in drug smuggling. 2 [CU] an act of officially saying that you have a right to receive or own something, or the state of having this right: The contract proves he has no claim on the house. | Both groups believe they have a claim to the land. 3 [C] an official request for money that you think you have a right to: insurance claims | She is filing a claim for unpaid child support. 4 claim to fame the most important or interesting thing about a person or a place: Her main claim to fame is the men she married.
clair-voy-ant /ˈklɛrˌvɔɪənt/ n. [C] someone who says one can see what will happen in the future —clairvoyance n. [U] —clairvoyant adj.
clam /klæm/ n. [CU] a small sea animal that has a shell and lives in sand and mud, or the meat from this animal —see picture at shellfish clam² v. (clammed, clamming) clam up phr. v. (informal) to suddenly stop talking: Lou always clams up if you ask him too many questions about his past.
clam-ber /ˈklæmboʊ, ˈklæmər/ v. [I] to climb something that is difficult to climb, using your hands and feet: Jenny and I clambered up the side of the hill.
clam-my /ˈklæm(ə)l/ adj. wet, cold, and sticky in a way that is unpleasant: clammy hands.
clair-voy-ant /ˈklɛrˌvɔɪənt/ n. [C] someone who says one can see what will happen in the future —clairvoyance n. [U] —clairvoyant adj.
clair-voy-ant /ˈklɛrˌvɔɪənt/ n. [C] someone who says one can see what will happen in the future —clairvoyance n. [U] —clairvoyant adj.
clair-voy-ant /ˈklɛrˌvɔɪənt/ n. [C] someone who says one can see what will happen in the future —clairvoyance n. [U] —clairvoyant adj.
clair-voy-ant /ˈklɛrˌvɔɪənt/ n. [C] someone who says one can see what will happen in the future —clairvoyance n. [U] —clairvoyant adj.
clair-voy-ant /ˈklɛrˌvɔɪənt/ n. [C] someone who says one can see what will happen in the future —clairvoyance n. [U] —clairvoyant adj.
clair-voy-ant /ˈklɛrˌvɔɪənt/ n. [C] someone who says one can see what will happen in the future —clairvoyance n. [U] —clairvoyant adj.
clair-voy-ant /ˈklɛrˌvɔɪənt/ n. [C] someone who says one can see what will happen in the future —clairvoyance n. [U] —clairvoyant adj.
clair-voy-ant /ˈklɛrˌvɔɪənt/ n. [C] someone who says one can see what will happen in the future —clairvoyance n. [U] —clairvoyant adj.
attract someone’s attention: The audience was clapping and cheering. | The couch clapped his hands and yelled, “OK, listen up!”

—at clapping n. [U]

clasp 1 n. [C] a small metal object used for fastening a bag, belt, piece of jewelry, etc. 2 [singular] a tight firm hold (syn. grip): the firm clasp of her father’s hand clasp 2 v. [T] to hold someone or something tightly: Lie down with your hands clasped behind your head.

THE SAURUS

hold, grip, clutch, catch/take/keep/get (a) hold of sth, grasp, grab (hold of sth)/seize ➔ HOLD clap 1 n. [C] a clap of thunder a very loud sound made by THUNDER 2 the sound that you make when you hit your hands together

clap 2 v. 1 [T] to hit someone on the back or shoulder with your hand in a friendly way —clapping n. [U]

clapboard /'klæpbaeda/ n. [C,U] a set of boards that cover the outside walls of a building, or one of these boards: a clapboard house clarify /'klærafaɪ/ v. (clarified, clarifies) [I,T] to make something easier to understand by explaining it in more detail: I need you to clarify a few points. | Could you clarify what you mean? | Reporters asked the Speaker of the House to clarify his statement. —clarification /'klærafeɪʃən/ n. [C,U]

clarinet /'klærɪnɛt/ n. [C] a wooden musical instrument shaped like a long black tube that you play by blowing into it —see picture at WOODWIND

class /'klæs/ n. 1 [C,U] a set of students who are taught together: a small class of ten people 2 a group of students who finish college or HIGH SCHOOL in the same year: Our class had its 30th reunion this year: [Howard was a member of the class of ’05 =the group of students who finished in 2005].

class 2 /'klæs/ n. 1 GROUP OF STUDENTS [C] a) a group of students who are taught together: a small class of ten people 2 b) a group of students who finish college or HIGH SCHOOL in the same year: Our class had its 30th reunion this year: [Howard was a member of the class of ’05 =the group of students who finished in 2005].

TEACHING PERIOD [C,U] a period of time during which students are taught: When’s your next class? | Bob wasn’t in class today.

class 3 /'klæs/ n. 1 GROUP OF STUDENTS [C] a) a group of students who are taught together: a small class of ten people 2 b) a group of students who finish college or HIGH SCHOOL in the same year: Our class had its 30th reunion this year: [Howard was a member of the class of ’05 =the group of students who finished in 2005].

class 4 /'klæs/ n. 1 [C] a group of people in a society that earn a similar amount of money, have similar types of jobs, etc. —LOWER CLASS, MIDDLE CLASS, UPPER CLASS: The middle class is feeling the pressure of lower wages and higher expenses. 2 [U] the system in which people are divided into such groups: People were excluded from education based on class and race.

class 5 /'klæs/ n. 1 [C] a group of people in a society that earn a similar amount of money, have similar types of jobs, etc. —LOWER CLASS, MIDDLE CLASS, UPPER CLASS: The middle class is feeling the pressure of lower wages and higher expenses. 2 [U] the system in which people are divided into such groups: People were excluded from education based on class and race.

QUALITY [C] a group into which people or things are divided according to how good they are: We can’t afford to travel first class (=the most expensive way) on the plane. | As a tennis player, she’s not in the same class as (=not as good as) Williams. | The car is in a class of its own (=very good quality).

STYLE/SKILL [U] a particular style, skill, or way of doing something that makes people admire you: Margaret really has class.

plants/animals [C] BIOLOGY one of the groups into which scientists divide animals and plants. A class is larger than an order but smaller than a phylum. [Origin: 1500—1600 French classe, from Latin classis “class of citizens, social class”] class\(^2\) v. [T] to decide that someone or something belongs in a particular group: Heroin and cocaine are classified as hard drugs.

class\(^{-}\)action adj. LAW a class-action lawsuit is one that a group of people bring to a court of law for themselves and all other people with the same problem —class action n. [C,U] class\(^{-}\)sic\(^1\) /ˈklæsɪk/ AC adj. [usually before noun] 1. a classic book, movie, etc. is considered to be very good and has been popular for a long time: The Coca-Cola bottle is one of the classic designs of the last century. J. Osceol Welles directed the classic film "Citizen Kane." — old 2. a classic example/case etc. a typical or very good example, etc.: Forgetting to release the emergency brake is a classic mistake that many new drivers make. 3. a classic style of dressing, art, etc. is attractive in a simple or traditional way: a classic blue suit class\(^{-}\)sic\(^2\) n. [C] 1. a book, movie, etc. that is considered to be very good and has been popular for a long time: "Moby Dick" is a classic of American literature. | literary classics 2. something that is very good and one of the best examples of its kind: The '65 Ford Mustang is a classic. 3. classics [plural] the study of the languages, literature, and history of ancient Greece and Rome class\(^{-}\)si\(^{-}\)cal /ˈklæsɪkəl/ AC adj. 1. based on a traditional style or set of ideas: classical ballet 2. relating to classical music: a classical pianist 3. belonging to the language, literature, history, etc. of ancient Greece and Rome: classical architecture | Challenging the gods is a common theme in classical literature.

class\(^{-}\)ical\(^{\text{conditioning}}\) n. [U] BIOLOGY a learning process in which an animal makes a connection in its mind between something that makes it move or react and a reward or a punishment class\(^{-}\)ical\(^{\text{music}}\) n. [U] ENG. LANG. ARTS a type of music, originally from Europe, that includes operas and symphonies (symphonies), that is played mainly on instruments such as the violin and piano, and is considered to have serious artistic value class\(^{-}\)ical\(^{\text{cism}}\) /ˈklæsɪkəlɪzəm/ n. [U] ENG. LANG. ARTS a style of art that is simple, regular, and does not show much emotion, based on the models of ancient Greece or Rome class\(^{-}\)ical\(^{\text{fi\text{-}ca\text{-}tion}}\) /ˈklæsɪkəlfɪˈkeɪʃən/ n. [C,U] the process of putting people or things into groups according to their age, type, etc., or one of these groups: the classification of chilis according to their strength | my job classification class\(^{-}\)ical\(^{\text{fi\text{-}ed}}\) /ˈklæsɪklɪd/ adj. classified information, documents, etc. are kept secret by the government or an organization class\(^{-}\)lessly f/ˈklæsɪli/ adj. a classless society is one in which people are not divided into different social classes class\(^{-}\)mate /ˈklæsmi/ n. [C] someone who is in the same class as you at school or college: I’m younger than most of my classmates.

class\(^{-}\)room /ˈklæsrʊm/ n. [C] 1. a room in a school, where students are taught: classroom materials 2. in the classroom in schools or classes in general: the use of computers in the classroom

class\(^{-}\)work /ˈklæςwɜk/ n. [U] work that students do in class, not at home —class\(^{-}\)work n. [C] homework

class\(^{-}\)y /ˈklæsi/ adj. (comparative classier, superlative classiest) (informal) expensive and fashionable: a classy restaurant

class\(^{-}\)ter /ˈklæstər/ v. [T] if something clatters, it makes a loud noise when it hits something: The pots clattered to the floor.

class\(^{-}\)wise /ˈklæswɪz/ n. [C] 1. a part of a written law or legal document: A clause in the contract states when payment must be made. 2. ENG. LANG. ARTS in grammar, a group of words that is part of a sentence —class\(^{-}\)wise adj. if something clutters, it makes a loud noise when it hits something: The pots clattered to the floor.

class\(^{-}\)wise /ˈklæswɪz/ n. [C] 1. a part of a written law or legal document: A clause in the contract states when payment must be made. 2. ENG. LANG. ARTS in grammar, a group of words that is part of a sentence —class\(^{-}\)wise adj. if something clutters, it makes a loud noise when it hits something: The pots clattered to the floor.

class\(^{-}\)wise /ˈklæswɪz/ n. [C] 1. a part of a written law or legal document: A clause in the contract states when payment must be made. 2. ENG. LANG. ARTS in grammar, a group of words that is part of a sentence —class\(^{-}\)wise adj. if something clutters, it makes a loud noise when it hits something: The pots clattered to the floor.

class\(^{-}\)wise /ˈklæswɪz/ n. [C] 1. a part of a written law or legal document: A clause in the contract states when payment must be made. 2. ENG. LANG. ARTS in grammar, a group of words that is part of a sentence —class\(^{-}\)wise adj. if something clutters, it makes a loud noise when it hits something: The pots clattered to the floor.

classified \(^{\text{ad}}\) n. [C] a small advertisement that you put in a newspaper if you want to buy or sell something class\(^{-}\)flying /ˈklæsfɪliŋ/ v. (classified, classifies) [T] to put things into groups according to their age, type, etc.: Whales are classified as mammals rather than fish.

class\(^{-}\)less /ˈklæslɪs/ adj. a classless society is one in which people are not divided into different social classes class\(^{-}\)mate /ˈklæsmi/ n. [C] someone who is in the same class as you at school or college: I’m younger than most of my classmates.

class\(^{-}\)room /ˈklæsrʊm/ n. [C] 1. a room in a school, where students are taught: classroom materials 2. in the classroom in schools or classes in general: the use of computers in the classroom

class\(^{-}\)work /ˈklæςwɜk/ n. [U] work that students do in class, not at home —class\(^{-}\)work n. [C] homework

class\(^{-}\)y /ˈklæsi/ adj. (comparative classier, superlative classiest) (informal) expensive and fashionable: a classy restaurant

class\(^{-}\)ter /ˈklæstər/ v. [T] if something clutters, it makes a loud noise when it hits something: The pots clattered to the floor.

class\(^{-}\)wise /ˈklæswɪz/ n. [C] 1. a part of a written law or legal document: A clause in the contract states when payment must be made. 2. ENG. LANG. ARTS in grammar, a group of words that is part of a sentence —class\(^{-}\)wise adj. if something clutters, it makes a loud noise when it hits something: The pots clattered to the floor.

class\(^{-}\)wise /ˈklæswɪz/ n. [C] 1. a part of a written law or legal document: A clause in the contract states when payment must be made. 2. ENG. LANG. ARTS in grammar, a group of words that is part of a sentence —class\(^{-}\)wise adj. if something clutters, it makes a loud noise when it hits something: The pots clattered to the floor.

class\(^{-}\)wise /ˈklæswɪz/ n. [C] 1. a part of a written law or legal document: A clause in the contract states when payment must be made. 2. ENG. LANG. ARTS in grammar, a group of words that is part of a sentence —class\(^{-}\)wise adj. if something clutters, it makes a loud noise when it hits something: The pots clattered to the floor.

clean /kliːn/ adj. [1] a) not dirty or messy [dirty] cleanliness: Are your hands clean? | clean sheets | I want you to keep this room clean. | a squeaky clean (=very clean) floor b) not containing or producing anything harmful or dirty [polluted] clean water: 2. not rude or offensive, or not about sex: good clean fun 3 honest or legal and showing that you have not broken any rules or laws: I’ve had a clean record (not official record of having broken the law) for five years now. 4 a clean driving record 5 having a simple and attractive style or design: a shape that emphasizes the furniture’s clean lines 5 come clean (informal) to finally tell the truth about something you have been hiding: Josh finally came clean about denting the car. 6 a clean break a complete and sudden separation from a person, organization, or situation: She wanted to make a clean break with the past. 7 a clean sweep a very impressive victory in a competition, election, etc.: It was looking like a clean sweep for the Democrats. 8 a clean slate a new situation in which there is no record of you ever breaking any rules or behaving badly, even if you have broken rules or behaved badly in the past: He will start his school life here with a clean slate. 9 a clean bill of health a report saying that a person is healthy or that a machine or building is safe [Origin: Old English cleān] clean2 v. [U] 1 to remove dirt from somewhere or something: I need to clean the bathtub. 2 she’s busy cleaning. We’ve hired someone to clean our house.

THE SAURUS

do/wash the dishes – to wash plates and pans after a meal scour – to wash dirty pots and pans with a rough cloth do the housework – to clean the house dust/polish – to clean furniture vacuum – to clean carpets with a special machine sweep (up) – to clean the dirt from the floor or ground using a broom (=brush with a long handle) scrub – to clean something by rubbing it with a hard brush mop – to clean the floor with water and a mop (=soft brush on a long handle) do the laundry – to wash clothes dry clean – to clean clothes with chemicals instead of water

2 to make something look neat by putting things in their correct places: very clean: Pam began to clean her desk.

clean out phr v. 1 clean sth ↔ out to make the inside of a car, room, house, etc. clean, especially by removing things from it: We cleaned out the garage last Sunday. 2 clean sb/sth ↔ out (informal) to steal everything from a place or from someone: Two armed men cleaned out the computer store. 3 clean sb out if buying something cleans you out, it is so expensive you have no money left: The new refrigerator really cleaned me out.

clean up phr v. 1 clean sb/sth ↔ up to make something or someone clean and neat: Clean up your room—it’s a mess! 2 I need to go upstairs and get cleaned up. 2 clean sth ↔ up to remove crime, bad behavior, etc. from a place or organization: The new chief promised to clean up the police department. 3 clean up your act (informal) to begin to behave in a responsible way: You’ll have to clean up your act if you want to impress Diane’s parents. —cleaning n. [U]: A woman comes twice a week to do the cleaning.

clean3 adv (informal) completely: I’m sorry, I clean forgot your birthday.

clean-cut adj (approving) a man who is clean-cut is clean and neat in his appearance clean-er /'klɛnər/ n. 1 [C] a machine or substance used to clean things: a vacuum cleaner 2 [C] someone whose job is to clean something: a street cleaner 3 the cleaners [plural] a DRY CLEANERS 4 take sb to the cleaners (informal) to get all of someone’s money in a way that is not honest: Juanita threatened to take her former husband to the cleaners.

clean-li-ness /ˈklenlɪnɪs/ n. [U] the practice of keeping yourself or the things around you clean clean-ly /ˈklenli/ adv done quickly, smoothly, and neatly: The doctor cut cleanly through the skin.

cleanse /ˈklenz/ v. [T] to make something completely clean: Cleanse the wound with alcohol.

cleans-er /ˈklenzər/ n. [C,U] 1 a substance used for cleaning your skin 2 a substance used for cleaning surfaces in a house, office, etc.

,Clean-shaven adj a man who is clean-shaven does not have hair on his face clean-up /ˈklenəp/ n. [C usually singular] a process in which you clean something thoroughly: The cleanup of the oil spill took months. —cleanup adj.

clear1 /ˈkliər adj. 1 SIMPLE/EASY easy to understand, hear, read, or see: clear instructions 2 the law is quite clear on this issue. Smith was very clear about the school’s policies on the matter. 3 it is clear to me that the company will have to make further job cuts. Have I made myself clear? 4 Hugh had made it perfectly clear (that) he wasn’t interested. 5 We must send out a clear message/signal to voters.
2 certain impossible to doubt: clear evidence
It’s not clear how it happened.
It became clear that he would soon die. [a clear case/example of fraud] in this situation, there is no clear winner.

3 sure about sth
not before noun] feeling sure that you understand something [not confused: I’m not clear about what you want me to do.

4 see through easy to see through: clear glass bottles
[a clear mountain lake

5 weather weather that is clear is bright with no rain or clouds: a clear sky

6 not blocked not blocked, hidden, or covered by anything: a clear view of the harbor smooth clear skin

7 a clear conscience the knowledge that you have done the right thing and should not feel guilty [origin: 1200—1300 Old French clarus “clear, bright”]

clear² v

1 make neat [T] to make a place neat by removing things from it: Snowplows quickly cleared the streets of snow.
They spent the morning clearing garbage from the front yard.
If you clear the table (“take away the dishes, forks, etc.”), I’ll make the coffee.
Can you clear a space for my books?

2 remove [T] to make people, cars, etc. leave a place: Within minutes, police had cleared the area.
Trucks have just finished clearing the wreck from the road.

3 legal charge [T] to prove that someone is not guilty of something: The jury cleared Johnson of the murder charge.

4 weather [I] also clear up if the weather or sky clears, it becomes brighter

5 permission [T] to give or get official permission to do something: Has the plane been cleared for landing?
I’ll have to clear it with my boss first.

6 check [I] if a check that is made out to you clears, the money is paid into your bank account

7 clear your throat to cough a little so that you can speak clearly

8 clear the air to talk about a problem in order to solve a disagreement: You need to meet with him and try to clear the air.

9 go over [T] to go over a fence, wall, etc. without touching it: The plane barely cleared the fence as it came down.

10 clear a debt/loan to get rid of a debt by paying what you owe clear sth ↔ away prep to make a place look neat by removing things or putting them where they belong: Clear all these toys away before you go to bed.

1 clear sth ↔ out prep to make a place neat by removing things from it: I need to clear out that closet.

2 clear sth ↔ up prep to explain or solve something, or make it clearer: We need to clear up a few points before the meeting begins.

3 if an infection clears up, it gets better

clear² n
1 away from someone or something: Firemen pulled the driver clear of the wreckage.
2 steer/stay/keep clear (of sb/sth) to avoid someone or something because of possible danger or trouble: She told us to stay clear of the construction site.
3 all the way: You can see clear to the Rockies today.

4 n in the clear
1 not having difficulties because of something: The debt is being paid off, but we’re not in the clear yet.
2 not guilty of something

5 clear ance
1 official permission to do something: Kameny was denied a security clearance.
2 the distance between two objects that is needed to stop them touching: We need twelve feet of overhead clearance for the truck.

6 clearance sale
1 an occasion when goods in a shop are sold cheaply in order to get rid of them

7 cleft
8 a natural crack in the ground or in rocks

9 cleft² adj
partly split or divided: a cleft chin
The Sports Cafe attracts a mostly male clientele.

The crisis reached a climax last week, when two senators resigned.

He heard a click, and the phone went dead.

We watched as the plane climbed into the sky.

Ford climbed into a waiting limousine.

It was near midnight, I was climbing the walls.

By climbing the corporate ladder (become more successful) 5 be climbing the walls (spoken) to become extremely anxious, annoyed, or impatient: When he hadn’t gotten back by midnight, I was climbing the walls.

When he hadn’t gotten back by midnight, I was climbing the walls.

The crisis reached a climax last week, when two senators resigned.

He heard a click, and the phone went dead.

We watched as the plane climbed into the sky.

Ford climbed into a waiting limousine.

It was near midnight, I was climbing the walls.

By climbing the corporate ladder (become more successful) 5 be climbing the walls (spoken) to become extremely anxious, annoyed, or impatient: When he hadn’t gotten back by midnight, I was climbing the walls.

The crisis reached a climax last week, when two senators resigned.

He heard a click, and the phone went dead.

We watched as the plane climbed into the sky.

Ford climbed into a waiting limousine.

It was near midnight, I was climbing the walls.

By climbing the corporate ladder (become more successful) 5 be climbing the walls (spoken) to become extremely anxious, annoyed, or impatient: When he hadn’t gotten back by midnight, I was climbing the walls.

The crisis reached a climax last week, when two senators resigned.

He heard a click, and the phone went dead.

We watched as the plane climbed into the sky.

Ford climbed into a waiting limousine.

It was near midnight, I was climbing the walls.

By climbing the corporate ladder (become more successful) 5 be climbing the walls (spoken) to become extremely anxious, annoyed, or impatient: When he hadn’t gotten back by midnight, I was climbing the walls.
climbing /'klæmɪŋ/ n [U] the sport of climbing mountains or rocks: Let's go climbing this weekend.
see picture on page A4

clinch /klɪntʃ/ v [T] (informal) to manage to win or get something after trying hard: I think I know how we can clinch this deal.

clinch-er /'klɪntʃə/ n [C] (informal) a fact or action that finally persuades someone to do something, or that ends an argument or competition: The real clincher was her threat to sue the city.

cling /klɪŋ/ v (part tense and past participle clung /klʌŋ/) [I] 1 to hold onto someone or something tightly because you do not feel safe: a climber clinging onto a rock
They clung to each other and cried.
2 to stick to something: The wet shirt clung to his body.

cling to srh v to continue to believe or do something, even though it may no longer be true or useful: He clung to the possibility that she would be cured.

cling-y /'klɪŋi/ adj 1 (disapproving) someone who is clingy is too dependent on another person: a shy, clingy child 2 clingy clothing or material sticks tightly to your body and shows its shape: a clingy dress clinic /'klɪnɪk/ n [C] 1 a place where medical treatment is given to people who do not need to stay in a hospital: a dental clinic 2 a group of doctors who share the same offices

3 a meeting during which a professional person gives advice or help to people: a marriage clinic [Oriacian: 1800—1900 French clinique “medical practice by the bed”] clinical /'klɪnɪkl/ adj 1 relating to treating or testing people who are sick: The drug has undergone a number of clinical trials/tests.

2 (disapproving) not influenced by personal feelings: a cold clinical attitude —clinically adv.

clinic-ian /'klɪnɪkɪn/ n [C] a doctor who examines and treats people who are sick rather than studying disease clink /klɪnk/ v [I,T] if glass or metal objects clink, or if you clink them, they make a short ringing sound when they touch —clink n [singular]

clip /klɪp/ n [C] 1 a small metal or plastic object for holding things together: a paper clip 2 a short part of a movie or television program that is shown by itself, especially as an advertisement: clips from Pitt’s new movie
3 at a good/rapid/fast clip quickly: Witnesses say the car was moving at a rapid clip.

clip² v (clipped, clipping) 1 [I,T] to put a clip on things to hold them together: She’d clipped her business card to the letter.

clock /klaʊk/ n [C] 1 an instrument in a room or building that shows the time —watch. What time does that clock say?
The clock had stopped.
The clock struck three (=made three loud noises to show it was three o’clock).
Mary set her alarm clock for 7:00 am. (adjusted it so that it would ring at 7:00 a.m.)
The kitchen clock is five minutes slow/fast (shows a time that is five minutes less or more than the right time).
2 turn/set the clock back (disapproving) to make a situation the same as it was in the past: Women’s groups warned that the law would turn the clock back fifty years.
3 set the clock(s) back/ahead/forward to change the time shown on the clock to one hour earlier or later, when the time officially changes.
4 around the clock all day and all night without stopping: We’ve been working around the clock to get done on time.
5 race/work against the clock to work quickly in order to finish something because you do clock
not have much time: “The harvest is a race against the clock to beat the winter rains,” Johnson says. [Origin: 1300–1400 Middle Dutch close “bell, clock,” from Medieval Latin clocca “bell”] → o’clock, punch a clock at punch!, watch the clock at watch.

clock2 v [T] 1 to measure the speed at which someone or something is moving: The police clocked her at 86 miles per hour. 2 to travel a particular distance in a particular time: She clocked her best time in the 200-meter sprint.

clock in/out phr v to record on a special card the time when you begin or stop working: I clocked in at 8:00 this morning.

clock ‘radio n [C] a clock that you can set so that it turns on a radio to wake you up clock-wise /‘klæk-waɪz/ adj, adv in the same direction in which the hands (=parts that point to the time) of a clock move, clockwise.

clock-work /‘klæk-wɜːk/ n like clockwork a) (informal) happening in exactly the same way you planned: Fortunately, production has been going like clockwork. b) happening at the same time and in the same way every time: At 6:30 every evening, like clockwork, Ari would milk the cows.

clog /klɒd/ n [C] 1 a lump of mud or earth 2 (informal) someone who is not graceful and behaves in a stupid way clog1 /klɒg/ v (clogged, clogging) [I,T] also clog up to block something, or to become blocked: Potato peelings clogged up the drain. | freeways clogged with heavy traffic.

clog2 n [C] a shoe made of wood → see picture at SHOE close1 /kləʊz/ n [C] 1 biology an exact copy of a plant or animal that scientists produce from one of its cells 2 if a computer that is built as an exact copy of a more famous computer: an IBM close -Origin: 1900—2000 Greek klon “small branch” close2 v [T] biology to produce a plant or an animal that is a clone

close3 /kləʊz/ v [I,T] 1 to shut something, or to become shut (eye) shut (gate), open: Rita walked over and closed the curtains. | The hinges creaked slightly as the door closed. | Close your ears and go to sleep.

USAGE
Do not use open and close to talk about things that use electricity or things that provide water or gas. Use turn on/off instead: Can you turn off the lights? | I turned on the TV.

For things that use electricity, you can also use switch on/off: Don’t forget to switch off your computer.

2 if a store or building closes, or if someone closes it, it stops being open to the public for a period of time: What time does the mall close tonight?

Prentice Street has been closed to traffic. 3 to end something, or to end: Professor Schmidt closed his speech with a quote from Twain. 4 to stop existing or operating, or to stop something from existing or operating: Hundreds of lumber mills have closed down since World War II. 5 close a deal/sale/contract to successfully arrange a business deal, sale, etc. [Origin: 1200–1300 Old French clos, past participle of clore “to close,” from Latin claudere] close in phr v to move closer in order to catch someone or something: a tiger closing in for the kill.

close sth ↔ off phr v if a road or area is closed off, people cannot go into it close2 /kləʊz/ adj

1 near sth not far from someone or something: The closest gas station is 20 miles away. | We live close to the school. | The victim was shot at close range (=from a short distance).

2 near in time near to something in time: By the time we left it was close to midnight.

3 near to a number/amount near to something in time: Inflation is now close to 6%.

4 likely to happen soon if you are close to something, you are likely to experience it soon: They haven’t reached an agreement yet, but they’re close. | Erickson was close to tears as he described the accident. | A few of the injured people were close to death.

5 similar very similar to each other: Do you have any shoes that are closer in color to this scarf? | A dirt road was the closest thing to a highway in the area.

6 careful giving careful attention to details: Take a closer look at the facts. | Scientists are keeping a close watch/eye on the volcano. | The jury paid very close attention to the evidence.

7 like/love sb if people are close, they like or love each other very much: Are you very close to your sister? | We were close friends in high school.

8 at work relating to a situation in which people work or talk well together: The school encourages close partnerships between teachers and parents. | Our job required close contact with the general manager.

9 competition a close competition or game is won or lost by only a few points: Right now it’s too close to call (=no one can say who the winner will be).

10 almost bad (informal) used when you just manage to avoid something bad happening: That was close! You almost hit that car! | I had a couple of close calls, but they weren’t my fault.

11 too close for comfort if something bad is too close for comfort, it is near you or happens near to you, making you feel nervous or afraid: The terrible storm was too close for comfort.

12 close relative a family member such as a parent, brother, or sister: closeness n [U] room, with Shane following close behind. | The woman held her baby close.

THESAURUS

near, not far (away), nearby, within walking distance (of sth) ➔ NEAR

2 come close to (doing) sth to almost do something: I was so angry I came close to hitting him. | Carey came very close to victory. 3 close up/closet close from only a short distance away: When I saw her close up, I realized she wasn’t June.

close adj [singular] the end of an activity or period of time: The police brought the investigation to a close. | The summer was drawing to a close.

closed kloʊzd n, adj 1 not open shut: Make sure all the windows are closed. 2 if a store or public building is closed, it is not open and people cannot go into it or use it: Sorry, the store’s closed on Sundays. 3 restricted to a particular group of people or things: open: Don’t go with a closed mind. 4 behind closed doors privately, without involving other people: The deal was made behind closed doors.

closed-circuit ‘television n [CU] cameras which are used in public places in order to help prevent crime closed ‘circulatory system n [C] BIOLOGY a system in which blood flows around the body contained in blood vessels, without directly flowing over the surrounding tissues close-knit kloʊzd n, adj a close-knit family or group of people know each other well and help each other a lot close-ly kloʊzdli adv 1 very carefully: The police were watching him closely. 2 if you work closely with someone, you work with and help him/her closely related/linked/tied etc., having a strong connection: Diet and health are closely connected. 4 in a way that is close to other things in time or space: a flash of lightning, followed closely by thunder close-set kloʊzd set adj close-set eyes are very near to each other clos-et kloʊzt n [C] 1 an area that you keep clothes and other things in, built with a door behind the wall of a room: Let me hang your coat up in the closet. 2 a closed closet: to say openly and publicly that you are homosexual, after keeping it a secret closet adj closet liberal/homosexual etc., someone who does not admit in public what s/he thinks or does in private close-up kloʊs ap n, [C] a photograph of someone or something that is taken from very near to him, her, or it: a close-up of the children

clo-sure kloʊzər n [U] the act of permanently closing a building, factory, school, etc.: Several military bases are threatened with closure. 2 an occasion in which a bad situation has ended and you can finally stop thinking about it: Funerals help give people a sense of closure.

cloth kloʊt n, adj (cotted, clotting) 1 a mass of blood or another liquid which has become almost solid: a blood clot in his leg 2 (C) a piece of cloth used for a particular purpose: Cover the bowl with a damp cloth. [Orig: Old English clath “cloth, piece of clothing”] clothe kloʊð v [T] to provide clothes for someone: He could barely afford to feed and clothe his family.

clothed kloʊzd adj (formal) dressed: The kids were fast asleep, still fully clothed.

clothes kloʊz, kloʊzəz n, plural the things that people wear to cover their bodies or keep warm: Go to your room and put on some clean clothes. | Pete took his clothes off and went to bed. | What sort of clothes was he wearing? 2 The kids ran upstairs to change into dry clothes.

cloth adj material used for making things such as clothes ➔ FABRIC: These pants are made with the finest wool cloth.

USAGE

Do not use cloth or clothes to mean “things that you wear.” Use clothes. He usually wears casual clothes. 2 [C] a piece of cloth used for a particular purpose: Cover the bowl with a damp cloth. [Orig: Old English clath “cloth, piece of clothing”] clothes adj things that people wear to cover their bodies or keep warm: Go to your room and put on some clean clothes. | Pete took his clothes off and went to bed. | What sort of clothes was he wearing? 2 The kids ran upstairs to change into dry clothes. ➔ see picture on page 192

COLLOCATIONS

tight: tight jeans loose/baggy: a baggy T-shirt fashionable/stylish: fashionable clothes casual – comfortable and informal: a casual top formal – appropriate for an official or serious situation: Everyone was dressed in formal wear. dressy – fairly formal and appropriate for wearing to work: a pair of dressy pants ➔ CLOTH

TOPIC

You look at clothes in a store and then try them on. You want to be sure that they fit you (are the right size for you), and also that they look good on you. At home, you fold them and put them in a drawer, or you hang them up in a closet. If clothes are wrinkled (have lines in the material), you can iron them.

GRAMMAR

There is no singular form of clothes. You have to say a piece of clothing, an article of clothing (formal), or an item of clothing (formal): They found a piece of clothing in the bushes.
clothesline /kloʊzlən/ n. [C] a rope that you hang clothes on so that they will dry clothespin /kloʊzpɪn/ n. [C] a small object that you use to fasten clothes to a clothesline clothing /kloʊtʃɪŋ/ n. [U] clothes: The refugees needed food and clothing. | Protective clothing should be worn in the lab.

cloak /klaʊk/ n. 1 [CU] a white or gray mass in the sky, from which rain falls: There wasn’t a cloud in the sky. | Storm/Dark clouds moved overhead. 2 [C] a mass of smoke, dust, or gas: a cloud of dust 3 [C] something that makes you feel worried or afraid: Ryder resigned under a cloud of suspicion. | Marshall’s injury cast a cloud over the rest of the game. 4 on cloud nine (informal) very happy: When Caitlin was born, Adam was on cloud nine. [Origin: Old English claud “rock, hill;” because some clouds look like rocks]

cloak v. 1 [T] to make something more difficult to understand or deal with: These unnecessary details are only clouding the issue. 2 [I,T] also cloud up to become difficult to see through, or to make this happen: Steam clouded up the windows.

cloth /kləθ/ n. [U] a soft material that can be made into clothing: The refugees needed food and clothing.

clothing /kloʊtʃɪŋ/ n. [U] clothes: The refugees needed food and clothing. | Protective clothing should be worn in the lab.

cloven /kloʊvən/ v. a past participle of CLEAVE

clove /kloʊv/ n. [C] 1 a piece of GARLIC: a clove of garlic 2 a strong sweet spice with a pointed stem clove v. a past tense of CLEAVE

cloven /kloʊvən/ v. a past participle of CLEAVE

clover /kloʊvər/ n. [C] a small plant with three round leaves on each stem cloven /kloʊvən/ n. [C] a performer who wears MAKEUP and funny clothes and tries to make people laugh, especially in a CIRCUS cloven v. [I] to behave in a silly or funny way: a couple of boys clowning around cloying /ˈklɔɪɪŋ/ adj. 1 a cloying attitude or quality annoys you because it is too nice and seems false: a cloying poem about love 2 cloying food or smells are too sweet and make you feel sick: the cloying smell of cheap perfume club /klab/ n. [C]

1 an organization for people who share an interest or who enjoy similar activities: a member of the drama club
2 the building used by a club: The restaurant is located next to the fitness club 3 [s/u] an old car or other machine that does not work very well 4 a specially shaped stick for hitting the ball in golf (syn) golf club
5 [plural] in card games, the cards with black symbols with three round parts: the five of clubs 6 a heavy stick used as a weapon club /klab/ v. (clubbed, clubbing) [T] to hit someone with a club club-house /klabhaus/ n. [C] a building used by a club, especially a sports club club ‘sandwich n. [C] a sandwich consisting of three pieces of bread with meat and cheese between them club ‘soda n. [C/U] water filled with bubbles that is often mixed with other drinks cluck /kluk/ v. [I] to make a noise like a hen —cluck n. [C] clue /klu/ n. [C]
1 a piece of information or an object that helps to solve a crime or mystery: The police are still searching for clues.
No one seems to have a clue as to the bomber’s identity.
2 not have a clue (informal) to definitely not know or understand something: I don’t have a clue what you’re talking about.
3 ‘Where’s Jamie?’ “I don’t have a clue.” (Origins: 1500—1600 clew “ball of string” (11—19 centuries), from Old English clæwen; from the use of a ball of string for finding the way out of a network of passages] clue2 /kluu/
1 in phr. v. (informal) to give someone information about something: He clued me in on how the washing machine works.
clue-less /kluul/ adj. (disapproving) having no understanding or knowledge of something: Jason is clueless when it comes to women.
clamp /klamp/ n. [C] a group of trees or plants growing together clamp2 /klampa/ v. [I] to walk with slow noisy steps: I could hear Grandpa clumping around in the basement.
clum-sy /klamz/ adj.
1 moving in an awkward way and tending to knock things over: She was clumsy and shy.
2 a clumsy object is large, heavy, and difficult to use 3 if you say or do something in a clumsy way, you do it in a careless way, without considering other people’s feelings: a clumsy attempt to apologize —clumsily adv. —clumsiness n. clump /klump/ v. the past tense and past participle of clingle clunk /klunk/ v. [I.T] to make the loud sound of two heavy objects hitting each other —clunk n. [C] clunk-er ‘klunkar n. [C] (informal) 1 an old car or other machine that does not work very well 2 something that is completely unsuccessful because people think it is bad or stupid cluster /kluster/ n. [C] a group of things that are close together: a cluster of grapes cluster2 v. [I] to form a group of people or things: The tulips were clustered around the fence.
clutch /klutch/ v. [T] to hold something tightly: Jamie stood there, clutching her purse.
clutter /klutər/ n. [U] a lot of things scattered in a messy way

CNN n. Cable News Network an organization that broadcasts television news programs all over the world
CO the written abbreviation of COLORADO
Co. ‘Koo/ 1 the written abbreviation of COMPANY; E.F. Hutton & Co.
2 the written abbreviation of COUNTY
C/O /s/ the written abbreviation of in care of, used when you are sending a letter for someone to another person who will keep it for him/her:
Send the letter to me c/o Anne Miller, 8 Brown St., Peoria, IL.
C.O.D. adv. cash on delivery a system in which you pay for something when it is delivered:
Send the equipment C.O.D. coach /kouf/ n. 1 [C] someone who trains a person or team in a sport: a basketball/football, etc.

coach

thesaurus

- teacher, professor, lecturer, instructor → TEACHER

1 [T] to train a person or team in a sport: He coaches our tennis team. 2 to give someone private lessons in singing, acting, etc.

coaches /ˈkoʊəls/ n [C] someone who gives private lessons in singing, acting, etc. [origin: 1500—1600 French kutsche, from German kutsche] couch /ˈkou,koʊ/ n, v [T] 1 to change from a liquid into a thicker substance or a solid; Blood had coagulated around the wound. → see picture at clotting coagulation /ˌkoʊəˈɡeɪlən/ n [U]

coal /koʊl/ n 1 [U] EARTH SCIENCES a black mineral that is dug from the earth and is burned for heat: a lump of coal | coal miners 2 coals [plural] pieces of coal that are burning [origin: Old English coale] → charcoal, rake sb over the coals or rake coalesce /ˈkoʊəˌleɪs/ v [I] (formal) to combine or grow together to form one single group coalition /ˈkɔəliʃən/ n [C] a union of separate political parties or people for a special purpose, usually for a short time: a new coalition government in Japan | The two parties have decided to form a coalition.

coke /ˈkoʊk/ n 1 [U] COAL a coal that is burnt for heat: a lump of coke | coal miners 2 coals [plural] pieces of coal that are burning [origin: Old English coale] → charcoal, rake sb over the coals or rake coast /ˈkoʊst/ n 1 [C] EARTH SCIENCES the land next to the ocean: the Pacific coast | the west coast of Mexico | an island off the coast (in the water near the land) of California | a small beach house on the coast coastal /ˈkoʊstəl/ adj coastal cost /ˈkɔst/ v [I] to cover a surface with a layer of something: The books were thickly coated with dust.

coal /ˈkoʊl/ n 1 [C] the cheapest type of seats on an airplane or a train: We flew coach to Seattle. 2 [C] someone who gives private lessons in singing, acting, etc. [origin: 1500—1600 French kutsche, from German kutsche] coach /ˈkoʊʃ/ n 1 [C] a long hard middle part of the corn plant: corn on the cob co-balt /ˈkoʊbɔlt/ n [U] CHEMISTRY (symbol Co) a shiny silver-white metal that is a chemical element co-bled /ˈkoʊbɔld/ adj covered with round flat stones: a cobbled street co-bler /ˈkoʊblər/ n 1 [C] a person who makes or repairs shoes co-b-stone /ˈkoʊbstʌn/ n [C] a small round stone set in the ground, especially in past times, to make a hard surface for a road co-bra /ˈkoʊbɾə/ n [C] an African or Asian poisonous snake [origin: 1800—1900 Portuguese coba (de capello) “snake with a hood,” from Latin colubra “snake”] co-b-web /ˈkoʊbəb/ n [C] a very fine structure of sticky threads made by a SPIDER co-ca-Co-la /ˈkoʊkoʊə/ n [C] (trademark) a sweet brown SOFT DRINK, or a glass of this drink co-caine /ˈkoʊkən/ n, v [C] an illegal drug, usually in the form of a white powder co-ch-lee-ae /ˈkoʊkliə/ n (plural cochleae or cochleas) [C] BIOLOGY a part of the inner ear that is shaped like a spiral, and that has small hair-like cells that help you to hear cock /kɔk/ n, v [T] 1 to raise or move part of your head or face: Jeremy cocked his head to one side and smiled. 2 to pull back the part of a gun that hits the back of a bullet, so that you are ready to shoot cocked /ˈkɔkt/ adj (old-fashioned) a ROOSTER co·coon /'kəʊkən/ n. [C] the soft sound made by a ROOSTER cock·eyed /ˈkɒkəd/ adj. (informal) 1 not sensible or practical: a cockeyed idea 2 not straight or level: His hat was on cockeyed.

cock·pit /ˈkɒkpɪt/ n. [C] the part of an airplane or racing car where the pilot or driver sits — see picture at AIRPLANE cock·roach /ˈkɒkˌrɔʊʃ/ n. [C] a large insect that often lives where food is kept: [Origin: 1500—1600 Spanish cucaracha, from cuca “caterpillar”] cock·tail /ˈkɒktəl/ n. 1 an alcoholic drink made from a mixture of different drinks 2 a dish of small pieces of food, usually eaten at the start of a meal: a shrimp cocktail — fruit cocktail cocktail ·lounge n. [C] a public room in a hotel, restaurant, etc., where people can buy alcoholic drinks cocktail ·party n. [C] a formal party where alcoholic drinks are served cock·y /ˈkɒki/ adj. (informal) too confident, in a way which people do not like: Howitt was young and cocky. —cockiness n. [U] co·coa /ˈkəʊə/ n. [U] 1 a dark brown powder that tastes like chocolate and is used in cooking. 2 a hot chocolate drink: a cup of cocoa co·nut /ˈkəʊnʌt/ n. [C,U] a very large brown nut which is white inside and has liquid in the middle: [Origin: 1600—1700 coco “coconut” (16—18 centuries) (from Portuguese, “grinning face,” because the bottom of a coconut, with its three spots, looks like a face) + nut] — see picture on page 414 co·coon /ˈkəʊkən/ n. [C] 1 BIOLOGY a silk cover that some insects make to protect themselves while they are growing. 2 a place or situation in which you feel comfortable and safe: the COCONUT of college life —coconoon v. —COCONUT noun cod /kəʊd/ n. (plural cod) [C,U] a large ocean fish that you can eat, or the meat from this fish coc·a /ˈkəʊʊə/ n. [C] 1 ENG. LANG. ARTS an additional part at the end of a piece of music, that is considered separate from the main piece. 2 ENG. LANG. ARTS a separate piece of writing at the end of a work of literature or a speech cod·e1 /ˈkəʊd/ n. [C] a set of rules, laws, or principles that tells people how to behave: the company’s employee code of conduct. 2 [C] a set of numbers, letters, or symbols used instead of ordinary writing to keep something secret: Important reports were sent in code. 3 [C] a set of numbers, letters, or symbols that give you information about something: Goods that you order must have a product code. [Origin: 1500—1600 French, Latin codex “main part of a tree, piece of wood for writing on, book”] —code noun code2 v. [T] to put a message into code —coded adj.: He sent a coded message to CIA headquarters.

cod·i·fy /ˈkəʊdi/ v. (codified, codifies) [T] LAW to arrange laws, principles, facts, etc. in a system: The agreement must still be codified by federal legislation. —codification noun cod·ing /ˈkəʊdɪŋ/ n. [C] the number that does not change in a mathematical expression that has a VARIABLE: In 8x, the coefficient of x is 8.

cod·omi·nance /ˈkəʊdərəˈmæn/ n. [U] BIOLOGY a situation in which both ALLELES (pair of GENES) are present to an equal degree on a CHROMOSOME, and both have an equal influence on a person’s or animal’s physical appearance and the type of blood they have —codominant adj.

cod·ed /ˈkəʊd/ adj. using a system in which students of both sexes study or live together: co-ed dormitories cod·efi·cient /ˈkəʊdiˈʃjənt/ n. [C] MATH the number that does not change in a mathematical expression that has a VARIABLE: In 8x, the coefficient of x is 8.

cod·en·zyme /ˈkəʊdənˌzaim/ n. [C] BIOLOGY a substance, often a vitamin or a mineral, that forms part of an ENZYME, and that must combine with a PROTEIN to make the enzyme work coc·erce /ˈkəʊəsər/ v. [T] (formal) to force someone to do something by threatening him/her: The women were coerced into hiding the drugs. —coercion noun co·er·cive /ˈkəʊərˌsɪv/ adj. —coercive noun cod·ex /ˈkəʊdɪks/ n. [U] 1 a large brown drink that has a slightly bitter taste: a cup of coffee. 2 a cup of this drink: Two black coffees (coffee with no milk added), please. 3 [U] whole coffee beans, crushed coffee beans, or a powder from which you make coffee: a pound of coffee.

co·ffe·ma·chine /ˈkəʊfəˌməˌʃiːn/ n. [C] a machine that gives you a cup of coffee, tea, etc. when you put money in it co·ffe·maker /ˈkəʊfəˈmərkər/ n. [C] an electric machine that makes a pot of coffee co·ffee ·cake n. [C,U] a sweet heavy cake, usually eaten along with coffee co·ffee ·house n. [C] a small restaurant where people go to talk and drink coffee co·ffee ·ma·chine n. [C] a machine that gives you a cup of coffee, tea, etc. when you put money in it co-ef·fi·cient /ˈkoʊəfiʃənt/ n. [C] a number that does not change in a mathematical expression that has a VARIABLE: In 8x, the coefficient of x is 8.

co·fess /ˈkəʊfəs/ v. (confessed, confessing) [T] (usu. refl.) to admit that you have done something wrong: She confessed to taking the money from the till.

co·fe·sion /ˈkəʊfəˈʃən/ n. [C] 1 the act of confessing: He gave his confession to the police. 2 RELIGION the words used in a religious service that is not a prayer: The resistance of the faithful in the desert is a daily confession of faith.

co·fes·ter /ˈkəʊfəsər/ n. [C] a coffee pot with a lid and a handle: He put the cofeset on the table.

co·fe·t·ure /ˈkəʊfətʃər/ n. [C] a coffee or beer shop.

co·fe·t·ure ·de ·par·is n. [C] a French term for a small coffee shop or bar where people go to drink coffee or tea.

co·fe·w·er·y /ˈkəʊfəwərē/ n. [C] a place where coffee is sold.

co·fe·w·es·ter /ˈkəʊfəwəstər/ n. [C] a coffee pot with a lid and a handle: He put the cofeset on the table.

co·fet·u·re /ˈkəʊfətʃər/ n. [C] a small coffee shop or bar.

co·fet·u·re ·de ·par·is n. [C] a French term for a small coffee shop or bar where people go to drink coffee or tea.

co·fes·ter ·de ·par·is n. [C] a French term for a small coffee shop or bar where people go to drink coffee or tea.

co·fes·ter ·ye·le n. [C] a coffee pot with a lid and a handle: He put the cofeset on the table.

co·fes·ter ·ye·le ·de ·par·is n. [C] a French term for a small coffee shop or bar where people go to drink coffee or tea.

co·fes·ter ·ye·le ·de ·par·is n. [C] a French term for a small coffee shop or bar where people go to drink coffee or tea.

co·fes·ter ·ye·le ·de ·par·is n. [C] a French term for a small coffee shop or bar where people go to drink coffee or tea.

co·fes·ter ·ye·le ·de ·par·is n. [C] a French term for a small coffee shop or bar where people go to drink coffee or tea.

co·fes·ter ·ye·le ·de ·par·is n. [C] a French term for a small coffee shop or bar where people go to drink coffee or tea.
coffee shop

coffee shop n [C] a small restaurant that serves cheap meals coffee table n [C] a low table in a living room coffers /kɔfərz/ ‘koʊ-/ n [plural] the money that an organization has: The tax would add an estimated $500,000 to the city's coffers.

cof-fin /kɔfɪn/ n [C] the box in which a dead person is buried [Origin: 1300–1400 Old French cophilin, from Latin cophina “basket”] cog /ˈkɒɡ/ n [C] 1 a wheel in a machine, with small parts on its edge that fit together with the parts of another wheel as they turn 2 a cog in the machine/ wheel an unimportant worker in a large organization cog-ni-zant /ˈkɒɡnɪzənt/ adj (formal) cognizant of sth having knowledge or information about something: The social worker was cognizant of the fact that the boy’s father was abusive.

cog-ni-zant /ˈkɒɡnɪzənt/ adj (formal) to choose or decide something: Uncle Henry collects foreign coins.

2 toss/flip a coin to choose or decide something by throwing a coin into the air and guessing which side will show when it falls 3 the other side of the coin a different fact or way of thinking about something [Origin: 1300–1400 Old French “three-sided piece, corner,” from Latin cuneus “wedge”] coin v [T] to invent a new word or phrase that many people start to use: Who coined the word ‘cyberpunk’?

coin-age /ˈkoɪnɪdʒ/ n 1 [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS a word or phrase that has been recently invented 2 [U] ENG. LANG. ARTS the use or making of new words or phrases 3 [U] the system of money used in a country co-in-cide /ˌkəʊɪnˈsaɪd/ v [I] to happen at the same time as something else: Their wedding anniversary coincides with Thanksgiving.

co-in-ci-dence /ˌkəʊɪnˈsənsəns/ n [U] 1 ENG. LANG. ARTS a situation in which two things happen together by chance, in a surprising way: By coincidence, my husband and my father went to the same high school. [It’s no coincidence that veterans are more likely to smoke than other people.]

coke /ˈkɔk/ n 1 Coke [C.U.] (trademark) the drink COCA-COLA, or a bottle, can, or glass of this drink 2 [U] (informal) cocaine cold /kɔld/ adj 1 having a low temperature: a cold winter morning 2 being cold in the case: Let’s go inside – I’m cold.

bitterly cold weather 3 your coffee’s getting cold (becoming cold).

cooler /ˈkɔlər/ n [U] an unimportant worker in a large organization cool /kɔl/ also cool up v [I,T] to wind or twist into a round shape, or to make something do this: Dad coiled up the hose. 1 The snake coiled around the branch.

cool up /ˈkɔləp/ n [C] a piece of wire or rope that has been wound into a circular shape money, bill, penny, nickel, dime, quarter, cash, change, currency ➔ money

THE SAURUS

The tax would add an estimated $500,000 to the city’s coffers.
The snail coiled around the branch.

THE SAURUS

• cool – in a pleasant way, especially after it has been hot: It’s very hot during the day, but cooler at night.
• chilly – cold, but not very cold: a chilly fall day
• frosty – very cold, with the ground covered in frost (ice that is white and powdery): a bright frosty morning
• freezing (cold) – extremely cold, so that water outside becomes ice: It was freezing cold last night.
• icy (cold) – extremely cold: an icy wind cold (adj.) 1 very cold in a way that feels very unpleasant: The bitter wind seemed to go right through us. 2 cold food has been cooked, but is not eaten while it is warm: cold chicken 3 without friendly feelings: a polite but cold greeting cold-blooded adj. 1 cruel and showing no feelings: a cold-blooded killer 2 Biology a cold-blooded animal, such as a snake, has a body temperature that changes with the air or ground around it: warm-blooded cold cuts n. [plural, U] thin pieces of different kinds of cooked meat eaten cold cold-hearted adj. without sympathy or pity: a cold-hearted man coldly adv in an unfriendly way: “I’m busy,” said Sarah coldly.

cold sore n. [C] a painful spot on the inside or outside of your mouth that you sometimes get when you are sick cold ‘turkey n. go cold turkey (informal) to suddenly stop taking a drug that you are addicted to, and to feel sick because of this: The only way to quit smoking is to go cold turkey.

cold war n. [C] 1 Politics an unfriendly political relationship between two countries that do not actually fight with each other 2 the Cold War History this type of relationship between the U.S. and the Soviet Union, after World War II cole slaw /koul sλ/ n. [U] a salad made with thinly cut raw cabbage and carrots collab:orate /kəˈlæbəˌreɪt/ v. [I] 1 to work together with another person or group in order to achieve or produce something: The author and illustrator wanted to collaborate on a book for children. 2 to help a country that your country is at war with: He was accused of collaborating with the Nazis. [Origin: 1800—1900 Late Latin, past participle of collaborare, from Latin com “with” + laborare “to work”] —collaborator n. [C] collaborative /kəˈleɪbrətɪv/ adj. collaborative project/effort/work/etc. a project, effort, etc. that involves two or more people working together to achieve something collage /kəˈlæʒ, koʊlɪˈeɪʒ/ n. 1 [C] a picture made by sticking pictures, photographs, cloth, etc. onto a surface 2 [U] the art of making pictures in this way collapse /kəˈlæps/ v. [T] 1 to fall down or become unconscious because you are sick or very weak: He looked like he was going to collapse. 2 to suddenly fall down or become unconscious because you are sick or very weak: He looked like he was going to collapse. 3 to fail suddenly and completely: They sold the property just before the real estate market collapsed. [Origin: 1700–1800 Latin collapsus, past participle of collabi, from com– labi “to fall, slide”] collaboration /kəˈleɪbrəˈkeɪʃən/ n. the act of working with another person or group in order to achieve or produce something: Our department worked in close collaboration on the project. The project has involved collaboration with the geography department. 2 the act of helping an enemy during a war bitter (adj.) —v. very cold in a way that feels very unpleasant: The bitter wind seemed to go right through us.

collateral

col-lat-er-al /ˌkəˈletrəl/ n. [U] ECONOMICS property or other goods that you promise to give to someone if you cannot pay back a debt. They put up their house as collateral in order to raise the money.

col-league /ˈkulɪɡ/ [C] n. [C] someone you work with, especially in a profession: The research was carried out by Dr. Francis and her colleagues at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore. [Origin: 1500—1600 French collègue, from Latin collega, from com “with” + legere “to choose for a particular job”]

col·lect /kəˈlɛkt/ v. 1 [T] to get things and bring them together; I’ll collect everyone’s tests at the end of class. 2 [T] to get and keep objects of the same type because you think they are attractive or interesting: She collects stamps. 3 [T] to get money from people: We’re collecting for charity. [The landlord was at the door, trying to collect the rent. 4 [I] to come or gather together: Dust had collected in the corners of the room. 5 collect yourself/collect your thoughts to make yourself calmer and able to think more clearly: I had a few minutes to collect my thoughts before the meeting began. [Origin: 1500—1600 Latin, past participle of colligere, from com “together” + legere “to choose”]

col·lect·or /kəˈlɛktər/ n. 1 a collector if you call someone collect, the person who gets the telephone call pays for it. 2 collect call a telephone call that is paid for by the person who gets it col·lect·ed /kəˈlɛktid/ adj. 1 collected works/poems/stories etc. all of the poems, stories, etc. of a particular writer included together in one book: the collected works of Emily Dickinson 2 in control of yourself and your thoughts, feelings, etc.: Jason seemed calm and collected.

col·lect·i·ble /kəˈlɛktəbəl/ n. [C] an object that you keep as part of a group of similar things: a store that sells antiques and collectibles

col·lec·tion /kəˈlekʃən/ n. 1 [C] a set of similar things that you keep or put together: a coin collection | a collection of toy soldiers 2 [U] the act of bringing together things of the same type from different places; different methods of data collection 3 [C] several stories, poems, pieces of music, etc. that are put together: a collection of fairy tales 4 [C] the act of taking something away from a place: Garbage collection is on Fridays. 5 [C] the act of asking people for money: tax collection | We’re planning to have a collection for UNICEF

col·lec·tive 1 /kəˈlɛktɪv/ adj. [only before noun] shared or done by all the members of a group together: We had made a collective decision. | collective farms — collectively

col·lec·tive·ly bargain n. [U] discussions between employers and unions about pay, working conditions, etc.

col·lec·tive noun n. [C] ENGL. ARTS a noun such as “family” or “committee,” that is the name of a group of people or things: COMMON NOUN, PROPER NOUN

col·lec·tor /kəˈlɛktər/ n. 1 someone whose job is to collect taxes, tickets, debts, etc.: a tax collector 2 someone who collects things that are interesting or attractive: a stamp collector

col·lege /ˈkəlɪdʒ/ n. 1 [C,U] a large school where you can study after high school — UNIVERSITY: My oldest son is in college (=is a student at a college). | I’m planning to go to college. 2 [C] the part of a university that teaches a particular subject: the College of Engineering [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French, Latin collegium “society”] col·lin·e·ar /kəˈlɪnɪər/ adj. relating to college or a college: collegiate sports

col·lide /kəˈlaid/ v. [I] to crash violently into something or someone: His car collided with a bus.

col·lin·e·ar points /kəˈlɪnər ˈpɔɪnts/ n. [plural] MATH two or more points that lie on the same straight line col·li·sion /kəˈlɪʒən/ n 1 [C,U] a violent crash in which one vehicle hits another: a midair collision (=one involving two planes).

in colorful language, e.g. in informal conversations: colloquial expressions — colloquially adv — colloquialism n [C] collude /kəˈluːd/ v [I,T] to work together secretly to do or plan something dishonest or illegal.

col·lonize /kəˈlənɪzaɪ/ v [I,T] to establish a colony or colonies.

col·o·nial /kəˈloʊnɪəl/ adj 1 relating to a country or region or society that is controlled by a more powerful country: colonial administration /kəˈloʊnɪəl ədˈmɪnɪstrəʃən/ n[U,used inf] 2 relating to or characteristic of colonialism: colonial-style brick house

2 "What color does your new car have?" “Blue.”

We need to get more women and people of color into elected office. 6 [U] showing all the different colors such as red, green, and blue rather than just black and white (=only black and white): color photographs/pictures. 7 [U] if you have some color in your face, your face is pink or red, usually because you are healthy or embarrassed: He felt the color rise to his face.

col·or /ˈkʌlər/ v 1 [T] to give color to something: Do you color your hair? 2 [I,T] to put color onto a drawing or picture, or to draw a picture using colored pencils or pens: Give Grandma the picture you colored, Jenny. 3 color sb's judgment/ opinions/attitudes etc. to influence the way that someone thinks about something, especially so that she becomes less fair or reasonable: Personal feelings colored his judgment.

col·or·ful /ˈkʌlərfʊl/ adj having a color that will not become lighter when you wash or wear it col·or·i·zation /kəˈlɔːrɪzaɪʃən/ n [U] the act of coloring something.

col·or·ize /kəˈlɔːrɪz/ v [I,T] to give color to something: The book includes 200 color photographs/pictures. — "The Wizard of Oz" was the first film shot in color.

col·or·less /ˈkʌlərlɛs/ adj 1 not having any color: colorless food: a colorblind person: a colorblind judge.

"What color is your new car?" "Blue." ● Don't say "What color does your new car have?" or the color of his eyes | I love wearing bright colors.

The leaves were pale green in color.

2 [U] the quality of having colors: Flowers can add color to a patio or backyard.

3 [U] a substance such as paint or dye, that makes something red, blue, etc.: He mixed the colors with his paintbrush.

4 [C,U] how dark or light someone's skin is, which shows which race s/he belongs to: They are trying to bring together people of all colors and religions.

The awards will be given without discrimination based on color, religion, or sex. 5 people/men/ women etc. of color people who are not white: We need to get more women and people of color into elected office.

We need to get more women and people of color into elected office. 6 [U] showing all the different colors such as red, green, and blue rather than just black and white (=only black and white): color photographs/pictures. 7 [U] if you have some color in your face, your face is pink or red, usually because you are healthy or embarrassed: He felt the color rise to his face.

col·lo·qui·al /kəˈloʊkwaɪəl/ adj colloquial language is the kind of language that is used in informal conversations: colloquial expressions — colloquially adv — colloquialism n [C] col·lu·syon /kəˈluːʒən/ n [U] (formal) the act of agreeing secretly with someone else to do something dishonest or illegal — collude /kəˈluːd/ v [I,T]: The companies colluded to keep prices high.

col·o·nize /ˈkəloonɪzaɪ/ v [I,T] to establish a colony or colonies.

col·o·ny /ˈkələni/ n 1 [C] a large liquid with a pleasant smell, which you put on your skin

2 [C] a high rank in the Army, Air Force, or Marines, or an officer who has this rank

3 one of the original British colonies in America: a Colonial-style brick house

col·o·ni·al·ism /ˈkələnɪəlɪzəm/ n [U] politics the principle or practice in which a powerful country rules a weaker one and establishes its own trade and society there col·o·nize /ˈkələnɪzaɪ/ v [I,T] to control a country or area and send your own people to live there: Argentina was colonized by Spain.

colonial n [C] — colonist n [C] — colonization /kəˈlənɪzaɪʃən/ n [U] col·o·ny /ˈkələnɪ/ n (plural colonies) [C] 1 a country or area that is ruled by a more powerful country, usually one that is far away: Massachusetts was one of the original British colonies in America. 2 a group of people with the same interests who live together: an artists' colony. 3 a group of the same kind of animals living together: a herds of animals living together [Ori-gins: 300–1400 Old French colonie, from Latin colonia ] from colonus "farmer, someone who develops a new place"

2 Lessons are drawn without color so that a child can color them in

See the difference between particular colors

col·or·ful /ˈkʌlərfʊl/ adj having a lot of bright colors: a colorful stained-glass window — colorfully adv

The book includes 200 color photographs/pictures. — "The Wizard of Oz" was the first film shot in color.

"The color of my eyes is blue.
"The leaves were pale green in color.

2 [U] the quality of having colors: Flowers can add color to a patio or backyard.

3 [U] a substance such as paint or dye, that makes something red, blue, etc.: He mixed the colors with his paintbrush.

4 [C,U] how dark or light someone's skin is, which shows which race s/he belongs to: They are trying to bring together people of all colors and religions.

The awards will be given without discrimination based on color, religion, or sex.

5 people/men/women etc. of color people who are not white:

We need to get more women and people of color into elected office.

The awards will be given without discrimination based on color, religion, or sex.

5 people/men/women etc. of color people who are not white:

We need to get more women and people of color into elected office.
color: a colorless gas 2 not interesting or exciting cosmosal /ˈkɒsəʊsəl/ adj very large: They’ve run up colossal debts.

THESAURUS
big, large, substantial, sizable, prodigious, huge, enormous, vast, gigantic, massive, immense ➔ big cosmosus /ˈkɒsəʊsəs/ n. [C usually singular] someone or something that is very large or very important colt /ˈkɒlt/ n. [C] a young male horse coumm /ˈkʌm/ n. [C] 1 a tall solid round upright stone post used to support a building or as a decoration 2 an article by a particular writer that appears regularly in a newspaper or magazine: an advice column ➔ NEWSPAPER 3 something with a long narrow shape: a column of smoke 4 one of two or more areas of print that go down the page of a newspaper or book and that are separated from each other by a narrow space: Let’s look at the second column of table 8.5. 5 a long moving line of people, vehicles, etc.: A column of soldiers marched through the streets.

columnist /ˈkʌləʊnɪst, ‘kʌləʊnɪst/ n. [C] someone who regularly writes an article for a newspaper or magazine: a sports columnist ➔ NEWSPAPER

com /kʌm/ adj commercial organization — used in Internet addresses

com-man-d /ˈkʌmənd/ n. [C] a state in which someone is not conscious for a long time, usually after an accident or illness: Ben was in a coma for six days. [Origin: 1600—1700 Modern Latin, Greek koma “deep sleep”]

com-tous /ˈkʌmtəʊs/ n. as a “two by two”

comb /kʌmb/ n. 1 as a flat piece of plastic or metal with a row of thin parts like teeth on one side that you use to make your hair neat ➔ BRUSH comb /kʌmb/ v. [T] 1 to make your hair neat with a comb: Go comb your hair. 2 to search a place thoroughly: Police combed the woods for the missing boy.

comb /kəmb/ v. [T] 1 to try to stop something bad from happening or getting worse: efforts to combat terrorism comb-at /ˈkʌmbət/ n. [C] someone who fights in a war comb-a-tive /ˈkʌmbətɪv/ adj ready to fight or argue: Paul was in a combative mood.

comb-i-na-tion /ˌkʌmbəˈneɪʃən/ n. 1 [C U] two or more different things, substances, etc. that are used or put together; A combination of factors led to the decision. | The medication should be taken in combination with vitamin C.

THESAURUS
mixture, blend, compound, solution ➔ MIXTURE

2 [C] a series of numbers or letters you need to open a combination lock: I forgot the combination on my lock.

com-bina-tion lock n. [C] a lock that is opened by using a special series of numbers or letters combine /kəbˈbɪndaɪ/ v. 1 [I] to be joined together with another thing, or to join two or more things together: The two chemicals combine to form a powerful explosive. | The heat, combined with the loud music, was beginning to make her feel sick.

THESAURUS
mix, stir, blend, beat ➔ MIX

2 [T] to do two different activities at the same time: It’s hard to combine family life with a career. | [Origin: 1400—1500 French combiner, from Late Latin combine, from Latin com “together” + bin “two by two”] combine2 /kəbˈbɪndaɪ/ n. [C] 1 also combine harvester a large machine used on a farm to cut a crop and separate the grain at the same time 2 a group of people, businesses, etc. that work together combined /kəbˈbɪnd/ adj

comb-o /ˈkʌmbəʊ/ adj (plural combos) [C] a small group of musicians who play dance music: a jazz combo 2 a combination of things, especially food at a restaurant: I’ll have the fish combo and a Coke.

comb-tle /ˈkʌmbəl/ adj able to catch fire and burn easily: Gasoline is highly combustible. — combustible n. [C] comb-tion /ˈkʌmbəʃən/ n. [U] the process of burning

com-bustion re-action /rɪˈækʃən/ n. [C U] CHEMISTRY a chemical change that happens when a substance reacts with oxygen to produce energy in the form of heat and light come /kʌm/ v. (past tense came /kəm/, past participle come) [I]

1 MOVE TOWARD SB/STH to move toward you or arrive at the place where you are ➔ go: Come here right now! | A young woman came into the room. There were no cars coming the opposite way. What time will you be coming home?

THESAURUS
arrive, get to, reach, turn up, show up, get in, come in, land ➔ ARRIVE

2 GO WITH SB if someone comes with you, he goes to a place with you: I asked Rosie if she’d like to come with us. | Do you want to come along?

3 TRAVEL TO A PLACE to travel to or reach a place: He had come a long way to see us. | Will you be coming by bus?

4 MAIL if a letter, etc. comes, it is delivered to you in the mail: The phone bill hasn’t come yet.
5 happen if a time or event comes, it arrives or starts to happen: Spring came early that year.

6 list/competition etc. to have a particular position in the order of something: Jason came first/last in the 10-mile race. | P comes before Q in the alphabet.

7 come open/loose/undone etc. to become open, loose, etc.: The buttons had come undone.

8 be produced/sold to be produced or sold with particular features: This shoe doesn’t come in size 11.

9 come as a surprise/relief/shock etc. (to sb) to make someone feel surprised, believed, etc.: His decision to retire came as a surprise.

10 sb/sth has come a long way to have made a lot of progress: Computer technology has come a long way since the 1970s.

11 reach a length/height to reach a particular height or length: The grass came up to our knees.

12 come naturally/easily (to sb) to be easy for someone to do: Acting come naturally to Roe.

13 in the years/days to come in the future: I think you might regret this decision in the years to come.

14 come of age a) to reach the age, usually 18 or 21, when you are legally considered to be an adult b) to develop into a successful form, or to reach the time when this happens: The sport has finally come of age.

15 come and go to be allowed to go into and out of: If you want to come and go at will, why not say so?

16 how come? used in order to ask someone why something happened or is true: “She’s moving to Alaska.” “How come?” | So, how come we haven’t met your boyfriend yet?

17 here comes sb said when someone is about to arrive at the place where you are: Here comes Karen now.

18 come to think of it said when you have just realized or remembered something: Come to think of it, Cooper did mention it to me.

19 take sth as it comes to accept something as it happens, without trying to plan for it or change it: I’m not going to worry about it. I’ll just take each day as it comes.

20 have it coming to deserve to be punished or to have something bad happen to you: I don’t feel sorry for Brad – he had it coming.

[Origin: Old English cuman]

come about ppr. v. to happen or develop: How did this change come about?

come across ppr. v.
1 come across sb/sth to meet, find, or discover someone or something by chance: I came across this photograph among some old newspapers.

2 if someone comes across in a particular way, s/he seems to have certain qualities: She comes across as a really happy person.

come along ppr. v.
1 to appear or arrive: Jobs like this don’t come along very often!

2 to develop or improve: Terry’s work has really come along this year.

come apart ppr. v.
1 to split or separate easily into pieces: The book just came apart in my hands.

2 to begin to fail: Their marriage was coming apart.

come around ppr. v.
1 to visit someone: What’s a good time to come around and drop off this present?

2 if someone comes around, s/he decides to agree with you after disagreeing with you: I know he’ll come around.

3 if a regular event comes around, it happens as usual: I can’t believe his birthday is coming around already.

come at sb ppr. v. to move toward someone in a threatening way: She came at him with a knife.

come away ppr. v.
1 to leave a place with a particular feeling or idea: I came away with a good impression.

2 to become fashionable or popular again: The styles of the seventies are coming back.

come back ppr. v.
1 to return from a place: When is your sister coming back from Europe?

2 come back to sb to be remembered, especially suddenly: Then, everything Williams had said came back to me.

3 to become fashionable or popular again: The styles of the seventies are coming back.

come between sb/sth ppr. v.
1 to cause trouble between two or more people: Don’t let money come between you and David.

2 to prevent someone from giving enough attention to something: She never let anything come between her and her work.

come by ppr. v.
1 come by (sth) to visit someone for a short time before going somewhere else: I’ll come by later to pick up Katrina.

2 come by sth to get something that is difficult to get: Good jobs are hard to come by right now.

come down ppr. v.
1 a) to become lower in price, level, etc.: Wait until interest rates come down before you buy a house. b) to offer or accept a lower price: They refused to come down on the price.

2 to fall to the ground: A lot of trees came down in the storm.

3 if someone comes down to a place, s/he travels south to the place where you are: Why don’t you come down for the weekend sometime?

come down on sb/sth ppr. v.
1 to punish someone severely: The school came down hard on the students who were caught drinking.

2 come down on the side of sth to decide to come

192

support something or someone: The court came down on the side of the boy’s father.
come down to sth phr. v.
1 if a difficult or confusing situation comes down to something, that is the single most important thing:
It all comes down to money in the end.
come down with sth phr. v.
2 to get an illness: I think I’m coming down with the flu.
come forward phr. v.
3 to offer to help: Several witnesses have come forward with information.
come from sth phr. v.
4 1 to have been born in a particular place: “Where do you come from?” “Texas.”
5 2 to have first existed, been made, or produced in a particular place, thing, or time: A lot of medicines come from quite common plants. | The lines she read come from a Rilke poem.
come in for sth phr. v.
6 1 to be involved in a plan, deal, etc.: I need somebody to help, and that’s where you come in.
come in for criticism/blame to be criticized or blamed: All of medicines come in for criticism.
come into sth phr. v.
7 1 to enter a room or house: Come in and sit down.
come in for criticism/blame to be criticized or blamed: The court came in for criticism.
come into sth phr. v.
8 1 to have first existed, been made, or produced in a particular place, thing, or time: A lot of medicines come from quite common plants. | The lines she read come from a Rilke poem.
come into sth phr. v.
9 2 to be involved in a plan, deal, etc.: I need somebody to help, and that’s where you come in.
come into sth phr. v.
10 3 to get an illness: I think I’m coming down with the flu.
come forward phr. v.
11 3 to offer to help: Several witnesses have come forward with information.
come from sth phr. v.
12 1 to have been born in a particular place: “Where do you come from?” “Texas.”
come from sth phr. v.
13 2 to have first existed, been made, or produced in a particular place, thing, or time: A lot of medicines come from quite common plants. | The lines she read come from a Rilke poem.
come in for sth phr. v.
14 1 to be involved in a plan, deal, etc.: I need somebody to help, and that’s where you come in.
come in for criticism/blame to be criticized or blamed: All of medicines come in for criticism.
come into sth phr. v.
15 1 to enter a room or house: Come in and sit down.
come in for criticism/blame to be criticized or blamed: The court came in for criticism.
come into sth phr. v.
16 1 to have been born in a particular place: “Where do you come from?” “Texas.”
come from sth phr. v.
17 2 to have first existed, been made, or produced in a particular place, thing, or time: A lot of medicines come from quite common plants. | The lines she read come from a Rilke poem.
come in for sth phr. v.
18 1 to be involved in a plan, deal, etc.: I need somebody to help, and that’s where you come in.
come in for criticism/blame to be criticized or blamed: All of medicines come in for criticism.
come into sth phr. v.
19 1 to enter a room or house: Come in and sit down.
come in for criticism/blame to be criticized or blamed: The court came in for criticism.
come into sth phr. v.
20 1 to have been born in a particular place: “Where do you come from?” “Texas.”
come from sth phr. v.
21 2 to have first existed, been made, or produced in a particular place, thing, or time: A lot of medicines come from quite common plants. | The lines she read come from a Rilke poem.
come in for sth phr. v.
22 1 to be involved in a plan, deal, etc.: I need somebody to help, and that’s where you come in.
subject: She’s hopeless when it comes to money.
5 to become conscious again after having been unconscious: When I came to, I was lying on the grass.

come·back /'kʌmbæk/ n.
1 make a come-back to become popular or successful again: the stars are coming back.
2 if someone comes up to you, she comes close to you, especially in order to speak to you
3 to be mentioned or suggested: Something’s come up, so I won’t be able to go with you Thursday.

1 if someone comes up to place, she travels north to the place where you are: Why don’t you come up to Chicago for the weekend?
2 to be controlled or influenced by something such as a set of rules: All doctors come under the same rules of professional conduct.

come under sb/th pht shr v.
1 come under attack/fire/pressure etc. to be attacked, criticized, threatened, etc.: The president has come under fire from Democrats in Congress.
2 to be controlled or influenced by something such as a set of rules: All doctors come under the same rules of professional conduct.

1 come up against sb/sth phr v. (subject)
➔ to become conscious again after having been unconscious: When I came to, I was lying on the grass.
➔ come·back /ˈkʌmbæk/ n.
➔ come·up·pance /ˈkʌmpəpəns/ n. (singular) (informal) a punishment or something bad that happens to you, that you deserve: the story of a crook who finally gets his comeuppance
➔ com·fort /ˈkʌmfort/ n. 1 [U] a feeling of being physically relaxed and satisfied, so that nothing is hurting you, making you feel too hot or cold, etc.
➔ discomfort: the air-conditioned comfort of his car. We slept there in comfort. 2 [U] if someone or something gives you comfort, he, she, or it makes you feel happier when you are upset or worried: I took comfort from the fact that I had done my best. She turned to her church for comfort. 3 [be] a comfort to sb to help someone feel happier or less worried: Her children were a great comfort to her. 4 [U] a way of living in which you have everything you need to be happy: They had enough money to live in comfort. 5 comforts [plural] all the things that make your life easier and more comfortable: The beach cabin has all the comforts of home. [Origin: 1100—1200 Old French conforter, from Late Latin confortare "to strengthen"] ➔ too close for comfort at close
➔ comfort2 v. [T] to make someone feel less worried or unhappy, for example by saying kind things to him/her — comforting adj. — comfortably adv.
➔ com·fort·a·ble /ˈkʌmfortəbl/ adj. 1 something that is comfortable makes you feel physically relaxed: Remember to wear comfortable shoes. 2 if you are comfortable, you feel physically relaxed: Come in and make yourself comfortable. 3 not worried about what someone will do or about what will happen: I feel very comfortable with him. 4 having enough money to live on without worrying: We’re not rich, but we are comfortable. — comfortably adv.
➔ com·fort·er /ˈkʌmfortər/ n. [C] a thick cover for a bed ➔ see picture at BED
➔ com·fy /ˈkʌmfi/ adj. (spoken) comfortable
➔ com·ic /ˈkʌmɪk/ adj. funny or amusing: a comic actress | At least Marlene was there to give us comic relief (=make us laugh in a serious situation).
➔ comic2 n. [C] 1 a COMEDIAN 2 a COMIC BOOK 3 the COMICS [plural] the part of a newspaper that has COMIC STRIPS
➔ com·i·cal /ˈkʌmɪkəl/ adj. funny, especially in a strange or unexpected way — comically adv.
➔ comic book n. [C] a magazine that tells a story using pictures that are drawn like comic strips ➔ comic strip n. [C] a series of pictures that are drawn inside boxes and tell a story

THE SAURUS

funny, hilarious, hysterical, witty, amusing, humorous ➔ FUNNY

Latin cometa, from Greek kometes “long-haired, comet;” because of its long tail come-up·pan·ce /ˈkʌməpəns/ n. (singular) (informal) a punishment or something bad that happens to you, that you deserve: the story of a crook who finally gets his comeuppance

COMEDIAN /ˈkʌmədɪən/ n.
➔ comic strip n. [C] a series of pictures that are drawn inside boxes and tell a story coming

com-ing /ˈkæmɪŋ/ n. 1 the coming of sb/sth the time when something or someone arrives or begins: With the coming of the railroad, the town changed considerably. 2 comings and goings the movements of people as they arrive and leave places

com-ma /ˈkɑːmə/ (,) used in writing to show a short pause [Origin: 1500—1600 Latin “part of a sentence,” from Greek komma “part, clause,” from koptein “to cut”]

com-ma-end /ˈkɑːmənd/ v. 1 [T] to tell someone officially to do something, especially if you are a military leader, king, etc.: The captain commanded the crew to remain on the main deck. 2 [T] to get attention, respect, etc. because you are important or popular: He commands one of the highest fees in Hollywood.

com-man-dant /ˈkɑːmənt/ n. [C] the head of the military for the U.S. president in his position as the official representing the U.S. high rank who is in control of all the military organizations in a country or of a specific military activity: 2 Commander in Chief

com-man-der /ˈkɑːməndər/ n. [C] 1 an officer in charge of a military organization or group 2 an officer who has a middle rank in the Navy

com-mand in ‘chief n. [C] 1 someone of high rank who is in control of all the military organizations in a country or of a specific military activity 2 Commander in Chief

com-mand-ing /ˈkɑːməndɪŋ/ adj. [only before noun] 1 having authority or confidence that makes people respect and obey you: his commanding presence 2 being in a position from which you are likely to win a race or competition easily: Stevens has a commanding lead in the polls.

com-man-dment /ˈkɑːməndmənt/ n. [C] one of ten rules given by God in the Bible that tell people how they should behave

com-man-do /ˈkɑːməndɔ/ n. (plural commandos) [C] a soldier who is specially trained to make quick attacks into enemy areas

com-mem-o-rate /ˈkɑːməmərɪt/ v. [T] to remember someone or something by a special action, ceremony, object, etc.: The monument commemorates the soldiers who died during the Vietnam war. [Origin: 1600—1700 Latin, past participle of comminorare, from memoria “to remind of”]

com-mence /ˈkɑːməns/ v. [I,T] (formal) to begin: Work on the building will commence soon. | The trial commenced with the testimony of the first witness. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French commencer, from Vulgar Latin comministare, from Latin + initiare “to begin”]

com-mence-ment /ˈkɑːmənsmənt/ n. 1 [C,U] a ceremony at which college or high school students receive their diplomas 2 [U] the beginning of something: The Olympic torch will be carried into the stadium prior to the commencement of the games.

com-mend /ˈkɑːmənd/ v. [T] (formal) to praise someone or something publicly or formally: The three firefighters were commended for their bravery.

com-men-da-tion /ˈkɑːməntʃən/ n. [C] (formal) an honor or prize given to someone for being brave or successful

com-men-su-rate /ˈkɑːmənsərɪt/ adj. matching something else in size, quality, or length of time: The salary is commensurate with experience (=the salary for the job is higher if you have experience).

com-ment /ˈkəmənt/ n. 1 [CU] an opinion that you give about someone or something: Does anyone have any questions or comments? | He made rude comments about her. 2 no comment (spoken) said when you do not want to answer a question, especially in public: [Origin: 1300—1400 Late Latin commentum, from Latin, “invention,” from comminisci “to invent”]

com-mentary /ˈkəməntərɪ/ n. (plural commentaries) [C,U] a spoken description of an event, given while the event is happening, especially on the television or radio: the commentary on the World Series 2 a book or article that explains or discusses something, or the explanation itself: political commentary

com-mem-o-rate /ˈkɑːməmərɪt/ v. [T] to give an opinion about someone or something: The police have refused to comment on the case. | His teacher commented that his writing was poor.

THE SAURUS

begin, start, break out ➔

BEGIN

THE SAURUS

praise, congratulate, flatter, compliment sb/pay sb a compliment, extol ➔

PRAISE

THE SAURUS

praise, congratulate, flatter, compliment sb/pay sb a compliment, extol ➔

PRAISE

THE SAURUS

praise, congratulate, flatter, compliment sb/pay sb a compliment, extol ➔

PRAISE

THE SAURUS

praise, congratulate, flatter, compliment sb/pay sb a compliment, extol ➔

PRAISE

THE SAURUS

praise, congratulate, flatter, compliment sb/pay sb a compliment, extol ➔

PRAISE
commission

noun

1 someone on television or radio who describes an event as it is happening: a sports commentator
2 someone who knows a lot about a subject, and who writes about it or discusses it on the television or radio: political commentators [Origin: 1300—1400 Latin commentari “to comment,” from commissi “to invent”] commerce

noun

[U] the buying and selling of goods and services: interstate commerce (= among U.S. states) [Origin: 1500—1600 French, commercer, from com- “together” + merr- “things to be sold”] commission

verb

1 to do something wrong or illegal: Police still don’t know who committed the crime. 2 commit suicide to kill yourself deliberately 3 commit adultery if a married person commits adultery, she’s been with someone who is not his/her husband or wife. 4 to say that you will definitely do something: Going to the interview doesn’t commit you to anything. 5 to decide to use money, time, effort, etc. for a particular purpose: A lot of money has been committed to the project. [Origin: 1300—1400 Latin committere, from com- “together” + mittere “to send, put”] commercial

adjective

1 relating to business and the buying and selling of things: commercial activity 2 relating to making money or a profit: The movie was a commercial success/failure. —commercially adverb

commercialism

noun

[C] an advertisement on television or radio: TV commercials commissioner

noun

someone who is officially in charge of an organization: a police commissioner common

noun

1 someone on television or radio who describes an event as it is happening: a sports commentator
2 someone who knows a lot about a subject, and who writes about it or discusses it on the television or radio: political commentators

commercial

adjective

1 relating to business and the buying and selling of things: commercial activity 2 relating to making money or a profit: The movie was a commercial success/failure. —commercially adverb

commercialism

noun

[C] an advertisement on television or radio: TV commercials commercialization

noun

the selling of goods and services: (among U.S. states) commentator

noun

a person on television or radio who is someone on television or radio who describes an event as it is happening: a sports commentator 2 someone who knows a lot about a subject, and who writes about it or discusses it on the television or radio: political commentators

commentary

noun

1 someone who knows a lot about a subject, and who writes about it or discusses it on the television or radio: political commentators
2 someone on television or radio who describes an event as it is happening: a sports commentator

commentary

noun

1 someone who knows a lot about a subject, and who writes about it or discusses it on the television or radio: political commentators
2 someone on television or radio who describes an event as it is happening: a sports commentator
common

best for everyone in a society: They truly believed they were acting for the common good. 5 common knowledge something that everyone knows: It’s common knowledge that he’s an alcoholic. 6 ordinary and not special in any way: The song is a tribute to the common man. 7 ordinary people: [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French commun, from Latin communis “common”] common\(^2\) \(n\) 1 have sth in common (with sb/sth) to have the same interests, attitudes, etc. as someone else: Terry and I have a lot in common. 2 have sth in common (with sth) if objects or ideas have something in common, they share the same features: The two games have much in common. 3 [C] a word meaning a public park, used mostly in names: Boston Common.

common ‘cold’ \(n\) [C] a slight illness in which your throat hurts and it is difficult to breathe normally: [Syn: cold]

common denominator \(n\) [C usually singular] MATH a number that can be divided exactly by all the denominators (=bottom numbers) in a set of fractions common factor \(n\) [C] MATH a number that divides exactly into each of a set of two or more other numbers. For example, 3 is a common factor of 6, 12, and 18.

common-law \(adj\) common-law husband/wife someone you have lived with for a long time as if she was your husband or wife commonly \(adv\) often or usually: the most commonly used computer common noun \(n\) [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS a noun that is not the name of a particular person, place, or thing. For example, “book” and “sugar” are common nouns. ➔ ColLECTIVE noun, Proper noun common place \(n\) [U] sb/sth \(phr v\) (formal) willing or able to talk or give information: Divorce has become commonplace.

common ‘sense’ \(n\) [U] the ability to behave in a sensible way and make practical decisions: Use your common sense.

commonwealth \(n\) [C] politics a group of countries that are related politically or economically, for example the group of countries that have a strong relationship with Great Britain. 2 the official legal title of some U.S. states: The Commonwealth of Virginia 3 politics the official legal title of some places, such as Puerto Rico, that are governed by the U.S. but are not states common noise \(n\) [singular, U] sudden noisy activity or arguing: Everyone looked to see what was causing the commotion.

common noun \(adj\) shared by a group of people: a communal bathroom in the dorm common:\(^1\) \(v\) [k@’myun@’nIz@m] mATH \(s(=bottom numbers) in a set of fractions\) common man, common person \(n\) (plural communities) \(C\) a group of people who live in the same town or area: [Origin: 1600—1700 French, Medieval Latin communia, from Latin communis “common”] common\(^2\) \(v\) [k@’myun@’nIz@m] communique 1 to communicate with a person, god, or animal, especially in a mysterious way: 2 commune with nature to spend time in the countryside, enjoying it in a quiet peaceful way comm-uni-ca-bil-i-ty \(n\) \(k@’myun@k@ÔÎi\) \(Ac\) \(adj\) a communicable disease is one that can be passed on to other people: [Syn: infectious] comm-uni-ca-tion \(n\) \(k@’myun@’keIt\) \(Ac\) 1 \([i\] to exchange information or conversation with other people, using words, signs, writing, etc.: We communicate mostly by email. 2 \([l\] to express your thoughts or feelings clearly, so that other people understand them: A baby communicates its needs by crying. \([Origin: 1500—1600 Latin, past participle of communicare “to give information, take part,” from communis “common”]* comm-uni-ca-tive \(adj\) \(k@’myun@k@ÔÎv,\) I, T \(k@’myun@k@ÔIv,\) \(Ac\) \(adj\) very common or not unusual: Divorce has become commonplace.

com-mun-ion \(n\) \(k@’myun@’nIz@m\) n. also Holy Communion the Christian ceremony in which people eat bread and drink wine as signs of Christ’s body and blood

com-му-nist \(n\) \(k@’myun@’nIz@m\) \(Ac\) \(adj\) someone who is a member of a political party that supports communism, or who believes in communism: [Syn: communist]

com-му-ni-tу \(n\) \(k@’myun@’nIz@m\) \(Ac\) \(n\) (plural communities) \(C\) a group of people who live in the same town or area: The library serves the whole community. 2 a group of people who have the same interests, religion, race, etc.: Miami has a large Cuban community. | politicians who have close ties to the business community. | Most of the world’s scientific community now accept the theory. 3 sense of community the feeling that you belong to a group in which people work together and help each other: Teachers are working to build a sense of community in the school. | [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French communauté, from Latin communitas, from communis “common”].

community college n [C] a college that people can go to, usually for two years, in order to learn a skill or to prepare to go to another college or university community service n [U] work that some people do to help other people without being paid, especially as punishment for a crime | punishment commute1 /kəˈmyʊt/ v.1 [I] to travel regularly in order to get to work: Jerry commutes from Scarsdale to New York every day. 2 [T] LAW to change the punishment given to a criminal to one that is less severe: Her sentence was commuted from death to life imprisonment. [Origin: 1400—1500 Latin commutare “to exchange, change”].

commute2 n [C] usually singular the trip made to work every day: My morning commute takes 45 minutes.

com-mut-er /kəˈmyʊtər/ n. [C] someone who travels a long distance to work every day

com-pact1 /kəmˈpækt, kəmˈpækt/ adj small but arranged so that everything fits neatly into the available space: a compact car [Origin: 1300—1400 Latin compactus, past participle of compingere “to put together”].

com-pact2 /kəmˈpækt/ n. [C] 1 a small flat container with a mirror, containing powder for a woman’s face 2 a small car 3 LAW an agreement between two or more people, countries, etc. with laws or rules that they must obey

com-pact3 /kəmˈpækt/ v. [T] to press something together so that it becomes smaller or more solid

com-pa·ny /ˈkæmpənē/ n. | companies?

compare /kəmˈpær/ v.1 [T] to examine or show something to be different or similar: We went to compare the two car manufacturers.

com-par·a·tive /kəmˈpærətɪv/ adj. 1 showing what is different and similar between things of the same kind: a comparative study of European languages. 2 comparative comfort/freedom/wealth etc. comfort, freedom, etc. that is fairly good when measured or judged against something else, or against what the situation was before (relative: After a lifetime of poverty, his last few years were spent in comparative comfort.

com-par·a·tive·ly /kəmˈpærətɪvli/ adv. as compared to something else or to a previous state: The disease is comparatively rare.

com·pan·ion /ˈkæmpənɪən/ n. [C] someone you enjoy being with: Why don’t you come with me? I’ll stay here to keep you company (=be with you so you are not alone). 3 [U] one or more guests, or someone who is coming to see you: We’re having company tonight, so I want you back home by five. 4 [singular, U] the group of people that you are friends with or spend time with: I don’t like the company she keeps. 5 [C] a group of actors, dancers, or singers who work together: a ballet company [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French compagnie, from commain “company,” from Late Latin compagnia].

com·pan·ion·ship /ˈkæmpənɪənʃip/ n. work that someone does to help other people without being paid, especially as punishment for a crime | punishment

com·pan·ion·a·ble /ˈkæmpənɪənəbəl/ adj. pleasantly friendly: They sat in a companionable silence.

com·pan·ion·ship /ˈkæmpənɪənʃip/ n. [U] the state of being with someone so that you have someone to talk to and do not feel lonely: the need for companionship

com-pa·ny /ˈkæmpəni/ n. (plural companies) 1 [C] a business that makes or sells things or provides a service: What company do you work for? | insurance/software/phone companies

thesaurus

firm – a company that usually provides a service rather than producing goods: a law firm business – a company that often employs only a small number of people: She set up her own catering business. | small businesses corporation – a large company that often includes several smaller companies subsidiary – a company that is owned by a larger company

thesaurus

similar, like, alike, akin to sth, analogous, identical, matching | similar

com·par·a·tive

comparative

comparative

com-par-a-tive

com-par-a-tive

com-par-a-tive
to a few different stores to compare prices. | Compared to me, Al is tall. | The police compared the suspect’s fingerprints with those found at the crime scene.

THE SAURUS

make a comparison — to compare two or more people, situations, etc.: The article makes a comparison between Hemingway and Thoreau.

draw a parallel — to say that people or things are similar in some aspects: There are parallels that can be drawn between the two writers — they both grew up in the South.

draw an analogy (formal) — to say that two things or situations are similar, even though they may seem very different: Some people have drawn an analogy between poetry and mathematics.

contrast — to compare two things, situations, etc., in order to show how they are different from each other: In the novel, he contrasts the lives of two families living in New York.

make/draw a distinction — to emphasize that two things are very different: It is important to draw a distinction between people’s fear of crime and the actual amount of crime that really happens.

comparison /ˈkɒmpərɪʃn/ n. [U] a statement that something is similar to someone or something else: Critics have compared him to Robert De Niro. | The oranges out here don’t compare with (=are not as good as) the Florida ones.

compare /ˈkɑːmpər/ v. [T] to say that someone or something is similar to someone or something else: "C” makes a comparison between the two presidents.

com-part·ment /ˈkɑːmpərtmənt/ n. [C] a smaller enclosed space inside something larger: the overhead compartment on a plane.

com-part·men·tal·ize /ˈkɑːmpərˌməntəlайz/ v. [T] to divide things into separate groups.

com-par·i·son /ˈkɑːmpərɪʃn/ n. 1 [U] the process of comparing two people or things: In comparison with/to his brother, he’s really shy. | My last job was so boring that this one seems great by comparison.

com-pa·tri·ot /ˈkɑːmpətrɪət/ n. [C] someone who is from the same country as you: I met an English class with several of my compatriots.

com-pa·try·om·at /ˈkɑːmpətrɪəmət/ n. [C] a book that contains a complete collection of facts, figures, and other information on a particular subject.

com-pass /ˈkɑːmpəs/ n. [C] 1 an instrument that shows the direction you are traveling in, with an arrow that always points north. 2 Math an instrument with a sharp point, used for drawing circles or measuring distances on maps.

com-pa·tri·ot·ism /ˈkɑːmpətrɪətɪzəm/ n. [U] the state or quality of being a compatriot: He is a compatriot of mine.

com-par·i·son /ˈkɑːmpərɪʃn/ n. [U] a statement that someone or something is similar to someone or something else: They are compatriots of mine.

com-pa·tri·ots /ˈkɑːmpətrɪəts/ n. [C] someone from the same country as you: We met a compatriot on the bus.

com-pa·tri·ot·ism /ˈkɑːmpətrɪətɪzəm/ n. [U] the state or quality of being a compatriot: He is a compatriot of mine.

com-pa·tri·ots /ˈkɑːmpətrɪəts/ n. [C] someone from the same country as you: We met a compatriot on the bus.

com-pass /ˈkɑːmpəs/ n. [C] 1 an instrument that shows the direction you are traveling in, with an arrow that always points north. 2 Math an instrument with a sharp point, used for drawing circles or measuring distances on maps.

com-pa·tri·ot·ism /ˈkɑːmpətrɪətɪzəm/ n. [U] the state or quality of being a compatriot: He is a compatriot of mine.

com-pa·tri·ots /ˈkɑːmpətrɪəts/ n. [C] someone from the same country as you: We met a compatriot on the bus.

com-pa·tri·ot·ism /ˈkɑːmpətrɪətɪzəm/ n. [U] the state or quality of being a compatriot: He is a compatriot of mine.

com-pa·tri·ots /ˈkɑːmpətrɪəts/ n. [C] someone from the same country as you: We met a compatriot on the bus.
until there is one winner: a local volleyball tournament at Sunset Park.

context – a competition in which a judge or group of judges decides the winner: the school’s essay contest.

playoff – a game or series of games played by the best teams or players in a sports competition, in order to decide the final winner: The Yankees have often made the playoffs. | the divisional playoff game against San Francisco.

com·pet·i·tive

adj. 1 determined to be more successful than other people or companies: Steve’s very competitive. | What can we do to maintain our competitive edge (=ability to be more successful)? 2 relating to competition: competitive sports | Advertising is a highly competitive industry. 3 competitive prices or products are cheaper than others but still of good quality.

—competitiveness n. [U]

com·pet·i·tor

n. [C] a person, team, company, etc. that is competing with another one: Last year they sold twice as many computers as their main competitor.

com·pi·la·tion

n. 1 [C] a book, list, record, etc. that consists of different pieces of information, music, etc.: a compilation of love songs 2 [U] the process of making a book, list, record, etc. from different pieces of information, music, etc.: the compilation of the report.

com·pile

v. [T] to make a book, list, record, etc. using different pieces of information, music, etc.: The report is compiled from a survey of 5,000 households. | It took several months to compile the database. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French compiler, from Latin compilare "to seize together, steal].

com·pla·cent

adj. 1 placency and constantly strive to improve. Successful companies avoid complacency and constantly strive to improve. 2 hardly ever saw me, because I was working too much. | My kids complained that they hardly ever saw me, because I was working too much. | She complained to the manager. 2 I can’t complain (spoken) said when you think a situation is satisfactory even though there may be a few problems: I still don’t feel too great, but I can’t complain. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French complaître, from Vulgar Latin complângere].

com·pen·sa·tion

n. 1 [U] money that someone is given because s/he has suffered injury, loss, or damage: The firm will compensate workers for their loss of earnings. | The fund was set up to compensate victims of the disaster. | [Origin: 1600—1700 Latin, past participle of compensate, from compendiare "to weigh together"] —compensatory adj. The court awarded Ms. Jones $2 million in compensation for the injuries.

com·pe·te

v. [I] to try to win or gain something, to try to be better or more successful than someone else: How many runners will be competing in the race? | We just can’t compete with big companies like theirs. | The stores are competing for customers.

com·pe·ten·cy

adj. having enough skill or knowledge to do something to a satisfactory standard: A competent mechanic should be able to compete with other mechanics. | [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French compiter, from Latin compete, from French, Latin, present participle of competere "to compete"] —competently adv.

com·pe·ted

adj. 1 competing interests/demands/claims, etc., two or more interests, claims, etc. that cannot both be right: 2 competing products, products, etc. that are trying to be more successful than each other.

com·pe·ti·tion

n. 1 [singular, U] a situation in which people or organizations compete with each other: The competition between the two sisters is obvious. | Competition for the job was intense. | Prices have gone down due to competition among the airlines. | 2 [singular, U] the people or groups that are competing against you, especially you: You’ll have no competition. | Our aim is to be better than the competition. 3 [C] an organized event in which people or teams compete against each other: a dancing competition | He decided to enter the competition. | Who won the competition?

com·pen·sate

v. [T] to pay someone money because s/he has suffered injury, loss, or damage: The firm will compensate workers for their loss of earnings. | The fund was set up to compensate victims of the disaster. | [Origin: 1600—1700 Latin, past participle of compensate, from compendiare "to weigh together"] —compensatory adj. The court awarded Ms. Jones $2 million in compensation for the injuries.

com-pen-sa-tion

n. 1 [U] money that someone is given because s/he has suffered injury, loss, or damage: The firm will compensate workers for their loss of earnings. | The fund was set up to compensate victims of the disaster. | [Origin: 1600—1700 Latin, past participle of compensate, from compendiare "to weigh together"] —compensatory adj. The court awarded Ms. Jones $2 million in compensation for the injuries.

com·pe·tent

adj. 1 having enough skill or knowledge to do something to a satisfactory standard: A competent mechanic should be able to compete with other mechanics. | [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French compiter, from Latin compete, from French, Latin, present participle of competere "to compete"] —competently adv. | A competent mechanic should be able to compete with other mechanics.

com·pen·si·ta·tory

adj. from Latin compensare, from compendiare "to weigh together"

com·ple·ment

n. 1 [U] something that makes a bad situation seem better: One of the few compensations of losing my job was seeing more of my family. | The symptoms of diabetes are controlled with medicine, diet, and self-care. | The symptoms are managed through diet, medication, and self-care. | [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French complimenter, from Old French completier, from Vulgar Latin completiare, from Latin completus, past participle of completer, from Latin completere "to complete"]

com·plai·nance

n. 1 a feeling of satisfaction with a situation or with what you have achieved, so that you stop trying to improve or change things: Successful companies avoid complacency and constantly strive to improve. 2 I can’t complain (spoken) said when you think a situation is satisfactory even though there may be a few problems: I still don’t feel too great, but I can’t complain. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French complaître, from Vulgar Latin complângere].

com·plain

v. [I, T] to say that you are annoyed, satisfied, or unhappy about something or someone: Fred’s always complaining about something. My kids complained that they hardly ever saw me, because I was working too much. | She complained to the manager. 2 I can’t complain (spoken) said when you think a situation is satisfactory even though there may be a few problems: I still don’t feel too great, but I can’t complain. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French complaître, from Vulgar Latin complângere].

com·pliant

adj. 1 complying with the requests: She complied with the request. | They complied with our demands. [Origin: 1600—1700 Latin, past participle of compliant, from Latin complacere, from complacere "to please"] —compliance n. [U] complaint

complain of [str phr v] to say that you feel sick or have a pain in a part of your body: He complained of stomach pain.

complaint /kəmˈplɛnt/ n [C/U] a statement in which someone complains about something: We’ve received a large number of complaints from customers. | There have been complaints about the quality of her work. | complaints against the police 2 [C] saw a formal statement saying that someone is guilty of a crime: She has filed a formal complaint against her employer, alleging sexual harassment.

complementary /ˌkɒmpləˈmɛntərɪ/ adj: part of two colors that produce white or gray when they are mixed, for example red and green completeness n [U] 1 a state of being finished, or the act of finishing something: The construction is nearing completion. | the completion of the $80 million project completing the ‘square’ n [U] MATH a method for changing the form of a quadratic equation so that it is easier to solve complex /ˈkɒmplɪks/ n [C] 1 a group of buildings or one large building used for a particular purpose: a new shopping complex 2 an emotional problem in which someone is too anxious about something or thinks too much about it: Linda has a complex about her appearance complex conjugate also complex conjugate ‘number’ n [C] MATH either of a pair of complex numbers that have the same real number parts but opposite imaginary number parts. For example, a + bi is the complex conjugate of a – bi complex ‘fraction’ n [C] MATH a fraction (=number such as ½ or ⅓) in which either the numerator or denominator is a complex number complete /kəmˈplɪt/ v [T] 1 to finish doing or making something: The book took five years to complete. 2 to make something whole or perfect by adding what is missing: I need one more stamp to complete my collection. 3 to write the information that is needed on a form: 65 people completed the questionnaire.

completely-ly /ˈkɒmplɪtli/ adv in every way or to the greatest degree possible: I completely forgot about her birthday.

complementary angles n plural two angles whose total is 90° that produce white or gray when they are mixed, for example red and green complete with sth having particular equipment or features: The house comes complete with a swimming pool. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French compler, from Latin, past participle of completere “to fill up”] —completeness n [U] 1 Fifteen men were arrested for complicity in the lynching. 2 (formal) involvement in or knowledge of a situation that is morally wrong or dishonest: None of these terrible events could have happened without the complicity of the state. —complicit adj.

complicate /kəmˈplɪkɪt/ n. 1 [C] something that makes something more difficult to understand or deal with: The drop in student numbers added further complications. 2 adj. made up of different parts or materials: a composite drawing —composite n. [C] composition

com·po·si·tion /ˌkämpəˈziʃən/ n. 1 [U] the way in which something is made up of different parts, things, or people: the chemical composition of soil 2 a) [U] the art or process of writing music, a poem, or an essay, etc. b) [C] a piece of music, or art, or a poem: one of Beethoven’s early compositions 3 [U] the way in which the different parts of a painting or photograph are arranged 4 [C, U] a short piece of writing about a particular subject, that is done by a student

com·post /ˈkɑmpəst/ n. [U] a mixture of decayed leaves, plants, etc. used for improving the quality of soil

com·po·sure /ˌkɑmpəˈzʊr/ n. [singular, U] a calm feeling that you have when you feel confident about dealing with a situation: She stopped crying and regained her composure

com·ound /ˈkɑmpənd/ n. [C] 1 CHEMISTRY a chemical compound is a substance that consists of two or more different substances: Organic compounds have been found in meteorites. | Sulfur dioxide is a compound of sulfur and oxygen.

com·pre·hen·si·ble /ˌkɑmpriˈhɛnsəbl/ adj. easy to understand (not incomprehensible): The book explains the process in language that is comprehensible to the average reader.

com·pre·hen·si·on /ˌkɑmpriˈhenʃən/ n. [U] the ability to understand something, or knowledge about something: The complexities of the situation are beyond my comprehension (impossible for me to understand). | a test of reading/listening comprehension (= student’s ability to understand written or spoken language)

com·pre·hen·sive /ˌkɑmpriˈhɛnsiv/ adj. including everything that is necessary: comprehensive health insurance | a comprehensive study of the city’s public transportation system

com·press /ˌkɑmprib/ v. 1 [T] to press something or make it smaller so that it takes up less space: This program compresses computer files so they can be easily sent by email.

com·pre·hen·si·ble /ˌkɑmpriˈhɛnsəbl/ adj. easy to understand (not incomprehensible): The book explains the process in language that is comprehensible to the average reader.

com·pre·hen·si·on /ˌkɑmpriˈhenʃən/ n. [U] the ability to understand something, or knowledge about something: The complexities of the situation are beyond my comprehension (impossible for me to understand). | a test of reading/listening comprehension (= student’s ability to understand written or spoken language)

com·pre·hen·sive /ˌkɑmpriˈhɛnsiv/ adj. including everything that is necessary: comprehensive health insurance | a comprehensive study of the city’s public transportation system

com·pre·hen·si·ble /ˌkɑmpriˈhɛnsəbl/ adj. easy to understand (not incomprehensible): The book explains the process in language that is comprehensible to the average reader.

com·pre·hen·si·on /ˌkɑmpriˈhenʃən/ n. [U] the ability to understand something, or knowledge about something: The complexities of the situation are beyond my comprehension (impossible for me to understand). | a test of reading/listening comprehension (= student’s ability to understand written or spoken language)

com·pre·hen·sive /ˌkɑmpriˈhɛnsiv/ adj. including everything that is necessary: comprehensive health insurance | a comprehensive study of the city’s public transportation system

com·pre·hen·si·ble /ˌkɑmpriˈhɛnsəbl/ adj. easy to understand (not incomprehensible): The book explains the process in language that is comprehensible to the average reader.
comp time /kəmpˈtaɪm/ n [U] vacation time that you are given instead of money because you have worked more hours than you should have.

compulsive /kəmˈpʌlsɪv/ adj 1 compulsive behavior is very difficult to stop or control: compulsive liar/gambler etc. someone who has a strong desire to lie, etc. which s/he cannot control —compulsively adv.

compulsory /kəmˈpʌlsəri/ adj if something is compulsory, it must be done because of a rule or law (ANT) voluntary: compulsory military service.

compunction about (doing) sth (formal) to not feel guilty or sorry about something although other people may think that it is wrong: He seemed to feel no compunction about lying to us.

compute /kəmˈpjuːt/ v [T] (formal) to calculate an answer, total, result, etc.: The machine can compute the time it takes a sound wave to bounce back —computation /kəmˈpuːtʃən/ n [C] U: He is below average in spelling and math computation. The software is able to perform (do) complex computations.

computer /kəmˈpjuːtər/ n [C] 1 an electronic machine that stores information and uses programs to help you find, organize, or change the information: laptop, PC. I can’t get the program to work on my computer. We do all our work on computer. Our office has switched to a different computer system. the latest computer software —computerization /kəmˈpuːtərizəˈneɪʃən/ n [U]

comp time /kəmpˈtaɪm/ n [U] vacation time that you are given instead of money because you have worked more hours than you should have.

compulsive /kəmˈpʌlsɪv/ adj 1 compulsive behavior is very difficult to stop or control: compulsive liar/gambler etc. someone who has a strong desire to lie, etc. which s/he cannot control —compulsively adv.

compulsory /kəmˈpʌlsəri/ adj if something is compulsory, it must be done because of a rule or law (ANT) voluntary: compulsory military service.

compunction about (doing) sth (formal) to not feel guilty or sorry about something although other people may think that it is wrong: He seemed to feel no compunction about lying to us.

compute /kəmˈpjuːt/ v [T] (formal) to calculate an answer, total, result, etc.: The machine can compute the time it takes a sound wave to bounce back —computation /kəmˈpuːtʃən/ n [C] U: He is below average in spelling and math computation. The software is able to perform (do) complex computations.

computer /kəmˈpjuːtər/ n [C] 1 an electronic machine that stores information and uses programs to help you find, organize, or change the information: laptop, PC. I can’t get the program to work on my computer. We do all our work on computer. Our office has switched to a different computer system. the latest computer software —computerization /kəmˈpuːtərizəˈneɪʃən/ n [U]

comp time /kəmpˈtaɪm/ n [U] vacation time that you are given instead of money because you have worked more hours than you should have.

compulsive /kəmˈpʌlsɪv/ adj 1 compulsive behavior is very difficult to stop or control: compulsive liar/gambler etc. someone who has a strong desire to lie, etc. which s/he cannot control —compulsively adv.

compulsory /kəmˈpʌlsəri/ adj if something is compulsory, it must be done because of a rule or law (ANT) voluntary: compulsory military service.

compunction about (doing) sth (formal) to not feel guilty or sorry about something although other people may think that it is wrong: He seemed to feel no compunction about lying to us.

compute /kəmˈpjuːt/ v [T] (formal) to calculate an answer, total, result, etc.: The machine can compute the time it takes a sound wave to bounce back —computation /kəmˈpuːtʃən/ n [C] U: He is below average in spelling and math computation. The software is able to perform (do) complex computations.

computer /kəmˈpjuːtər/ n [C] 1 an electronic machine that stores information and uses programs to help you find, organize, or change the information: laptop, PC. I can’t get the program to work on my computer. We do all our work on computer. Our office has switched to a different computer system. the latest computer software —computerization /kəmˈpuːtərizəˈneɪʃən/ n [U]

comp time /kəmpˈtaɪm/ n [U] vacation time that you are given instead of money because you have worked more hours than you should have.

compulsive /kəmˈpʌlsɪv/ adj 1 compulsive behavior is very difficult to stop or control: compulsive liar/gambler etc. someone who has a strong desire to lie, etc. which s/he cannot control —compulsively adv.

compulsory /kəmˈpʌlsəri/ adj if something is compulsory, it must be done because of a rule or law (ANT) voluntary: compulsory military service.

compunction about (doing) sth (formal) to not feel guilty or sorry about something although other people may think that it is wrong: He seemed to feel no compunction about lying to us.

compute /kəmˈpjuːt/ v [T] (formal) to calculate an answer, total, result, etc.: The machine can compute the time it takes a sound wave to bounce back —computation /kəmˈpuːtʃən/ n [C] U: He is below average in spelling and math computation. The software is able to perform (do) complex computations.

computer /kəmˈpjuːtər/ n [C] 1 an electronic machine that stores information and uses programs to help you find, organize, or change the information: laptop, PC. I can’t get the program to work on my computer. We do all our work on computer. Our office has switched to a different computer system. the latest computer software —computerization /kəmˈpuːtərizəˈneɪʃən/ n [U]

comp time /kəmpˈtaɪm/ n [U] vacation time that you are given instead of money because you have worked more hours than you should have.

compulsive /kəmˈpʌlsɪv/ adj 1 compulsive behavior is very difficult to stop or control: compulsive liar/gambler etc. someone who has a strong desire to lie, etc. which s/he cannot control —compulsively adv.

compulsory /kəmˈpʌlsəri/ adj if something is compulsory, it must be done because of a rule or law (ANT) voluntary: compulsory military service.

compunction about (doing) sth (formal) to not feel guilty or sorry about something although other people may think that it is wrong: He seemed to feel no compunction about lying to us.

compute /kəmˈpjuːt/ v [T] (formal) to calculate an answer, total, result, etc.: The machine can compute the time it takes a sound wave to bounce back —computation /kəmˈpuːtʃən/ n [C] U: He is below average in spelling and math computation. The software is able to perform (do) complex computations.

computer /kəmˈpjuːtər/ n [C] 1 an electronic machine that stores information and uses programs to help you find, organize, or change the information: laptop, PC. I can’t get the program to work on my computer. We do all our work on computer. Our office has switched to a different computer system. the latest computer software —computerization /kəmˈpuːtərizəˈneɪʃən/ n [U]

comp time /kəmpˈtaɪm/ n [U] vacation time that you are given instead of money because you have worked more hours than you should have.
conceivable
what you can do, how you look, etc.: I don’t want to seem conceited, but I know I’ll win.

THE SAURUS
| proud, big-headed, vain, arrogant, stuck-up, egotistical, haughtily ➔ | PROUD | conceivable adj able to be believed or imagined [ANT] inconceivable; It is conceivable that the experts could be wrong. | Doctors looked at every conceivable cause of her illness. —conceivably adv conceive /kənˈsɪv/ (Ac) v 1 [I,T] to imagine a situation or what something is like: It is impossible to conceive of the size of the universe. | I can hardly conceive what it would be like to live in the Antarctic during winter. | At that time, the Native American people had heard about life in a city, but they could not conceive it. 2 [I] to think of a new idea or plan: It was Dr. Salt who conceived the idea of a polo vaccine.

THE SAURUS
| invent, create, think up, come up with sth, devise, make up, dream up ➔ | INVENT |

3 [I,T] BIOLOGY to become pregnant ➔ CONCEPTION: Ben and Tracy are hoping to conceive a second child soon. [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French conceive, from Latin concipere “to take in, conceive”] concentrate /kənˈsɛntrɪt/ (Ac) v 1 [I] to think very carefully about something you are doing: With all this noise, it’s hard to concentrate. | Children with attention deficit disorder find it difficult to concentrate on their work. 2 be concentrated in/on/at etc. sth to be present in large numbers or amounts in a particular place: Most of the state’s population is concentrated in the cities.

THE SAURUS
| to be present in large numbers, or amounts in a particular place: | CONCENTRATION |

concentrate on sth phr.v. to give most of your attention to one thing: I want to concentrate on my career for a while before I have kids. | The authorities are concentrating their efforts on preventing the disease spreading.

concentrate n. [C,U] a substance or liquid that has been made stronger by removing most of the water from it: orange juice concentrate

THE SAURUS
| idea, theory, hypothesis ➔ | IDEA |

concentrated adj 1 showing a lot of determination or effort: He made a concentrated effort to raise his grades. 2 a substance that is concentrated has been made stronger by removing most of the water from it: a concentrated detergent. | Heating the substance produced a concentrated solution containing sodium and calcium chlorides.

concentration /kənˈsɛntrəʃən/ (Ac) n 1 [U] the act of thinking very carefully about something that you are doing: The children got tired and lost their concentration. 2 [U] a process in which you put a lot of attention, energy, etc., into a particular activity: There was too much concentration on one type of industry. 3 [C,U] a large amount of something in a particular place: This concentration of industry has made the province one of the most polluted regions of China. | Workers were exposed to huge concentrations of asbestos. 4 [C] CHEMISTRY the amount of a substance contained in a liquid: Tests showed high concentrations of minerals in the water.

concentrated detergent /kənˈsɛntrət dɛˈʒərt/ (Ac) a substance that is concentrated has been made stronger by removing most of the water from it: concentrated detergent concentrated solution /kənˈsɛntrət ˈsəljuˈʃən/ (Ac) a solution that is concentrated has been made stronger by removing most of the water from it: concentrated solution concentric /kənˈsɛntrik/ adj MATH concentric circles are of different sizes and have the same center [Origin: 1300—1400 Medieval Latin concentricus, from Latin com- “together” + centrum “center”] conception /kənˈsepʃən/ (Ac) n 1 [C] a general idea about what something is like, or a way of understanding what something is like: One common conception of democracy is that it means “government by the people.” 2 [U] BIOLOGY the process by which a woman or female animal becomes pregnant, or the time when this happens ➔ CONCEIVE conceptual adj (formal) relating to ideas, or based on them, and not yet real: The plans are in the conceptual stage.

concern /kənˈsɜr/ n 1 [U] a feeling of worry about something important: There is growing concern about ocean pollution. | There is concern that the war could continue for a long time. | The police officer said that there was no cause for concern. 2 [C] something important that worries you or involves you: The destruction of the rainforest is a concern to us all. | Our main/primary major concern is safety.

concern v [T] 1 to affect someone or involve him/her: What we're planning doesn't concern you. 2 to make someone feel worried or upset: My daughter's problems at school concern me greatly. 3 to be about something or someone: Most of her books concern the problems of growing up. 4 concern yourself (with sth) to become involved in something that interests or worries you: You don't need to concern yourself with this, Jan.

concerned /kənˈsɜːnd/ adj. 1 [not before noun] involved in something or affected by it: It was a shock for all involved (everyone involved). | Everyone concerned with the car industry will be interested. 2 worried about something important: We're concerned about the results of the test. | all concerned concerning prep (formal) about or relating to something: We have questions concerning the report.

concert /ˈkɔnˌsɛrkt/ n. [C] 1 a performance given by musicians or singers: a rock concert | We went to a concert last night. 2 in concert  a) playing or singing at a concert. b) (formal) done together with someone else: Police are working in concert with local businesses. [Origin: 1500—1600 French, Italian concertto, from concertare, from Latin, “to fight, compete”] concerted /kənˈsɜːrtid/ adj. a concerted effort/action/attempt etc. something that is done by people working together in a determined way: Libraries have made a concerted effort to attract young people.

conference /kənˈfərəns/ n. (plural conferences) [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS a piece of CLASSICAL MUSIC, usually for one instrument and an ORCHESTRA.

concession /kənˈsɛfʃən/ n. [C] 1 something that you do in order to end an argument: Neither side is willing to make concessions on the issue of pay. 2 a special right given to someone by the government, an employer, etc.: tax concessions for married people 3 the right to have a business in a particular place, especially in a place owned by someone else concession stand n. [C] a small business that sells food, drinks, and other things at sports events, theaters, etc.

concierto /ˌkɒnˈsɛrtoʊ/ n. [C] 1 a performance given by musicians or singers: a rock concerto | from Latin, “to fight, compete”| Italian concerto usually for one instrument and an orchestra, played by musicians or singers: a concerto for violin and piano, with orchestra conclusive /kənˈkljuːsɪv/ adj. showing that something is definitely true: There is no conclusive evidence connecting him with the crime. | conclusively adv.: The theory has not been proved conclusively.

concoct /kənˈkɒkt/ v. [T] 1 to invent a false explanation or illegal plan: She concocted a story about her mother being sick. | He concocted a scheme to rob the bank. 2 to make something concomitant

unusual by mixing different things together [Origin: 1500—1600 Latin, past participle of concoquere "to cook together"]

con-com-i-tant

concord

concomitant

Concrete noun: a noun that names a physical thing, animal, or person you are able to hear, see, smell, touch, or taste. For example, "book" and "child" are concrete nouns.

concrete evidence

Concrete evidence is evidence that is based on facts, not on beliefs or guesses. We need concrete evidence to prove that he did it.

concrete

Concrete is a substance used for building that is made by mixing sand, water, small stones, and cement.

condemer

Politicians were quick to condemn the war.

condemnation

An expression of very strong disapproval: international condemnation of the war.

condemn

To force someone to live in an unpleasant way or to suffer: families who are condemned to a life of poverty.

condemn

To say very strongly that you do not approve of someone or something: Politicians were quick to condemn the bombing.

condition

A condition is a particular state that someone or something is in: the condition of the roads.

condition

The war condemnations of the police were morally repugnant.

condition

You will be killed if you step out of line.

condition

We offered him a job on condition that he stay put.

conditioned

The bank sets strict conditions for loans.

condense

To make something shorter by using fewer words to say the same thing: 3 [T] to make a liquid thicker by removing some of the water from it: condensed soup.

condensation

The murderer was condemned to death.

condemnation of

to give as a very punishment to someone who is guilty of a crime: The murderer was condemned to death.

condition

Two employees agreed to speak to the medical board.

condition

He remained in a condition of misery.

condition

Poor conditions are part of their daily lives.

condition

The roads were in a bad condition.

concurrent

Concurrent lines are two or more lines that pass through the same single point.

concur

Two trends were concurrent during World War II.

concurrence

Concurrence is agreement: concurrent opinions.

condition

The school board voted to close schools until conditions improved.

condition

Two employees agreed to speak to the medical board.

condition

Poor conditions are part of their daily lives.

condition

The roads were in a bad condition.

condition

The school board voted to close schools until conditions improved.

condition

Two employees agreed to speak to the medical board.

condition

Poor conditions are part of their daily lives.

condition

The roads were in a bad condition.

condition

The school board voted to close schools until conditions improved.

condition

Two employees agreed to speak to the medical board.

condition

Poor conditions are part of their daily lives.

condition

The roads were in a bad condition.

condition

The school board voted to close schools until conditions improved.

condition

Two employees agreed to speak to the medical board.

condition

Poor conditions are part of their daily lives.

condition

The roads were in a bad condition.

condition

The school board voted to close schools until conditions improved.

condition

Two employees agreed to speak to the medical board.

condition

Poor conditions are part of their daily lives.

condition

The roads were in a bad condition.

condition

The school board voted to close schools until conditions improved.

condition

Two employees agreed to speak to the medical board.

condition

Poor conditions are part of their daily lives.

condition

The roads were in a bad condition.

condition

The school board voted to close schools until conditions improved.
condo /ˈkʌndəʊ/ n. 1 [C] a building that consists of separate apartments, each of which is owned by the people living in it, or one of these apartments → HOUSE condominium /ˈkʌndəmɪnjuː/ n. 1 [U] SOCIAL SCIENCE the process by which people or animals learn to behave in a particular way: social conditioning condo /ˈkʌndəʊ/ n. (plural condos) [C] (informal) a CONDOMINIUM → HOUSE condo-lence /ˈkʌndələns/ n. [C] usually plural, U sympathy for someone when someone s/he loves has died: Please offer my condolences to your mother. [ORIGIN: 1600—1700 Late Latin condolere “to express sympathy,” from Latin compelus “with” + dolere “to feel pain”] condom /ˈkʌndəʊm/ n. [C] a thin piece of rubber that a man wears over his PENIS during sex, to prevent a woman from becoming PREGNANT or to protect against disease condo-min-i-um /ˈkʌndəmɪnɪəm/ n. [C] a building that consists of separate apartments, each of which is owned by the people living in it, or one of these apartments → HOUSE [ORIGIN: 1700—1800 Modern Latin, Latin com- + dominium “area ruled”] condone /ˈkʌndəʊn/ v. [T] to accept or allow behavior that most people think is wrong: I cannot condone the use of violence. [ORIGIN: 1800—1900 Latin condonare “to forgive”] condo-lence /ˈkʌndələns/ n. 1 [U] SOCIAL SCIENCE the process by which people or animals learn to behave in a particular way: social conditioning conde-rior /ˈkʌndərɪər/ n. 1 [C] a liquid that you put on your hair when you wash it in order to make it healthy and easy to comb condo-ting /ˈkʌndətɪŋ/ n. [U] SOCIAL SCIENCE the process by which people or animals learn to behave in a particular way: social conditioning condo-tion-al /ˈkʌndəʃənəl/ adj. 1 if an offer, agreement, etc. is conditional, it only will be done if something else happens: Our buying the house is conditional on our loan approval. 2 ENG. LANG. ARTS a conditional sentence is one that usually begins with “if” or “unless,” and states something that must be true or must happen before something else can be true or happen conditional /ˈkʌndəʃənəl/ n. 1 the conditional ENG. LANG. ARTS in grammar, the form of the verb that expresses something that must be true or that happens before something else can be true or happen: 2 [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS a conditional sentence or CLAUSE condo-tion-er /ˈkʌndəʃənər/ n. [C] a liquid that you put on your hair when you wash it in order to make it healthy and easy to comb condo-tion-ing /ˈkʌndəʃənɪŋ/ n. [U] SOCIAL SCIENCE the process by which people or animals learn to behave in a particular way: social conditioning condo-do /ˈkʌndədəʊ/ v. [T] to provide conditions that make it easier to do something: The sunny climate is conducive to outdoor activities.

condo-duce /ˈkʌndədjuːs/ v. [I] to do something in an organized way, especially in order to get information or prove facts: The District Attorney’s office is conducting the investigation. I don’t think it’s right to conduct experiments/tests on animals, 2 [I] to stand in front of a group of musicians or singers and direct their playing or singing: the Boston Pops Orchestra, conducted by John Williams. 3 [I] if something conducts electricity or heat, it allows the electricity or heat to travel along or through it: Metal conducts electricity easily but plastic does not. 4 conduct yourself (formal) to behave in a particular way: He conducted himself well in the job interview. [ORIGIN: 1400—1500 Latin conductus, past participle of conducere “to lead or bring together”] conduc-t /ˈkʌndəkt/ v. 1 [T] to do something in an organized way, especially in order to get information or prove facts: The District Attorney’s office is conducting the investigation. I don’t think it’s right to conduct experiments/tests on animals, 2 [I] to stand in front of a group of musicians or singers and direct their playing or singing: the Boston Pops Orchestra, conducted by John Williams. 3 [I] if something conducts electricity or heat, it allows the electricity or heat to travel along or through it: Metal conducts electricity easily but plastic does not. 4 conduct yourself (formal) to behave in a particular way: He conducted himself well in the job interview. [ORIGIN: 1400—1500 Latin conductus, past participle of conducere “to lead or bring together”] conducive /kənˈdɔktɪv/ adj. 1 if a substance is conducive to outdoor activities, it allows electricity or heat to travel along or through it: Metal conducts electricity easily but plastic does not. 2 the way a business, activity, etc. is organized and done: Democrats have been critical of the conduct of the hearings.

conduc-tion /ˈkʌndəkʃən/ n. 1 [U] PHYSICS the process by which energy, in the form of heat, sound, or electricity, passes through a substance or object without movement in the substance or object, for example heat passing through metal conduc-tiv-ity /ˌkʌndəkˈtɪvəti/ n. [U] PHYSICS the degree to which something allows electricity or heat to travel along or through it conduc-tor /ˈkʌndəktər/ n. 1 [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS someone who conducts a group of musicians or singers 2 PHYSICS something that allows electricity or heat to travel along it or through it 3 someone who is in charge of a train or the workers on it condu-it /ˈkʌndjuːt/ n. 1 [C] a pipe or passage through which water, gas, electric wires, etc. pass 2 a connection that allows people to pass ideas, news, money, weapons, etc. from one place to another: The Internet is a tremendous conduit for information.

cone /kaʊn/ n. 1 [C] a hollow or solid object with a round base and a point at the top: an orange traffic cone 2 a hard thin cookie, shaped like a cone, that you put inside a cone, to make ice cream into → ice cream cone 3 BIOLOGY the hard brown fruit of a PINE or FIR tree → ice picture at PLAN con-fe-c-tion /ˈkʌnˌfɛkʃən/ n. 1 [U] informal 1 something sweet and decorated, such as candy or cake: chocolate confections 2 something that is complicated or has a lot of decoration, such as clothing or a building 3 something such as a movie or a song that is entertaining and not serious at all: The movie is a pretty light-hearted confection.

con-fed-er-a-ry /ˌkʌnˈfɛdərərɪ/ n. (plural confederacies) 1 the Confederacy HIST the southern states that fought against northern states in the American Civil War 2 [C] a confederation con-fed-er-ate /ˈkʌnˌfɛdərət/ n. 1 [C] HIST a soldier in the Confederacy —confederate adj con-fed-er-a-tion /ˌkʌnˌfɛdəˈreɪʃən/ n. [C] a group of people, political parties, or organizations that have united in order to achieve an aim con-fer /ˈkʌnˌfɜr/ v. [conferred, conferring] 1 [I] to discuss something with other people Conference

so everyone can give his/her opinion: You may want to confer with the other team members. 2 confer a degree/honor etc. on sb to officially give someone a degree, etc. [Origin: 1400—1500 Latin conferre “to bring together”] conference /ˈkɒnfərəns/ n. [C,U] 1 a private meeting in which a few people discuss something: We’re having parent-teacher conferences at my kid’s school this week. | The meeting will be held in the second floor conference room. 2 a large formal meeting, often lasting for several days, at which members of an organization, profession, etc. discuss things related to their work: a sales conference | The American Medical Association is sponsoring a conference on men’s health. | Professor Roth is in London attending an international conference.

3 a group of teams that play against each other in a league conference call n. [C] a telephone conversation in which several people in different places can all talk to each other conference committee n. [C] politics a temporary committee, consisting of members of the House of Representatives and the Senate, whose job is to reach an agreement on a bill that has been passed in two different forms by each house confess /kənˈfɛs/ v. [T,U] 1 to admit that you have done something wrong or illegal: It didn’t take long for her to confess. | He has confessed to the crime.

2 to admit something that you feel embarrassed about: I confessed that I hadn’t understood. 3 to tell a priest or God about the bad things you have done—confessed adj.

confession /kənˈfɛʃən/ n. 1 [C] a statement that you have done something wrong or illegal: He made a full confession at the police station. 2 [C,U] the act of telling a priest or God about the bad things you have done confetti /ˈkɒnfɛtɪ/ n. [U] small pieces of colored paper thrown into the air at a wedding, party, etc. [Origin: 1800—1900 Italian, plural of confetto “candy;” from Latin confecere; because candy was thrown at Italian street celebrations] confident /kənˈfɪdənt/ adj. 1 someone to whom you tell secrets or personal information

2 a woman to whom you tell secrets or personal information confide /kənˈfɜːd/ v. [T] to tell someone about personal things that you do not want other people to know: He had confided to friends that he was unhappy.

confide in sb v. to tell someone about something that is very private or secret because you feel you can trust him/her: I’ve never been able to confide in my sister.

confidence /kənˈfɪdəns/ n. 1 [U] the feeling that you can trust someone or something to be good or successful: Public confidence in the economy is at an all-time low. | We have complete confidence in your ability to handle the situation. | Employees are losing confidence in the company. 2 [U] belief in your ability to do things well: I didn’t have any confidence in myself. | Her lack of confidence showed. | Living in another country gave me more confidence. 3 gain/win/earn sb’s confidence if you gain someone’s confidence, she begins to trust you: Gradually, the new manager began to win the employees’ confidence. 4 [U] the feeling that something is definite or true: I have confidence (that) the dispute will be settled before long. 5 in confidence if you say something in confidence, you tell someone something and trust him/her not to tell anyone else 6 [C] a secret, or a piece of information that is private or personal confidently adv.

self-confident – sure that you can do things well and that other people will like you: He’s much more self-confident since he started college.

self-assured – confident about what you are doing, and dealing with people in a calm way: The doctor spoke in a slow, self-assured voice.

assertive – behaving in a confident way, so that you are able to get what you want: Men tend to be more assertive than women.

2 [not before noun] something that will happen in the way you want or expect: I’m confident (that) he’ll help us out. | He was confident of winning the election.—confidently adv.

confidential /kənˈfɪdənʃəl/ adj. secret and not intended to be shown or told to other people: confidential information —confidentially adv.

confidentiality /kənˈfɪdənʃəlɪti/ n. [U] secret, classified, sensitive, covert, undercover, clandestine —confidential adj.

confidential adj. —confidentially adv.
con·firma·tion /ˈkɑnˌfɜrməˈneɪʃən/ n [C] the way in which parts of something are arranged or formed into a particular shape: a star-shaped configuration con·fig·ure /ˈkɑnˌfɪɡjʊr/ v [T] to do things that allow something, especially computer equipment, to work with other equipment con·fine /ˈkɑnˌfaɪn/ v [T] 1 to stop something from spreading to another place: The fire was confined to one building. 2 if you are confined to a place, you have to stay in that place, especially because you are sick: Rachel is confined to bed. 3 to keep someone or something within the limits of a particular subject or activity: Try to confine yourself to spending $120 a week. 4 we confined our research to young people. 5 a confined space. 6 confined to a place, you have to stay in that place, such as a prison: The prisoners are confined to their cells for most of the day. [Origin: 1500—1600 French confiner, from Latin confinare, from con- (com-) + finis (end)] con·fin·ed /ˈkɑnˌfaɪnd/ adj a confined space or area is very small: It wasn’t easy to sleep in such a confined space.

con·fine·ment /ˈkɑnˌfaɪnəmənt/ n [U] the act of forcing someone to stay in a room, prison, etc., or the state of being there.

con·fines /ˈkɑnˌfaɪnz/ n [plural] the walls, limits, or borders of something: His son has only seen him within the confines of the prison.

con·firm·ist /ˈkɑnˌfɜrmɪst/ n [C] someone who behaves or thinks like everyone else because she does not want to be different.

con·front /ˈkɑnˌfrɒnt/ v [T] 1 if you are confronted with a problem, difficulty, etc., it appears and needs to be dealt with: It was the first time confrontation

A group of people gathered in a church for a religious service, or the people who usually go to a particular church.
con·i·fer /ˈkɒnɪfər/ n. [plur. coniferous trees] [C] a woman who is elected to be in Congress con·ju·gal /ˈkɑnˌdʒəɡəl/ adj. [only before noun] relating to marriage or married people con·ju·gate /ˈkɑnˌdʒəɡət/ v. [T] to form the different forms that a verb can have —conjugation /ˈkɑndʒəˈʃən/ n. [C] con·junc·tion /ˈkɑnˌdʒʌŋkʃən/ n. [C] 1 in conjunction with sb/sth working, happening, or being used with someone or something else: The worksheets should be used in conjunction with the video. 2 ENG. LANG. ARTS a word such as “but,” “and,” or “while” that connects parts of sentences, phrases, or clauses con·ju·re /ˈkɑnˌdʒʊr/ v. [I,T] to perform tricks in which you seem to make things appear, disappear, or change as if by magic —conjurer, conjuring n. [C] con·man /ˈkɑnˌmæn/ n. (plural conmen ˌ-ˌmɛn/) [C] (informal) someone who gets money or valuable things from people by tricking them

con·nect /ˈkɑnˈnek/ v. 1 [T] to join two or more things together and make them work together: Connect the speakers to the stereo. 2 [I,T] to realize or show that a fact, event, person, etc. is related to or involved in something: There is little evidence to connect him with the crime. 3 [T] to attach something to a supply of electricity, gas, or water, or to a computer or telephone network: Disconnect: Has the phone been connected yet? 4 [I] if an airplane, train, etc. connects with another one, it arrives just before the other one leaves so you can change from one to the other: a connecting flight to Omaha 5 [I] (informal) if people connect, they feel that they like and understand each other: I really felt I connected with Jim’s parents.

con·nect·ed /ˈkɑnˈnektd/ adj. 1 joined to something else: The computer is connected to a printer 2 well-connected having important or powerful friends or relatives: a wealthy and well-connected lawyer con·nect·ing /ˈkɑnˌnekɪŋ/ adj. 1 [C] a relationship between things, people, ideas, etc.: the connection between smoking and lung disease 2 [C] a piece of wire or metal joining two parts of a machine together or to an electrical system: There must be a loose connection —I’m not getting any power. 3 [C] the process of joining together two or more things: free Internet connection 4 [C] an airplane, bus, or train that leaves at a connective tissue

time that allows passengers from an earlier airplane, bus, or train to use it to continue their trip: I missed my connection. 5 in connection with sth concerning something: Police are questioning a man in connection with the crime. 6 connections [plural] people you know who can help you, especially because they are in positions of power: He has connections in high places.

con·nect·ive tissue n. [U] BIOLOGY parts of the body such as fat or bone that support or join together organs and other body parts.

con·ni·vise /kəˈnatəv/ v. [I] to plan something secretly, especially something that is wrong or illegal: Together, they conspired to deceive her. [Origin: 1600—1700 French connivere, from Latin connívere “to close the eyes, connive”] —con·ni·vance n. [C]U con·noi·seur /kəˈnœzər/ -sər n. [C] someone who knows a lot about something such as art, food, or music: a connoisseur of fine wines.

con·scient·ious adj. careful, methodical, thorough, meticulous, systematic, painstaking, scrupulous ➔ CAREFUL con·scient·ious·ly adv. carefully, thoroughly, precisely con·scient·ious·ness n. [C] someone who refuses to fight in a war because of his/her moral beliefs.

con·sci·ence n. [C] the set of beliefs that tell you whether what you are doing is morally right or wrong: He had a guilty conscience (=feeling of guilt). | At least my conscience is clear (=I know I have done nothing wrong).

con·sci·ous adj. —con·sci·ous·ly adv. —con·sci·ous·ness n. [C] 1 aware, understanding what is happening: Charlie fell down the stairs and lost consciousness. 2 someone’s mind, thoughts, and ideas: research into human consciousness 3 the state of knowing that something exists or is true: awareness: The march is intended to raise people’s consciousness about women’s health issues. 4 thinking that something is very important: fashion-conscious teenagers | She’s very conscious of safety.

con·scir·ate /kənˈsərɪt/ v. [T] to get control of land or people by force: Egypt was conquered by the Ottoman Empire in 1517.

con·sec·u·tive adj. —con·sec·u·tively adv. —con·sec·u·tive·ly adv. following one after another: It rained for three consecutive days. 2 [T] to succeed in controlling a strong feeling or solving a serious problem that you have: I didn’t think I’d ever conquer my fears of heights. —conqueror n. [C] con·quest /kənˈkwest/ n. [singular, U] the act of getting control of land or people by force: the Spanish conquest of Central America.

con·science /kənˈsəns/ n. [U] 1 the set of feelings that tell you whether what you are doing is morally right or wrong: He had a guilty conscience (=feeling of guilt). | At least my conscience is clear (=I know I have done nothing wrong). 2 on sb’s conscience making you feel guilty: I lied and it’s always going to be on my conscience. [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French, Latin consciëntia, from conscire “to be conscious (of being guilty)”] con·sen·sus n. [U] agreement, permission for something, or agreeing to something: an opinion that everyone in a group agrees with or accepts: We failed to reach a consensus on the issue. | The decisions are made by consensus. | There seems to be a lack of consensus on/about how to deal with the situation. [Origin: 1200—1300 Latin consentire “to feel together, agree”]

consent1 /ˈkənsɛnt/ [Ac] n [U] permission to do something: parental consent | He took the car without my consent.

consent2 /ˈkənsɛnt/ [v] [i] (formal) to give your permission for something to happen: Her father reluctantly consented to the marriage. | His boss asked him to work late, and he consented.

consequent /ˈkɒnsɪkwənt/ [Ac] adj. [only before noun] (formal) happening as a result of something: racial prejudice and its consequent violence [Origin: 1400—1500 French, Latin; present participle of consequi, from com “with” + sequi “to follow”] consequent-li /ˈkɒnsɪkwəntli/ [Ac] adv. as a result: He didn’t study and consequently failed the final exam. | The employees received very little training. Consequently, they made mistakes.

conservation /ˈkɑːnsərveɪʃən/ [n] 1 The protection of natural things such as animals, plants, forests, etc.: the conservation of wildlife | 2 the controlled use of a limited amount of water, gas, electricity, etc. to prevent the supply from being wasted —conservationist n [C] conservation of ‘charge n [U] PHYSICS a scientific principle that says that the total electric charge of a system remains the same in spite of any changes that happen inside the system conservation of ‘energy n [U] PHYSICS a scientific principle that says that the total amount of energy in a system remains the same even though the type of energy may change conservation of ‘mass n [U] PHYSICS a scientific principle that says that the total mass of a system remains the same in spite of any changes that happen inside the system conservation of ‘momentum n [U] PHYSICS a scientific principle that says that the total momentum of a system remains the same in spite of any changes that happen inside the system con-serv-a-tism /ˈkɑːnsərvətɪzəm/ [n] [U] the belief that any changes to the way things are done must happen slowly and have very good reasons: political conservatism

con-serv-a-tive1 /ˈkɑːnsərvətɪv/ adj. 1 preferring to continue doing things the way they are being done or have been proven to work, rather than risking changes: a very conservative attitude to education | 2 not very modern in style, taste, etc.: a conservative business suit con-serv-a-tive2 /ˈkɑːnsərvətɪv/ n [C] POLITICS someone with conservative opinions or principles: an conservative: Conservatives in Congress want to reduce the agency’s funds.

con-serv-a-to-ry /ˈkɑːnsərvətərɪ/ [n] (plural conservatories) [C] 1 a school where students are trained in music or acting | 2 a GREENHOUSE conserve /ˈkɑːnsərv/ [v] [T] to prevent something from being wasted, damaged, or destroyed: efforts to conserve water | Try and rest frequently to conserve your energy. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French conserve, from Latin conservare, from com “together” + servare “to keep, guard”]

con-sid-er /ˈkɑːnsɪdər/ [v] [I, T] to think about something very carefully, especially before making a decision: I considered resigning. | He was considering whether to apply for the job. | You should consider the possibility of moving there permanently. | [T] to think of someone or something in a particular way, or have a particular opinion: Mrs. Greenwood was considered to be an excellent teacher. | We consider it important to get the Director’s advice on this. | Greg should consider himself lucky (= be glad) he wasn’t badly hurt.

con-sid-er-ate /ˈkɑːnsɪdərət/ [adj] large enough to be important or have an effect: We spent a considerable amount of money on the interior of the house. | considerably colder tonight.

con-sid-er-ate /ˈkɑːnsɪdərət/ [adj] thinking and... caring about other people’s feelings, wants, or needs [ANT] inconsiderate: He was always kind and considerate. —considerably adv

con·sid·era·tion /ˈkənˌsidərəshən/ n 1 [U] (formal) careful thought and attention: Several plans are under consideration. | We will give careful consideration to your proposal. 2 [C] a fact or detail that you think about when making a decision: financial considerations 3 take sth into consideration to think about something when making a decision: We’ll take into consideration the fact that you were sick. 4 [U] the quality of thinking and caring about other people’s feelings, wants, or needs: He shows no consideration for others.

con·sid·ered /ˈkənˌsidərd/ adj 1 considered opinion/judgment an opinion based on careful thought 2 all things considered after thinking about all the facts: All things considered, I think the meeting went pretty well.

con·sid·er·ing /ˈkənˌsidərɪŋ/ prep., conjunction used to say that you are thinking about a particular fact when giving your opinion: She did very well considering (that) it was her first attempt.

con·sign /ˈkənˌsaɪn/ v [T] (formal) consign sb/sth to sth pbr v 1 to cause someone or something to be in a bad situation: a decision that consigned him to political obscurity 2 to put something somewhere, especially in order to get rid of it con·sign·ment /ˈkənˌsaɪnmen/ n 1 [C] a quantity of goods that is sent to someone in order to be sold 2 on consignment goods that are on consignment are being sold by a store owner for someone else, for a share of the profit con·sist /ˈkənˌsistaɪ/ v consist of sth pbr v to be made of or contain particular things or people: The top layer of earth consists largely of clay, gravel and sand. | The audience consisted solely of teenagers. [Origin: 1500—1600 Latin consistere “to stand still or firm, exist”]

con·sist·en·cy /ˈkənˌsɪstənsi/ n 1 [U] (approving) the quality of always being the same, or of always behaving in an expected way [ANT] inconsistency: There’s no consistency in the way they apply the rules. 2 [C,U] how thick, smooth, etc. a substance is: a dessert with a nice creamy consistency con·sist·ent /ˈkənˌsɪstənt/ adj 1 (approving) always happening in the same way, or having the same attitudes, quality, etc. [ANT] inconsistent: I’ve tried to be consistent in applying the rules. 2 containing facts, ideas, etc. that agree with other facts, etc.: His story is not consistent with the facts. [Origin: 1500—1600 Latin, present participle of consistere “to stand still or firm, exist”] —consistently adv: consistently good grades con·so·la·tion /ˌkɑnˈsələʃən/ n [C,U] something that makes you feel better when you are sad or disappointed: If it’s any consolation to you, I think that you’re improving.

con·sol·a·tion prize n [C] a prize that is given to someone who has not won a competition con·sole /ˈkɑnˈsoʊl/ v [T] to help someone who is sad or disappointed to feel better: No one could console her when her dog died. | Danny consoled himself with the thought that he had done his best.

con·sol·i·date /ˌkɑnˈsoʊliˌdeɪt/ v [T] to make something stronger or more successful: The company has consolidated its position in the Japanese market. 2 to combine things so that they are more effective or easier to manage: a loan to consolidate debts con·so·la·tion prize /ˌkɑnˈsoʊliˌdeɪtprɪz/ n [C,U]} con·so·na·tion /ˌkɑnˈsoʊniˈleɪʃən/ adj any letter of the English alphabet except a, e, i, o, u and y —consolatory adj con·so·na·tion /ˌkɑnˈsoʊniˈleɪʃən/ n [U] ENG. LANG. ARTS the action of repeating the same consonant sound or sounds, especially at the end of words, in a piece of writing or speech con·so·na·tive /ˌkɑnˈsoʊniˈtɪv/ adj useful in emphasizing sound patterns con·so·na·tive /ˌkɑnˈsoʊniˈtɪv/ n [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS any letter of the English alphabet except a, e, i, o, u and y —vowel [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French, Latin, present participle of consonare “to sound together, agree”] con·sort /ˈkɑnˈsɔrɪt/ v consort with sb to spend time with someone who other people do not approve of con·sort /ˈkɑnˈsɔrɪt/ n 1 [C] a plan, plot, scheme, strategy 2 a combination of several companies, organizations, etc. working together: a consortium of banks con·spic·u·ous /ˌkɑnˈspɪkəs/ adj very easy to notice [ANT] inconspicuous: The notice must be displayed in a conspicuous place.

con·spi·ra·cy /ˌkɑnˈspɪrəsi/ n 1 [U] (disapproving) the act of buying a lot of expensive things, so that other people will see how rich you are con·spir·a·to·ry /ˌkɑnˈspɪrəˈtɒrərɪ/ adj someone who is involved in a secret plan to do something illegal —conspiratorial /ˌkɑnˈspɪrəˈtorəl/ adj con-spire /kənˈspɑːr/ v. [I] 1 to secretly plan with other people to do something bad or illegal: The company was accused of conspiring with local stores to fix prices. 2 (formal) if events conspire to make something happen, they happen at the same time and have a bad result con-stant /kənˈstænt/ adj. 1 happening regularly or all the time: There was a constant stream of visitors to the house. 2 he’s under constant pressure. 2 staying at the same level for a long period of time: driving at a constant speed | The experiment was carried out at a constant temperature. — constancy n. (singular, U) con-stant-ly /kənˈstæntli/ adv. always or regularly: The English language is constantly changing.

con-stel-la-tion /kənˈstɛləʃən/ n. [C] a group of stars that forms a particular pattern and has a name — SPACE con-ster-na-tion /kənˈstɜrnoʊʃən/ n. [U] a feeling of shock or worry con-sti-pa-tion /kənˈstɪpəʃən/ n. [U] a condition in which someone is unable to get rid of solid waste from his/her body — constipated /kənˈstɪpət/ adj.

con-sti-tu-ent /kənˈstɪtjuʊənt/ n. [C] 1 one of the parts that combine to form something: The congressman is committed to issues that are important to his constituents. 2 one of the parts that combine to form something: Sodium is one of the constituents of salt. — constituent adj.

con-sti-tu-tion /kənˈstɪtʃən/ n. [C] 1tr. to form something such as a sentence or argument by joining words, ideas, etc. together: The younger students found it hard to construct a sentence in Spanish. 2 tr. to draw a mathematical shape: Construct a triangle with three equal angles. (Origin: 1400–1500 Latin, past participle of construere, from com “together” + struere “to build”) con-sti-tu-tion-al /kənˈstɪtʃənəl/ adj. 1 officially allowed or restricted by the constitution of a country or organization: The court ruled that the officers had violated the men’s constitutional rights. 2 relating to the constitution of a country or organization: a constitutional reform constitutio-nal-monarchy n. 1 [U] politics a political system in which a country is ruled by a king or queen whose powers are limited by law. 2 [C] politics a country that is ruled by a king or queen whose powers are limited by law con-strain /kənˈstreɪn/ v. [T] formal] to limit someone’s freedom to do what s/he wants to do: Our research was constrained by a lack of funds.

con-strain-t /kənˈstreɪnt/ n. [C] something that restricts what you are doing: constraints on government spending. — constrained by (formal) something that makes something do this: Her throat constricted. — constriction /kənˈstrɪkʃən/ n. [C, U]: constriction of the arteries con-struc-tion /kənˈstrʌkʃən/ n. [U] 1 to build something large such as a building, bridge, etc.: The Empire State Building was constructed in 1931. 2 the cabin is constructed from thick, heavy timbers. — see picture at BUILD con-struc-tive /kənˈstrʌktɪv/ adj. 1 someone’s essays in a particular area: His paper is a constructive contribution to the field. 2 having good results: constructive criticism of students’ essays. — constructively adv.

con-sul /kənsəl/ n. [C] an official who lives in a foreign city and whose job is to help citizens of his/her own country who also live or work there — consular adj.
con·sul·late /ˈkansəlt/ v. [C] the official building where a consul lives and works → EMBASSY: the Danish Consulate con·sult /ˈkansəlt/ (US) v. [T] 1 to ask or look for advice, information, etc. from someone or something that should have the answers: Consult your physician. 2 Don’t do anything without consulting with your lawyer. 3 to discuss something with someone so that you can make a decision together: I’d better consult my wife first. 3 to look for information in a book, list, map, etc.: The police officer consulted his notes before answering Judge Eggert’s question.

con·sul·tan·cy /ˈkansəltənsi/ n. (plural consultancies) [C] a company that gives advice and training in a particular area of business to people in other companies con·sult·ant /ˈkansəltənt/ (US) n. [C] someone with a lot of experience in a particular area of business, whose job is to give advice about it: a marketing consultant con·sus·ta·tion /ˌkansəstuˈteʃən/ n. [C,U] 1 a discussion in which people who are affected by a decision can say what they think should be done: The changes were made in consultation with community groups. 2 The interest rate rise follows close consultations with Treasury officials. 2 a meeting in which you get advice from a professional, or the process of getting this advice: a consultation with the school counselor con·sume /kənˈsum/ v. [T] 1 to use time, energy, goods, etc.: Smaller cars consume less fuel. 2 to eat or drink something: The boys seemed able to consume large quantities of food. 3 be consumed with passion/guilt/rage etc. to have a very strong feeling that you cannot ignore 4 (formal) if a fire consumes something, it completely destroys it: fire consumes something → TIME-CONSUMING con·sum·er /kənˈsəmjər/ n. [C] someone who buys or uses goods and services: Consumers will soon be paying higher airfares. 1 There are laws that protect the consumer (=consumers in general) from fraud. 2 advertisements for consumer goods (=things that people buy for their own use, rather than things bought by businesses) con·sum·er·ism /kənˈsəmjərərɪzəm/ n. (disapproving) the belief that it is good to buy and use a lot of goods and services con·sum·mate /kənˈsəmjəmət/ v. 1 to make a marriage or a relationship complete by having sex 2 to make something such as an agreement complete: consumption con·sump·tion /kənˈsʌmpʃən/ n. [U] 1 the amount of electricity, gas, etc. that is used: the aircraft’s fuel consumption 2 (formal) the act of eating or drinking: The consumption of alcohol is not permitted on these premises.

con·tact /kənˈtækt/ n. 1 [C,U] communication with a person, organization, country, etc.: Have you kept in contact with any of your school friends? 2 The soldiers had little contact with citizens of the country, the establishment of diplomatic contacts 3 [C] someone you know who may be able to help you or give you advice: He has a few contacts in the movie industry. 4 [C] a contact lens 5 [C] PHYSICS an electrical part that completes a circuit when it touches another part c·ont·act /kənˈtækt/ v. [T] to telephone or write to someone: I’ve been trying to contact you for the past three days! 2 Don’t say “I’ve been trying to contact you.”

con·tact·less /kənˈtæktləs/ adj. 1 a small round piece of plastic you put on your eye to help you see clearly con·ta·gious /kənˈteʃəs/ adj. 1 a disease that is contagious can be passed from person to person by touch or through the air. 2 a person who is contagious has a disease like this: 3 a feeling, attitude, action, etc. that is contagious is quickly felt or done by other people: Jeannie’s laughter was contagious.

con·tain /kənˈteɪn/ v. [T] 1 to have something inside: a wallet containing $50 2 to be included in something or be part of something: The report contained some shocking information. 3 products that contain nuts 4 to control the emotions you feel: Greg was so excited he could hardly contain himself. 5 PHYSICS an electrical part that completes a circuit when it touches another part con·tain·er /kənˈteɪnər/ n. [C] something such as a box, a bowl, a bottle, etc. that can be filled with something: an eight-gallon container con·tain·ment /kənˈteɪnmənt/ n. [U] POLITICS the act of controlling something, such as the cost of a plan or the power of an unfriendly country con·tam·i·nate /kənˈtæməneɪt/ v. [T] to spoil something by adding a dangerous or poisonous substance to it: These areas of the ocean are contaminated with oil. 2 to influence someone or something in a way that has a bad effect: Lack of trust will contaminate your whole relationship.

contempt

con·tem·plate

contemplation contemporary contend

content

contentedly

contentment

contentious

contest

contend with contest

content
contestant

contest·ant /kənˈtest·ənt/ n. [C] someone who competes in a contest

con·text /ˈkɔntekst/ n. [C] 1 the situation, events, or information that are related to something, and that help you to understand it: The events have to be considered in their historical/social/political context. | Can students apply the skills learned in school in a different context, such as the workplace? | 2 the words and sentences that come before and after a word and that help you understand its meaning: “Smart” can mean “intelligent” or “sarcastic,” depending on the context. 3 take sth out of context to repeat a sentence or phrase without describing the situation in which it was said, so that its meaning seems different from what was intended: Journalists had taken his comments completely out of context. [Origins: 1400—1500 Latin contextus “connection of words,” from contextus “to weave together”]

‘context , clue n. [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS information that helps you understand the meaning of a particular word or phrase, which you obtain from the surrounding words or from the situation or events, etc. being described con·ti·n·gu·ous /ˌkɔnˈten gyəs/ adj. (formal) next to something, or sharing the same border: the 48 contiguous States con·ti·nent /ˈkɔn tənənt/ n. [C] one of the main areas of land on the Earth: the continent of Africa [Origins: 1500—1600 Latin continens “continuous area of land,” from continere] con·ti·nental /ˌkɔn təˈnəntl/ adj. relating to a continent: flights across the continental U.S.

con·ti·nental break·fast n. [C] a breakfast consisting of coffee, juice, and a sweet roll (=type of bread) con·ti·nental di·vide n. [C] EARTH SCIENCES a very large area of high ground on a continent, the very edge of which river systems flow in opposite directions con·ti·nental drift n. [U] EARTH SCIENCES the very slow movement of the continents across the surface of the Earth con·ti·nental shelf n. [C] EARTH SCIENCES the area of land on the edge of a continent that slopes down into the bottom of the ocean ➔ see picture at Photic Zone con·ti·nue·cy /ˈkɔn tin juˈs/ n. (plural contingencies) [C] an event or situation that might happen and could cause problems: a contingency plan to cope with any computer failures con·ti·nent·al /ˌkɔn təˈnəntl/ adj. (formal) dependent on something that may or may not happen in the future: The purchase of the house is contingent on/upon a satisfactory inspection.

con·ti·nent·al /ˈkɔn təˈnəntl/ adj. [C] a group of people who have the same aims or are from the same area, and who are part of a larger group: By late summer, a contingent of scientists had arrived.

con·ti·nu·a n. a plural of continuum con·ti·nu·al /ˈkɔn təˈnənl/ adj. repeated often, over a long period of time: Their continual arguing really upset me.

con·ti·nu·ous 1 n. the continuous ENG. LANG. ARTS in grammar, the form of a verb that shows that an action or activity is continuing to happen, and that is formed with “be” and the present participle. In the sentence “She is watching TV,” “is watching” is in the continuous.

con·ti·nu·um /ˈkɔn təˈnjuəm/ n. (plural continua) [C] (formal) a series of related things, in which each thing is only slightly different from the one before or the one after, so that there are no clear dividing points: Depression exists on a continuum, with mild sadness at one end to suicide at the other.

con·ti·nu·ous 2 n. the continuous ENG. LANG. ARTS con·ti·nu·u·sion /ˈkɔn təˈnjuəʃən/ n. (formal) a part of a text that continues from where the previous part left off: a continuation of his previous work con·ti·nu·u·ous /ˈkɔn təˈnjuəs/ adj. frequently repeated: a continual cough

Continual and continuous can be used in a very similar way: a continual/continuous process.

Continual is also used when something happens many times, especially something annoying: There were continual interruptions all day.

Continuous is used in order to emphasize that there is no pause or break between things: a continuous flow of water | a continuous line of trees

—continuously adv.

con·ti·nu·u·ation /ˈkɔn təˈnjuəˈeʃən/ n. 1 [U] the act or state of continuing for a long time without stopping: the continuation of family traditions 2 [C] something that follows after or is joined to something else and seems a part of it: Community colleges offer students a continuation of their education.

con·ti·nu·ue /ˈkɔn təˈnuː/ v. 1 [I,T] to keep happening, existing, or doing something without stopping: She will continue her work at UCSD. | The city’s population will continue to grow. Continu·ing with the peace process is very important. 2 [I,T] to start doing something again after a pause: Rescuers will continue the search tomorrow. | After a brief ceasefire, fighting continued. 3 [I] to go further in the same direction: Route 66 continues on to Texas from here. [Origins: 1300—1400 French continuer, from Latin continere, from continuus.

con·ti·nu·u·ing edu·ca·tion /ˌkɔn təˈnuː in dʒəˈkeiʃən/ n. [U] classes for adults, often on subjects that relate to their jobs con·ti·nu·u·ous 1 /ˈkɔn təˈnuːs/ adj. continuing to happen or exist without stopping or pausing: The church has been in continuous use since 1732. ➔ see usage box at continual. 2 without any spaces or holes in it: a continuous line of cars

—continuously adv.

con·ti·nu·u·ous 2 /ˈkɔn təˈnuːəs/ adj. frequently repeated: a continual cough

con·ti·nu·u·ous 3 n. the continuous ENG. LANG. ARTS in grammar, the form of a verb that shows that an action or activity is continuing to happen, and that is formed with “be” and the present participle. In the sentence “She is watching TV,” “is watching” is in the continuous.

con·ti·nu·u·ous 4 n. the continuous ENG. LANG. ARTS in grammar, the form of a verb that shows that an action or activity is continuing to happen, and that is formed with “be” and the present participle. In the sentence “She is watching TV,” “is watching” is in the continuous.

—continuously adv.

con·ti·ni·tort /ˈkɔn təˈtɔrt/ v. [I,T] to twist your face or body so that it does not have its normal shape

—contortion /kəntɔrən/ n. [C] the shape of the outer edges of something such as an area of land or someone’s body con·tour /ˈkɒntʊər/ n. [C] the outline of something, especially the outline of a distant object con·tract /ˈkɒntrækt/ n. [U] 1 goods that are brought into or taken out of a country illegitimately, especially to avoid paying tax. 2 goods that are illegal to supply to either side in a war. [Origin: 1500–1600 Italian contrabbando, from contr- “against” + bannum “official order”] —contractual /kəntrəˈkʃʊəl/ adj.

con·tra·band /kənˈtrəbænd/ n. [U] goods that are illegal to supply to either side in a war. [Origin: 1500–1600 Latin contrabandum, from contr- “against” + bannum “official order”] —contraband /kəntrəˈbænd/ adj.

con·tra·cep·tion /ˈkɒntrəˌsɛpʃən/ n. [U] the practice or methods of preventing a woman from becoming pregnant when she has sex. [Origin: 1870 contraceptive “contrary to”] —contraceptive /kəntrəˈsiptɪv/ adj.

con·tract /ˈkɒntrækt/ v. [T] to arrange to have a job done by a person or company outside your own organization. The city has contracted with a private company to remove garbage.

con·tract /ˈkɒntrækt/ v. [I,T] to sign a contract to do something: The city has contracted with a private company to remove garbage.

con·tract /ˈkɒntrækt/ v. [Irregular: contracted, contractions] 1 [T] to become smaller or expand: The economy is likely to contract over the coming year. 2 [I] to become stronger or expand: The weather is likely to contract over the coming year. 3 [to] to become smaller or expand: The economy is likely to contract over the coming year.

contractor /ˈkɒntrətrə/ n. [C] a person or company that does work or supplies material for other companies.

con·tractor /ˈkɒntræktər/ n. [C] a person or company that does work or supplies material for other companies.

con·tra·dict /ˈkɒntrədɪkt/ v. [T] to say that what someone else has just said is wrong or not true: You shouldn’t contradict me in front of the kids. 3 contradict yourself to say something that is the opposite of what you have said before: [Origin: 1500–1600 Latin contradicere, from contra- “against” + dicere “to say”] —contradictory /-dɪˈkərərē/ adj.

con·tra·dic·tion /ˈkɒntrəˌdɪkʃən/ n. 1 [C] a difference between two stories, facts, etc. that means they cannot both be true: There were contradictions between the testimonies of the two men. 2 [U] the act of saying that what someone has just said is wrong or not true: 3 contradiction in terms a combination of words that seem to be the opposite of each other, so that the phrase does not have a clear meaning con·trap·tion /ˈkɒntræptʃən/ n. [C] (informal) a piece of equipment that looks strange con·trast /ˈkɒntræst/ n. 1 a difference or comparison, a comparison, draw a parallel, draw an analogy, make/draw a distinction: compare, make, a comparison, draw a parallel, draw an analogy, make/draw a distinction contrary /ˈkɒntrəri/ adj. 1 completely different or opposite: This idea is contrary to Catholic teaching. 2 contrary to popular belief used in order to show that something is true even though people may think the opposite: Contrary to popular belief, gorillas are shy and gentle.

contrary /ˈkɒntrəri/ adj. deliberately doing or saying the opposite of what someone else wants: an extremely contrary child

con·trast /ˈkɒntræst/ n. 1 [C,U] a difference between two people, situations, ideas, etc. that are being compared: the contrast between the rich and poor in America | Claire is tall and dark in contrast to her mother, who is short and fair. | At that time, the life of West Berlin stood in sharp contrast to East Berlin. 2 [U] the differences in color or in light and darkness on photographs, a television picture, etc. [Origin: 1600–1700 French contraster, from Italian contrastare “to stand out against, fight against”]

con·trast /ˈkɒntræst/ n. 1 [C,U] a difference between two people, situations, ideas, etc. that are being compared: the contrast between the rich and poor in America | Claire is tall and dark in contrast to her mother, who is short and fair. | At that time, the life of West Berlin stood in sharp contrast to East Berlin. 2 [U] the differences in color or in light and darkness on photographs, a television picture, etc. [Origin: 1600–1700 French contraster, from Italian contrastare “to stand out against, fight against”]

con·trast /ˈkɒntræst/ n. 1 [C,U] a difference between two people, situations, ideas, etc. that are being compared: the contrast between the rich and poor in America | Claire is tall and dark in contrast to her mother, who is short and fair. | At that time, the life of West Berlin stood in sharp contrast to East Berlin. 2 [U] the differences in color or in light and darkness on photographs, a television picture, etc. [Origin: 1600–1700 French contraster, from Italian contrastare “to stand out against, fight against”]
contravene

2 [I] if two things contrast, they are very different from each other: His thick, bulgy body contrasted with Len’s tall lankiness. — contrasting adj: Different cultures have contrasting interpretations of the story.

contrive /ˌkɒnˈtrɪv/ v [T] (formal) to do something that is not allowed by a law or a rule. [Origin: 1500—1600 French contrevenir, from Late Latin contravere, from Latin contra- “against” + venire “to come”]

—contrivance /ˌkɒnˈtrɪvəns/ n [C] con·trib·ute /kənˈtrɪbjuːt/ v [I] to give money, help, or ideas to something that other people are also giving to: Large companies contribute money to both parties. | Other people had good ideas, but I felt I had nothing to contribute. 2 [I] to help make something happen: An electrical problem may have contributed to the crash. 3 [I] to write something for a newspaper or magazine: Several hundred people contributed articles, photographs, and cartoons.

—contributor n. [C] —contributory adj

con·trib·u·tion /ˌkɒnˈtrɪbjuʃən/ n [C] 1 something that is given or done to help something else be successful: The Mayo Clinic has made important contributions to cancer research. | Einstein’s significant/important/valueable contributions to physics 2 an amount of money that is given or done: Would you like to make a contribution to the Red Cross? 3 a contribution of $25 3 a piece of writing that is printed in a newspaper or magazine con·trite /kənˈtrɪt/ adj feeling guilty and sorry for something bad that you have done: a contrite apology — contrition /kənˈtrɪʃən/ n [U]

—thesauri: guilty, ashamed, embarrassed ➔ GUILTY

con·trive /kənˈtrɪv/ v [T] to manage to do something difficult or to invent something by being very smart or dishonest: Schindler contrived to save more than 1,000 Polish Jews from the Nazis.

con·trived /kənˈtrɪvd/ adj seeming false and not natural: The plot was contrived.

con·trol /kənˈtrəʊl/ n. 1 [U] the power or ability to make someone or something do what you want: They don’t have any control over their son. | Newborn babies have little control over their movements. | The car went out of control and hit a tree. | The situation is now under control. | These events are beyond our control (not possible for us to control). 2 [U] the power to rule or govern a place, organization, or company: Rioters took control of the prison. | The airport is now under the control of UN troops. | The government is no longer in control of the country. 3 [C] an action, method, or law that limits the amount or growth of something: an agreement on arms control | Firefighters brought the fire under control (=stopped it from getting worse). 4 [U] the ability to remain calm even when you are angry or excited: I just lost control and punched him! 5 [C] something that you use to make a television, machine, vehicle, etc. work: the volume control | the controls of the airplane 6 [singular] also control key if a button on a computer, that allows you to do particular things: Press “control” and “S” to save the document. — controlled adj control /kənˈtrəʊl/ v (controlled, controlling) [T] 1 to make someone or something do what you want or work in a particular way: If you can’t control your dog, you should put it on a leash. 2 to limit the amount or growth of something: a chemical used to control weeds 3 to rule or govern a place, organization, or company, or to have more power than someone else: Rebels control all the roads into the capital. 4 to make yourself behave calmly, even if you feel angry, excited, or upset: I was furious, but I managed to control myself.

control freak n. [C] (informal, disparaging) someone who is very concerned about controlling all the details in every situation she is involved in con·trolled experiment n. [C] SCIENCE a scientific test in which you change only one single condition of the test and do not change any of the other conditions that might affect the test con·trolled variable n. [C] SCIENCE in a scientific experiment (=test), one of the conditions that you do not change, so that its effect is always the same con·trol·ler /kənˈtrɔːlər/ n [C] ECONOMICS someone whose job is to collect and pay money for a government or company department: the state controller con·trol·tower n. [C] a building at an airport, from which people direct the movements of airplanes on the ground and in the air con·tro·ver·sial /kənˈtrɔːvəsəl/ adj something that is controversial causes a lot of disagreement because many people have strong opinions about it: the controversial subject of abortion (=person who does controversial things) in the art world. — controversially adv

con·tro·ver·sy /kənˈtrɔːvəsər/ n [C] (plural controversies) [C] a serious disagreement among many people over a plan, decision, etc., over a long period of time: There is controversy over the proposed development. | The controversy surrounding the theory continues to this day. | (Origin: 1300—1400 Latin controversia, from controversus “disagreed about”) con·tu·sion /kənˈtʃuʃən/ n. [C] (formal) a bruise — contused adj co·num·drum /kənˈnəmdrəm/ n. [C] 1 something or someone that is confusing and difficult to understand: a moral conundrum 2 a trick question asked for fun

—Rémi Riddle
convenient /ˈkənvɪnɪənt/ adj. most people in society think are normal and right, and that is often easier for someone (ANT: inconvenience) or completely prepared already convenience /ˈkənvɪnəns/ n. [U] a group of towns that have grown and joined together to form an area where a lot of people live, often with a large city as its center

con·ven·ience /ˈkənvɪnəns/ n. [singular, U] a large formal meeting of people who belong to the same profession, organization, etc., or who have the same interests: the Democratic National Convention | a convention of science fiction fans 2 [C,U] behavior and attitudes that most people in society think are normal and right: He defied social conventions to follow his own path.

con·ven·tion·al /ˈkənvɛntʃənəl/ adj. having knowledge or experience of something: Staff members are conversant with all the safety rules.

con·ver·gence /kənˈvɜːrsəns/ n. 1 [U] the quality of being good or useful for a particular purpose, especially because it makes something easier (ANT: inconvenience): Most people like the convenience of using a credit card. 2 [U] what is easiest and best for someone (ANT: inconvenience): The package can be delivered at your convenience. 3 something such as a service, piece of equipment, etc. that is useful because it saves you time or work: modern conveniences such as washing machines con·ven·tion·al·ly /kənˈvɛntʃənəlɪ/ adv.

con·ver·sant /kənˌvɜːsənt/ adj. having experience of something: Staff members are conversant with all the safety rules.

con·ver·sa·tion /kənˈvɜːrəʃən/ n. 1 [C] a large formal meeting of people who belong to the same profession, organization, etc., or who have the same interests: the Democratic National Convention | a convention of science fiction fans 2 [C,U] behavior and attitudes that most people in society think are normal and right: He defied social conventions to follow his own path.

con·ver·sa·tion·al /kənˈvɜːrəʃənəl/ adj. having knowledge or experience of something: Staff members are conversant with all the safety rules.

con·vers·al·ly /kənˌvɜːrəsəlɪ/ adv.
con·verse / ˈkōn-vərs / v. [T] (formal) to have a conversation with someone: She enjoyed the chance to converse with someone who spoke her language. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French converser, from Latin conversari “to live with, be with.”] talk, have a conversation, chat (with/to sb)/have a chat, visit with sb, discuss, gossip, whisper → TALK.

THE SAURUS

con·verse2 / ˈkōn-vərs / n. (formal) 1 the converse the opposite of something: Most people’s income grew, but the converse was true in Canada’s conversion to the metric system. 2 a change in which someone accepts a completely new religion, belief, etc.: his conversion to Islam.

con·ver·sion / ˈkōn-vər-zhən / n. [C,U] 1 the act or process of changing something from one form, system, or purpose to another: Canada’s conversion to the metric system. 2 a change in which someone accepts a completely new religion, belief, etc.: his conversion to Islam.

con·ver·sion·factor / ˈkōn-vər-zhən-fərk-tər / n. [C] MATH a fixed quantity that, when multiplied or divided by another number, changes one type of measurement into a different type of measurement, for example miles into kilometers.

con·vert1 / ˈkōn-vərt / v. [T] 1 to change, or to make something change, from one form, system, or purpose to another: We’re going to convert the garage into a workshop. 2 to change your opinions, beliefs, or habits, or to make someone do this: She converted to Christianity. [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French convertiri, from Latin convertere “to turn around, convert.”] con·vert2 / ˈkōn-vərt / n. [C] someone who has accepted a completely new religion, belief, etc.

con·vert·i·ble / ˈkōn-vərt-i-əb-lə / adj. 1 an object that is convertible can be folded or arranged in a different way, so that it can be used as something else: a convertible couch (one that unfolds to become a bed). 2 ECONOMICS able to be exchanged for the money of another country, for stocks, etc.: a convertible currency. This type of stock is convertible.

con·ver·tible / ˈkōn-vər-təb-lə / n. [C] a car with a roof that you can fold back or remove.

con·vex / ˈkōn-veks / , kon- / adj. PHYSICS curved toward the outside like the surface of the eye (and concave: a convex lens).

con·ve·y / ˈkōn-vər / v. [T] (formal) to communicate a message or information, with or without using words: Please convey my thanks to her. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French convier “to go with someone to a place,” from Vulgar Latin conviare].

con·vey·or belt / ˈkōn-vər-ər-bəl / n. [C] a long continuous moving band of rubber or metal, used in a place such as a factory or airport to move things from one place to another.

con·vic·tion / ˈkōn-vək-shən / n. [C,U] 1 a very strong belief or opinion: his religious convictions. 2 ECONOMICS to prove or announce that someone is guilty of a crime after a trial in a court of law (and acquit: Both men were convicted of fraud.

con·vic·t1 / ˈkōn-vɪkt / v. [T] LAW to prove or announce that someone is guilty of a crime after a trial in a court of law (and acquit: Both men were convicted of fraud.

con·vic·t2 / ˈkōn-vɪkt / n. [C] LAW someone who has been proved to be guilty of a crime and sent to prison.

con·vice / ˈkōn-vɪs / v. [T] 1 to make someone feel certain that something is true: His lawyers convinced the jury that Booth was innocent. 2 to persuade someone to do something: I convinced him to stay. [Origin: 1500—1600 Latin convincere “to prove untrue, convict, prove.”] con·vinced / ˈkōn-vɪns / adj. be convinced to feel certain that something is true: I was convinced (that) we were doing the right thing. Doctors are convinced of the medicine’s effectiveness.

con·vinc·ing / ˈkōn-vɪns-ɪŋ / adj. making you believe that something is true or right: Their argument is not very convincing. The most convincing evidence that light travels as a wave came from the experiments of James Maxwell. —convincingly adv.

con·viv·ial / ˈkōn-vəv-əl / adj. (formal and

Please note: This text is a direct transcription of the page and includes all information available. It may contain some inconsistencies or errors due to the nature of the transcription process.
pleasant: a convivial atmosphere —conviviality coo-coo

coo-voy /'kʌnvɔі/ n. [C] a group of vehicles or ships traveling together con-vo-luted /'kənvəlʊtɪd/ adj. (formal) complicated and difficult to understand: a convoluted plot con-vo-ley /'kʌnvɔіl/ n. [C] a book that tells you how to prepare and cook food cook-book /'kʌkbʊk/ n. [C] a book that tells you how to prepare and cook food cooked /kʊkt/ adj ready for eating and not raw: cooked vegetables cook-ie /'kʊki/ n. [C] 1 a small flat sweet cake: chocolate chip cookies 2 if information that a WEB site leaves on your computer so that the website will recognize you when you use it again [ORIGIN: 1700—1800 Dutch koekje, from koek "cake"] cookie cutter /ˈkʌki kʌtər/ n. [C] an instrument that cuts cookies into special shapes before you bake them cookie cutter /ˈkʌki kʌtər/ adj. (only before noun) almost exactly the same as other things of the same type, and not very interesting: cookie cutter houses cookie sheet /ˈkʌki ʃiːt/ n. [C] a flat metal pan that you bake food on cooking /ˈkʊkɪŋ/ n. [U] 1 the act of making food and cooking it: I do most of the cooking. 2 food made in a particular way or by a particular person: Italian cooking cooking /ˈkʊkɪŋ/ adj. used for cooking: cooking oil | a cooking pot

cool /kəʊl/ adj. 1 low in temperature but not cold: a cool summer evening | a nice cool drink

cool /kəʊl/ v. 1 [T] to become calm after being angry: He’s really cool. 2 (spoken) said in order to show that you agree with something, that you understand it, or that it does not annoy you: “Do you mind if I bring my sister?” “No, that’s cool.” 3 (spoken, approving) fashionable, attractive, interesting, etc. in a way that people admire: It’s a really cool car. 4 calm and not nervous or excited: Stay cool: don’t let him get to you.

cool /kəʊl/ v. 1 [T] also cool down to make something slightly colder, or to become slightly colder: Allow the cake to cool before cutting it. 2 [I] feelings or relationships that cool become less strong or friendly: Relations between the two countries have cooled considerably. 3 cool it (spoken) used in order to tell someone to stop being angry: Joe, Jim, just cool it, will you?

cool down /kəʊldʌn/ v. 1 to become calm after being angry: The long walk home helped me cool down. 2 to do gentle physical exercises after doing more difficult exercises, so that you do not get injured cool off /kəʊl ɔf/ v. 1 to return to a normal temperature after being hot: They went for a swim to cool off. 2 to become calm after being angry: Give him some time to cool off first.

cool /kəʊl/ n. [U] 1 the cool a temperature that is cool: the cool of a spring morning 2 keep your cool cooler

to stay calm in a difficult situation: The players kept their cool and started scoring. 3 lose your cool to stop being calm in a difficult situation: The waiter never lost his cool.

cool·er /ˈkjʊər/ n [C] a small box in which you can keep food or drinks cool coop /koʊp/ n [C] a cage for chickens coop·ed /ˈkʊpt/ adj [not before noun] having to stay indoors or in a place that is too small for a long period of time: I’ve been cooped up in this apartment all day.

coop·er·a·tion /ˌkoʊʊərəˈrɑːʃən/ n [U] 1 the act of working with someone else to achieve something that you both want: The local police are cooperating with the FBI. 2 to do what someone asks you to do: Some of the kids refused to cooperate with him.

co·op·era·tive /ˌkoʊərəˈreɪtiv/ adj 1 willing to help or willing to do what you ask: a happy and cooperative child 2 made, done, or owned by people working together: a cooperative farm —cooperatively adv cop·er·a·tive /ˌkoʊərəˈreɪtiv/ n [C] a company, farm, etc. that is owned and operated by people working together: They turned their business into a cooperative.

cop·i·ous /ˈkəʊpiəs/ adj enough to satisfy the needs or wants of a large number of people: They have a copious supply of food.

cop·i·er /ˈkəʊpiər/ n [C] a machine that quickly produces copies of documents onto paper by photographing them cop·i·py·ment /ˈkəʊpiˌpɪmənt/ n [C] an amount that someone with medical insurance has to pay for using particular medical services, for example visits to the doctor cop·i·ta·tion /ˌkoʊˌpiːtəˈʃən/ n [C] (informal) something you do or say in order to avoid doing something: Blaming kids’ failing grades on TV is a cop-out.

cop·per /ˈkəʊpər/ n [U] 1 an orange-brown metal that is an ELEMENT and is often used to make wire [Origin: Old English coper, from Late Latin cuprum, from Latin (aes) Cyprium “metal of Cyprus, copper”] —copper adj cop·per·ty /ˈkɒrpərəti/ n [C] (informal) a helicopter cop·u·lant /ˈkɑːpjuˌleɪnt/ n [U] (formal) to have sex cop·y /ˈkɒpi/ n (plural copies) 1 [C] something that is made to look exactly like something else: Please make me a copy of the report. 2 a good copy copy v (copied, copies) 1 [T] to make a thing that is exactly like something else: I copied a CD for him. I copied a file, press "F3." To copy a file, press "F3.

2 [T] also copy down to write something down exactly as it was said or written: She copied down the homework assignment. 3 [T] to do something that someone else has done, or behave like someone else: The system has been copied by other organizations, and has worked well.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.

copy sb ↔ cut. PASTE

copy sb ↔ in phr. v to send someone a copy of an email.
cornbread /'kɔrnbred/ n [U] bread that is made from CORNMEAL.
corneal /'kɔrniəl/ adj (C) [BIOLOGY] the strong transparent covering on the outer surface of your eye [origin: 1300—1400 Medieval Latin, Latin, "horny," from corne "horn;" because its structure is like horn] —cornereal adj corned beef /'kɔrnəd 'bif/ n [U] BEEF that has been preserved in saltwater and been preserved in saltwater andsomething additional," from corolla "circle of flowers"
corneal /'kɔrniəl/ adj (C) [BIOLOGY] the strong transparent covering on the outer surface of your eye [origin: 1300—1400 Medieval Latin, Latin, "horny," from corne "horn;" because its structure is like horn] —cornereal adj corner /'kɔrnər/ 1 the point at which two lines, surfaces, or edges meet: a table in the corner of the room | Jess sat on the corner of the bed. 2 the place where two roads, streets, or paths meet: Meet me on the corner of 72nd and Central Park. | We went to a place around the corner for coffee. | Some kids were standing at the corner. | When you turn the corner (=go around the corner), you'll see a bookstore. 3 a particular part of an area, especially one that is far away or quiet: a sunny corner of the yard 4 the sides of your mouth or eye 5 see 5th out of the corner of your eye to notice something without turning your head 6 be just around the corner to be happening to happen very soon: Victory seemed to be just around the corner.
➔ cut corners at cut corner adj 1 to move closer to a person or an animal so that he, she, or it cannot escape: Gibbs cornered Cassetti after the meeting.
cornerstone /'kɔrnə'stɔn/ n [C] a cornerstone of democracy corporate /'kɔrprət/ adj formal 1 relating to or belonging to a corporation: corporate headquarters 2 an increase in corporate profits — corporately adv corporate headquarters /'kɔrprə'teərəs/ n [C] the place where a large or major company is located corpus /'kɔrpəs/ n [C] 1 the husk or hard body 2 the Naval Air Corps 3 a dead body corpuscle /'kɔrpuskl/ n [C] a small white blood cell in your body [origin: 1600—1700 Latin corpusculum "small body," from corpus "body"] corral /'kɔrəl/ n [C] an enclosed area where cattle, horses, etc. are kept correspondent /ˈkɔːrɪspənt/ adj. 1 right or without any mistakes (NT) incorrect: the correct answers | "Your name is Ives?" "Yes, that's correct."

Thesaurus:
right, accurate, true → RIGHT

2 right for a particular occasion or use: the correct way to lift a heavy weight [Orig.: 1300—1400 Latin, past participle of corrīgere, from com- “together” + regere “to lead straight”] —correctly adv. —correctness n [U] correct /ˈkɔːrɪkt/ v. [T] 1 to make something right or better: Your eyesight can be corrected with corrective lenses. 2 teacher corrects as student’s written work, s/he shows where the mistakes are and what the right answer is cor·rec·tive /ˈkɔːrɪktɪv/ adj. (formal) intended to make something right or better: corrective lenses for the eyes cor·rec·tion /ˈkɔːrɪkʃən/ n. [C] a change in something that makes it right or better: Johnson made a few corrections to the article.

cor·rec·tive /ˈkɔːrɪktɪv/ adj. (formal) intended to make something right or better: corrective lenses for the eyes

MATH a relationship between two mathematical variables (= quantities that can represent any of several different values) → correlate corre·lation coef·fi·cient /ˌkɔrəˈreɪʃən kəˈfiʃənt/ n. [C] MATH a number between +1 and -1, used to represent the relationship between quantities that increase or decrease in direct relation to one another cor·re·spond /ˌkɔrəˈspɔnd/, ˌkɔr- /ˈkɔːrəspɔnd/ v. [I] 1 if two things correspond, they are similar to each other or relate to each other: The figures in columns A and B do not correspond. | The name on the envelope doesn’t correspond with the one on the letter. | The test gives you a qualification that corresponds to a high school diploma. 2 if two people correspond, they write letters to each other: They’ve been corresponding for years. [Orig.: 1500—1600 Latin correspondere, from Medi eval Latin, from Latin com- “together” + respondere “to promise in return, answer”] cor·re·spond·ence /ˌkɔrəˈspɔndoʊns/, ˌkɔr- /ˈkɔːrəspɔndəns/ n. [U] letters that people send and receive: Her secretary deals with her correspondence. 2 the activity of writing letters: His correspondence with Hemingway continued until his death. 3 a relationship or connection between two things: the correspondence between a letter and the sound it represents cor·re·spond·ence course /ˌkɔrəˈspɔndoʊns kɔrs/ n. [C] a course of lessons that you receive by mail and do at home cor·re·spond·ent /ˌkɔrəˈspɔndənt/, ˌkɔr- /ˈkɔːrəspɔndənt/ n. [C] 1 someone whose job is to report news from a distant area, or about a particular subject, for a newspaper or television: the White House correspondent → NEWSPAPER 2 someone who writes to another person regularly cor·re·spond·ing /ˌkɔrəˈspɔndɪŋ/, ˌkɔr- /ˈkɔːrəspɔndɪŋ/ adj. relating or similar to something: She was given a promotion and a corresponding increase in salary. | As the price of the product fell, the corresponding demand rose. —correspondingly adv.

cor·re·lating /ˌkɔrəˈleɪtɪŋ/ v. [I, T] 1 to show a corresponding relationship or connection between two ideas, facts, etc., especially when one may be the cause of the other: There’s a strong correlation between poverty and health. 2 MATH a relationship between two variables: a mathematical relationship between two variables (quantities that can represent any of several different values) that shows the relationship between them. 3 MATH a relationship between two variables (quantities that can represent any of several different values) that shows the relationship between them.
cor·re·la·tion /ˌkɔrəˈleɪʃən/ n. 1 a relationship between two ideas, facts, etc., especially when one may be the cause of the other: There’s a strong correlation between poverty and health. 2 MATH a relationship between two variables: a mathematical relationship between two variables (quantities that can represent any of several different values) that shows the relationship between them. 3 MATH a relationship between two variables (quantities that can represent any of several different values) that shows the relationship between them.
cor·re·la·tion coef·fi·cient /ˌkɔrəˈleɪʃən kəˈfiʃənt/ n. [C] MATH a number between +1 and -1, used to represent the relationship between quantities that increase or decrease in direct relation to one another
cor·re·la·tion /ˌkɔrəˈleɪʃən/ n. 1 a relationship between two ideas, facts, etc., especially when one may be the cause of the other: There’s a strong correlation between poverty and health. 2 MATH a relationship between two variables: a mathematical relationship between two variables (quantities that can represent any of several different values) that shows the relationship between them. 3 MATH a relationship between two variables (quantities that can represent any of several different values) that shows the relationship between them.
cor·ro·de /ˈkɔrəd/ v. [T] if metal corrodes, or if something corrodes it, it is slowly destroyed by water, chemicals, etc. [Orig.: 1300—1400 Latin corrosere “to eat away”]
cor·ro·de /ˈkɔrəd/ v. [T] if metal corrodes, or if something corrodes it, it is slowly destroyed by water, chemicals, etc. [Orig.: 1300—1400 Latin corrosere “to eat away”] cor·ro·sion /ˈkɔrəʃən/ n. [U] the gradual process of being destroyed by the effects of water, chemicals, etc., or a substance such as rust that is produced by this process cor·ro·sive /ˈkɔrəsɪv/ adj. 1 CHEMISTRY a corrosive substance such as an acid can destroy metal, plastic, etc. 2 gradually making something weaker, and possibly destroying it: the corrosive effect of guilt on your relationships cor·ru·gat·ed /ˈkɔrəɡət/ adj. formed in rows of folds that look like waves: corrugated cardboard corrupt /ˈkɔrəpt/ adj. 1 dishonest and ready to do things that will give you an advantage: a corrupt judge who took a bribe. 2 very bad morally: a corrupt society [Orig.: 1300—1400 Latin corruptus, past participle of corruptere,] corrupt

from rumper = “to break” — corruptly adv.
corrupt [v. [T]] 1 to make someone dishonest or immoral: Younger prisoners are being corrupted by the older, long-term offenders. 2 to change or spoil something so that it is not as good: a traditional culture corrupted by outside influences 3 it to change the information in a computer, so that the information is wrong and the computer does not work correctly: The data had been corrupted. — corruptible adj.
corruption naɪˈpɜːrʃən n. [U] 1 dishonest or immoral behavior: corruption in city politics 2 the act or process of making someone dishonest or immoral: the corruption of today’s youth by drugs corset /kəˈsɛt/ n. [C] a small bunch of flowers that a woman wears on her dress for special occasions cos·mo·pol·i·tan /kəˈzməpəlˈtæn/ adj. (=formal) a line of people, cars, etc. that move slowly in a funeral cos·mo·naut /kəˈzmənɔt/ n. [C] from the former Soviet Union cos·me·tic /kəˈzmətɪk/ n. [C] MATH a number relating to an angle in a RIGHT TRIANGLE, that is calculated by dividing the length of the side next to the right angle by the length of the HYPOTENUSE (=side opposite the right angle) \[ \text{sin} \] cos·me·tic·al·ly /kəˈzmətɪkəlɪ/ adv. to make your skin or body more beautiful: cosmetic surgery 2 dealing only with the appearance of something: cosmetic changes to the policy —cosmetically adv.

cos·me·tics /kəˈzmətɪks/ n. [plural] cream, powder, etc. that you use to make your face and body more attractive \[ \text{makeup} \] cos·mic /kəˈzmɪk/ adj. 1 relating to space or the universe: a cosmic explosion —cosmically adv.
cos·mo·naut /kəˈzmənɔt/ adj. from the former Soviet Union cos·mo·pol·i·tan /kəˈzməpəlˈtæn/ adj. 1 a cosmopolitan place has people from many different parts of the world: a cosmopolitan city 2 a cosmopolitan person, attitude, etc. shows a lot of experience of different people and places: Her cosmopolitan view of the world was formed during her time in Paris, Tokyo, and New York.
cos·mos /ˈkɒzməs, -mɒs/ n. the universe considered as a whole system \[ \text{Orig.:} \ 1200—1300 \text{Greek = “order, universe”} \]
cost /kɒst/ n. 1 [C,U] the amount of money you must pay in order to buy, do, or produce something: the cost of a college education | Will $100 cover the cost of books (=be enough to pay for them)? | the high cost of car insurance | Legal services were provided at a low cost. | The software is available at a cost of $30. | Glasses were offered at no extra cost.

2 costs [plural] a the money that you must regularly spend in order to run a business, your home, car, etc.: the university’s annual operating costs | high labor costs | We’re trying to cut/reduce/flower costs (=spend less money) by driving a smaller car. b the money that you must pay to lawyers if you are involved in a legal case: Burdell lost the case and was ordered to pay the defense’s costs. 3 [C,U] something that you must give or lose in order to get something else: War is never worth its cost in human life. He saved his family, at the cost of his own life. | He intends to hold on to power, whatever the cost. 4 at all costs/at any cost whatever happens, or whatever effort is needed: We need to get that contract, at any cost. 5 at cost for the same price that you paid: We had to sell the van at cost.

cost [v. (past tense and past participle cost.] 1 [linking verb] to have a particular price: This dress cost $75. | How much did your watch cost? | The wedding ended up costing them $50,000. | It’ll cost thousands of dollars to fix this place up. | I love these boots, but they cost an arm and a leg/cost a fortune (=are extremely expensive). 2 [T] to make someone lose something important: Your mistake cost us the deal. 3 [T] (past tense and past participle costed) to calculate how much money is needed to pay for something: The options are being costed and analyzed.
co·star /ˈkɒstɑːr/ n. [C] one of two or more famous actors who work together in a movie or play — co·star n. [T]: He co-starred with De Niro in the movie “Heat.”

cost·cut·ting /ˈkɒstˌkʌtɪŋ/ adj. at the things that a company or organization does in order to reduce its costs: Cost-cutting efforts included the elimination of 4,000 jobs.

cost-effective adj producing the best profits or advantages at the lowest cost: a cost-effective way to reduce pollution costly /ˈkɔsti/ adj 1 costing a lot of money: costly repairs

2 causing a lot of problems: The delay proved costly.

cost of living n [singular] the amount of money you need to spend in order to buy the food, clothes, etc. that you need to live: The cost of living is much higher in California than in Iowa.

costume /ˈkɔstəm/ n [C, U] 1 clothes worn to make you look like a particular type of person, animal, etc.: a price for the best Halloween costume | The actors put on their costumes and makeup. 2 clothes that are typical of a particular country or time in the past: We took a tour given by volunteers in period costume (=the clothes of the clothes of a particular period of history). [Origin: 1700—1800 French, Italian, “custom, dress,” from Latin consuetudo] costume jewelry n [U] cheap jewelry that looks expensive cot /kət/ n [C] a light narrow bed that folds up [Origin: 1600—1700 Hindi khat “hammock, bed”] • see picture at bed cottage /ˈkɔtij/ n [C] a small house in the country, especially an old one ⇒ HOUSE [Origin: 1300—1400 Anglo-French cottage, from English cot “cottage,” from Old English] cottage cheese n [U] a soft wet white cheese cottage industry n [C] ECONOMICS a business that consists of people who produce things in their homes cotton /ˈkət(ə)n/ n [U] 1 cloth or thread made from the cotton plant: a cotton shirt 2 a plant with white hairs used for making cotton cloth and thread 3 a soft mass of cotton, used especially for cleaning your skin [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French coton, from Arabic qaṣ]‘ cotton ball n [C] a small soft ball made from cotton, used for cleaning skin cotton Belt n the Cotton Belt HISTORY an area of the Southeast U.S., especially South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, and Mississippi, where cotton was the main crop in the past cotton candy n [U] a type of sticky pink candy that looks like cotton cotton gin n [C] a machine that separates the seeds of a cotton plant from the cotton cottonwood /ˈkətənˌwʊd/ n [C] a North American tree with seeds that look like cotton cotton-lea·don /ˈkətənˌlɪdənˌ/ , -ˈlɪdən/ n [C] BIOLOGY the first leaf that grows from a seed ⇒ DICOTYLEDON, MONOCOTYLEDON couch /ˈkʌʃ/ adj 1 a long comfortable piece of furniture on which you can sit or lie ⇒ sofa n. Tom offered to sleep on the couch.

couch v be couched in sth (formal) to be expressed in a particular way: His refusal was couched in polite terms.
couch potato n [C] (informal) someone who spends a lot of time sitting and watching television couch·pur·pose n [C] (informal) a reason for doing or being in a particular place or doing something, especially because you are sick: He’s been coughing and sneezing all day. [Origin: 1300—1400 From an unrecorded Old English couhlian] cough up sth v. 1 cough sth up (informal) to give someone money, information, etc. when you do not really want to: I’m trying to get my dad to cough up some money for a motorcycle. 2 cough up sth if you cough up a substance such as blood, it comes from your lungs or throat into your mouth when you cough: We rushed her to the hospital when she started coughing up blood.
cough v [kʌf] n [C] 1 the action of coughing, or the sound made when you cough: She gave an nervous cough before speaking. 2 an illness that makes you cough a lot: He had a terrible cough.
cough·drop n [C] a type of medicine like a piece of candy, that you suck to help you stop coughing cough·sy·rup n [U] a thick liquid medicine that you take to help you stop coughing could /kəd/ strong could/ modal verb 1 used as the past tense of “can” to say what someone was able to do or was allowed to do in the past: I looked everywhere, but I couldn’t find it. I could hear children playing. 2 When I was young, you could buy a concert ticket for $5. 3 He said we could smoke if we wanted. 4 used in order to say that something is possible or might happen: Most accidents in the home could easily be prevented. 5 It could be weeks before they’re finished. 6 could have used in order to say that something was possible in the past, but did not actually happen: She could have been killed. 7 (spoken) used in order to make a polite request: Could I ask you a couple of questions? 8 Could you deposit this check at the bank for me? 9 (spoken) said when you are sure that something is true: I could tell she was lying.

couldn’t /kʌndnt/ modal verb the short form of “could not”: We couldn’t stop laughing.

council /ˈkaʊnsəl/ n. [C] PHYSICS a unit for measuring electric current, equal to the amount produced by one AMP in one second council /ˈkaʊnsəl/ n. (plural council-men, -men) [C] a male councilor council manager /ˈkaʊnsəl məˈɡrɪŋər/ n. [C] a system of local government in many U.S. towns or cities, in which people elect a council and a mayor, who then choose a manager who is paid to run the town or city council of governments n. (plural councils of governments) [C] POLITICAL a system of local government in many U.S. towns or cities, in which people elect a council and a mayor, who then choose a manager who is paid to run the town or city council or /ˈkaʊnsələr/ n. [C] a member of a council council woman /ˈkaʊnsəl wʊmən/ n. (plural councilwomen) [C] a female councilor counsel /ˈkʌnsəl/ v. [T] (formal) to advise or support someone who has problems: Tyrone got a job counseling patients who have cancer.

counsel /ˈkʌnsəl/ v. [I] LAW a lawyer who speaks for someone in a court of law: The counsel for the defense gave her opening statement.

counseling /ˈkʌnsəlɪŋ/ n. [U] advice given by a counselor to people about their personal problems or difficult decisions: family career counseling counselor /ˈkʌnsələr/ n. [C] 1 someone whose job is to help and support people with problems: a marriage counselor 2 someone who takes care of a group of children at a camp count /kɔunt/ v. 1 [T] also count up to calculate the total number of things or people in a group: The nurses counted the bottles of medicine as they put them away. 2 [I] to say numbers in the correct order: My daughter is learning to count in French. 3 [I] to be allowed or accepted: “I won!” “You cheated, so it doesn’t count.” 4 Your sculpture class counts as a Humanities credit. 5 [T] to include someone or something in a total: There are five in our family, counting me. 6 [I] to think of something or someone in a particular way: I count her as one of my best friends. 7 You should count yourself lucky that you weren’t hurt. 8 [I] in order to emphasize how small the number of something is: I can count on one hand the number of times he’s come to visit me.

count /kɔunt/ v. phr. v. (informal) to include someone or something in an activity: If you’re going dancing, count me in.

count on sb/sth /kɔunt ən sb/sth/ v. 1 to depend on someone or something, especially in a difficult situation: You can always count on him to help 2 to expect something to happen, or someone to do something: We didn’t count on this many people coming.

count out /kɔunt aʊt/ v. 1 count sb out (informal) to not include someone or something in an activity: If you’re looking for a fight, count me out. 2 count out sb or sth to put things down one by one as you count them: He counted out ten $50 bills.

count /kɔunt/ n. [C] 1 the process of counting, or the total that you get when you count things: The final count showed that Gary had won by 110 votes to 86. 2 At last count (=the last and most recent time you counted), 48 students were interested in the trip. 3 a measurement of how much of a substance is present in a place, area, etc.: The pollen count is high today. 4 keep count to keep a record of the changing total of something over a period of time: Are you keeping count of the people you’ve invited? 5 lose count to forget how many there are of something: I’ve lost count of how many times she’s been married. 6 count to ten (=to say numbers in the correct order from one to ten) to count to ten to help you relax.

countable noun has both a singular and a plural form count a-bile /ˈkɔuntəbəl/ adj. ENG. LANG. ARTS a countable noun has both a singular and a plural form count down /ˈkəʊnt dəʊn/ v. 1 [C] the act of counting backward from zero before something happens, especially before a spacecraft is sent into the sky.

count down to Christmas /ˈkəʊnt dəʊnt tə ˈkristəmz/ v. count down to Christmas to count down to Christmas to count down to Christmas count-er-ness /ˈkɔuntərənəs/ n. [C] (literary) your face or your expression counterattack /kaʊntəˈtækɪt/ n [C] 1 a flat surface in the kitchen where you prepare food  2 the place where you pay or are served in a shop, bank, restaurant, etc.: He started chatting with the woman behind the counter. 3 over the counter over the counter medicines can be bought without a prescription from your doctor 4 under the counter secretly and not legally: She gets paid under the counter.

counterpart /ˈkaʊntəpɑːrt/ n [C] a person or thing that has the same job or purpose as someone or something else in a different place: a meeting between the U.S. president and his French counterpart.

counter argument /ˈkaʊntər əˈɡɔːrnənt/ n [C] an attack that you make against someone who has attacked you, in a sport, war, or argument —counterattack v [I] attack, invasion, raid, ambush —ATTACK counterbalance /ˈkaʊntərˈbæləns/ v [I] to have an equal and opposite effect to something else: Good sales in Europe have counterbalanced the weak sales in the U.S. —counterbalance n. [C] counter-clockwise /ˈkaʊntərˈklɒkˌwaɪz/ adj, adv in the opposite direction to the way the hands (parts that point to the time) of a clock move ONCE: Turn the lid counterclockwise.

counter-culture /ˈkaʊntərˌkʌltʃər/ n [C] social science the beliefs, behavior, and way of living of a group of people, especially young people, that are very different from the accepted beliefs, behavior, etc. of society.

counterexample /ˈkaʊntərˌɛksəmpl/ n. [C] eng. lang. arts a fact proving that the opposite of an existing fact is true, which is used to question whether someone’s argument is reasonable or correct.

counterfeit /ˈkaʊntərˌfɪt/ adj made to look exactly like something else in order to deceive people: counterfeit money [origin: 1300—1400 Old French, past participle of contrefaire “to copy”] —counterfeit v. [T] —counterfeiter n. [C]

country

countrypart /ˈkaʊntərˌpɑːt/ n [C] an area of land that is controlled by its own government, president, king, etc.: Bahrain became an independent country in 1971. I’ve always wanted to live in a foreign country. developing countries (countries that are poor but are trying to increase trade and industry).

country /ˈkʌntrɪ/ n (plural countries) 1 [C] an area of land that is controlled by its own government, president, king, etc.: Bahrain became an independent country in 1971. I’ve always wanted to live in a foreign country. developing countries (countries that are poor but are trying to increase trade and industry).

countrypart /ˈkaʊntərˌpɑːt/ n [C] a person or thing that has the same job or purpose as someone or something else in a different place: a meeting between the U.S. president and his French counterpart.

counterproductive /ˈkaʊntərprəˈdʌktɪv/ adj achieving the opposite result to the one you want: Punishing children too harshly can be counterproductive.

counter-sign /ˈkaʊntərˌsaɪn/ v [T] to sign a paper that someone else has already signed: My boss will countersign the check.

counterpart /ˈkaʊntəˌpɑːrt/ n [C] only before noun very many: She spent countless hours making that clock.

counterpart /ˈkaʊntəˌpɑːrt/ n (plural countries) 1 [C] an area of land that is controlled by its own government, president, king, etc.: Bahrain became an independent country in 1971. I’ve always wanted to live in a foreign country. developing countries (countries that are poor but are trying to increase trade and industry).

countrypart /ˈkaʊntərˌpɑːt/ n [C] an area of land that is controlled by its own government, president, king, etc.: Bahrain became an independent country in 1971. I’ve always wanted to live in a foreign country. developing countries (countries that are poor but are trying to increase trade and industry).

nation – a country and its people. used especially when considering its political and economic structures: the major industrialized nations.

state – a country and its people. used especially when considering its political and economic structures: state-owned industries.

power – a country that is very strong and important: Germany is a major industrial power in Europe.

land (literary) – a country or place: Lessing’s memoirs describe her many journeys to foreign lands.

realm (literary) – a country ruled over by a king or queen: the richest man in the realm.

2 the country a) land that is away from towns and cities: We went for a drive in the country. b) all the people who live in a country: The President has the support of over 50 per cent of the country. 3 [U] a type of land: farming country. 4 [U] country music [origin: 1200—1300 Old French contrére, from Medieval Latin contrata “(land) which lies opposite,” from Latin contra]
country

country² adj. in the area outside cities, or relating to this area: clean country air | country roads country club n. [C] a sports and social club, especially one for rich people country-man /ˈkʌtrɪmən/ n. (plural country-men /ˈmən/) [C] (old-fashioned) someone from your own country country, music also country and western n. [U] popular music in the style of music from the southern and western U.S. country-side /ˈkʌtrɪsaɪd/ n. that is land outside cities and towns ➔ country: the English countryside county /ˈkʌntri/ n. (plural counties) [C] an area of land within a state or country that has its own local government: Orange County in California [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French comté “area ruled by a count,” from Medieval Latin comitatus, from Latin comes] county fair n. [C] an event that happens each year in a particular county, with games and competitions for the best farm animals, for the best cooking, etc.
coup /kaʊp/ n. 1 also coup d’état /ˈkuːptət/ an act in which citizens or the army suddenly take control of the government by force: a military coup revolution, rebellion, revolt, uprising, insurrection, insurgency ➔ revolution

THESAURUS

2 [usually singular] an impressive achievement: Getting that job was quite a coup.
couple² /ˈkʌpəl/ n. [C] 1 a couple (informal) a two things or people of the same kind: He’s got a couple of kids. b a few: I need to make a couple (of) phone calls. 2 two people who are married or have a romantic relationship: the young couple next door | a married couple with children [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French cople, from Latin copula “something that joins”] couple v. [T] to join two things together: The two sections of the plane’s wing are coupled together using rivets.
couple sth with sth prep: if one thing is coupled with another, the two things happen or exist together and produce a particular result: Technology, coupled with better health care, means people live longer. couple² /ˈkʌpəl/ n. [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS two lines of poetry that follow each other and are the same length coupon /ˈkʌpən, ’kʌvən/ n. [C] 1 a small piece of paper that allows you to pay less money for something or get it free: a coupon for fifty cents off a jar of coffee | 2 a printed form, used when you order something, enter a competition, etc. [Origin: 1800—1900 French, Old French, “piece,” from couper “to cut”] courage /ˈkʌrɪdʒ, ’kʌrɪ-/ n. [U] the quality of being brave when you are in danger, a difficult situation, etc.: He didn’t have the courage to face the media. | It must have taken a lot of courage for him to drive again after the accident [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French courage, from cuer “heart,” from Latin cor] —courageous /ˌkɔrəˈriːzəs/ adj. a courageous decision —courageously adv.

THESAURUS

bravery — brave behavior in a dangerous or frightening situation: Troops on both sides fought with bravery guts (informal) — the courage and determination that you need to do something difficult, dangerous, or unpleasant: He didn’t even have the guts to tell me himself nerve (informal) — the ability to stay calm in a dangerous, difficult, or frightening situation: It takes a lot of nerve to stand up and give a speech valor (formal) — great courage, especially in war: He received the Congressional Medal of Honor for valor in battle mettle (literary) — courage and determination: Walking the length of the Pacific Coast Trail will certainly test your mettle.
cou-rí-er /ˈkʊrɪər/ ’kəu-/ n. [C] someone whose job is to deliver documents and packages course /kaʊrs/ n.
1 of course a) used when you or someone else has just said is not surprising: The insurance has to be renewed every year, of course. b) (spoken) used in order to say yes very strongly, or to give permission politely: “Can I borrow your notes?” “Of course you can.” c) (spoken) said in order to emphasize that what you are saying is true or correct: “You’ll tell her?” “Of course!”
2 of course not (spoken) used to say no strongly: “You mind if I’m a little late?” “Of course not.”
3 SCHOOL [C] a class in a particular subject: a computer course | a three-month course in English literature

THESAURUS

class, lesson, period, lecture, seminar ➔ class²

4 SPORTS [C] an area of land or water where races are held, or an area of land designed for playing golf: a race course | a 9-hole golf course
5 MEAL [C] one of the parts of a meal: the main course | a four-course dinner
6 ACTION [C] something you can do to deal with a situation: The best course of action is to speak to her alone.
7 DIRECTION [C,U] the planned direction taken by a boat or airplane to reach a place: During the flight, we had to change course. | The ship was blown off course (=in the wrong direction).
8 in/during/over the course of sth (formal) during a period of time or a process: During the course of our conversation, I found out that he had worked in France.
9 be on course for sth/to do sth to be likely to achieve something because you have already had some success: Hodson is on course to break the world record.

10 WAY STH DEVELOPS [singular] the way that something changes or develops: a major event that changed the course of history | The popularity of World Music has run its course (=it is not as popular as it was before).

11 PLAN [singular, U] a general plan to achieve something, or the general way something is happening: The President described how he would get the economy back on course.

court /kɔːrt/ n. 1 [C] LAW the people who make a legal judgment, for example about whether someone is guilty of a crime, or the place where these judgments are made: A crowd of reporters had gathered outside the court. | Please tell the court where you were on the night of the 15th. | He had to appear in court as a witness. | We decided to take them to court (=make them be judged in a court) to get our money back. | The case should go to court (=start being judged in a court) in August. | The insurance company settled out of court (=they made an agreement without going to court). ➔ LOWER COURT, SUPERIOR COURT

In court, the person who is said to have committed a crime is called the defendant. The defendant’s lawyers, who are called the defense, try to prove that the defendant is not guilty. The prosecution tries to prove that the defendant is guilty. The judge and a jury listen to testimony and examine evidence in order to decide if the defendant is guilty or not guilty. Their decision is called the verdict.

2 [C] an area made for playing games such as tennis: a volleyball court | 3 a) [C] the place where a king or queen lives and works | b) [singular] the king or queen, their family, and all the people who work for them or advise them: Court officials denied the rumors. [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French, Latin cohors “enclosed place, people in an enclosure, unit of soldiers in the ancient Roman army.”]

court v. 1 [T] to try to please someone so that she will support you: Politicians are courting voters before the election. | 2 court disaster/danger etc. to do something that is likely to have very bad results: To cut taxes now would be courting disaster. | 3 [I,T] (old-fashioned) to have a romantic relationship with someone, especially someone you are likely to marry courteous /ˈkɔːrəs/ adj. (formal) polite and respectful: a courteous reply —courteously adv.

courtesy /ˈkɔrteʃi/ n. (plural courtesies) 1 [U] polite behavior: She didn’t have the courtesy to apologize. | 2 [C] something you do or say to be polite: As a courtesy to other diners, please switch off your cell phone. | 3 courtesy of sb used in order to say in a grateful way who provided or did something for you: We were put up in a fancy hotel, courtesy of the airline.

court-house /ˈkɔrθaʊs/ n. [C] a building containing courts of law and government offices.

court-martial /ˈkɔrtnmɑːtʃəl/ n. [C] a military court, or an occasion when a soldier is judged by a military court. ➔ court-martial v. [T] court-room /ˈkɔrtrʊm/ n. [C] the room where a case is judged by a court of law.

courtesies /ˈkɔrteʃiɪz/ n. (plural) polite behavior: She didn’t have the courtesy to apologize.
cover

8 cover your tracks to try to hide something you have done so that other people do not find out

9 gun to aim a gun somewhere to protect someone from being attacked or to prevent someone from escaping: We'll cover you while you run for it. | The police covered the back entrance.

10 cover (all) the bases (informal) to make sure that you can deal with any situation or problem

1 to do someone's work because s/he is sick or is somewhere else: I'll be covering for Sandran next week.

2 to prevent someone from getting into trouble by lying about where s/he is or what s/he is doing: Can you cover for me? Just say I had an appointment.

cover sth ↔ up phr. v.
to prevent people from discovering a mistake or an unfavorable fact: A lot of people tried to cover up the Watergate affair.

cover up for sb phr. v.
to protect someone by hiding unfavorable facts about him/her: The mayor's friends tried to cover up for him.

cover up n. 1 [C] something that protects something else by covering it: a plastic cover

2 [C] the outer front or back part of a book, magazine, etc.: The Pope was on the cover of Time magazine. | I read the book from cover to cover (= all of it).

3 [U] protection from bad weather or attack: The soldiers ran for cover when the shooting started. | We took cover under a tree.

4 covers [plural] sheets, BLANKETS, etc. that cover you in bed

5 a cover (for sth) something a criminal uses to hide his/her activities or keep them secret: The company is just a cover for the Mafia. 6 under cover pretending to be someone else in order to do something secretly: Policemen working under cover arrested several drug dealers.

cover-age /'kʌvərɪdʒ, -vərdʒ/ n. [U] 1 the amount of attention that is given to a particular subject or event on television, on the radio, or in newspapers, or the way in which the subject is reported: excellent news coverage of the elections | Most of the media/press coverage has been negative.

2 the protection your insurance gives you, for example paying you money if you are injured or something is stolen: Millions of people have no formal health care coverage.

cov-er-alls /'kʌvərˌɔls/ n. [plural] a piece of clothing that you wear over all your clothes to protect them cover charge n. [C] money that you have to pay in a restaurant in addition to the cost of food and drinks, especially when there is a band or dancing cov-er-ing /'kʌvərɪŋ, -vərɪŋ/ n. 1 [singular] something that covers something: a light covering of snow. 2 [C] something that covers a part of a wall or floor: silk wall coverings cov·er·let n. [C] a letter that you send with a document or package, which gives more information about it: Never send a résumé without a cover letter.

cov·er·net /'kʌvərnet, 'kʌ-, kʌvər-/ adj. secret or hidden: a covert operation — covertly adv.

cover-up n. [C] an attempt to prevent the public from discovering the truth about something: CIA officials denied there had been a cover-up.

cov·et /'kʌvət/ v. [T] (literary) to want something that someone else has: The Michelin Awards are coveted by restaurants all over the world. —coveted adj.

cow /'kau-/ n. 1 [C] a large female animal that is kept on farms and used to produce milk or meat → BULL → see picture at FARM. 2 the female of some large animals, such as the ELEPHANT or the WHALE [Origin: Old English cau] cow·ard /'kauərd/ adj. — cowardly adv.

cow·ard·ice /'kauərdɪs/ n. [U] a lack of courage cow·boy /'kauəbɒɪ/ n. [C] a man whose job is to take care of cattle cow·er /'kauər/ v. [I] to bend low and move back because you are afraid: The hostages were covering in a corner.

cow·girl /'kauəɡɜːl/ n. [C] a woman whose job is to take care of cattle cow·work·er /'kauəˌwɜːkər/ n. [C] someone who works with you coy /ˈkɔɪ/ adj. 1 pretending to be shy in order to attract people's interest: a coy smile. 2 not wanting to tell people about something: Bourne was coy about his plans. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French cwi “calm,” from Latin quietus “quiet”]. — coyly adv.

coy·o·te /ˈkɔɪət/, -œt/ n. [C] a small wild dog that lives in western North America and Mexico [Origin: 1700—1800 Mexican Spanish, Nahua coyotl] cozy /ˈkɔzʊ/ adj. small, comfortable, and warm: a cozy cabin in the woods — cozily adv. — coziness n. [U]

CPA n. [C] Certified Public Accountant an accountant who has passed all of his/her examinations crack /kræk/ n. [U] a sudden loud noise that sounds like a stick breaking: There was a loud crack of thunder as the storm began. (informal) a cruel joke or remark: Stop making cracks about my sister! 7 at the crack of dawn very early in the morning: We were up at the crack of dawn.

crack1 /kʳæk/ v.
1 BREAK [I,T] if you crack something, or if something cracks, it breaks so that it gets a line on its surface, and may then break into pieces: I just cracked my favorite coffee mug. | The ice was starting to crack. | He cracked three eggs into a bowl.

2 NOISE OF BREAKING [I,T] to make a loud sudden noise like the sound of something breaking, or to make something do this: A stick cracked under his foot. | He cracked his knuckles.

3 HIT 6TH [T] to accidentally hit something very hard: Carly tripped and cracked her head on the sidewalk.

4 LOSE CONTROL [I] to lose control of your emotions and become unable to deal with a situation because there is too much pressure on you: a spy who never cracked under questioning

5 VOICE [I] if your voice cracks, it changes from one level to another suddenly, especially because of strong emotions

6 SOLVE [T] to solve a difficult problem or a code: Detectives believe they’ve finally cracked the case. | It took them nearly two months to crack the code.

7 crack a joke (informal) to tell a joke: John keeps cracking jokes about my hair.

8 not be all sht is cracked up to be (informal) not as good as people say it is: The movie was OK, but it’s not all it’s cracked up to be.

9 crack down phr. v.

to become more strict in dealing with a problem and punishing the people involved: CRACKDOWN: Police are cracking down on drunk drivers.

10 crack up phr. v. (informal)

1 crack (sb) up to laugh a lot at something, or to make someone laugh a lot: I’ll try to tell the story without cracking up. Sue just cracks me up!

2 to become mentally ill because you have too many problems or too much work

11 crack2 /k्रæk/ n. [C] 1 a very narrow space between two things or two parts of something: He could see them through a crack in the door. | Can you open the window a crack?

2 a thin line on the surface of something when it is broken but has not actually come apart: cracks on the wall

3 a weakness or fault in an idea, system, or organization: The cracks in their relationship were starting to show.

4 (informal) an attempt to do something: Okay, Dave, let’s take a crack at fixing this bike.

5 a sudden loud noise that sounds like a stick breaking: a crack shot (someone who is very good at shooting)

6 crack-down /k्रækdaʊn/ n. [C] an effort to stop bad or illegal behavior by being more strict: a national crackdown on illegal immigrants

7 crack/ed /k्रækt/ adj. something that is cracked has lines on the surface because it is damaged but not completely broken: a cracked mirror

8 crack-er /k्रækə/ n. [C] a type of hard dry bread that is thin and flat

9 crack-le /k्रækl/ n. [C] to make a lot of short sharp noises: a log fire crackling in the fireplace

10 crack-pot /k्रækpət/ adj. (informal) slightly crazy: a crackpot idea

11 cradle /ˈk레이d/ n. [C] 1 a small bed for a baby, that can swing gently from side to side 2 the cradle of sth the place where something important began: Some say Athens was the cradle of democracy.

12 cradle2 /ˈkレイd/ v. [T] to hold someone or something gently in your arms: Tony cradled the baby in his arms.

13 craftsman /ˈkraftsmən/ n. (plural craftsmen /ˈkraftsmən/ or -man) [C] someone who is very skilled at making things with his/her hands: furniture made by the finest craftsmen —craftsmanship n. [U]

14 crafty /ˈkrafti/ adj. good at getting what you want by deceiving people —craftily adv.

15 cram /k्रæm/ v. (crammed, cramming) [T] to force a lot of people or things into a small space: I managed to cram all my stuff into the closet.

16 cram2 /ˈkレイm/ n. (crammed, cramming) 1 [T] to fill up with people or things: The mall was crammed with shoppers.

17 craze /k्रæz/ v. [T] to become very popular: The craze for hiking spread across the country.

18 craze2 /ˈkレイz/ n. [C] a popular craze: The craze for makeup.

19 Craig /k्रæg/ n. a sur. of Craig (a surname)

20 craignish /ˈkレイnιʃ/ adj. (informal) more afraid than necessary: a craignish person

21 Craigie /ˈkレイdʒi/ n. a sur. of Craigie (a surname)

22 craggy /ˈkレイdʒi/ adj. a craggy mountain or cliff is very steep and covered with large rocks

23 cramp /k्रæm/ v. (cramped, cramming) [T] to force a lot of people or things into a small space: I managed to cram all my stuff into the closet.

24 cram2 /ˈkレイm/ n. (crammed, cramming) 1 [T] to fill up with people or things: The mall was crammed with shoppers.
cramp

/to prepare yourself for a test by studying a lot of information very quickly: Julia stayed up all night cramming for her math final. —crammed adj.: crammed sidewalks cramp /kræmp n / [C] 1 a severe pain that you get when a muscle becomes very tight: I have a cramp in my wrist from writing all day. 2 cramps [plural] a severe pain in the stomach that women get when they menstruate crammed /kræmpd/ adj. a cramped room or building does not have enough space for the people or things in it: a cramped apartment

THESAURUS small, little, tiny, minute, miniature, diminutive \smaller cran-ber-ry /kra:n,berri n / [C] 1 a small sour red berry: cranberry sauce [Origin: 1600—1700 Low German kraanbere, from kraan “crane” + bere “berry,” because a part of the flower looks like a crane’s beak.] cranberry

crane /kri:n/ n / [C] 1 a tall machine with a long metal arm for lifting heavy things. 2 a water bird with very long legs crane /kri:n/ v / [I,T] to look around or over something by stretching or leaning: All the kids craned their necks to see who Mrs. Miller was talking to.

crane

THESAURUS close, peer, peer around, peek, peer into cran-k(y) /kræk/ adj. very easily annoyed or made angry, especially because you are tired: Steve woke up cranky this morning.

crank

cramp /kræmp/ n / [U] a game played for money, using two dice crash /kræʃ/ v / [I,T] 1 to have an accident in which a car, airplane, etc. hits something: The jet crashed shortly after takeoff. 2 to hit something hard, causing a lot of damage or making a loud noise: A baseball crashed into/through our living room window. 3 to hit something against the rocks 4 (spoken) a) also crash out to go to bed, or to go to sleep very quickly because you are very tired: I crashed out on the sofa, watching TV. b) to stay at someone’s house for the night: You can crash at our place tonight.

crash course /kræʃ kɔːs/ n / [C] a short course in which you study a subject very quickly crash diet /kræʃ dıːt/ n / [C] an attempt to make yourself thinner quickly by strictly limiting how much you eat crash helmet /kræʃ hɛlmət/ n / [C] a hard hat worn by people who drive race cars, motorcycles, etc. to protect their heads crash landing /kræʃ lændɪŋ/ n / [C] an occasion when a pilot has to bring an airplane down to the ground in a more dangerous way than usual because the airplane has a problem: He was forced to make a crash landing in the middle of the desert.

crass /kræs/ adj. offensive and stupid: a crass remark crate /kræt/ n / [C] a large box used for carrying fruit, bottles, etc.: a crate of wine crater /kræt/ n / [C] 1 a round hole in the ground made by something that has fallen on it or exploded on it: a bomb crater 2 the round open top of a volcano

THESAURUS accident, collision, wreck, pile-up, disaster, catastrophe, mishap \accident create

kraIv /kraIvI/ v [T] to want something very much: Most little kids crave attention.
craIving /kraIvInɡ/ n [C] a very strong desire for something: a craving for chocolate crayfish /ˈkrɛɪʃɪf/ n (plural crayfish) [C] a CRAYFISH crawl /kraʊl/ v [I] 1 to move on your hands and knees or with your body close to the ground: They had to crawl through a tunnel to escape. | The baby crawled across the floor. | see picture on page A9 2 if a vehicle crawls, it moves very slowly: We got stuck behind a truck crawling along at 25 mph. 3 be crawling with sth to be completely covered with insects or people: The food was crawling with ants. 4 if an insect crawls somewhere, it moves there crawled /kraʊld/ n 1 [singular] a very slow speed: Traffic has slowed to a crawl. 2 the crawl a way of swimming in which you lie on your stomach and move one arm, and then the other, over your head ➔ see picture at SWIM1
crayfish /ˈkrɛɪʃɪf/ n (plural crayfish) [C,U] a small animal like a LOBSTER that lives in rivers and streams, or the meat from this animal [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French crevisse; influenced by fish] crayon /ˈkrɛɪən,-ən/ n [C] a stick of colored wax that children use to draw pictures [Origin: 1600—1700 French craie “chalk”] craze /ˈkreɪz/ n [C] a fashion, game, type of music, etc. that is very popular for a short time: Shoes with wheels in the heel were the latest craze.

➔ see picture on page A7

creamed /ˈkriːm/ v [I] if something such as a door or wooden floor creaks, it makes a long high noise when it moves: The door creaked shut behind him.
➔ cream n. [C] —creaky adj cream /kriːm/ n [U] 1 a thick white liquid that comes from milk: Do you take cream and sugar in your coffee? 2 [U] a pale yellow-white color 3 [C,U] used in the names of foods containing cream or something similar to it: banana cream pie, cream of mushroom soup. 4 [C,U] a thick smooth substance that you put on your skin to make it feel soft, treat a medical condition, etc.: The doctor gave me a cream to put on my sunburn. 5 the cream of the crop the best people or things in a group: These students represent the cream of the academic crop. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French créaim, creême, from Latin creamum] —cream adj —creamy adj cream /ˈkriːm/ v [T] 1 to mix foods together until they become a thick smooth mixture: Next, cream the butter and sugar. 2 cream sb (informal) to hit someone very hard or easily defeat someone in a game, competition, etc.: The Yankees creamed the Red Sox 11–1.

➔ see picture on page A7

create /ˈkriːt/ v [T] 1 to make something new or happen: Scientists believe the universe was created by a big explosion. 2 Why do you want to create problems for everyone? The chemical reaction creates two new substances.
creation

cre-a-tion /kri'ejən/ (Ac) n. 1 [U] the act of creating something: the creation of 300 new jobs 2 [C] something that has been created: the artist's latest creation 3 the Creation according to many religions, the time when God made the universe and everything in it

cre-a-tive /kri'eativ/ (Ac) adj. 1 good at thinking of new ideas: I try to surround myself with creative people. 2 involving the use of imagination to produce new ideas or things: a creative solution to our problems | the writer's creative process | He is full of creative ideas. — creatively adv. — creativity n. [U]: the company encourages creativity and innovation.

cre-a-tor /kri'eətər/ (Ac) n. 1 [C] someone who made or invented a particular thing: Walt Disney, the creator of Mickey Mouse 2 the Creator God creat-ure /kri'dər/ n. [C] 1 an animal, fish, or insect: Native Americans believe that all living creatures should be respected. 2 an imaginary animal or person, or one that is very strange and frightening: creatures from outer space 3 creature comforts all the things that make life comfortable and enjoyable 4 a creature of habit someone who always does things in the same way or at the same time cre-dence /krə'dens/ n. [U] (formal) the acceptance of something as true: His ideas quickly gained credence (=started to be believed) among economists.

cre-den-tials /krə'den'taıls/ n. [plural] 1 some one’s education, achievements, experience, etc.: that prove that she has the ability to do something: a woman with impressive credentials 2 a document that proves that you are: May I see your credentials?

cred-ibil it-ty /kredə'bɪləti/ n. [U] the quality of deserving to be believed and trusted: The scandal has ruined his credibility as a leader.

cred-ible /kredə'bəl/ adj. deserving or able to be believed or trusted: a credible witness — credibly adv.

cred-it /'krɛdɪt/ (Ac) n. 1 [U] an arrangement with a bank, store, etc., that allows you to buy something and pay for it later: We bought a new stove on credit. 2 [U] praise given to someone for doing something: They never give Jesse any credit for all the extra work he does. I can't take all the credit: Nicky helped a lot too. The team deserves credit for playing hard until the end. | Much to Todd's credit, the dance was a great success. 3 be a credit to sb/sth to be so successful or good that the people around you are proud of you: Jo's a credit to her family. 4 be in credit to have money in your bank account 5 [C] a successfully completed part of a course at a university or college: She needs 30 more credits to graduate. 6 have sth to your credit to have achieved something: She already has two best-selling novels to her credit. 7 the credits [plural] a list of all the people involved in making a television program or movie [Origin: 1500—1600 French crédit, from Italian, from Latin creditum "something given to someone to keep safe, loan"]

cred-it-able /'krɛdɪtəbl/ adj. deserving praise or approval: a creditable piece of scientific research cred-it card /'krɛdɪt kərd/ n. [C] a small plastic card that you use to buy goods or services and pay for them later: Can I pay by credit card?

cred-it limit /'krɛdɪt ˈlɪmɪt/ n. [C] the amount of money that you are allowed to borrow or spend using your credit card cred-i-tyor /'krɛdɪtiər/ (Ac) n. [C] a person or organization that you owe money to ➔ DEBTOR cred-it rating /'krɛdɪt ˈreɪtɪŋ/ n. [C] ECONOMICS a judgment made by a bank or other company about how likely a person or a business is to pay their debts cre do /'krɪdəʊ/ n. (plural credos) [C] a short statement that expresses a belief or rule cre-du-li-ty /'krɛdələti/ n. [U] (formal) willingness or ability to believe that something is true: Her story strained credibility (seems difficult to believe).

cred /'krɛd/ n. [C] a set of beliefs or principles: people of every creed, color, and nationality thesaurus: faith, religion, belief ➔ FAITH creek /kriək, krək/ n. 1 a small narrow stream or river 2 be up the creek (without a paddle) (spoken) to be in a difficult situation: I'll really be up the creek if I don't pay my bills by Friday.

crep /krep/ v. (past tense and past participle crept) /krep/t [I] 1 to move very carefully and quietly so that no one will notice you: She crept down the hall, trying not to wake up her mom. 2 to move somewhere very slowly: a tractor creeping along the road at 15 mph 3 to gradually begin to appear: Bitterness crept into his voice. 4 to gradually increase: The total number of people out of work crept up to five million.

creep² n [C] (informal) 1 someone who you dis- like a lot: Get lost, you little creep! 2 give sb the creeps to make you feel nervous and slightly frightened: That house gives me the creeps.

creepy /'kripi/ adj making you feel nervous and slightly frightened: a really creepy movie cre·mate /kri'meit/ v [T] to burn the body of a dead person at a funeral ceremony —cre·ma·to·ri·um /kri'me tə rə mə/ n. [C,U] cre·ma·to·ri·um /kri'me tə rə mə/ n. (plural cre·ma·to·ri·ums or cre·ma·to·ri·a /kri'me tə rə è/) [C] a building in which the bodies of dead people are cremated cre·ole /'kriol/ n. 1 [C,U] ENGL. ARTS a language that is a combination of a European language and one or more others 2 Creole [C] a) someone whose family were originally from both Europe and Africa b) someone whose family were originally French settlers in the southern U.S. [Origin: 1700—1800 French créole, from Spanish, from Portuguese crioulo “black person born in Brazil, home-born slave,” from criar “to breed”) —creole adj.

crêpe /krɛp/ n. 1 [C] a very thin pancake 2 [U] thin light cloth with very small folded lines on its surface, made from cotton, silk, wool, etc.

crêpe paper n. [U] thin brightly colored paper with small folded lines on its surface, used for making decorations crept /krept/ v. the past tense and past participle of creep cres·cen·do /kres ə nˈdoʊ/ n. (plural crescendos) [C] ENGL. ARTS a gradual increase in the loudness of a piece of music until it becomes very loud cres·cent /kres ə n/ n. [C] a curved shape that is wider in the middle and pointed on the ends: a crescent moon [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French creissant, from creisere “to grow, increase,” from Latin crescere] ➔ see picture at SHAPE crest /krest/ n. [C] 1 (usually singular) the top of a hill or wave: It took us over an hour to reach the crest of the hill. 2 a pointed group of feathers on top of a bird’s head crest·fall·en /krest ˈfələn/ adj. (formal) disappointed and sad: Thomas was crestfallen when he heard the judge’s decision.

crèv·e·sæ·sæ /kroʊˈvæsə/ n. [C] EARTH SCIENCES a deep wide crack, especially in thick ice

crèv·i·ce /kriˈvi s/ n. [C] a narrow crack, especially in rock crew /kru/ n. [C] 1 all the people that work together on a ship, airplane, etc.: the crew of the space shuttle 2 a group of people who work together on something: the movie’s cast and crew [Origin: 1500—1600 crew “additional soldiers, reinforcements” (15—16 centuries), from Old French creue “increase,” from creisire]

c·crew cut n [C] a very short style of hair for men crib /ˈkrɪb/ n [C] a baby’s bed with bars around the sides ➔ see picture at BED

c·crib death n [C] the sudden and unexpected death of a healthy baby while s/he is asleep

c·crib she·et also c·crib note n. [C] (informal) something on which questions are written, usually used in order to cheat on a test

c·crick·et n [C] a small brown insect that can jump, and makes a short loud noise by rubbing its wings together 2 [U] a game in which two teams try to get points by hitting a ball and running between two sets of sticks

c·crime /ˈkraɪm/ n. 1 [U] illegal activities in general: There’s very little crime in this neighborhood. 2 [C,U] something that expresses a desire to commit crime. 3 methods of crime prevention 4 The crime rate has gone down in the last few years. 5 Violent crime is up by 8%.

CRIMES THAT INVOLVE STEALING THINGS

Theft — the crime of stealing things: car theft — the crime of stealing a car. 2 burglar — the crime of stealing something from a house. 3 stealing — the crime of taking things from a store without paying for them

CRIMES THAT INVOLVE ATTACKING PEOPLE

Assault — a crime in which someone is physically attacked

Mugging — a crime in which someone is attacked and robbed in a public place

Murder — a crime in which someone is deliberately killed ➔ ATTACK, CRIMINAL, STEAL

CRIMINAL ² adj relating to crime: a criminal record (= an official record of crimes someone has committed) 2 street gangs involved in criminal activity: Drinking and driving is a criminal offense (= a crime).

CRIMINAL ³ adv but not illegal: It’s criminal to charge so much to go to a movie. ➔ criminally criminal

crimp 1 /krimp/ n [countable] to put a crimp in/on sth to reduce or restrict something, so that it is difficult to do something else: Failing wheat prices have put a crimp on farm incomes.

crimp 2 /ˈkrɪmp/ v [T] to restrict the development, use, or growth of something: The lack of effective advertising has cramped sales.

crimson /ˈkrɪmzn/ n [U] a dark slightly purple red color — crimson adj

cringe /ˈkrɪŋɡ/ v [I] 1 to move away from someone or something because you are afraid: a dog cringing in the corner 2 to feel embarrassed by something: Paul cringed at the thought of having to speak in public. — cringe n [C]

crinkle /ˈkrɪŋkl/ also crinkle up v [I,T] to become covered with small folds, or to make something do this: Mandy crinkled her nose in disgust. — crinkled adj. — crinkly adj

crip·ple /ˈkrɪpl/ n [C] (old-fashioned) someone who has difficulty walking because his/her legs are damaged or injured. This word is considered to be offensive, and you should avoid using it. It is better to say that someone is disabled.

cripple v [T] 1 to injure someone so she can no longer walk: He was crippled in a car accident. 2 to make something very weak, or damage it: The country’s economy has been crippled by drought. — crippled adj. — crippling adj

critis·sис /krɪˈsɪsɪs/ n (plural crises /ˈkrɪsɪsɪz/) [C,U] a time when a situation is very bad or dangerous: an economic/budget/financial etc. crisis | The president faces a political crisis. | In times of crisis, you find out who your real friends are. | The stock market is suffering from a crisis of confidence.

crisp /krɪsp/ adj 1 pleasantly dry, and hard enough to be broken easily: He stepped carefully through the crisp, deep snow. 2 food that is crisp is pleasantly hard or firm when you bite it: a nice crisp salad 3 paper or clothes that are crisp are fresh, clean, and new: a crisp $20 bill 4 weather that is crisp is cold and dry: a crisp winter morning

---

THE SAURUS

Types of criminals

offender (Law) – someone who is guilty of a crime

thief – someone who steals things

robber – someone who steals things, especially from stores or banks

burglar – someone who goes into buildings to steal things

shoplifter – someone who takes things from stores without paying for them

pickpocket – someone who steals things from people's pockets

attacker – someone who uses violence to hurt someone

mugger – someone who attacks and steals from another person in a public place murderer – someone who deliberately kills another person → CRIME

---

crimp 1 /ˈkrɪmp/ n [countable] to put a crimp in/on sth to reduce or restrict something, so that it is difficult to do something else: Falling wheat prices have put a crimp on farm incomes.

crimp 2 v [T] to restrict the development, use, or growth of something: The lack of effective advertising has cramped sales.

crimson /ˈkrɪmzn/ n [U] a dark slightly purple red color — crimson adj

cringe /ˈkrɪŋɡ/ v [I] 1 to move away from someone or something because you are afraid: a dog cringing in the corner 2 to feel embarrassed by something: Paul cringed at the thought of having to speak in public. — cringe n [C]

crinkle /ˈkrɪŋkl/ also crinkle up v [I,T] to become covered with small folds, or to make something do this: Mandy crinkled her nose in disgust. — crinkled adj. — crinkly adj

crip·ple /ˈkrɪpl/ n [C] (old-fashioned) someone who has difficulty walking because his/her legs are damaged or injured. This word is considered to be offensive, and you should avoid using it. It is better to say that someone is disabled.

cripple v [T] 1 to injure someone so she can no longer walk: He was crippled in a car accident. 2 to make something very weak, or damage it: The country’s economy has been crippled by drought. — crippled adj. — crippling adj

critis·sис /krɪˈsɪsɪs/ n (plural crises /ˈkrɪsɪsɪz/) [C,U] a time when a situation is very bad or dangerous: an economic/budget/financial etc. crisis | The president faces a political crisis. | In times of crisis, you find out who your real friends are. | The stock market is suffering from a crisis of confidence.

crisp /krɪsp/ adj 1 pleasantly dry, and hard enough to be broken easily: He stepped carefully through the crisp, deep snow. 2 food that is crisp is pleasantly hard or firm when you bite it: a nice crisp salad 3 paper or clothes that are crisp are fresh, clean, and new: a crisp $20 bill 4 weather that is crisp is cold and dry: a crisp winter morning

---

THE SAURUS

Types of criminals

offender (Law) – someone who is guilty of a crime

thief – someone who steals things

robber – someone who steals things, especially from stores or banks

burglar – someone who goes into buildings to steal things

shoplifter – someone who takes things from stores without paying for them

pickpocket – someone who steals things from people's pockets

attacker – someone who uses violence to hurt someone

mugger – someone who attacks and steals from another person in a public place

murderer – someone who deliberately kills another person → CRIME

---

crimp 1 /ˈkrɪmp/ n [countable] to put a crimp in/on sth to reduce or restrict something, so that it is difficult to do something else: Falling wheat prices have put a crimp on farm incomes.

crimp 2 v [T] to restrict the development, use, or growth of something: The lack of effective advertising has cramped sales.

crimson /ˈkrɪmzn/ n [U] a dark slightly purple red color — crimson adj

cringe /ˈkrɪŋɡ/ v [I] 1 to move away from someone or something because you are afraid: a dog cringing in the corner 2 to feel embarrassed by something: Paul cringed at the thought of having to speak in public. — cringe n [C]

crinkle /ˈkrɪŋkl/ also crinkle up v [I,T] to become covered with small folds, or to make something do this: Mandy crinkled her nose in disgust. — crinkled adj. — crinkly adj

crip·ple /ˈkrɪpl/ n [C] (old-fashioned) someone who has difficulty walking because his/her legs are damaged or injured. This word is considered to be offensive, and you should avoid using it. It is better to say that someone is disabled.

cripple v [T] 1 to injure someone so she can no longer walk: He was crippled in a car accident. 2 to make something very weak, or damage it: The country’s economy has been crippled by drought. — crippled adj. — crippling adj

critis·sис /krɪˈsɪsɪs/ n (plural crises /ˈkrɪsɪsɪz/) [C,U] a time when a situation is very bad or dangerous: an economic/budget/financial etc. crisis | The president faces a political crisis. | In times of crisis, you find out who your real friends are. | The stock market is suffering from a crisis of confidence.

crisp /krɪsp/ adj 1 pleasantly dry, and hard enough to be broken easily: He stepped carefully through the crisp, deep snow. 2 food that is crisp is pleasantly hard or firm when you bite it: a nice crisp salad 3 paper or clothes that are crisp are fresh, clean, and new: a crisp $20 bill 4 weather that is crisp is cold and dry: a crisp winter morning

---

THE SAURUS

Types of criminals

offender (Law) – someone who is guilty of a crime

thief – someone who steals things

robber – someone who steals things, especially from stores or banks

burglar – someone who goes into buildings to steal things

shoplifter – someone who takes things from stores without paying for them

pickpocket – someone who steals things from people's pockets

attacker – someone who uses violence to hurt someone

mugger – someone who attacks and steals from another person in a public place

murderer – someone who deliberately kills another person → CRIME
cri·tique1 /krɪˈtɪk/ n. [C] a piece of writing describing the good and bad qualities of a play, film, book, etc.; a critique of John Updike’s latest novel critique2 v. [T] to judge whether someone or something is good or bad; a group of artists meeting to critique each other’s work crit·ter /ˈkrɪtər/ n. [C] (spoken) a creature, especially an animal croach /krəʊk/ v. 1 [I] to make a deep low sound like the sound a frog makes 2 [I, I] to speak in a low rough voice 3 [I] ( slang ) to die — croak n. [C] cro·chet /kroʊˈʃeɪt/ v. [T, T] to make clothes, hats, etc. from yarn, using a special needle with a hook at one end cro·co·dile /ˈkrəʊkəˌdaɪl/ n. [C] a large reptile with a long body and a long mouth with sharp teeth that lives in rivers and lakes in hot countries [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French crocodile, from Latin crocodilus, from Greek, “lizard, crocodile,” from kroko “small stone” + drilos “worm”] cro·cus /ˈkrəʊkəs/ n. [C] a small purple, yellow, or white flower that appears in spring crois·san·t /ˈkrwəsˌsānt/ n. [C] a curved piece of soft bread, usually eaten for breakfast — see picture at bread cro·ny /ˈkrəʊni/ n. (plural cronies) [C] (informal, disapproving) one of a group of friends who use their power or influence to help each other: one of his political cronies crook /krʊk/ n. [C] 1 ( informal ) a criminal or dishonest person: a bunch of crooks 2 the crook of your arm the inside part of your arm, where it bends crook·ed /ˈkrʊkəd/ adj. 1 not straight: crooked teeth crop /ˈkrɒp/ n. 1 [U] to sing or speak softly about love — crooner n. [C] crop /ˈkrɒp/ v. (cropped, cropping) [T] to make something shorter by cutting it: Her hair was closely cropped.
crop up phr. v. to suddenly happen or appear; Several problems cropped up soon after we bought the car.
cro·quet /ˈkrəʊkət/ n. [U] an outdoor game in which you hit heavy balls under curved wires using a wooden hammer cross /kros/ 1 [U] to go from one side of a road, river, place, etc. to the other: Look both ways before crossing the street! 2 [U] to cross the Pacific; Thousands of people cross the border from Mexico to the U.S. each year 3 [T] Thompson was the first runner to cross the finish line. 4 [T] if two or more roads, lines, etc. cross, or if one crosses another, they go across each other: There’s a post office where Main Street crosses Elm. 5 [T] if you cross your arms, legs, or ankles, you put one on top of the other: She sat down and crossed her legs. 6 cross your mind if something crosses your mind, you suddenly think about it: It never crossed my mind that she might be sick. 7 [T] to make someone angry by refusing to do what she wants: I wouldn’t cross her if I were you. 8 cross the line to go beyond the limits of proper behavior and begin acting in an unacceptable way: The officers crossed the line when they began beating the suspect. 9 [T] to mix two different types of animals or plants to produce young animals or plants: Wolves can be crossed with domestic dogs. 8 cross my heart (and hope to die) (spoken) used to say that you promise that you will do something, or that what you are saying is true 9 cross your fingers also keep your fingers crossed used to say that you hope something will happen: People vote, cross their fingers, and hope for the best. [Origin: 900—1000 Old
C

cross

Norse kross, from an unrecorded Old Irish cross, from Latin crux] cross sth ↔ off pht v. to draw a line through something on a list to show that you have dealt with it: Cross off their names as they arrive.
cross sth ↔ out pht v. to draw a line through something that you have written because it is not correct: The salesmen crossed out $222 and wrote $225.
cross-legged adj., usu. (in a particular sitting position with your knees apart and one foot on the floor) having knees apart and one foot behind the other. You can sit cross-legged on the floor.
cross-leggedly adv. in a sitting position with your knees apart and one foot over the opposite leg: We sat cross-legged on the floor.
cross-over /'krOswəvər/ n. [C, U] a situation in which something or someone is popular or successful in different areas, or is liked by different types of people, for example when a popular song is liked by people who usually like only serious music. The song became a crossover hit.
cross-purposes n. at cross-purposes if two people are at cross-purposes, they become confused because they think they are talking about the same thing, although they are not.
cross-reference n. [C] a note in a book telling you to look on a different page for more information.
cross-roads /'krOsrəʊdz/ n. (plural crossroads) [C] 1 a place where two roads cross each other 2 a time when you have to make an important decision about your future: Neale’s career was at a crossroads.
cross-section, cross-section n. [C] 1 a group of people or things that is typical of a larger group: a cross-section of the American public 2 something that has been cut in half so that you can look at the inside, or a drawing of this: a cross section of the brain.
cross street n. [C] a large street that crosses another street: The nearest cross street to our house is Victory Boulevard.
cross-trainer n. [C] usually plural a type of shoe that can be worn for playing different types of sports.
cross-training n. [U] the activity of training for more than one sport at the same time.
crosswalk /'krOswɔːk/ n. [C] a marked place where people can cross a road safely. crossword n. [C] a word game in which you write the answers to clues (=questions) in a pattern of numbered boxes → see picture at PUZZLE.
crotch /krʌtʃ/ n. [C] the place where your legs join at the top, or the part of a piece of clothing that covers this.
crotchety adj. informally annoyed or made angry: a crotchety old man.
crouch /'krʌstʃ/ also crouch down v. [I] to lower your body close to the ground by bending your knees and back: We crouched down behind the wall to hide. → see picture on page A9.
crow /kraʊ/ n. [C] 1 a large black bird that makes a loud sound 2 as the crow flies used to describe the distance between two places when measured in a straight line: My house is ten miles from here as the crow flies.
crow v. [I] 1 to make the loud sound of a rooster 2 to talk very proudly about yourself or your achievements: His supporters are still crowing about the court’s decision.
crowbar /'kraʊbɑːr/ n. [C] a strong iron bar with a curved end, used for forcing things open.
crowd /'kraʊd/ n. [C] a large group of people in one place: a crowd of reporters 1 A crowd gathered to watch the parade. 2 [plural] ordinary people: He likes to stand out from the crowd.
The attack on Pearl Harbor was a crucial moment in American history.

The prisoners were all crowded around in a small cell. Shoppers crowded the malls in the week before Christmas.

Crowds are very full of people or things: a crowded room The streets were crowded with tourists.

The crowns were made of gold and jewels that a king or queen wears on his/her head, so that s/he officially becomes king or queen:

The career was crowned by the best actor award.

He was crowned at the age of six.

Children can be very cruel to other children: Children can be very cruel to each other.

Cruelties are behavior or actions that are cruel: cruelty to animals The cruelties of war.

Her cruel father's death was a cruel blow.

Her cruel behavior or actions that are cruel: cruelty to animals The cruelties of war.

Show business can be cruel.

Making someone suffer or feel unhappy: Her father's death was a cruel blow.

Deliberately hurting people or animals: Children can be very cruel to each other.

Making someone suffer or feel unhappy: Her father's death was a cruel blow.

Thoughtless, spiteful, abusive, vicious, malicious — cruelly

Making someone suffer or feel unhappy: Her father's death was a cruel blow.

Thoughtless, spiteful, abusive, vicious, malicious — cruelly

Making someone suffer or feel unhappy: Her father's death was a cruel blow.

Thoughtless, spiteful, abusive, vicious, malicious — cruelly

Making someone suffer or feel unhappy: Her father's death was a cruel blow.

Thoughtless, spiteful, abusive, vicious, malicious — cruelly

Making someone suffer or feel unhappy: Her father's death was a cruel blow.

Thoughtless, spiteful, abusive, vicious, malicious — cruelly

Making someone suffer or feel unhappy: Her father's death was a cruel blow.

Thoughtless, spiteful, abusive, vicious, malicious — cruelly

Making someone suffer or feel unhappy: Her father's death was a cruel blow.

Thoughtless, spiteful, abusive, vicious, malicious — cruelly

Making someone suffer or feel unhappy: Her father's death was a cruel blow.

Thoughtless, spiteful, abusive, vicious, malicious — cruelly

Making someone suffer or feel unhappy: Her father's death was a cruel blow.

Thoughtless, spiteful, abusive, vicious, malicious — cruelly

Making someone suffer or feel unhappy: Her father's death was a cruel blow.

Thoughtless, spiteful, abusive, vicious, malicious — cruelly crush

/craʃ/ v. 1 [T] to press something because you think you are usually lives in water [Latin crusta] —crushed adj.

CRUSH n. 1 singular a noise like the sound of something being crushed: the crunch of footsteps on gravel —see picture on page A7. 2 singular a difficult situation caused by a lack of something, especially money or time: the hospital’s budget crunch 3 the crunch also crunch time the moment in a situation when you must make an important decision: Crunch time is approaching for college applicants.

crusade /’kra:seɪd/ n. [C] a determined attempt to change something because you think you are morally right: a crusade for better schools —crusading adj.

crust /’kraʊst/ n. 1 [singular] the surface of the lake as covered by a thin thing: crust of ice. 2 [plural] a hard outer shell and several pairs of legs, and usually lives in water [Latin crusta] —crustacean adj.

crusty /’kræstɪ/ adj. having a hard crust: crusty bread crutch /’krʌtʃ/ n. [C] usually plural one of a pair of sticks that you lean on to help you walk: He was on crutches after breaking his leg. 2 (disapproving) something that gives someone support or help, especially when this is not good for him/her: Tom uses those pills as a crutch.

crux /’krʌks/ n. the crux the most important part of a problem, question, argument, etc.: The budget plan is the crux of the dispute between the White House and Congress cry /’kraɪ/ v. (cried, cries) 1 [I] to produce tears from your eyes, usually because you are unhappy or hurt: What are you crying about? 2 [I] a woman crying over the death of her son. 3 [C] to cry for help.

CRUSHING /’kraʃɪŋ/ adj. very hard to deal with: He was/they were crushed by the news.

crushing /’kraʃɪŋ/ adj. very hard to deal with: He feels/they feel crushed by the news.

crushed /’kraʃt/ n. 1 [plural] a hard outer shell and several pairs of legs, and usually lives in water [Latin crusta] —crustacean adj.

crunch /’krʌntʃ/ v. 1 [T] to eat hard food in a way that —crunchy adj.

crunch 2 1 [I] to completely defeat someone or something, using severe methods: The uprising was crushed by the military. 2 to completely defeat someone or something, using severe methods: The army suffered a crushing defeat. 3 to completely defeat someone or something, using severe methods: The health care system is crying out for reform.

crunchy /’krʌntʃi/ adj. something being crushed: crunchy leaves.

crunching /’krʌntʃɪŋ/ adj. something being crushed: crunchy leaves.

crunchy /’krʌntʃi/ adj. something being crushed: crunchy leaves.
sad or upsetting: It would be a crying shame if the school had to close down.

crypt /ˈkrɪpt/ n. [C] a room under a church, used in past times for burying people cryptic /ˈkrɪptɪk/ adj. having a meaning that is hard to understand: a cryptic message —cryptically adv.

crystal /ˈkraɪstəl/ n. [U] high-quality clear glass: crystal wine glasses 2 [C,U] rock that is clear, or a piece of this 3 [C] a small evenly shaped object that forms naturally when a liquid becomes solid: ice crystals 4 [C] CHEMISTRY a solid substance that has atoms arranged in a regular repeated pattern: copper sulfate crystals [ORIGIN: 1000—1100 Old French cristal, from Latin crystallum, from Greek krystallos "ice, crystal"] crystal ball n. [C] a glass ball that you look into, that some people believe can show the future crystal clear adj. 1 clearly stated and easy to understand: I made it crystal clear that you weren’t allowed to go! 2 completely clear and clear: The lake was crystal clear.

crypticalize /ˈkrɪptɪˌlaɪz/ v. [T] 1 if a liquid crystallizes, it forms crystals 2 if an idea or plan crystallizes, it becomes clear in your mind: The recent events really crystallized my opposition to war.

c-section /ˈsɪs.ˌekʃən/ n. [C] a CESAREAN CT the written abbreviation of CONNECTICUT cub /ˈkʌb/ n. [C] the baby of a lion, bear, etc.

cub-hole /ˈkʌbˌhəʊl/ n. [C] a small space or room, used for storing things cube /ˈkjuːb/ n. [C] 1 a solid square object with six equal sides: a sugar cube 2 ice cube —see picture at SHAPE 2 the cube of sth MATH the number you get when you multiply a number by itself twice: The cube of 3 is 27. [ORIGIN: 1500—1600 Latin cubus, from Greek kybos "cube, vertebra*"] cube √ v. [T] 1 MATH to multiply a number by itself twice: 2 cubed is 8. 2 to cut something into cubes cube root n. [C] MATH the cube root of a particular number is the number which, when multiplied by itself twice, equals that number. For example, the cube root of 64 is 4. — see SQUARE ROOT cubic /ˈkjuːbɪk/ adj. CUBIC INCH/CENTIMETER/YARD etc. MATH a measurement of space which is calculated by multiplying the length of something by its width and height cubicule /ˈkuːbɪkəl/ n. [C] a small partly enclosed part of a room: office cubicles [ORIGIN: 1400—1500 Latin cubiculum, from cubare "to lie"]

'Cub Scouts' n. [plural] the part of the BOY SCOUTS that is for younger boys cuckoo /ˈkʌkoʊ/ n. [plural cuckoos] [C] a gray European bird that puts its eggs in other birds’ nests and that has a call that sounds like its name [ORIGIN: 1200—1300 Old French cicu, from the sound it makes] cu-cum-ber /ˈkyu.ˈkʌmbər/ n. [C] a long thin green vegetable, usually eaten raw [ORIGIN: 1300—1400 Old French coconbre, from Latin cucumis, from Greek krystallos "ice, crystal"] cryptic /ˈkrɪptɪk/ adj. having a meaning that is hard to understand: a cryptic message —cryptically adv.

cryptically /ˈkrɪptɪkəli/ adv.

cryptically /ˈkrɪptɪkəli/ adv.

crypticalize /ˈkrɪptɪˌlaɪz/ v. [T] 1 if a liquid crystallizes, it forms crystals 2 if an idea or plan crystallizes, it becomes clear in your mind: The recent events really crystallized my opposition to war.

crypticalize /ˈkrɪptɪˌlaɪz/ v. [T] 1 if a liquid crystallizes, it forms crystals 2 if an idea or plan crystallizes, it becomes clear in your mind: The recent events really crystallized my opposition to war.

cryp·tic /krɪpˈtɪk/ adj. having a meaning that is hard to understand: a cryptic message —cryptically adv.

cryptically /ˈkrɪptɪkəli/ adv.

THESARUS hug, embrace, hold, wrap your arms around sb ➔ HUG cuddle up phr. v. to lie or sit very close to someone or something: The children cuddled up to each other in the dark.

cuddly /ˈkʌdlɪ/ adj. soft, warm, and nice to hold: a cuddly stuffed animal cue /ˈkyu/ n. [C] 1 an action or event that is a signal for something else to happen: That was a cue for me to leave. 2 a word or action that is a signal for someone to speak or act in a play, movie, etc.: Tony stood by the stage, waiting for his cue. 3 [right/as if] on cue happening or done at exactly the right moment: Then Bart walked in, right on cue. 4 take a/your cue from sb to copy what someone else does because s/he does it correctly 5 a long straight wooden stick used for hitting the ball in games such as POOL 6 a movement of the hand, body, or face that communicates meaning without words: Cues such as smiling or lowering your eyes show that you are attracted to someone.
cuff /ˈkʌf/ n. [C] 1 the end of a sleeve 2 a narrow piece of cloth turned up at the bottom of your pants 3 off-the-cuff without previous thought or preparation: an off-the-cuff remark 4 cuffs [plural] (informal) HANDCUFFS cuff √ v. [T] (informal) to put HANDCUFFS on someone cuff link n. [C] a small piece of jewelry that a man can use instead of a button to fasten the cuff of his shirt culinary /ˈkjuːlərəri/ adj. having a meaning that is hard to understand: a cryptic message —cryptically adv.

culinary /ˈkjuːlərəri/ adj. having a meaning that is hard to understand: a cryptic message —cryptically adv.

culinary /ˈkjuːlərəri/ adj. having a meaning that is hard to understand: a cryptic message —cryptically adv.

culinary /ˈkjuːlərəri/ adj. having a meaning that is hard to understand: a cryptic message —cryptically adv.
Cull /kəl/ v  1 [T] (formal) to collect information from different places: data culled from various sources 2 [T] to kill some of the animals in a group so that the size of the group does not increase too much. —cull n [C] culminating in with sth phr v to end with a particular event, especially a big or important one: a series of arguments that culminated in divorce culmination of sth something important that happens after a period of development: That discovery was the culmination of his life’s work.

culpafully /ˈkʌlpufl/ adj (formal) deserving blame: Both sides were equally culpable.

cult /ˈkəlt/ n [C] 1 someone who has done something wrong: Police are still looking for the culprit. 2 the reason for a particular problem or difficulty: High labor costs are the main culprit for the rise in prices. [Origin: 1600—1700 Anglo-French cul (from culpable “guilty”) + prit “ready (to prove it)”] cultivate /ˈkʌltɪveɪt/ v 1 to work land for growing crops and plants 2 to develop a particular skill, quality, or attitude:

—culminating /ˈkʌlmiəntɪŋ/ adj 1 relating to a particular society and its way of life: England has a rich cultural heritage. 2 relating to art, literature, music, etc.: a guide to cultural events in London. The museum is a welcome addition to the city’s cultural life. 3 cultural diffusion SOCIAL SCIENCE the spread of ideas. CUSTOMS (traditional ways of doing something), etc. between people from different cultures 4 cultural diversity SOCIAL SCIENCE the fact that there are many clearly different cultures in a city, country, etc. 5 cultural institution SOCIAL SCIENCE an important practice or custom (=traditional way of doing something) that has existed in a society or within a social group for a long time. —cultural adj: Europe is a culturally diverse continent.

culture /ˈkʌltʃər/ n 1 [C/U] SOCIAL SCIENCE the art, beliefs, behavior, ideas, etc. of a particular society: the culture of ancient Greece. 2 [U] ENG. LANG. ARTS art, literature, music, etc.: Boston is a good place for anyone who is interested in culture. 3 [C/U] BIOLOGY the process of growing bacteria for scientific use, or the bacteria or cells produced by this: tissue culture [Origin: 1600—1700 Old French, Latin cultura, from calx “care, worship”] cultured /ˈkʌltʃərd/ adj intelligent, polite, and interested in art, music, etc.

culture shock n [singular, U] a feeling of being confused or anxious when you visit a foreign country for the first time cumbersome /ˈkʌmbɜrsm/ adj 1 a cumbersome process is slow and difficult: Getting a passport can be a cumbersome process. 2 heavy and difficult to move or use: cumbersome equipment

culture shock n [singular, U] a feeling of being confused or anxious when you visit a foreign country for the first time

cumbersome /ˈkʌmbɜrsm/ adj 1 a cumbersome process is slow and difficult: Getting a passport can be a cumbersome process. 2 heavy and difficult to move or use: cumbersome equipment

culture shock n [singular, U] a feeling of being confused or anxious when you visit a foreign country for the first time

cultural /ˈkʌltʃʊərəl/ adj 1 relating to a particular society and its way of life: England has a rich cultural heritage. 2 relating to art, literature, music, etc.: a guide to cultural events in London. The museum is a welcome addition to the city’s cultural life. 3 cultural diffusion SOCIAL SCIENCE the spread of ideas. CUSTOMS (traditional ways of doing something), etc. between people from different cultures 4 cultural diversity SOCIAL SCIENCE the fact that there are many clearly different cultures in a city, country, etc. 5 cultural institution SOCIAL SCIENCE an important practice or custom (=traditional way of doing something) that has existed in a society or within a social group for a long time. —cultural adj: Europe is a culturally diverse continent.

cultural /ˈkʌltʃʊərəl/ adj 1 relating to a particular society and its way of life: England has a rich cultural heritage. 2 relating to art, literature, music, etc.: a guide to cultural events in London. The museum is a welcome addition to the city’s cultural life. 3 cultural diffusion SOCIAL SCIENCE the spread of ideas. CUSTOMS (traditional ways of doing something), etc. between people from different cultures 4 cultural diversity SOCIAL SCIENCE the fact that there are many clearly different cultures in a city, country, etc. 5 cultural institution SOCIAL SCIENCE an important practice or custom (=traditional way of doing something) that has existed in a society or within a social group for a long time. —cultural adj: Europe is a culturally diverse continent.
cup² v. (cupped, cupping) [T] to form your hands into the shape of a cup: Greta cupped her hands around the mug.

cup-board /ˌkʌp.bɔːd/ n. [C] a piece of furniture with doors and shelves, used for storing clothes, plates, food, etc. [Origin: 1500—1600 cupboard “shelf or table for cups” (14—18 centuries)] cup-cake /ˈkʌp.kɛk/ n. [C] a small round cake cu·ri·os·i·ty /kyʊˈrɪəsɪti/ n. [U] (formal) very strong desire for something, especially money or property (e.g. greed) cu·rable /ˈkərəbəl/ adj. able to be cured (and) incurable: a curable disease cu·rar·i·tor /kyʊərɪˈtɪərɪər/ n. [C] someone who is in charge of a museum curb /kɜːr/ n. [C] the edge of a sidewalk, where it joins the road [Origin: 1400—1500 French courbe “curve, curved piece of wood or metal,” from Latin curvus “bent, curved”]

THE SAURUS

edge, perimeter, rim, margin ➔ EDGE

Thesaurus

—curiously adv.
curl¹ /kɜːrl/ n. [C] 1 a piece of hair that hangs in a curved shape: a little girl with blonde curls ➔ see picture at hair 2 something that forms a curved shape: a curl of smoke ➔ curly adj.
curl² v. [T] to form a curved shape, or to make something do this: I don’t know if I should curl my hair or leave it straight. | Thick smoke curled from the chimney. | The phone cord was curled around her hand.
curl up prep. v. 1 to lie or sit comfortably with your arms and legs bent close to your body: Pepe curled up on the couch to watch TV. 2 if paper, leaves, etc. curl up, their edges become curved and point up curl-er /ˈkɜːrlər/ n. [C usually plural] a small metal or plastic tube for making hair curl ‘curling iron n. [C] a piece of electrical equipment that you heat and use to curl your hair cur·ral /ˈkɜːrəl/ n. [C] a small round red or black berry, usually dried [Origin: 1500—1600 raising of Corsante “raisin of Corinth” (14—17 centuries), from Corinth city and area in Greece] cur·ren·cy /ˌkɜːrənsi, ˈkərənsi/ n. (plural currencies) 1 [C,U] the type of money that a country uses: Japanese currency | foreign currency

cur·re·nent /ˌkɜːrəˈnɛnt, ˈkær-/ n. [C] a continuous movement of water or air in a particular direction: We were swimming against a strong current. 2 a flow of money, bill, coin, cash, change ➔ MONEY

Thesaurus

2 [U] the state of being accepted or used by a lot of people: During the 1880s, Marxism began to gain currency. [Origin: 1600—1700 Medieval Latin currentia “flowing,” from Latin currere] cur·rent² /ˈkɜːrənt/ adj. happening, existing, or being used now: Sales for the current year are low: the current edition of “Newsweek” [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French curant, present participle of courir “to run,” from Latin currere]

Thesaurus

present, existing, prevailing ➔ PRESENT current current affairs \( n \) [U] important political or social events that are happening now currently /ˈkɜrəntli/ \( \text{adj} \) at the present time: She's currently studying in Japan. These are the most effective drugs currently available.

curricular /ˈkɜriklər/ \( n \) (plural curricula /-kərɪˈleərə/ or curriculums) \( [C] \) all of the subjects that are taught at a school, college, etc. [Origin: 1800—1900 Modern Latin, Latin, “running, course,” from currere]

curry /ˈkəri/ \( n \) \( [C,U] \) meat or vegetables cooked in a spicy sauce curtains /ˈkɜtən/ \( n \) \( [C,U] \) a screen that moves to show where you are writing cursed /ˈkɜrsd/ \( adj \) be cursed with bad luck: All his life, he's been both a blessing and a curse.

curtail /ˈkɜrtəl/ \( v \) \( [T]\) to reduce something: new laws to curtail immigration —curtailment /ˈkɜrtəlmənt/ \( n \) \( [C,U] \)

curtain /ˈkɜtrən/ \( n \) \( [C,U] \) something that hangs from above to cover a window, divide a room, etc.: a shower curtain | a new pair of curtains | Can you close/draw/pull the curtains for me? [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French cortine, from Late Latin cortina, from Latin cohors “enclosure, court”] curtsey, curtsy /ˈkərsə/ \( v \) (curtied, curties) \( [I]\) if a woman curtsies, she bends her knees with one foot in front of the other as a sign of respect for an important person [Origin: 1500—1600 courtesy] —cursy /ˈkɜrsi/ \( n \) \( [C] \) curse /kərs/ \( v \) \( [I,T]\) to swear:

1. [I] to swear: He cursed at the lawn mower when it didn't start. 2. [T] to say or think bad things about someone or something because he, she, or it that has made you angry: I cursed myself for not buying the car insurance sooner. 3. [T] to ask God or a magical power to make it more comfortable: I cursed the house.

curse on /kərs on/ \( v \) \( [T]\) to be angry at someone: She cursed on me.

custom /ˈkəstəm/ \( n \) \( [C]\) the people in a particular society do because it is traditional: the custom of throwing rice at weddings | It's the custom for the bride's parents to pay for the wedding. | Chinese customs and culture
THE SAURUS

habit, tradition, practice, convention ➔ HABIT

2 customs [plural] the place where your bags are checked for illegal goods when you go into a country: It took forever to go through customs.

[Origin: 1100–1200 Old French custume, from Latin consuetudo, from consessere “to make someone used to something”] cus·tom·ary /ˈkʌstəmərē/ adj. usual or normal: It is customary for a local band to lead the parade.

—customarily /ˈkʌstəməriəli/ adv.

cus·tom·ize /ˈkʌstəmaɪz/ v. [T] to change something to make it more appropriate for a particular person or purpose: a customized software package

’custom-built adj. a custom-built car, machine, etc. is built specially for a particular person

cus·tom·er /ˈkʌstəmer/ n. [C] someone who buys things from a store or company: Dow is one of our biggest customers. | Foster was a regular customer at Brennan’s Restaurant. | efforts to improve customer service client – someone who pays for a service: a business meeting with clients.

THE SAURUS

shopper – someone who goes to a store looking for things to buy: streets full of Christmas shoppers patron (formal) – someone who uses a particular store, restaurant, company, etc.: the patrons of the restaurant consumer – anyone who buys goods or uses services: the rights of consumers buyer – someone who buys something very expensive, such as a car or a house: first-time home buyers ➔ STORE

2 MAKE SHORTER [T] to make something shorter using a knife, scissors, etc.: We cut the grass once a week. | Did you get your hair cut?

THE SAURUS

saw – to cut wood, using a saw (= a tool with a row of sharp points) chop down – to make a tree fall down by cutting it mow – to cut grass using a special machine: I need to mow the lawn.
trim – to cut off a small amount of something to make it look neater, for example hair or a bush snip – to cut something quickly, using scissors

3 REDUCE [T] to reduce the amount of something: You need to cut the amount of fat in your diet. | The company had to close several factories to cut costs. | The number of soldiers had to be cut in half.

THE SAURUS

reduce, lower, decrease, slash, roll back ➔ REDUCE

4 INJURE [T] to injure yourself or someone else with a knife or something else that is sharp: He cut his finger on a piece of broken glass. | She fell and cut her head open.

5 cut sb free/loose to cut something such as a... cut

rope or metal in order to let someone escape: Firemen were carefully cutting the driver free from the wreckage.

6 MAKE A HOLE/MARK [T] to make a mark in the surface of something, open something, etc. using a sharp tool: She used a saw to cut a hole in the ice. | Strange letters had been cut into the stone.

7 GO A QUICK WAY [I] to go somewhere by a quicker and more direct way than usual: We cut through/across our neighbor's yard.

8 ON A COMPUTER [T] to remove writing, a picture, etc. from a computer document: Cut and paste the picture into a new file (= remove it and move it to another place).

9 REMOVE PARTS FROM A MOVIE, ETC. [T] to remove parts from a movie, book, speech, etc.: The original version was cut by more than 30 minutes.

10 cut corners to do something less well than you should, in order to save time, effort, or money: Parents are worried that the city is cutting corners in education.

11 cut class/school to deliberately not go to class or school

12 cut your losses to stop doing something that is failing so that you do not waste any more money, time, or effort: He decided to cut his losses and sell the business.

13 cut sth short to end something earlier than you had planned: His career was cut short by an injury.

14 not cut it to not be good enough to do something: Barry's just not cutting it as a journalist.

15 cut it close to unfairly go in front of someone because something is wrong with the telephone connection

16 be cut off if a place is cut off, it is difficult or impossible to get to or leave: The ski resort was cut off by a heavy snowfall.

17 cut sb off to interrupt someone: He cut her off in mid-sentence.

18 cut out to remove something by cutting it with a knife or scissors: The children cut star shapes out of colored paper.

19 cut it that out (spoken) used in order to tell someone to stop doing something that is annoying: You: Cut that out, you two, or you'll go to your rooms.

20 not be cut out for sth/to be sth not to have the qualities that you need for a particular job or activity: I decided I wasn't really cut out to be a teacher.

21 cut sth ↔ up to cut something into smaller pieces: Cut up two carrots and three potatoes.

22 cut sth off to separate something by cutting it from other people who are waiting to do something: Some idiot cut in front of me on the freeway and almost caused an accident.

23 cut off phr. v. 1 cut sth ↔ off to separate something by cutting it away from the main part: Cut the top off a large ripe pineapple. | His finger was cut off in the accident. 2 cut sth ↔ off to stop the supply of something: They're going to cut off our electricity if you don't pay that bill. 3 be/get cut off to be unable to finish talking to someone because something is wrong with the telephone connection 4 be cut off if a place is cut off, it is difficult or impossible to get to or leave: The ski resort was cut off by a heavy snowfall. 5 cut sb off to interrupt someone: He cut her off in mid-sentence.

24 cut across if a problem or feeling cuts across different groups of people, they are all affected by it: Basketball's popularity cuts across racial lines.

25 cut sth ↔ back phr. v. to reduce the amount, size, cost, etc. of something: Education spending cannot be cut back any further. | The company is attempting to cut back on expenses.

26 cut down phr. v. 1 to eat, drink, or use less of something, especially in order to improve your health: I've always smoked, but I'm trying to cut down. | I'm trying to cut down on the fat in my diet. 2 cut sth ↔ down to reduce the amount of something: Email cuts down the amount of paper passed between staff. | By getting the design right, you can cut down on accidents. 3 cut sth ↔ down to cut a tree so that the whole of it falls to the ground: Beautiful old oaks had been cut down to build houses.

27 cut in phr. v. cut in front/cut in line to unfairly go in front of other people who are waiting to do something: Some idiot cut in front of me on the freeway and almost caused an accident.

28 cut off phr. v. 1 cut sth ↔ off to separate something by cutting it away from the main part: Cut the top off a large ripe pineapple. | His finger was cut off in the accident. 2 cut sth ↔ off to stop the supply of something: They're going to cut off our electricity if you don't pay that bill. 3 be/get cut off to be unable to finish talking to someone because something is wrong with the telephone connection 4 be cut off if a place is cut off, it is difficult or impossible to get to or leave: The ski resort was cut off by a heavy snowfall. 5 cut sb off to interrupt someone: He cut her off in mid-sentence.

29 cut across if a problem or feeling cuts across different groups of people, they are all affected by it: Basketball's popularity cuts across racial lines.

30 cut sth ↔ back phr. v. to reduce the amount, size, cost, etc. of something: Education spending cannot be cut back any further. | The company is attempting to cut back on expenses.

31 cut down phr. v. 1 to eat, drink, or use less of something, especially in order to improve your health: I've always smoked, but I'm trying to cut down. | I'm trying to cut down on the fat in my diet. 2 cut sth ↔ down to reduce the amount of something: Email cuts down the amount of paper passed between staff. | By getting the design right, you can cut down on accidents. 3 cut sth ↔ down to cut a tree so that the whole of it falls to the ground: Beautiful old oaks had been cut down to build houses.

32 cut in phr. v. cut in front/cut in line to unfairly go in front of other people who are waiting to do something: Some idiot cut in front of me on the freeway and almost caused an accident.
2 smart in a way that can seem rude: Ignore him; he's just trying to be cute. —cute·ly adv. —cute·ness n [U] cy·a·nide /ˈsɪənɪd/ n [C] the hard thin skin at the bottom of your fingernails cut·ler·y /ˈkʌtli/ n [U] knives, forks, and spoons [silverware] cut·let /ˈkʌtli/ n. [C] a small flat piece of meat: veal cutlets cut·off /ˈkʌtɒf/ n. [C] 1 a time or level at which something stops: The cutoff date for applying was June 3rd. 2 a cutoff (plural) a pair of shorts that you make by cutting off the bottom part of a pair of pants 'cut-rate' also 'cut-price' adj. cheaper than normal: cut-rate insurance cut·ter /ˈkʌtər/ n. [C] a tool that cuts things: wire cutters | a cookie cutter cut·throat /ˈkʌtˌθrɔʊt/ adj. a cutthroat activity or business involves people competing with each other in an unpleasant way: cutthroat competition cut·ting /ˈkʌtɪŋ/ adj. unkind and intended to upset someone: a cutting remark cut·ting board n. [C] a piece of wood or plastic that you cut food on when you are cooking cutting edge n. the cutting edge (of sth) the newest design or the most advanced way of doing something: artists on the cutting edge of computer animation —cutting-edge adj.: cutting-edge technology cy·a·ni·de /ˈsɪənɪd/ n. [C] a very strong poison cy·ber·ca·fé /ˈsaɪbərˌkæf/ n. [C] a café where you can use computers connected to the Internet cy·ber·space /ˈsaɪbərˌspes/ n. [U] the imaginary place that electronic messages go through when they travel from one computer to another cy·cle /ˈsaɪkl/ n. [C] a number of related events that happen again and again in the same order: the cycle of the seasons | the plant’s life cycle. | The company’s poor profits were put down to a temporary downturn in the business cycle. [Orig.: 1300—1400 French, Late Latin cyclus, from Greek kyklos “circle, wheel, cycle”] cycle·clis·ter /ˈsaɪklɪst/ n. [C] 1 to ride a bicycle. | I cycled to the store. 2 to go through a series of related events again and again in the same order: Waste water is cycled through the machine and reused. —cyclis·tail adj. (C cy·cli·cal /ˈsaɪklɪkl/ ‘sɪ-əl/ also cy·cli·cally /ˈsaɪklɪkli/ adv. happening again and again in a regular pattern: the cyclical nature of fashion —cy·cli·cal·ly adv.
cy·cl·ing /ˈsaɪklɪŋ/ n. [U] the sport or activity of riding a bicycle cy·clone /ˈsaɪklən/ n. [C] a TORNADO cy·lin·der /ˈsaɪlɪndər/ n. [C] 1 a shape, object, or container with circular ends and long straight sides —see picture at SHAPE

—THESAURUS—

shape, square, circle, semicircle, triangle, rectangle, oval ➔ SHAPE

2 the part of an engine that is shaped like a tube, where the piston moves up and down: a six-cylinder engine [Orig.: 1500—1600 Latin cilindus, from Greek kylindros “like a roll”] cy·lin·d·ry-cal /ˈsaɪlɪndrikl/ adj. in the shape of a cylinder

—THESAURUS—

oval, circular, round, semicircular, triangular, rectangular ➔ SHAPE cy·bom·ba /ˈsɪbəmba/ n. [C] a thin round metal plate that you hit to make a musical sound cy·nic /ˈsaɪnɪk/ n. [C] a cynical person [Orig.: 1500—1600 Latin cynicus, from Greek kynikos “like a dog”] —cy·nic·al·ly adv.

cy·pher /ˈsaɪfər/ n. [C] another spelling of CIPHER cy·ril·lic /ˈsaɪrɪlik/ adj. ENG. LANG. ARTS relating to the alphabet used for Russian, Bulgarian, and other Slavonic languages: Cyrillic writing cy·st /ˈsaɪst/ n. [C] BIOLOGY a small lump containing liquid, that grows in your body or under your skin cy·to·plasm /ˈsaɪtroˌplæzm/ n. [U] BIOLOGY all the material in the cell of a living thing except the NUCLEUS (= central part) cy·to·skel·e·ton /ˈsaɪtroˌskeɪlən/ n. [C] BIOLOGY a system of very thin connected tubes in the cytoplasm of a cell, that gives the cell its shape and structure czar /ˈzaər/ n. [C] 1 (informal) someone who is very powerful in a particular job or activity: the President’s drug czar. 2 HISTORY a male ruler of Russia before 1917 [Orig.: 1500—1600 Russian tsar], from Gothic kaisar “emperor,” from Greek, from Latin Caesar, from Julius Caesar

D

D, d /d/ 1 the fourth letter of the English alphabet 2 the number 500 in the system of ROMAN NUMERALS

d /d/ n. [C] a grade that a teacher gives to a student’s work to show that it is poor and just above the point of failing: I got a D on the history test. 2 [C, U] ENG. LANG. ARTS the second note in the musical SCALE of C, or the musical KEY based on this note

Dd

Dd
d. the written abbreviation of died: d. 1937
-‘d [d/ the short form of “would” or “had”: Ask her if she'd like to go with us.] | If only I'd known you were there!

D.A. n. [LAW] a DISTRICT ATTORNEY dab1 /dæb/ n. [C] a small amount of something: a dab of butter dab2 v (dabbled dabbing) 1 [T] to lightly touch something several times, usually with a cloth: Emily dabbed at her eyes with a handkerchief. 2 [T] to quickly put a small amount of a substance onto something: She dabbed some suntan lotion onto her cheeks.
dabble /dæbl/ v [I] to do something or be involved in something in a way that is not very serious: He dabbles in art.
dachs-hund /dækshunt/, -hund/ n. [C] a small dog with short legs and a long body dac-tyl /dæktəl/ n. [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS a RHYTHM in poetry in which a STRESSED word or SYLLABLE is followed by two words or syllables that are not stressed, as in the word "poetry" dad /dæd/ or dad-dy /dædi/ n. [C] (informal) father: I’m having dinner with my mom and dad. | Dad, can I borrow $20? • RELATIVE

daisy /ˈdeɪzi/ n. (plural daisies) [C] a white flower with a bright yellow center [Origin: Old English dægesæge “day’s eye”]
daily /ˈdeɪli/ adj. 1 happening, done, or produced every day: daily flights to Miami | a daily newspaper 1 relating to a single day: a DAILY rate of pay 3 DAILY life the ordinary things that you usually do dailyly /ˈdeɪli-ly/ adv. every day: The zoo is open daily.
dainty /ˈdeɪnti/ adj. small, pretty, and delicate: dainty white gloves dairy1 /ˈdeɪri/ n. (plural dairies) [C] 1 a place on a farm, where milk is kept and butter and cheese are made 2 a company that sells milk and makes cheese, butter, etc.
dairy2 adj. [only before noun] 1 made from milk: dairy products 2 relating to the production of milk: a dairy farm daisy /ˈdeɪzi/ n. (plural daisies) [C] a white flower with a bright yellow center [Origin: Old English dægesæge “day’s eye”] daily /ˈdeɪli/ v (dallied, dallies) [I] (old-fashioned) to move slowly or waste time: children dailying on their way to school dam1 /dæm/ n. [C] a wall built across a river in order to stop the water and make a lake dam2 v (dammed, damming) [T] to build a dam across a river dam-age1 /ˈdeɪmɪdʒ/ n. [U] 1 physical harm that is done to something, so that it is broken or injured: Was there any damage to your car? | The earthquake caused/did serious damage. | brain damage 2 a bad effect on someone or something: The closure of the factory will cause severe damage to the local economy. 3 damages [plural] LAW money that a court orders someone to pay someone else for harming that person or his/her property: The court ordered her to pay $2,000 in damages. [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French dam, “dam-age,” from Latin damnum “damage, loss”] damage2 v [T] 1 to physically harm someone or something: The storm damaged the tobacco crop. 2 to have a bad effect on someone or something: She didn’t want to do anything that would damage her reputation; — damaging adj.

dame /dæm/ n. [C] (old-fashioned) a woman damn /dæm/ v be damned to be punished by God after your death by being sent to hell; showing that someone has done something very bad or wrong; damning evidence damp /dæmp/ adj. slightly wet, usually in a cold and unpleasant way: The house was cold and damp. | a damp sponge | damp weather — dampness n. [U] damp-en /ˈdæmpən/ v [T] 1 to make something slightly wet 2 to make something such as a feeling

Dal·ma-tian, dalmatian /ˈdalmaˌtiən/ n. [C] a dog with white fur and small black or brown spots.
The only dance I know is the tango.

is in danger of losing her job.

dangerous to smoking is dangerous to your health. It's dangerous for women to walk alone at night. Even tiny amounts of the gas are extremely/highly etc. dangerous. 2 likely to cause problems, or involving a lot of risk. The company is in a dangerous financial position. —dangerously adv.

dangerous criminal

Cigarette smoking is dangerous to your health. It's dangerous for women to walk alone at night. Even tiny amounts of the gas are extremely/highly etc. dangerous. 2 likely to cause problems, or involving a lot of risk. The company is in a dangerous financial position. —dangerously adv.

dark adj. 1 with very little or no light 2 new or unusual in a way that may shock some people: a daring movie 3 in the dark (informal) not dark adj. 1 able or likely to harm you: a dangerous criminal 2 likely to cause problems, or involving a lot of risk. The company is in a dangerous financial position. —dangerously adv.

dangerous adj. 1 able or likely to harm you: a dangerous criminal 2 likely to cause problems, or involving a lot of risk. The company is in a dangerous financial position. —dangerously adv.
knowing about something important because no one has told you about it: Employees were kept in the dark about the possible layoffs.

dark-en /dArl, en/ v. [T] to make something dark, or to become dark. The sky darkened before the storm. | in a darkened room dark 'horse n. [C] someone who is not well known and who surprises people by winning a competition dark-ly /dArlI@/ adv. in a sad, angry, or threatening way: scientists speaking darkly about the future

dark-ness /dArlm@s/ n. [U] a place or time when there is no light: The whole room was in darkness. | We made it home just as darkness fell (=it became night).

dark-room /dArlrum@/ n. [C] a special room with a red light or no light, where film from a camera is made into photographs.

dar·ling /dãrlI@n/ n. [C] (spoken) used when speaking to someone you love: Come here, darling. | darling child dar·ned /dArlnd/ adj. | speak desparately: It's darnd if I believe you!

dar·ning /dãrln@ng/ n. [C] (spoken) used in order to emphasize what you are saying: a darned good movie | The darn fool got lost.

dart 1 /dArt/ n. [U] a small pointed object that is thrown in a game of darts or used as a weapon. 2 darts [U] a game in which you throw darts at a circular board: A couple of men were playing darts.

dart 2 vb. [I] to move suddenly and quickly in a particular direction: The dog darted into the street.

dash 1 /dæʃ/ v. 1 [I] to go somewhere very quickly: She dashed into the room just before the boss arrived.

dash 2 /dæʃ/ n. 1 a make a dash for sth to run very quickly toward something: I made a dash for the house to get my umbrella. 2 [singular] a small amount of a liquid: a dash of lemon darken /dArlkn/ vb. to make something appear darker or to become dark: The storm darkened the sky.

darken·ment /dArlkment/ n. [U] the process of darkening something: the darkening of the wound dark·en·ment·less /dArlkmentm@ls/ adj. | not made dark: dark red, or to become dark: the storm.

dark·ness /dArlm@s/ n. [U] a place or time when there is no light: The whole room was in darkness. | We made it home just as darkness fell (=it became night).

dash 1 /dæʃ/ vb. 1 [I] to dash off sth to move suddenly and quickly in a particular direction: The dog darted into the street.

dash·board /dæʃbOd/ n. [C] the board in front of the driver in a car, that has the controls on it [orig.: 1800—1900 dash “to strike with small drops of liquid” (17—19 centuries) + board (because it was originally a board to stop mud getting into a vehicle)]

dat·a /deIt@/ n. [C] digital audio tape tape for recording music, sound, or information in digital form dat·a·min·ing /deIt@mɪnɪŋ/ n. [U] the process of using a computer to find new patterns and relationships in large amounts of information kept on a computer dat·a·proces·sing /deIt@prəsɪŋ/ n. [U] the use of computers to store and organize information

date 1 /deIt/ n. [C] 1 a particular day of the month or of the year, shown by a number: “What’s today’s date?” “It’s August 11th.” | Have you set a date (=chosen a day) for the wedding? | She refused to give her date of birth/birth date (=the day she was born). 2 an arrangement to meet someone, especially someone you like in a romantic way: Mike’s going (out) on a date on Friday. | I have a date with Andrea tomorrow night. | Let’s make a date (=arrange a time) to see that new movie. 3 someone you go on a date with: My date’s taking me out to dinner. 4 to date up to now: This is the best research on the subject to date. 5 at a later date at some time in the future 6 a small sweet sticky brown fruit with a single long seed [origin: (1) 1200—1300 Old French, Greek daktylos “finger”] ➔ out-of-date, up-to-date date 2 vb. 1 [I] to have a romantic relationship with someone: How long have you been dating Mona? 2 [I] to write the date on something: a letter dated May 1, 2007 3 [I] to find out the age of something that is very old: Scientists have not yet dated the human remains.

date from sth also date back to sth phr. vb. to have existed since a particular time: Independence Hall dates from the 17th century.

dat·ed·ed /deItید/ adj. no longer fashionable: These shoes are really dated.

THE THESAURUS

run, sprint, tear, race, bolt ➔ run rush, race, hurry, charge, speed, hasten ➔ rush

2 dash sb’s hopes to ruin someone’s hopes completely: Her hopes of winning in the Olympics were dashed after the accident. 3 [T] to make something hit violently against something else: The ship was dashed against the rocks.

dash off phr. vb. 1 dash sth v. v. off to write or draw something very quickly 2 to leave somewhere very quickly dash 2 n. 1 make a dash for sth to run very quickly toward something: I made a dash for the house to get my umbrella. 2 [singular] a small amount of a liquid: a dash of lemon 3 [C] ENG.

DATE \n[C.U] a rape that happens during a date.

DAWFIVE \n[ENGLISH, LANGUAGE, ARTS] a form of a noun, in languages such as Latin and German, that shows that the noun is the indirect object of a verb ➔ ACCUSATIVE.

daub /dəub/ v [T] to put paint or a soft substance on a surface in a careless way [ORIGIN: 1300—1400 Old French dauber, from Latin dealbare “to make white, whitewash”.

dau·ther /dəθər/ n [C] someone’s female child ➔ SOK; the daughter of a local farmer [ORIGIN: Old English dohtor].

dau·ther-in·law /dəθər-in-lə/ n [plural daughters-in-law] [C] the wife of your son.

daunt·ed /dəntid/ adj [not before noun] feeling afraid or worried: Cooper is feeling daunted by his new responsibilities.

daunt·ing /dənting/ adj frightening or worrying: a daunting task.

daw·dle /dədəl/ v [I] to take a long time to do something or go somewhere: Stop dawdling; we’ll be late.

dawn /dərn/ n [C.U] 1 the time of day when light first appears: We talked until dawn. [I got up at dawn to milk the cows. [As dawn broke (=it started to get light), the fire was under control.] [The boat left at the crack of dawn (=very early in the morning).] 2 the dawn of sth the time when something began or first appeared: the dawn of civilization [ORIGIN: 1200—1300 dawn “to dawn” (10—19 centuries), from Old English dagian; related to day.

dawn /dərn/ v[I] if a day or morning dawns, it begins: The morning dawned cool and clear.

dawn on sb for v to realize something for the first time: It suddenly dawned on me that he was right.

day /deɪ/ n
1 24 HOURS [C] a period of time equal to 24 hours ➔ DAILY; I’ll be back in ten days. [The letter arrived two days ago. “What day is it today?” “Tuesday.”] [The next/following day, Hayes was fired. [I got a phone call from Eve the other day (=a few days ago).] [We’re leaving for Arizona the day after tomorrow. I saw Margo the day before yesterday. Don’t say “We’re leaving for Arizona after tomorrow” or “I saw Margo before yesterday.”]

2 MORNING UNTIL NIGHT [C.U] the period of time between when it becomes light in the morning and when it becomes dark in the evening ➔ RIGHT; the days begin to get longer in the spring; a beautiful summer day.

3 WHEN YOU ARE AWAKE [C usually singular] the time during the day when you are usually awake: He started his day with a three-mile run. It’s been a long day (=a day when you had to get up early and were busy all day). Jan’s been studying all day (=for the whole day).

4 WORK [C] the hours you work in a day: I work an eight-hour day.

DAY BREAK /ˈdeɪbrɪk/ n [U] the time of day when light first appears ➔ DAWN. We broke camp at daybreak.

day camp n [C] a place where children go during the day to do activities, sports, art, etc. on their summer vacation from school.

day-care /ˈdeɪkər/ n [U] care of young children, daydream

or of sick or old people, during the day: a daycare center | My youngest boy is in daycare.

day-dream /ˈdeɪdrɪm/ v [I] to think about nice things so that you forget what you should be doing. Joan sat at her desk, daydreaming about Tom.

—daydream n [C] —daydreamer n [C]

THESAURUS

imagine, visualize, picture, fantasize, envision, envisage → IMAGINE

Day-Glo /ˈdeɪgləʊ/ adj (trademark) having a very bright orange, green, yellow, or pink color day-light /ˈdeɪlaɪt/ n 1 [U] the light produced by the Sun during the day: The market is crowded during daylight hours. | She was attacked in broad daylight (=during the day when it is light). 2 scare/frighten the (living) daylights out of sb (informal) to frighten someone a lot 3 beat the (living) daylights out of sb (informal) to hit someone many times and hurt him/her badly daylight ‘saving time’ also daylight ‘sav-ings’ n [U] the time in the spring when clocks are set one hour ahead of standard time day-time /ˈdeɪtaɪm/ n [U] the time between when it gets light in the morning and when it gets dark in the evening: in the daytime: I’ve never been here in the daytime. | daytime talk shows day-to-day adj happening every day as a regular part of life: our day-to-day routine at work daze /ˈdeɪz/ n in a daze unable to think clearly dazed /ˈdeɪzd/ adj unable to think clearly, usually because you are shocked, have been hurt, etc.: dazed victims of the bombing dazzle' /ˈdeɪzl/ v [T] 1 if a very bright light dazzles you, you are unable to see for a short time 2 to make someone admire someone or something a lot: We were all dazzled by her charm.
dazzling /ˈdeɪzlɪŋ/ adj 1 very impressive, exciting, or interesting: a dazzling performance 2 a dazzling light is so bright that you cannot see for a short time after you look at it

THESAURUS

impressive, imposing, awe-inspiring, breathtaking, majestic, magnificent → IMPRESSIVE

DC PHYSICS the abbreviation of DIRECT CURRENT

D.C. n District of Columbia the area containing the city of Washington, the capital of the U.S.

DDT n [U] a chemical used in order to kill insects that harm crops, which is now illegal

DE the abbreviation of DELAWARE dea-con /ˈdiːkɔn/, dea-con-ess /ˈdiːkɔnˌɛs/ n [C] a religious official in some Christian churches dea·ac·ti·vate /ˌdiːəˈæktəˌvı́t/ v [T] to switch a piece of equipment off, or to stop it from working dead' /ˈdeɪd/ adj 1 NOT ALIVE no longer alive: Her mom’s been dead for two years. | I think that plant is dead. | She found a dead body (=dead person) in the woods.

USAGE

Dead is an adjective used to describe people or things that are no longer alive: a dead fish

Died is the past tense and past participle of the verb “to die,” used to talk about how and when someone died: He died of a heart attack when he was only 58.

THESAURUS

lifeless (literary) – dead or seeming to be dead: dull, lifeless eyes late/deceased (formal) – dead: her late husband | their recently deceased grandmother

2 NOT WORKING not working, especially because there is no power: Is the battery dead? | The phones went dead during the storm.

PLACE [not before noun] a place that is dead is boring because nothing interesting happens there: The bar is usually dead until around 10:00.

3 PLACE [not before noun] a place that is dead is boring because nothing interesting happens there: The bar is usually dead until around 10:00.

4 NOT USED no longer active or being used: He says the peace plan is dead. | a dead language

COMPLETE [only before noun] complete or exact: For about five minutes, there was dead silence. | Hit the dead center of the nail so it doesn’t bend. | The train came to a dead stop.

5 TIRED [not before noun] (informal) very tired: I think I’ll go to bed early; I’m absolutely dead.

PART OF BODY a part of your body that is dead has no feeling in it for a short time: I’d been sitting so long my legs went dead.

8 over my dead body (spoken) used when you are determined not to allow something to happen: You’ll marry him over my dead body!

9 IN TROUBLE (spoken) also dead meat in serious trouble: If anything happens to the cat, you’re dead!

10 sb wouldn’t be caught/seen dead in sth (spoken) used to say that someone would never wear particular clothes, go to particular places, or do particular things because s/he would feel embarrassed: I wouldn’t be caught dead in a dress like that! [ORIGIN: Old English]

dead2 adv (informal) completely or exactly: Paula stopped dead when she saw us. | I’m dead tired. | You can’t miss it; it’s dead ahead.

dead3 n 1 in the dead of winter/night in the middle of winter or in the middle of the night 2 the dead [plural] all the people who have died (ANT: the living) dead-beat /ˈdeɪdbiːt/ n [C] someone who does not pay his/her debts dead-en /ˈdeɪdn/ v [T] to make a feeling or sound less strong: a drug to deaden the pain dead ‘end n [C] 1 a street with no way out at one end 2 a situation from which no progress is possible dead-lined /ˈdeklənd/ n. [C] a time by which you must finish something: The deadline for applications is May 27th. | Can you meet the deadline?

dead-lock /ˈdeklɔk/ n. [C,U] a situation in which a disagreement cannot be settled: The UN is attempting to break the deadlock (=end it) in the region.

dead-ly /ˈdedlɪ/ adj. very dangerous and likely to cause death: a deadly virus dead-pan /ˈdedplæn/ adj. sounding and looking completely serious when you are not: a deadpan sense of humor defa /ˈdefə/ adj. 1 physically unable to hear, or unable to hear well: hearing impaired: I'm deaf in my right ear. 2 the deaf [plural] people who are deaf 3 be deaf to sth unwilling to listen to something: The guards were deaf to the prisoners' complaints. 4 fall on deaf ears if something you say falls on deaf ears, everyone ignores it [Origin: Old English]—deafness n. [U] defa-en-ing /ˈdefənɪŋ/ adj. 1 noise or music that is deafening is very loud

THE SAURUS

2 deafening silence complete silence, used especially when this is uncomfortable or unusual: —deafen v. [T]

defa1 /ˈdefə/ n. [C] an agreement or arrangement, especially in business or politics: She has just signed a new book deal with a different publisher. | Diaz tried to cut/make/strike a deal with the government. | You can get some good deals (=bargains at a good price) at the new travel agency. | “I’ll give you $100 for your TV” “Okay, it’s a deal.” 2 a great/good deal a large quantity of something: The new law is a fair deal for the American taxpayer. | He knows a great deal more (=a lot more) than I do about computers. 3 [C usually singular] the way someone is treated in a situation: This new law is a fair deal for the American taxpayer. | Women often get a raw deal (=unfair treatment) from their employers. 4 what’s the deal? (spoken) used when you want to know what is happening in a situation: So what’s the deal? Why is he so mad? 5 [singular] the process of giving out cards to players in a card game: It’s your deal. ➔ BIG DEAL

defa2 v. (past tense and past participle dealt /delt/) [T, U] 1 also deal out to give out playing cards to players in a game: It’s my turn to deal. 2 to buy and sell illegal drugs: He was arrested for dealing heroin. 3 deal a blow (to sb/sth) to harm someone or something: The ban dealt a severe blow to local tourism.

deal in sth phr. v. to buy and sell a particular product: a business dealing in medical equipment deal with sth phr. v. 1 to do what is necessary, especially in order to solve a problem: Who’s dealing with the new account?

THE SAURUS

handle – to deal with someone or something: He’s finding it hard to handle the pressure at work.

tackle – to try to deal with a difficult problem: There are still a number of problems which we need to tackle.

cope – to succeed in dealing with a difficult problem or situation: Exercise can help people cope with stress.

attend to sb/sth – to give attention to someone or something: I have some business to attend to.

take care of sb/sth – to do the work or make the arrangements that are necessary for something to happen: I’ll take care of making the reservations.

2 to succeed in controlling your feelings and being patient in a difficult situation: I can’t deal with any more crying children today. 3 to do business with someone: We’ve been dealing with their company for ten years. 4 to be about a particular subject: a book dealing with 20th-century art defa-er /ˈdɪlzə/ n. [C] 1 someone who buys and sells a particular product: a car dealer 2 someone who buys and sells illegal drugs 3 someone who gives out the playing cards in a game defa-er-ship /ˈdɪlsəʃip/ n. [C] a business that sells a particular company’s product, especially cars defa-ing /ˈdɪlnɪŋ/ n. [C] the buying and selling of things: penalties for drug dealing 2 dealings [plural] personal or business relations with someone: Have you had any dealings with IBM?

defa /ˈdelt/ v. the past tense and past participle of DEAL defa1 /ˈdefə/ n. [C] a university official with a high rank: the dean of admissions [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French deien, from Latin Latin deica- nous “person in charge of ten others”]

defa’s list n. [C] a list of the best students at a university

defa /ˈdelt/ n. [C] an agreement or arrangement, especially in business or politics: She has just signed a new book deal with a different publisher. | Diaz tried to cut/make/strike a deal with the government. | You can get some good deals (=bargains at a good price) at the new travel agency. | “I’ll give you $100 for your TV” “Okay, it’s a deal.” 2 a great/good deal a large quantity of something: The new law is a fair deal for the American taxpayer. | He knows a great deal more (=a lot more) than I do about computers. 3 [C usually singular] the way someone is treated in a situation: This new law is a fair deal for the American taxpayer. | Women often get a raw deal (=unfair treatment) from their employers. 4 what’s the deal? (spoken) used when you want to know what is happening in a situation: So what’s the deal? Why is he so mad? 5 [singular] the process of giving out cards to players in a card game: It’s your deal. ➔ BIG DEAL

defa2 v. (past tense and past participle dealt /delt/) [T, U] 1 also deal out to give out playing cards to players in a game: It’s my turn to deal. 2 to buy and sell illegal drugs: He was arrested for dealing heroin. 3 deal a blow (to sb/sth) to harm someone or something: The ban dealt a severe blow to local tourism.

defa in sth phr. v. to buy and sell a particular product: a business dealing in medical equipment

defa with sth phr. v. 1 to do what is necessary, especially in order to solve a problem: Who’s dealing with the new account?
deathbed

(formal) to be very bored, afraid, etc. 3 the death of sth the permanent end of something: the death of Communism ➔ be sick (and tired) of/be sick to death of at SICK
deathtrap

n [singular] a sign that something will soon stop existing or stop being used: The new bridge will be the death trap for the ferry crossing.
debacle

n [usually singular] the total number of people who die in an accident, war, etc. 2 fierce/intense debate within the medical profession. We were involved in a fierce debate over what to do with alcohol, drugs, or sex —debased adj —debasement or something lose its value or people's respect. débâcler

“to remove abar” —debauch

v. —debauchery ➔ debauched

debate

n [ Cu usually singular] a formal discussion of a subject in which people express different opinions: a debate about/on/over equal pay. The drug has become the subject of a heated/fierce/vehement debate within the medical profession. 2 a formal discussion of a subject in which people express different opinions, and sometimes vote: After much debate, the committee decided to raise the fees. [ a debate on/about welfare reform. [1200—1300 Old French deбаuchиre, from déboucler “to remove a bar”] debate

v. 1 [ T] to discuss a subject formally so that you can make a decision or solve a problem: The Senate is debating the future of health care. [ We were debating which person to hire. ] The impact of the reforms has been hotly debated by economists. 2 [ T] to think about something carefully before making a decision: I was debating whether to go to work. —debauch

v. —debauched decagon /ˈdɛkəgon/ n. [C] MATH a flat shape with ten straight sides and ten angles decal /ˈdɛkl/ n. [C] a piece of paper with a pattern or picture on it that you stick onto a surface decant /ˈdɛkənt/ n. [C] a container used for serving alcoholic drinks decapitate /dɪˈkæpəˌtɪt/ v. [T] to cut off someone’s head: a decapitated body decathlon /dɪˈkæθlən/ n. [C] a sports competition consisting of ten running, jumping, and throwing events → heptathlon, pentathlon decay /dɪˈkeɪ/ v. 1 [T] to be slowly destroyed by a natural chemical process, or to destroy something in this way: The dead animal started to decay. → sugar decays teeth.

deciduous /ˈdɛsɪˈdjuəs/ adj. (formal) 1 dead: Both my parents are deceased.

decide /dɪˈsɪd/ v. 1 to make a choice or judgment about something → DECISION: I’ve decided to stay home. → Jane decided against going (=decided not to go) to Washington on vacation. | Ted decided (that) the car would cost too much. | I can’t decide whether if I want fish or chicken.

2 deceive yourself to pretend to yourself that something is not true because you do not want to accept the truth [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French deceivre, from Latin decipere] december /dɪˈsɛmbər/ (written abbreviation Dec.) n. [C.U] the twelfth month of the year, between November and January: Franny’s birthday is on December 6th. → We mailed the invitations in December. → Kevin was promoted last December. → We’re going to Florida next December. [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French, Latin, name of the tenth Roman month, from decem “ten”] decency /dɪˈsɛnsi/ n. [U] morally correct behavior: At least have the decency to call if you’ll be late.

decent /dɪˈsɛnt/ adj. 1 acceptable and good enough: a decent living | a decent job | a decent education 2 honest and good: Dr. Green was a decent man. 3 wearing enough clothes, so that you are not showing too much of your body: Don’t come in — I’m not decent. —decently adv.
decentralize /dɪˈsɛntəˌlaɪz/ v. [T] to change a government or organization so that decisions are made in local areas rather than in one place → decentralization /dɪˈsɛntəˌləzɪʃən/
decent /dɪˈsɛnt/ adj. 1 acceptable and good enough: a decent living | a decent job | a decent education 2 honest and good: Dr. Green was a decent man. 3 wearing enough clothes, so that you are not showing too much of your body: Don’t come in — I’m not decent. —decently adv.
decadent /dɪˈsɛptənt/ adj. 1 that something that is deceptive seems very different from how it really is: Clark has deceptive speed (=moves faster than you think or expect). 2 deliberately intended to make someone believe something that is not true: deceptive advertising —deceptively adv.
decay rate /dɪˈseɪr/ n. [C] PHYSICS the speed at which a radioactivity substance breaks apart and sends out atomic particles or radiation decese /dɪˈsɛs/ v. [I] to make someone believe something that is not true: Owen tried to deceive the police. → Customers were deceived into paying more than they should have.

decisive /dɪˈsaɪv/ adj. 1 making a choice or judgment about something → DECISION: I’ve decided to stay home. → Jane decided against going (=decided not to go) to Washington on vacation. | Ted decided (that) the car would cost too much. | I can’t decide whether if I want fish or chicken.

2 the deceased someone who has recently died [Origin: 1300—1400 decease “to die” (15—19 centuries), from French décès “death,” from Latin decedere “to leave, die”] decide /dɪˈsaɪd/ v. 1 to make a choice or judgment about something → DECISION: I’ve decided to stay home. → Jane decided against going (=decided not to go) to Washington on vacation. | Ted decided (that) the car would cost too much. | I can’t decide whether if I want fish or chicken.
decided

2 deciding factor a very strong reason for making a particular decision: Zimmer’s testimony was the deciding factor in the case. 3 [T] to be the reason why something has a particular result: One punch decided the fight.

decide on sth phr v to choose one thing from many possible choices: Have you decided on a name for the baby?

decid-ed /dɪˈsæd/ adj [only before noun] definite and easy to notice: The new color is a decided improvement. —decidedly adv decid- u-ous /dɪˈsɪdʒʊəs/ adj deciduous trees lose their leaves in winter ➔ evergreen [origin: 1600—1700 Latin deciduus, from decidere “to fall off”] dec-i-ma l /ˌdeɪsɪˈmɔːl/ adj a decimal system is based on the number ten [origin: 1600—1700 Modern Latin decimalis, from Latin decem “ten”] decim al2 n [C] MATH a number less than one, that is shown by a mark (.) followed by the number of tenths, then the number of hundredths, etc., for example 0.8 or 0.25

decim al ‘point n [C] MATH the mark (.) in a decimal dec-i-pher /dɪˈsæfər/ v [T] to find the meaning of something that is difficult to read or understand: I can’t decipher his handwriting.

decision /dɪˈʃən/ n 1 [C] a choice or judgment that you make: We’ll make a decision by Friday. | Gina’s decision to go to college pleased her parents. | Do you expect to reach a decision soon? | Decisions about medical treatment should not be based on cost. 2 [U] the ability to make choices or judgments quickly: This job requires the ability to act with speed and decision.

decision-making n [U] the process of deciding on something ➔ decision-maker n [C] decisive /dɪˈsəsɪv/ adj 1 having an important effect on the result of something: a decisive moment in his career | The U.N. played a decisive role in peace-making. 2 good at making decisions quickly: a decisive leader 3 definite and clear: a decisive advantage —decisively adv: The President was criticized for failing to act decisively.

decK /deɪk/ n [C] 1 a wooden floor built out from the back of a house, where you can sit outdoors 2 a set of playing cards: a deck of cards 3 a) the flat top part of a ship, that you can walk on: Let’s go up on deck. b) one of the levels on a ship, airplane, or bus: the lower deck.

decK1 v [T] also deck sb ↔ out to decorate something with flowers, flags, etc.: The street was decked out with flags for the big parade.

decK2 v to dress in fashionable clothes or to dress in a certain style of clothes for a special occasion: On her eighty-fifth birthday, Amy decked herself out in a cowgirl outfit and rode in the parade.

dec-la-ra-tion /ˌdɪkləˈreɪʃən/ n [C] U an official or important statement about something: a declaration of war dec-lare /dɪˈklaə/ phr v to officially state the value of things that you have bought or own, or the amount of money you have earned, because you may have to pay taxes on them: You must declare your full income. [origin: 1300—1400 Latin declarare, from clarea “to make clear”] dec-la-sion /ˌdɪkləˈʃən/ n [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS the set of forms that a noun, pronoun, or adjective can have depending on whether it is the subject, object, etc. of a sentence, in a language such as Latin or German dec-line /dɪˈklaɪn/ v [I,T] 1 to decrease in quality, quantity, or importance: As his health has declined, so has his influence. | Car sales have declined.

dec-lin-ing /ˌdɪklɪnɪŋ/ adj ➔ declining

dec-line2 n [C usually singular, U] a decrease in the quality, quantity, or importance of something: a decline in profits | During the last ten years, the construction industry has been in decline. | the decline of marriage in western society dec-o-de /dɪˈkəʊd/ v [T] to discover the meaning of a secret or complicated message dec-o-m-pose /ˌdɪkəˈmɒʊz/ v [T,T] to decay, or to make something do this: a partially decomposed decorous /dekərəs/ adj. pretty and used as a decoration; a decorative pot decor  /dekər/ n.; adj. [C,U] the way that the inside of a building is decorated decorate /dekrət/ v. [T] 1 to make something look more attractive by adding pretty things to it: We decorated the Christmas tree with big red bows. 2 to give someone an official sign of honor, such as a MEDAL; soldiers decorated for bravery [Orig: 1500—1600 Latin decoratus, past participle of decorare “to decorate,” from decus “honor, decoration”] decoration /dekrərənʃən/ n. 1 [C] something pretty that you add to something in order to make it look more attractive: the Christmas decorations around the house 2 [U] the style in which something is decorated 3 [C] an official sign of honor, such as a MEDAL, that is given to someone decoration /dekrərənʃən/ n. 1 [C] something pretty that you add to something in order to make it look more attractive: the Christmas decorations around the house 2 [U] the style in which something is decorated 3 [C] an official sign of honor, such as a MEDAL, that is given to someone decorous /dekrərəs/ adj. pretty and used as a decoration; a decorative pot decrease /dikrəs/ v. (formal) having the correct appearance or behavior for a particular occasion —decorously adv.

decorum /dikərəm/ n. [U] (formal) behavior that is respectful and correct for a formal or serious situation decoy /dikəl/ n. [C] a person or object that is used to trick a person or animal into going somewhere or doing something —decoy /dikəl/ v. [T] dedicate /dikət/ v. [I,T] to become less, or to make something do this: The company’s profits decreased in 2007. The need to decrease costs. By 1881, the population had decreased to 5.2 million. Anglo-French decreistre, from Latin decrescere, from crescere “to grow” —dedication /dikətʃən/ n.

deduction /dikədʒən/ n. [U] the process of reducing something, or the amount by which it is reduced (ANT: increase: a decrease in sales) deductive reasoning /dikətiv, dɪˈkredɪtɪv/ n. [C] an official order or decision —deduc·tive /dɪˈkredɪtɪv/ adj.

deduce /dɪˈkredʒ/ v. old and in bad condition [Orig: 1400—1500 Latin decripitus, from crepere “to make a high cracking sound”] decriminalization /dɪˈkriːmələˌzaʃən/ n. [U] state officially that something is no longer illegal —decriminalize /dɪˈkriːməlʌˌzaɪ/ v. [T] decry /dɪˈkraɪ/ v. (decried, decry) [T] (formal) to state publicly that you do not approve of something: The candidate has decried the use of negative campaign ads.

dedicate /dɪˈdedɪk/ v. [T] 1 to say that a book, movie, song, etc. has been written, made, or sung in honor of someone: The book is dedicated to his mother. 2 dedicate yourself/your life to (doing) sth to give all your attention and effort to one thing; I’ve dedicated my life to my work. [Orig: 1400—1500 Latin dedicare, from dicare “to say publicly”] dedicated /dɪˈdedɪkt/ adj. working very hard at something because you think it is important: a dedicated teacher dedication /dɪˈdedɪkʃən/ n. [U] hard work or effort that you put into a particular activity because you think it is important: He shows great dedication to his work. 2 [C] the act or ceremony of dedicating something to someone 3 [C] the words used in dedicating a book, movie, song, etc. to someone deduction /dɪˈdʒəkʃən/ n. [U] the process of making a judgment based on the information that you have: From his observations, Darwin deduced that animals adapt to their environment. The time of death can be deduced from the temperature of the body. [Orig: 1400—1500 Latin deducere “to lead out,” from ducere “to lead”] deductible /dɪˈdʒektəbəl/ adj. ECONOMICS an amount of money that is deductible can be taken away from the total money you must pay taxes on: The money you give to a charity is tax deductible.

deduction /dɪˈdʒəkʃən/ n. [C,U] 1 the process of taking away an amount from a total, or the amount that is taken away: I earn about $2,000 a month, after deductions. 2 the process of making a judgment about something, based on the information that you have: a game that teaches logic and deduction deductive reasoning /dɪˈdʒəktɪv, dɪˈdʒekˈtɪv/ n. [U] the process of forming a scientific judgment about something, based on existing facts 2 MATH a process of proving a mathematical statement or solving a mathematical problem using an existing mathematical principle or facts that develop from one to the next in a reasonable or correct way deed /did/ n. [C] 1 (literary) an action; good deeds 2 LAW an official paper that is a record of an agreement, especially one that says who owns property

doom /dim/ v. [T] (formal) to say that something has a particular quality SYN consider: The judge deemed the question inappropriate.
deep /dip/ adj.
1 GO FAR DOWN going far down from the top or from the surface DEEP SHALLOW ➔ DEPTH: The path was covered in deep snow. | The water’s about 10 feet/6 inches etc. deep. ➔ see picture at SHALLOW 2 GO FAR IN going far in from the outside or from the front: Terry had a deep cut in his forehead.
3 FEELING/BELIEF a deep feeling or belief is very strong and sincere: deep feelings of hatred 4 SOUND a deep sound is very low: a deep voice 5 COLOR a deep color is dark and strong (SHINE) light, pale: a plant with deep green leaves 6 SERIOUS serious and often difficult to understand: a deep conversation about the meaning of life
7 deep sleep if someone is in a deep sleep, it is difficult to wake him/her 8 a deep breath a deep breath is one in which you breathe a lot of air in, especially because you are upset or nervous: I took a deep breath and jumped into the water.
9 be in deep trouble (informal) to be in serious trouble or in an extremely difficult situation: Many smaller companies are in deep trouble.
10 deep in thought/conversation etc. thinking so hard or talking so much that you do not notice anything else: Martin sat at his desk, deep in thought. (Ours: Old English deap) deeplier adv. 1 far into something: He stepped deep into the mud. 2 deep down a) if you feel or know something deep down, that is what you really feel or know even though you may not admit it: Deep down, I knew she was right. b) if someone is good, evil, etc. deep down, that is what s/he is really like even though s/he usually hides it: He seems mean, but deep down he’s really nice.
3 two/three etc. deep in two, three, etc.
rows or layers deepen /dpən/ v. [T] to make something deeper, or to become deeper 'deep freeze n. [C] a FREEZER deep fried adj. cooked in a lot of hot oil —deep fry v. [T]
deeply /dipli/ adv. 1 extremely or very much:
Wood is a deeply religious man. | They knew Frank was deeply involved in criminal activities.
2 a long way into something: We started sinking even more deeper into the mud. 3 breathe deeply to take a large breath of air into your lungs and then let all the air out again deep-seated also deep-rooted adj. a deep-seated feeling or idea is strong and very difficult to change
deer /dər/ n. (plural deer) [C] a large wild animal that lives in forests. The male has long horns that look like tree branches. [ORIGIN: Old English deor “animal”] de-face /də′fés/ v. [T] (formal) to damage the appearance of something, especially by writing or making marks on it: walls defaced by graffiti de face-to /də′fæktə- də′fæktə/ adj. LAW writing or saying something that makes people have a bad opinion of someone or something defamation /də′fæmə′ʃən/ n. [U] LAW writing or saying something that makes people have a bad opinion of someone or something: She sued him for defaming her character. —defamatory /də′fæmə′tərē/ adj. default /də′fɔlt/ v. [I] to not do something that you are legally supposed to: He defaulted on his loan payments.
default /də′fɔlt/ n. 1 [U] failure to do something that you are supposed to do: We won the first game by default (=because the other team failed to arrive.)
The loan is in default (=it has not been paid back on time). 2 [U] failure to win or suc-cceed: Miami’s first defeat | an embarrassing defeat: He’ll never admit defeat (admit that he has failed). 2 [singular] victory over someone or something: the defeat of the President’s tax plan defeat /də′fət/ v. [T] 1 to win a victory over someone:
Davis easily defeated his opponent in the election.
defeating /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defeat /də′fət/ adj. —defeating /də′fəting/ adv.
defect /deˈfɛkt/ v [T] to leave your own country or a group and join or go to an opposing one: a Cuban baseball player who defected to the United States —defector n [C] —defection /deˈfɛksən/ n [C]U defective /deˈfɛktɪv/ adj not made correctly or not working correctly: defective products defend /defend/ [ˈdɛfɛnd] 1 [T] to protect someone or something from being attacked —DEFENSE: You should learn to defend yourself. | Soldiers defended the fort from attack. 2 [T] to use arguments to protect something or someone from criticism: The mayor defended his plan to raise taxes. | He had to defend himself against their charges. 3 [T] to try to prevent your opponents from getting points in a sports game 4 [T] to be a lawyer for someone who is said to be guilty of a crime [Origin: 1200–1300 Old French défender, from Latin defendere, from defender “to keep”] —defender n [C] —defensible /dɪˈfɛnsəbl/ adj defendent /defendənt/ n [C] LAW the person in a court of law who has been accused of doing something illegal —plaintiff defense /dɪˈfens/ 1 [U] the act of protecting someone or something from attack or criticism: Senator Stevens spoke in defense of a bill to make handguns illegal. 2 [U] the weapons, people, systems, etc. that a country uses to protect itself from attack: the Department of Defense | Defense spending =money spent on weapons, etc.) has increased. 3 [C] something that is used for protection against something else: Vitamin C is my defense against colds. 4 a) [C]U LAW the things that are said in a court of law to prove that someone is not guilty of a crime: His defense is that he didn’t remember the incident. b) the defense LAW the people in a court of law who are trying to show that someone is not guilty of a crime —PROSECUTION: Are the defense ready to call the first witness? —defensive /dɪˈfɛnsɪv/ adj 2 used or intended for protection against attack —DEFENSIVE: defensive weapons 2 behaving in a way that shows you think someone is criticizing you even if she is not: She got really defensive when I asked her why she was late. 3 relating to stopping the other team from getting points in a game —DEFENSIVE: a defensive play —defensively adv —defensiveness n [U] defensive /dɪˈfɛnsɪv/ n on the defensive protecting yourself because someone is criticizing you: Her boss’s comment put her on the defensive.

defender /ˈdɛfəndər/ (deferred, deferring) [T] (formal) to delay something until a later date: His military service was deferred until he finished college.
defer to /dɪˈfaI@nt/ v (deferred, deferring) [T] (formal) to accept someone’s opinion or decision because you have respect for that person or because she has power over you: I usually defer to my wife when it comes to shopping.
deferral /ˌdɛfərəl/ n [U] (formal) polite behavior that shows that you respect someone and are willing to accept what she says or believes: In deference to local custom, we covered our heads.
amount deferential /ˌdɛfərənʃl/ adj —deferentially adv deference /dɪˈfɛrsəns/ n [U] —deferential deference to local custom, we covered our heads. deficiency /dɪˈfɪʃəns/ n [U] (plural deficiencies) 1 a lack of something that is needed: a vitamin deficiency 2 a weakness or fault in something: The computer system has serious deficiencies.
deficient /dɪˈfɪʃənt/ adj 1 not having or containing enough of something: food deficient in iron 2 not good enough deficit /ˈdɛfəsit/ n [C] the difference between the amount of something that you have and the higher amount that you need: The Celtics had a 22-point deficit at halftime. 2 [C]U ECONOMICS the difference between the amount of money that a government spends and the amount that it takes in from taxes and other activities: The objectives are to control the budget deficit and reduce inflation. | The balance of payments was in deficit.
defile /dɪˈfaɪl/ v [T] (formal) to make something less pure, good, or holy: graves defiled by Nazi symbols define /dɪˈfain/ v [T] 1 to explain the exact meaning of a particular word or idea —DEFINITION: Please define what you mean by “democracy.” —A definite lie is defined as saying something in order to deceive someone. 2 to describe something correctly and show what qualities it has that make it different from other things: Teachers need to give students rules that are clearly defined. [Orig: 1300–1400 Old French, from Latin definitus, from finire “to limit, end.”] —definable adj.
definite article the word “the” in English, or a word in another language that is like “the” → ARTICLE definite-ly /definitli/ adv without any doubt: That was definitely the best movie I’ve seen all year. “Are you going to be there tomorrow?” “Definitely.” | It’s definitely not the right time to tell her. | After seeing the statistics, we can definitely say that pollution has increased.
definition /definishn/ n 1 [C] a phrase or sentence that says exactly what a word, phrase, or idea means: What’s the definition of “defamation?” | a dictionary definition 2 [U] the clear edges, shapes, or sound that something has: The photograph lacks definition. | a high definition television 3 by definition if something has a particular quality by definition, it must have that quality because all things of that type have it: A carcinogenic substance (one that can cause cancer) is, by definition, hazardous to humans.
definitive /definativ/ adj [only before noun] 1 the definitive book, description, etc. is considered to be the best of its type and cannot be improved: the definitive biography of Charlie Chaplin 2 a definitive statement, answer, etc. cannot be doubted or changed: The group has taken a definitive stand against pornography. —definitively adv.
deflate /dɪˈfleɪt, dɪ-/, v 1 [T] if a tire, ball, etc. deflates, or if you deflate it, it becomes smaller because the air or gas inside it comes out (try) inflate 2 [T] to make someone feel less important or confident 3 [T] ECONOMICS to change the economic rules or conditions in a country so that prices become lower or stop rising —deflation /dɪˈfleɪʃn/ n 2 defy description/explanation/imagination etc. to be almost impossible to describe, explain, understand, etc.: Her outfit defied description.
defense of /dɪˈfɛns/ v (defended, defending) [T] 1 to refuse to obey someone or something: He defied his father’s wishes and joined the army.
defend /dɪˈfend/ v to protect: The owner defended his house against burglars.
defend (one’s) interest /dɪˈfend/ v to protect: The lawyer defended the defendant’s rights.
defender /dɪˈfendər/ n 1 a person who defends: The defender of the county football team. 2 a person who defends the rights of others: A human rights defender.
defense /dɪˈfens/ n 1 [C,U] a group of people who protect their country: the Canadian armed forces 2 [U] the protection of something: the defense of our borders.
defensed /dɪˈfensd/ adj used to describe someone who is being defended by someone else:
3 definitive answer, decisive response a clear and noticeable:
4 definite evidence, proof, clairvoyance something that is sure to happen: a definite improvement in the last few games. 5 to be almost impossible to describe, explain, understand, etc.: The subject defies description.
defeat /dɪˈfɪt/ v 1 to defeat someone in a conflict: The team was defeated by its rival. 2 to defeat someone in a competition: The fighter defeated his opponent in the first round. —defeated /dɪˈfɪtɪd/ adj 3 the defeating of something: The sport experienced a defeat in its popularity.
default /dɪˈfɔːt/ n 1 [C] the act of having done something wrong: the payment of a debt in default 2 a situation in which something happens by mistake:
3 [C] a situation in which something happens as expected: the default of a computer program. —default /dɪˈfɔːt/ v (defaulted, defaulting) 1 to default on a debt, obligation, etc.: The company defaulted on its loans. 2 to default on a computer program when it fails. —defaulted /dɪˈfɔːtɪd/ adj —defaulting /dɪˈfɔːtɪŋ/ adj defective /dɪˈfɛktɪv/ adj 1 a defective device, product, etc. has a fault or flaw: The television set is defective. 2 a defective computer program has a fault: The computer program is not working.
de·grad·ing
/dɪˈɡrædɪŋ/ adj. showing no respect for someone, or making him/her feel very ashamed: It was degrading to have to ask strangers for money.

deg·ree /ˈdiɡri/ n. 1 [C] a unit for measuring temperature: It got up to 86 degrees today. 2 [C] a unit for measuring the size of an angle: The plane was climbing at an angle of 20 degrees. 3 [C,U] the level or amount of something: students with different degrees of ability | To what degree is his smoking contributing to his health problems? 4 [C] something that you get from a college or university, which officially shows that you have successfully completed a program of study: a law degree | Ryan has a degree in chemistry. | You need a college degree for most of these jobs. [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French degré “step, grade”] degree of a (n. [C] math the number you get when you add together the exponents of the term in a monomial.

degree of a (n. [C] math the number you get when you add together the exponents of the term in a polynomial. degree of a (n. [C] math the number you get when you add together the exponents of one of the terms in an equation.
dehy·drat·ed /dɪˈhaɪdrətəd/ adj. people or things that are dehydrated do not have enough water inside them: dehydrated potatoes. Be careful you don’t get dehydrated outside in this heat.

—dehy·drat·ion /dɪˈhaɪdrəʃən/ n. [U]: Several runners were suffering from dehydration.

del·e·gate /diˈleɪɡət/ v. [T] to give part of your work, or something you are responsible for, to someone who is in a lower position than you in your organization: Smaller jobs should be delegated to your assistant.
del·e·gate /diˈleɪɡət/ n. (plural delegates) /ˈdɛləɡət/ (formal) very good to taste or smell
del·e·gate /diˈleɪɡət/ n. (plural delegates) /ˈdɛləɡət/ (formal) very good to taste or smell
del·e·gate /diˈleɪɡət/ v. [T] to give part of your work, or something you are responsible for, to someone who is in a lower position than you in your organization: Smaller jobs should be delegated to your assistant.
del·igate /diˈleɪɡət/ v. [T] to give part of your work, or something you are responsible for, to someone who is in a lower position than you in your organization: Smaller jobs should be delegated to your assistant.
delibe·rate /dɪˈlɪbərət/ adj. chosen to speak, vote, and make decisions for a group: Delegates from 50 colleges met to discuss the issue. [Origin: 1400—1500 Medieval Latin delegatus, from Latin legare “to send as a representative”] delibe·rate /dɪˈlɪbərət/ v. [T] to do something especially something that you do not want to do: Regular checkups are important—don’t put off visits to the dentist!

—procrastinate — to delay something that you ought to do: A lot of people procrastinate when it comes to doing paperwork.
delibe·rate /dɪˈlɪbərət/ v. [T] to make someone or something late: Our flight was delayed by bad weather. —delayed adj.
delay /dɪˈleɪ/ n. (plural delays) /ˈdɛləʊ/ (formal) a situation in which someone or something is made to wait, or the length of the waiting time: Delays of two hours or more are common. | There are severe delays on Route 95. | The President urged Congress to pass the bill without delay.
delibe·rate /dɪˈlɪbərət/ adj. planned: The players looked dejected after the lunch.
delibe·rate /dɪˈlɪbərət/ adj. chosen to speak, vote, and make decisions for a group: Delegates from 50 colleges met to discuss the issue. [Origin: 1400—1500 Medieval Latin delegatus, from Latin legare “to send as a representative”]
delibe·rate /dɪˈlɪbərət/ v. [T] to make someone or something late: Our flight was delayed by bad weather. —delayed adj.
delibe·rate /dɪˈlɪbərət/ adj. chosen to speak, vote, and make decisions for a group: Delegates from 50 colleges met to discuss the issue. [Origin: 1400—1500 Medieval Latin delegatus, from Latin legare “to send as a representative”]
delibe·rate /dɪˈlɪbərət/ adj. planned: The players looked dejected after the lunch.
deliberately

de-liber-ate-ly /dɪˈlɪbərətli/ adv. done in a way that is intended: Someone set the fire deliberately.

thesaurus

on purpose (especially spoken) – deliberately, especially in order to annoy someone or get an advantage for yourself: He told the teacher I’d pushed him on purpose intentionally – deliberately, especially in order to have a particular result or effect: Very few teenagers become pregnant intentionally purposely – deliberately, in order to achieve a particular aim: Some day-care centers are purposely built near senior centers, so that old and young people can interact.

de-liber-a-tion /dɪˈlɪbərəʃən/ n. [C] careful thought or discussion about a problem: The committee will finish its deliberations today.

del-i-cal-ly /dɛlɪˈkælɪ/ adv. very easily damaged or broken: a delicate porcelain cup 2 needing to be done very carefully in order to avoid causing problems: delicate surgery 3 a part of the body that is delicate is attractive, thin, and graceful: long delicate fingers — delicately adv.

del-i-ca-tes-sen /dɛlɪˈkeɪtəsən/ n. [C] a delicatessen.

del-i-cate /dɪˈlɪkət/ adj. 1 something good to eat that is expensive or rare: The red sea urchins, a delicacy in Japan, are caught off the coast of California. 2 [U] a careful way of speaking or behaving so that you do not upset anyone: We need to handle this business with great delicacy. 3 [U] the quality of being easy to harm or damage: the delicacy of the clock’s machinery del-i-cate-ly /dɛlɪˈkæti-li/ adv. 1 easily damaged or broken: a delicate porcelain cup 2 needing to be done very carefully in order to avoid causing problems: delicate surgery 3 a part of the body that is delicate is attractive, thin, and graceful: long delicate fingers — delicately adv.

del-i-ca-tess-en /dɛlɪˈkeɪtəsən/ n. [C] a delicatessen.

de-li-cious /dɪˈlɪʃəs/ adj. 1 having a very enjoyable taste or smell: a delicious meal 2 tasting delicious. [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French, Latin deliciare “to attract”]

thesaurus

sweet, tasty, sour, salty, hot, spicy — TASTE de-light /dɪˈlaɪt/ n. 1 [U] a feeling of great pleasure and satisfaction: Kristal laughed with delight. 2 [C] something that makes you feel very happy or satisfied: the delights of traveling [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French delti, from Latin deliciare “to please greatly”] delight /dɪˈlaɪt/ v. [T] to give someone a feeling of great pleasure and satisfaction: This movie classic will delight the whole family.

delight in sbh /v. to enjoy something very much, especially something that annoys someone else: little boys who delight in scaring people delightful /dɪˈlaɪtʃəl/ adj. very nice, pleasant, and enjoyable: a delightful story for younger children — delightfully adv.

de-lin-e-ate /dɪˈlɪnət/ v. [T] (formal) to make something very clear by describing it or drawing it in great detail de-lin-quent /dɪˈlɪŋkwənt/ adj. 1 late in paying the money you owe: delinquent loan 2 behaving in a way that is illegal or that society does not approve of — delinquent n. [C] delir-i-ous /dɪˈlɪrɪəs/ adj. 1 confused, anxious, and excited because you are very sick 2 extremely happy and excited: Her parents were delirious with joy to see her again. — delirium /dɪˈlɪriəm/ n. [U] de-liv-er /dɪˈlɪvər/ v. 1 [T] to take a letter, package, goods, etc. to a particular place or person: I delivered newspapers when I was a kid. I’m having some furniture delivered to the apartment. 2 [T] to make a speech to a lot of people: Rev. Whitman delivered a powerful sermon. 3 [T] to do the things that you have promised: Voters are angry that politicians haven’t delivered on their promises. 4 deliver a baby to give birth to a baby, or to help a woman give birth to a baby 5 [T] to get votes or support from a particular group of people: We’re expecting Rigby to deliver the blue-collar vote. [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French deliver, from Latin liberare “to set free”] de-liv-er-y /dɪˈlɪvərɪ/ n. [C] the act of bringing something to someone or somewhere: Pizza Mondo offers free delivery for any pizza over $10. 2 [C] something that is delivered: All deliveries should be taken to the rear entrance. 3 [C] the process of a baby being born: Mrs. Haims was rushed into the delivery room (= hospital room where babies are born) at 7:42. 4 [singular, U] the way that someone speaks or performs in public: I liked his jokes, but his delivery needs work.

del-ta /dɛlˈtə/ n. [C] Earth Sciences a low area of land where a river separates into many smaller rivers flowing toward an ocean: the Mississippi Delta | an inland delta (=a delta that is not near the ocean) de-lude /dɪˈluːd/ v. [T] to make someone believe something that is not true — deceive: He’s deluding himself if he thinks he can eat what he wants and lose weight. — deluded adj.

deluge /dɛlˈjuːɡ/ n. [C] 1 a period of time when it rains continuously 2 a large amount of something such as letters, questions, etc. that someone gets at the same time [Origin: 1400—1500 Old French, Latin diluvium “flood”] deluge /v. [T] 1 to send a lot of letters, questions, etc. to someone at the same time: The radio station was deluged with complaints. 2 (literary) to completely cover something with water de-lu-sion /ˈdɛluʃən/ n [C,U] a false belief about something: Walter’s still under the delusion that (=wrongly believes that) his wife loves him.

deluxe /ˈdɛljuks/ adj. of better quality and more expensive than other similar things: a deluxe resort delve /dɛlv/ v. to search for more information about someone or something: Reporters are always delving into actors’ personal lives.
dem-a-gogue /dəˈmeɪɡɔʊg/ n [C] (disapproving) a political leader who tries to make people feel strong emotions in order to influence their opinions
[Origin: 1600—1700 Greek διάμεγας “leading”]
demand /dɪˈmænd/ n. 1 [singular, U] the need or desire that people have for particular goods or services, and their willingness to buy them ➔ supply: Demand for the new model is outstripping supply. 2 [C] a strong request that shows you believe you have the right to get what you ask for: Union members will strike until the company agrees to their demands. 3 demands [plural] the difficult or annoying things that you need to do: women dealing with the demands of family and career | The school makes heavy demands on its teachers. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French demander, from Latin mandare “to order”]
demand /dɪˈmænd/ v. 1 [T] to ask strongly for something, especially because you think you have a right to do this: The President demanded the release of the hostages. | Hughes demanded that he get his money back. 2 [I,T] to order someone to tell you something or do something: “What are you doing here?” she demanded. 3 [I,T] if something demands your time, skill, attention, etc., it makes you use a lot of your time, skill, etc.: The baby demands most of her time.

democracy

was deluged with complaints. 2 (literary) to completely cover something with water
de-lu-sion /ˈdɛluʃən/ n [C,U] a false belief about something: Walter’s still under the delusion that (=wrongly believes that) his wife loves him.
deluxe /ˈdɛljuks/ adj. of better quality and more expensive than other similar things: a deluxe resort
delve /dɛlv/ v. to search for more information about someone or something: Reporters are always delving into actors’ personal lives.
dem-a-gogue /dəˈmeɪɡɔʊg/ n [C] (disapproving) a political leader who tries to make people feel strong emotions in order to influence their opinions
[Origin: 1600—1700 Greek διάμεγας “leading”]
demand /dɪˈmænd/ n. 1 [singular, U] the need or desire that people have for particular goods or services, and their willingness to buy them ➔ supply: Demand for the new model is outstripping supply. 2 [C] a strong request that shows you believe you have the right to get what you ask for: Union members will strike until the company agrees to their demands. 3 demands [plural] the difficult or annoying things that you need to do: women dealing with the demands of family and career | The school makes heavy demands on its teachers. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French demander, from Latin mandare “to order”]
demand /dɪˈmænd/ v. 1 [T] to ask strongly for something, especially because you think you have a right to do this: The President demanded the release of the hostages. | Hughes demanded that he get his money back. 2 [I,T] to order someone to tell you something or do something: “What are you doing here?” she demanded. 3 [I,T] if something demands your time, skill, attention, etc., it makes you use a lot of your time, skill, etc.: The baby demands most of her time.

democracy

was deluged with complaints. 2 (literary) to completely cover something with water
de-lu-sion /ˈdɛluʃən/ n [C,U] a false belief about something: Walter’s still under the delusion that (=wrongly believes that) his wife loves him.
deluxe /ˈdɛljuks/ adj. of better quality and more expensive than other similar things: a deluxe resort
delve /dɛlv/ v. to search for more information about someone or something: Reporters are always delving into actors’ personal lives.
dem-a-gogue /dəˈmeɪɡɔʊg/ n [C] (disapproving) a political leader who tries to make people feel strong emotions in order to influence their opinions
[Origin: 1600—1700 Greek διάμεγας “leading”]
demand /dɪˈmænd/ n. 1 [singular, U] the need or desire that people have for particular goods or services, and their willingness to buy them ➔ supply: Demand for the new model is outstripping supply. 2 [C] a strong request that shows you believe you have the right to get what you ask for: Union members will strike until the company agrees to their demands. 3 demands [plural] the difficult or annoying things that you need to do: women dealing with the demands of family and career | The school makes heavy demands on its teachers. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French demander, from Latin mandare “to order”]
demand /dɪˈmænd/ v. 1 [T] to ask strongly for something, especially because you think you have a right to do this: The President demanded the release of the hostages. | Hughes demanded that he get his money back. 2 [I,T] to order someone to tell you something or do something: “What are you doing here?” she demanded. 3 [I,T] if something demands your time, skill, attention, etc., it makes you use a lot of your time, skill, etc.: The baby demands most of her time.
Demoncrat /ˈdɛməkrət/ n [C] 1 Democrat Politics a member or supporter of the Democratic Party of the U.S. → Republican 2 Politics someone who believes in or works to achieve democracy democrat-ic /ˈdɛməkrətɪk/ adj 1 Democratic Politics relating to or supporting the Democratic Party of the U.S. → Republican: the Democratic senator from Hawaii 2 organized by a system in which everyone has the same right to vote, speak, etc.: a democratic way of making decisions 3 Politics based on a system in which a government is elected by the people of a country: a democratic government

Democratic Party n the Democratic Party one of the two major political parties of the U.S. → Republican Party demographics /ˌdɛməɡrəfɪks/ n [plural] Social Science information about the people who live in a particular area, for example, what they earn or how old they are: The demographics of America’s population have changed dramatically over the past century. → demographic adj: The under-25s buy more downloads than any other demographic group.

demolish /ˈdɛməlɪʃ/ v 1 to completely destroy a building or other structure: Several houses were demolished to make space for a new park. 2 to prove that an idea or opinion is completely wrong: Each of his arguments was demolished by the defense lawyer. [Origin: 1500—1600 Old French demoli, from Latin de “down” + molii “to build”] → demolition /ˌdɛməlɪʃən/ n [C,U] demon /ˈdɪmən/ n [C] an evil spirit → demonic /ˈdɪmənɪk/ adj demonstrate /dɪˈmɑːnstreɪt/ v 1 [T] to show a fact clearly: The research demonstrates the need to treat cancer early. | His lawyer will try to demonstrate that Lee was out of town on the night of the murder. | The graph demonstrates how air travel has increased over the last fifty years.

Thesaurus show – to make it clear that something is true or exists by providing facts or information: The case shows that women still face discrimination at work.

indicate (formal) – if scientific facts, tests, official figures, etc. indicate something, they show that something exists or is likely to be true: Research indicates that the drug may be linked to birth defects.

suggest – to show that something is probably true, even though there is no proof: There was nothing in the letter to suggest that he was thinking of suicide.

prove – to show that something is definitely true: Researchers have not been able to prove there is a link between living near a power line and getting cancer.

establish (formal) – to find out facts that will prove that something is true: Studies have established that good daycare does children no harm.

substantiate (formal) – to prove the truth of something that someone has said: The data substantiates this theory.

Thesaurus through sth, clarify → explain

2 [T] to show or describe how to use or do something: Instructors should demonstrate how to use the equipment. | Our teacher demonstrated the correct way to construct an essay.

3 [T] to show that you have a particular skill, quality, or ability: The contest gave her a chance to demonstrate her ability. | [T] to protest or support something in public with a lot of other people: Thousands came to demonstrate against the war. [Origin: 1500—1600 Latin demonstratus, past participle of demonstrare, from monstrare “to show”]

Thesaurus protest, march, riot, hold/stage a sit-in, go on a hunger strike, boycott → protest?

demonstration /dɪˈmɑːnstraʃən/ n 1 [C] an event at which a lot of people meet to protest or support something in public: Students staged a demonstration against gun violence. 2 [C,U] the act of showing and explaining how to do something: Pam gave a demonstration on how to use the new computer system. | Make sure you get a demonstration of the software before you buy it. 3 [C] an action, fact, etc. that proves that someone or something has a particular quality, ability, emotion, etc.: People gathered in a demonstration of support for the missing children. | The city’s polluted air is a clear demonstration of the need for tougher environmental laws.

demonstrative ‘pronoun n [C] Eng. Lang. Arts a pronoun such as “that” or “this” that shows which person or thing is meant out of a group.

demonstrate against /dɪˈmɑːnstrətɪv/ adj willing to show how much you care about someone: He loves me, but he’s not very demonstrative.

demonstrative ‘pronoun n [C] Eng. Lang. Arts used by or popular with most ordinary people: a play written in the demonstrative language of Chicano gangs → Demotic History relating to an ancient form of Egyptian writing that was simple and could be used by ordinary people.
de-mure /ˌdɪˈmʊər/ adj. a girl or woman who is demure is shy, quiet, and always behaves well

THESAURUS

- shy, timid, bashful, self-conscious, reserved, introverted, retiring ➔ shy

den /dɛn/ n. [C] 1 a room in a house, where people relax, read, watch television, etc. 2 the home of some types of animals, such as lions and foxes [Origin: Old English dēn] den-rite /ˈdenrɪt/ n. [C] BIOLOGY a small part on the body of a nerve cell, that makes electrical signals come toward the cell from other cells den-i-al /dɪˈnɪəl/ n. 1 [C,U] a statement saying that something is not true ➔ DENY: Diaz made a public denial of the rumor. 2 [U] a situation or condition in which you refuse to admit or believe that something bad exists or has happened: I think Becky’s in denial about her drinking problem. 3 [C] (formal) the act of refusing to allow someone to have or do something ➔ DENY: the denial of basic human rights

Den-i-grate /dɪˈnɪɡrɪte/ v. [T] (formal) to do or say things to make someone or something seem less important or good [Origin: 1400—1500 Latin denigrare, from niger “black”] den-im /dɛnɪm/ n. [U] a type of strong cotton cloth used for making jeans [Origin: 1600—1700 French (serge) de Nîmes “(type of cloth) from Nîmes,” French city where it was first made] den-o-mi-na-tion /ˌdɛnəˈmiːnəʃən/ n. [C] 1 a religious group that has slightly different beliefs from other groups who belong to the same religion

THESAURUS

- church, sect, cult ➔ CHURCH

- The value of a coin, paper money, or a stamp: The robbers escaped with $12,000 in small/large denominations.

Den-o-mi-na-tor /ˌdɛnəˈmiːnətər/ n. [C] MATH the number below the line in a fraction ➔ COMMON DENOMINATOR, LOWEST COMMON DENOMINATOR, NUMERATOR den-o-ta-tion /ˌdɛnəˈteɪʃən/ n. [C,U] ENG. LANG. ARTS the thing that is actually described by a word, rather than the feelings or ideas it suggests den-o-ta-tive /ˌdɛnəˈteɪtɪv/ adj. ENG. LANG. ARTS representing or explaining something in a clear way using facts: Denotative language is factual, whereas connotative language is emotional den-o-te /ˌdɛnəˈteɪ/ v. [T] (written) to represent or mean something: Each X on the map denotes 500 people. 1 In this painting, the red sky denotes danger.

denounce /ˌdɛnəns/ v. [T] to say publicly that you disapprove of someone or something: The bishop denounced the film as immoral.

den-sif-i-ca-tion /ˌdɛnsɪˈfɪkəʃən/ n. 1 the degree to which an area is filled with things or people: a high density (=very crowded) neighborhood 2 PHYSICS the relationship between an object’s weight and the amount of space it fills dent /dɛnt/ n. [C] 1 a mark made when you hit or press something so that its surface is bent: a big dent in the car 2 a reduction in the amount of something: I haven’t made a dent in the money I have to pay back on my loan.

dent² v. [T] to hit or press something so that its surface is bent and marked: Some idiot dented my car door.

den-tal /ˌdɛntəl/ adj. relating to your teeth: dental care [Origin: 1500—1600 Latin dentalis, from dens “tooth”] den-tal floss n. [U] thin string that you use to clean between your teeth den-tine /ˌdɛntɪn/ n. [U] BIOLOGY the type of bone that your teeth are made of dent-tis /dɛntɪs/ n. [C] someone whose job is to treat people’s teeth: I go to the dentist twice a year.

THESAURUS

- doctor, physician, surgeon, specialist, psychiatrist, pediatrician ➔ DOCTOR

-dent-ure /dɛntˈʃər/ n. [plural] artificial teeth worn to replace the natural ones that someone has lost [Syn: false teeth] den-tures /dɛntʃərz/ n. [plural] a public statement in which you criticize someone or something den-ny /dɛnˈni/ v. (denied denies) [T] 1 to say that something is not true ➔ DENIAL: Simmons denied that he had murdered his wife. 2 He has repeatedly denied the rumor. 2 to refuse to allow someone to have or do something ➔ DENIAL: The judge denied a request to close down the school immediately. [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French denier, from Latin negare “to deny”] de-o-dor-ant /ˌdɪəˈdɔrənt/ n. [C,U] a substance that you put on the skin under your arms to stop you from smelling bad deoxyribonucleic acid

ac-id

/ˈdiˌoʊksəˌreɪnuˈklɪəs/ n. [U] BIOLOGY DNA

de-part

/ˈdipərt/ v. [I] (formal) to leave and arrive: All passengers departing for New York on flight UAL79 should go to Gate 7. | The train will depart from track 9.

depart from sb/sth phr v. (formal) to start to use new ideas or do something in an unusual or unexpected way: Parker’s approach departs from the usual classroom routine.

de-part-ment

/ˈdipərtnənt/ n. [C] 1 any of the groups of people working together that form part of a large organization such as a college, government, or business: a typical university music department | the Department of Energy 2 an area in a large store, where particular types of product are sold: the men’s department (=where clothes for men are sold)

de-par-ture

/ˈdipərtoʊr/ n. [U] 1 [C]U the action of leaving a place, especially to travel in an airplane, car, etc. 2 arrival: Check in at the airport an hour before departure. | her departure for Japan 2 [C] a change from what is usual or expected: Their new designs represent a departure from their usual style.

de-pend

/ˈdipənd/ v. that depends (spoken) used to say that you are not sure about something because you do not know what will happen: “Are you coming to my house later?” “It depends. I might have to work.”

depend on/upon sb/sth phr v. 1 to need the help or support of someone or something else: Charles depends on money from his parents to pay his rent. 2 to be directly affected by something else: The amount you spend depends on where you live. 3 to trust someone or something: Sometimes I think you’re the only person I can depend on.

de-pend-ent

/ˈdipəndənt/ adj 1 needing someone or something else in order to exist, be successful, etc. independent: dependent children | Jan’s mother was dependent on her for physical care. 2 be dependent on/upon sb/sth to be directly affected by something else: Your success is dependent on how hard you work.

dependence

/ˈdipəndəns/ n. [U] dependent

de-pen-dent

/ˈdipəndənt/ n. [C] someone, especially a child, who depends on someone else for food, money, clothing, etc.

de-pend-ent clause

/ˈdipəndənt klaʊs/ n. [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS a clause that gives information related to the main clause in a sentence, but which cannot exist alone. For example, in the sentence, “I have hated milk since I was child,” the clause “since I was a child” is a dependent clause.

de-pend-ent variable

/ˈdipəndənt vərəˈbil/ n. [C] SCIENCE in a scientific experiment (=test), a result that is likely to change depending on the different conditions used in the experiment SYN responding variable

de-pict

/ˈdipɪkt/ v. [T] to describe or show a character, situation, or event in writing or by using pictures: the people depicted in the movie | The god is depicted as a bird with a human head. [Orig.: 1400—1500 Latin depictus, past participle of depingere, from pinger: “to print”]

de-pilete

/ˌdipəˈlɪt/ v. [T] (formal) to reduce the amount of something: Many of our forests have been depleted by the paper industry.

de-plor-a-ble

/ˌdipəˈlɔrəbəl/ adj. (formal) very bad, shocking, and deserving strong disapproval: deplorable prison conditions

de-plor-er

/ˌdipəˈlɔrər/ v. [T] (formal) to severely criticize something that you disapprove of: a statement deploiting the use of chemical weapons [Orig.: 1500—1600 French déplorer, from Latin plorare: “to cry out”]

de-play

/ˌdipəˈpleɪ/ v. [T] to move soldiers and military equipment to a place so that they can be used if necessary: Nuclear missiles were being deployed in Europe. [Orig.: 1400—1500 French déployer, from Latin displicare: “to scatter”]

de-pop-u-la-tion

/ˌdipəˈpələʃən/ n. [U] SOCIAL SCIENCE a large reduction in the number of people living in a particular area: The movement of people into the cities led to the depopulation of rural areas.

de-port

/ˌdipərˈpɔrt/ v. [T] to officially make a person from a foreign country return to the country they came from.

de-pos-ite

/ˌdipəˈstreɪt/ n. [C] U 1 a part of the cost of something that you pay before paying the total amount later: We put down a deposit on the house yesterday. 2 an amount of money that is put into someone’s bank account: I’d like to make a deposit into my savings account. 3 money that you pay when you rent something such as an apartment or car, which will be given back if you do not damage it 4 an amount or layer of a substance in a particular place: oil deposits depress:
1. To put money into a bank account.
2. To put something down especially in a particular place.

de-pot n [C] 1 A small train or bus station. 2 A place where goods are stored.

de-praved adj morally unacceptable and evil: a depraved murderer [Origin: 1500—1600 deprave “to make evil” (14–21 centuries), from French dépraver, from Latin pravus “bent, bad”]

de-pres·sion /de·pres·shən/ n [U] The state of being evil or morally unacceptable: sexual depravity.

de-pre·ci·ate v [T] (formal) to disapprove of or criticize something strongly: The Senator deplored the riots that had broken out after the court’s decision. —depreciation /ˌdiprəˈkeiʃən/ n [U] de·pre·ci·a·tion n. To decrease in value or price: The value of the peso fell, depressing the nation’s economy.

de·pre·sive adj. Not having the things that are considered to be necessary for a comfortable or happy life: a deprived childhood.

depth /dəpθ/ n 1 [C usually singular] a) The distance from the top of something to the bottom of it: The water rose to a depth of 12 feet. b) The distance from the front of an object to the back of it: the depth of the shelves see picture at dimension. 2 [U] How strong an emotion is or how serious a situation is: the depth of their friendship.

depth of field n. A) The range of distances from the front of an object to the back of it that can be in focus: The lens has a limited depth of field. B) The amount of detail that can be seen in a photograph or image: The camera has a wide depth of field.

de·press·ing adj. Very sad: depressed about my mother’s illness.

de·prive /drəˈprɪv/ v to make someone feel very sad: To deprive someone of something: the patient is suffering from depression.

der·e·lict adj. Not having enough jobs or business activity to make a area, industry, etc. successful. depressed economy.

de·riv·a·tive /drəˈrivətiv/ np. From Latin derivatum or process of coming from something else, such as:

- derivative of /drəˈrivətiv/ n. A word that has developed or been produced from something else: The drug is a derivative of Vitamin A. derivative\(^2\) adj. (disapproving) copied or taken from something else: I find his painting style very derivative.
derive /də'riv/ (v. 1 [T] to get something such as happiness, strength, or satisfaction from someone or something: He derives pleasure from helping others. 2 [I-T] to develop or come from something else: The word “benefit” is derived from Latin. 3 [T] CHEMISTRY to get a chemical substance from another substance: A variety of compounds can be derived from the acid. [Origin: 1300—1400 French dériver, from Latin derivare “to draw out water,” from rivus “stream”].
derick /dəˈrik/ n. [C] the tall tower over an oil well, that holds the DRILL.
descent /dɪˈsent/ v. [T] (formal) to move from a higher level to a lower one (any ascend: She began to descend the stairs. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French descendre, from Latin de “down” + scandere “to climb”].
descend from ab phr. v. be descended from sb to be related to someone who lived a long time ago: My father’s family is descended from the Pilgrims.
descent on/upon sb phr. v. if a lot of people descend on a place, they arrive there at the same time: A large troop of soldiers descended on the village.
desendant /dɪˈsedənt/ n. [C] someone who is related to a person who lived a long time ago ➔ ANCESTOR: She was a direct descendant of one of the Pilgrims on the Mayflower. descent /dɪˈsent/ n. 1 [C-U] (formal) the process of going down (any ascent: The plane began its descent. 2 [U] your family origins, especially in relation to the country where your family came from: We’re of Italian descent.
describe /dɪˈskrɪb/ v. [T] to say what someone or something is like by giving details ➔ DESCRIPTION: Can you describe the man who took your purse? [It’s hard to describe how I feel. | One child described his caps as having jumping beans inside her stomach. [Origin: 1400—1500 Latin describere, from scrivere “to write”].
thesaurus call, characterize, label, brand, portray ➔ CALL\(^3\) description /dɪˈskrɪpʃən/ n. [C-U] a piece of writing or speech that gives details about what someone or something is like ➔ DESCRIBE: Kate gave a detailed description of her new house. | Police have a detailed description of the missing child. | You fit the description of (=look like) a man seen running from the scene.
descriptive /dɪˈskrɪptɪv/ adj. giving a description of something in words or pictures describe /dɪˈskrɪb/ v. [T] to damage something holy or respected ➔ desecration /dɪˈsekrəʃən/ n. [U] desegregate /dɪˈseɡrəɡet/ v. [T] to end a system in which people of different races are kept separate ➔ segregate: an attempt to desegregate the schools ➔ desegregated /dɪˌsɛɡrəˈɡeɪtɪd/ adj. —desegregation /dɪˌsɛɡrəˈɡeɪʃən/ n. [U] dermatology /dəˈmætələdʒi/ n. [U] the part of medical science that deals with the skin, its diseases, and their treatment ➔ dermatologist n. [C] derogatory remarks about women.
derick /dəˈrik/ n. [C] the tall tower over an oil well, that holds the DRILL.
derick /dəˈrik/ n. [C] the tall tower over an oil well, that holds the DRILL.
derick /dəˈrik/ n. [C] the tall tower over an oil well, that holds the DRILL.
derick /dəˈrik/ n. [C] the tall tower over an oil well, that holds the DRILL.
derick /dəˈrik/ n. [C] the tall tower over an oil well, that holds the DRILL.
derick /dəˈrik/ n. [C] the tall tower over an oil well, that holds the DRILL.
derick /dəˈrik/ n. [C] the tall tower over an oil well, that holds the DRILL.
derick /dəˈrik/ n. [C] the tall tower over an oil well, that holds the DRILL.
derick /dəˈrik/ n. [C] the tall tower over an oil well, that holds the DRILL.
derick /dəˈrik/ n. [C] the tall tower over an oil well, that holds the DRILL.
derick /dəˈrik/ n. [C] the tall tower over an oil well, that holds the DRILL.
derick /dəˈrik/ n. [C] the tall tower over an oil well, that holds the DRILL.
derick /dəˈrik/ n. [C] the tall tower over an oil well, that holds the DRILL.
derick /dəˈrik/ n. [C] the tall tower over an oil well, that holds the DRILL.
derick /dəˈrik/ n. [C] the tall tower over an oil well, that holds the DRILL.
derick /dəˈrik/ n. [C] the tall tower over an oil well, that holds the DRILL.
derick /dəˈrik/ n. [C] the tall tower over an oil well, that holds the DRILL.
derick /dəˈrik/ n. [C] the tall tower over an oil well, that holds the DRILL.
derick /dəˈrik/ n. [C] the tall tower over an oil well, that holds the DRILL.
derick /dəˈrik/ n. [C] the tall tower over an oil well, that holds the DRILL.
derick /dəˈrik/ n. [C] the tall tower over an oil well, that holds the DRILL.
derick /dəˈrik/ n. [C] the tall tower over an oil well, that holds the DRILL.
derick /dəˈrik/ n. [C] the tall tower over an oil well, that holds the DRILL.
derick /dəˈrik/ n. [C] the tall tower over an oil well, that holds the DRILL.
derick /dəˈrik/ n. [C] the tall tower over an oil well, that holds the DRILL.
derick /dəˈrik/ n. [C] the tall tower over an oil well, that holds the DRILL.
derick /dəˈrik/ n. [C] the tall tower over an oil well, that holds the DRILL.
derick /dəˈrik/ n. [C] the tall tower over an oil well, that holds the DRILL.
desire /ˈdeərəs/ n. 1 [U] a strong hope or wish: the desire for peace | a desire to meet her. 2 [formal] a strong wish to have sex with someone [Orig: 1200—1300 Old French désirer, from Latin desiderāre] desire2 v. [T] 1 sth leaves a lot to be desired said when something is not as good as it should be: This coffee leaves a lot to be desired. 2 [formal] to want or hope for something very much [Syn: want: Muller never desired to return to the United States. 3 [formal] to want to have sex with someone desire3 v. [T] 1 to have or desire something to be different: I have no desire to improve my French. 2 to have or desire something: They have no desire to continue working.

desire4 v. [T] 1 to feel the need to do something: He has no desire to go abroad.
desire5 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire6 v. [T] 1 to have the wish or hope of something: I have no desire to buy a new car.
desire7 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire8 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire9 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire10 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire11 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire12 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire13 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire14 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire15 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire16 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire17 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire18 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire19 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire20 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire21 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire22 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire23 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire24 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire25 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire26 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire27 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire28 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire29 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire30 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire31 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire32 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire33 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire34 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire35 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire36 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire37 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire38 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire39 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire40 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire41 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire42 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire43 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire44 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire45 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire46 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire47 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire48 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire49 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire50 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire51 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire52 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire53 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire54 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire55 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire56 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire57 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire58 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire59 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire60 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire61 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire62 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire63 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire64 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire65 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire66 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire67 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire68 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire69 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire70 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire71 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire72 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire73 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire74 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire75 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
desire76 v. [T] 1 to feel that there is no hope: He despaired of ever finding a husband.
despondent

de-spond·ent (diˈspəndənt) adj. unhappy and without hope —despondency n. [U] —despondently adv.
despot /ˈdespət/ n. [C] someone, especially the ruler of a country, who uses power in a cruel and unfair way [Origin: 1500–1600 Old French despote, from Greek despotes “lord”] —despotic /ˈdespətik/ adj.
destined /ˈdestIn̩d/ adj. seeming certain to happen or do something at some time in the future: The album is destined to become a classic.
destination /ˈdestIn̩ʃən/ n. [U] tourist destination n. of ood, etc.:

destruction /dIˈstrikSən/ n. —destruc·tion n. the process of destroying something or of being destroyed: the destruction of the rain forests —destruc·tive /dIˈstrʌktív/ adj.
destructive interference n. [U] PHYSICS the combination of two waves of energy whose highest and lowest points are not the same, which results in a wave that is weaker than either of them detach /dIˈtætʃ/ v. [T] to remove something from something that it is attached to —detachable adj.
detached /dIˈtætʃt/ adj. not reacting to something in an emotional way: My father was always emotionally detached from the rest of us.
detail /ˈdiːtəl/ n. [C] a single fact or piece of information about something: Dad planned our vacation down to the smallest last detail | The judge refused to discuss the case in detail (causing lots of details). | There’s no need to go into detail (=give a lot of details) about the contract at this early stage. [Origin: 1600–1700 French détail, from Old French “piece cut off”] detail (=using lots of details) v. [T] to list things or give all the facts or information about something: Woolley detailed the dangers of dieting.
detailed /ˈdiːtəld, ˈdɪteɪld/ adj. containing or using a lot of information or facts: a detailed examination of the body detain /ˈdɛtən/ v. [T] to officially stop someone from leaving a place: Police detained two suspects for questioning.
detect /ˈdɛtɛkt/ v. [T] to notice or discover something, especially something that is not easy to see, hear, etc.: I detected the faint smell of perfume. | Cancer cells are often difficult to detect. [Origin: 1400–1500 Latin detectus, past participle of detectere “to uncover”] —detectable adj. —detection /ˈdɪtɛkʃən/ n. [U]: The search led to the detection of a second bomb.
detec·tive /dIˈtektrɪv/ n. [C] a police officer whose job is to discover information about crimes and catch criminals detect·or /ˈdɪtɛktər/ n. [C] a machine or piece of equipment that finds or measures something, especially something that is not easy to notice or discover.
detention /ˈdɛtɛntʃən/ n. 1 [U] the state of being kept in prison: The suspect was held in detention for three days. 2 [C] a punishment in which students who have behaved badly must stay at school for a short time after other students have left deter /dIˈtɛr/ v. (deterred, deterring) [T] to stop someone from doing something by making it difficult or threatening him/her with punishment: The high cost of cigarettes has deterred many smokers. | The security camera was installed to deter people from stealing. [Origin: 1500–1600 Latin deterere, from terrere “to frighten”] deter·gent /dIˈtɛrjənt/ n. [C] a liquid or powder containing soap, used for washing clothes, dishes, etc. [Origin: 1600–1700 French détergent, from Latin tergere “to clean by rubbing”] deter·ior·ate /dIˈtɛriər, ˈdɪtɪər/ v. [I] to become worse: Her health is deteriorating quickly. [Origin: 1500–1600 Late Latin deteriorare, from Latin deterior “worse”] —deterioration /dIˈtɛriərətʃən/ n. [U]
The number of incoming students will determine the size of the classes. Determined exactly where the ship had sunk. Determined opponent desire to do something even when it is difficult: A deterrence in which a country continues to have a strong army or powerful weapons in order to prevent a determined to make someone feel extremely sad or shocked: Mike was devastated by his parents’ divorce. To damage something, or to destroy something completely: Bombing raids devastated parts of London. Detracting news of her sister’s death. Development of a product, plan, or change that makes a product, plan, or more advanced: A healthy diet can prevent the development of heart disease. Economic development a new event that changes a situation: Our reporter in Denver has the latest developments. A large, stronger, or more advanced: A healthy diet can prevent the development of heart disease.
deviant 276

deviant adj (formal) different, in a bad way, from what is normal: deviant behavior —deviant n. [C] deviate /di'veı̊ət/ v. [I] (formal) to be or become different from what is normal or acceptable: The daytime temperature rarely deviates from 70 degrees. [Origin: 1600—1700 Late Latin deviatus, from Latin de “away from” + via “way”] deviation /di'veı̊ə'ʃən/ n. [C] 1 a noticeable difference from what is expected or normal: Any deviation from procedures will not be tolerated.
devise /di'vı̊z/ n. [C] 1 a machine or other small object that does a special job: a device for sorting mail. The device records the level of oxygen in the water.

2 a way of achieving a particular purpose: A contest could be a good device for raising money.
devil /'devl/ n. 1 the Devil the most powerful evil spirit in some religions, such as Christianity—Satan 2 [C] any evil spirit [Origin: Old English deofol, from Greek diabolos] devilish /'devlIʃ/ adj. (old-fashioned) very bad, difficult, or evil —devilishly adv.
devil's advocate n. [C] someone who pretends to disagree with you in order to have a good discussion about something: I've always enjoyed playing devil's advocate. devious /'di'veIəs/ adj. using tricks or lies to get what you want: a devious plan devise /'di'veIz/ v. [T] to plan or invent a way of doing something: A teacher devised the game as a way of making math fun. He finally devised a way to divide the money fairly.

devote /'devət/ v. 1 devote time/money/attention etc. to sb/sth to give your time, money, etc. to someone or something: She devotes much of her time to her family. 2 devote yourself to sth to do everything that you can to achieve something or help someone: McCarthy devoted himself to ending the war. 3 to use a particular area, period of time, or amount of space for a specific purpose: This chapter is devoted to Lincoln's presidency.
devoted /'devət/ adj. giving someone or something a lot of love, concern, and attention: a devoted wife/father —devotedly adv.

devotee /'devo:tI/ n. [C] someone who enjoys or admires someone or something very much: devotees of Italian wine devotion /'devə'shən/ n. 1 a strong feeling of love that you show by paying a lot of attention to someone or something: a father's devotion to his family. 2 the act of spending a lot of time and energy on something: The actress is famous for her devotion to animal rights. 3 strong religious feeling devour /'dI'veəvər/ v. [T] 1 to eat something quickly because you are very hungry devout /'dI'veUt/ adj. having very strong beliefs, especially religious ones: a devout Catholic —devoutly adv.

dew /dju|/ n. [U] the small drops of water that form on outdoor surfaces during the night dexterous /'dIkstrəs/ adj. [U] skill in using your hands to do things —dexterous, dextrous /'dIkstrəs/ adj.
dextrose /'dekstrəs|/ n. [U] chemistry a type of sugar that is found naturally in many sweet fruits, and that is also produced naturally in the body. It is sometimes also known as glucose.

diabetes /'dIæbIəs|/ n. [U] a disease in which there is too much sugar in the blood diabetic /'dIæbi,tIık/ adj. someone who has diabetes —diabetic] diagnosis /'daI@g'noUsIs/ n. [C] the result of diagnosing someone or something —diagnose /'daIgənəuz/ v. [I] to find out what illness a person has or what is wrong with something: A technician diagnosed a bad pump in the engine. He was diagnosed with hepatitis.
diagnosis /'daIg'no:sIz/ n. (plural diagnoses) —diagnostic /'dIægənəsTIk/ adj.
will make a diagnosis and recommend treatment.

— diagnostic /ˌdiːəɡˈnɒstɪk/ adj.
di-ag-o-nal /ˌdaɪəˈɡənɔl/ adj. 1 a diagonal line joins two opposite corners of a square shape 2 following a sloping angle: diagonal parking spaces —diagonal n [C] —diagonally adv.
di-a-gram /ˌdaɪəˈɡræm/ n [C] a drawing that shows how something works, where something is, what something looks like, etc.: a diagram of a car engine [Origin: 1600—1700 Greek diagramma, from diagraphein “to mark out with lines”] di-a-l/ /diəˈlɑːl/ v. [T] to press the buttons or turn the dial on a telephone in order to make a telephone call: Dial 911 —there’s been an accident. I think I dialed the wrong number. ➔ PHONE1 dia-log n [C] 1 the round part of a clock, watch, machine, etc., that has numbers that show you the time or a measurement 2 the part of a piece of equipment, such as a radio or THERMOSTAT, that you turn in order to do something, such as find a different station or set the temperature 3 the wheel with holes for fingers on some telephones di-a-lect /ˌdaɪəˈlekt/ n [CU] ENG. LANG. ARTS a form of a language that is spoken in one area which is different from the way it is spoken in other areas: a dialect of Arabic | literature written in native dialects [Origin: 1500—1600 French dialecte, from Greek dialektoς “conversation, dialect”] di-a-logue. dialogue /ˌdaɪəˈlɑɡ/ n [CU] 1 a conversation in a book, play, or movie ➔ MONOLOGUE 2 a formal discussion between countries or groups in order to solve problems: an opportunity for dialogue between the fighting countries | a dialogue on human rights [Origin: 1100—1200 Old French, Greek dialogos, from dialægsthai “to talk to someone”] dia-logic /ˌdaɪəˈlɑɡɪk/ adj.

di-a-logue. dialogue about /ˌdaɪəˈlɑɡ/ v. [T] to cut food into small square pieces: Dice the carrots. di-cot-y-le-don /ˌdaɪkəˈtɪli dən/ also di-cot /ˌdaɪkət/ n [C] BIOLOGY a type of plant that has seeds which produce two COTYLEDONS (=first dictate /ˈdiktət/ v 1 [T] to say words for someone else to write down: She dictated a letter to her secretary. 2 [T] to tell someone exactly what s/he must do: You can’t dictate how I should live my life! 3 [T] to influence or control something: Where I go on vacation will be dictated by the amount of money I’ve saved. [Origins: 1500—1600 Latin dictare “to say often, say firmly,” from dicere “to say”] dictation /ˈdiktəʃən/ n 1 [U] the act of saying words for someone to write down 2 [C] sentences that a teacher reads out to test your ability to hear and write the words correctly: Dictations are the hardest part of learning French.
dictator /ˈdiktətər/ n [C] a leader of a country who controls everything, and who usually has gained power by force —dictatorial /ˌdiktəˈtɔrēəl/ adj dictatorship /ˈdiktətərˌʃip/ n 1 [U] government by a dictator 2 [C] a country ruled by a dictator dictionary /ˈdiktənjər/ n 1 [U] the act of saying words to mean, especially in literature or poetry diction /ˈdiktʃən/ n [U] 1 the way in which someone pronounces words 2 ENG. LANG. ARTS the choice and use of words and phrases to express meaning, especially in literature or poetry dictionary /ˈdiktənjər/ n [plural dictionaries] 1 [C] a book that gives a list of words in alphabetical order, and explains their meanings in the same or another language: a Spanish-English dictionary [Origins: 1500—1600 Medieval Latin dictionarium, from Late Latin dictio “word”] died /dɪd/ v the past tense of do dielectric /ˈdaɪəlektrɪk/ adj (formal) speech or writing that is didactic is intended to teach people a lesson diedn’t /ˈdɪdn’t/ v the short form of “did not”: She didn’t have enough money.

die1 /dai/ v (past tense and past participle died, present participle dying) 1 to stop living ➔ DEAD, DEATH: She was afraid her son would die. | Mrs. Chen died off from (=because of) heart disease. | Mary died peacefully in her sleep. 2 to disappear or stop existing: The hope that her husband would return never died. 3 (informal) if a machine or motor dies, it stops working: I was going down a hill when my car died.

SPOKEN PHRASES

4 be dying to do something to want to do something very much: I’m dying to meet her brother. 5 be to die for if something is to die for, it is extremely good: Max’s chocolate cake is to die for! 6 die laughing to laugh a lot: When Alex fell off the stage, I almost died laughing. 7 I could have died also I almost died said when you are very surprised or embarrassed: I could’ve died when Ed said that.

die away phr. v if a sound dies away, it becomes weaker and then stops die down phr. v to become less strong or violent: The wind finally died down this morning.

die off phr. v to die one at a time until none is left: All the elm trees are dying off.
die out phr. v to disappear or stop existing completely: The last bears in this area died out 100 years ago.
died /dʌɪd/ n (plural dice /ˈdaɪks/) [C] one of two or more small blocks of wood, plastic, etc. with a different number of spots on each side, used in games died-hard, die-hard /ˈdʌɪd,haːrd/ adj (informal) 1 opposing change and refusing to accept new ideas: a die-hard opponent of free speech 2 diehard fan/communist/supporter etc. someone who is very loyal to a team, political party, person, etc.: a diehard Dodgers fan difference /ˈdiffərəns/ n (plural differences /ˈdɪfrəns/) [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS a sign that is put over the second of two vowels to show that it is pronounced separately from the first, for example in the word “naïve” diesel /ˈdɪzəl/ also diesel fuel n [U] a type of FUEL used instead of gas in a special type of engine [Origins: 1800—1900 Rudolf Diesel (1858-1913), German engineer who invented the engine] die-sel /ˈdɪzəl/ n [C,U] the type of food that you eat each day: Many kids don’t get enough fruit in their diet. [Origins: 1913], German engineer who invented the engine] diet /daɪət/ n 1 [U] the type of food that you eat each day: Many kids don’t get enough fruit in their diet. The animals live on a diet of fruit and insects. 2 [C] a plan to eat only particular kinds or amounts of food, especially because you want to get thinner or because you have a health problem: a low-fat diet | No dessert for me – I’m on a diet. [Origins: 1200—1300 Old French diète, from Greek diaita “way of living, food to be eaten”] diet /daɪət/ v [I] to eat less or only particular foods in order to lose weight: Jill’s always dieting.
different /ˈdɪfrənt/ phr. v [I] to be different: How does the movie differ from the book? 2 (formal) to have different opinions: The two groups differ on/about aver where to have the meeting. [Origins: 1300—1400 French différencier “to delay, be different,” from Latin differenter] different /ˈdɪfrənt/ n 1 [C] a way in which two or more things or people are not like each other: the differences between England and America | Can you tell the difference between the twins (=recognize that they are different)? 2 [singular, U] the fact of not being the same as something else, or an amount by which one thing is not the same as another: What’s the difference in price? | There’s an age difference of 4 years between the two children. 3 make a difference/make all the difference to have a good effect on a situation or person: Swimming twice a week can make a big dif·fi·cult

1 adj. 1 difficult to understand: a difficult question | She finds math difficult. 2 involving a lot of problems and causing trouble: This past year has been a very difficult time in my life. | The bus strike is making lifethings difficult for commuters. 3 someone who is difficult is never satisfied, friendly, or pleased.

diff·fi·cul·ty /ˈdifˌkjəlti/ n. (plural difficulties) 1 [C usually plural, U] a problem, or something that causes trouble: Peter’s having difficulty in finding a job. | She walks with great difficulty. | Their business is in financial difficulty. | We ran into difficulties (=had trouble) buying the house.

dif·fer·ent /ˈdifərənt/ adj. 1 not like something or someone else, or not the same as before: Did you get a haircut? You look different. | Anna is different from most kids at her school. | Writing for films is different than writing plays. 2 separate: The bookstore has a lot of different books about Kennedy. 3 (spoken) unusual, often in a way that you do not like: “How do you like my shirt?” “Well, it’s different.”

dif·fer·en·ti·ate /ˈdifərənˌteɪt/ v. 1 to recognize or express the difference between things or people: It was difficult for him to differentiate between light and dark. 2 [T] to make one thing different from another: We try to differentiate our products from those of the competitors. —differentiation /ˌdifərənˈteɪʃən/ n.

dif·fi·cul·ty

2 [U] the state of being hard to do or understand: The books vary in level of difficulty. [Origin: 1300–1400 Latin difficultus, from difficilis “difficult,” from facilis “easy”] dif·fi·dent /ˈdifədənt/ adj. (formal) shy and not wanting to make people notice you or talk about you, because you lack confidence: a diffident young man —differently adv.

diff·frac·tion /ˈdifrækʃən/ n. [U] physics the process or result of dividing sound or light waves into smaller waves, by sending them around something or through a small hole —diffraction /ˈdifrækʃən/ v. [T] dif·fuse /ˈdifəs/ adj. spread over a large area or in many places: a large and diffuse organization dif·fuse·ly adv. 1 having difficulty in solving a problem, or something —difficulty n. —difficulty adj.

The book was difficult to read.

DIG

dig /dɪg/ v. (past tense and past participle dug /dʌg/, present participle digging) 1 [I,T] to break up and move earth, stone, snow, etc. with a tool, your hands, or a machine: The kids enjoyed digging in the sand. | She dug a hole and threw some seeds in it. | The company began digging for minerals many years ago. 2 [I] to move many things such as papers, boxes, rocks, or clothing in order to find something: She dug through her purse, looking for her keys. 3 dig yourself (into) a hole to do or say something that makes a problem or situation so bad that it is difficult to make it better: The mayor dug himself into a hole when he promised 3,000 new jobs. 4 [T] (spoken) to like something or someone: You really dig her, don’t you? dig in phr v. (spoken) to start eating food that is in front of you: Come on, everyone — dig in!

dig (ath) into sth phr v. to push hard into something, or to make something do this: She dug her fingernails into my arm.
dig

dig sth ↔ out pbr. v. 1 to get someone or something out of a place using a tool, your hands, or a machine: We had to dig our car out after the blizzard. 2 to find something that you have not seen for a long time, or that is not easy to find: Mom dug out her wedding dress and showed it to us.
dig sth ↔ up pbr. v. 1 to remove something from under the ground with a tool, your hands, or a machine: Police dug up the missing man’s body from the yard. 2 (informal) to find hidden or forgotten information by careful searching: See what you can dig up on this guy Stark.
dig 2 n. [C, U] 1 an unkind thing you say to annoy someone: Greene’s remark was meant to be a dig at his opponent. 2 a small quick push that you give someone with your finger or elbow: a dig in the ribs 3 the process of digging in a place in order to find ancient objects to study di·gest 1 v. /das'igest, 'daɪsiəst/ v. [I, T] 1 if food digests, or if you digest it, it changes in the stomach into a form your body can use: Some babies can’t digest cow’s milk. 2 to understand something after thinking about it carefully: He’ll need some time to digest the news.
di·gest 2 n. /das'igest, 'daɪsiəst/ n. [C] a short piece of writing that gives the most important facts from a book, report, etc.
di·ges·tion 1 /das'ıdʒən, 'daɪdʒən/ n. [C, U] the process or ability to digest food —digestive adj.: digestive problems dig·it 1 /dɪgɪt/ n. [C] 1 a written sign that represents any of the numbers from 0 to 9: a seven-digit phone number 2 (formal) a finger or toe [Origin: 1500—1600 Latin digitus “finger, toe”] dig·it·al 2 adj. /'dɪgɪtəl/ 1 giving information in the form of numbers: a digital clock 2 it using a system in which information is represented in the form of numbers: a digital camera —digitally adv.
dig·ni·fy 1 v. /dɪɡˈnaɪfaɪ/ 1 to make someone or something appear more important: The painful memory began to dim. 2 to make a liquid weaker —dilute adj.: dilute a solution dig·ni·ty 2 /dɪgˈnɪti/ n. 1 the quality of being serious and formal: Lawyers must respect the dignity of the court. [Origin: 1100—1200 Old French dignité, from Latin dignitas “worth”] di·gres·sion 1 /daɪˈɡresən/ n. [C, U] 1 calm serious behavior, even in difficult situations, that makes people respect you: a woman of compassion and dignity | She spoke with courage and dignity. 2 the quality of being serious and formal: Lawyers must respect the dignity of the court. [Origin: 1500—1600 Latin dilapidare “to scatter like stones, misuse, destroy,” from lapidare “to throw stones”] —dilapidation

dig·ni·ty 2 /dɪgˈnɪti/ n. 1 the quality of being serious and formal: Lawyers must respect the dignity of the court.
di·late 1 /dəˈleɪt, 'daɪlət/ v. [I, T] to become wider or more open, or to cause something to do this: Her eyes were dilated and her face was red. —dilation dig·it·al 1 adj. /'dɪgɪtəl/ 1 giving information in the form of numbers: a digital camera —digitally adv.

di·lute 1 v. /daɪˈljuːt, 'daɪljuːt/ to make a liquid weaker by adding water or another liquid: Dilute the paint with oil. [Origin: 1500—1600 Latin dilutus, past participle of diluere “to wash away”] —diluted adj.: dilute a solution di·lute 2 n. /'dɪljuːt, 'daɪljuːt/ n. [C] CHEMISTRY a liquid that contains a SOLUTE (=substance that has mixed with and become part of a liquid) di·lute·sol·u·tion 1 /daɪˈljuːtsəljuˈʃən, 'daɪljuːtsəljuˈʃən/ n. [C] CHEMISTRY a liquid that contains a SOLUTE (=substance that has mixed with and become part of a liquid) di·luted 1 adj. (formal) slow and tending to delay decisions or actions dim 1 /dɪm/ adj. (comparative dimmer, superlative dimmest) 1 not bright or easy to see well: a dim hallway | The curtains were closed and the light was dim. | the dim outline of a building 2 a dim recollection/awareness etc. something that is difficult for someone to remember, understand, etc.: She only has a dim memory of her parents. 3 take a dim view of sth to disapprove of something —dimly adv.

dim 2 v. (dimmed dimming) 1 v. [I, T] 1 if a light dims, or if you dim it, it becomes less bright: Can you dim the lights? 2 if a feeling or quality dims, or if something dims it, it grows weaker: The painful memory began to dim.
dime 1 /daɪm/ n. [C] 1 a coin worth 10 cents (=1/10 of a dollar), used in the U.S. and Canada dime 2 n. /daɪm/ n. 1 a coin worth 10 cents (=1/10 of a dollar), used in the U.S. and Canada di·lap·i·dat·ed 1 adj. /daɪˈlæpəˈdɛrɪd/ old, broken, and in very bad condition: a dilapidated church [Origin: 1500—1600 Latin dilapidare di·men·sion /diˈmɛnʃən, dat-/ n [C] 1 a part of a situation that affects the way you think about it: The baby added a new dimension to our life. | Because the boat sank in Cuban waters, there is a political dimension to the incident. 2 a measurement of something in length, height, or width 3 dimensions [plural] a) the measurement or size of something: What are the dimensions of the room? b) how great or serious a problem is: The government needs to recognize the full dimensions of the problem. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French, Latin dimensio “to measure out”] d’dim·me store /dɪmˈmiː/.C a store that sells different types of cheap things, especially for the house di·min·ish /diˈminəʃ/ v [T] to become smaller or less important, or to make something do this: The show’s audience has slowly diminished. | The tobacco companies tried to diminish the significance of the findings. [Origin: 1400—1500 diminuer (14—16 centuries), from Old French diminuer “to make less”] dim·i·nu·tion /diˈminjuʃən/ n [C.U] (formal) a reduction in the size, number, or amount of something di·min·u·tive /diˈminyətiv/ adj (formal) very small: a diminutive man dim·ple /ˈdɪmpl/ n [C] a small hollow place on your cheek or chin, especially one that forms when you smile —dimpled adj din /dɪn/ n. [singular, U] (literary) a loud, continuous, and annoying noise dine /dɪn/ v. [I] (formal) to eat dinner dine on sth phr. v (formal) to eat a particular type of food for dinner, especially expensive food: We dined on shrimp and pasta.

dine out phr. v (formal) to eat in a restaurant di·ner /ˈdɪnər/ n. [C] 1 a small restaurant that serves cheap meals din·er·time /ˈdɪnərˌtaɪm/ n. C.U] the time when most people eat dinner, usually between 5 p.m. and 7 p.m. di·no·saur /ˈdɪnəsɔr/ n [C] a very large animal that lived millions of years ago and no longer exists [Origin: 1800—1900 Greek deinos “terrible” + sauros “lizard”] di·ode /ˈdiəd/ n. [C] PHYSICS a piece of electrical equipment that makes an electrical current flow in one direction dip /dɪp/ v (dipped, dipping) 1 [T] to put something into a liquid and quickly lift it out again: Janet dipped her feet into the water. | strawberries dipped in chocolate 2 [I] (informal) to go down or become lower: The temperature could dip down to the 20s tonight.
dip into sth phr. v. to use some of an amount of money that you have: Medical bills forced her to dip into her savings.
dip 2 n. 1 [C.U] a thick mixture that you can dip food into before you eat it: a cheese dip 2 [C] an occasion when the level or amount of something becomes lower: a dip in prices 3 [C] a place where the surface of something goes down suddenly, and diphtheria

then goes up again: a dip in the road 4 [C] (informal) a quick swim: Is there time for a dip in the pool before lunch?

diph-the-ri-a /dɪˈθɜːrɪə/, dɪp-θə /n/ [U] BIOLOGY a serious infectious throat disease that makes breathing difficult diph-thong /ˈdɪfθɒŋ/, *dɪpθ-/ /n/ [C] ENG, LANG, ARTS a vowel sound made by pronouncing two vowels quickly one after the other. For example, the vowel sound in “my” is a diphthong (Origin: 1400—1500 French, Late Latin diphthonus “two sounds,” from Greek *phthongos “voice, sound”) dip·loid /ˈdɪplɔɪd/ /n/ [C] BIOLOGY a cell or ORGANISM that contains two complete sets of CHROMOSOMES, one from each parent — diploid adj.

di-plo-ma /diˈploʊmə/ /n/ [C] an official paper showing that someone has successfully finished his/her high school or college education: a high school diploma [Origin: 1600—1700 Latin “passport, diploma,” from Greek, “folded paper”] di-plo-ma·cy /diˈploʊməsə/ /n/ [U] 1 the management of political relations between countries: an expert at international diplomacy. 2 skill in dealing with people and difficult situations successfully: I would have handled the situation with a little more diplomacy.

dip-lo-mat /ˈdɪpləmat/ /n/ [C] someone who officially represents his/her government in a foreign country dip·lo-mat·ic /ˌdɪpləˈmætɪk/ /adj. 1 relating to the work of diplomats: Feingold plans to join the diplomatic service. 2 good at dealing with people politely and skillfully without upsetting them: She tried to be diplomatic, but I could tell she was upset. — diplomatically adv.

dip-stick /ˈdɪpstk/ /n/ [C] a stick used for measuring the amount of liquid in a container, such as oil in a car’s engine dire /daɪər/ adj. 1 extremely serious or terrible: Officials say the situation is not as dire as they first thought. | The country is in dire need of food aid. 2 be in dire straits to be in an extremely difficult or serious situation direct1 /daɪˈrekt/ /v. /adj. 1 done without involving other people, actions, processes, etc. —direct adj. He has direct access to the president. 2 going straight from one place to another, without stopping or changing direction: What’s the most direct route to the airport? 3 saying exactly what you mean in an honest and clear way

Direct: The senator avoided giving direct answers to reporters’ questions.

4 likely to change something immediately

Direct: This job allows me to have a direct impact on people’s lives. 5 exact or total: a direct translation from Spanish — directness n. [U]

direct2 /v. [T] 1 to aim something in a particular direction or at a particular person, group, etc.: My remark was directed at Tom, not you. | He directed the light toward the house. 2 to be in charge of something: Hanley was asked to direct the investigation. 3 to give actors in a play, movie, etc. instructions about what to do: In 1977, Scott directed his first movie. 4 (formal) to tell someone the way to a place: He directed me to the airport.

direct3 /adj. without stopping or changing direction: You can fly direct from Seattle to Nashville. 2 without dealing with anyone else first: You’ll have to contact the manager direct.

direct’cur·rent /n. [U] PHYSICS abbreviation DC a flow of electricity that moves in one direction only, for example the current produced by a BATTERY — alternating current direct de·pos·it /n. [U] a method of paying someone’s salary directly into his/her bank account — direct deposit v. [T]

di-rec·tion /daɪˈrekʃən, daɪ- / /n. 1 [C] the way someone or something is moving, facing, or aimed: Brian drove off in the direction of (=toward) the party. | As she walked along the trail, she saw a large man coming in the opposite direction. 2 [C] the general way in which someone or something changes or develops: Suddenly the conversation changed direction. 3 directions plural instructions about how to go from one place to another, or about how to do something: Could you give me directions to the airport? 4 [U] control, management, or helpful advice: The company’s been successful under Martini’s direction. 5 [U] a general purpose or aim: Sometimes I feel that my life lacks direction. 6 sense of direction the ability to know which way to go in a place you do not know well. 7 [U] the instructions given to actors and other people in a play, movie, etc.

di-rec·tive /daɪˈrektsiv/ /n. [C] an official order or instruction to do something di-rec·tly /daɪˈrektlɪ, daɪ- / /adv. 1 with no other person, action, process, etc. involved: McNealy will report directly to the new sales manager. 2 exactly: Lucas sat directly behind us.

direct object /n. [C] ENG, LANG, ARTS in grammar, the person or thing that is affected by the action of the verb in a sentence. For example, in the sentence “Sheila closed the door;” “door” is the direct object. ➔ indirect object di-rec·tor /daɪˈrektr/, daɪ-/ /n. [C] 1 someone who gives instructions to actors and other people in a movie or play ➔ MOVIE 2 someone who controls or manages a company, organization, or activity: Her new job is marketing director of Sun Life.

dirty /dɪr(ɪ)/ adj. 1 extremely cheap:

We bought this house when it was dirt cheap.

dirty jokes | Students who use dirty words dirty road 2 any substance, such as dust or mud, that makes things not clean ➔ dirty: The floor was covered with dirt!

dirty dishes in the sink ➔ How did your shoes get so dirty?

dirty work 3 relating to sex, in a way that is considered bad or immoral: dirty jokes dirty fighter 4 do sb’s dirty work to do a bad or dishonest job for someone so that s/he does not have to do it himself/herself: I told them to do their own dirty work.

dirty /dɪstr/ v. (dirtied, dirties) [T] to make something dirty ➔ dis-solve /dɪsˈsɒlv/ v. (dissolved, dissolving) [T] (informal) to make unfair and unkind remarks about someone ➔ be divided/split – if a group of people are divided or split about something, they have very different opinions about it: The country was deeply divided about the war.

dis-a-bil-i-ty /dɪsəˈbɪlɪtɪ/ n. (plural disabilities) [C,U] a physical or mental condition that makes it difficult for someone to do the things most people are able to do: Her disability prevented her from getting a driver’s license. | learning to live with disability.
disagreeable not correct or not true: Many people would dispute these claims.

dissent – to say that you disagree with an opinion or decision that most other people agree with: Only one of the nine judges dissented from the decision.

2 if statements or reports about the same thing disagree, they are different from each other disagree with sb if food disagrees with you, it makes you feel sick dis-agree-a-ble / dis'gri-ə-bəl adj 1 not enjoyable or pleasant: a disagreeable incident 2 unfriendly and in a bad mood: a disagreeable person dis-agree-ment / dis'gri-mənt n 1 [C,U] a situation in which people express different opinions about something and sometimes argue: We had a disagreement with our neighbors. | a disagreement between the two countries | There was a slight disagreement over who should pay the bill. 2 [U] differences between two statements, reports, etc., that should be similar: There was major disagreement between the witnesses’ statements.

dis-al-low / dis'ə-lau/ v [T] (formal) to officially refuse to allow something because a rule has been broken: The touchdown was disallowed.

dis-ap-pear / dis'ə-pər/ v [I] 1 to become impossible to see anymore: The scars will disappear in a year or two. | The cat had disappeared under the couch. 2 to become impossible to find, or to be lost: The plane mysteriously disappeared while flying over the Atlantic. 3 to stop existing: Many species of plants and animals disappear every year. —disappearance n [C,U]

dis-ap-point / dis'ə-pənt/ v [T] to make someone unhappy because something she/hes/was hoped for does not happen or is not as good as she/hes/was expected: I’m sorry to disappoint you, but the trip is canceled.

dis-ap-point-ed / dis'ə-pənt/ adj unhappy because something you hoped for did not happen, or because something or someone was not as good as you expected: We’re disappointed (that) the director is unable to attend. | She was disappointed with the election results. | I’ve been disappointed in his work.

dis-ap-point-ing / dis'ə-pənt/ adj not as good as you expected or hoped something would be: disappointing sales —disappointingly adv.

dis-ap-point-ment / dis'ə-pənt/ n 1 [U] a feeling of sadness because something is not as good as you expected or has not happened: his disappointment at not being chosen for the job. | Labor unions expressed their disappointment with the president’s proposal. | She tried to hide her disappointment. 2 [C] someone or something that is not as good as you hoped or expected: Her new book was a big/major/real disappointment. | Kate feels like she’s a disappointment to her family.

dis-ap-prove / dis'ə-pruv/ v [I] to think that something or someone is bad, wrong, etc.: Her parents disapproved of her boyfriend.

dis-arm / dis'ərm/ v [I] 1 to reduce the size of your army, navy, etc. and the number of weapons: Both sides must disarm before the peace talks. 2 [T] to take away someone’s weapons: Benson disarmed the man as he tried to rob a liquor store. 3 [T] to make someone less angry and more friendly: She uses humor to disarm people.

dis-ar-ma-ment / dis'ər-məmənt n [U] the reduction in numbers or size of a country’s weapons, army, navy, etc.: plans for nuclear disarmament dis-arm-ing / dis'ər-məŋ/ adj making you feel less angry and more friendly or trusting: a disarm- ing smile dis-ar-ray / dis'ə-re/ n [U] (formal) the state of being messy or not organized: papers in disarray on the desk.

dis-as-on-ic / dis-a'sən-ik/ adj. | n. (formal, formal) in disarray dis-as-tre / dis'a-stre/ n [C,U] 1 a sudden event such as an accident, flood, or storm that causes great harm or damage: The 1889 flood was the most spectacular natural disaster the state had ever seen. | Disaster struck when one rider was hit by a car while cycling. | The town was declared a disaster area after the floods.

dis-card / dis'kard/ v [I,T] (formal) to get rid of something: discarding old clothes dis-cern / dis'sərn, drə'zərn/ v [I,T] (formal) to see, notice, or understand something by looking at it or thinking about it carefully: Walters couldn’t discern any difference between the two plants.

—discernible adj. —discernibly adv.
dis-cern-ing /disˈsɜːrnɪŋ, -sən-/ adj. able to make good judgments about people, styles, and things:
the discerning traveler’s guide to the Southeast dis-charge1 /dɪsˈtʃɑːrʒ/ v. 1 [T] to officially allow someone to go or to send him/her away from a place: Blanton was discharged from the hospital last night. 2 [I,T] to send, pour, or let out a substance: Chemicals were being discharged into a nearby river. 3 [T] (formal) if you discharge a gun, or if it discharges, it shoots a bullet dis-charge2 /ˈdɪstʃɑːrʒ/ n. [U] 1 the official action of sending someone or something away, especially from a hospital or the military: After his discharge from the army, he got married. 2 a substance that comes out of something, especially a wound or part of your body dis-ci-ple /dɪsˈsaɪpl/ n. [C] 1 a follower of a religious teacher, especially one of the 12 original followers of Jesus Christ. 2 a follower of any great leader or teacher: a disciple of Gandhi [Origin: 800—900 Latin discipulus “pupil”] dis-ci-plin-ar-i-an /dɪsˈskaɪplərɪən/ n. [C] someone who believes that people should obey rules, and who makes them do this: Sam’s father is a strict disciplinarian.
dis-ci-plin-a-ry /dɪsˈskaɪplərɪ/ adj. relating to trying to make someone obey rules, or to the punishment of someone who has not obeyed rules: disciplinary problems dis-ci-plin-e1 /dɪsˈskaɪpln/ n. 1 [U] controlled behavior in which people obey rules and orders: maintaining discipline in the classroom | military discipline | serious discipline problems in the police force. 2 [U] the ability to control your own behavior and way of working: Writing requires discipline. It takes a lot of self-discipline to work from home. 3 [U] punishment for not obeying rules: Employees who joined the strike face discipline. 4 [C] (formal) an area of knowledge or teaching: [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French descipline, from Latin disciplina “teaching, learning”] discipline2 v. [T] 1 to punish someone: The staff members were disciplined for their carelessness. 2 to train someone to obey rules and control his/her own behavior: Working in a bakery has disciplined Joe to get up early.

dis-claim-er /dɪsklɛmər/ n. [C] (formal) a statement saying that you are not responsible for something or do not know about something, often used in advertising dis-close /dɪskloʊz/ v. [T] to make something known publicly: GM did not disclose details of the agreement. [Origin: 1400—1500 Old French descloz, from Medieval Latin disclozare “to open”] dis-clo-sure /dɪskloʊzər/ n. [C/U] a secret that someone tells people, or the act of telling this secret: the disclosure of state secrets dis-co /dɪskoʊ/ n. (plural discos) 1 [U] a type of dance music with a strong repeating beat that was first popular in the 1970s. 2 [C] a place where people dance to recorded popular music dis-col-or /dɪskələr/ v. [I,T] to change color, or to make something change color, so that it looks unattractive: His teeth were discolored from smoking. —dis-coloration /dɪskələˈreɪʃən/ n. [C/U] dis-com-fit /dɪskəmˈfɪt/ v. [T] (formal) to make someone feel uncomfortable, annoyed, or embarrassed: Her comment discomfted her husband. —dis-com-fitted adj. —dis-com-fiting /dɪskəmˈfɪtɪŋ/ adj. —dis-com-fit-ture /dɪskəmˈfɪtʃər/ n. [U] dis-com-fort /dɪskəmˈfɔːrt/ n. 1 [U] slight pain or a bad feeling; We need to treat the disease without increasing the discomfort of the patient. 2 [C] something that makes you uncomfortable: the discomforts of long-distance travel. 3 [U] a feeling of embarrassment, shame, or worry: She could sense his discomfort at having to speak in front of a large group.
dis-con-cert-ing /dɪskənˈsɜːrtɪŋ/ adj. making you feel slightly embarrassed, confused, or worried: It was disconcerting to be watched while I worked. —dis-con-cer-ted v. [T] —dis-con-cer-ted adj.
dis-con-nect /dɪskənˈnek(t)/ v. 1 [T] to separate something from the thing it is connected to, or to become separated: Disconnect the cables before you move the computer. 2 [I,T] to remove the supply of power to something such as a telephone line, building, or machine: I tried to call, but the phone had been disconnected. —dis-con-nec-tion /dɪskənˈnektʃən/ n. [C/U] dis-con-tent /dɪskənˈtent/ n. 1 [U] a feeling of not being happy or satisfied: dis-con-tented adj.
dis-con-tin-ue /dɪskənˈtɪni/ v. [T] to stop doing or providing something: Five bus routes will be discontinued. —dis-con-ti-nuance /dɪskənˈtɪnjuəns/ n. [U] dis-cord /dɪskɔrd/ n. [C/U] (formal) disagreement between people: marital discord dis-cor-dant /dɪskərˈdənt/ adj. (literary) seeming strange, wrong, or inappropriate in relation to everything around it; the discordant images in her pictures. 2 (formal) not in agreement: The two experiments gave us discordant results. 3 made up of musical notes that do not go together well: discordant, jarring music dis-count1 /dɪskɔnt/ n. [C] a reduction in the usual price of something: He says he can get me a discount on a new computer. I a discount of 25% I saved $20 with my employee discount. 3 a discount store dis-count2 /dɪsˈkɔnt/ v. [T] 1 to reduce the price of something: Flights to Florida have been deeply discounted. 2 to regard something as unlikely to be true or important: Scientists discouraged his method of predicting earthquakes.

discourage /dɪˈskərɪdʒ/ v [T] 1 to persuade someone not to do something, especially by making it seem difficult or bad [ANT encourage]: Keith’s mother tried to discourage him from joining the navy. 2 to make someone less confident or less willing to do something [ANT encourage]: His failure to find a job did not discourage him. 3 to make something become less likely to happen [ANT encourage]: Put the plant in a cold room to discourage growth.

discouraged /dɪˈskərɪdʒd/ adj: no longer having the confidence you need to continue doing something; Children may get discouraged if they are criticized too often.

discouragement /dɪsˈkərmənt/ n 1 [C,U] a feeling of being discouraged 2 [U] the act of trying to discourage someone from doing something discouraging /dɪsˈkərmɪŋ, -ˈskər-/ adj: making you lose the confidence you need to continue doing something: It was very discouraging to see my sister do it so easily.

discourse /dɪskɜːs/ n [U] serious conversation between people: a chance for meaningful discourse between the two leaders discourteous /dɪˈskɜːrtiəs/ adj [formal] not polite or respectful —discourtesy /dɪsˈkɜːrteTi/ n [C,U] discouvrir /dɪsˈkøvrɪ/ v [T] 1 to find something that was hidden or that people did not know about before: The Vikings may have discovered America long before Columbus.

2 to find out something that is a fact, or the answer to a question: Doctors discovered that her left wrist was broken. | Did you ever discover who sent you the flowers? [ORIGIN: 1300–1400 Old French descouvrir, from Late Latin discoperire “to uncover”] —discoverer n [C]

discovery /dɪsˈkɔvrɪ/ n [C] a fact, thing, or answer to a question that someone discovers: Einstein made an important scientific discovery. | the discovery that bees can communicate with each other 2 [U] the act of finding something that was hidden or not known before: the discovery of gold in 1848 disc-credit /dɪsˈkredɪt/ v [T] to make people stop trusting or having respect for someone or something: The defense lawyer will try to discredit our witnesses.

discrupt /dɪsˈkrɪpt/ adj: careful about what you say or do, so that you do not upset or embarrass people: Can you please be discreet about this? —discretely adv disc-rep-an-cy /dɪsˈkreptənsi/ n (plural discrepancies) [C,U] a difference between two amounts, details, etc. that should be the same: There were discrepancies in the expense accounts.

discreet /dɪsˈkrit/ adj (formal) clearly separate (SYN distinct): The developing insect passes through several discrete stages.

discretion /dɪsˈkriʃən/ n [U] 1 the ability to be careful about what you say or do in a particular situation, so that you do not upset or embarrass people: This situation must be handled with discretion. 2 the ability and right to decide what should be done in a particular situation: Pay raises are left to the discretion of the manager. | Prisoners are released at the discretion of the parole board. —discretionary adj: The president has the discretionary authority to send troops.

discriminate /dɪsˈkrɪmɪnt/ v 1 [T] to treat one person or group differently from another in an unfair way: a law that discriminates against immigrants | Employers may not discriminate in favor of younger candidates. 2 [I,T] to recognize a difference between things (SYN differentiate): You must learn to discriminate between facts and opinions. | The test is useful for discriminating those students who have a higher level than those at a lower level. [ORIGIN: 1600–1700 Latin discriminare “to divide,” from discernere “to separate”] discriminating /dɪsˈkrɪmɪnɪŋ/ adj able to judge whether or not something is good quality: customers with discriminating tastes discriminatory /dɪsˈkrimɪnərē/ adj: treating one person or group differently from another in an unfair way: The company has been accused of discrimination against handicapped persons.

2 the ability to judge whether or not something is good quality discursive /dɪsˈkɜːrsɪv/ adj: discussing many different ideas, facts, etc. rather than keeping to a single subject: a discursive letter —discursively adv —discursiveness n [U]

discuss /dɪsˈkʌs/ v 1 [T] to talk about something with someone in order to exchange ideas or decide something: I wanted to discuss my plans with my father. | We need to discuss how to raise money for the project.

discussion /dɪsˈkʌʃən/ n [C] a heavy flat circular object that people throw as far as possible as a sport 2 the discuss the sport of throwing this object discuss /dɪsˈkʌs/ v 1 talk, have a conversation, chat (with/to sb) have a chat, converse, visit with sb, gossip —TALK 2 to talk or write about a subject in detail: The Roman Empire will be discussed in the next chapter. [Origin: 300—1400 Latin discussus, past participle of discutere “to shake to pieces”] discussion /dɪskəˈʃən/ n. [C, U] 1 the act of discussing something, or a conversation in which people discuss something: We need to have a discussion about your behavior in class. | The proposal is still under discussion (=being discussed).

dis-ease /dɪˈziːz/ n. [C, U] 1 an illness that affects a person, animal, or plant, with specific symptoms (=things wrong with your body which show that you have a particular illness): My uncle has heart disease. | Tina suffers from a rare brain disease. | infectious diseases such as tuberculosis [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French desesir, from der “not, without” + aise “relaxed feeling, comfort”] —diseased adj.

disguise /dɪsˈɡraɪz/ v. [T] 1 to do something so bad that people lose respect for your family or for the group you belong to: How could you disgrace us like that?

dis-grace /dɪsˈɡreɪs/ n. 1 sth is a disgrace used in order to say that someone or something is very bad or unacceptable: The public schools in the area are a disgrace. | He was a disgrace to the legal profession. 2 [U] the loss of other people’s respect because you have done something they strongly disapprove of: Harry left the school in disgrace. | There’s no disgrace in trying.

dis-graceful /dɪsˈɡreɪʃfl/ adj. very bad, embarrassing, or unacceptable: Their behavior was absolutely disgraceful.

dis-grunt-ling /dɪsˈɡrʌntlɪŋ/ adj. annoyed, disappointed, and not satisfied: disgruntled employees dis-guis-e /dɪsˈɡaɪz/ v. [T] 1 to change your appearance or voice so that people cannot recognize you: She disguised herself as a man. 2 to hide a fact or feeling so that people will not notice it: We can’t disguise the fact that the business is losing money. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French desguiser, from guise “appearance”]

287 disguise
Dish

Disgust

Dishwasher

Dishwashing liquid

Dis-Illus-Ion

Dis-in-herit

Dis-in-ter-

Dis-in-ter-

Dis-integrate

Dis-in-

Dis-intered-ed

Disjointed

Disk

Disk drive
dis·like

/ˈdɪzlɪk/ n [C] a feeling of disliking something: Many men dislike shopping.

dislike

[ˈdɪzlɪk/ T] to not like someone or something: She shared her mother’s dislike of housework.

dis-gray · dis·gray

/ˈdɪzgri/ v [T] to feel or show disappointment and worry: He was dismayed at the idea that he had lost the money.

dis·may

/dɪzˈmeɪ/ n [U] a strong feeling of disappointment and worry: He realized to his dismay that he had left the money behind.

dis·may

/dɪzˈmeɪ/ v [T] to make someone feel worried, disappointed, or upset: He was dismayed to see how thin she had become.

dis·mem·ber

/ˈdɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.

dis·mem·ber

/dɪzɪməbər/ v [T] (formal) to cut or tear a body into pieces.
dispassionate

unfair difference: the disparities between rich and poor dis-pas-sion-ate /dɪsˈpæʃənət/ adj. not easily influenced by personal feelings; a dispassionate opinion —dispassionately adv.

dis-patch1 /dɪsˈpætʃ/ v [T] to send someone or something somewhere dispatch2 n. 1 [C] a message sent between government or military officials. 2 [C] a report sent to a newspaper from one of its writers who is in another town or country 3 [singular] the act of sending people or things to a particular place: the dispatch of troops to the area

The Saurus

dispenser /dɪsˈpɛnsər/ n. (plural dispensers) [C] a place where medicines are prepared and given out dis-pen-sa-ry /dɪsˈpɛnsəri/ n. (plural dispensaries) [C] a place where medicines are prepared and given out dis-pen-sa-tion /ˌdɪspəˈnɛsən, -ˈpen-ə/ n. [C,U] special permission from someone in authority, especially a religious leader, to do something that is not usually allowed dis-pense /dɪsˈpɛns/ v [T] (formal) to give or provide something to people, especially as part of an official activity: Volunteers helped dispense food and blankets.

THESAURUS
give out, hand out/pass out, share, distribute — give

2 to officially provide medicine to people dispense with sth pv v to not use or do something that people usually use or do because it is not necessary dis-pens-er /dɪsˈpɛnsər/ n. [C] a machine from which you can get things such as drinks or money when you press a button dis-pers-e /dɪsˈpɜrs/ v [T] to scatter in different directions, or to make something do this: The police used tear gas to disperse the crowd. —dispersal n. [U] dis-per-sion /dɪsˈpɜrsən/ n. [U] 1 the state of being spread over a wide area or between a wide group of people 2 MATH the way in which the data in a set is spread around a number that is usually the middle number in the set or the average of the set 3 PHYSICS the separation of white light into different bands of colored light, that happens when light passes through a prism or water dis-pir-it-ed /dɪsˈpɜrtɪd/ adj. (literary) sad and without hope dis-place /dɪsˈpleɪs/ v [T] 1 to take the place of someone or something by becoming more important or useful [replace]: Coal has been displaced by natural gas as a major source of energy. 2 to make a group of people leave the place where they normally live: When the river flooded the area, nearly a million people were displaced. 3 to force something out of its usual place or position: When you get into a full bathtub, you displace water, which flows over the side.

—displacement n. [U]: the displacement of native peoples from their land —displaced adj.

dis-play1 /dɪsˈpleɪ/ [AC] n. (plural displays) 1 [C,U] an arrangement of objects for people to look at: a display of African masks | The pictures are on display in the lobby. 2 [C] a public performance or something that is intended to entertain people: a fireworks display 3 a display of anger/affection etc. an occasion when someone clearly shows a particular attitude, feeling, or quality 4 [C] the part of a piece of equipment that shows information, for example a computer screen: A light flashed on the display. [Origin: 1500—1600 Anglo-French despleier, from Latin dis-please “to unfold”] display2 [AC] v [T] 1 to put things in a place where people can see them easily: a row of tables displaying pottery 2 to clearly show a feeling or quality: He displayed no emotion at the funeral. 3 if a computer displays information, it shows it: An error message was displayed.

dis-pleased /dɪsˈplɪzd/ adj. (formal) annoyed and not satisfied: Many employees were displeased with the decision. —displease v. [T] —displeasure /dɪsˈplɪzər/ n. [U] dis-pos-a-ble /dɪsˈpouzəbəl/ [AC] adj. intended to be used once or for a short time and then thrown away: disposable razors dis-pos-able /dɪsˈpouzəbl/ [AC] adj. the amount of money that you have available to spend each month after you have paid for rent, food, etc.

dis-pos-al /dɪsˈpouzəl/ n. [U] the act of getting rid of something: the safe disposal of radioactive waste 2 at sb’s disposal available for someone to use: He had a lot of cash at his disposal. 3 [C] a garbage disposal dis-pose /dɪsˈpouz/ v dispense of sth pv v to get rid of something: a facility that disposes of industrial waste [Origin: 1300—1400 French dispenser, from Latin disponere “to arrange”] dis-posed /dɪsˈpouzd/ [AC] adj. (formal) 1 be/ feel disposed to do sth to be willing to do something or behave in a particular way: I don’t feel disposed to interfere. 2 well/favorably disposed to sb/sth liking someone or something dis-po-si-tion /dɪsˈpəzɪʃən/ n. [C] (formal) the way someone tends to behave: Jenny has such a sweet disposition.

dis-pos-sess /dɪsˈpəzəs/ v [T] (formal) to take property or land away from someone —dispossession /dɪsˈpəzəʃən/ n. [U] dis-pro-port-ion-ate /dɪsˈprəportənət/ [AC] adj. too much or too little in relation to something else, used when comparing two things: The project consumed a disproportionate amount of time. —disproportionately adv.

disprove /dɪsˈprʊv/ v. [T] to show that something is definitely wrong or not true dispute /dɪˈspʊt/ n. [C/U] 1 a serious argument or disagreement: The two men got into a dispute over money. He was involved in a legal dispute with his neighbor. The facts of the case are still in dispute (=being argued about). 2 be beyond dispute if something is beyond dispute, everyone agrees that it is true or has really happened: Mitchell's guilt is beyond dispute. [Origin: 1500—1600 Old French disputare "to discuss" dispute /dɪˈspʊt/ v. [T] to say that something such as a fact or idea is not correct or true: The facts of the book have never been disputed.

thesaurus

disagree, be divided/split, dissent ➔ Disagree

disqualify /dɪsˈkwaɪliˌfɪ/ v. [T] to stop someone from taking part in something: The law disqualifies everyone who has never been disputed.

disrespect /dɪsˈreспekt/ n. lack of respect disreputable /dɪsˈriːprətəbl/ adj. dishonest or illegal activities disrepair /dɪsˈrepiər/ n. (informal) things in bad condition disreputation /dɪsˈrɪpətʃən/ n. a situation in which people no longer trust or respect a person or an idea:

disregard /dɪsˈreɡɑːrd/ v. [T] to ignore something, or to not treat something as important or serious: The judge told the jury to disregard that statement.

thesaurus

disagree, be divided/split,
dissent ➔ Disagree

disrepute /dɪsˈrept|ˈeɪt/ n. [C] refusal to accept an opinion or decision that most people accept: political dissent ➔ Disagree diservice /dɪˈsɜːrvɪs, dɪˈsɜːvr/ n. [U] do sb/sth a disservice to do something that makes people have a bad opinion of someone or something, especially when this is unfair: The players' actions have done a great disservice to the game.

dissatisfied /dɪsˈsætɪsfɪd/ adj. having a feeling of not being satisfied because something is not as good as you had expected: She expressed her dissatisfaction with the service.

dissatisfied /dɪsˈsætɪsfɪd/ adj. not satisfied because something is not as good as you had expected: Katie is dissatisfied with her job.

dissatisfaction /dɪsˈsætɪsfækʃən, dɪˈsætɪsfəˈʃən/ n. [U] a feeling of not being satisfied because something is not as good as you had expected: She expressed her dissatisfaction with the service.

dissatisfaction /dɪsˈsætɪsfækʃən, dɪˈsætɪsfəˈʃən/ n. [U] a feeling of not being satisfied because something is not as good as you had expected: She expressed her dissatisfaction with the service.

dissonate /dɪsˈsoʊnæt/ v. [T] to cut up the body of a person or animal in order to study it.

dissection /dɪsˈsɛkʃən/ n. [C/U] dissimulation /dɪsˌsɪməˈleɪʃən/ n. (formal) to spread information, ideas, etc. to as many people as possible: The rumor has been widely disseminated on the Internet.

dissent /dɪsˈsɛnt/ n. [C] refusal to accept an opinion or decision that most people accept: political dissent ➔ Disagree disentropy /dɪsˈsɛntrəti/ n. a long piece of writing about a subject, that you write to get a Ph.D.

thesaurus

disservice, composition, paper, thesis ➔ Essay dissociation /dɪsˈsoʊʃən/ n. [U] when doing this is a crime in that country: The system of government here is not too dissimilar from the one in our own country.

dissimilarity /dɪsˌsɪməˌlɪərəti/ n. [C/U] dissociate /dɪsˌsoʊʃət/ adj. (written) having an immoral way of life: a dissolute life dissolution /dɪsˌsəluʃən/ n. [U] (formal) the Dissolution

dissolve /ˈdɪsəlv/ v. 1 [T] if a solid dissolves, or if you dissolve it, it mixes with a liquid and becomes liquid itself: Stir the mixture until the sugar dissolves.  2 [T] to officially end a marriage, business arrangement, etc.

THESSAUROS

| divorce, separate, split | up/break up, annul | DIVORCE |

3 dissolve into tears/laughter etc. to start crying or laughing a lot dissolve /ˈdɪsəlv/ n. 1 [C] usually singular, U (formal) a lack of agreement between ideas, opinions, or facts: There is a dissonance between her school life and her home life.  2 [C,U] ENG. LANG. ARTS the sound made by a group of musical notes that do not go together well: discord harmony. a choral piece full of dissonance and odd rhythms — dissonant adj.

dissuade /dɪˈswɛd/ v. [T] (formal) to persuade someone not to do something:  efforts to dissuade teenagers from drinking distance /ˈdɪstəns/ n. 1 [C,U] the amount of space between two places or things: What’s the distance from Louisville to Memphis?  2 [T] the distance between the moon and the sun  We had gone a long/short distance.  3 [U] the subway is within walking distance (=near enough to walk to) of my house.  4 [singular] a point or place that is far away, but close enough to be seen or heard: The ruins look very impressive from a distance.  5 We could see the Sears Tower in the distance.  3 keep your distance a) to stay far away from someone or something: The dogs looked fierce, so I kept my distance.  b) also keep sb at a distance to avoid becoming too friendly with someone: He tends to keep his distance from employees.

distance /ˈdɪstəns/ v. distance yourself (from sb/sth) to say that you are not involved with someone or something: The party is distancing itself from its violent past.

distant /ˈdɪstənt/ adj. 1 far away in space or time: the sound of distant laughter  2 not friendly or not interested: She seemed cold and distant.  3 [only before noun] not closely related to you: *an distant cousin — distantly adv.

dis*taste* /dɪˈstreɪst/ n. [singular, U] a feeling of dislike for someone or something that you think is annoying or offensive: *her *dis*taste* for modern art — *dis*tasteful* adj. unpleasant or offensive dis*tend-ed /dɪˈstɛndɪd/ adj. stretched larger than the normal size because of pressure from inside: the distended bellies of famine victims — distend v. [T] — distention *dis*tension* /dɪˈstɛnʃən/ n. [U] distill /dɪˈstɪl/ v. [T] to make a liquid more pure by heating it until it becomes gas and then letting it cool: distilled water — distillation /dɪˈstɪləʃən/ n. [U,C] distillery /dɪsˈtɪləri/ n. (plural distilleries) [C] a factory where strong alcoholic drinks are produced by distilling distinct /dɪˈstɪŋkt/ adj. 1 clearly different or separate: African and Asian elephants are distinct species.  2 a distinct possibility, feeling, quality, etc. definitely exists and cannot be ignored: There’s a distinct possibility that we’ll all lose our jobs.  3 I had the distinct impression that she didn’t like me.  4 clearly seen, heard, smelled, etc.: the distinct smell of cigarette smoke — distinctly adv. I distinctly remember his words.

distinctive /dɪˈstɪŋktɪv/ adj. a clear difference between things: The low makes/draws a distinction between children and adults.  2 [U] the quality of being very good, important, or special: a poet of distinction  3 distinctly remember his words.

distinctiveness /dɪˈstɪŋktɪvəs/ n. [U] distinctly /dɪˈstɪŋktli/ v. [T] to recognize or understand the difference between things or people: Young children often can’t distinguish between TV programs and commercials.  2 [T] to be the thing that makes someone or something different from other people or things: The bright feathers distinguish the male peacock from the female.  3 [T] to be able to see, hear, smell, etc. something, even if it is difficult: It was too dark for me to distinguish anything clearly.  4 distinguish yourself to do something so well that people notice you, praise you, or remember you: Eastwood distinguished himself as an actor before becoming a director. [Origin: 1500–1600 French distinguier, from Latin distinguere “to separate 2 looking important and successful

distort /dɪˈstɔːrt/ [Ac] v [T] 1 to report something in a way that is not completely true, so that the true meaning is changed (syn: twist, misrepresent: a reporter accused of distorting the facts). 2 to change the shape or sound of something so that it is strange or difficult to recognize: Tall buildings can distort radio waves. [Origin: 1400—1500 Latin distorquere "to twist out of shape"] —distorted adj.

distort /ˈdɪstrɔt/ [Ac] n [C] the act of giving something to each person in a large group: the distribution of food to disaster victims 2 [C,U] the way in which people or things are spread over an area: The distribution of wealth has become more unequal. 3 [U] the act of supplying goods to stores, companies, etc. in a particular area so that they can be sold: the production and distribution of goods 4 [C,U] Math a set of numbers and how often they appear in a set of data, especially as shown on a graph or table distributive /dɪˈstrɪbjuːtɪv/ [Ac] n [C] a company or person that supplies goods to stores or companies: a beer distributor district /ˈdɪstrɪkt/ [Ac] n 1 a particular area of a city, country, etc., especially an area officially divided from others: Ken works in the financial district. 2 Many school districts have cut music programs.

distracted /ˈdɪstræktɪd/ adj: anxious and not able to think clearly distract /dɪˈstrækt/ v [T] to do something that takes someone’s attention away from what s/he is doing: Don’t distract me while I’m driving! | The government is trying to distract attention from its failures.

distracting /ˈdɪstræktɪŋ/ adj: making someone feel very worried or upset: We were distracted to learn of Thomas’s death.

distress /dɪˈstrɛs/ n [U] 1 a feeling of extreme worry and sadness: Children suffer emotional distress when their parents divorce. 2 a situation in which someone suffers because s/he does not have any money, food, etc.; charities that help families in distress 3 be in distress if a ship, airplane, etc. is in danger of sinking or crashing —distressed adj.

distress /dɪˈstrɛs/ n [U] something such as food or medicine to each person in a large group: The Red Cross is distributing food and clothing to the refugees.

distressed /dɪˈstrɛst/ adj: giving

2 to supply goods to stores and companies in a particular area so that they can be sold: The movie is being distributed by Warner Bros. [Origin: 1400—1500 Latin distribuere “to give out,” from tribuere “to give to a particular person”] distributed /dɪˈstrɛstɪd/ adj: giving

2 not being in a... normal way because of mental or emotional problems: an emotionally disturbed child submerge – to go or put something completely under the surface of the water: The turtle submerged again.

sink – to go down below the surface of water, mud, etc., or to make something do this: The coin sank to the bottom of the pool.

2 to swim under the water using special equipment to help you breathe: 3 to travel straight down through the air or water: The birds were diving for fish. 4 to move or jump quickly: They dove into the bushes to avoid the enemy.

dive

v. [T] (informal) to get rid of something or stop using it because it is no longer useful to you: The bank robbers ditched the stolen car as soon as they could.

ditch

1 /dɪtʃ/ n. [C] a long narrow hole in the ground for water to flow through, usually at the side of a field, road, etc.

2 v. [T] informal to get rid of something or stop using it because it is no longer useful to you: The bank robbers ditched the stolen car as soon as they could.

dit·ty /dɪˈtiː/ n. (plural ditties) [C] (humorous) a short simple song or poem dit·to /dɪˈtoʊ/ n. [C] a very successful and famous female singer dit·to /dɪˈtoʊ/ adj. worrying or upsetting; a disturbing increase in crime dit·to /dɪˈtoʊ/ n. [C] a very successful and famous female singer

dive

v. [T] (informal) to get rid of something or stop using it because it is no longer useful to you: The bank robbers ditched the stolen car as soon as they could.

dive

v. [T] (informal) to get rid of something or stop using it because it is no longer useful to you: The bank robbers ditched the stolen car as soon as they could.

2 v. [T] informal to get rid of something or stop using it because it is no longer useful to you: The bank robbers ditched the stolen car as soon as they could.

dit·ty /dɪˈtiː/ n. (plural ditties) [C] (humorous) a short simple song or poem

di·ver·si·ty /dɪˈvɜrəsɪtɪ/ n. [C] a very successful and famous female singer

di·ver·si·ty /dɪˈvɜrəsɪtɪ/ n. [C] a very successful and famous female singer

di·ver·si·ty /dɪˈvɜrəsɪtɪ/ n. [C] a very successful and famous female singer

2 adj. very different from each other: The U.S. is a culturally diverse nation. | diverse political opinions

di·ver·si·fy /dɪˈvɜrəsɪfɪ/ v. [T] (informal) to get rid of something or stop using it because it is no longer useful to you: The bank robbers ditched the stolen car as soon as they could.

C, U

di·ver·si·fy /dɪˈvɜrəsɪfɪ/ v. [T] (informal) to get rid of something or stop using it because it is no longer useful to you: The bank robbers ditched the stolen car as soon as they could.

ditch

v. [T] (informal) to get rid of something or stop using it because it is no longer useful to you: The bank robbers ditched the stolen car as soon as they could.

2 v. [T] informal to get rid of something or stop using it because it is no longer useful to you: The bank robbers ditched the stolen car as soon as they could.

dit·ty /dɪˈtiː/ n. (plural ditties) [C] (humorous) a short simple song or poem

di·ver·si·ty /dɪˈvɜrəsɪtɪ/ n. [C] a very successful and famous female singer

di·ver·si·ty /dɪˈvɜrəsɪtɪ/ n. [C] a very successful and famous female singer

di·ver·si·ty /dɪˈvɜrəsɪtɪ/ n. [C] a very successful and famous female singer

2 adj. very different from each other: The U.S. is a culturally diverse nation. | diverse political opinions

di·ver·si·fy /dɪˈvɜrəsɪfɪ/ v. [T] (informal) to get rid of something or stop using it because it is no longer useful to you: The bank robbers ditched the stolen car as soon as they could.

C, U

di·ver·si·fy /dɪˈvɜrəsɪfɪ/ v. [T] (informal) to get rid of something or stop using it because it is no longer useful to you: The bank robbers ditched the stolen car as soon as they could.

ditch

v. [T] (informal) to get rid of something or stop using it because it is no longer useful to you: The bank robbers ditched the stolen car as soon as they could.

2 v. [T] informal to get rid of something or stop using it because it is no longer useful to you: The bank robbers ditched the stolen car as soon as they could.

dit·ty /dɪˈtiː/ n. (plural ditties) [C] (humorous) a short simple song or poem

di·ver·si·ty /dɪˈvɜrəsɪtɪ/ n. [C] a very successful and famous female singer

di·ver·si·ty /dɪˈvɜrəsɪtɪ/ n. [C] a very successful and famous female singer

di·ver·si·ty /dɪˈvɜrəsɪtɪ/ n. [C] a very successful and famous female singer

2 adj. very different from each other: The U.S. is a culturally diverse nation. | diverse political opinions

di·ver·si·fy /dɪˈvɜrəsɪfɪ/ v. [T] (informal) to get rid of something or stop using it because it is no longer useful to you: The bank robbers ditched the stolen car as soon as they could.

C, U

di·ver·si·fy /dɪˈvɜrəsɪfɪ/ v. [T] (informal) to get rid of something or stop using it because it is no longer useful to you: The bank robbers ditched the stolen car as soon as they could.

ditch

v. [T] (informal) to get rid of something or stop using it because it is no longer useful to you: The bank robbers ditched the stolen car as soon as they could.

2 v. [T] informal to get rid of something or stop using it because it is no longer useful to you: The bank robbers ditched the stolen car as soon as they could.

dit·ty /dɪˈtiː/ n. (plural ditties) [C] (humorous) a short simple song or poem

di·ver·si·ty /dɪˈvɜrəsɪtɪ/ n. [C] a very successful and famous female singer

di·ver·si·ty /dɪˈvɜrəsɪtɪ/ n. [C] a very successful and famous female singer

di·ver·si·ty /dɪˈvɜrəsɪtɪ/ n. [C] a very successful and famous female singer

2 adj. very different from each other: The U.S. is a culturally diverse nation. | diverse political opinions

di·ver·si·fy /dɪˈvɜrəsɪfɪ/ v. [T] (informal) to get rid of something or stop using it because it is no longer useful to you: The bank robbers ditched the stolen car as soon as they could.
something for a different purpose: They plan to divert money from production to design. 3 divert (sb's) attention from sth to stop someone from paying attention to something: The war will divert attention from the country's economic problems. [Origin: 1400–1500 Old French divertir, from Latin divertere, from vertere "to turn"] di·vest (d@'vaIn) v. 1 [C,U] to separate something into two or more parts, groups, etc., or to become separated in this way: The teacher divided the class into groups. | Brenda's trying to divide her time between work and school.

THESAURUS separate, split, break up, segregate, partition, apportion ➔ separate

2 [T] to keep two areas separate from each other: A river divides the north and south sides of the city. | A curtain divided his sleeping area from ours.

3 [T] also divide up to separate something into two or more parts and share it among two or more people, groups, places, etc.: The money will be divided equally among his children. | She divides her time between Atlanta and Houston.

4 [T] MATH to calculate how many times one number is contained in a larger number: 15 divided by 3 is 5. ➔ calculate 5 [T] to make people disagree and form groups with different opinions: Experts disagree over the question. [Origin: 1300–1400 Latin dividere "to divide, leave one’s attention from" to separate"] div·i·dent (d@'vaInd) n. 1 [C] a part of a company’s profit that is paid to people who have shares in the company

THESAURUS separate – to start to live apart from your husband or wife: They separated six months ago

spilt up/break up – to end a marriage or a long romantic relationship: When Andy was nine, his parents split up. | What would it do to the kids if he and Judy broke up?

leave sb – to stop living with your husband, wife, or partner: Her husband left her after 27 years of marriage.

annul (Law) – to officially state that a marriage no longer exists: The marriage was annulled after only six days.

dissolve (Law) – to officially end a marriage: She said she wanted a divorce, and the marriage was later dissolved.

2 [T] (formal) to separate two ideas, values, organizations, etc.: It is difficult to divorce religion from politics. ➔ divorced adj. a divorced woman

THESAURUS separate – to start to live apart from your husband or wife: They separated six months ago

spilt up/break up – to end a marriage or a long romantic relationship: When Andy was nine, his parents split up. | What would it do to the kids if he and Judy broke up?

leave sb – to stop living with your husband, wife, or partner: Her husband left her after 27 years of marriage.

annul (Law) – to officially state that a marriage no longer exists: The marriage was annulled after only six days.

dissolve (Law) – to officially end a marriage: She said she wanted a divorce, and the marriage was later dissolved.

Dixie

Dixie /diksi/n. HISTORY an informal name for the

Dixie /diksi/n. HISTORY an informal name for the dizzy /ˈdɪzɪ/ adj. 1 having a feeling of not being able to balance yourself, especially after spinning around or because you feel sick: She felt dizzy when she stood up. 2 (informal) someone who is dizzy or silly or stupid [Origin: Old English dysig “stupid”] —dizziness /ˈdɪzɪdɪs/ n. [U]

D.J. /ˈdɛɪʃi/ n. [C] disk jockey someone whose job is to play the music on the radio or in a club where you can dance

DNA /ˈdeɪnə/ n. [C] deoxyribonucleic acid [biology] an acid found in the cells of living things, that carries genetic information

DNA sequence /ˈdɛnə ˈsiːkwəns/ n. [C] biology the order of the many pairs of molecules that DNA consists of, represented as a series of letters dock /dɒk/ v. [T] to change something, especially in a way that is not honest: The police may have doctored the evidence.

doctor /ˈdɒktər/ n. [C] 1 someone who has the highest level of degree given by a university: a Doctor of Philosophy [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French docteur, from Latin doctor “teacher”] doctor /ˈdɒktər/ v. [T] to change something, especially in a way that is not honest: The police may have doctored the evidence.

→ doctorate

→ doctorate

doctor /ˈdɒktər/ n. [C] a formal statement of a government’s way of dealing with something, especially the way it deals with other countries: Catholic doctrine

→ doctrinal

→ documentation

→ dossier

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor

→ doctorate

→ doctor
dog paddle

'dog paddle' also 'doggy paddle' n. [singular] (informal) a simple way of swimming that you do by moving your arms and legs like a swimming dog dog-wood /ˈdogwʊd/ n. [C] an eastern North American tree or bush with flat white or pink flowers do-ing /ˈdʊŋ/ n. 1 be sb's (own) doing to be someone’s fault: His bad luck was all his own doing. 2 take some doing (informal) to be hard work: Getting this old car to run is going to take some doing.

dol-drums /ˈdəʊldrʌms/, 'dəʊld-/ n. [plural] (informal) 1 a state in which something is not improving or developing: The stock market has been in the doldrums for most of this year. 2 a state in which you feel sad dole /dəʊl/ v. dol-ishing v. phr. to give something to someone for free: Doing this every day will be a dollar.

dole-ful /ˈdəʊlfl/ adj. very sad: a doleful song doll /dəʊl/ n. [C] a toy that looks like a small person or baby: a small wooden doll [Origin: 1500—1600 The female name Doll, from Dorothy] dol-lar /ˈdəʊlər/ n. [C] 1 the standard of money used in the U.S., Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and other countries. Its sign is $ and it is worth 100 cents: These pants cost $40. 2 a piece of paper money or a coin of this value: dollar bills 3 the dollar economics the value of U.S. money in relation to the money of other countries: The peso has dropped almost 1% against the dollar. [Origin: 1500—1600 Dutch daler, from German joachimstaler, from Sankt Joachimsthal, name of a Bavarian town where the coins were first made] dol-lup /ˈdəʊlp/ n. [C] a small amount of soft whipped cream, usually dropped from a spoon: a dollop of whipped cream dol-phin /ˈdəʊflɪn/, 'dəʊl-/ n. [C] a very intelligent sea animal with a long gray pointed nose [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French dalfin, from Greek delphis]

do-main /ˈdou̇mɛn/, do-/ (AC) n. [C] 1 (formal) a particular activity that is controlled by one person, group, organization, etc.: In the past, politics was exclusively a male domain. 2 This problem is outside the domain of medical science. 2 BIOLOGY one of the groups into which scientists divide animals or plants, in which the animals or plants are closely related but cannot produce babies or more plants together 3 MATH all the possible values that can be used as independent variables in a mathematical function do'main name n. [C] if a part of a website's address that tells you the name of the website dome /ˈdou̇m/ n. [C] a round curved roof on a building or room [Origin: 1600—1700 French dôme “dome, cathedral,” from Latin domus “‘house’”]

—domed adj.

dome-stic-tic /ˈdəʊməstɪk/ adj. 1 happening within one country and not involving any other countries; U.S. foreign and domestic policy [Domestic flights (=flights that stay inside a particular country) leave from Terminal C. 2 [only before noun] relating to family relationships and life at home: We share the domestic chores, a victim of domestic violence (=violence between husband and wife) 3 someone who is domestic enjoys spending time at home doing things such as cooking, cleaning, etc. 4 domestic animal an animal that lives in someone’s house or on a farm —domesticated v. [T] —domestication /dəˈmɛstɪkəʃən/ n. [U] dome-stic-ti-ty /ˌdoumeɪˈstɪstɪ/ n. [U] life at home with your family and the activities that relate to this dome-stic partner n. [C] someone who you live with and have a sexual relationship with, but who you are not married to dom-i-nance /ˈdəʊmənəns/ (AC) n. [U] a situation in which someone is more powerful, more important, or more noticeable than other people or things: the dominance of youth culture in the U.S. | A male lion must fight for dominance within the pride (=group of lions).

dom-i-nant /ˌdəʊməˈnɑnt/ (Ac) adj. 1 strongest, most important, or most noticeable: America’s dominant role in international business | The dominant male gorilla is the largest in the group.

—domination /ˌdəʊməˈneɪʃən/ n. [U]

THESPOUSRS

table

powerful, influential, strong

2 controlling other people or things, or wanting to do this: her husband’s dominant behavior 3 biology a dominant gene results in a physical feature even if it has been passed on from only one parent 4 recessive dom-i-nate /ˈdəʊmət/ v. [T] 1 to have power and control over someone or something: Five large companies dominate the auto industry. 2 to be the strongest, most important, or most noticeable feature of something: The murder trial has been dominating the news this week. [Origin: 1600—1700 Latin dominatus, past participle of dominari “to rule”]

—domination

pictograph
dom-i-neer-ing /dəmˈniːər-ɪŋ/ adj (disapprov-ing) trying to control other people without considering how they feel or what they want: his domineering father do-min-ion /dəˈmɪnən/ n 1 [U] (literary) the power or right to rule people 2 [C] also Dominion HISTORY one of the countries that was a member of the British Commonwealth in past times 3 [C] HISTORY a large area of land owned or controlled by one person or a government dom-i-no /ˈdɒməni/ n (plural dominoes) 1 [C] a small piece of wood, plastic, etc. with a different number of spots on each half of its top side, used in playing a game 2 dominoes [U] the game that you play using dominoes 3 domino effect a situation in which one event or action causes several other things to happen one after the other: The weakness of the dollar had a domino effect, hurting stocks and bonds.

do-na-te /ˈdəʊnət/ v to give, especially money, to a person or organization that needs help: Our school donated $500 to the Red Cross.

The Saurus
give, leave, bequeath, present, grant → GIVE

2 donate blood/an organ/a kidney etc. to allow some of your blood or a part of your body to be used to help someone who is sick or injured do-na-tion /ˈdəʊnəʃən/ n [C] something, especially money, that you give to help a person or organization: Please make a donation to UNICEF. [origin: 1400—1500 Latin donor “to give”] done1 /dʌn/ v the past participle of do done2 adj 1 finished or completed: The job’s almost done. Are you done with this magazine?

The Saurus
finished – done, and dealt with in the way you wanted: She showed him the finished drawing. complete – finished, and having all the necessary parts: The project is almost complete. over – if an event, activity, or period of time is over, it is finished: The game was over by 10 o’clock. through – if you are through with something, you have finished using it or doing it: Are you through with those scissors?

2 cooked enough to be eaten: I think the hamburgers are done. 3 it’s a done deal (spoken) used in order to mean that an agreement has been made and it cannot be changed: 4 be done in (spoken) to be extremely tired: I’ve got to sit down – I’m done in.

done3 interjection used in order to accept a deal that someone offers you: “How about I give you $25 for it?” “Done!”

don-key /ˈdɒŋki, ˈdəŋk-, ˈdʌŋk-/ n [C] a gray or brown animal like a horse, but smaller and with longer ears don-or /ˈdəʊnər/ n [C] 1 someone who gives something, especially money, to an organization in order to help people: The art museum received $10,000 from an anonymous donor. 2 someone who gives blood or a part of his/her body so that it can be used to help someone who is sick or injured: an organ donor

Don’t! /ˈdəʊnt/ v the short form of “do not” I don’t know.

do-nut /ˈdəʊnət/ n [C] another spelling of doughnut do-o-dad /ˈduːdəd/. also doo-hickey /ˈduːhɪki/ n [C] (informal) a small object whose name you have forgotten or do not know: What’s this doodad for?

do-o-lop /ˈduːləp/ v [T] to draw shapes or patterns without really thinking about what you are doing: Stein was doodling on a napkin. —— doodle n [C]

The Saurus
draw, sketch, scribble → DRAW

Doom1 /dʌm/ n. 1 destruction, death, or failure that is certain to happen: a sense of impending doom (=a feeling that something bad will happen soon) 2 doom and gloom a feeling that there is no hope for the future

Doom2 v. [T] to make someone or something certain to fail, be destroyed, or die: The program was doomed to failure from the start. —— doomed adj.

Dooms-day /ˈduːmsdeɪ/ n JUDGMENT DAY door /dɔːr/ n [C] 1 a large tall flat piece of wood, glass, etc., that you push or pull in order to go into a building, room, car, etc.: Could someone please open/close/hut the door? Don’t forget to lock the front/back/side door. 2 you ran into her bedroom and slammed the door (=what it very hard). Did you hear someone knock on/at the door? Marie, can you get answer the door (=open it after someone has knocked)? 3 the space made by an open door: You just go out through this door and turn right. 4 next door in the room, house, etc. next to where you are: the people who live next door 5 at the door if someone is at the door, she is waiting for you to open it if you drive, it should only take you 20 minutes door to door. 6 (from door to door a) between one place and another: If you drive, it should only take you 20 minutes door to door. b) going to each house on a street to sell something, collect money, etc.: We went door to door asking people to sponsor us in the race. 7 show/see sb. to the door to walk with someone to the main door of a building [origin: Old English dura “door” and dor “gate”] door-bell /ˈdɔːrbɛl/ n [C] a button by the door of a house, that you press to make a sound that lets the people inside know you are there door-knob /ˈdɔːrnəb/ n [C] a round handle that you turn to open a door door-man /dɔrˈmen, -mən/ n (plural doormen /-men, -mən/) [C] a man who works at the door of a hotel or theater, helping people who are coming in or out.

door-mat /dɔrˈmæt/ n. [C] 1 a thick piece of material just outside a door for you to clean your shoes on 2 (informal) someone who lets other people treat him/her badly and never complains.

door-step /dɔrˈstep/ n. [C] 1 a step just outside a door to a building 2 on your doorstep very near to where you live or are staying: Wow! You have the beach right on your doorstep!

door-way /dɔrˈwæi/ n. [C] the space where a door opens into a room or building: Cindy stood in the doorway.

dope /dəʊp/ n. (informal) 1 [U] an illegal drug, especially marijuana 2 [C] a stupid person.
dope² /dəʊp/ v. [T] to give a drug to a person or animal in order to make him, her, or it unconscious 2 to give a drug to a person or animal in order to make him, her, or it perform better in a race —doping n. [U]

Dop-pler ef-fect /ˈdɔpələr ˈɛfekt/ n. [singular] physics a change in how you hear a sound or see a light that is moving toward or away from you, so that a sound seems higher as it is moving closer to you, and a light seems more blue.

dork /dɔrk/ n. [C] (informal) someone who you think is silly or stupid because s/he behaves strangely or wears strange clothes: I look like such a dork in that picture. —dorky adj.

dorm /dɔrəm/ n. [C] (informal) a dormitory dor-mant /dɔrˈmænt/ adj. not active now, but able to be active at a later time: a dormant volcano —dormancy /dɔrˈmænsi/ n. [U] dor-mi-to-ry /dɔrˈmi tə rɪ/ n. (plural dormitories) [C] a large building at a college or university, where students live dor-sal /dɔrsəl/ adj. biology on or relating to the back of a fish or animal: a whale’s dorsal fin dos-age /ˈdɔʊsɪdʒ/ n. [C] the amount of medicine that you should take at any one time.

dose /dəʊs/ n. [C] 1 a measured amount of medicine: She was injected with a dose of insulin. 2 an amount of something that you experience at one time: I can only handle Jason in small doses (=for short amounts of time).

dos-si-er /dəsə, ɪə, -sɪ-ə/ n. [C] a set of papers that include detailed information about someone or something: The police keep dossiers on all their prisoners.

dot /dæt/ n. 1 [C] a small round mark or spot: a pattern of dots on the screen 2 on the dot (informal) exactly at a particular time: He arrived at nine o’clock on the dot.

dot² /dɒt/ v. (dotted, dotting) [T] 1 to mark something by putting a dot on it or above it: She never dots her ‘i’s.’ 2 to spread things out within an area: We have over 20 stores dotted around the state.

Thesaurus

increase, go up, rise, grow, shoot up, multiply → INCREASE² double as sb/sth phr. v. to have a second use, job, or purpose: The sofa doubles as a bed.

double back phr. v. to turn around and go back in the direction you just came from: I doubled back and headed south.

double up, double over phr. v. to be doubled up/over with pain/laughter etc. to bend at the waist because you are in pain or laughing a lot: Both the girls were doubled up with laughter.

double³ n. 1 [C,U] something that is twice as big or twice as much as usual: Scotch and water, please —make it a double. 2 sb’s double someone who looks very similar to someone else: She’s her mother’s double. 3 [C] a room or bed for two people —single 4 on the double (informal) very soon, or immediately: I want that report here on the double! 5 doubles [plural] a tennis game played by two pairs of players.

double⁴ adv. see double to have a problem with your eyes so that you see two things instead of one.

double⁵ determiner twice as much or twice as many: The car is worth double the amount we paid for it.

double bass /ˈdʌblbæs/ n. [C] a very large double 'boiler n [C] a pot for cooking food, made of one pot resting on top of another pot that has hot water in it double-breasted adj: a double-breasted jacket or coat has two rows of buttons on the front double-check v [I,T] to check something again to find out if it is safe, ready, correct, etc.: I think I turned off the oven, but let me go double-check.

double 'chin n [C] an additional fold of skin under someone’s chin, that looks like a second chin double-click v [I] it to press a button on a computer mouse twice in order to make the computer do something: Double-click on the Printer icon. — double click n [C] double-cross v [T] to cheat someone when you are involved in something dishonest together — double cross n [C] double 'date n [C] an occasion when two couples meet to go to a movie, restaurant, etc. together double-digit adj [only before noun] relating to the numbers 10 to 99: double-digit unemployment rates double 'digits n [plural] the numbers from 10 to 99: Three of the team’s players scored in double digits.

double 'duty n do double duty to do more than one job or be used for more than one purpose at the same time: The lids on the pots do double duty as plates when we’re camping.

double 'figures n [plural] DOUBLE DIGITS double-'header n [C] two baseball games that are played one after the other double 'helix n [C] BIOLOGY a shape found in the structure of DNA, consisting of two parallel spirals that twist around the same center double-jointed adj able to move the joints in your arms, fingers, etc. backward as well as forward double 'negative n [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS two negative words used in one sentence when you should use only one in correct English grammar, for example in the sentence “I don’t want nobody to help me!”

double 'park v [I,T] to leave a car on the road beside another car that is already parked there: I got a ticket for double-parking.

double 'play n [C] in the game of baseball, the action of making two players who are running between the bases have to leave the field by throwing the ball quickly from one base to the other before each runner gets there double 'standard n [C] a rule or principle that is unfair because it treats one group or type of people more severely than another in the same situation double 'take n do a double take to suddenly look at someone or something again because you are surprised by what you originally saw or heard double-talk n [U] (disapproving) speech that is complicated, and is intended to deceive or confuse people double 'vision n [U] a medical condition in which you see two of everything double 'whammy n (plural double whammies) [C] (informal) two bad things that happen at the same time or one after the other doubly /dəbˈli/ adv. 1 much more than usual: Be doubly careful when driving in fog. 2 in two ways or for two reasons: You are doubly mistaken.

doubt1 /daut/ n. 1 [C,U] a feeling of not being certain whether something is true or possible: I began to have serious doubts about his ability to do the job. | There is no doubt that one day a cure will be found. | Without a doubt, Kevin is the best player on the team. 2 no doubt used when emphasizing that you think something is probably true: No doubt they’ll win. | She was a top student, no doubt about it. 3 be in doubt if something is in doubt, it may not happen, continue, exist, or be true: The future of the peace talks is in doubt. 4 beyond doubt if something is beyond doubt, it is completely certain: The state must prove beyond reasonable doubt that he is guilty.

doubt2 v [T] to think that something may not be true or that it is unlikely: I doubt that we will ever see her again. | He might come, but I doubt it. | to not trust or believe in someone or something: Nobody doubts his ability to stay calm in a crisis.

doubtful /ˈdautfəl/ adj. 1 probably not true or not likely to happen: It’s doubtful that voters will approve the bill. 2 not certain about something: I could see that he still looked doubtful.

doubtfulness n.

doubtful

---

THE SAURUS

doubtful

doubtful – if you are dubious about something, you do not think it is a good idea or that it is true: At first, I was dubious about the idea of taking a vacation in Europe.
doubtful – not expressed by someone’s arguments: Some people remain unconvinced about the threat of global warming.
skeptical – not willing to believe that something is really true: Scientists are skeptical about the benefits of the treatment.

---

GRAMMAR

doubt that, doubt if, doubt whether

When you use the verb doubt in a simple statement, it can be followed by “that,” “if,” or “whether” : I doubt that the car will be ready yet. | I doubt if/whether she can help. However, if the statement is negative, doubt can only be followed by “that” : I don’t doubt that he’s honest (= I’m sure that he’s honest). When you use the noun doubt after “no” or “not,” it is always followed by “that” : There is no doubt that she’s guilty.

doubtfull adj. 1 probably not true or not likely to happen: It’s doubtful that voters will approve the bill. 2 not certain about something: I could see that he still looked doubtful.
doubtless /daʊtˈlɛs/ adv used when saying that something is very likely to happen or be true: Readers will doubtless be disappointed by her new novel.
dough /dou/ n [U] 1 a mixture of flour and water ready to be baked into bread, cookies, etc. 2 (informal) money doughnut /ˈdouʊnˌnʌt/ n. [C] a small round cake that is usually shaped like a ring dour /dɔər/ adj. very severe and not smiling: a dour expression douse /daʊs/ | [T] 1 to stop a fire from burning by throwing water on it: Firefighters quickly doused the blaze. 2 to cover something in water or other liquid dove (1) /dəʊv/ n. [C] a type of small white bird often used as a sign of peace [Origin: Old English dauf] dove (2) /dʌv/ v. a past tense of dive down dy /ˈdaʊndi/ adj. unattractive or unfashionable down (1) /daʊn/ adv. 1 toward a lower place or position (up): She looked down at the street from her window.  | David bent down to tie his shoelace. 2 into a sitting or lying position: Come in and sit down.  | trees blown down by the big storm 3 in a lower place or position (up): The cows are down in the valley.  | The bathroom is down those stairs. 4 toward or in the south (up): Gail drove down to North Carolina to see her brother.  | We moved down south when I was a baby. 5 at or to a place that is further along a path, road, etc.: Could you go down to the store and get some bread? 6 decreasing in loudness, strength, heat, activity, etc. (up): Can you turn the TV down a little?  | House prices have come down in recent months. 7 write (note) etc. sth down to write something on paper: I’ll write down the address for you. 8 (informal) paid to someone immediately → DOWN PAYMENT: The landlord wants a lot of money down. 9 from an earlier time to a later time: The story was handed down in the family from father to son. 10 traditions that have come down to us from Medieval times → COME DOWN WITH down (2) adj. [not before noun] 1 sad: I’ve never seen Bret looking so down.

3 losing to an opponent by a certain number of points (up): We were down by 6 points at half-time. 3 in a computer system that is down is not working (up): 4 a level, number, or amount that is down is lower than before (up): At lunchtime, the stock market was down 77 points. 5 (spoken) used in order to say that a particular number of things have been finished, when there are more things left to do: That’s two down. Only two more to do. 6 be down on sb/sth (spoken) to have a bad opinion of someone or something: Why is Jerome so down on work?
down 3 prep. 1 toward the ground or a lower point, or in a lower position: The store is just down the hill. 2 along or toward the far end of something: We walked down the beach as the sun rose.  | They live down the road from us. 3 down the road/line (informal) at some time in the future: We’d like to have children sometime down the line.
down 4 v. [T] (informal) to drink something very quickly: Matt downed his coffee and left for work.
down (1) n. 1 [U] thin soft feathers or hair: a down pillow 2 [C] one of the four chances that a football team has to move forward ten yards with the ball: first/second etc. down down-and-out adj. (informal) having no luck or money: a down-and-out actor down-cast /ˈdaʊnˌkæst/ adj. sad or upset because something bad has happened down-er /ˈdaʊnər/ n. [singular] (spoken) someone or something that makes you feel unhappy: The movie was a real downer.
down-fall /ˈdaʊnfl/ n. [C] a sudden loss of money, power, social position, etc., or something that leads to this: Greed will be his downfall.
down-grade /ˈdaʊnɡreɪd/ v. [T] to state that something is not as good or as valuable as it was before: Several analysts have downgraded the stock.
down-heart-ed /ˈdaʊnˈhɑːrtɪd/ adj. be down-hearted to feel sad about something

Doubtless, Sad, Unhappy, Unattractive, Unfashionable, Sad, Unhappy, Miserable, Sorrowful, Depressed, Down, Low, Blue, Downhearted, Melancholy, Morose, Gloomy, Glum → Saddownhill /ˈdaʊnˌhɪl/ adv. 1 toward the bottom of a hill or toward lower land (up): uphill: The truck’s brakes failed, and it rolled downhill. 2 go downhill to become worse: After he lost his job, things went downhill. downhill (1) /ˈdaʊnˌhɪl/ adj. 1 on a slope that goes down to a lower point: downhill skiing 2 be (all) downhill to become worse: We got three runs in the first inning, but it was all downhill from there.
download /ˈdaʊnˈlaʊd/ v. [T] it to move information or programs from a computer network to your computer: The software can be downloaded from the Internet.
down payment /ˈdaʊnˌpɑːmənt/ n. [C] the first payment you make on something expensive that you will pay for over a longer period: a down payment on a car downplay /ˈdaʊnplaɪ/ v. [T] to make something seem less important than it really is: Fred downplayed the seriousness of his illness.
down·pour /dənˈpɔːr/ n. [C usually singular] a lot of rain that falls in a short time

THESAURUS

RAIN

- rain, drizzle, shower, storm

---

down·right /dənˈraɪt/ adv. (informal) thoroughly and completely: You’re just downright lazy.

down·riv·er /dənˈrɪvr/ adv. in the direction that the water in a river is flowing (ANT) upriver down·shift /dənˈʃift/ v. [I] 1 to put the engine of a vehicle into a lower gear in order to go slower. 2 if someone downsizes, she chooses to work less so that s/he has more time to enjoy life.

down·side /dənˈsaɪd/ n. [singular] a disadvantage to something: The downside of the plan is the cost.

THESAURUS

- disadvantage, drawback, catch, bad point

---

down·size /dənˈsaɪz/ v. [T] to reduce the number of people who work for a company in order to cut costs —downsizing n. [U]

---

Down’s Syndrome n. [U] BIOLOGY a condition that someone is born with that stops him/her from developing normally both mentally and physically.

down·stairs /dənˈstrɛərz/ adv. 1 on or going toward a lower floor of a building, especially a house (ANT) upstairs: He went downstairs to make coffee. —Run downstairs and answer the door. 2 the downstairs the rooms on the first floor of a house (ANT) upstairs: Let’s paint the downstairs blue. —downstairs /dənˈstrɛərz/ adj.; the downstairs rooms down·state /dənˈstɛt/ adv. adj. in or toward the southern part of a state (ANT) upscale: He lives downstairs, near the city.

down·stream /dənˈstrɪm/ adv. in the direction that the water in a river or stream is flowing (ANT) upstream down·time /dənˈtaɪm/ n. [U] 1 the time when a computer is not working. 2 (informal) time spent relaxing.

down·to·earth adj. practical and honest: She’s a friendly, down-to-earth person.

down·town1 /dənˈtaʊn/ n. [U] the business center of a city or town; efforts to revitalize the city’s downtown down·town2 /dənˈtaʊn/ adv. adj. to or in the business center of a city or town ➔ UPHILL: Do you work downtown? / downtown Atlanta / I need to go downtown later.

down·trod·den /dənˈtroʊd/-en/ adj. (literary) treated badly by people who have power over you down·turn /dənˈtɔrn/ n. [C usually singular] a time during which business activity is reduced and conditions become worse: a downturn in the economy

---

draft /draft/ n. [C] 1 a piece of writing, a drawing, or a plan that is not yet in its finished form: the rough draft of his essay. I read the first draft and thought it was very good. 2 she still has to review the final draft (=final form). 2 the draft a system in which people must join the military, especially when there is a war 3 cold air that moves through a room and that you can feel: Is the window closed all the way? I feel a draft in here. 4 on draft beer that is on draft is served from a large container, rather than from a bottle or can draft1 /draft/ adj. strict, tough, firm, rigorous, stern, rigid, stringent ➔ STRI CT

draft2 v. [T] 1 to write a plan, letter, report, etc. that you will need to change before it is finished: The House plans to draft a bill on education. 2 to order someone to fight for his/her country during a war: Jim was drafted into the army.

draft , dodger n. [C] someone who illegally avoids joining the military, even though s/he has been ordered to join drafts-man /ˈdrɑːftsmən/ n. (plural drafts-men /-m@n/) [C] someone whose job is to make detailed drawings of a building, machine, etc., that is being planned draft-y /ˈdraftɪ/ adj. a drafty room is uncomfort-able because cold air is blowing through it drag /dræɡ/ (dragged, dragging) 1 PULL STH [T] to pull something along the ground, often because it is too heavy to carry: Ben dragged his sled through the snow. ➔ see picture on page 89
2 PULL SB [T] to pull someone in a strong or violent way when s/he does not want to go with you: He grabbed her arm and dragged her into the room.
3 drag yourself up/over/along etc. (informal) to move somewhere when it is difficult: I drag mysel out of bed to call the doctor.
4 GO SOMEWHERE [T] (informal) to make someone go somewhere that s/he does not want to go: Mom dragged us to a concert last night.
5 drag yourself away from (informal) to stop doing something, although you do not want to: Can you drag yourself away from the TV for 5 minutes?
6 BORING [I] if something drains, it is boring and seems to go very slowly: The last hour of the play really dragged.
7 COMPUTER [T] to move words, images, etc. on a computer screen by pulling them along with the MOUSE
8 TOUCHING GROUND [I] if something is dragging along the ground, part of it is touching the ground as you move: Your coat is dragging in the mud.
9 drag your feet (informal) to take too much time to do something because you do not want to do it: The police are being accused of dragging their feet on this case. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old Norse draga or Old English draong] drag sb into sth phr. v. to make someone get involved in a situation even though s/he does not want to: I’m sorry to drag you into this mess.
drag on phr. v. to continue for too long: The meeting dragged on all afternoon.
drag sth ↔ out phr. v. to make a situation or event last longer than necessary: How long are you going to discuss this discussion out?
drag sth out of ab phr. v. to force someone to tell you something when s/he had not intended to or was not supposed to do so drag 3 [C] the act of breathing in smoke from a cigarette: Al took a drag on his cigarette.
4 in drag (informal) wearing clothes that are intended for people of the opposite sex, especially for fun or entertainment drag-on /ˈdræɡən/ n. [C] a large imaginary ani-mal that has wings, a long tail, and can breathe out fire [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French, Greek dra-on “large snake”] drag-on-fly /ˈdræɡənflɪ/ n. (plural dragonflies) [C] a flying insect with a long brightly colored body ‘drag race n. [C] a car race over a short distance
‘drag out phr. v. 1 a) [T] to make the water or liquid in something flow away: The swimming pool is drained and cleaned every winter. | Brad drained all the oil from the engine. b) [I] if something drains, the liquid in it or on it flows away: Let the pasta drain well.
2) [I] if a liquid drains, it flows away: The bath water slowly drained away. 2 [T] to use up all of your energy, making you feel very tired: Working with children all day really drains you.
3) [I] if the color drains from your face, you suddenly become pale 4 [T] to drink all the liquid in a glass, cup, etc.: Lori quickly drained her cup.
drain 2 n. 1 [C] a pipe or hole that dirty water or other waste liquids flow into: The drain in the sink is blocked. 2 a drain on sth something that uses a lot of something, such as time, money, or strength: Doing a graduate degree has been a drain on Fran’s savings.
3 down the drain [informal] wasted or having no result: There’s another $50 down the drain.
drain-age /ˈdreɪnjɪdʒ/ n. [U] the system or pro-cess by which water or waste liquids can flow away from a place drained /ˈdred/ adj. very tired: I felt completely drained after they had all gone home.
drama /ˈdrɑːmə/ n. 1 [C,U] a play for the theater, television, radio, etc., usually a serious one, or plays in general 2 [U] the study of acting and plays: drama school 3 [C,U] an exciting and unusual situation or event: a life full of drama| The photograph captures the drama of the moment. [Origin: 1500—1600 Late Latin, Greek, “action, theater plays,” from Greek “to do”] drama-tic /ˈdraːmætɪk/ adj. 1 sudden and surprising: His work has shown dramatic improve-ment. | a dramatic change in temperature | The changes were small, but their effect was dramatic. 2 exciting and impressive: a dramatic speech ‘drastic adj. (stated for emphasis) 1 related to the theater or plays: Miller’s dramatic works 4 showing your feelings in a way that makes other people notice you: Don’t be so dramatic. | Rosa raised her hands in a dramatic gesture of despair. —dramatically adv.: Output has increased dramatically.
drama·tize /ˈdrɑːməˌtaɪz/ v. [plural] behavior that is intended to get attention and is not sincere: I’m really tired of your dramatics.
dram·a·tist /ˈdraməˌtɪst, ˈdra-ət-ɪst/ n. [C] someone who writes plays, especially serious ones: plays by contemporary dramatists dram-a·tize /ˈdra-məˌtaɪz, ˈdrə-ət-ɪz/ v. [T] 1 to make a book or event into a play, movie, television program, etc.: a novel dramatized for TV 2 to make an event seem more exciting than it really is: Do you always have to dramatize everything? —dramatization /ˈdræməˌtaɪzaʃən/ n. [C,U] dram·a·turg /ˈdræməˌtɜrɡ, ˈdra-ət-ɜrɡ/ n. [C] ENG. LANGUAGE ARTS someone who works for a theater and helps theater directors and playwrights, for example by developing new plays, employing actors, and doing research drank /dræŋk/ v. the past tense of drink drape /dræp/ v. [T] to put cloth, clothing, etc., loosely over or around something: Mina’s scarf was draped over her shoulders.
drap·er·y /ˈdræpərɪ/ n. (plural draperies) [C,U] cloth or clothing that is arranged in folds or something draped drapes /ˈdræpɪz/ n. [plural] heavy curtains dra·sic /ˈdraɪstɪk/ adj. extreme and sudden: Don’t make any drastic changes just yet. —drastically adv.

draw1 /drɔː/ v. (past tense drew, past participle drawn) 1 PICTURE [T] to make a picture of something with a pencil or a pen: Could you draw me a map? 2 to make a picture of a tree:

sketch – to draw something quickly and without a lot of detail: He sketched a rough street plan of Moscow.
doodle – to draw shapes or patterns without really thinking about what you are doing: He was doodling on a sheet of paper.
scribble – to draw or write something quickly in a messy way: She scribbled her name and phone number on the back of the card.
trace – to copy a picture by putting a piece of thin paper over it and drawing the lines that you can see through the paper: The kids were tracing designs on the paper.

2 draw (sb’s) attention to sth to make someone notice something: I’d like to draw your attention to the six exit doors in the plane.
3 draw a conclusion to decide that something is true based on facts that you have: Other people might easily draw a different conclusion.
4 draw a distinction/comparison etc. to make someone understand that two things are different from or similar to each other: It’s important to draw a distinction between business and non-business expenses.

PULL SB/STH [T] to move someone or something by pulling him, her, or it gently: Grant drew me aside to tell me the news.

MOVE [I] to move in a particular direction: She drew away, but he pulled her close again. 2 A police car drew up behind me.

ATTRACT/INTEREST [T] to attract or interest someone: The movie drew large crowds on the first day. 2 What first drew you to him?

GET A REACTION [T] to get a particular kind of reaction from someone: His remarks drew an angry response from Democrats. 2 Her idea drew praise/criticism from the others.

PLAYING CARD/TICKET [I,T] to choose a card, ticket, etc. by chance: The winning lottery numbers will be drawn on Saturday.

PULL THE LINE (at sth) to refuse to do something because you do not approve of it, although you are willing to do other things: I don’t mind helping you, but I draw the line at telling lies.

1 draw a blank (informal) to be unable to think or remember something: I drew a blank when I tried to remember the number.

draw a gun/knife/sword etc. to take a weapon from its container or from your pocket: He had drawn a knife and was pointing it at me.
draw the curtains to open or close the curtains draw to a close/an end (formal) to gradually stop or finish: Our vacation in Acapulco was drawing to a close.

draw comfort/strength etc. (from sb/sth) to get something such as comfort or strength from someone or something: I drew a lot of comfort from her kind words.

draw blood a) to take blood from someone at a hospital b) to make someone bleed: The dog bit her so hard that it drew blood.
draw near/close (literary) to move closer in time or space: Summer vacation is drawing near.

PULL A VEHICLE [T] to pull a vehicle using an animal: a carriage drawn by six horses [ORIGIN: Old English drugan] 1 draw back phr. v. to move back from something: The crowd drew back to let the police by.
draw sb into sth phr. v. to make someone become involved in something when s/he does not want to be: Keith refused to be drawn into our argument.
draw on sth phr. v. to use your money, experiences, etc. to help you do something: A good writer draws on his or her own experience.
draw out phr. v.

1 draw sb ↔ out to make someone feel less nervous and more willing to talk: She just needed someone to draw her out and take an interest in her.
2 draw sth ↔ out to make an event last longer than usual draw sth ↔ up phr. v. to prepare a written document: We drew up some guidelines for the new committee.

draw /drɔː/ v. [C] 1 an occasion when someone or something is chosen by chance, especially the winning ticket in a LOTTERY. 2 something or someone that a lot of people are willing to pay to see: The Lakers are always a big draw. 3 a game that ends with both teams or players having the same number of points (tie) draw-back /drɔːbæk/ n. [C] something that might be a problem or disadvantage: The main drawback to the job is that the hours wouldn’t be regular.

draw·bridge /drɔːbrɪdʒ/ n. [C] a bridge that can be pulled up to let ships go under it drawer /drɔːr/ n. [C] a part of a piece of furniture that slides in and out and is used for keeping things in: The pens are in the bottom/top drawer of my desk. | Put it in the desk drawer.

draw-ing /drɔːŋ/ n. 1 [C] a picture you make with a pen or pencil: She showed us a drawing of the house.

draw·string /drɔːstrɪŋ/ n. [C] a string through the top of a bag, piece of clothing, etc. that you can pull tight or make loose dread1 /drɛd/ v. [T] to feel very worried about something that is going to happen or may happen: I’ve got an interview tomorrow and I’m dreading it.

dread2 n. [singular, U] a strong fear of something that is going to happen or may happen: The thought filled me with dread.

dread-ful /drɛdˈfʊl/ adj. very bad: a dreadful movie —dreadfully adv.

dread-locks /dredˈlɒks/ n. [plural] a way of arranging your hair in which it hangs in lots of thick pieces that look like rope

dream1 /drɛm/ n. [C] 1 a series of thoughts, images, and experiences that come into your mind when you are asleep: I had a funny dream last night. | a bad dream (=a frightening or unpleasant dream) 2 something that you hope will happen: Her dream was to become an opera singer. 3 beyond your wildest dreams better than anything you imagined or hoped for 4 a dream come true something that you have wanted to happen for a long time: Owning this boat is a dream come true. [ORIGIN: Old English dream “noise, great happiness”]

dream2 v. (past tense and past participle dreamed or dreamt (drémt)) 1 [I,T] to have a dream while you are asleep: I often dream that I’m falling. 2 [I,T] to think about something that you would like to happen: She dreamed of becoming a pilot. | He never dreamed that he would make it to the finals (=never thought that it would happen). | I’ve been dreaming about this moment all my life. 3 sb wouldn’t dream of (doing) sth (spoken) used in order to say that you would never do something: I wouldn’t dream of letting you walk home alone. 4 dream on (spoken) said when you think that what someone is hoping for will not happen: You really believe we’ll win? Dream on!

dreamsth ↔ up sb v. to think of a plan or idea, especially an unusual one: Who dreams up these TV commercials?

drea-my /ˈdrɛmi/ adj. dream car/house/team etc. the best car, house, etc. that you can imagine: A Porsche is my dream car.

dream-er /ˈdrɛmər/ n. [C] someone who has plans that are not practical dream-y /ˈdrɛmi/ adj. 1 looking like you are thinking about something that is pleasant: a dreamy smile 2 someone who is dreamy has a good imagination but is not very practical 3 pleasant, peaceful, and relaxing: dreamy music — dreamily adj.

dreamy /‘drɛmi/ adj. dull and uninteresting: a wet and dreamy afternoon — dreamily adv.
dreamlessness n. [U] drege /‘dɾɛɡ/ v. [T] to remove mud or sand from the bottom of a river, or to search the bottom of a river or lake for something drege sth. up v. (informal) to start talking about something bad or unpleasant that happened a long time ago: Why do the papers have to dredge up that old story?
drege /‘dɾɛɡ/ n. [plural] small solid pieces in a liquid such as wine or coffee that sink to the bottom of the cup, bottle, etc.
drege /‘dɾɛɡ/ v. [T] to make something completely wet: I forgot my umbrella and got drenched.
dress /‘dɾɛs/ v. 1 [T] to put clothes on someone or yourself: Can you dress the kids while I make breakfast? | Hurry up and get dressed! 2 be dressed to be wearing clothes: Are you dressed yet? | She was dressed in a simple black dress. 3 [I] to wear a particular type of clothes: Dress warmly—it’s cold out. | You can dress casually at our office. 4 dress a wound/cut etc. to clean and cover a wound in order to protect it dress down v. to wear clothes that are less formal than the ones you usually wear dress up v. to wear clothes that are more formal than the ones you usually wear dress shirt/dress shoes n. a piece of clothing worn by a woman or girl, that covers the top of her body and wears for a particular situation dresser /‘dɾɛsər/ n. 1 [C] a piece of furniture with drawers for storing clothes, sometimes with a mirror on top dressing /‘dɾɛsɪŋ/ n. 1 [C,U] a mixture of oil and other things that you pour over salad: salad dressing 2 [C,U] STUFFING 3 [C] a special piece of material used for covering and protecting a wound: a clean dressing for the cut dressing room n. [C] 1 a room or area in a store, where you can try on clothes 2 a room where an actor, performer, etc. gets ready before going on stage, appearing on television, etc.
dress rehearsal n. [C] the last time actors practice a play, using all the clothes, objects, etc. that will be used in the real performance dress-y /‘dɾɛs/ adj. dressy clothes are appropriate for formal occasions drew /‘drɔ/ v. the past tense of draw dribble /‘drɪbəl/ n. 1 [T] to flow slowly in irregular drops, or to make a liquid flow in this way: Blood was dripping from his cut lip. 2 [I] to move forward with a ball by bouncing or kicking it again and again — dribble v.

[Image 387x143 to 468x263]
drink / drík/ n. 1 [C] liquid that you can drink, or an amount of liquid that you drink: Here, have a drink of water. 2 [C] an alcoholic drink: How about a drink later? [Origin: Old English drincan] drink / drík/ v. (past tense drank / dræŋk/, past participle drunk / dræŋkt/) 1 [T] to pour a liquid into your mouth and swallow it: Let me get you something to drink. Charlie drinks way too much coffee.

drink up n. 2 [I] to drink alcohol, especially too much or too often: I don't drink. | His father began drinking heavily (=a lot).

drink to sb/sth ↔ in phr. v. to listen, look at, feel, or smell something in order to enjoy it: We spent the day drinking in the sights and sounds of Paris.

drink to sb/sth ↔ in phr. v. to wish someone success, good health, etc. before having an alcoholic drink: Let's all drink to their happiness!

drink ↔ up phr. v. to drink all of something: Drink up your milk. Come on, drink up!

drinker / dríkər/ n. [C] someone who often drinks alcohol: Greg's a heavy drinker (=he drinks a lot).
drive sth ↔ up phr. v. to make prices, costs, etc. increase drive

v. 1 [C] a trip in a car: Let’s go for a drive. 2 [C] a strong natural need or desire: As men get older, their sex drive gradually declines. 3 [C] a planned effort by an organization to achieve a particular result: the senator’s reelection drive. 4 [C] if a piece of equipment in a computer that is used to get information from a disk or to store information on it: the C drive. 5 [C] an act of hissing a ball hard: a line drive to right field. 6 [U] a determination to succeed: a drive of determination.

drive-by adj. drive-by shooting/killing the act of shooting someone from a moving car drive-in n. 1 [C] a place where you can watch movies outdoors while sitting in your car drive-in adj. drive-in restaurant/movie a restaurant, theater, etc. where you stay in your car to eat, watch the movie, etc.

driver n. [U] something written or said that is silly or does not mean anything

driv en v. the past participle of drive driver n. 1 someone who drives: a truck/cab/bus driver. 2 if a piece of software that makes a computer work with another piece of equipment such as a printer or a mouse.

driver’s license n. [C] an official card with your name, picture, etc. on it that says you are legally allowed to drive drive-through adj. a drive-through restaurant, bank, etc. can be used without getting out of your car drive-way n. [C] the road or area for cars between a house and the street: Park your car in the driveway.

drizzle v. 1 it drizzles if it drizzles, mist and light rain come out of the sky: It started to drizzle. 2 [T] to pour a liquid over food in small drops or a thin stream

droll adj. (old-fashioned) unusual and slightly funny

drone v. [I] to make a continuous low noise: An airplane droned overhead.

drone n. 1 [singular] a continuous low noise: the drone of the lawnmower. 2 [C] an aircraft that does not have a pilot, but is operated by radio drive-through restaurant/movie n. a place where you can watch movies outdoors while sitting in your car drizzle n. [U] to hang or bend down: Her shoulders drooped with tiredness.

drop v. (dropped, dropping)

1 LET GO [I] to stop holding or carrying something, so that it falls: One of the waiters tripped and dropped a tray full of food. 2 With this technology, planes are able to drop bombs accurately. see picture on page 49

2 FALL [I] to fall: The bottle rolled off the table and dropped onto the floor. He dropped into his chair with a sigh.

3 TAKE IN A CAR [T] also drop off to take someone or something to a place in a car, when you are going on to somewhere else: I’ll drop you at the corner, okay? She drops the kids off at school on her way to work.

4 DECREASE [I] to decrease to a lower level or amount, or to make something decrease: Crime on the buses has dropped 25%. The store has dropped its prices.

5 STOP DOING STH [T] to stop doing something or stop planning to do something: The charges against him have been dropped. He expects me to just drop everything (=stop everything I am doing) and go with him. I wasn’t doing very well, so I dropped French (=stopped studying French). Drop it (=stop talking about it). Ted, it’s just a rumor.

6 STOP INCLUDING [I] to decide not to include someone or something: Morris has been dropped from the team.

7 STOP A RELATIONSHIP [T] to stop having a relationship with someone, especially suddenly: She found out he was seeing someone else, so she dropped him.

8 drop dead a) to die suddenly b) (spoken) used when you are very angry with someone

9 drop the ball to stop doing something, when people expected you to continue doing it

10 work/run etc. until you drop (informal) to do something until you are extremely tired

11 drop sb on a line (informal) to write to someone: Drop us a line sometime. [Origin: Old English droppian]

drop by also drop in phr. v. to visit someone when you have not arranged to come at a particular time: Doris and Ed dropped by on Saturday.

drop off phr. v.

1 to begin to sleep: The baby dropped off to sleep in the car.

2 to become less in level or amount: The demand for leaded fuel dropped off in the late 1970s.
drop out /draʊt/ v. [PHR. V.] to stop going to school or stop an activity before you have finished it: teenagers dropping out of high school | The injury forced him to drop out of the race.

drop /drɒp/ n. 1 [C] a very small amount of liquid that falls in a round shape: big drops of rain | a tear drop 2 [C] a small amount of a liquid: Add a couple of drops of lemon juice. 3 [singular] a distance from something down to the ground: It’s a twenty-five foot drop from this cliff. 4 [singular] a decrease in the amount, level, or number of something that is too small to have any effect: 7 at the drop of a hat immediately: He could fall asleep at the drop of a hat.

drop-down menu /draʊp-dʌn/ n. [C] it a list that appears on a computer screen, that shows you what you can one of the choices to send an instruction to the computer.

drop out /dros/ v. [PHR. V.] a person who leaves school or college without finishing it.

drop palp /dros/ n. [C] a short glass tube with a hollow rubber part at one end, used for measuring liquid in drops.

drop-pings /'drɒpɪŋz/ n. [plural] solid waste from animals or birds.

drought /draʊt/ n. [C] a long period of dry weather when there is not enough water: a severe drought.

drove /druv/ v. the past tense of drive.

drove /drʌv/ n. [C] a large group of animals or people that move or are moved together: Tourists came in droves to see the White House.

drowned /draʊnd/ v. 1 [T] to die from being under water too long, or to kill someone in this way: Many people drowned when the boat overturned. | Five people drowned in the flood. | She drowned herself in the river. 2 [T] also drown out if a loud noise drowns out another sound, it prevents it from being heard: The president’s words were drowned out by cheers. 3 [T] to completely cover something with liquid: Dad always drowns his pancakes in/wi map syrup. 4 drown your sorrors to drink a lot of alcohol in order to forget your problems.

drowned-out /'draʊndəʊt/ n. [CU] death caused by staying under water for too long.

drowsy /drɔːzi/ adj. tired and almost asleep. sleepy: The medicine can make you drowsy. —drowsiness n. [U] drug /drʌg/ n. [C] someone who does difficult boring work —drug v. [I] drug-er-y /'drʌgəri/ n. [U] difficult boring work.

drug /drʌg/ n. [C] 1 an illegal substance that people smoke, INJECT, etc. for pleasure: Bill was accused of taking/using drugs. 2 on drugs (=be using drugs) 2 a medicine or a substance for making medicines: a drug used for depression. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French drogue].

drug /drʌg/ n. [C] 1 a medical instrument made of skin stretched over a circular frame, which you use to hit a drum, especially part of a machine 3 a large round container for storing liquids such as oil, chemicals, etc.

drug /'drʌg/ n. [C] a long period of dry weather does not have much rain or 2 a small drop of liquid.

drug store /'druːstɔːr/ n. [C] a store where you can buy medicines, beauty products, etc.

drops of liquid in drops.

dry /druː/ adj. 1 having no water or other liquid inside or on the surface: dry clothes. | Store in a cool, dry place. | Is the paint dry yet? 2 dry weather does not have much rain or dry /dri/ v. (dried, dries) [T] to become dry, or to make something dry: It’ll only take me a few minutes to dry my hair. | Mae hung the washing out to dry. dry [sth] off phr. v. to become dry, or to make the surface of something dry: We swam, then dried off in the sun. | She began to dry herself off. dry [sth] out phr. v. to dry completely, or to dry something completely: Keep the dough covered so that it doesn’t dry out. dry up phr. v. 1 dry [sth] up a river, lake, or area of land that dries up has no more water in it: Water holes and wells have dried up across the state. 2 if a supply of something dries up, there is no more of it: Companies get rid of employees when the work dries up. dry clean v. [T] to clean clothes with chemicals instead of water.

dry · clean · ers n. [C] a place where you take clothes to be dry cleaned.
dry · er /'dri:R/ n. [C] a machine that dries things, especially clothes or hair.
dry · lco n. [U] CARBON DIOXIDE in a solid state, often used for keeping food and other things cold.
dry·ly /'dri:li/ adv. speaking in a serious way, although you are actually joking.
dry·run n. [C] an occasion when you practice for an important event.
dry·wall n. [U] a type of board made of two large sheets of CARDBOARD with PLASTER between them, used to cover walls and ceilings —dry·wall v. [U,T]

due /due/ adj. two of something, or two parts: My wife has dual nationality citizenship —American and Brazilian.
dub /dub/ v. (dubbed, dubbing) [T] 1 to give someone or something a name that describes him, her, or it in some way: The area was dubbed "Tornado Alley" because of its strong winds. 2 to replace the original spoken language of a film, television show, etc. with a recording of a different language: an Italian movie that’s been dubbed into English.

du·bi·ous /'dubia:s/ adj. 1 not sure whether something is good, true, etc.: Employees are dubious about the proposed changes. 2 not seeming honest, safe, valuable, etc.: an idea based on dubious research | He had the dubious distinction of coming second in the spelling bee three years in a row.
duch·ess /'dAmfəs/ n. [C] a woman with the highest social rank below a princess, or the wife of a duke.
duck /dæk/ n. 1 [C] a common water bird with short legs and a wide beak, that is used for its meat, eggs, and soft feathers. 2 [L] the meat from this bird: roast duck [Origin: Old English dæc] duck·ling /'dʌklıŋ/ n. [C] a young duck.
duct /dʌkt/ n. 1 [C] a pipe or tube in a building, that liquid, air, ELECTRIC CABLES, etc. go through. 2 biology a thin narrow tube inside your body, a plant, etc., that liquid, air, etc. goes through: a tear duct.
dud /dud/ n. (informal) 1 [C] something that does not work or is useless: This battery’s a dud. 2 duds [plural] (humerous) clothes —dud adj.
dude /dud/ n. [C] (informal) a man: Hey, dudes, how’s it going?
dude · ranch /dud/ adj. a vacation place where you can ride horses and live like a COWBOY.
due /due/ adj. 1 to be expected to happen or arrive at a particular time: The flight from Chicago is due in March. | What’s the baby’s due date (=the day it is expected to be born)? | My library books are due back tomorrow. | The book is due out in the spring. | The new museum is due to open next year. | I feel I’m due for a raise. 2 due to because of: The program was canceled, due to lack of funds. | She was absent due to illness. 3 needing to be paid: The first installment of $250 is due. 4 deserved by someone or owed to someone: He never got the recognition he was due. 5 Much of the credit is due to our backup team. 6 in due course/time at a more appropriate time in the future: The committee will answer your complaints in due course. 6 with (all) due respect (spoken) used when you disagree with someone or criticize him/her in a polite way.
due adj. due north/south/east/west directly or exactly north, etc.
due n. 1 dues [plural] the money that you pay to be a member of an organization: union dues. 2 give sb his/her due to admit that someone has good qualities, even though you are criticizing him/her: To give him his due, he tries very hard.
duel /'dual/ n. 1 a situation in which two Dumbbell /ˈdʌmbbɛl/ n. [C] two weights connected by a short piece of metal, that you lift for exercise.

Dum·my /ˈdʌmi/ n. (plural dummies) [C] 1 (informal) someone who is stupid. 2 a figure made to look like a person.

Dum·my rifle /ˈdʌmi/ n. (informal) a dummy rifle, weapon, etc. looks like a real one but does not work.

Dump /ˈdʌmp/ v. (T) 1 to drop or put something somewhere in a careless way, sometimes in order to get rid of it. Illegal chemicals have been dumped in the river. 2 [informal] to suddenly end a relationship: Tammy dumped her boyfriend.

Dump·out /ˈdʌmpaʊt/ n. [C] a low shelter at the side of a baseball field, where players and team officials sit.

Dum·ple /ˈdʌmpəl/ v. to make something become less sharp, less clear, etc.: a dump truck.

Dunce /ˈdʌns/ n. [C] (informal) someone who is slow at learning things.

Dune /ˈdʌn/ n. [C] EARTH SCIENCES a hill made of sand near the ocean or in the desert.
dung /dʌŋ/ n [U] solid waste from animals, especially from large animals dun-geon /dʌnʒiˈən/ n [C] a prison under the ground, used in past times [Origins: 1300—1400 Old French donjon “central part of a castle,” from Latin dominus “lord”] dunk /dʌŋk/ v [T] 1 to quickly put something that you are eating into coffee, milk, etc., and take it out again 2 to push someone under water for a short time as a joke 3 to jump up toward the basket in a game of basketball and throw the ball down into it —dunk n [C] dun-no /dəˈnʊ/ I dunno a way of writing “I do not know;” used to show how people sound when they speak du-o /duˈoʊ/ n. (plural duos) [C] two people who do something together, especially play music or sing du-ode-num /duˈoʊdənəm, duˈoʊdn-ən/ n [C] BIOLOGY the beginning part of your SMALL INTESTINE dupe /djuːp/ v [T] to trick or deceive someone: People were duped into buying worthless insurance. —dupe n [C] du-plex /duˈpledɛks/ n. [C] a type of house that is divided so that it has two separate homes in it ➔ HOUSE du-pli-cate1 /ˌduːplɪˈkeɪt/ n. [C] an exact copy of something that you can use in the same way: a duplicate of the front door key [Origins: 1400—1500 Latin duplicatus, past participle of duplicare “to double”] —duplicate adj: a duplicate key du-pli-cate2 /ˈduːpləkeɪt/ v. [T] 1 to copy something exactly: Duplicate the letter, just changing the addresses. —duPLICATE /ˈduːplɪkeɪt/ n. [U] 2 to have a situation in which something is done twice, in a way that is not necessary: To avoid duplicating each other’s work, each person should have a specific job to do. —duplication /ˈduːplɪkeɪʃən/ n [U] du-plic-i-ty /ˌduːpəˈlɪsəti/ n. [U] (formal) dishonest behavior that is intended to deceive someone dur-a-ble /ˈdʊərəbəl/ adj 1 staying in good condition for a long time: durable materials 2 (formal) continuing for a long time: a durable peace —durability /ˈdʊərəbɪləti/ n [U] du-ra-tion /duˈreɪʃən/ n. [C,U] (formal) the length of time that something continues: Food was rationed for the duration of the war.
duress /ˈduːres/ n (formal) under duress as a result of using illegal or unfair threats: Her confession was made under duress.
dur-ing /ˈdʊərɪŋ/ prep. 1 all through a particular period of time: These animals sleep during the day, and at night they hunt.
during /ˈdʊərɪŋ/ adj 2 at some point in a period of time: Henry died during the night. [Origins: 1300—1400 dure “to continue in existence” (13—19 centuries), from Old French durer, from Latin durare] dust /dʌst/ n. [U] 1 [T] to clean the dust from something: I just dusted the living room. | He got to his feet and dusted himself off. ➔ DUST dutch1 /dʌtʃ/ adj 1 relating to or coming from the Netherlands 2 relating to the Dutch language Dutch2 n. 1 [U] the language used in the Netherlands 2 the Dutch [plural] the people of the Netherlands du-ti-ful /ˈdʊtɪfl/ adj doing what you are expected to do and behaving in a loyal way: a dutiful son —dutifully adv

du-ty /ˈdʊti/ n. (plural duties) 1 [C,U] something that you have to do because it is morally or legally right: It is our duty to speak out against injustice. | Parents have a duty to protect their children. | jury duty 2 [C,U] something that you have to do because it is part of your job: Soldiers are expected to do their duty. | Please report for duty tomorrow morning. | his duties at the airport 3 be on/off duty to be working or not working at a particular time: Which nurse was on duty last night?
duty-free tax you pay on something, especially on goods you bought in another country duty-free adj. duty-free goods can be brought into a country without paying tax on them —duty-free adv.

DVD n. [C] digital versatile disc or digital video disc a type of CD that can store large amounts of sound, video, and information ➔ see picture on page A6 dwarf n. [C] 1 an imaginary creature that looks like a small man: Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs 2 a person, animal, or plant that does not grow to the normal height dwarf adj. 1 very small:
2 Seven Dwarfs that looks like a small man:
3 fewer or smaller:

fating discs
Fast forward a DVD — to stop the DVD for a short time get/rent a DVD
pauses a DVD — to stop the DVD for a short time

Get/rent a DVD ➔ to stop the DVD for a short time

THE SAURUS

The Dynamic Pressure of the Fluid is Caused by Its Motion. [Origin: 1800—1900 French dynamique, from Greek dynamikos "powerful"] dynamic adj. 1 interesting, exciting, and full of energy and determination to succeed: She is a dynamic young woman with a lot of ambition

Dynamic pressure of the fluid is caused by its motion. [Origin: 1800—1900 French dynamique, from Greek dynamikos "powerful"]

THE SAURUS

ENERGETIC

2 continuously moving or changing: a dynamic process 3 PHYSICS relating to a force or power that causes movement: The dynamic pressure of the fluid is caused by its motion. [Origin: 1800—1900 French dynamique, from Greek dynamikos "powerful"] dynamise v. [T] to give something a different color using a dye: Brian dyed his hair green.
dynamite n. [C] a powerful explosive dynamite adj. 1 interesting, exciting, and full of energy and determination to succeed: She is a dynamic young woman with a lot of ambition dynamic adj. 1 interesting, exciting, and full of energy and determination to succeed: She is a dynamic young woman with a lot of ambition
dynamic adj. 1 interesting, exciting, and full of energy and determination to succeed: She is a dynamic young woman with a lot of ambition dyed adj. [C,U] a substance you use to change the color of your hair, clothes, etc.

dye v. [I] to give something a different color using a dye: Brian dyed his hair green.
dyed adj. 1 interesting, exciting, and full of energy and determination to succeed: She is a dynamic young woman with a lot of ambition
dyed adj. 1 interesting, exciting, and full of energy and determination to succeed: She is a dynamic young woman with a lot of ambition
dye v. [I] to give something a different color using a dye: Brian dyed his hair green.
Each, every, and all are used to talk about every person or thing in a group. If you are considering them separately, use each with a plural noun: You answered all the questions correctly. When you are considering them together, use all with a singular noun: You are very busy with something; I’m up to my ears in work.

ear-drum /ɪərdrʌm/ n. [C] a tight thin membrane (like skin) over the inside of your ear that allows you to hear sound.

ear-lobe /ɪˈrləʊb/ n. [C] the soft piece of flesh at the bottom of your ear.

ear-mark /ɪərmɑːk/ v [T] to decide that something will be used for a particular purpose: Funds that are earmarked for highway repairs.

ear-muffs /ɪərmʌfs/ n. [plural] two pieces of material attached to the ends of a band, that you wear to keep your ears warm.

earn /ɜːrn/ v [T] 1 to get money for the work you do: Alan earns $40,000 a year. 2 I’d like to earn some extra money. 3 She earns a living (= she gets the money for the things she needs) as a teacher.
earnest

2 to make a profit from business, or from putting money in a bank, lending it, etc.: The movie earned $7 million during the opening weekend. | I earned $5,000 from my investments last year. | He earned a degree in history at Columbia.

earnest adj serious and sincere —earnestly adv —earnestness n [U]

earnest n 1 in earnest happening more seriously or with greater effort than before: Training begins in earnest on Monday. 2 be in earnest to be serious about what you are saying: Are you sure he was in earnest?

earnings n [plural] 1 the money that you earn by working earnings

earphones n [plural] electrical equipment that you put over or into your ears to listen to a radio, CD player, etc.

earplug n [C usually plural] a small piece of rubber that you put into your ear to keep out noise or water earring n [C usually plural] a piece of jewelry that you fasten to your ear → see picture at jewelry earshot n within earshot/out of earshot near enough or not near enough to hear what someone is saying ear-splitting adj very loud: an ear-splitting scream ear-splitting

earth n 1 also (the) Earth SCIENCES the planet that we live on, which is third from the Sun: The Earth moves around the Sun. | the return to Earth after landing on the moon | Oil is found below the Earth’s surface. | the most beautiful woman on earth → see picture at Solar System earth

earthly adj relating to life on Earth rather than in heaven: all my earthly possessions earthly earthquake n [C] SCIENCES a sudden shaking of the Earth’s surface that often causes a lot of damage earthquake

earth-scientific adj relating to the study of Earth: an earth-scientific expedition earth-scientific

earth-shaking adj surprising or shocking and very important earth-shaking

earthy adj 1 talking about life, sex, and the human body in an honest and direct way: an earthy conversation

earthy
ease /iːz/ n. 1 with ease if you do something with ease, it is very easy for you to do it: They won with ease. 2 at ease a) feeling comfortable and confident: She tried to make the new students feel at ease. b) (spoken) used in order to tell soldiers to stand in a relaxed way with their feet apart (not relaxed) in a suit. Miguel’s smile put her at ease.

easy /ˈeɪz/ adj. 1 in, to, or facing east: 12 miles east of Portland 2 east wind a wind coming from the east.

east·er·n·ist /ˈestərnist/ n. 1 in or from the eastern part of a country, state, etc.: eastern Oregon 2 Eastern in or from the countries in Asia, especially China, Japan, and Korea: Eastern religions. 3 in or from the eastern part of Europe; especially those that used to have Communist governments.

Usage

Use in the north/south/east/west of sth in order to say which part of a place you are talking about: The mountains are in the west of the country.

Use northern, southern, eastern, western, with the name of a place: She grew up in northern Ontario.

Don’t say “in the north of Ontario.”

east·en·te·ri·ty /ˈeistəntərəti/ n. the eastern part of a country, state, etc.: the eastern part of Europe, including places such as Poland and part of Russia —Eastern European adj.

east·mari·nate /ˈeistərmənət/ v. to marinate in or toward the east:

east·ward /ˈeistwɔːrd/ adv. toward east: the easternmost part of the island.

easy /ˈeɪzi/ adj. 1 not difficult: Making brownies is easy. I want a book that’s easy to read. | There must be an easier way to do this. | The programs are easy for teachers to use in the classroom. | Having some more people to help will definitely make things a lot easier.
easy

easy a) 1 take it easy  a) to relax and not do very much: The doctor told him to take it easy when he got home. b) (spoken) used in order to tell someone to become less upset or angry 2 go easy on/s with sth (informal) not to use too much of something: Go easy on the salt; it’s not good for you. 3 go easy on sb (informal) to be more gentle and less strict or angry with someone: Go easy on Peter—he’s having a hard time at school. 4 rest/sleep easy to be able to relax because you are not worried or anxious: I won’t rest easy until I know she’s safe. 5 easier said than done (spoken) used when it would be difficult to actually do what someone has suggested: I should just tell her to go away, but that’s easier said than done. 6 easy does it (spoken) used in order to tell someone to be careful, especially when she is moving something easy chair n [C] a large comfortable chair easy-going iz’geun’g  adj not easily worried or annoyed: Phil’s pretty easygoing.

easy 'listening n [U] music that is relaxing to listen to

eat /it/ v [past tense ate /et/; past participle eaten /it’n/] 1 [I,T] to put food in your mouth and swallow it: Paula ate a sandwich. | Jimmy chatted happily as he ate. | Do you and Kevin want something to eat? | Tom sat at the table, eating breakfast/lunch/dinner. | You need to exercise, eat right (eat healthy food), and get plenty of rest. | I haven’t had a bite to eat (some food) all day! 2 [I] to have a meal: What time do we eat? | We can’t afford to eat at restaurants very often. 3 eat your words (informal) to admit that what you said was wrong. 4 [I] also eat up (spoken) to use all of something until it is gone: That car of mine just eats up money. [Origin: Old English etan]
eat sth ↔ away, eat away at sth phe v to gradually remove, reduce, or destroy something: Rust had eaten away at the metal frame.
eat into sth phe v 1 to gradually reduce the amount of time, money, etc. that is available: Unexpected car expenses are really eating into our savings. 2 to damage or destroy something: Acid has eaten into the surface of the metal.
eat out phe v to eat in a restaurant: Do you eat out a lot? 3 [sthe ↔ up phe v (spoken) to eat all of something: Come on, Kaylee, eat up! | I told her to eat up her breakfast.
eat-er /’etər/ n. big/light/fussy etc. eater someone who eats a lot, not much, only particular things, etc.

easy listening n [U] music that is relaxing to listen to

eat /it/ v [past tense ate /et/; past participle eaten /it’n/] 1 [I,T] to put food in your mouth and swallow it: Paula ate a sandwich. | Jimmy chatted happily as he ate. | Do you and Kevin want something to eat? | Tom sat at the table, eating breakfast/lunch/dinner. | You need to exercise, eat right (eat healthy food), and get plenty of rest. | I haven’t had a bite to eat (some food) all day! 2 [I] to have a meal: What time do we eat? | We can’t afford to eat at restaurants very often. 3 eat your words (informal) to admit that what you said was wrong. 4 [I] also eat up (spoken) to use all of something until it is gone: That car of mine just eats up money. [Origin: Old English etan]
eat sth ↔ away, eat away at sth phe v to gradually remove, reduce, or destroy something: Rust had eaten away at the metal frame.
eat into sth phe v 1 to gradually reduce the amount of time, money, etc. that is available: Unexpected car expenses are really eating into our savings. 2 to damage or destroy something: Acid has eaten into the surface of the metal.
eat out phe v to eat in a restaurant: Do you eat out a lot? 3 [sthe ↔ up phe v (spoken) to eat all of something: Come on, Kaylee, eat up! | I told her to eat up her breakfast.
eat-er /’etər/ n. big/light/fussy etc. eater someone who eats a lot, not much, only particular things, etc.

eaves /ivz/ [plural] the edges of a roof that stick out beyond the walls eaves-drop /’ivzdrep/ v. (eavesdropped, eavesdropping) [I] to listen secretly to other people’s conversations: OVERHEAR Her sister had been eavesdropping on our conversations. [Origin: 1600—1700 eavesdropper] “someone who stands close to a wall, where rainwater drops from the eaves, in order to listen secretly” —eavesdropper n. [C] ebb /eb/ n. 1 ebb and flow a situation or state in which something decreases and increases in a type of pattern: the ebb and flow of his popularity 2 be at a low ebb to be in a bad state or condition: By March 1933, the economy was at its lowest ebb. 3 [singular, U] EARTH SCIENCES an ebb tide → FLOOD ebb /eb/ v. [I] 1 abo ebb away (literary) to gradually decrease: His courage slowly ebbed away. 2 EARTH SCIENCES if the tide ebbs, it flows away from the shore ebb tide n. [C] EARTH SCIENCES the flow of the ocean away from the shore, when the tide goes out → FLOOD TIDE eb-o-ny /’ebənii/ n. 1 [CU] a tree with dark hard wood, or the wood itself 2 [U] (literary) a black color —ebony adj.

e·bul·li·ent /ɪˈbʌləˌlɛnt, ɪˈbʌl-l-/ adj. (formal) very happy and excited: an ebullient live performance —e·bul·li·en·cy n. [U] e·bus·i·ness /ɪˈbaʊznɪs/ n. [U] ➔ e·com·mer·ce eccen·tric1 /ɪˈsɛntrɪk/ adj. behaving in a way that is unusual and different from most people: an eccentric professor [origin: 1500—1600 Latin eccentricus, from Greek ekkentros “out of the center”] —eccen·tric·i·ty n. [C] eccen·tric2 n [C] someone who behaves in a way that is different from what is usual or socially accepted e·cle·si·as·ti·cal /ɪˈkliːzəˈstɪkəl/ adj. relating to the Christian church ech·e·lon /ɛtʃ′loʊn/ n. [C] a rank or level of authority in an organization, business, etc., or the people at that level ech·e·lone·r /ɛtʃ′loʊnər/ n. (plural echelons) [C] 1 a sound that you hear again because it was made near something such as a wall or a hill: voices echoing around the cave 2 if a place echoes, it is full of sound: The theater echoed with laughter. 3 [T] to repeat what someone else has said, an idea, or an opinion: This man’s words echo the feelings of soldiers throughout history.
ech·o /ɛtʃ′oʊ/ n. (plural echoes) [C] 1 a sound that you hear again because it was made near something such as a wall or a hill 2 something that is very similar to something that has happened or been said before: The play has echoes of Chekhov.
e·cle·tic /ɪˈkletɪk/ adj. including a mixture of many different things or people e·cli·pse1 /ɪˈklaɪps/ n. [C] physics an occasion when you cannot see the Sun because the Moon is between the Sun and the Earth, or when you cannot see the Moon because it is covered by the Earth’s shadow: an eclipse of the Moon [origin: 1200—1300 Old French, Greek ekklipsis, from ekkleīpōn “to leave out, fail”] eclipse2 v. [T] 1 to become more powerful, famous, important, etc. than someone or something else, so that he, she, or it is no longer noticed: The state of the economy has eclipsed every other issue in this election year. 2 physics to make the sun or moon disappear in an eclipse ec·o·log·i·cal /ɪˈkəʊlɒdʒɪkəl, ˌɛk-/- adj. 1 earth sciences relating to the way that plants, animals, and people are connected to each other and to their environment: The oil spill caused ecological problems. 2 relating to making or keeping the environment healthy: an ecological study —ecological·ly adv ec·o·log·y /ɪˈkəʊlədʒɪ/ n. [singular, U] earth sciences the way in which plants, animals, and people are connected to each other and to their environment, or the study of this [origin: 1800—1900 Greek oikos “house, living place” + -logia “study”] —ecologist n. [C] e·com·mer·ce /ɪˈkʌmərəs/ also e·bus·i·ness n. [U] ➔ the practice of buying and selling things using the Internet ec·nom·i·cally /ɪˈkəʊnəmɪkəli/ adv. economics relating to business, industry, and managing money: Economic growth has been slow. the country’s economic system | economic conditions have changed.
e·com·mer·cial /ɪˈkʌmərʃəl/ n. [C] 1 using time, money, products, etc. without wasting any: an economical way to produce energy 2 smaller goods are more economical to transport than large, heavy goods.
e·com·mon·ly /ɪˈkəʊmənli/ adv. 1 economics in a way that is related to systems of money, trade, or business: economically deprived areas of the country | economically, our city has never been stronger. 2 in a way that uses money, goods, time, etc. without wasting any efficiently: We need to produce food as economically as possible.
e·com·mon·ness /ɪˈkəʊmənəs/ n. 1 economics official orders or laws that stop trade, communication, etc., with another country, as a way of forcing its leaders to make political changes ec·onom·ies of /ɪˈkəʊnəmɪzɪz/ plural economics or laws that stop trade, communication, etc., with another country, as a way of forcing its leaders to make political changes ec·onom·ies of /ɪˈkəʊnəmɪzɪz/ plural scale economics the decrease in the cost of each product a company makes, which happens as the total number of products they make increases ec·onom·ist /ɪˈkəʊnəmɪst/ n. [C] economics someone who studies economics ec·o·nomic /ɪˈkəʊnəmɪk/ adj. 1 economics size/package etc. the biggest container that a product is sold in ec·o·nom·ics /ɪˈkəʊnəmɪks/ n. [C] economics the way that money, businesses, and products are organized in a particular country, area, etc.: the growing economics of south-east Asia | the project will add 600 jobs to the local economy | the global/world economy 2 [U] the careful use of money, time, products, etc. so that nothing is wasted: For reasons of economy, the oil is cleaned and reused. [origin: 1400—1500 French, Greek oikonomos “manager of a house”] e·co·system /ɪˈkəʊsɪstəm/ n. [C] biology all the animals and plants in a particular area, and the ecotourism /ˌɛkəˈtʊərˌzɔm/ n. [U] the business of organizing vacations to areas where people can see the beauty of nature in a way that will not hurt the environment ecumenical /ɛkˈjuːmənɪkəl/ adj. the written abbreviation of ec·toward the door. We edged closer, trying to see. 2 [U] to develop or increase slowly and gradually, or to make something do this: The price of gasoline is edging up. 3 [T] to put something on the edge or border of something else: a tablecloth edged with lace edge v. 1 [T] to move slowly and gradually, or to make something do this: Robert edged toward the door. 2 [U] to get a word in edgewise to not be able to say something in a conversation because someone else is talking too much. 2 with the edge or thinnest part forward: Slide the table in edgewise.

e·co·to·therm /ˌɛkəˈtɔθər̩m/ n. [C] BIOLOGY an animal that depends on the Sun or the heat from its environment to raise and control the temperature of its body. All animals except birds and MAMMALS are ectotherms. ➔ ENDOTHERM

e·c·to·therm /ˌɛkˈtoθər̩m/ n. [C] BIOLOGY an animal that depends on the Sun or the heat from its environment to raise and control the temperature of its body. All animals except birds and MAMMALS are ectotherms. ➔ ENDOTHERM

e·cu·men·i·cal /ˌɛkˈjuːmənɪkəl/ adj. the written abbreviation of ec·toward the door. We edged closer, trying to see. 2 [U] to develop or increase slowly and gradually, or to make something do this: The price of gasoline is edging up. 3 [T] to put something on the edge or border of something else: a tablecloth edged with lace e·d·i·ble /ˈɛdərəbl/ adj. something that is edible is safe or acceptable to eat (not inedible) [Origin: 1600—1700 Late Latin edibilis, from Latin edere “to eat”]

e·di·ci·on /ˈɛdɪʃən/ n. [C] (formal) an official public order made by someone in a position of power

e·di·tor /ˈɛdɪtər/ n. [C] 1 the person who judges what should be included in a newspaper, magazine, etc.: the managing editor of the Miami Herald | Mr. Murray is a former newspaper editor.

edge n. [C] 1 the part of something that is farthest from the center: the edge of the table | Bill sat on the edge of the bed. | cars parked at the edge of the street

ed·i·tive /ˈɛdɪtɪv/ adj. 1 being jubilant, elated content, delighted, thrilled, overjoyed, ecstatic end·o·therm /ˌɛndəˈθər̩m/ n. [C] BIOLOGY an animal that can keep itself warm without depending on heat from the Sun or its environment. ➔ ECTOTHERM

e·d·i·ti·on /ˈɛdɪʃən/ n. [C] 1 the form that a book is printed in: the new edition of this dictionary 2 the copies of a book, newspaper, etc. that are produced and printed at the same time: They published a limited edition of 2,000 copies. | The first edition of the book was published in 1836. [Origin: 1400—1500 Latin editio, past participle of edere “to give out, produce”]

e·d·i·tor /ˈɛdɪtər/ n. [C] 1 the person who decides what should be included in a newspaper, magazine, etc.: the managing editor of the Miami Herald | Mr. Murray is a former newspaper editor.
prepares a book, movie, etc. for printing or broadcasting by deciding what to include and checking for any mistakes. 3 in a computer program that allows you to write and make changes to saved information. —editorial /ˌɛd-tərˈɪəl/ adj. a piece of writing in a newspaper that gives the opinion of the writer rather than reporting facts: The New York Times published an editorial on (=about) gun control laws.

educate /ɛdˈjuːkət/ v. [T] to teach someone, especially in a school or college: Most Americans are educated in public schools. | He was educated at Harvard. | a program to educate teenagers about contraception [Oriqins: 1400—1500 Latin, past participle of educare “to bring up, educate”]. —educator n. [C] educate-ed /ɛdˈjuːkət/ adj. 1 having knowledge as a result of studying or being taught: well-educated women. 2 educated guess a guess that is likely to be correct because you know something about the subject document /ˈdɒkjʊmənt/ n. 1 (singular, U) the process of learning in a school or other program of study: They wanted their children to get a good education. | parents saving for their kids’ college education. 2 [U] the institutions and people involved with teaching: careers in education | funding for schools and higher education (=colleges)

ducation-al /ɛdjuˈkeɪʃənəl/ adj. 1 relating to teaching and learning: educational systems. 2 teaching you something that you did not know: educational television | The games are educational. —educationally adv.

ducation-ment /ˌɛdjuˈkeɪʃənt/ n. [U] movies, television programs, or computer software that both educate and entertain children eel /ɛl/ n. [C] a long thin fish that looks like a snake eerie /ˈɛri/ adj. strange and frightening: an eerie light. —eerily adv.

effect /ɪˈfɛkt/ v. [T] 1 (formal) to destroy or remove something so that it cannot be seen or noticed: textbooks that effect certain incidents in the past effect-ed /ɪˈfɛkt/ adj. 1 [C,U] the way in which an event, action, or person changes someone or something: affect: the effects of a long illness. | Her parents’ divorce had a big effect on her. | One side effect (=additional effect) of the drug is drowsiness. | What parents do has a profound/lasting/major effect on children’s lives.

result, consequences, aftermath, side effect, outcome, upshot, repercussions → RESULT

effect2 /ɪˈfɛkt/ v. [T] (formal) to make something happen

effective /ɪˈfektɪv/ adj. 1 producing the result that was wanted or intended (=ineffective): an effective medicine for headaches | an effective way to teach reading | Bicycle helmets are effective in preventing some types of injuries. 2 be effective to be in use, or to start to be in use officially: These prices are effective from April 1. —effectiveness n. [U] effectively /ɪˈfektɪvli/ adv. 1 in a way that produces the result you wanted: The game helps children practice their times tables effectively. 2 used in order to describe the real facts of a situation = actually. Many poor people effectively do not have any health care.

effem-i-nate /ɪˈfɛməneɪt/ adj. a man or boy who is effeminate behaves like a woman or girl

effer-verse-nent /ˌɛfərˈvɜːsnt/ adj. 1 a liquid that is effervescent has bubbles of gas rising in it. 2 someone who is effervescent is very active and happy. —effervescence n. [U] effy-cacious /ɪˈfæʃəs/ adj. producing the result that was intended (=effective) = efficaciously adv. = efficacy /ˌɛfɪˈkæsɪti/ n. [U]

efficient /ɪˈfɪʃənt/ adj. working well, quickly, and without wasting time, energy, or effort (ANT: inefficient): an efficient use of space. | She’s very efficient. [Origin: 1300—1400 Latin, present participle of efficere “to cause to happen”]. —efficiency n. [U]. The company needs to improve the efficiency of its factories. —efficiently adv.

efficient /ɪˈfɪʃənt/ n. (plural effigies) [C] a model of someone, especially one that is burned as a protest effluent /ɪˈfljuːənt/ n. [C,U] (formal) liquid waste effort /ɪˈfərt/ n. 1 [U] the physical or mental energy needed to do something: Kenny put a lot of effort into his report. | It takes very little effort to watch TV. | This dish takes time to prepare, but it’s worth the effort. 2 [C,U] an attempt to do something, especially something difficult: The area has been restored in an effort to attract tourists. | Ken made a conscious effort (=deliberate effort) to avoid the same mistakes. —famine relief effort

2 put sth into effect to make a plan or idea happen: The policy was put into effect in 2006. 3 come/go into effect to start officially: The new tax laws come into effect January 1st. 4 be in effect to be being used: The ban is already in effect. 5 take effect to start to have results, or to start being used: The drug should take effect in about ten minutes. 6 in effect used when you are describing what the real situation is, instead of what it seems to be: In effect, I’ll be earning less than last year. 7 effects (plural) (formal) the things that someone owns (=belongings) ➔ SPECIAL EFFECTS

effect /ɪˈfɛkt/ v. [T] (formal) to make something happen

effect /ɪˈfɛkt/ adj. 1 producing the result that was wanted or intended (=ineffective): an effective medicine for headaches | an effective way to teach reading | Bicycle helmets are effective in preventing some types of injuries. 2 be effective to be in use, or to start to be in use officially: These prices are effective from April 1. —effectiveness n. [U]

effectively /ɪˈfektɪvli/ adv. 1 in a way that produces the result you wanted: The game helps children practice their times tables effectively. 2 used in order to describe the real facts of a situation = actually. Many poor people effectively do not have any health care.

effem-i-nate /ɪˈfɛməneɪt/ adj. a man or boy who is effeminate behaves like a woman or girl

effer-verse-nent /ˌɛfərˈvɜːsnt/ adj. 1 a liquid that is effervescent has bubbles of gas rising in it. 2 someone who is effervescent is very active and happy. —effervescence n. [U] effortless

either/ef'ta(r)/adj. /adv. done in a skilful way that seems easy: Brad’s effortless skiing—effortlessly adv.

effort-e-y /'efrətər/ n. [U] (old-fashioned) behaviour that you think someone should be ashamed of, although she does not seem to be ashamed: He had the effrontery to challenge his teacher!

efful-gent /'efəlɡent/ adj. (literary) beautiful and bright effus-ive /'efəsiv/ adj. showing strong excited feelings: effusive greetings—effusively adv.

EFL n. [U] English as a Foreign Language the methods used for teaching English to people whose first language is not English, and who do not live in an English-speaking country

e.g. /i:'dʒi/ a written abbreviation that means “for example”: the Gulf States, e.g. Texas, Louisiana, and Mississippi

e-gal-li-tar-i-an /'iɡələtərɪən/ adj. believing that everyone should have the same rights and opportunities—egalitarianism n. [U]

egg /'eg/ n. [C] 1 a round object with a hard surface, that contains a baby bird, insect, snake, etc.: a turtle laying eggs in the sand | Some of the eggs were hatching (=breaking open to allow the baby out). ➔ see picture on page A2. 2 an egg, especially from a chicken, used as food: fried eggs | Joe dipped his toast in his egg yolk (=the yellow part). | Whisk the egg whites (=white part) until stiff. 3 oocyte a cell produced inside a female, that can combine with a sperm (=male cell) to make a baby animal or person [Origin: 1300—1400 Old Norse]

egg2 v. egg sb ➔ on phr. v. to encourage someone to do something, especially something she does not want to do or should not do egg-plant /'iɡəplɔnt/ n. [C,U] a large shiny dark purple fruit that is cooked and eaten as a vegetable ➔ see picture at vegetable egg-shell /'egʃɛl/ n. [C,U] the hard outside part of a bird or reptile’s egg

e-go /'ɪɡəʊ/ n. (plural egos) [C] 1 the opinion that you have about yourself: a player with a big ego (=she thinks he is very good) 2 ego trip (informal, disapproving) something that someone does for himself/herself because it makes him/her feel good or important e-go-tism /'ɪɡətɪzəm/ also e-go-ism /'ɪɡəɪzəm/ n. [U] the belief that you are more interesting or important than other people—egotist n. [C] —egotistical /'ɪɡətɪstɪkl/ adj.

e-gre-ious /'egrəjuəs/ adj. (formal) an egregious error (=mistake), failure, etc. is extremely bad and noticeable—egregiously adv.

eight /'eɪt/ number 1 8 2 eight o’clock: Dinner will be at eight. 3 eight years old: My cousin is eight. [Origin: Old English eaht] elated /ɪˈleɪtəd/ adj. having a feeling of happiness and excitement: especially in order to move past him/her: She elbowed her way through the crowd.

elbow /ˈelbəʊ/ n. [C] 1 the joint where your arm bends —elbow grease (informal) greasy or greasy-smelling lubricant; 2 elbow room (informal) enough space, so that you can move easily elbow /ˈelbəʊ/ v. [T] to push someone with your elbows, especially in order to move past him/her: She elbowed her way through the crowd.

electric /ɪˈlærɪk/ adj. able to make things work by using electricity: —electric lights an electric toothbrush

Usage
Use electric before the names of things that need electricity in order to work: an electric oven | an electric guitar

Usage
Use electrical to talk about things that use or need electricity: —an electrical component | an electrical cord elder /ˈeldər/ n. 1 [usually plural] someone who is older than you are: Young people should have respect for their elders. 2 [C] an older person who is important and respected: the town elder elderly /ˈeldərli/ adj. old, used in order to be polite: an elderly woman with white hair eldest /ˈeldɪst/ adj. the oldest of a group of people, especially brothers and sisters, is the one who was born first: My eldest daughter is 17.

eldest /ˈeldɪst/ adj. the eldest of a group of people, especially brothers and sisters, is the one who was born first: My eldest daughter is 17.

eldest /ˈeldɪst/ adj. the eldest of a group of people, especially brothers and sisters, is the one who was born first: My eldest daughter is 17.

eldest /ˈeldɪst/ adj. the eldest of a group of people, especially brothers and sisters, is the one who was born first: My eldest daughter is 17.

eldest /ˈeldɪst/ adj. the eldest of a group of people, especially brothers and sisters, is the one who was born first: My eldest daughter is 17.

eldest /ˈeldɪst/ adj. the eldest of a group of people, especially brothers and sisters, is the one who was born first: My eldest daughter is 17.

eldest /ˈeldɪst/ adj. the eldest of a group of people, especially brothers and sisters, is the one who was born first: My eldest daughter is 17.

eldest /ˈeldɪst/ adj. the eldest of a group of people, especially brothers and sisters, is the one who was born first: My eldest daughter is 17.

eldest /ˈeldɪst/ adj. the eldest of a group of people, especially brothers and sisters, is the one who was born first: My eldest daughter is 17.

eldest /ˈeldɪst/ adj. the eldest of a group of people, especially brothers and sisters, is the one who was born first: My eldest daughter is 17.

eldest /ˈeldɪst/ adj. the eldest of a group of people, especially brothers and sisters, is the one who was born first: My eldest daughter is 17.

eldest /ˈeldɪst/ adj. the eldest of a group of people, especially brothers and sisters, is the one who was born first: My eldest daughter is 17.

eldest /ˈeldɪst/ adj. the eldest of a group of people, especially brothers and sisters, is the one who was born first: My eldest daughter is 17.

eldest /ˈeldɪst/ adj. the eldest of a group of people, especially brothers and sisters, is the one who was born first: My eldest daughter is 17.

eldest /ˈeldɪst/ adj. the eldest of a group of people, especially brothers and sisters, is the one who was born first: My eldest daughter is 17.

eldest /ˈeldɪst/ adj. the eldest of a group of people, especially brothers and sisters, is the one who was born first: My eldest daughter is 17.

eldest /ˈeldɪst/ adj. the eldest of a group of people, especially brothers and sisters, is the one who was born first: My eldest daughter is 17.

eldest /ˈeldɪst/ adj. the eldest of a group of people, especially brothers and sisters, is the one who was born first: My eldest daughter is 17.
2 making people feel very excited: The atmosphere at the concert was electric. [Origin: 1600—1700 Modern Latin electricus, from Latin electrum "amber," because electricity was first made by rubbing amber] electrical potential n. [U] PHYSICS the energy that is likely to be produced by something that produces electricity [SYN voltage] electric 'chair n. the electric chair a chair in which criminals are killed using electricity electrician n. someone whose job is to fit and repair electrical equipment electrical potential n. the electric potential of a system is the sum of the potential energies of all the charges in the system

The atmosphere at the concert was electric. [Origin: 1600—1700 Modern Latin electricus, from Latin electrum "amber," because electricity was first made by rubbing amber] ears, and a trunk (= long nose) that it can use to pick things up [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French oliphant, from Greek elaphos “elephant, ivory”]

el·e·va·tion /el'ëvə'shon/ n. [C] a height above the level of the ocean: The city of Boulder is at an elevation of 5,400 feet. 2 [U] (formal) the act of moving someone to a more important rank or position: the judge’s elevation to the Supreme Court 3 [C(U)] (formal) an increase in the quantity or level of something. Elevation of blood pressure can cause headaches.

el·e·va·tor /el'ëvə'tor/ n. [C] a machine in a building that takes people from one level to another; I decided to take the elevator.

el·e·ve·n /el'ven/ adj., n. 1 [U] 11 o’clock: an appointment at eleven 3 11 years old: My son is eleven. [Origins: Old English endelofen]

el·e·ve·n·th /el'ven(th)/ n. 1 [U] 11th 2 1/11

elf /elf/ n. (plural elves /elvz/) [C] a small imaginary person with pointed ears —elfin /'elfin/ adj el·ic·it /el'ikit/ v. (formal) to get information, a reaction, etc. from someone when this is difficult:

Short questions are more likely to elicit a response.

el·i·gi·ble /el'a jigəbl/ adj. 1 able or allowed to do something: You are eligible to vote at the age of 18. 2 Are you eligible for a loan? 2 an eligible man or woman would be good to marry because she/ he is rich, attractive, etc.: an eligible bachelor —eligibility /el'a ji blət'əsIt/ n. [U] el·im·i·na·tion /el'a mə'neəshən/ n. [U] 1 the removal or destruction of something: the elimination of 250 jobs  2 process of elimination a way of finding out the answer to something by getting rid of other answers that are not correct until only one is left: Try to solve the problem by a process of elimination.

el·i·tist /el'a list/ n. [C] (disapproving) an elitist system, government, etc. is one in which a small group of people have much more power than other people —elitism /el'a tizəm/ n. [U]

elk /elk/ n. (plural elk or elks) [C] a large deer with a lot of hair around its neck el·lipse /el'ips/ n. [C] MATH a curved shape that is similar to a circle, but has two sides that are longer and flatter. It is formed by a plane (= flat shape) crossing completely through a cone at an angle, so that the sum of the distances from any point on the curve to two fixed points inside the ellipse is always the same. ⇒ CONIC SECTION

el·li·p·tic /el'ipltik/ adj. shaped like a circle but with slightly flat sides —el·li·p·sis /el'ipltəs/ n. (plural ellipses /-siz/) [C] el·o·quent /el'a kwənt/ adj. able to express ideas, opinions, or feelings clearly, in a way that influences other people: Brennan’s eloquent response [Origins: 1300—1400 French, Latin, present participle of eloquere “to speak out”] —eloquently adv —eloquence n. [U]

el·o·pe /el'ə po/ v. [I] to go away secretly with someone to get married —elope n. [C(U)]

el·o·qui·ous /el'o kwəs/ adj. in addition —used after words beginning with “any-,” “no-,” “some-,” and after question words: Claymon needs someone else to help him. [There’s nothing else we can do.] What else can I get you? 2 different —used after words beginning with “any-,” “no-,” “some-,” and after question words: Is there anything else to eat? 3 She was wearing someone else’s coat (not her own clothing). [Well, what else can I do?] 3 or else used when saying that there will be a bad result if someone does not do something: Hurry up, or else you’ll be late for school! 4 if nothing else used in order to say that there is one good quality or feature of something, even if there are no others: If nothing else, the report shows that better facilities are needed.

el·o·que·nt /el'o kwənt/ adj. in or to another place:
Most of the city’s residents were born elsewhere.

el·u·ci·date /el'ə kwət/ v. [I,T] (formal) to explain very clearly something that is difficult to understand elude /ˈɪluːd/ v. [T] 1 to avoid being found or caught by someone, especially by tricking him/her: Jones eluded the police for six weeks. 2 if something that you want eludes you, you do not find it or achieve it: Success has eluded him so far. 3 if a fact, someone’s name, etc. eludes you, you cannot remember it

e·lu·sive /ɪˈluːsvi/ adj. 1 difficult to find: an elusive animal 2 difficult to achieve or understand: Success has been elusive. 3 the poem’s elusive meaning.

elves /ˈɛlvz/ n. the plural of ELF

'em /em/ pron. (spoken, nonstandard) them: Tell the kids I’ll pick ‘em up after school.

em·a·ci·at·ed /ɪˈmeɪʃətɪd/ adj. extremely thin because of illness or lack of food emancipated /ɪmˈbæŋktɹɪtɪd/ adj. 1 [U] electronic mail a system that allows you to send and receive messages by computer: What’s your email address? 2 [C, U] a message that is sent using this system: I got an email from her yesterday. I haven’t checked my email yet.

em·a·nate /ˈɛməneɪt/ v. [T] to come from or out of something: Wonderful smells were emanating from the kitchen.

em·a·na·tive /ˈɛmənətɪv/ adj. 1 [U] politics to make someone free from social, political, or legal rules that limit what she or he can do: [Origin: 1600—1700 Latin emancipatus, past participle of emancipare, from mancipium “ownership”] em·a·nate·ment /ɪˈmænəteɪnmənt/ n. [C] a wide wall of earth or stones built to stop water from flooding an area, or to support a road or railroad em·bar·go /ˈɛmˌbɑːrgoʊ/ n. (plural embargoes) 1 [C] politics an official order to stop trade with another country: The UN imposed an arms embargo on the country. [Origin: 1500—1600 Spanish embargar “to stop, prevent, seize”] em·bar·go·ed /ˈɛmˌberɡoʊd/ v. (past tense and past participle embargoed) [T] politics to officially stop particular goods from being traded with another country em·bar·k on/upon /ˈɛmˌberk ən/ v. to go onto a ship or airplane: [Origin: 1500—1600 French embarquer, from barque “ship”] em·bar·rass /ɪˈmæbrəs/ v. to make someone feel embarrassed: I didn’t want to embarrass her in front of Paul. [Origin: 1600—1700 French embarrasser, from Spanish embarazar] em·bar·rass·ing /ɪˈmæbrəsɪŋ/ adj. making you feel embarrassed: a lot of embarrassing questions em·ba·tled /ɪˈmæbtəd/ adj. surrounded by enemies, especially in a war: the embattled city em·ba·s·sy /ˈɛmˌbæsə/ n. (plural embassies) 1 [U] a group of officials who represent their country in a foreign country, or the building they work in: the Peruvian Embassy em·bank·ment /ɪˈmæbækmənt/ n. a wall of earth or stones built to stop water from flooding an area, or to support a road or railroad em·bank·ment /ɪˈmæbækmənt/ n. (embedded, embedding) [T] 1 to put something firmly and deeply into something else: a spider embedded in a glass paperweight 2 if your ideas, feelings, or attitudes are embedded, you believe them very strongly: The idea of freedom is deeply embedded in America’s values.

em·bel·lish /ɪˈmæblɪʃ/ v. [T] 1 to make something more beautiful by adding decorations to it: a crown embellished with jewels 2 to make a story or statement more interesting by adding details to it that are not true: Larry couldn’t help embellishing his story. —em·bel·lish·ment /ɪˈmæblɪʃmənt/ n. [C] em·ber /ˈɛmbrə/ n. [C] a piece of wood or coal that stays red and very hot after a fire has stopped burning.

em-bod-\(\text{i}\)/y /em`bod`i/ v. (em-bodied, embodies) [T] to be the best example of an idea or quality: Mr. Miller embodies everything I admire in a teacher. —embody n. [U] em-boss /em`bæs/ v. [T] to decorate the surface of metal, leather, paper, etc. with a raised pattern —embossed adj.: embossed stationery em-brac-e /em`bræks/ v. [T] 1 to put your arms around someone and hold him/her in a caring way: Rob reached out to embrace her.

em-broid-er /em`brɔıd/ v. 1 [I,T] to decorate cloth by sewing a picture or pattern on it with colored threads 2 [T] to add details that are not true to a story to make it more interesting or exciting: —embroidery n. [U] em-broil /em`broll/ v. [T] to involve someone in a difficult situation: Soon, the whole group was embroiled in a fierce argument.

em-bry-o /`embru,ou/ n. (plural embryos) [C] biology an animal or human that has not yet been born and has just begun to develop. In humans, an embryo becomes a fetus after eight weeks of development.

em-bry-o-nic /`embru`onık/ adj. not fully developed: the country’s embryonic nuclear weapons program em-cee /`em'si/ n. [C] master of ceremonies someone who introduces the performers on a television program or at a social event —emceé v. [I,T] emend /`emend/ v. [T] (formal) to take the mistakes out of something that has been written —emendation n. —emend, emend`er, emend`a-tion, emen`dation adj./n. [C,U] emerald /`embrəld/ n. [C] a valuable bright green jewel emerge /`emərdʒ/ v. [I] 1 to appear after being hidden: The sun emerged from behind the clouds. 2 if facts emerge, they become known after being hidden or secret: During the court case, it emerged that both men had previous convictions for robbery. 3 to have a particular quality or position after experiencing a difficult situation: She emerged from the divorce a stronger person.

em-em-ger-ency /`im`iŋərən/ n. (plural emergencies) [C] an unexpected and dangerous situation that you must deal with immediately: Call an ambulance! This is an emergency! [Origin: 1600—1700. From the idea of something suddenly “emerging” or happening] —emergency adj.: an emergency exit em-er-gent /`im`iŋənt/ adj. beginning to develop and be noticeable: the emergent nations of Eastern Europe and Africa em-er-gen-cy /`im`iŋən/ n. [C] the part of a hospital that immediately treats people who have been hurt in a serious accident em-er-gy-board /`imər`gi bɔrd/ n. [C] a NAIL FILE made from thick card covered with a mineral powder em-i-grate /`im`iɡr@t/ v. [I] to leave your own country in order to live in another: Maria emigrated from Guatemala three years ago.

em-i-grant /`im`iɡr@nt/ n. [C] someone who leaves his/her own country in order to live in another: an emigrant to the United States em-i-nent /`im`iənnt/ adj. famous and admired by many people: an eminent professor of medicine em-i-nent do\(\text{m}\)ain /`im`iənnt`dəm/ n. [C] law the right of the U.S. government to pay for and take someone’s private land so it can be used for a public purpose em-i-nent-ly /`im`iənnt`li/ adv. (formal) completely, and without any doubt: He’s eminently qualified to do the job.

em-mir /`imIr, `imər/ n. [C] a Muslim ruler, especially in Asia and parts of Africa em-mis-sary /`iməs`səri/ n. (plural emissaries) [C] someone who is sent with an official message, or who must do other official work: an emissary from the Italian government emission /`im`is`ʃən/ n. [C] the sending out of gas, heat, light, sound, etc., or the gas, etc. that is sent out: an emissions test (=a test to make sure the... gases your car sends out are at the right level) emit /ˈemɪt/ v. (emitted, emitting) [T] (formal) to send out gas, heat, light, sound, etc.: The kettle emitted a shrill whistle. [Origin: 1600—1700 Latin emittere, from mittere “to send”]

Emmy /ˈɛmɪ/ n. (plural Emmies) [C] a prize given every year to the best program, actor, etc. on U.S. television

e-molient /ɪˈmɒlɪənt/ adj. (formal) 1 making something, especially your skin, softer and smoother 2 making you feel calmer when you have been angry —emollient n. [C] e-mote /ɪˈmɑːt/ v. [I] to clearly show emotion, especially when you are acting: Some of the poets just read their work, while others emoted.

e-mo-tion /iˈmɔʃn/ n. [C] 1 a strong human feeling such as love or hate: David doesn’t usually show his true emotions. / Her voice was full of emotion. 2 She trembled with emotion. [Origin: 1500—1600 French émouvoir “to cause to have strong feelings,” from Latin movere “to move”]

e-mo-tional /ɪˈmɔʃnəl/ adj. 1 making people have strong feelings: The end of the movie was really emotional.

THE SAURUS:

moving — making you feel strong emotions, especially sadness or sympathy: Kelly’s book about her illness is deeply moving.

touching — making you feel sympathy or sadness: a touching tribute to the victims of the attack poignant — making you feel sad or full of pity: poignant memories

e-motive (formal) — making people have strong feelings: In his book, he expresses his ideas in highly emotive language.

sentimental — showing emotions such as love, pity, and sadness too strongly: a sentimental poem schmaltzy (informal) — showing strong emotions such as love and sadness in a way that seems silly: a schmaltzy love song

2 showing your emotions to other people, especially by crying: Please don’t get all emotional.

3 relating to your feelings or how they are controlled: the emotional development of children

4 influenced by what you feel rather than what you know: an emotional response to the problem —emotionally adv.: Family members reacted emotionally to the verdict.

e-mo-tive /ɪˈmɑːtɪv/ adj. making people have strong feelings; an emotive speech about the effects of war

THE SAURUS:

emotional, moving, touching, poignant, sentimental, schmaltzy ➔ EMOTIONAL em-pa-thy /ɪˈempəθi/ n. [U] the ability to understand someone else’s feelings and problems [Origin: 1900—2000 Greek empathêia, from pathos “suffering, feeling”] —empathize v. [I] ➔ SYMPATHY em-per-or /ˈɛmpərər/ n. [C] the ruler of an empire [Origin: 1100—1200 Old French emperor, from Latin imperare “to command”]

THE SAURUS:

king, queen, prince, princess, monarch, ruler, sovereign ➔ KING em-pha-sis /ˈɛmफʂəs/ n. (plural emphases) [C] special importance: Jameson’s report puts/place an emphasis on the need for better working conditions. [Origin: 1500—1600 Latin, Greek, from emphainein “to show”] em-pha-size /ˈɛmफəˌzai/ v. [T] to show that an opinion, idea, quality, etc. is important: My teacher emphasized the importance of grammar. / Scientists emphasized that more research needs to be done. ➔ Don’t say “emphasize on.”

THE SAURUS:

stress – to emphasize a statement, fact, or idea: Mother always stressed the importance of good manners.

highlight – to make a problem, subject, etc. easy to notice so that people will pay attention to it: Your résumé should highlight your skills and experience.

underline – to make something easier to notice: Let’s try to accentuate the positive aspects of the report.

underscore – to emphasize that something is important: The president’s speech repeatedly underscored the progress that has been made.

effectuate – to make something seem more important, better, larger, worse, etc. than it really is: News reports exaggerated the severity of the disaster.

em-phat-ic /ɪmˈfætɪk/ adj. done or said in a way that shows something is important or should be believed: Dale’s answer was an emphatic “No!” | The alarm bell gives a clear and emphatic warning that there is smoke in the building. —emphatically adv.

em-phy-see-me-nal /ˌɛmफɪˈziːmənəl/ adj. —emphysema n. the lung disease in which the air passages become blocked, making it difficult to breathe [Origin: 1600—1700 Modern Latin, Greek, from emphysein “to swell”] em-pire /ˈɛmpər/ n. [C] 1 POLITICS a group of countries that are all controlled by one ruler or government: the Roman Empire 2 a group of organizations that are all controlled by one person or company: a media empire em-pir-i-cal /ɪmˈpraɪkəl, -ˈmɪ-/ adj. based on practical experience or scientific tests rather than on ideas: The theory is based on empirical evidence. [Origin: 1500—1600 empiric “person who puts trust only in practical experience” (16—21 centuries), from Latin empiricus] em·pir·i·cism /emˈpɪrəˌsɪzəm, emˈpɪrɪ-ˌsɪzm/ n [U] the belief that your ideas about the world should be based on experience or scientific tests —empiricist n [C] em·ploy /imˈplɔɪ/ v [T] 1 to pay someone to work for you: The factory employs over 2,000 people. 2 to use a particular object, method, or skill in order to achieve something: research methods employed by scientists [Orig: Latin implicare].emp·loy·er /imˈplɔɪˌər/ n [C] someone who is paid to work for a person, organization, or company: a government employee → work em·ploy·ee /imˈplɔɪˌi/ , emˈplɔːrɛɪ, -ˌi n [C] someone who is paid to work for a person, organization, or company that employs people: The shoe factory is the largest employer in this area. → work em·ploy·ment /emˈplɔɪmənt/ n [U] 1 work that you do to earn money: Steve’s still looking for employment. 2 the number of people who have jobs en·a·ble /ɪnˈeɪbəl/ v [T] to enable someone to do something: Steve’s still looking for work → enable empty /ˈemptɪ/ adj 1 having nothing inside: Your glass is empty — would you like some more lemonade? — an empty box emp·ty·sloops /ˈemptɪˈslʊps/ n [C] the female ruler of an empire, or the wife of an emperor en·chant·ing /ɪnˈkæntɪŋ/ adj something that is enchanting is very pleasant in a way that makes you feel happy and excited: an enchanted forest en·chant·ment /ɛnˈkæntmənt/ n [U] 1 a way of making someone do something or behave in the same way as someone else: The thieves fled the building empty-handed. 2 a person, place, or thing that makes people feel happy and excited: American popular culture en·chry·sis /ɪnˈkɜːriːsɪs/ n [U] 1 chemistry a mixture of substances like oil and water, that contains very small drops of one liquid floating in the other, instead of the liquids combining completely: 2 the substance on the surface of photographic film or paper that makes it react to light en·em·i·ty /ɪnˈɛməti/ n [U] 1 a feeling of hostility or dislike towards someone or something: a war of enmity between two countries 2 a person who is your enemy: an enemy of his family en·em·ize /ɪnˈɛmirəz/ v [T] 1 to make someone or something appear to be something or behave in a way that makes you feel happy and excited: a new type of plastic has enabled us to make our products more cheaply. 2 to use special powers to transform something completely: art objects encased in a glass box en·em·ize·ment /ɪnˈɛmirəˌmənt/ n [U] 1 a way of making someone do something or behave in the same way as someone else: The thieves fled the building empty-handed. 2 a person, place, or thing that makes people feel happy and excited: American popular culture en·emy /ɪnˈemə/ n [C] 1 a person, place, or thing that makes you feel happy and excited: an enemy of his family 2 someone who is your enemy: an enemy of his family way that makes you feel very interested, happy, or excited: an enchanting movie about young love enchilada /ɪnˈkɪlda/ n [C] a Mexican food made from a corn TORTILLA rolled around meat or beans and covered with a hot-tasting liquid [Orig.: 1800—1900 American Spanish, past participle of enchilar “to put chili into”] enclave /ɪnˈklɛv/ a place or group of people that is surrounded by areas or groups of people that are different from it: the Italian-American enclave in New York

enclose /ɪnˈkləʊz/ v [T] 1 to put something inside an envelope with a letter: A copy of the article is enclosed. 2 to surround an area, especially with a fence or wall: A high wall enclosed the yard. —enclosed adj.

enclosure /ɪnˈklərs/ n [C] 1 an area that is surrounded by something such as a fence or wall: The animals are kept in a large enclosure. 2 things such as documents, photographs, money, etc. that you send with a letter encumber /ɪnˈkɜmbər/ v [T] 1 to make something more likely to happen: Cooper’s father encouraged him to play the guitar. 2 to make something more likely to happen: encouragement n [U]: words of encouragement encourage /ɪnˈkərɪdʒ/ v [T] 1 to persuade someone to do something: a program to encourage children to wear bicycle helmets. 2 to help someone become confident or brave enough to do something: discourage: a plant food that encourages growth encroachment on the habitats of wild animals. 2 to gradually take away more and more of someone’s time, rights, etc.: new laws that encroach on civil liberties encrust /ɪnˈkrʌst/ v [T] to cover with something hard and sharp, such as jewels, ice, or dried mud encyclopedia /ɪnˌkəulpəˈdiə/ n [C] a book, set of books, or CD that contains facts about many subjects or about one particular subject [Orig.: 1500—1600 Medieval Latin encyclopaedia “course of general education,” from Greek enkyklia paideia “general education”] end /end/ n.

1 LAST PART [singular] the last part of a period of time, activity, book, movie, etc. (ANT) beginning: There are study questions at the end of each chapter. | I’ll know by the end of the week.

2 FARTHEST POINT [C] the part of a place or long object that is furthest from its beginning or center: the ends of his fingers | I went to the end of the line. | the far end of the room | The two teams pull at opposite ends of the rope.

end in [in] formal 1 FARTHEST POINT [C] the part of a place or long object that is furthest from its beginning or center: the ends of his fingers | I went to the end of the line. | the far end of the room | The two teams pull at opposite ends of the rope.

3 OF A SITUATION [singular] a situation in which something is finished or no longer exists: The conversation seemed to have come to an end. | the UN’s latest plan to put an end to (stop) the war | My month of freedom was at an end.

4 in the end after a lot of thinking or discussion: In the end, we decided to go to Florida. | I won in the end. | make something ends to have just enough money to buy what you need

5 for days/weeks etc., on end for many days, weeks, etc. without stopping

6 at the end of the day (spoken) used in order to say what the most important point is: At the end of the day, it’s up to Jim to make the changes.

7 make something ends to have just enough money to buy what you need

8 it’s not the end of the world (spoken) used in order to say that a problem is not too serious or bad

9 RESULT [C] (formal) the aim or purpose of something, or the result that you hope to achieve: Learning can be both an end in itself (=a good goal), and a means to success. | We need to cut costs, and to that end (to achieve that result) we have had to cut jobs.

end 10 no end a lot: He was enjoying himself no end. | The changes caused no end of trouble.

11 PART OF AN ACTIVITY [singular] (informal) the part of a job, activity, or situation that involves a person or group: She works in the sales end of things.

12 SCALE [C usually singular] one of the two points that begin or end a scale or range: a politician at the liberal end of the political spectrum

13 end to end with the end of something next to the end of something else: cars parked end to end

14 IN SPORTS [C] in football, one of two players who play on the outside of the tackles and try to catch the ball [Definition: Old English "endeard"]  → DEAD END

end v. [T] to stop or finish, or to make something do this (and) begin: World War II ended in 1945. | Janet finally ended the relationship. | The concert ended with fireworks.

end in 5th phr v. to have a particular result or to finish in a particular way: One in three marriages end in divorce.

end up phr v. to be in a place, situation, or condition after a series of events, usually when you did not plan this: I always end up paying the bill.

endanger v. [T] to put someone or something in a dangerous or harmful situation: Smoking seriously endangers your health. → endangered adj. → endangerment n. [U] endangered 'species n. [C] a type of animal or plant that soon might not exist endear v. to make someone be liked by other people: The proposals are meant to endear him to the voters.

endearing adj. making someone like or love you: an endearing smile endearingment n. [C] something that shows your love for someone endeavor v. (formal) an attempt or effort to do something new or difficult: an endeavor to create a lasting peace endeavor v. [I] (formal) to try very hard to do something: One must always endeavor to do one's best.

endure v. to try, attempt, see if you can do sth, do your best, make an effort to do sth  → TRY end-ic /en'diʃn/ adj. regularly happening in a particular place or among a particular group of people: Violent crime is now endemic in parts of the city.

end-ing /en'din/ n. 1 [C] the end of a story, movie, play, etc., a happy ending. 2 [U] the act of finishing or stopping a process: the ending of travel restrictions endive v. [C] a vegetable with bitter-tasting leaves that are eaten raw in salads end-less /en'dlIs/ adj. continuing for a very long time, especially in a way that is annoying: the endless hours of practice. | The possibilities are endless.

endorse v. [T] to officially say that you support or approve of someone or something: Several South American countries have endorsed the idea. | The mayor has decided not to endorse a candidate in the presidential election this year. 2 to sign your name on the back of a check: → endorsement n. [C, U] end-skelet-on /'end@skel@ton/ n. [C] BIOLOGY the structure made by all the bones inside living creatures that have a backbone → EXOSKELETON end-sperm /'end@spøm/ n. [C] BIOLOGY the part of a seed that contains the supply of food for the growing seed end-ther-mic /'end@θermik/ adj. relating to hormones in your blood: an endocrine gland endow /'end@u/ v. [T] 1 to give an endowment to a college, hospital, etc.: be endowed with talent/resources/rights etc. (formal) to have or be given a good quality, feature, or ability [Origin: 1300—1400 Anglo-French endouer, from Latin dotare "to give"] endowment /'end@u@ment/ n. [C] a large amount of money or property that is given to a college, hospital, etc. so that it has an income endurance /'end@rân/ n. [U] the ability to continue doing something difficult or painful over a long period of time: Jogging will help increase your endurance.

endure v. [I] (T) to suffer pain or deal with a very difficult situation for a long time:
People have endured months of fighting. 2 [t] to continue for a long time: a marriage that has endured for fifty years en·dur·ing /enˈdərəŋ/ adj continuing to exist in spite of difficulties: an enduring peace en·end·zone /enˈendˌzoun/ n [C] the end of a football field where players take the ball in order to win points en·e·my /ˈenəmi/ n (plural enemies) [C] 1 someone who hates you and wants to harm you or prevent you from being successful: Judge Lonz has made a lot of enemies during her career. 2 the person or group of people that you are fighting in a war: The enemy had at least 50 large aircraft in good condition. 3 an attack on an enemy submarine/ship/soldier etc. 4 something that people think is harmful or damaging: This policy was declared an enemy of economic growth. [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French ennemi, from Latin inimicus, from amicus "friend"] en·er·getic /ˈenərədʒətik/ adj very active: a cast of young and energetic actors | The governor fought an energetic campaign.

THESAURUS

vigorous – using a lot of energy and strength or determination: a vigorous opponent of capital punishment full of energy – having a lot of energy: Kate is fun and full of energy dynamic – interesting, exciting, and full of energy and determination to succeed: a dynamic new candidate hyperactive – too active, and not able to keep still or quiet for very long: a hyperactive child tireless – working very hard in a determined way: a tireless defender of human rights lively – very active and cheerful; a lively group of kids vital – full of life and energy: He was still young and vital when cancer struck en·er·gize /ˈenərˌjaz/ v [T] to make someone feel more determined and full of energy en·ergy /ˈenərədʒi/ n (plural energies) [C,U] 1 the physical and mental strength that makes you able to do things: Younger people generally have more energy. | She has put a good deal of time and energy into the project. 2 power that is used to produce heat, make machines work, etc.: atomic energy | electrical energy | the world’s energy resources 3 PHYSICS the ability of something to do work, move, or produce heat [Origin: 1500—1600 Late Latin energia "activity"] en·erv·at·ed /ˈenərvatəd/ adj (formal) feeling weak, tired, and without energy: After the long journey, he felt enervated and barely able to speak.

en·er·vate /ˈenərvət/ v [T] – en·er·vating adj en·force /ˈenfɔrs/ v [T] to make someone obey a rule or law: It’s our responsibility to enforce the law. | The speed limit is strictly enforced.

en·fran·chise /ˈenfranˌfiz/ v [T] to give a group of people rights, especially the right to vote [en·fran·chis·ed] en·gage /ˈenjədʒ/ v [T] (formal) 1 to make someone remain interested in something: a storyteller able to engage the children’s imaginations. 2 engage sb in (a) conversation to begin talking to someone. 3 to employ someone gen·er·ate /ˈenərət/ v (formal) to be doing or become involved in an activity: Only 10% of Americans engage in regular exercise.

en·gaged /ˈenjədʒd/ adj two people who are engaged have agreed to marry each other: Viv and Tyrell got engaged last month. | She’s engaged to a guy in the Army. | Don’t say “engaged with.”

en·gag·ment /ˈenədʒmənt/ n [C] 1 an agreement to marry someone: Charlene and I have broken off our engagement (=decided to end it). | an engagement ring (=a ring that a man gives a woman to show that they are engaged) 2 [C] (formal) an arrangement to do something or meet someone: Professor Campbell is in Fort Worth for a speaking engagement. 3 [U] the process of being involved with someone or something: a strategy of engagement and cooperation with China 4 [C,U] fighting between people or armies: military rules of engagement (=rules that say when you should fight) en·gag·ing /ˈenədʒɪŋ/ adj attracting people’s attention and interest: an engaging personality

en·gen·der /ˈenjərdər/ v [T] (formal) to be the cause of something such as a situation, action, or emotion: the excitement engendered by the Pope’s visit en·gin·e·ne·er /ˈenjənər/ n [C] 1 the part of a vehicle or machine that produces power to make it move: the engine of a car | I waited with the engine running (=with the engine on). 2 the vehicle at the front of a train, that pulls it along (=with a locomotive [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French engin "cleverness, machine," from Latin ingenium "abilities you are born with"] en·gine·er·ing /ˈenjənərərɪŋ/ n [U] the profession or activity of designing, building, and repairing roads, bridges, machines, etc.

en·glish /ˈengliʃ/ n [U] the language used in places such as the U.S., Canada, and Great Britain 2 the English [plural] the people of England ### English

adj. 1 relating to the English language 2 relating to or coming from England

---

Thesaurus

- enhancement
- enlarge
- enlist
- enjoyable
- enlightening
- enormous
- enough

---

Examples

2. enlarge
   - To become bigger, or to make something become bigger: I'm going to get some of these pictures enlarged.
   - Enlarge your vocabulary by reading books.

3. enlist
   - To persuade someone to help you, support you, etc.: Children who are doing well are enlisted to help children who are struggling.
   - I've enlisted in the Marines.
   - enlistment

---

Definitions

- enlarge /ɪnˈlɑːrdʒ/ v [T] to become bigger, or to make something become bigger: I'm going to get some of these pictures enlarged. | Enlarge your vocabulary by reading books.
- enlist /ɪnˈlɪst/ v [T] to persuade someone to help you, support you, etc.: Children who are doing well are enlisted to help children who are struggling. | I've enlisted in the Marines. — enlistment n [C,U]
- enjoyable /ɪnˈdʒɔɪəbəl/ adj giving you pleasure; an enjoyable afternoon
  - enjoy yourself to be happy and have fun in a particular situation: I didn't think I'd like sailing, but I was starting to enjoy myself.
  - to have a particular ability, advantage, or success: The team has enjoyed some success this season. [Origin: 1300–1400 Old French enjoi, from Latin gaudere “to show great happiness”] — enjoyment n [U]
- enlightening /ɪnˈlaɪntɪŋ/ adj having sensible modern attitudes and treating people fairly and kindly: an enlightened company that treats its employees well
- enormous /ɪnˈnɔrməs/ adj extremely large in size or amount: You should see their house—it's enormous! | an enormous amount of work [Origin: 1500–1600 Latin enormis “out of the ordinary,” from norma “rule”] — enormously adv: The brain makes enormously complex decisions very quickly. | House prices have grown enormously.
- enough /ɪnˈnʌf/ adv, determiner, pron 1 as big, as many, as far, as much, etc. as necessary: This bag isn’t big enough to hold all my stuff. | He doesn’t even earn enough to pay the rent. | Is he old enough for school? | Do we have enough food for everybody? | The coach thinks she’s not trying hard enraged /in‘redʒd/ v. [T] to make someone very angry —enraged adj enrich /in‘rɪtʃ/ v. [T] to improve the quality of something: vitamin-enriched flour —enrichment n. [U]

enroll /in‘rəʊl/ v. [T] to officially join a school, university, etc., or to arrange for someone else to do this: the students enrolled in honors classes | Nathan enrolled at City College.

enrollment /in‘rəʊlmənt/ n. [C.U.] the number of students who are enrolled in a school or class, or the process of enrolling them: Enrollment was high this year.

en route /in ‘rút, en-/ adv. on the way: We stopped at my aunt’s house en route to Grandma’s.

ensconce /in’skɒns/ v. [T] (formal) to put someone in a safe and comfortable place: Martha was ensconced in the biggest chair.

ensemble /enˈsɛmbəl/ n [C] a small group of musicians who play together regularly enshrine /enˈʃrɪn/ v. [T] (formal) to put something in a special place so that people can see it and remember it: civil rights enshrined in the Constitution

---

enough in quantity or good enough

- adequate
- sufficient
- more than enough
- an amount that is enough or more

THE SAURUS

Did not receive adequate training.

The court has to decide if there is sufficient evidence to prove that he is guilty.

A heated discussion ensued. —ensuing adj

- to make something necessary, or have something as a necessary part: Does your job entail much traveling?

- to make something happen after something: The troops will ensure that food aid goes where it is most needed. | Strict measures were taken to ensure the accuracy of the results.

- to put information into a computer by pressing the keys, or to write information on a form, document, etc.: Enter your name in block
The show is an enterprise. Business: The activity of starting and running businesses (owned by one family).

The show is a huge enterprise. The ability to work hard and think of new ideas, especially in business: his enterprise and creativity → free enterprise.

She entertained the children with stories and songs. A musician should aim to entertain as well as educate.

Mike's entertaining clients tonight. (formal) to consider or think about an idea, doubt, suggestion, etc.

Someone whose job is to tell jokes, sing, etc.

Amusing and interesting: an entertaining movie.

Things such as television, movies, etc. that amuse or interest people: the entertainment industry.

A bar with live entertainment (people who perform)

To completely hold someone's attention and interest → entralling

To talk about something with excitement and admiration

A strong feeling of interest and enjoyment: He sang with enthusiasm. A teacher who shared my enthusiasm for history. The new students were full of enthusiasm (very enthusiastic).

Showing a lot of interest and excitement about something: a program that makes kids enthusiastic about learning | an enthusiastic crowd entails /'entərliz/ n. [plural the inside parts of a person or animal, especially the bowels]

en-trance /'entrəns/ n. 1 [C] a door, gate, or other opening that you go through to enter a place. (adj) entrance to the school | the back/front/side entrance of the hotel 2 [U] the right or opportunity to enter a place: Entrance will be denied to those without tickets. | an entrance fee for the museum | Entrance to the park is free. 3 [U] permission to become a member of or become involved in a profession, a university, etc.: the requirements for college entrance 4 make an entrance to come into a place in a way that makes people notice you en-trance2 /'entrəns/ v. [T usually passive] to make someone feel very interested in and pleased with something: We were entranced by the brilliant colors.

-en-trant /'entrənt/ n. [C] (formal) someone who enters a competition en-trap /'entrep/ v. (entrapped, entrapping) [T] (formal) to trick someone so that s/he is caught doing something illegal —entrapment n. [U] en-treat /'entri/t/ v. [T] (formal) to ask someone, with a lot of emotion, to do something —entreaty n. [C;U] en-trée /'entrə/ n. [C] the main dish of a meal en-trenched /'entrent/t/ adj. strongly established and not likely to change: entrenched attitudes en-tre-preneur /'entrəprənər, -'nər/ n. [C] economics someone who starts a company, arranges business deals, and takes risks in order to make a profit —entrepreneurial /'entrəprənərəl/ adj.

en-tro-py /'entropi/ n. [U] 1 physics a way of measuring or describing the tendency of energy in a molecule to spread out, so that the energy in the molecules around it changes to the same level, if there is nothing to stop them doing so | 2 a lack of order in a system, including the idea that the lack of order increases over a period of time

en-trust /'entrəst/ v. [T] to give someone something to be responsible for: Bergen was entrusted with delivering the documents.

en-try /'entrəri/ n. (plural entries) 1 [C,U] the act of going into a place, or the right or opportunity to enter a place (adj) exit: The papers granted him entry into the country. | There were no signs of forced entry into the house. | They were refused entry at the border. 2 [U] the right or opportunity to become a member of a group or take part in something, or the fact of doing this: the entry of new firms into the market | America’s entry into the war 3 [C] also entryway a door, gate, or passage that you pass through to go into a place 4 [C] something written or printed in a book, list, etc.: a dictionary entry 5 [U] the act of recording information on paper or in a computer: data entry 6 [C] a person or thing that takes part in a competition, race, etc.: the winning entry 7 [U] the act of entering a competition, race, etc.: Entry is open to anyone over 18.

ten-twine /'tenˌtwain/ v. [T] 1 be entwined if two things or people are entwined, they are closely connected with each other in a complicated way | 2 to twist something around something else:

e-nu-mer-ate /'nəmərət/ v. [T] (formal) to name a list of things, one by one

e-numeration 'powers n. [plural politics] another name for expressed powers

e-nun-ci-ate /'nənˌsaɪət/ v. (formal) to pronounce words or sounds clearly 2 [T] to express ideas or principles clearly and firmly: —enunciation n. [C,U]

en-ver-op /'enˌvələp/ v. [T] to cover something completely: The building was enveloped in flames. —enveloping adj

en-ve-lope /'envəloup, 'en-/', n. [C] the paper cover in which you put a letter [origin: 1700—1800 French enveloppe, from Old French vol- oper “to wrap”] en-vi-a-ble /'envəˈebl/ adj. an enviable quality, position, or possession is good and other people would like to have it: an enviable position in the company —enviably adv

en-vi-ous /'envərəs/ adj. wishing that you had someone else’s qualities or things (syn) jealous: Jackie was envious of Sylvia’s success. —enviously adv

en-vi-ron-ment /'envəˈrənment/ n. 1 the environment earth sciences the land, water, and air in which people, animals, and plants live: laws to protect the environment

en-tropy /'entropi/ n. [U] physics a way of measuring or describing the tendency of energy in a molecule to spread out, so that the energy in the molecules around it changes to the same level, if there is nothing to stop them doing so | 2 a lack of order in a system, including the idea that the lack of order increases over a period of time

en-trust /'entrəst/ v. [T] to give someone something to be responsible for: Bergen was entrusted with delivering the documents.

en-try /'entrəri/ n. (plural entries) 1 [C,U] the act of going into a place, or the right or opportunity to enter a place (adj) exit: The papers granted him entry into the country. | There were no signs of forced entry into the house. | They were refused entry at the border. 2 [U] the right or opportunity to become a member of a group or take part in something, or the fact of doing this: the entry of new firms into the market | America’s entry into the war 3 [C] also entryway a door, gate, or passage that you pass through to go into a place 4 [C] something written or printed in a book, list, etc.: a dictionary entry 5 [U] the act of recording information on paper or in a computer: data entry 6 [C] a person or thing that takes part in a competition, race, etc.: the winning entry 7 [U] the act of entering a competition, race, etc.: Entry is open to anyone over 18.

ten-twine /'tenˌtwain/ v. [T] 1 be entwined if two things or people are entwined, they are closely connected with each other in a complicated way | 2 to twist something around something else:

e-nu-mer-ate /'nəmərət/ v. [T] (formal) to name a list of things, one by one

e-numeration 'powers n. [plural politics] another name for expressed powers

e-nun-ci-ate /'nənˌsaɪət/ v. (formal) to pronounce words or sounds clearly 2 [T] to express ideas or principles clearly and firmly: —enunciation n. [C,U]

en-ver-op /'enˌvələp/ v. [T] to cover something completely: The building was enveloped in flames. —enveloping adj

en-ve-lope /'envəloup, 'en-/', n. [C] the paper cover in which you put a letter [origin: 1700—1800 French enveloppe, from Old French vol- oper “to wrap”]

en-vi-a-ble /'envəˈebl/ adj. an enviable quality, position, or possession is good and other people would like to have it: an enviable position in the company —enviably adv

en-vi-ous /'envərəs/ adj. wishing that you had someone else’s qualities or things (syn) jealous: Jackie was envious of Sylvia’s success. —enviously adv

en-vi-ron-ment /'envəˈrənment/ n. 1 the environment earth sciences the land, water, and air in which people, animals, and plants live: laws to protect the environment the greenhouse effect — the warming of the air around the Earth as a result of the Sun's heat being trapped by pollution global warming — an increase in world temperatures, caused by pollution in the air acid rain — rain that contains acid chemicals from factory smoke and cars, etc.
deforestation — when all the trees in an area are cut down or destroyed Describing things that are good for the environment environmentally friendly/eco-friendly — products that are environmentally friendly or eco-friendly are not harmful to the environment recycle — if materials such as glass or paper are recycled, they are put through a special process so that they can be used again biodegradable — a material that is biodegradable can be destroyed by natural processes, in a way that does not harm the environment organic — organic food or organic farming does not use chemicals that are harmful to the environment

2 [C][U] the situations, things, people, etc. that affect the way in which people live and work: a pleasant work environment
3 [C][U] EARTH SCIENCES the natural features of a place, for example its weather, the types of plants that grow there, etc.: a forest environment
Human activity, such as farming, changes the natural environment.
4 [C] [U] BIOLOGY the physical, chemical, natural, etc. conditions that affect the way a living thing lives or develops: The moths were able to adapt to their new environment.
[Orig.: 1600—1700 environ “to surround” (14—21 centuries), from Old French environner] en·vi·ron·men·tal /enˈvaɪrənməntl/ adj.
1 relating to or affecting the air, land, or water on Earth: environmental damage caused by oil spills
2 concerning the people and things around you that affect your life, for example the place where you live: Environmental factors, including a poor diet and dirty water, were partly responsible for the rapid spread of the disease.
—environmentally adv.
en·vi·ron·men·tal·ist /enˈvaɪrənməntl-ist/ n.
[C] someone who is concerned about protecting the environment en·vi·rons /enˈvaɪrənz, -rənz/ [plural] (formal) the area surrounding a place en·vi·sion /ɪnˈvaɪʒən/ also en·vis·age /ɪnˈvaɪzɪdʒ/ v. [T] to imagine something as a future possibility: Eve had envisioned a career as a diplomat.

en·vy1 /ˈenvi/ n. [U] 1 the feeling of wanting to have the qualities or things that someone else has;
She watched the other girls with envy.
2 be the envy of sb to be something that other people admire and want: an education system that is the envy of the world
[Orig.: 1200—1300 Old French envoyer, from Latin indire “to look at with bad feelings”] en·vy2 v. (envied, envies) [T] to wish you had the qualities or things that someone else has: I really envy you and Meg; you seem so happy together.
I envied John his freedom.
en·zyme /ˈenzəm/ n. [C] BIOLOGY a chemical substance that living cells produce in plants and animals, and that causes changes in other chemical substances [Orig.: 1800—1900 German enzym, from Greek enzym “substance that makes a flour- and-water mixture swell”] ep·ic /ˈepɪk/ adj.
1 full of brave action and excitement: an epic journey
2 very big, long, or impressive: an epic movie ep·ic /ˈepɪk/ n. [C] 1 a book or movie that tells an epic story 2 ENG. LANG. ARTS a long poem about what gods or important people did in past times: Homer’s epic “The Odyssey” ep·i·cenc·ter /ˌepɪˈsentər/ n. [C] EARTH SCIENCES the place on the Earth’s surface that is above the point where an EARTHQUAKE begins ep·i·dem·ic /ˌepɪˈdɛmɪk/ n. [C] 1 a large number of cases of a particular infectious disease happening at the same time: a typhoid epidemic 2 something bad that develops and spreads quickly: an epidemic of crime [Orig.: 1600—1700 French épidémique, from Greek epidemos “visiting”] ep·i·der·mal cell /ˌepɪˈdɛrml/ n. [C] BIOLOGY any cell that is part of the epidermis of an animal or plant ep·i·der·mis /ˌepɪˈdɜrmiːs/ n. [C][U] 1 BIOLOGY the outer layer of skin on a person or animal, formed by a layer of cells 2 BIOLOGY the outside surface of a plant, formed by a layer of cells ep·i·glot·tis /ˌepɪˈɡlɔtɪs/ n. [C] BIOLOGY the thin piece of flesh at the back of your throat, that covers part of your throat when you swallow ep·i·gram /ˌepɪˈɡræm/ n. [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS a short amusing poem or saying that expresses a wise idea ep·i·lep·sy /ˌepɪˈlepsoʊ/ n. [U] a medical condition in the brain that can make someone become unconscious or unable to control his/her movements for a short time epi-lep-tic /e'pə-ləpt'ık/ n. [C] someone who has epilepsy —epileptic adj.

ep-i-logue /e'pə-loj/, -log/ n. [C] ENG. ARTS a speech or piece of writing added to the end of a book, movie, or play, which usually gives information about what happened after the main action

e-piph-a-ni /'epifəni/ n. 1 (plural epiphanies) [C] a moment of sudden very strong emotions, when someone suddenly understands something important 2 Epiphany a Christian holy day on January 6, that celebrates the visit of the Three Wise Men to the baby Jesus Christ

E-pis-co-pa-l /'episkəpəl/ adj. relating to the Protestant church in America that developed from the Church of England —Episcopalian /'episkəpalən/ n. [C], adj.

epi-sode /'epiˌsōd/ n. [C] 1 a television or radio program that is one of a series of programs that tell a story: It’s my favorite episode of “Lost.” 2 an event, or a short time that is different from the time around it: several episodes of depression —episodic /'epiˌsōdik/ adj.

ep-i-sto-let /'epistəl/ n. [C] 1 (formal) a long and important letter 2 Epistle one of the letters written by the first Christians, which are in the New Testament of the Bible [Origins: 1100—1200 Old French, Greek epistole “message, letter,” from epistolēn “to send to”] e-pi-to-lar-y /'epistələrē/ adj. ENG. LANG. ARTS an epistolary book is written in the form of a series of letters ep-i-taph /'epitəf/ n. [C] a statement about a dead person, on the stone over his/her grave ep-i-the-lial /'epiθəlēl/ adj. [C] BIOLOGY a material made up of cells that are very close together, which forms a thin protective layer on the inner surfaces of the body and around organs ep-i-thet /'epiˌθet/ n. [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS an adjective or short phrase used for describing someone

e-pit-o-me /'pıtəmæ/ n. the epitome of sth the perfect example of something: Hitler is considered the epitome of evil.

epi-to-mize /'pıtəˌmaiz/ v. [T] to be the perfect or most typical example of something: Chicago’s busy liveliness seemed to epitomize the U.S. ep-och /'epək/ n. [C] a period in history during which important events or developments happened equal1 /'kwəl/ adj. 1 the same in size, value, amount, etc.: Divide the dough into three equal parts. | Both candidates received an equal number of votes. | Population growth is equal to 2% a year. | two areas of equal size 2 having the same rights, chances, etc. as everyone else: The Constitution says that all people are created equal. | equal partners in the business | equal rights for women | an equal opportunity employer 3 be equal to the task/challenge etc. to have the ability to deal with something successfully 4 on [an] equal footing; also on equal terms with neither side having any advantages over the other [Origins: 1300—1400 Latin aequalis, from aequus “level, equal”] equal2 v. (equalled or equalled, equaling or equalising). 1 [linking verb] to be the same as something else in size, number, amount, etc.: Four plus four equals eight. 2 [T] to be as good as something or someone else: He has equalled the Olympic record!

equal3 n. [C] someone who is as important, intelligent, etc. as you are, or who has the same rights and opportunities as you do: My boss treats her employees as equals. | Rembrandt was an artist without equal (=no one was as good as he).

equal-i-t-y /'kwəˌlətē/ n. 1 [U] the state of having the same conditions, opportunities, and rights as everyone else (no inequality) inequity: Women haven’t achieved equality in the workforce. | equality of opportunity | the struggle for racial equality equal-ize /'kwəˌliz/ v. [T] to make two or more things equal in size, value, etc.: The funds given to all schools should be equalized.

equal-ly /'kwəˌlæli/ adv. 1 to the same degree or limit: The candidates are equally qualified for the job. 2 in parts that are the same size: We’ll divide the work equally.

equal protection n. [U] LAW the principle that the government must treat all people and groups of people in a fair and equal way, as promised in the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment of the U.S. Constitution equal sign n. [C] MATH the sign (=), used in mathematics to show that two amounts or numbers are the same equa-nil /'kwəˌnəl/ adj. relating to the size, amount, or number of things: equal parts, areas, angles, etc. (no inequality) equa-tion /'kwəˈʃən/ n. [C] MATH a statement in mathematics showing that two quantities are equal, for example 2 x 3 + 4 = 10: Solve the first ten equations for homework. [Origins: 1400—1500 Latin, past participle of aequare “to make equal”]

e qua-ter /'kwəˈtər/ n. the equator an imaginary circle around the Earth, that divides it equally into its northern and southern halves —equatorial /'kwəˈtərəl/ adj. → see picture at GLOBE

e-qui-an-gu-lar /'kwıˈæŋglyələr/ , -ˌɡwələr adj. MATH an equiangular TRIANGLE or another shape has angles that are the same size and sides that are the same length: A square is an equiangular polygon.
equivocal /ɪkwəˈvɒkl/ adj 1 deliberately not clear or definite in meaning: an equivocal answer. 2 difficult to understand or explain: The results of the test were equivocal.
equip /ɪˈkwɪp/ v (equipped, equipping) [T] 1 to provide a person, group, building, etc. with the things that are needed for a particular purpose: The new school will be equipped with the latest computers. 2 to prepare someone for a particular purpose: The program equips youngsters with technical skills. 3 a problem we weren’t equipped to handle [Origine: 1500—1600 French équiper] —equipped adj.
equipment /ɪˈkwɪpman(t)ɪ/ n [U] the tools, machines, etc. that you need for a particular activity: camera equipment | new pieces of equipment for the chemistry lab equitable /ɪkwəˈteɪbl/ adj (formal) fair and equal to everyone involved: an equitable solution equity /ɪˈkwɪti/ n [U] 1 (formal) a situation in which everyone is fairly treated 2 economics the value of something you own, such as a house or shares, after you have taken away the amount of money you still owe on it equivocal /ɪˈkwɪvələnt/ adj equal in value, purpose, rank, etc. to something or someone else: The atomic bomb has power equivalent to 10,000 tons of dynamite. [Origine: 1400—1500 French; Late Latin, from aequiservum “to have equal power”] equivalent /ɪkwəˈvɜːlɪnt/ n [C] something that has the same size, value, etc. as something else: Some French words have no equivalents in English. | He had drunk the equivalent of two bottles of wine.

equivalent equations n [plural] MATH two or more equations that have the same set of solutions equivalent /ɪkwəˈvɜːlt/ adj relating to sexual love and desire: erotic pictures —erotically adj. —eroticism /ɪˈrətɪk/ n [U] rather than risk making mistakes errand /ˈɛrənd/ n [C] a short trip that you make to take a message or buy something: I have some errands to do downtown. Could you run an errand for Grandma?

er-rant /ˈɛrənt/ adj (formal) 1 behaving badly; an errant husband 2 going in the wrong direction: A member of the other team caught the errant pass.

er-rat-ic /ɪˈrætɪk/ adj changing often or moving in an irregular way, without any reason: erratic behavior —erratically adv.

er-ro-neous /ɪrəˈnuːs/ adj (formal) not correct: erroneous statements [The information we were given was erroneous. [Origin: 1300–1400 Latin erroneous, from error “to wander”] —erroneously adv.

error /ˈɛrər/ n [C,U] a mistake: They had made several errors. [an accident caused by human error (say a person rather than a machine)] The company admitted it was in error (=had made a mistake). Kovit apologized yesterday for his error in/of judgment (=a decision that was a mistake). [Origin: 1200–1300 Old French erreur, from Latin error, from errare “to wander”] er-u-dite /ɪrəˈdɪt/ adj (formal) showing a lot of knowledge —erudition /ɪrəˈdɪʃən/ n. [U] erupt /əˈrɑːpt/ v [ɪ] 1 to happen suddenly: A bloody civil war erupted in Iran. 2 earth sciences if a volcano erupts, it sends out smoke, fire, and rock into the sky 3 if a place erupts, the people there suddenly become very angry or excited: The crowd erupted into applause. [Origin: 1600–1700 Latin, past participle of erumpere “to burst out”] —eruption /əˈrɑːpʃən/ n. [C,U]: a volcanic eruption es-ca-la-te /ɛsˈkælət/ v [ɪ] 1 [ɪ] if violence or a war escalates, or if someone escalates it, it becomes much worse: Fighting has escalated in several areas. 2 [ɪ] to become higher or increase: Housing prices escalated recently. —escalation /ˌɛskəˈleɪʃən/ n [C,U] es-ca-la-tor /ɛsˈkælətər/ n [C] a set of stairs that move and carry people from one level of a building to another es-ca-pade /ɛsˈkæpəd/ n [C] an exciting adventure or series of events that may be dangerous es-cape1 /ɪˈskɛp/ v [ɪ] to succeed in going away from a place where you do not want to be, or from a dangerous situation: He escaped from a maximum security prison. The girl climbed through a window to escape the fire.

es-cape2 /ɪˈskɛp/ v [ɪ] to go away: to escape from someone who is chasing you: In the dream, a man with a knife is chasing me, and I can’t get away. to flee somewhere quickly in order to escape from danger: The refugees were forced to flee their country. to get out: to escape from a place: Is the window locked? Maybe we can get out that way. to break out: to escape from prison: Several inmates have broken out of the state penitentiary. to break free/break away —to escape from someone who is trying to hold you: She broke free and started running.

abscond (formal) —to leave a place without permission or after stealing something: Two employees allegedly absconded with the money.

get away —to escape from someone who is chasing you: The two boys managed to escape punishment. [The driver narrowly escaped death. She escaped with minor injuries (=she avoided being seriously hurt). 3 [ɪ] if gas, liquid, light, etc. escapes from somewhere, it comes out —escape sb’s notice/attention to not notice something —escaped adj: escaped prisoners escapism /ɪˈskæpɪzəm/ n [C,U] a way of forgetting about an unpleasant situation and thinking of pleasant things: the escapism that the movies provide for us —escapist adj.

es-chew /ɪˈskjuː/ v [ɪ] (formal) to deliberately avoid doing, using, or having something escort /ɪˈskɔːrt/ v [ɪ] 1 to go somewhere with someone, especially in order to protect him/her: Armed guards escorted the prisoners. 2 to go with someone of the opposite sex to a social event: The princess was escorted by her cousin.

es-cort2 /ɪˈskɔːrt/ n [C] the person or people who escort someone: The governor arrived at the Convention Center with a police escort. | The prisoners were transported under escort (≠ with an escort).

Es·ki·mo /ˈeskəˌmoʊ/ n. (plural Eskimos) [C] an Inuit. Some people now consider this word offensive.

ESL n. [U] English as a Second Language the teaching of English to people whose first language is not English, but who are living in an English-speaking country es·sen·cies one of the things that are most important, typical, or easily noticed: The essentials of democracy.

es·sen·tial /ɪˈsɛnʃəl/ adj. important and necessary: He is established himself as the most powerful man in the state. 4 to find out facts that will prove that something is true: Several studies have established that good daycare does children no harm. | The blood test will establish whether the treatment has been successful. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French establir “to make firm”]

es·sen·tial·ly /ɪˈsɛnʃəli/ adv. 1 used in order to emphasize that something is more important than other things, or that it happens more with one thing than with others: Everyone’s excited, especially Doug. | There may be feelings of dizziness, especially when walking or turning. 2 to a particularly high degree, or more than usual: The bread tasted especially good. 3 for a particular purpose, reason, etc. ➔ SPECIALLY: Several songs were recorded especially for the new collection.

es·say /ˈesər/ n. [C] a short piece of writing about a particular subject, especially as part of a course of study: an essay on/about race relations [Origin: 1400—1500 Old French essai, from Late Latin exagium “act of weighing”] es·ter·ic /ˈesətrɪk/ adj. known and understood only by a few people es·pe·cial·ly /ɪˈspɛsɪlɪ/ adv. 1 [sing] the most basic and important quality of something: Using scents to create a sense of well-being is the essence of aromatherapy. | In essence (≠ basically), these novels are all love stories. 2 [U] a liquid that has a strong smell or taste and is obtained from a plant, flower, etc.: vanilla essence [Origin: 1300—1400 French, Latin essentia, from esse “to be”] es·per·an·to /ɪˈspɛrənˌtoʊ/ n. a political or social movement to make people accept that you have a particular quality: He’s established himself as the most powerful man in the state. 4 to find out facts that will prove that something is true: Several studies have established that good daycare does children no harm. | The blood test will establish whether the treatment has been successful. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French establir “to make firm”]

es·spi·on·age /ɪˈspɪənɪdʒ/ n. the activity of finding out secret information and giving it to a country’s enemies or a company’s competitors

ESPN n. a cable television company that broadcasts sports programs in the U.S.

es·press·o /ɪˈpreʃəʊ/ n. (plural espressos) [C,U] very strong coffee that you drink in small cups [Origin: 1900—2000 Italian caffè espresso “pressed-out coffee”]

ES·skimo /ˌɛskəˈmoʊ/ n. (plural Eskimos) [C] an Inuit. Some people now consider this word offensive.

es·se·ment /ɪˈsɛmənt/ n. [C] (formal) an institution, especially a business, store, hotel, etc.: an educational establishment (≠ a school or college) 2 the Establishment the organizations and people in society who have a lot of power and who often are opposed to change my thesis on the poems of Sylvia Plath. dissertation – a long piece of writing that you write for a Ph.D.: He is currently working on his dissertation for his Ph.D. in Social Policy estate

or new ideas: the political/medical/military Establishment est·ate ɪˈɛstət/ [Ac] n. 1 [singular] LAW all of someone’s property and money, especially everything that is left after s/he dies: The house is part of his dead father’s estate. 2 [C] a large area of land in the country, usually with one large house on it

est·ee·mate, -e·stima·tion ɪˈɛstəm/ [Ac] n. 1 [singular] LAW an estimate of all of someone’s property and money, especially everything that is left after s/he dies. 2 [U] an estimate of how much it will probably cost to build or repair something: (very exact) estimated cost of $2 billion.

es·teem ɪˈɛstɪm/ [T] (formal) a feeling of respect and admiration for someone: She was held in high esteem by everyone on the team. • SELF-ESTEEM, esteem for ever: eternal et·her·al ɪˈɛθərəl adj. relating to beauty, especially beauty in art

eth·ics ɪˈθɪks/ [Ac] n. 1 [plural] a system of moral rules or principles of behavior for deciding what is right and wrong: medical ethics 2 [plural] moral rules or principles of behavior for deciding what is right and wrong: The use of animals in scientific tests raises difficult ethical questions. 3 morally good and correct: Is it ethical to use drugs to control behavior? • medically: ethically adv.

e·thi·cal ɪˈθɪkəl adj. relating to a particular race, nation, tribe, etc.: Bosnia’s three main ethnic groups, the students are from a wide variety of ethnic backgrounds. • morally: ethically

e·thic·al·i·ty ɪˈθɪkələti/ [Ac] n. (plural ethicities) [Cu] the race or national group that someone belongs to e·thic·al·i·ties ɪˈθɪkələtiyz/ [Ac] n. (plural ethicities) [Cu] the race or national group that someone belongs to e·tho·nic ɪˈθə nik/ [Ac] adj. relating to a particular race, nation, tribe, etc.: Bosnia’s three main ethnic groups, the students are from a wide variety of ethnic backgrounds. • morally: ethically

e·tho·nics ɪˈθə nikz/ [Ac] n. (plural ethnicities) [Cu] the race or national group that someone belongs to e·tho·nic·i·ty ɪˈθə nikəti/ [Ac] n. (plural ethnicities) [Cu] the race or national group that someone belongs to in order to stop him/her suffering [Origin: 1600—1700 Greek "easy death," from thanatos "death"] → euthanize /juθəˌnɑːz/ v [T] evacuate /ɪˈvækjuət/ v [T] 1 to move people from a dangerous place to a safe place: The police evacuated the building. [Origin: 1300—1400 Latin, past participle of evacuare, from vacuo "empty"] → evacuation /ɪˈvækjuərɪst/ n [C,U]

e·vac·u·ate hɪˌvækjuˈeɪt/ v. [C] someone who has been evacuated e·venue /ɪˈvendʒ/ v [T] 1 to avoid doing something you should do, or avoid talking about something → EVASION: Briggs evaded the issue. 2 to avoid being caught by someone who is trying to catch you: So far, he has evaded capture.

e·val·u·a·tion /ɪˈvæljuəˈeɪʃən/ n [C,U] the act of judging something or someone, or a document in which this is done: an evaluation of new surgical techniques | The child was sent for a psychological evaluation. [Origin: 1700—1800 French évaluation, from évaluer "to evaluate," from value "value"]
e·val·u·ate /ɪˈvæljuət/ v. [C,U] (formal) to judge how good, useful, or successful someone or something is: a chance for students to evaluate teachers | Scientists are evaluating the results of the drug trials.

e·val·u·a·ting /ɪˈvæljuəˈteɪtɪŋ/ adj.
e·val·u·a·tive /ɪˈvæljuəˈtɪv/ adj. (literary) something that is evanescent disappears quickly e·van·gel·ic /ɪˈvæŋɡəlɪk/ adj. SOCIAL SCIENCE evangelical Christians and beliefs emphasize a personal relationship with God, the importance of the Bible, and the importance of telling others about these ideas e·van·gel·ist /ɪˈvæŋɡəlɪst/ n [C] someone who travels from place to place in order to try to persuade people to become Christians [Origin: 1100—1200 Old French evangeliste, from Greek eὐangelιστης "good news, gospel"] → evangelism /ɪˈvæŋɡəlɪzəm/ n [U] → evangelistic hɪˈvæŋɡəlistɪk/ adj.
e·vap·o·rate /ɪˈvæpərət/ v. [T] CHEMISTRY if a liquid evaporates, or if something evaporates it, it changes into a gas → vaporing 1 [T] CHEMISTRY the process by which a liquid changes into a gas, for example into a vapor such as steam → CONDENSATION → see picture at WATER CYCLE e·va·sion /ɪˈveɪʒən/ n. [C,U] 1 the act of avoiding doing something you should do: tax evasion 2 the act of deliberately avoiding talking about something or dealing with something: a speech full of lies and evasions

e·va·sive /ɪˈveɪsɪv/ adj. 1 not willing to answer questions directly: an evasive answer 2 evasive action an action someone does to avoid being injured or harmed —evasively adv.

eve /ɪv/ n. 1 [C usually singular] the night or day before a religious day or a holiday: a party on New Year’s Eve 2 the eve of sth the time just before an important event: the eve of the election

e·ven1 /ɪˈven/ adv. 1 used in order to emphasize that something is surprising or unexpected: Even with the light on, it was hard to see. | Carrie doesn’t even like cookies! 2 used in order to make a comparison stronger: That just made me feel even worse. | an even bigger house 3 even if used in order to show that what you have just said will not change for any reason: If you ask a question, you’ll get an answer, even if it’s “I don’t know.” 4 even though used in order to emphasize that although one thing happens or is true, something else also happens or is true: He still remembers it, even though it happened more than 20 years ago. 5 even so used in order to say that something is true, although it is different from something you have just said: I knew he wasn’t coming, but even so, I waited a few minutes more.

even2 adj. 1 flat, level, or smooth: You need a flat, even surface to work on.

even3 v.
even (sth ••) out phr. v. to become equal or level, or to make something do this: If I give you two, that’ll even things out. | Over the year, the rise and fall in share prices has tended to even out.
even (sth ••) up phr. v. to become equal or the same, or to make something do this: O’Malley hit a home run to even up the score.
even-handed adj. giving fair and equal treatment to everyone evening /ˈɪvnɪŋ/ n. 1 [C,U] the end of the day and the early part of the night: Are you doing anything tomorrow evening? 2 I have a class on Thursday evenings. 3 She does her homework in the evening. 2 (Good) Evening (spoken) said in order to greet someone when you meet him/her in the evening: Evening, Rick. [Origin: Old English afearn, from afen “evening”]

‘evening gown also ‘evening dress n. [C] a dress worn by women for formal occasions in the evening

even-ly /ɪˈvəlnl/ adv. 1 covering or affecting all parts of something equally: Spread the paint evenly over the surface. 2 Make sure the weight is evenly distributed. 2 divided in an equal way: We split the money evenly. 3 in a steady or regular way. | evenly spaced rows of young trees

e·vent /ɪˈvent/ n. 1 something that happens, especially something important, interesting, or unusual: a novel based on a historical event | the sequence of events leading up to the war

THE SA URUS

occurrence — something that happens: a common occurrence incident — something unusual, serious, or violent that happens: an upsetting incident affair — an event or set of related events, especially unpleasant ones: the Watergate affair during Nixon’s presidency happening — something that happens, especially a strange event: There have been reports of strange happenings in the town. occasion — an important event or ceremony: We’re saving the champagne for a special occasion.
phenomenon — something that happens or exists in society, science, or nature that is unusual or difficult to understand: Homelessness is not a new phenomenon.

2 a performance, sports competition, party, etc. that is arranged for a particular date and time: It was the social event of the summer. | Security is tight for large sporting events. 3 one of the races or competitions that are part of a large sports competition: “Which event are you entered in?” “The long jump.” 4 in any event whatever happens or whatever the situation: I’m planning to retire at the end of the year in any event. 5 in the event of rain/fire/an accident etc. used in order to tell people what they should do or what will happen if something else happens: Britain agreed to support the U.S. in the event of war. [Origin: 1500—1600 Latin eventus, from the past participle of evenire “to happen”]

e·vent-ful /ɪˈventʃəl/ adj. full of interesting or important events: an eventful meeting

e·vent-tu·al /ɪˈventʃuəl/ adj. happening at the end of a process: In the quarterfinals, the University of Kansas lost to the eventual winners of the tournament. [Origin: 1600—1700 French eventual, from Latin eventus “what happens in the end”

ever /ɪˈvɜːr/ adv 1 at any time – used mostly in questions, negatives, comparisons, or sentences with “if”: Nothing ever makes Paula angry. | Have you ever eaten sushi? | If you’re ever in Wilmington, give us a call. | That was one of the best meals I’ve ever had. | I hardly ever (=almost never) watch TV. | 2 ever since continuously since: He moved to Seattle after college and has lived there ever since. | 3 as good/much/long etc. as ever as good, much, etc. as always or as usual: The food was as good as ever. | 4 better/higher/more etc. than ever even higher, better, etc. than before: People are having to work harder than ever just to pay the rent. | 5 ever-growing/ever-increasing etc. continuously becoming bigger, etc.: the ever-growing population problem

evergreen /ɪˈvɜːr.ɡrɪn/ adj evergreen trees have leaves that do not fall off in winter → DECIDUOUS —evergreen n [C]

everlasting /ɪˈvɜːr.ˈlaʊstɪŋ/ /ɪˈvɜːr.ˈlaʊstɪŋ/ adv continuing for ever: everlasting peace

every /ˈevri/ det. 1 each one of a group of people or things: Every student will receive a certificate. | He told Jan every single thing (=all the things) I said. | If you play this hard every time (=on each occasion), you’ll win every game. | 2 used in order to show how often something happens: We get the newspaper every day. | Change the oil in the car every 5,000 miles. | He came to see us every other day (=every two days). | I still see her every now and then/ever so often (=sometimes but not often). | 3 one in every 100/3 in every 5 etc. used in order to show how often something affects a particular group of people or things: One in every three couples live together without being married. | 4 each which way (informal) in every direction: People were running every which way. | [Origin: Old English efera ælc “every each”]

everone, everyone

These are all followed by a singular verb: Almost every house has a computer nowadays. | She checked the weight of each bag, and found that every one was different. | Everyone wants to be famous.

every one, everyone

Every one is used to emphasize that you mean each person or thing in a group: I’ve read every one of his books. | Everyone means all the people in a group: I want to thank everyone for their help → ALL

everybody /ˈevriˌbodi, -ˌbadi/ pron everyone everyday /ˈevriˌdeɪ/ adj. ordinary, usual, or happening every day: Stress is just part of everyday life.

everyone /ˈevriˌwʌn/ also everybody pron. 1 every person involved in a particular activity or in a particular place: Is everyone ready to go? | They gave a small prize to everyone who played. | Where is everybody (=where are the people that are usually here)? | I was still awake but everybody else (=all the other people) had gone to bed. | Everyone but (=all the people except) Lisa went home.

everyplace /ˈevriˌpleɪs/ adv (spoken) everywhere

everywhere

Everywhere has a bad day now and then.

everywhere

In use to mean each single person or thing in a group. Everyone has passed the test. Use every one to mean all the people in a group: Everyone has passed the test.

everywhere

2 all people in general: Everyone has a bad day now and then.

everywhere

In use to mean each single person or thing in a group. Everyone has passed the test. Use every one to mean all the people in a group: Everyone has passed the test.

everywhere

2 all people in general: Everyone has a bad day now and then.

everyplace

In use to mean each single person or thing in a group. Everyone has passed the test. Use every one to mean all the people in a group: Everyone has passed the test.

everywhere

2 all people in general: Everyone has a bad day now and then.

everywhere

In use to mean each single person or thing in a group. Everyone has passed the test. Use every one to mean all the people in a group: Everyone has passed the test.

everyplace

In use to mean each single person or thing in a group. Everyone has passed the test. Use every one to mean all the people in a group: Everyone has passed the test.

everywhere

2 all people in general: Everyone has a bad day now and then.

everywhere

In use to mean each single person or thing in a group. Everyone has passed the test. Use every one to mean all the people in a group: Everyone has passed the test.

everywhere

2 all people in general: Everyone has a bad day now and then.

everywhere

In use to mean each single person or thing in a group. Everyone has passed the test. Use every one to mean all the people in a group: Everyone has passed the test.

everyplace

In use to mean each single person or thing in a group. Everyone has passed the test. Use every one to mean all the people in a group: Everyone has passed the test.

everywhere

2 all people in general: Everyone has a bad day now and then.
Evidence does not have a plural form. You can say some evidence, any evidence, or pieces of evidence: There is some evidence that foods rich in vitamin C can give protection against cancer.

evident /e-vi-dent/ adj easily noticed or understood: It was evidently clear that she was unhappy. [Origin: Old English evidenc] evidential /e-vi-den-shul/ adj relating to the Devil: evil spirits [Origin: Old English yfel] evil /e-vil/ n 1 [U] actions and behavior that are morally wrong and cruel: the battle between good and evil 2 [C] something that is very bad or harmful: the evils of alcohol evolve /e-volv/ v 1 [T] to develop and change gradually over a long period of time: Did man evolve from apes? Their relationship evolved into a strong friendship. 2 [T] to develop something gradually: In America, we have evolved legal structures to protect people's rights.

evolve from /e-volv-frum/ phrase to develop gradually from something: other planets is true: the scientific idea that plants and animals develop gradually from simpler to more complicated forms: the evolution of mammals. 1 biology the changeable development of an idea, situation, or object: the evolution of the home computer. —evolutionary adj: evolutionary change.

evolutionary classification /e-vo-lu-tor-ee klas-i-fik-a-shuhn/ n [U] Biology: a scientific system of putting living things into particular groups or classes, according to the way they evolved.
evict /i-vikt/ v 1 [T] to legally force someone to leave the house she is renting from you: Frank was evicted from his apartment four months ago. —eviction /i-vekt/ n.
evolve /e-volv/ v 1 [T] to develop and change gradually over a long period of time: Did man evolve from apes? Their relationship evolved into a strong friendship. 2 [T] to develop something gradually: In America, we have evolved legal structures to protect people's rights.
eve/lu-tion /e-vol-yoo-shuhn/ n. 1 biology the scientific idea that plants and animals develop gradually from simpler to more complicated forms: the evolution of mammals. 1 biology the gradual change and development of an idea, situation, or object: the evolutionary development of the home computer. —evolutionary adj: evolutionary change.
evile /i-vul/ adj 1 deliberately cruel or harmful: an evil dictator 2 morally wrong: Slavery was evil.
evile /i-vul/ adj 1 deliberately cruel or harmful: an evil dictator 2 morally wrong: Slavery was evil.
evident /e-vi-dent/ adj: —evidently adv

Noticeable, clear, obvious, apparent, conspicuous, unmistakable, manifest

evile /i-vul/ adj 1 deliberately cruel or harmful: an evil dictator 2 morally wrong: Slavery was evil.
evile /i-vul/ adj 1 deliberately cruel or harmful: an evil dictator 2 morally wrong: Slavery was evil.

3 relating to the Devil: evil spirits [Origin: Old English yfel] evile /i-vul/ adj 1 deliberately cruel or harmful: an evil dictator 2 morally wrong: Slavery was evil.
evile /i-vul/ adj 1 deliberately cruel or harmful: an evil dictator 2 morally wrong: Slavery was evil.
evile /i-vul/ adj 1 deliberately cruel or harmful: an evil dictator 2 morally wrong: Slavery was evil.
evile /i-vul/ adj 1 deliberately cruel or harmful: an evil dictator 2 morally wrong: Slavery was evil.
evile /i-vul/ adj 1 deliberately cruel or harmful: an evil dictator 2 morally wrong: Slavery was evil.
ex·alt·ed ex·am·i·na·tion ex·am·ine exam / (an eyee xam did you do / detailed process of looking at something carefully in order closer examination [fully in order to make a look at something care-

examined me

The doctor

thing, etc.: examined me

2 having a very high rank, and highly respected filled with a feeling of great happiness

ex-am·i-na-tion / (a exam-nay-shun) n. [C, U] (formal) a very strong feeling of happiness

ex·as·pe·rat·ed n. [C] 1 someone or something that you mention to show what you mean, show that something is true, or show what something is like: an example of students’ writing | These chairs are a good typical classic example of Shaker furniture. | Can anyone give me an example of a transitive verb? | Many countries, for example (was an example) Mexico and Japan, have a lot of earthquakes.

ex·am·ple

1g’zampl/ n. [C] 1 someone or something that you mention to show what you mean, show that something is true, or show what something is like: an example of students’ writing | These chairs are a good typical classic example of Shaker furniture. | Can anyone give me an example of a transitive verb? | Many countries, for example (was an example) Mexico and Japan, have a lot of earthquakes.

ex·am·i·na·tion / (a exam-nay-shun) n. [C, U] (formal) a very strong feeling of happiness

ex·am·ine

exam / (an eyee xam did you do / detailed process of looking at something carefully in order closer examination [fully in order to make a look at something care-

examined me

The doctor

thing, etc.: examined me

2 having a very high rank, and highly respected filled with a feeling of great happiness

ex-am·i-na-tion / (a exam-nay-shun) n. [C, U] (formal) a very strong feeling of happiness

ex·as·pe·rat·ed n. [C] 1 someone or something that you mention to show what you mean, show that something is true, or show what something is like: an example of students’ writing | These chairs are a good typical classic example of Shaker furniture. | Can anyone give me an example of a transitive verb? | Many countries, for example (was an example) Mexico and Japan, have a lot of earthquakes.

ex·am·ple

1g’zampl/ n. [C] 1 someone or something that you mention to show what you mean, show that something is true, or show what something is like: an example of students’ writing | These chairs are a good typical classic example of Shaker furniture. | Can anyone give me an example of a transitive verb? | Many countries, for example (was an example) Mexico and Japan, have a lot of earthquakes.

ex·am·i·na·tion / (a exam-nay-shun) n. [C, U] (formal) a very strong feeling of happiness

ex·am·ine

exam / (an eyee xam did you do / detailed process of looking at something carefully in order closer examination [fully in order to make a look at something care-

examined me

The doctor

thing, etc.: examined me

2 having a very high rank, and highly respected filled with a feeling of great happiness

ex-am·i-na-tion / (a exam-nay-shun) n. [C, U] (formal) a very strong feeling of happiness

ex·as·pe·rat·ed n. [C] 1 someone or something that you mention to show what you mean, show that something is true, or show what something is like: an example of students’ writing | These chairs are a good typical classic example of Shaker furniture. | Can anyone give me an example of a transitive verb? | Many countries, for example (was an example) Mexico and Japan, have a lot of earthquakes.

ex·am·ple
There is a charge of $75 for excess baggage.

He had traded for a larger one?

ex·ce·p·tional /ɛkˈsɛpsə nl/ adj. 1 extremely good or of very high quality: Jim’s in excellent health. The food was excellent.

exception /ɪkˈsɛpsən/ n. 1 someone or something that is not included in something: It’s been very cold, but today’s an exception. He was asked to make an exception to company policy (not include something in the policy). Everyone has improved, with the possible exception of Sam. 2 be no exception used in order to say that something is not different from before or from the other things mentioned: March weather is usually changeable, and this year was no exception. 3 without exception (formal) used in order to say that something is true of all the people or things in a group: Almost without exception, teachers said that students do not work hard enough.

ex·cep·tion·al·ly adj. 2 unusual and not likely to happen often: The teachers were doing their best under exceptional circumstances.

ex·cep·tion /ɪkˈsɛpsən/ n. [C] a short piece of writing or music taken from a longer book, poem, etc.: an excerpt from his poem [Origin: 1500–1600 Latin, past participle of excipere, from carpere "to gather, pick"] ex·cess /ɪkˈsɛs/ n. 1 (singular, U) a larger amount of something than is needed, usual, or allowed: There is an excess of alcohol in his blood. 2 in excess of sth more than a particular amount: Our profits were in excess of $5 million. 3 do sth to excess to do something too much or too often: Is it possible to exercise to excess? 4 excesses [plural] actions that are socially or morally unacceptable: the worst excesses of capitalism

ex·ces·sive /ɪkˈsɛsɪv/ adj. much more than is reasonable or necessary: excessive fees —excessively adv ex·change /ɪkˈsɛntʃər/ v. 1 to give something to someone who gives you something else: We still exchange gifts at Christmas. —exchanged, exchanging ex·change·rate /ɪkˈsɛntʃər reɪt/ n. [C] the value of the money of one country compared to the money of another country ex·che·quer /ɛksˈtʃɛkər, ɪkˈstʃɛkər/ n. [C, usu. singular] ECONOMICS a government department in Great Britain and Northern Ireland that controls the money that the country collects and spends ex·ci·sion /ɪkˈsɪʃən/ n. [C] the government tax on particular goods produced and used inside a country ex·ci·t·a·ble /ɪkˈsaɪtə bəl/ adj. easily excited ex·ci·te /ɪkˈsaɪt/ v. [T] 1 to make someone feel happy, eager, or nervous: The thought of returning to Montana excited me. 2 to make someone have... strong feelings: The murder trial has excited public interest. [Origin: 1300—1400 French exciter, from Latin excitare, from citare “to set in movemament”]

ex·cit·ed /ik’sætəd/ adj. 1 happy, interested, or hopeful because something good has happened or will happen: We’re really excited about our trip to California. [These teachers want kids to get excited about learning. 2 feeling sexual desire —excitedly adv.

ex·cite·ment /ik’sətəmənt/ n. [U] the feeling of being excited: people’s excitement about the Olympics | Their eyes sparkled with excitement.

ex·cit·ing /ik’sətəŋ/ adj. making you feel happy or interested in something: an exciting story ex·claim /ik’sklɛm/ v. [I,T] (written) to say something suddenly because you are surprised, excited, or angry: “Oh!” exclaimed Stella. “What happened?” —exclamation /ekskləˈmeɪʃən/ n. [C] ex·cla·ma·tion·point also excla·ma·tion·mark n. [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS the mark (!) used in writing after a sentence or word that expresses surprise, excitement, or anger ex·cla·ma·to·ry /ik’skləˈmeɪtərɪ/ adj. ENG. LANG. ARTS an exclamatory sentence expresses a strong opinion or emotion and ends with an exclamation point (=!)

ex·clu·de /ik’skluːd/ v. [T] 1 to not allow someone to enter a place or to do something: Women are excluded from the priesthood. 2 [C] something that is deliberately not included: Some of the data was excluded from the report. [Origin: 1300—1400 Latin exclusare, from ex “out” + claudere “to close”]

ex·clud·ing /ik’skluːdɪŋ/ prep. not including: Figure out how much you spend each month, excluding set amounts such as housing or car payments.

ex·clu·sion /ik’skluːʒən/ n. 1 [U] a situation in which someone is not allowed to do something or something is not used: At that time, the judges upheld the exclusion of women from juries. 2 [C] something that is deliberately not included in a contract or agreement: a tax exclusion 3 do sth to the exclusion of sth to do something so much that you do not do, consider, or have time for something else: History books have focused on the achievements of white men, to the exclusion of women and minorities.

ex·clu·sive /ɪks’kлюːsɪv/ adj. 1 exclusive places, organizations, etc. are for people who have a lot of money, or who belong to a high social class: an exclusive Manhattan hotel 2 used by only one person or group, and not shared: a car for the exclusive use of the Pope 3 exclusive of sth not including something: The trip cost $450, exclusive of meals.

exclusive /ɪks’kлюːsɪv/ adj. 1 an important news story that is in only one newspaper, magazine, television news program, etc.

ex·clu·sive·ly /ɪks’kлюːsɪvli/ adv. only: Businesses should not focus exclusively on profit.

ex·clus·ive·’powers n. [plural] POLITICS the legal right to do something that only one level of the government has. For example, one of the exclusive powers of the FEDERAL government is the ability to print money, which state governments are not allowed to do.

ex·com·mu·ni·cate /ɪks’koʊməˈneɪt] v. [T] if a church excommunicates someone, it punishes him/her by not allowing him/her to continue to be a member —excommunication /ɪks’kaʊməˈneɪʃən/ n. [C] ex·cre·ment /ɪk’skrɛmənt/ n. [U] (formal) the solid waste from a person’s or animal’s body ex·cre·te /ɪk’skriːt/ v. [I,T] BIOLOGY to get rid of waste from the body through the bowels, or to get rid of waste liquid through the skin [Origin: 1600—1700 Latin excreter, past participle of excretere “to separate out”] ex·cur·di·at·ing /ɪk’skruːdiˈeɪtɪŋ/ adj. 1 extremely painful 2 extremely boring or embarrassing: He told us about his vacation in excruciating detail. [Origin: 1500—1600 excru-ciare “to cause great pain to” (16—21 centuries), from Latin excruciare, from cruce “to crucify” —excruciatingly adv.

ex·cur·di·ate /ɪk’skruːdiˈeɪt] v. [T] (formal) to prove or decide that someone is not guilty of something: The jury excused the defendant.

ex·cru·ci·a·tion /ɪk’skruːsəˈkeɪʃən/ n. [C] excruciating detail.

ex·cur·si·on /ɪk’skərˈziən/ n. [C] a short trip, usually made by a group of people: an excursion to Sea World ex·cus·a·ble /ɪkˈskjuːzəbəl/ adj. behavior or words that are excusable are easy to forgive ex·cuse /ɪkˈsjuːz] v. [T] 1 excuse me (spoken) a) said when you want to politely get someone’s attention in order to ask a question: Excuse me, is this the right bus for the airport? b) used in order to say you are sorry when you have done something that is embarrassing or rude: Oh, excuse me, I didn’t know anyone was here. c) used in order to politely tell someone that you are leaving a place: Excuse me, I’ll be right back. d) used in order to ask someone to repeat what s/he has just said: “What time is it?” “Excuse me?” “I asked what time it is.” e) used in order to ask someone to move so that you can go past him/her: Excuse me, I need to get through. 2 to forgive someone, usually for something not very serious: Please excuse my bad handwriting. I asked for a reason that you give to explain why you did something: excuse for laziness. | 3 to give an example of something that s/he is supposed to do: She was excused from jury duty. [Origin: 1400—1500 Old French exçuse from ex (cause, explanation) + -cuse.]

ex-cuse /eks’kyus/ n. [C] 1 a reason that you give to explain why you did something: What’s your excuse for being late? There’s no excuse for laziness. You need to stop making excuses and take responsibility. I was glad to have an excuse to put it off another day.

ex-cuse /eks’kyus/ v. (passed participle: excused) 1 to kill someone, especially as a legal punishment for a crime: kill, murder, assassinate, slay. 2 (formal) to do something that you have planned: These ideas require money and materials to execute.

ex-cu-tion /eks’kyuʃən/ n. [C] (U) the act of killing someone, especially as a legal punishment for a crime. 2 [U] (formal) a process in which you do something that you have planned to do: We will need help with both the planning and the execution of the changes.

ex-cu-tive /eks’kyutiv/ n. [C] someone whose job is to kill someone else as a legal punishment for a crime. 2 (formal) to do something that you are planning to do: These ideas require money and materials to execute.

ex-cu-tive /eks’kyutiv/ adj. relating to making decisions, especially in a company, government, or other organization: an executive committee.

ex-cu-tive branch n. [C] POLITICS the part of a government that approves decisions and laws, and organizes how they will work → JUDICIARY, LEGISLATURE. to run the story. 2 exert yourself to work very hard, using a lot of physical or mental energy ex·er·tion /ik'seAr'n/ n [C(U)] strong physical or mental effort ex·hal·e /iks'hæl, ek'seItl/ v [T] to breathe air, smoke, etc. out of your mouth (viv. breathe out): Take a deep breath, then exhale slowly.

ex·ha·sive /eks'sæsiv/ adj extremely tired: He was exhausted by/from the long day.

ex·haust·ed /iks'zæst/ adj. making you feel extremely tired: an exhausting trip ex·haust·ing /iks'zæstɪng/ adj making you feel extremely tired; an exhausting trip ex·haus·tion /iks'zæʃən/ n [U] the state of being extremely tired ex·haus·tive /iks'zætɪv/ adj extremely thorough: an exhaustive search —exhaustively adv

ex·hibit /eks'zhɪbɪt/ v. [T] 1 to put something in a public place so that people can see it; The gallery will exhibit some of Dali's paintings. 2 [C] to show a quality, sign, emotion, etc. in a way that people easily notice: The patient exhibited symptoms of heart disease. [Origin: 1400−1500 Latin exhibere, past participle of exhibere “to hold out, show”]

ex·hibit·ing /eks'zhɪbɪtɪŋ/ adj making you feel extremely tired: an exhausting trip ext·ing /iks'zæʃən/ n [U] the state of being extremely tired ex·hila·rat·ed /eks'heIrætəd/ adj extremely happy and excited: Rita felt exhilarated by the crashing of the waves.

ex·hil·a·ra·tion /eks'heIræʃən/ n [U] a feeling of being extremely happy and excited —exhilarate /eks'heIreɪt/ v [T] ex·hilar·ate /eks'heIreɪt/ v [T] (formal) to try to persuade someone to do something —exhilaration /eks'heIræʃən/ n [C(U)] ex·hume /iks'hyum/ v. [T] (formal) to remove a dead body from the ground after it has been buried —exhumation /eks'huːmeɪʃən/ n [C] ex·i·gent /iks'zent/ adj. existing; The need for a new housing scheme is urgent.

ex·ist·ence /iks'zentəns/ n [C(U)] present, current, prevailing ex·is·tence·al /iks'zentəsəl/ adj. existing

ex·ist·ing /iks'zentɪŋ/ adj. existing

ex·ist·ing·ly /iks'zentɪŋli/ adv.

ex·i·tion·ism /ek'seɪʃənɪzəm/ n [U] a behavior that makes people notice you, but that most people think is not acceptable.

exit /ɪksɪt/ 1 [C] a door through which you can leave a room, building, etc.: There are two exits at the back of the plane. The theater’s emergency exit → see picture at entry. 2 the act of leaving a room, stage, etc.: The President made a quick exit after his speech. 3 a place where vehicles can leave a large road such as a freeway or highway, and join another road: Take the Spring Street exit.

exit /ɪksɪt/ v. [T] to make someone leave a room, stage, etc.

ex·ith·ra·tion /iks'θɜːreɪʃən/ n [C(U)] making you feel extremely happy and excited: The balloon ride was exhilarating.

ex·is·tence·al /iks'zentəsəl/ adj. existing

ex·ist·ing /iks'zentɪŋ/ adj. existing

ex·ist·ing·ly /iks'zentɪŋli/ adv.

ex·i·tion·ism /ek'seɪʃənɪzəm/ n [U] a behavior that makes people notice you, but that most people think is not acceptable.

ex·ith·ra·tion /iks'θɜːreɪʃən/ n [C(U)] making you feel extremely happy and excited: The balloon ride was exhilarating.
exit
Latin exitus, from the past participle of exire “to go out” exit/ɪkˈsɪt/ v. [I, T] 1 to leave a place: The band exited through a door behind the stage. 2 it to stop using a computer or computer program: Press F3 to exit.

ex-o-dus /ɪkˈsɒdʌs/ n. [singular] a situation in which a lot of people leave a particular place at the same time: the exodus of Russian scientists to America [origin: 1600—1700 Exodus, the second book in the Bible, which describes how the Israelites left Egypt]

ex-on-er-ate /ɪkˈzɒnərət/ v. [T] formal to say officially that someone who has been blamed for something is not guilty: Ross was exonerated from all charges of child abuse. —exoneration ex-or-bi-tant /ɪkˈsɜːrbiːtənt/ adj. very expensive:

ex-pan-sion /ɪkˈspænʃən/ n. [U] the process of increasing in size, number, or amount: a period of economic expansion —expansionism ex-pa-ri-tate /ɪkˈspærɪteɪt/ n. [C] someone who lives in a foreign country —expatriate ex-pa-tri-a-tion /ɪkˈspærɪteɪʃən/ n. [U] a situation in which someone leaves or is forced to leave his/her country and go to live in another country —expatriate ex-pect /ɪkˈspekt/ v. [T] 1 to think that something will happen: The hotel bill came to more than we expected. I’m expecting her to arrive any day now. Republicans expect to win a majority in the House. He had a right to expect (that) his conversation would be private. 2 to demand that someone should do something, because it is his/her duty: Students are expected to return their homework on Friday. Wanda’s parents expect too much of her (=she can think more than she really can). 3 to be expecting if a woman is expecting, she is going to have a baby soon ex-pect-an-cy /ɪkˈspektənsi/ n. [U] the feeling that something exciting or interesting is about to happen: There was a look of expectancy in her eyes.

ex-pedient /ɪkˈspɛdɪənt/ adj. helpful or useful, sometimes in a way that is morally wrong: It would be expedient to consult a lawyer.

ex-pedient /ɪkˈspɛdɪənt/ adj. helpful or useful, sometimes in a way that is morally wrong: It would be expedient to consult a lawyer.

ex-pan-se /ɪkˈspæns/ n. [C] a very large area of water, sky, land, etc.

ex-pand /ɪkˈspænd/ v. [I] 1 to become larger in size, area, or amount, or to make something become larger: to expand rapidly in the ‘60s. 2 to open more shops, factories, etc.: Starbucks coffee shops have expanded into Europe. [origin: 1400—1500 Latin expandere, from pandere “to spread”] —expandable expansion /ɪkˈspænsʃən/ n. —expansible expand on/upon sth phr. v. [formal] to add more details or information to something that you have already said: Could you expand on your last comment, please?

experiment

353

ex·pe·dite /'Eksp@"daIt/ v. [T] to make a process, action, etc. happen more quickly ex·pe·di·tion /"Eksp@'dIS@n/ n. [C] 1 a long and carefully organized trip, especially to a dangerous place: an expedition to the North Pole trip, journey, voyage, tour, excursion, pilgrimage ➔ TRAVEL 2

THESAURUS

2 a short trip, usually made for a particular purpose:
a shopping expedition ex·pel /Ik'spEl/ v. (expelled, expelling) [T] 1 to officially make someone leave a school, organization, or country: Larry was expelled from school for smoking. 2 to force air, water, or gas out of something ex·pend /Ik'spEnd/ v. [T] (formal) to use money, time, energy, etc. to do something: the time expended on meetings ex·pend·a·ble /Ik'spEnd@b@l/ adj. not needed enough to be kept or saved: workers who are considered expendable ex·pend·i·ture /Ik'spEnd@tSø/ n. (formal) 1 [C,U] the total amount of money that a person or organization spends: Expenditure on welfare programs went down by 5%. 2 [U] the action of spending or using money, time, effort, etc. ex·pense /Ik'spEns/ n. 1 [C,U] the amount of money you spend on something: Sally’s parents spared no expense (=spent a lot of money) for her wedding. | $30,000 is needed for medical/legal expenses.
THESAURUS
cost, price, charge, fee, fare, rent, rate ➔ COST 1

2 at the expense of sb/sth if something is done at the expense of someone or something else, it is only achieved by doing something that could harm that person or thing: The cars were produced quickly, at the expense of safety. 3 at sb’s expense a) if you do something at someone’s expense, that person pays for you to do it: Education is provided at the public’s expense. b) if you make jokes at someone’s expense, you make him/her seem stupid: He kept making jokes at his wife’s expense. 4 expenses [plural] money that you spend on travel, hotels, meals, etc. when you are working, and that your employer gives back to you later 5 all expenses paid having all of your costs for hotels, travel, meals, etc. paid for by someone else ex'pense ac"count n. [C] money that is available to someone who works for a company so that s/he can pay for hotels, meals, etc. when traveling for work
ex·pen·sive /Ik'spEnsIv/ adj. something that is expensive costs a lot of money ANT inexpensive, cheap: expensive jewelry | The car is expensive to maintain.
THESAURUS

high – used about prices that are greater than normal or usual: Gas prices are very high right now.

pricey (informal) – expensive: The hotel was a little bit pricey.

costly – costing a lot of money: costly car repairs overpriced – something that is overpriced is more expensive than it should be: overpriced running shoes

be a ripoff (informal) – if something is a ripoff, it is more expensive than it should be: The restaurant was such a ripoff. extortionate/astronomical/exorbitant – used about prices that are much too high: Housing prices in New York are exorbitant.
fancy – used about fashionable restaurants, cars, clothes, etc. that look expensive: a fancy hotel in Manhattan
posh (informal) – used about expensive hotels, restaurants, schools, etc. that are used by rich people: a posh five-star hotel ➔ CHEAP 1

ex·pe·ri·ence1 /Ik'spIri@ns/ n. 1 [U] knowledge or skill that you gain from doing a job or activity: Scott has a lot of experience in publishing. | a good way of gaining/getting experience | Do you have any previous experience in sales? 2 [U] knowledge that you gain about life and the world by being in different situations and meeting different people: In my experience, it is hard work, not luck, that brings success. | I know from personal experience that this is not easy. 3 [C] something that happens to you and has an effect on how you feel or what you think:

Visiting Paris was a wonderful experience. | Other people have had similar experiences. experience2 v. [T] to be happening to you or affecting you: The plane experienced engine problems. | Patients often experienced extreme pain.
ex·pe·ri·enced /Ik'spIri@nst/ adj. having particular skills or knowledge because you have done something often or for a long time ANT inexperienced: an experienced pilot ex·per·i·ment1 /Ik'spEr@m@nt/ n. [C] 1 a scientific test done to show how something will react in a particular situation, or to prove that an idea is true: Experiments were performed/conducted/done on rats to test the drug. | experiments on/with solar-powered vehicles
THESAURUS

research, study ➔ RESEARCH 1

2 a process in which you try a new idea, method, etc. in order to find out if it is effective: St. Mary’s School is an experiment in bilingual education.
[ORIGIN: 1300—1400 Old French, Latin experimentum, from experiri “to try out”] ex·per·i·ment2 /Ik'spEr@"mEnt/ v. [I] 1 to try using various ideas, methods, materials, etc. in order to find out how effective or good they are: We encourage students to experiment with new ways of doing things. 2 to do a scientific test in order to find out if a particular idea is true or to obtain more information: Researchers experimented on animals when testing the treatment. —experimentation /Ik"spEr@m@n'teIS@n/ n. [U]

E


experimental

ex-per-i-men-tal /ek spar-i men tali/ adj 1 used for or related to experiments: experimental research 2 using or testing new ideas: an experimental theater group —experimentally adv.

ex-pert /eks pet/ n [C] someone with special skills or knowledge of a subject, gained as a result of training or experience: an expert on/in Native American history [ORIGIN: Old French, Latin expertus, past participle of experiri “to try out”] —expert adj: an expert teacher; very sick patients who need expert care —expertly adv.

thesaurus

specialist — someone who knows a lot about something because s/he has studied it for a long time: Lowe is a specialist in immigration law.

authority — someone who is very respected because s/he knows more about a subject than other people: She is a leading authority on modern art.

connoisseur — someone who knows a lot about something such as art, food, or music: a connoisseur of fine wines pundit — someone who knows a lot about a particular subject, and is often asked for his/her opinion: Most pundits think the Democrats’ hold on Congress is secure.

thesaurus

skilled, accomplished, talented, gifted, adept, deft ➔ skillful

ex-per-tise /eks pet siz/ n [U] a special skill or knowledge that you learn by experience or training: her technical/medical/legal expertise | his expertise in mathematics | Most people do not have the expertise to make wise investments.

ex-pi-rate /eks pet er t/ v [T] (formal) to do something to show that you are sorry and to improve the situation after you have done something wrong: How can I expiate my sin? —expiation /eks pet i a ni/ n [U]

ex-pi-ration /eks pet er a ni/ n [U] the end of a period of time during which an official document or agreement is allowed to be used: the expiration of the treaty expiration date n. [C] the date when something stops being safe to eat or use ex-pire /eks pet er/ v [I] 1 if a document expires, you cannot legally continue to use it beyond a particular date: My driver’s license expires in September. 2 (literary) to die ex-plain /ik spline/ v. [I,T] 1 to tell someone about something in a way that is easy to understand: Dr. Brasco carefully explained the procedure. 2 (I,T) to burst into small pieces, making a loud noise and causing damage, or to make something do this: The cat bomb exploded at 6:16. 3 (I) to suddenly express strong emotions, especially anger: John exploded within/rage at the news. 4 (I) to be easily understood or explained (ANT: inexplicable)

thesaurus

tell — to give someone facts or information in speech or writing: Can you tell me how to get to the Empire State Building?
suddenly no longer controlled: Troops cannot control the violence that has exploded in the city. 4 [I] to increase a lot in number, amount, or degree: Florida's population exploded after World War II. [Origin: 1500—1600 Latin explore “to drive off the stage by clapping.” from plaudere “to clap.”] explore /ɪkˈsploʊər/ n 1 to search or think about something carefully: I want to make sure I've explored all my options before I decide. 2 [U] to discuss or think about something carefully: I want to make sure I've explored all my options before I decide. The company is exploring the possibility of moving.

exploitation /ɪkˈsploʊətəʃən/ n 1 the activity of traveling through a place in order to find out about it or to find something such as oil or gold in it: exploration for oil. 2 an examination or discussion about something to find out more about it: an exploration of spiritual issues.

exploration /ɪkˈsploʊərəʃən/ n 1 the activity of exploring a place in order to find out about something: exploration of natural resources.

explorer /ɪkˈsploʊərər/ n [C] usually plural a brave, exciting, and interesting action: the young explorer's exploits.

expose /ɪkˈspouz/ v 1 [T] to show something that is usually covered or hidden: it's best to keep babies' skin from being exposed to the sun. 2 to reveal something to someone so that they will know about it: Field trips expose children to real examples of things they are learning about in the classroom. 3 to tell people the truth about an event or situation that is not acceptable because it is dishonest or illegal: We threatened to expose him to the police. 4 to allow light onto a piece of film in a camera in order to produce a photograph [Origin: 1400—1500 French exposer from Latin exponere “to put out, explain”] exposure /ɪkˈspouzər/ n 1 [C] a story in a newspaper or on television that shows the truth about something, especially something dishonest or shocking explosive /ɪkˈspləʊzɪv/ adj 1 able or likely to explode: Dynamite is highly explosive. 2 likely to make people become violent or angry: the explosive issue of abortion. 3 likely to suddenly become violent and angry: a man with an explosive temper. 4 increasing suddenly or quickly: the explosive growth of the Internet.

explode /ɪkˈspləʊd/ v 1 [T] to cause a sudden large increase: the population explosion. 2 [VI] to make something go off or break open with a huge explosion: the nuclear explosion.

explosions /ɪkˈspləʊziənz/ n 1 [C] usually plural a huge explosion: a huge explosion.

exponent /ɪkˈspəʊnt/ n 1 [C] usually plural a person who persuades others to agree with or accept their ideas: an exponent of socialism. 2 [C] the necessary steps that have to be taken: the necessary steps to take.

exponential /ɪkˈspəʊnənt/ adj 1 of or relating to the number or rate of growth increases faster as the amount of the thing that is growing increases: the exponential growth of the world's population. 2 describing a curve that bends upward or downward more as it slopes from left to right: an exponential increase.

exports /ɪkˈspɔːrts/ n 1 [C] the things that are sold to other countries: exports of wheat. 2 [U] the activity of selling goods to another country: the exportation of wheat.

exportation /ɪkˈspɔːrtəʃən/ n 1 the act of moving something from one place to another: exporting lumber.

exposed /ɪkˈspəʊzd/ adj 1 not covered or not protected: exposed skin.

exposures /ɪkˈspəʊzdʒərz/ n 1 [C] usually plural a large public event at which you show your products to people, such as a trade fair: the New York trade fair.

exposure /ɪkˈspouzər/ n 1 [C] the chance to experience new things: to experience the world. 2 [singular, U] the chance to experience new things.
ideas, ways of life, etc.: My first exposure to classical music was at college. 3 [U] the attention that someone or something gets from newspapers, television, etc.: The issue has received a lot of exposure in the press. 4 [C,U] the action of telling people the truth about a dishonest person, event, or situation: The school district has made changes since the newspaper's exposure of the scandal. 5 [U] the harmful effects of staying outside for a long time when the weather is extremely cold: Three climbers died of exposure. 6 [C] a length of film, in a camera that is used to take one photograph: This roll has 36 exposures.

ex·pres·sion
[ex-pres'-zhun]
n. 1 [C] a way of showing how you feel or think: I'm sending these flowers as a sign of how much I love you. 2 [U] the way that you say, do, or write that shows what you think or feel: I don't have much expression in my face. 3 [C] the words or an idea that someone says, does, or writes. 4 [U] an expression of something: It was his father's expression of disappointment.

ex·pres·sion·less [ex-pres'-zhun-lis]
adj. having no expression: His face was expressionless.

ex·pres·sive
[ex-pres'-iv]
adj. expressing something: The artist's work is very expressive.

I'm sending these flowers as a sign of how much I love you.

ex·press
[ex-pres']
vt. 1 to send something quickly by a special delivery service: They express all their packages to London. 2 to speak or write in a clear and direct way, without using too many words: The lawyer expressed his opinion very clearly.

ex·press·ly
[ex-pres'-li]
adv. very clearly: You express yourself clearly, don't you?

ex·press
[ex-pres']
vi. 1 to go quickly: The race car expressed at 120 miles per hour. 2 to speak with a clear and direct way: She's always express.

ex·press·way
[ex-pres'-we]
[C] a wide road in a city on which cars can travel fast

ex·pro·pri·ate
[ex-pro-prish-uh-tayt]
vt. to take away someone's private property for public use: The government expropriated land from the farmers.

ex·pur·gat·ed
[ex-pur-gahtid]
adj. having had something removed: The book was expurgated to make it suitable for children.

ex·pur·ga·tion
[ex-pur-ga-tshuhn]
n. the act of expurgating something: The manuscript will be reviewed for expurgation.

ex·quis·ite
[ek-sis-wat]
adj. very fine or very beautiful: The dress was exquisite.

ex·quis·i·ty
[ek-sis-uh-tuh-tee]
n. the quality of being exquisite: The wine had a high level of exquisite.

ex·quis·ite
[ek-sis-wat]
adj. having a quality of being exquisite: The music was exquisite.

ex·quis·i·ty
[ek-sis-uh-tuh-tee]
n. the quality of being exquisite: The wine had a high level of exquisite.

ex·quis·ite·ly
[ek-sis-wat-lee]
adv. in a very exquisite way: She expressed herself exquisite.

express
[ek-spres]
vt. to state very clearly: She expressed her opinion very clearly.

express
[ek-spres]
vi. 1 to communicate a thought, emotion, or idea: She expressed her feelings.

express·ed
[ek-spresd]
vt. to say what someone thinks or feels: The politician expressed some feelings about the issue.

express·less
[ek-spres-lis]
adj. not expressing anything: His face was expressionless.

express·ive
[ek-spres-tiv]
adj. expressing something: His eyes are very expressive.

express·ive·ly
[ek-spres-tiv-lee]
adv. in an expressive way: She talked expressive.

express·ion
[ek-spreshuhn]
n. 1 [C] a way of showing how you feel or think: I'm sending these flowers as a sign of how much I love you. 2 [U] the way that you say, do, or write that shows what you think or feel: I don't have much expression in my face. 3 [C] the words or an idea that someone says, does, or writes. 4 [U] an expression of something: It was his father's expression of disappointment.

express·ion·less
[ek-spreshuhn-lis]
adj. having no expression: His face was expressionless.

express·ive
[ek-spres-tiv]
adj. expressing something: The artist's work is very expressive.

express·ive·ly
[ek-spres-tiv-lee]
adv. in an expressive way: She talked expressive.

express·ion·al [ek-spreshuhn-lul]
adj. showing what someone is thinking or feeling: expressive eyes

express·ly
[ek-spres-lee]
adv. very clearly: You express yourself clearly, don't you?

express·way
[ek-spres-way]
[C] a wide road in a city on which cars can travel fast

EX·TRAUS
road, street, main street, avenue, lane, main road, the main drag, highway, freeway, toll road, turnpike ➔ ROAD

ex·pro·pri·ate
[ex-pro-prish-uh-tayt]
vt. to take away someone's private property for public use: The government expropriated land from the farmers.

ex·pur·gat·ed
[ex-pur-gahtid]
adj. having had something removed: The book was expurgated to make it suitable for children.

ex·pur·ga·tion
[ex-pur-ga-tshuhn]
n. the act of expurgating something: The manuscript will be reviewed for expurgation.

ex·quis·ite
[ek-sis-wat]
adj. very fine or very beautiful: The dress was exquisite.

ex·quis·i·ty
[ek-sis-uh-tuh-tee]
n. the quality of being exquisite: The wine had a high level of exquisite.

ex·quis·ite·ly
[ek-sis-wat-lee]
adv. in a very exquisite way: She expressed herself exquisite.

express
[ek-spres]
vt. to state very clearly: She expressed her opinion very clearly.

express
[ek-spres]
vi. 1 to communicate a thought, emotion, or idea: She expressed her feelings.

express·ed
[ek-spresd]
vt. to say what someone thinks or feels: The politician expressed some feelings about the issue.

express·less
[ek-spres-lis]
adj. not expressing anything: His face was expressionless.

express·ive
[ek-spres-tiv]
adj. expressing something: The artist's work is very expressive.

express·ive·ly
[ek-spres-tiv-lee]
adv. in an expressive way: She talked expressive.

express·ion
[ek-spreshuhn]
n. 1 [C] a way of showing how you feel or think: I'm sending these flowers as a sign of how much I love you. 2 [U] the way that you say, do, or write that shows what you think or feel: I don't have much expression in my face. 3 [C] the words or an idea that someone says, does, or writes. 4 [U] an expression of something: It was his father's expression of disappointment.

express·ion·less
[ek-spreshuhn-lis]
adj. having no expression: His face was expressionless.

express·ive
[ek-spres-tiv]
adj. expressing something: The artist's work is very expressive.

express·ive·ly
[ek-spres-tiv-lee]
adv. in an expressive way: She talked expressive.
in a large building, which all have different numbers: Hello, I'd like extension 1334, please. | What's your extension number? | b) one of the telephones in a house that all have the same number 2 [C usually singular] an extra period of time allowed for something: The professor gave me a two-week extension on my paper. 3 [C,U] the process of making something bigger or longer, or the part that is added in this process: The city is extending an extension to the subway line. | an extension of the museum 4 [singular, U] the development of something so that it affects more things or people: an extension of employee health care extension cord n [C] an additional electric cord that you attach to another cord in order to make it longer extensive /ik'stensiv/ adj 1 containing a lot of information and details: Doctors have done extensive research into the effects of stress. | The networks are planning extensive television coverage. 2 large in size, amount, or degree: The flood caused extensive damage to the town. | the extensive use of pesticides extent /ik'sten/ n 1 [U] how big, important, or serious something is: What's the extent of the damage? Medical tests were done to determine the extent of his injury. 2 to ... extent used to say how true something is: I do agree with him to some extent/a certain extent (sparingly). | Stock prices fell sharply in Asia and Europe and, to a lesser/greater extent, in the United States. 3 to such an extent that/to the extent that used to say how great an effect or change is: The building was damaged to such an extent that it had to be knocked down.

exterior /ik'stɛəriər/ adj 1 the outside of something [ANT interior]: the exterior of the house 2 calm/confident etc. exterior: someone's behavior that often does not show his/her real feelings or nature exterior angle n [C] MATH an angle outside a polygon (=flat shape with straight sides) that is formed from one of the sides of the polygon and a line continuing out from a side that is next to the first side exterminate /ik'stɛrminet/ v [T] to kill all of a particular group of animals or people —exterminator n [C] —extermination /ik'stɛrminənən/ n [C,U]

extract /ɪk'strækt/ v 1 [T] to express your emotions in words or actions ➔ internalize 2 [T] to make a fire or light stop burning or shining: Please extinguish all cigarettes. | [Orig.: 1500—1600 Latin extinguere, from stinguere "to extinguish"] 3 to remove something from a place or thing: I have to remove something from a place or thing: I have to extract /ɪk'strækt/ n [C] a FIRE EXTINGUISHER extract

have a tooth extracted. Olive oil is extracted from green olives. 2 to make someone give you information, money, etc. that s/he does not want to give. The police couldn’t extract any information from him. [Origin: 1400—1500 Latin, past participle of extrahere, from extra “out” + trahere “to pull”] ex·tra·cu·ric·u·lar /ɪkˈstrækʃəl/ n. 1 [C] a small part taken from a story, poem, etc. as an extract from the article. 2 [C] a substance that is removed from a plant: vanilla extract ex·tra·cu·tion /ɪkˈstrækʃən/ n. 1 [C] the process of removing something from something else: the extraction of coal. 2 be of French/Irish etc. extraction to be part of a family that came from France, Ireland, etc. in the past, though you were not born in that country ex·tra·cu·ri·lar /ɪkˈstrækʃələr/ adj. [only before noun] extracurricular activities are those that you do for fun and are not part of the usual work you do for school ex·tra·cu·ri·lar /ɪkˈstrækʃərtɪd/ v. [T] law to send someone who may be guilty of a crime back to the country where the crime happened: —extradition /ɪkˈstrædɪʃən/ n. [C] ex·tra·cu·ri·lar /ɪkˈstrækʃənuəs/ adj. (formal) not directly related to a particular subject: extraneous details ex·tra·or·di·nar·y /ɪkˈstrɔːrdɪnəri/ adj. 1 very unusual, special, or surprising: an extraordinary talent. 2 an extraordinary event [Origin: 1400—1500 Latin extraordinarius, from extra ordinem “out of the usual course,” from ordo “order”] ex·tra·or·di·nar·i·ty /ɪkˈstrɔːrdɪnəriːti/ n. (plural extremities) 1 [C] the part that is furthest from the center of something: the city’s northern extremity. 2 [C, usually plural] one of the parts of your body that is furthest away from the center, for example your fingers or toes ex·tra·ter·res·tri·al /ɪkˈstrɔːtərəsˈtriːəl/ adj. 1 spending or costing too much money: extravagant parties. 2 extravagant claims, promises, etc. are not likely to be true [Origin: 1300—1400 Medieval Latin, Latin vagans, present participle of vagari “to wander about”]. —extravagantly adv. —extravagance n. [C] ex·tra·ter·res·tri·al /ɪkˈstrɔːtərəsˈtriːəl/ adj. 1 very great in degree: extreme violence. 2 Mountain climbers face extreme danger. 2 very unusual and severe or serious: The soldiers were accused of using extreme methods to question prisoners. In extreme cases, the spider’s bite can kill. 3 extreme opinions are very strong, and most people think they are unreasonable: the party’s extreme left wing. 4 extreme sport/skiing etc. a sport that is done in a way that is more dangerous than usual extravagant /ɪkˈstrævægənt/ adj. 1 very happy, excited, and full of energy: the exuberant bride —exuberance n. [U]

ex·u·ber·ant /ɪkˈzʊbərənt/ adj. 1 to show that you are happy and proud because you have achieved something: The people exulted over the defeat of their enemy. —exultant adj. —exultation /ɪkˈzʊltəʃən/ n. [C] ex·u·ber·ant /ɪkˈzʊbərənt/ adj. 1 [U] one of the two parts of your face that you see with: Gina has blue/brown etc. eyes. 2 My eyes are going bad; I think I need glasses. 3 Close/shut your eyes and go to sleep. 4 She opened her eyes. 4 He spoke with tears in his eyes. | Dave is blind in one eye. | blue-eyed/bright-eyed etc.

COLLOCATIONS

If you lower your eyes, you look down.
Your eyes narrow if you are watching something carefully or thinking hard about something.
Your eyes widen if you are surprised, afraid, etc.
Your eyes sparkle if you are excited or very happy.

2. SEE/UNDERSTAND a particular way of seeing, judging, or understanding something: The story is told through the eyes of a young boy. | a good eye for detail

3. keep an eye on sb/sth (informal) to watch someone or something to make sure nothing bad happens: Can you keep an eye on the baby while I go to the store?

4. lay/set eyes on sb/sth (spoken) to see someone or something, especially for the first time: The first time I laid eyes on him, I knew I liked him.

5. cannot take your eyes off sb/sth to be unable to stop looking at someone or something because she or it is attractive or interesting: When I watch him play, I just can’t take my eyes off him.

6. eye contact a situation in which you look directly at someone while she is looking at you: Tina avoided eye contact with her mother.

7. keep an eye out for sb/sth to be ready to notice someone or something when he, she, or it appears: Keep an eye out for Rick’s car.

8. in the eyes of the law/world/po licel etc. in the opinion or judgment of the law, world, etc.: Divorce is a sin in the eyes of the Catholic Church.

9. have your eye on sb to notice someone that you think is attractive or interesting: Mark really has his eye on Yvonne.

10. have your eye on sth to want something that you think might become available: Harris has his eye on a two-story house in Woodside.

11. see eye to eye if two people or groups see eye to eye, they have the same opinions about something: Baker and Quinn don’t always see eye to eye on every issue.

12. close/open your eyes to sth to ignore something bad that is happening, or to start to realize that something bad is happening: The trip opened his eyes to the poverty in the area.

13. NEEDLE the hole in a needle, that you put thread through.

14. the eye of a storm/hurricane/tornado the calm center of a big storm

15. an eye for an eye the idea that if people do something wrong, you should punish them by doing the same thing to them [Origin: Old English eage] → catch sb’s eye at MATCH1, look sb in the eye at LOOK1 eye v. (past tense and past participle eyed, present participle eyeing or eying) [T] to look at someone or something with great interest: Sarah kept eyeing my boyfriend all night.

eye-ball /'abl/ n. [C] the whole of your eye, including the part inside your head → see picture at EYE1 eye-brow /'æbraʊ/ n. [C] the line of short hairs above your eye → see picture at EYE1

eye-catching adj. unusual, attractive, or noticeable; an eye-catching dress eye-lash /'ælaʃ/ n. [C] one of the small hairs that grow on the edge of your eyelid → see picture at EYE1

eye-lid /'æl/ n. [C] the piece of skin that covers your eye when it is closed → see picture at EYE1

eye-lin-er /'ælin/ n. [C.U.] a type of MAKEUP that you put in a thin line along the edges of your eyelids eye-opener n. [C usually singular] an experience from which you learn something new or surprising: Seeing inside a prison was a real eye-opener for me.

eye-piece /'æpie/ n. [C] SCIENCE the glass piece that you look through in a MICROSCOPE or TELESCOPE → see picture at MICROSCOPE eye-shad-ow /'æʃod/ n. [U] colored MAKEUP that you put on your eyelids to make them look attractive eye-sight /'æsait/ n. [U] the ability to see: Grandma is slowly losing her eyesight.

eye-sore /'æsɔr/ n. [C] something that is very ugly, especially a building surrounded by other things that are not ugly eye-wit-ness /'æwitn/ n. [C.T] someone who has seen a crime or accident: an eyewitness account of the incident eye-wit-ness account a narrow, detailed description of an event as it was seen fable a traditional story that teaches a moral lesson fable n. [C] a short story, often with animals as characters, that teaches a moral lesson fab·ric /ˈfabrɪk/ n. 1 [C,U] cloth 2 [singular] the structure and customs of a society | Discrimination is threatening the whole fabric of society. [origin: 1400—1500 Old French fabrique, from Latin fabrica “thing made, place where things are made”] fab·ri·cate /ˈfabrɪkət/ v. [T] to make up a story, piece of information, etc. in order to deceive someone: He later admitted that he had fabricated the whole story. —fabrication /ˌfabrɪˈkeɪʃən/ n. [C,U] fab·u·lous /ˈfæbjuəlas/ adj. 1 very good; You look fabulous! 2 unusually large in amount or size: a fabulous sum of money face /feɪs/ n. 1 [C] a way of behaving that hides your real feelings: she’s trying to project a cheerful facade. 2 [C] the front or surface of something: There are a few new faces at class this year. 3 [C] a person, organization, etc. is not clearly known and seems unfriendly or not worth caring about: The two candidates will face off in the election in November. 4 [C] the front of a building: My apartment faces the ocean.

face·less /ˈfeɪsəs/ adj. 1 [usually singular] not having a face: a faceless monster face·lift /ˈfeɪsλɪft/ n. [C] 1 a medical operation to make your face look younger 2 work or repairs that make something look newer or better: The offices were given a facelift.

face·on·ly /ˈfeɪsanli/ adv. only before noun: a face-saving action or arrangement prevents you from losing other people’s respect: a face-saving agreement face·to·face /ˈfeɪstəfɛs/ n. [C] one of several parts of someone’s character, a situation, etc.: You’ve only seen one facet of his personality.

face·to·face·interview /ˈfeɪstəfɛsˌɪntərvjuː/ n. a face-to-face meeting, conversation, etc. is one where you are with another person and talking to them:

face·val·ue /ˈfeɪsvəljuː/ n. 1 take sth at face value to accept what you are told without thinking carefully first. Don’t take anything Burgess tells you at face value. 2 [singular, U] the value or cost shown on a coin, ticket, etc.

fac·ial /ˈfæʃəl/ adj. on or relating to the face:

fac·ial·hair /ˈfæʃəlheər/ n. a beauty treatment to clean the skin on your face and make it softer fac·ile /ˈfæsəl/ adj. too simple and showing a lack of careful thought or understanding: a facile solution fac·i·li·ta·tion /ˌfæsɪlɪˈteɪʃən/ n. 1 the process of making something easier to happen; The international network facilitates a quick exchange of information.

face·up /ˈfeɪsuːp/ n. (often figurative) someone or something that helps a process to take place, for example a discussion: A facilitator needs to be a skilled listener.

fac-tor-1 /ˈfakteər/ (Ac) n. (plural fac-tors) 1 facilities [plural] rooms, equipment, or services that are provided for a particular purpose: The new office building has nursery facilities. 2 [C] a place or building used for a particular purpose: the prison’s medical facility 3 [C usually singular] a helpful service or feature that a machine or system has: The phone is equipped with a call-back facility.

fac-sim-i-le /ˈfæksɪmɪl/ n. [C] an exact copy of a picture, piece of writing, etc.

fac·to·ri·al 3=3×2×1

fact-o-ri-al /ˈfæktərɪəl/ n. [C] MATH the result when you multiply a whole number by all the numbers below or equal to it: factorial 3 = 3 × 2 × 1 fac·to·ry /ˈfæktəri/ n. (plural factories) [C] a building where goods are produced in large quantities: a shoe factory fac-tu·al /ˈfæktʃuəl/ adj. based on or relating to facts: The movie has many factual errors.

fac-ul·ty /fæˈsəlti/ n. (plural faculties) 1 [Cu] all the teachers in a school or college, or in a particular department of a school or college: a faculty meeting 2 [C usually plural] a natural ability, such as the ability to see or think: He wants to make out a will while he still has all his faculties (=is still able to see, hear, think, etc. in the normal way).

fac·tu·ar·y /ˈfæktʃuəri/ n. [C] something that is very popular for a short period of time: the newest fitness fad fade /fæd/ v. 1 [I] also fade away to gradually disappear: Hopes of a peace settlement are beginning to fade. 2 [I,T] to lose color or brightness, or to make something do this: faded jeans fade (sth ↔) out phr. v. to disappear slowly or become quieter, or to make a picture or sound do this: The radio signal faded out.

Fahren-hei·ten /ˈfærnheit/ n. [L] PHYSICS (written abbreviation F) a temperature scale in which water freezes at 32° and boils at 212° → CELSIUS [Origin: 1700—1800 Gabriel Fahrenheit (1686—1736), German scientist] fail /fæl/ v. 1 [I] to be unsuccessful in what you are trying to do: He failed to succeed. It looks likely that the peace talks will fail. 2 [I,T] to not do what is expected, needed, or wanted: Larry failed to present his proposal on time. 3 [I,T] if you fail a test, or if someone fails you, you do not pass it: I passed my math test. The teacher had no choice but to fail her. 4 [I] if a business fails, it has to stop operating because of a lack of money. 5 fail sb to do not do what someone has trusted you to do: I feel I’ve failed my children by not spending more time with them. 6 I fail to see/understand (spoken, formal) used in order to show that you are annoyed by something that you do not accept or understand: I fail to see the humor in this situation. 7 sb’s courage/nerve fails them if your fail·ure /feɪrər/ n. lack of success in achieving or doing something (ANT success): The recession caused the failure of many small businesses. Poor soil can result in a plant’s failure to grow. | The whole project ended in failure.

fail·ing /feɪrɪŋ/ n. C a fault or weakness: He loved her in spite of her failings.

fail·ing prep. used in order to say that if one thing is not possible, there is something else you could try: You could try to fix it yourself, or failing that, call a plumber.

fail·safe adj. 1 a fail-safe machine, piece of equipment, etc. will stop working if one part of it breaks or stops working correctly 2 a fail-safe plan is certain to succeed fail·ure /feɪrər/ n. [U] a lack of success in achieving or doing something (ANT success): The recession caused the failure of many small businesses. Poor soil can result in a plant’s failure to grow. | The whole project ended in failure. 2 C someone or something that is not successful (ANT success): I feel like such a failure. | The plan to expand the company overseas was a complete total failure. 3 C,U an occasion when a machine or part of your body stops working in the correct way: He died of heart failure. | A mechanical failure caused the plane to crash. 4 failure to do sth the fact that someone has not done something that s/he should have done: Failure to show proof of car insurance to an officer will result in a fine.

faint /feɪnt/ adj. 1 difficult to see, hear, or smell: a faint sound | a faint possibility | a very small possibility, etc.: There’s a faint hope that they’re still alive. 2 [not before noun] feeling weak and unsteady: He was faint with hunger 4 not have the faintest idea to not know anything at all about something: I don’t have the faintest idea what you’re talking about. —faintly adv.

faint 2 v. [I] to become unconscious for a short time —faint n. [C]

fair /feər/ adj. 1 REASONABLE reasonable, right, and accepted by most people (ANT unfair): What do you think is the fairest solution? | We paid what we think is a fair price. | It’s fair to say that both sides were happy with the agreement. | I felt it was fair to let our employees know what was going on. 2 EQUAL treating everyone equally or in the right way (ANT unfair): Why does Eric get to go and I don’t? It’s not fair! | The law isn’t fair to women.

fair·ground /fərgraʊnd/ n. [C] an event at which people or businesses show and sell their products: a trade fair, book, etc. fair fair·ly /fɛrli/ adv. 1 more than a little, but much less than very: She speaks English fairly well. | The recipe is fairly simple.

fair·way /fɛrweɪ/ n. [C] the part of a GOLF course that you hit the ball along toward the hole fair·y /fɛrɪ/ n. (plural fairies) [C] an imaginary magical creature like a very small person [ORIGIN:

faith·ful·ly
fae'
from 1300—1400 Old French faerie “fairyland,” from fæ “fairy,” from Latin fatum “fate”

‘fairy tale n. [C] a children’s story in which magical things happen faith /feθ/ n. 1 [U] a strong feeling of trust in someone or something: My faith in his ability was justifiable. | I have great faith in her ability to succeed. | People seem to have lost faith in the justice system. 2 [U] belief and trust in God: a man of deep religious faith | his faith in God 3 good faith honest and sincere intentions: He claimed he sold me the car in good faith (=without meaning to deceive me). 4 [C] a religion: the Jewish/Muslim/Christian etc. faith

faith·ful·ly
joyful

fake /feθə/ v. 1 [T] to make something seem real in order to deceive people: He faked his uncle’s signature on the check. 2 [I] to pretend to be sick, interested, pleased, etc. when you are not: I thought he was really hurt but he was just faking it.

fal·con /ˈfɔlkən/ n. [C] a large bird that is often trained to hunt small animals

fall /fɔl/ v. (past tense fell /fəl/, past participle fallen /ˈfɔln/) 1 MOVE DOWNWARD [I] to drop down toward the ground ➔ PLUMMET: Snow began to fall. | Apples had fallen from the trees. | A large tree fell down during the storm. 2 STOP STANDING/WALKING, ETC. [I] to accidentally go down onto the ground when you are standing, walking, etc.: Don’t worry, I’ll catch you if you fall. | She fell down the stairs. | Sam tripped and fell into a ditch. ➔ see picture on page A9 fake /feθ/ n. [C] 1 a copy of a valuable object that is intended to deceive people: We thought it was a Picasso, but it was a fake. 2 someone who does not really have the knowledge, skills, etc. that she claims to have: It turned out her doctor was a fake.

fake /feθ/ adj. made to look or seem like something else in order to deceive people: fake fur | She used a fake name to apply for a credit card.
fall

you are climbing a ladder or riding a bicycle: He was walking on the top of the fence when he lost his balance.

3 LOWER LEVEL/AMOUNT [[i]] to go down to a lower level or amount: Temperatures should fall below zero tonight. The number of traffic deaths fell by 10% last year. The unemployment rate fell to 4.8%.

THESSAURUS decrease, go down, drop, plummet, diminish, decline, dwindle → DECREASE

4 BECOME [[i], linking verb] to begin to be in a new or different state: I fell asleep at 8:30. Your father and I fell in love when we were in college. Everyone fell silent as Beth walked in. The house fell into disrepair.

5 GROUP [[i]] to be part of a particular group: Most of his novels fall into the science fiction category. The program falls under the authority of the Department of Education.

6 fall into place [verb phrase, transitive] to become clear or start to happen as you want: The situation falls into place.

fall short (of sth) to fail to be as successful or useful as you want: Her newest book fell short of my expectations.

7 HAPPEN [[i]] to happen on a particular day or date: Christmas falls on a Monday this year.

8 LIGHT/DARKNESS [[i]] if light or darkness falls, it makes something brighter or darker: Darkness fell on the city. A shadow fell across his face.

9 HANG DOWN [[i]] to hang loosely: María’s hair fell over her shoulders.

10 fall short (of sth) to be less than needed or less than you want: Her newest book fell short of my expectations.

11 FACE [[i]] if your face falls, you suddenly look sad or disappointed.

12 fall flat to fail to amuse or interest people: His attempt at humor fell flat.

13 DIE [[i]] (written) to be killed in a war: Saddam Hussein fell from power soon after the invasion. [Origin: Old English feallan]

fall apart [verb phrase, transitive] to separate into many pieces: The old book fell apart in my hands.

2 to stop being effective or successful: The economy was falling apart.

3 to be unable to deal with your personal or emotional problems: When Pam left, I thought I was going to fall apart.

fall back on sth [verb phrase, transitive] to use something or someone after other things or plans have failed: Athletes need an education to fall back on.

fall behind (at/sth) [verb phrase, transitive] to make progress more slowly than other people or than you should: The older walkers soon fell behind. The manufacturers have fallen behind schedule.

fall for sth [verb phrase, transitive] 1 to be tricked into believing something that is not true: He said he was a police officer and I almost fell for it. 2 to start to love someone: Samantha fell for a man half her age.

fall off [verb phrase, transitive] 1 if part of something falls off, it becomes separated from the main part: This button keeps falling off. 2 to decrease: The demand for cassette tapes has fallen off.

fall out [verb phrase, transitive] 1 if a tooth or your hair falls out, it is no longer attached to your body. 2 to argue or fight with someone: Walker recently fell out with his publisher.

fall over [verb phrase, transitive] to fall to the ground or to fall from an upright position: She fell over and cut her knee. The Christmas tree fell over.

fall through [verb phrase, transitive] to fail to happen or be completed: The deal fell through at the last minute.

fall n. 1 [C,U] the season between summer and winter, when the weather becomes cooler and the grass is brown: Brad’s going to Georgia Tech in the fall. Dad’s going to retire this fall. last/next fall (the fall before or after this one) 2 [C] a decrease in the level, quantity, price, etc. of something: Temperatures fell by 10% last year.

fall guy someone who is punished for someone else’s crime or mistake: The fall guy cost him his job.

fallacy

fallacious adj. containing or based on false ideas: a fallacious statement → fallaciously adv.

fallacy n. plural fallacies [C] a false idea or belief: the fallacy that money brings happiness.

fall into to happen on a particular day or date: Christmas falls on a Monday this year.

fall short of to fall below what you want: Maria’s hair fell below her shoulders.

false adj. 1 untrue or wrong: He gave the police false information. Are these statements true?
falsehood /ˌfɔls hud/ n. [C] (formal) a statement that is untrue.

false teeth n. [plural dentures] false-set-to /ˈfɒlˌset.təʊ/ n. (plural falsoptos) [C] a very high male voice —falsetto adv.

false-si-fy /ˈfɔlsəsi.fɪ/ n. (plural falsifieds) [T] to change figures, records, etc. so that they contain false information: He was accused of falsifying the company’s records. —falsification false-y /ˈfɔlsə/ adj. fake, counterfeit, phony, artificial, synthetic, fake, man-made, simulated, imitation —artificial false-fallacy /ˌfɔlsəˌfɔləˈseɪ/ n. [U] a false name.

false-falsetto /ˌfɔlsəˈfaɪtəʊ/ adj. falsetto false-falsettos /ˌfɔlsəˈfaɪtəʊs/ n. (plural falsifalsettos) false-familiar /ˌfɔlsəˈfæmɪl.jər/ adj. familiar false-familiarity /ˌfɔlsəˈfæmɪl.jər.i.ti/ n.

false-familiarize /ˌfɔlsəˈfæmɪl.jaɪ.zə/ v. familiarize yourself with sth to learn about something so that you know it well: I spent the first week familiarizing myself with my new job.

false-familiars /ˌfɔlsəˈfæmɪl.iər/ n. (plural familiars) 1 [C,U] a group of people who are related to each other, especially parents and their children: Do you know the family next door? 2 I know her whole/entire family.

false-family /ˌfɔlsəˈfæmɪli/ n. family

false-family tree /ˌfɔlsəˈfæmɪli.tri/ n. a drawing that shows the names of the members of a family over a period of time and how they are related to each other.

false-family tree /ˌfɔlsəˈfæmɪli.tri/ n. 2 [C] children: Steve and Linda want to start a family (have children). 3 [C] Eng. Lang. Arts a group of languages that share the same origin: Spanish and Italian are part of the Romance language family.

false-families /ˌfɔlsəˈfæmɪliəz/ n. (plural familiars) 1 [C,U] a group of people who are related to each other, especially parents and their children: Do you know the family next door? 2 I know her whole/entire family.

false-family tree /ˌfɔlsəˈfæmɪli.tri/ n. a drawing that shows the names of the members of a family over a period of time and how they are related to each other.

false-family tree /ˌfɔlsəˈfæmɪli.tri/ n. 2 [C] children: Steve and Linda want to start a family (have children). 3 [C] Eng. Lang. Arts a group of languages that share the same origin: Spanish and Italian are part of the Romance language family.

false-family tree /ˌfɔlsəˈfæmɪli.tri/ n. a drawing that shows the names of the members of a family over a period of time and how they are related to each other.

false-family tree /ˌfɔlsəˈfæmɪli.tri/ n. 2 [C] children: Steve and Linda want to start a family (have children). 3 [C] Eng. Lang. Arts a group of languages that share the same origin: Spanish and Italian are part of the Romance language family.
fan

noun 1 French, Latin fama “hungry condition” famous /ˈfeməs/ adj known about by a lot of people: a famous actor | France is famous for its food and wine. | Lake Winniebago is famous as a fishing destination. | [ORIGIN: 1300—1400 Old French famus, from Latin fama “report, fame”] —famously adv fan·fan·cy noun 2 fancy noun that you wave with your hand in order to make yourself feel cooler fan·ful·ful

adjective fancy or fanciful famished

adj very hungry: [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French famis, from Latin famus “report, fame”] —famously adv famine

noun 3 famine a long sharp tooth of an animal such as a snake or dog fan·fare

noun 4 fanfare a short piece of music played on a TRUMPET to introduce an important person or event fan·fur·nəl

noun 5 fancy hotel

fan·tas·tic

adjective 1 fantastically 2 very large: She spends fantastic amounts of money on clothes. 3 a fantastic story, creature, or place is so strange that you think you must be imagining it: a fantastic landscape that rivals any in our imaginations —fantastically adv fan·tas·tic·al

noun 1 fantastic

fan·tas·tic·al·ism

noun 1 fantastic

fan·ta·sy noun 2 fantasy a question that people often ask about something, which is shown together with its answer: There’s a section with tax FAQs.

fan·try

noun 1 fancy

fan·vil

noun 1 fancy

fan·ni·cious

noun 2 fanciful imagined rather than based on facts: fanciful ideas fan·nus

noun 1 fancy

fan·club

noun 1 fancy

fan·cy

noun 2 fancy

fan·cy

noun 3 fancy

fan·cy

noun 4 fancy

fan·cy

noun 5 fancy

fan·cy

noun 6 fancy

fantastic

noun 7 fantastic
between two places, or when talking about the distance between two places: How far is Boston from here?

2 A LOT/VERY MUCH very much, or to a great degree: Our new car is far better than the old one. | Dinner cost far more/less than I expected. | It would take me far too long to explain. | This is by far the best movie she’s ever made.

3 PROGRESS used in order to talk about how much progress someone makes: We only got as far as the first ten minutes of the video. | Republicans claimed the bill did not go far enough (=did not have a big enough effect). | She’s a good dancer and should go far (=be very successful).

4 TIME in the past or in the future: The church dates far back as the 12th century. | They worked far into the night. | Let’s not plan too far ahead.

5 SO FAR until now: We haven’t had any problems so far.

6 GO FAR TO do something that is too extreme: He’s always been a little rude, but this time he went too far.

7 GO SO FAR AS TO do something that is too extreme: How far is it to your house? “It’s not very far.”

8 FAR FROM used to say that something is not at all true: The deal is far from certain.

9 NOT GO FAR IF money does not go far, you cannot buy very much with it: A dollar doesn’t go far anymore.

10 AS FAR AS I KNOW also as far as I can remember/tell used to say that you think something is true, but you may be wrong: Cole wasn’t even there, as far as I can remember.

11 SO FAR SO GOOD used to say that something has been successful until now: “How’s your new job?” “So far so good.”

→ as far as sb’s concerned at CONCERNED

GRAMMAR

When you are talking about distances, you can use far in questions and negative sentences: “How far is it to your house?” “It’s not very far.” You can also use far after “too,” “as,” and “so”: It’s too far to walk. She ran as far as she could. The far is so far away that you can only just see it.

But do not use far in other kinds of sentence: For example, do not say “It’s far to my house from here.” Say: “It’s a long way to the next town from here.”

far* adj. (comparative farther or further, superlative farthest or furthest) 1 a long distance away (ANT) near: We can walk if it’s not far. see picture at NEAR 2 the far side/end etc. the side, etc. most distant from where you are: the far side of the building. 3 the far north/south etc. the part of an area that is furthest to the north, the south, etc.: Nguyen was born in the far south of Vietnam. 4 the far left/right people who have extreme political opinions 5 be a far cry from sth to be very different from something: Europe was a far cry from what Tom had expected.

far-a-way /fərˈweɪ/ adj. 1 (literary) distant: faraway lands 2 a faraway look an expression on your face that shows that you are not thinking about what is around you farce /ˈfɜːrs/ n. 1 [sing] an event or situation that is badly organized and does not happen in the way that it should: The trial was a total farce. 2 [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS a humorous play or movie in which a lot of silly things happen [ORIGIN: 1500—1600 French, Latin farcire “to stuff (=fill with a mixture of cut-up food);” because early religious plays often had humorous parts put into them] —farcical adj.

fare /fɛr/ n. 1 [C] the price you pay to travel by train, airplane, bus, etc.: Air/Bus/Train fares are going up again.

far-off /ˈfɑrəfl/ adj. very far away: a far-off region of Alaska farmer /ˈfɑːmər/ n. [C] someone who owns or manages a farm farmhand /ˈfɑːrnhaʊnd/ n. [C] someone who works on a farm farm ing /ˈfɑːrming/ n. [U] the activity of raising animals or growing crops on a farm farm land /ˈfɑːrmland/ n. [U] land used for farming farm yard /ˈfɑːrmjɑːrd/ n. [C] an area with farm buildings around it far* off adj. (literary) a long distance away or a long time ago: a far-off land far-out  adj. (informal) unusual or strange: far-out clothes far-reaching  adj. having a big influence or effect: far-reaching tax reforms far-sight-ed /far'saı̅tɪd/ adj. 1 able to see or read things clearly only when they are far away from you (Greek) nearsighted 2 (approving) considering what will happen in the future: far-sighted leaders fart /fɑr t/ v. [I] (informal) an impolite word meaning to make air come out of your bowels — fart n. [C] farther  adj. the comparative of far: farther farthest  adj. the superlative of far: farthest fascinate  v. [T] to interest you extremely: a fascinating movie | I found her fascinating.

fasci·nation  n. the state of being very interested in something: She had a fascination with/for movie stars.

fascism  n. [U] politics an extreme right-wing political system in which people’s lives are completely controlled by the state fascist  adj. someone who supports fascism 2 someone who has extreme right-wing political opinions that you do not approve of, but who does not support fascism 3 someone who is cruel and unfair —fascist adj.

fashion  n. 1 [C,U] something such as a style of clothes or hair that is popular at a particular time: Hats are in fashion again. | Shoes like that went out of fashion years ago. | Miniskirts come back into fashion every few years. | She always buys the latest fashions. 2 [U] the business or study of making or selling clothes: fashion show/model/magazine etc. 3 in a ... fashion (formal) in a particular way: Please return all phone calls in a timely fashion. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French façon, from Latin factura “act of making”] fashion 2 n. [T] (formal) to shape or make something with your hands or a few tools: Many fans had fashioned home-made banners.

fashion·a·ble  /fɑʃənəbəl/ adj. popular, especially for a short time (and) unfashionable: Long skirts are fashionable now: | a fashionable restaurant | It’s become fashionable to wear fake fur.

fashionable  adj. approved of, but who does not support fascism 3 someone who is cruel and unfair —fascist adj.

fashion·is·t  /fɑʃənɪst/ n. 1 politics someone who supports fascism 2 someone who has extreme right-wing political opinions that you do not approve of, but who does not support fascism 3 someone who is cruel and unfair —fascist adj.

fashion·ism  /fɑʃənɪzəm/ n. [U] politics an extreme right-wing political system in which people’s lives are completely controlled by the state fashion·ist  /fɑʃənɪst/ n. [C] 1 politics someone who supports fascism 2 someone who has extreme right-wing political opinions that you do not approve of, but who does not support fascism 3 someone who is cruel and unfair —fascist adj.

fashion·is·m  /fɑʃənɪzəm/ n. [U] politics an extreme right-wing political system in which people’s lives are completely controlled by the state

fashion·ist  /fɑʃənɪst/ n. 1 politics someone who supports fascism 2 someone who has extreme right-wing political opinions that you do not approve of, but who does not support fascism 3 someone who is cruel and unfair —fascist adj.

fast  /fɑst/ adj. 1 moving, happening, or doing something quickly and (ANT) slow: a fast runner | a fast car | The subway is the fastest way to get downtown. 2 (not before noun) showing time that is later than the true time (ANT) slow: I think my watch is fast. 3 fast track a way of achieving something more quickly than it is normally done: young professionals on the fast track for promotion 4 the fast lane a) an exciting way of living that involves dangerous or expensive activities: She loves life in the fast lane. b) the part of a big road where people drive fastest [Origin: Old English first “firm”] fast  adv. 1 at a great speed, or in not much time: He likes driving fast. | You’re learning fast.

fast  adv. 2 asleep sleeping very deeply 3 firmly or tightly: Walter held fast to the rope. | The boat’s stuck fast in the mud. 4 hold fast to sth to continue to believe in or support an idea, principle, fast v. [I] to eat little or no food for a period of time, especially for religious reasons —fast n. [C]

fasten /fæsten/ n. 1 [I,T] to join together the two sides of something so that it is closed, or to become joined (ADV) unfasten. undo: Fasten your seat belts. The skirt fastens at the back.

---

fastidious /'fæstɪdiəs/ adj. very careful about small details: He is fastidious about hygiene. —fastidiously adv.

fat /fæt/ n. 1 weighing too much because you have too much flesh on your body (ADV) thin. Chris thinks he’s getting fat. | a big fat guy

---

father /'faðər/ n. [C] a male parent: a father

---

fat chance (spoken) said when something is very unlikely to happen: Sean said he’d be here at 5:00? Fat chance. [ORIGIN: Old English "faith"]

fat element /fæt fæt/ adj. 1 resulting in someone’s death: a fatal crash or accident | a fatal shooting | The disease proved fatal (skilled someone). 2 having a very bad effect. Her fatal mistake was to marry too young. | There’s a fatal flaw in his argument. —fattally adv.

fatalistic /'faːtlɪstɪk/ adj.

---

fat-free yogurt /fæt freɪ/ n. containing no fat; fat-free yogurt

---

father /'faðər/ n. [C] a male parent: a father father

of four (=a man with four children)  ➔ relative.
2. father a priest, especially in the Roman Catholic Church. Do you know Father Vernon?
3. the father of sth the man who was responsible for starting something: George Washington is the father of our country. [Origin: Old English fæder] father vt [T] to become a male parent: Taylor denies fathering her 4-month-old son.

father figure n [C] an older man whom you trust and respect father-in-law n (plural fathers-in-law) [C] the father of your husband or wife fatherly adj typical of a kind or concerned father: fatherly advice father's Day n a holiday in honor of fathers, celebrated in the U.S. and Canada on the third Sunday of June fathom n [T] to understand what something means after thinking about it carefully: I cannot fathom why it took them so long to respond.

fathomless n [U] a unit for measuring how deep water is, equal to 6 feet or 1.83 meters fatica n [U] 1 extreme tiredness: They were weak with fatigue after walking so far without food.

2. fatigues [plural] loose-fitting army clothes fat-tie n [T] to make an animal become fatter so that it is ready to eat fatten sb/sth ➔ up phr v to make a thin person or animal fatter: Grandma's always trying to fatten me up.

fat-tieing n [T] likely to make you fat: I try to stay away from fattening foods.

fat-ty adj containing a lot of fat: fatty foods fatty acid n [C] biology an acid that is obtained from natural substances, such as oil, fat, and plant material, which the cells of your body need to use food effectively fat-uous adj very silly or stupid: a fatuous remark fau-cet n (plural faucets) [U] the state of being af ather fat-ty adj [U] biology all the animals living in a particular area ➔ flora [U] 1700—1800 Late Latin fauna, wife or sister of Faunus (Roman god of nature and farms)

fau-pas n [T] a phrase favor n [C] something you do for someone to help or be kind to him/her: Could you do me a favor and watch the baby for half an hour?

[Can I ask you a favor?] She offered Willis a job as a favor to his mother.
2. abandon/drop favor to decide not to have one thing and have something else instead: Plans for a tunnel were rejected in favor of the bridge.
3. support, approval, or agreement for something: All the board members were in favor of the idea.
4. in sb's favor to someone's advantage, or so that someone wins: The vote was 60–59 in his favor.
5. in favor/out of favor liked and approved of, or no longer liked and approved of: His books have gone out of favor.
6. [C] a small gift that is given to guests at a party: party favors such as balloons favor vt [T] 1 to prefer something or someone to other things or people: Blyth favors stricter gun control laws.

2. to treat someone better than someone else, in a way that is not fair: tax cuts that favor the rich | a judicial system that favors men over women
3. to provide the right conditions for something to happen: wind conditions that favor sailing favorable adj /ˈfevərəbəl/ [U] 1 making people like or approve of someone or something: Try to make a favorable impression.

2. showing that you like or approve of something or someone: I've heard favorable reports about your work.
3. appropriate and likely to make something happen or succeed: a favorable economic environment—favorably adv.

fa·vor·ite /ˈfərəvɪt, -ˈvərt/ adj your favorite person or thing is the one you like most. Who's your favorite actor? My favorite sport is baseball.

Don’t say “most favorite.”

favorite2 n. [C] 1 something that you like more than others of the same kind: I like all her books, but this one is my favorite. 2 someone who is liked and treated better than others by a teacher or parent: Katie was always Mom’s favorite. 3 the team, person, etc. that is expected to win a competition: The Yankees are favorites to win the World Series.

fa·vor·it·ism /ˈfəvərɪtɪzəm/ n. [U] the act of treating one person or group better than another, in a way that is not fair.

frown /frʌm/ v. [I,frown on] (disapproving) to praise someone and be friendly to him/her because you want something: I watched her fawning over him.

fawn2 n. [C] a young deer.

fax /fæks/ n. 1 [C] a document that is sent in electronic form down a telephone line and then printed using a special machine: Did you get my fax? 2 [C] a fax machine a machine used for sending and receiving faxes: What’s your fax number? 3 [U] the system of sending documents using a fax machine: You can send your résumé by fax. ➔ fax n. [T]: Please fax me the contract.

faze /feɪz/ v. [I,T] (informal) to make someone feel nervous or confused: Nothing ever seemed to faze Rosie. ➔ fazed adj.

FBI n. the FBI the Federal Bureau of Investigation the U.S. police department that is controlled by the government and is concerned with crimes that happen in more than one state.

FDA n. the FDA the Food and Drug Administration a U.S. government organization which makes sure that food and drugs are safe enough to be sold.

february /ˈfɛbruərɪ, ˈfɛbruərɪ/ n. [C,U] the second month of the year.

February

THE Thesaurus

frightened, afraid, scared, terrified, petrified, phobic ➔ FRIGHTENED fearless /ˈfɪərli/ adj not afraid of anything: a fearless soldier ➔ fearlessly adv.

fearlessness n. [U]

fear-some /ˈfɜːrsoʊm/ adj very frightening: his fearsome reputation ➔ fearsome weapon fear-ful /ˈfɪərfl/ adj (formal): afraid: Even doctors are fearful of getting the disease. —fearfully adv.

feces

year, between January and March: Rick and Allison were married on February 14th. [The accident was in February. ]

Fed·er·a·tion

v. fee [feeð] 1 [T] to give food to a person or animal feed · back /'fi:bæk/ n. [U] advice, criticism, etc. about how successful or useful something is, given so that something can be improved: She’s been giving me feedback on my presentation.

feed /feíd/ v. (past tense and past participle fed /feíd/) 1 [T] to give food to a person or animal feed /'fikənd/ adj determined, effective, or successful feed · less /'fikəls/ adj a feedless person is not determined, effective, or successful

Fed /f¢d/ n. the Fed ECONOMICS the FEDERAL RESERVE

feed v. the past tense and past participle of FEED fed-er-al /'fikəl/ adj 1 POLITICS relating to the central government of a country which consists of several states, rather than to the government of one of the states: federal income tax | federal law 2 consisting of a group of states that make some of their own decisions but are controlled by a central government: the Federal Republic of Germany [ORIGIN: 1600—1700 Latin foedus “formal agreement or joining together”]

federal income tax

Federal , Bureau of Investigation n. the FBI

fed-er-al-ism /'fikərəlɪzəm/ n. [U] belief in or support for a federal system of government —federalist n. [C], adj.

Federal Reserve n. the Federal Reserve ECONOMICS the group of banks in the U.S. that control the way all of the country’s banks work feeder /'feɪdə/ n. [C] a group of states, countries, or organizations that have joined together to form a single group: the American Federation of Teachers fed up adj (informal) annoyed or bored, and wanting change: I’m really fed up with all these meetings.

feed /f¢d/ n. [C] an amount of money that you pay for professional services or that you pay to do something: medical/legal fees | college fees | The museum charges a small entrance fee. | Some companies charge a small fee for the catalogs. [ORIGIN: 1300—1400 Old French fi, ief, from Medieval Latin feodium “land given in return for service”] fee - ble /'fiːbl/ adj 1 extremely weak: His voice sounded feeble. 2 not good or effective: a feeble attempt [ORIGIN: 1100—1200 Old French feble, from Latin febils “causing tears, weak”] fee - ble - minded adj unable to think clearly and decide what to do, or showing this quality

feci

372
something by using your fingers: She felt around in her bag for a pen.

SPoken PHRASEs

9 feel like (doing) sth to want to have something or do something: He didn’t feel like going to work. | I feel like a Coke (=feel like having a Coke).
10 feel free used in order to tell someone that you do not mind if she does something: Feel free to come in my office.

11 I know (just/ exactly) how you feel said in order to show your sympathy with someone or with something she has just said: “I can’t seem to do anything right today.” “I know exactly how you feel.”

[Origin: Old English felōn]

feel /felt/ v. to feel sympathy for someone: All I could do was let him know that I felt for him.

feel sb ↔ out phr. v. (informal) to find out what someone’s opinions or feelings are without asking him/her directly: I’m not sure if he’ll lend us the money. Let me feel him out.

feel up to sth phr. v. (informal) to have the strength, energy, etc. to do something: I don’t really feel up to going out tonight.

feel2 n. [singular] 1 the way something feels when you touch it: the feel of the sand under our feet | Wet soap has a greasy feel. 2 the quality something seems to have: The beach has a kind of lonely feel. 3 The house had a nice feel about it. 3 have/get a feel for sth (informal) to have or develop an understanding of something or ability with something: Pete has a real feel for music.

feel-er /'felər/ n. [C] 1 put/send out feelers to start to try to discover what people think about something that you want to do: Possible presidential candidates are already putting out feelers. 2 one of the two long things on an insect’s head that it uses to feel or touch things

‘feel-good adj feel-good movie/comedy/music, etc. a movie, etc. whose main purpose is to make you feel happy

feel-ing /'felɪŋ/ n. 1 a) [C,U] an emotion that you feel, such as anger or happiness: It’s always a great feeling to win a game at home. | My mother finds it hard to express her feelings. | a feeling of confidence  b) [C] something that you physically feel in your body: He has no feeling in his legs. | feelings of dizziness 2 sb’s feelings [plural] someone’s feelings are his/her thoughts, emotions, and attitudes: He doesn’t care about my feelings. | Tell me the truth. You won’t hurt my feelings. 3 [C] a belief or opinion about something: Many people have strong feelings about abortion. | I have a feeling (that) she’s lying to us. 4 [U] a general attitude among a group of people about a subject: a strong anti-war feeling | He had not understood the depth of feeling against in favor of the changes. 5 I know the feeling (spoken) said when you understand how someone feels because you have had the same experience: “I’m too tired to work today.” “I know the feeling.” 6 bad/well feeling anger or lack of trust between people: The divorce caused a lot of bad feeling between them. 7 with feeling in a way that shows you care very much about something: She plays the violin with great feeling.

feel /fet/ n. the plural of foot feign /fɛin/ v. [T] (formal) to pretend to have a feeling, be sick, be asleep, etc.: We feigned interest in Mr. Dixon’s stamp collection.

feint /fɛint/ n. [C] a movement or an attack that is intended to deceive an opponent feisty /'fɛstɪ/ adj. (approving) having a strong determined character and a lot of energy: a feisty old man [Oxford: 1800—1900 feisty “small dog”] fe·li·cious /felɪˈʃɪəs/ adj. (formal) well-chosen, appropriate, and pleasing; the writer’s felicitous phrases — felicitously adv fe·line /ˈfɪlin/ n. [C] biology a cat or a member of the cat family — feline adj fell /fɛl/ v. the past tense of fall.

fell2 v. [T] (written) 1 to cut down a tree 2 to knock someone down fel-low /ˈfɛləʊ/ n. [C] 1 old-fashioned a man: a nice young fellow from Iowa 2 a graduate student who has a fellowship in a university 3 a member of a society in a school or university fellow2 adj. fellow workers/students/citizens, etc. people you work with, study with, etc.

fel-low-ship /ˈfɛləʊʃɪp, -lə-ʃɪp/ n. 1 [C] money given to a student to allow him/her to continue his/her studies at an advanced level: a graduate fellowship 2 [C] a group with similar interests or beliefs, who have meetings together: a Christian youth fellowship 3 [U] a feeling of friendship that people have because they have the same interests or experiences fell-on /ˈfɛləʊn/ n. [C] law someone who is guilty of a serious crime: a convicted felon (=a criminal who is sent to prison) fell·o·ny /ˈfɛloʊni/ n. (plural felonies) [C] law a serious crime such as murder felt /fɛlt/ v. the past tense and past participle of feel.

felt2 n. [U] a thick soft material made of wool, hair, or fur that has been pressed flat felt tip pen n. [C] a pen that has a hard piece of felt at the end that the ink comes through fe·male /ˈfɛməl/ n. [C] a person or animal that belongs to the sex that can have babies or produce eggs — male [Origin: 1300—1400 Old female

French femelle (influenced by male), from Latin femella "girl"

female adj. | 1 BIODIVERSITY belonging to the sex that can have babies or produce eggs (♀) | male

- femur n. [U] | the bone in the top part of your leg, above the knee

- fend v. | fend for yourself while I’m gone.

- fender n. | 1 a female plant or flower produces fruit | 2 BIODIVERSITY a female plant or flower produces fruit | MALE

- fencing | the sport of fighting

- feminism | a belief that women should have the same rights and opportunities as men —feminist n. [C], adj.: feminist authors

- femur n. [C] | the bone in the top part of your leg, above the knee

- fence n. [C] | 1 a structure made of wood, metal, etc. that surrounds a piece of land | 2 a structure that horses jump over in a race or competition | phr. v. sit/be on the fence to avoid saying which side of an argument you support

- fence v. 1 [T] to put a fence around something | 2 [I] to fight with a sword as a sport fence sth ↔ in phr. v. to surround a place with a fence —fenced-in adj.

- fence v. 1 [T] to separate one area from another with a fence: We fenced off part of the backyard.

- fencing n. [U] | the sport of fighting with a long thin sword | 2 fences, or the material used for making them

- fend v. | fend for yourself to take care of yourself without help from other people: You’ll have to fend for yourself while I’m gone.

- fend v. | fend off phr. v. to defend yourself when you are being attacked, asked difficult questions, etc.: Mrs. Spector tried to fend off the other mugger.

- fender n. [C] the side part of a car that covers the wheels

- fender-bender n. [informal] | a car accident in which little damage is done

- feral adj. | feral animals used to live with humans but have become wild

- ferment v. [I,T] if fruit, beer, or wine ferments or is fermented, the sugar in it changes to alcohol [ORIGIN: 1300—1400 Old French fermenter, from Latin fermentum "yeast"]

- ferment n. [U] excitement or trouble in a country, especially caused by political change

- fermen-ta-tion n. [U] | CHEMISTRY a process in which the sugar contained in fruit, beer, wine, etc. is gradually changed into alcohol by the action of YEAST or BACTERIA

- fern n. [C] a plant with green leaves shaped like large feathers, but no flowers

- ferocious adj. | extremely violent or severe: a ferocious dog | a ferocious storm [ORIGIN: 1600—1700 Latin ferus "wild-looking," from ferus "wild"] —ferociously adv.

- ferret v. | 1 [T] to carry, bear

- ferret v. | ferret out crucial details about the case

- ferret n. [C] a small animal, used for hunting rats and rabbits

- ferrous adj. | CHEMISTRY containing or relating to iron: ferrous metals

- ferry n. (plural ferries) [C] | a boat that carries people, often with their cars, across a stretch of water —see picture at TRANSPORTATION

- ferry v. (ferried, ferried) [T] to carry people or goods a short distance from one place to another: a bus that ferries tourists from the hotel to the beach

- fertile adj. | 1 EARTH SCIENCES fertile land, soil, ground, etc. is able to produce good crops | 2 BIODIVERSITY able to become pregnant or make someone pregnant | 3 BIODIVERSITY fertile imagination/mind an imagination or mind that is able to produce a lot of unusual ideas [ORIGIN: 1400—1500 French, Latin ferre "to carry, bear"] —fertility n. [U]

- fertilize v. (fertilized, fertilized) [T] 1 to put fertilizer on the soil to help plants grow | 2 BIODIVERSITY to make new animal or plant life develop by causing a female cell such as an egg to join with a male cell: a fertilized egg | Fruit will not develop if the ovule is not fertilized by the pollination process.

- fertilization n. [U] | the act of making a female plant or flower produces fruit | MALE

- fertilizer n. [C,U] | a substance that is put on the soil to help plants grow few /fiw/ adj.  1 a few/the few  a small number of things or people: Let’s wait a few minutes and see if Carrie gets here. I’ve seen a few of those new cars around. Don has seemed really happy these last few weeks. You’ll have to work hard over the next few months. There are a few more things I’d like to talk about before we go. 2 quite a few  a fairly large number of things or people: Quite a few people came to the meeting. Quite a few of the customers got sick. 3 not many: There are few events that are as exciting as having a baby. Women are having fewer children. Grant’s one of the few people I know who can tell stories well. Very few of these players will play professionally. 4 be few and far between  to be rare: Good jobs are few and far between these days. [Origin: Old English feowa] fiancé /fian’set/, /fi’an-set/ n. [C] the man whom a woman is going to marry fi·ancée /fian’se/ [C] the woman whom a man is going to marry fi·as·co /fë’skä/ n. (plural fiascoes or fiascos) [C] an event that is completely unsuccessful, in a way that is very embarrassing or disappointing: Their attempt to compete in the software market has been a total fiasco.

fi·at /fë-at/, -ut, -ot/ [C,U] (formal) an order that is given by someone in authority without considering what other people want: Too often he governed by fiat rather than by the law.
fib /fib/ n. [C] a small unimportant lie: You shouldn’t tell fibs. —fib v. [I] —fibber n. [C] T fi·ber /fë’ber/ n. 1 [U] parts of plants that you eat but do not digest, that help food to move through your body: The doctor said I need more fiber in my diet. 2 [C,U] a mass of threads used to make rope, cloth, etc. 3 [C] a thin thread, or one of the thin parts like threads that form natural materials such as wood —fibrous /fëbrous/ adj.

fi·ber·glass /fë’ber-glas/ n. [U] a light material made from small glass threads pressed together fi·ber·optics /fëb’ər-optiks/ n. [U] PHYSICS the use of long thin threads of glass to carry information in the form of light, especially on telephone lines —fiber optic adj.
fi·bu·la /fë’bë-lə/ n. (plural fibulas or fibulae /-lē/ [C] BIODLOGY the outer bone of the two bones in your leg below your knee ➔ Tibia fi·ck·le /fik’səl/ adj. 1 someone who is fickle is always changing his/her opinion about people or things: Voters are fickle. 2 something that is fickle, such as the weather, often changes suddenly fi·cit·ion /fik’shən/ n. 1 [U] ENG. LANG. ARTS books and stories about imaginary people and things [nonfiction: a writer of children’s fiction | detective fiction] After quitting the newspaper business, she wrote poetry and fiction. 2 [C,U] something that someone wants you to believe is true, but that is not true: The newspaper story turned out to be a complete fiction.
fi·cit·ion·al /fik’shən-əl/ adj. ENG. LANG. ARTS fictional people or events are from a book or story, and are not real fi·cit·ion·al·ize /fik’shən-a-lız/ v. [T] ENG. LANG. ARTS to tell the story of a real event, changing some details and adding imaginary characters fi·citi·ous /fik’shə-təs/ adj. not true, or not real: a fictitious name fi·dil·le /fëd’lə/ n. [C] (informal) a VIOLIN → play second fiddle to sb/sth at play fiddle v. 1 to waste time by doing things that are not important: Stop fiddling around or we’ll be late! 2 to keep moving and touching something, especially because you are bored or nervous: She started fiddling with her hair.

fi·del·i·ty /fëd’ə-lə-tē/ n. [U] 1 loyalty to your wife, husband, or partner by not having sex with other people [ART] infidelity 2 loyalty to a person, organization, set of beliefs, etc.: his fidelity to the Republican Party fi·du·ci·ar·y /fëd’ə-sē-ə-rē/ adj. LAW relating to the legal control of someone else’s money or property: The board of directors has a fiduciary duty/responsibility to shareholders.
fi·eld /fëld/ n. 1 [C] HISTORY in past times, an area of land that a LORD gave to someone who promised to work and fight for him fi·eld 2 /fëld/ n. 1 [C] an area of land in the country where crops are grown or where animals feed on grass: a corn field | fields of sunflowers ➔ see picture on page A11 2 an area of ground where sports are played: a football/baseball/soccer etc. field fi·eld·er /fëld’ər/ n. [C] someone who plays the violin fi·del·i·ty·ful /fëd’ə-lə-tē-ful/ adj. LAW someone who has legal control of money or property that belongs to another person, a company, or an organization fi·eld·ing /fëld’in/ n. [C] SPORT when students at a school have sports competitions fi·el·d·ing /fëld’in/ v. [T] if you field a ball in a game of baseball, you stop it after it has been hit 2 if you field a team, an army, etc., they represent you or fight for you in a competition, election, or war: There may not be enough healthy players to field a team. 3 to answer questions, telephone calls, etc., especially when there are a lot of them or they are difficult: Riordan left without fielding questions from reporters.

fi·eld·ing /fëld’in/ v. [T] 1 if you have a field day (informal) to have the chance to do something you enjoy a lot, especially a chance to criticize someone: Talk radio hosts had a field day with the story. 2 [C] a day when students at a school have sports competitions field·er n. [C] one of the players who tries to catch the ball in baseball field·e·vent n. [C] a sports activity, such as the high jump or the javelin, that is part of an outdoor competition —field·event n.

field·goal n. [C] the action of kicking the ball over the bar of the goal for three points in football field·hockey n. [U] hockey played on grass field·study n. [C] SCIENCE a piece of work to find out more about a particular subject, which takes place not inside a school or college but outside, in real conditions field·test n. [C] SCIENCE a test of a new product or system that is done in the place where it will be used rather than in a laboratory —field·test n. [T] field·trip n. [C] an occasion when students go somewhere to learn about a particular subject: a field-trip to the Maryland Science Center field·work n. [U] SCIENCE study which involves going somewhere in order to collect information, rather than working in a class or laboratory fiend n. [C] 1 (informal) someone who likes something much more than other people normally do: Isaac turns into a football fiend during the Super Bowl. 2 dope/ drug/etc. fiend (informal) someone who takes a lot of drugs 3 (literary) an evil spirit or person fiend·ish adj. 1 (literary) very bad or cruel: a fiendish temper 2 very difficult or complicated: a fiendish puzzle

fi·erce adj. 1 done with a lot of energy and strong feelings: a fierce debate between the political parties | fierce competition between banks | The two teams are in a fierce battle for first place. 2 a fierce person or animal looks very violent or angry and ready to attack: fierce dogs 3 fierce heat, cold, weather, etc. is very extreme or severe —fiercely adv.

fi·er·y adj. 1 full of strong or angry emotion: a fiery speech | her fiery temper 2 (written) involving fire, or on fire: All perished (=died) in the fiery crash. | a fiery sunset fi·es·ta n. [C] a religious holiday with dancing, music, etc., especially in Spain or Latin America fif·teen /'fɪtɪn/ number 15 —fifteenth five·th n. 1 st 2 nd 3 rd five·ty n. (plural fifties) [C] a piece of paper money worth $50 five·ty·fi·ty adj., adv. (spoken) 1 divided equally between two people: We should divide the profits fifty-fifty. 2 a fifty-fifty chance an equal chance that something will happen or not happen: a fifty-fifty chance of winning fig /fɪg/ n. [C] a small soft sweet fruit, often eaten dried, or the tree on which this grows fig., the written abbreviation of figure

fight /fæt/ v. (past tense and past participle fought /fɔt/) 1 [I,T] to take part in a war or battle: The country fought a three-year civil war. | Did your uncle fight in the war? | rebel forces fighting against the Russians | They fought over for a small piece of land. 2 [I,T] if people or animals fight, they use violence against each other: Police fought with protesters in the streets. | dogs fighting over a bone 3 [I] to argue: Are the kids fighting again? 4 [I] to try hard to do or get something: The union fought for a better health care package. | Parents are fighting to save the school. | Perkins was lying in bed, fighting for his life. 5 [I,T] to try hard to prevent something or to get rid of something: Senator Reid is fighting the proposal. | She spent her life fighting against poverty and injustice. 6 [I,T] to take part in a boxing match: The boxers fought each other twice for the heavyweight title. 7 [I] also fight back to try not to have or show a feeling: He fought the impulse to yell at her. | Benson bit his lip and fought back tears. 8 fight a fire/blaze etc. to try to stop a fire by burning 9 fight your way to move somewhere with difficulty: We had to fight our way through the crowd. 10 have a fighting chance to have a chance to achieve something if you work very hard: Davis believes he still has a fighting chance of winning the election. 11 fight it out to fight, argue, or compete until one person wins: We left them alone to fight it out. [ORIGIN: Old English feohitan]

fight·back phr. v. 1 to work hard to achieve or oppose something, especially in a situation where you are losing: Lewis fought back to win the match. 2 to use violence or arguments against someone who has attacked you or criticized you: The rebels are fighting back.

fight·off phr. v. 1 to use violence to keep someone or something away, or to stop him/her from doing something to you: They managed to fight off their attackers. 2 to succeed in stopping other people from getting something, and to get it for yourself: The president fought off a challenge from within his own party. 3 to try hard to get rid of a feeling or illness: I’ve been fighting off a cold for days.
fight

fight² n. 1 [C] an act of fighting between two people or groups: He's always getting into fights at school. | A drunk tried to pick/start a fight with him. | a fight between rival gangs | The police were called in to break up (stop) the fight.

fight³ v. 1 [I] (informal) – a fight or argument involving a lot of people: | scrum – a short fight | scrap (informal) – a short fight | boxing match | wrestling match

fig·ment /ˈfɪɡmənt/ n. a figment of sb's imagination something you imagine to be real, but does not exist fig·u·ra·tive /ˈfɪɡyʊrətɪv/ adj ENG. LANG. ARTS a figurative word or expression is used in a different way from its usual meaning, to give you a picture or idea in your mind. For example, in “a mountain of debt,” “mountain” is used in a figurative way and means “a large amount” not “a high hill.”

fil-a-ment  /ˈfiləment/ n [C] a very thin thread or wire fich  /fɪʃ/ v [T] (informal) to steal something small or not very valuable: teenagers filing cigarettes file  /ˈfaɪl/ (AC) n [C] 1 a set of papers, records, etc. that contain information about a particular person or subject: The school keeps files on each student. 2 We’ll keep your application on file (=store it for later use). 3 medical files file·ing  /ˈfaɪliŋ/ n 1 to put something in a hole or crack in order to make a smooth surface: Fill any cracks in the wall before you paint. 2 [T] if a sound, smell, or light fills a place or space, you notice it because it is loud or strong: The smell of fresh bread filled the kitchen. 3 [T] to provide something that is needed or wanted: Daycare centers fill a need for working parents. 4 [T] to do a particular job, or to find someone to do a job: Anderson says he hopes to fill the position by spring. 5 [T] if you are filled with an emotion, you feel it strongly: She was filled with excitement. 6 [T] if you fill a period of time with a particular activity, you spend that time doing it: He filled his days playing golf and tennis. 7 [T] if you fill up a place, it takes something to fill up a place, it takes fill·let  /ˈfɪlɪt/ n [plural fillies] 1 young female horse film·strip  /ˈfɪlmstrip/ n [C] Someone who makes movies shows photographs, pictures, etc. one at a time, not as moving pictures

filter /'fɪltə/ n. [C] a piece of equipment that removes unwanted solid substances as gas or liquid passes through it: a water filter [Orig: 1300—1400 Old French filtre “piece of felt (=thick material) used as a filter,” from Medieval Latin filtre]

filter v. 1 [T] to clean a liquid or gas using a filter: filtered drinking water 2 [I] if people filter somewhere, they gradually move in that direction: The audience began to filter into the hall. 3 [I] if information filters out to people, people gradually hear about it: The news slowly filtered through to everyone in the office. Eventually word filtered out to the guests that something was wrong. 4 [I] if light or sound filters into a place, it can be seen or heard only slightly: Hazy sunshine filtered through the curtains.

filth /'fɪlθ/ n. 1 an extremely dirty substance: Wash that filth off your shoes. 2 very rude or offensive language, stories, or pictures about sex filthy adj. [comparative filthier, superlative filthiest] 1 extremely dirty: Doesn’t he ever wash that jacket? It’s filthy.

filter adj. filthy rich (informal) extremely rich filtration /fɪlˈtreɪʃən/ n. [C] CHEMISTRY the process of cleaning a liquid or gas by passing it through a filter: a water filtration system

filter v. 1 [T] to clean a liquid or gas using a filter: filtered drinking water 2 [I] if people filter somewhere, they gradually move in that direction: The audience began to filter into the hall. 3 [I] if information filters out to people, people gradually hear about it: The news slowly filtered through to everyone in the office. Eventually word filtered out to the guests that something was wrong. 4 [I] if light or sound filters into a place, it can be seen or heard only slightly: Hazy sunshine filtered through the curtains.

final /'fɪnəl/ adj. 1 [only before noun] last in a series of actions, events, parts of a story, etc.: the final chapter of the book 2 if a decision, offer, or agreement is final, it cannot be changed: I don’t think the final decision has been made. You can’t stay up late on a school night, and that’s final. 3 [only before noun] being the result at the end of a process: The final score was 86 to 78. [Orig: 1300—1400 French finales, from Latin finis “end”]

final n. [C] 1 the last and most important game, race, etc. in a competition: She skated very well in the final. | The Suns didn’t reach the Western Conference Finals. 2 an important test that students take at the end of each class in high school, or college: How did your finals go? | my chemistry final

final /'fɪnəl/ adj. -'nɔl/ n. [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS the last part of a piece of music or a performance, which is often the most exciting part: the grand finale of a Broadway musical

final /'fɪnəlɪst/ n. [C] one of the people or teams that reaches the last part of a competition

finality /fɪnəˈlæti/ n. [U] the feeling or idea that something is finished and cannot be changed: She closed the door with a finality that said she would not be coming back.

filter v. 1 [T] to clean a liquid or gas using a filter: filtered drinking water 2 [I] if people filter somewhere, they gradually move in that direction: The audience began to filter into the hall. 3 [I] if information filters out to people, people gradually hear about it: The news slowly filtered through to everyone in the office. Eventually word filtered out to the guests that something was wrong. 4 [I] if light or sound filters into a place, it can be seen or heard only slightly: Hazy sunshine filtered through the curtains.

final /'fɪnəl/ adj. 1 [only before noun] last in a series of actions, events, parts of a story, etc.: the final chapter of the book 2 if a decision, offer, or agreement is final, it cannot be changed: I don’t think the final decision has been made. You can’t stay up late on a school night, and that’s final. 3 [only before noun] being the result at the end of a process: The final score was 86 to 78. [Orig: 1300—1400 French finales, from Latin finis “end”]

final n. [C] 1 the last and most important game, race, etc. in a competition: She skated very well in the final. | The Suns didn’t reach the Western Conference Finals. 2 an important test that students take at the end of each class in high school, or college: How did your finals go? | my chemistry final

final /'fɪnəl/ adj. -'nɔl/ n. [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS the last part of a piece of music or a performance, which is often the most exciting part: the grand finale of a Broadway musical finals /fɪnəlz/ n. [pl] the last part of a series of actions, events, parts of a story, etc.: the final chapter of the book 2 if a decision, offer, or agreement is final, it cannot be changed: I don’t think the final decision has been made. You can’t stay up late on a school night, and that’s final. 3 [only before noun] being the result at the end of a process: The final score was 86 to 78. [Orig: 1300—1400 French finales, from Latin finis “end”]

final”/fɪnəl/ n. [C] one of the people or teams that reaches the last part of a competition

finality /fɪnəˈlæti/ n. [U] the feeling or idea that something is finished and cannot be changed: She closed the door with a finality that said she would not be coming back.

filter v. 1 [T] to clean a liquid or gas using a filter: filtered drinking water 2 [I] if people filter somewhere, they gradually move in that direction: The audience began to filter into the hall. 3 [I] if information filters out to people, people gradually hear about it: The news slowly filtered through to everyone in the office. Eventually word filtered out to the guests that something was wrong. 4 [I] if light or sound filters into a place, it can be seen or heard only slightly: Hazy sunshine filtered through the curtains.

final /'fɪnəl/ adj. 1 [only before noun] last in a series of actions, events, parts of a story, etc.: the final chapter of the book 2 if a decision, offer, or agreement is final, it cannot be changed: I don’t think the final decision has been made. You can’t stay up late on a school night, and that’s final. 3 [only before noun] being the result at the end of a process: The final score was 86 to 78. [Orig: 1300—1400 French finales, from Latin finis “end”]

final”/fɪnəl/ n. [C] one of the people or teams that reaches the last part of a competition

finality”/fɪnəˈlæti/ n. [U] the feeling or idea that something is finished and cannot be changed: She closed the door with a finality that said she would not be coming back.
Can you find the kids something clean to wear?

THESAURUS

discover – to find something that was hidden or that people did not know about before: They never discovered the truth about his past.

find phr. v. (esp. informal) information that someone has learned as a result of studies, work, etc.: the newest research findings fine adj. 1 good enough or acceptable (by) all right: “What do you want for lunch?” “A sandwich is fine.” “More coffee?” “No, I’m fine, thanks.” “How about seeing a movie?” “That’s fine by me.” 2 healthy and well: “How are you?” “Fine, thanks.”

THESAURUS

1 healthy, well, better, in (good) shape, physically fit ➔ HEALTHY

3 very good: He congratulated the team on a fine performance. | a selection of fine wines

4 to make someone pay money as a punishment: He was fined $50 for speeding.

5 finesse n. [U] if you do something with finesse, you do it with a lot of skill and style

6 fine-tune v. [T] to make small changes to something in order to make it as good as possible: The team is still fine-tuning its game plan.

7 fingers n. (plural) 1 one of the four long thin parts at the end of your hand, not including your thumb: Hold the thread between your fingers. She has a ring on every finger. ➔ INDEX FINGER, LITTLE FINGER, MIDDLE FINGER ➔ see picture on page A3

SEE BY CHANCE to discover something by chance: She found a purse in the street. | We found a good restaurant near the hotel.

LEARN STH to discover or learn new information: Researchers have found that girls tend to speak earlier than boys. | We got there early only to find that the tickets had all been sold. | Scientists are still trying to find a cure for AIDS.

OPINION to have an opinion or feeling about someone or something: Do you find him attractive? I found it difficult/easy to understand her.

EXPERIENCE to learn or know something by experience: I tried using oil, but I’ve found that butter works best.

TIME/MONEY/ENERGY to have enough of something to be able to do what you want to do: When do you find the time to read?

find n. [C] something very good or valuable that you discover by chance: That little Greek restaurant was a real find.

finding /ˈfaɪndɪŋ/ n. [usually plural] information that someone has learned as a result of studies, work, etc.: the newest research findings

Fine 1 /faɪn/ adj. 1 good enough or acceptable (by) all right: “What do you want for lunch?” “A sandwich is fine.” “More coffee?” “No, I’m fine, thanks.” “How about seeing a movie?” “That’s fine by me.” 2 healthy and well: “How are you?” “Fine, thanks.”

3 very good: He congratulated the team on a fine performance. | a selection of fine wines

4 to make someone pay money as a punishment: He was fined $50 for speeding.

5 finesse n. [U] if you do something with finesse, you do it with a lot of skill and style

6 fine-tune v. [T] to make small changes to something in order to make it as good as possible: The team is still fine-tuning its game plan.

7 fingers n. (plural) 1 one of the four long thin parts at the end of your hand, not including your thumb: Hold the thread between your fingers. She has a ring on every finger. ➔ INDEX FINGER, LITTLE FINGER, MIDDLE FINGER ➔ see picture on page A3

SEE BY CHANCE to discover something by chance: She found a purse in the street. | We found a good restaurant near the hotel.

LEARN STH to discover or learn new information: Researchers have found that girls tend to speak earlier than boys. | We got there early only to find that the tickets had all been sold. | Scientists are still trying to find a cure for AIDS.

OPINION to have an opinion or feeling about someone or something: Do you find him attractive? I found it difficult/easy to understand her.

EXPERIENCE to learn or know something by experience: I tried using oil, but I’ve found that butter works best.

TIME/MONEY/ENERGY to have enough of something to be able to do what you want to do: When do you find the time to read?

find n. [C] something very good or valuable that you discover by chance: That little Greek restaurant was a real find.

finding /ˈfaɪndɪŋ/ n. [usually plural] information that someone has learned as a result of studies, work, etc.: the newest research findings

Fine 1 /faɪn/ adj. 1 good enough or acceptable (by) all right: “What do you want for lunch?” “A sandwich is fine.” “More coffee?” “No, I’m fine, thanks.” “How about seeing a movie?” “That’s fine by me.” 2 healthy and well: “How are you?” “Fine, thanks.”

3 very good: He congratulated the team on a fine performance. | a selection of fine wines

4 to make someone pay money as a punishment: He was fined $50 for speeding.

5 finesse n. [U] if you do something with finesse, you do it with a lot of skill and style

6 fine-tune v. [T] to make small changes to something in order to make it as good as possible: The team is still fine-tuning its game plan.

7 fingers n. (plural) 1 one of the four long thin parts at the end of your hand, not including your thumb: Hold the thread between your fingers. She has a ring on every finger. ➔ INDEX FINGER, LITTLE FINGER, MIDDLE FINGER ➔ see picture on page A3

SEE BY CHANCE to discover something by chance: She found a purse in the street. | We found a good restaurant near the hotel.

LEARN STH to discover or learn new information: Researchers have found that girls tend to speak earlier than boys. | We got there early only to find that the tickets had all been sold. | Scientists are still trying to find a cure for AIDS.

OPINION to have an opinion or feeling about someone or something: Do you find him attractive? I found it difficult/easy to understand her.

EXPERIENCE to learn or know something by experience: I tried using oil, but I’ve found that butter works best.

TIME/MONEY/ENERGY to have enough of something to be able to do what you want to do: When do you find the time to read?

find n. [C] something very good or valuable that you discover by chance: That little Greek restaurant was a real find.

finding /ˈfaɪndɪŋ/ n. [usually plural] information that someone has learned as a result of studies, work, etc.: the newest research findings

Fine 1 /faɪn/ adj. 1 good enough or acceptable (by) all right: “What do you want for lunch?” “A sandwich is fine.” “More coffee?” “No, I’m fine, thanks.” “How about seeing a movie?” “That’s fine by me.” 2 healthy and well: “How are you?” “Fine, thanks.”

3 very good: He congratulated the team on a fine performance. | a selection of fine wines

4 to make someone pay money as a punishment: He was fined $50 for speeding.

5 finesse n. [U] if you do something with finesse, you do it with a lot of skill and style

6 fine-tune v. [T] to make small changes to something in order to make it as good as possible: The team is still fine-tuning its game plan.

7 fingers n. (plural) 1 one of the four long thin parts at the end of your hand, not including your thumb: Hold the thread between your fingers. She has a ring on every finger. ➔ INDEX FINGER, LITTLE FINGER, MIDDLE FINGER ➔ see picture on page A3
finger

a finger. 3 keep/have your fingers crossed (spoken) said when you hope that something will happen the way you want: Keep your fingers crossed that the car makes it home. 4 put your finger on sth (informal) to realize exactly what is wrong, different, or unusual about something: There’s something strange about him, but I can’t put my finger on it. [OriGIn: Old English]

fin·ger·print /'fingərprɪnt/ n. [C] the hard flat part that covers the top end of your finger → see picture at hand fin·ger·tip /'fingərtɪp/ n. [C] the end or last part of something, especially a race. It was a close finish (the race ended with the competitors close together), but Jarrett won. 2 [C.U] the way that a surface looks after it has been painted or polished: a table with a glossy finish | What kind of finish did you put on the deck?

fin·ished /'fɪnɪʃt/ adj. 1 [only before noun] completed: the finished product fi·nite /'fɜːnt/ adj. having an end or a limit: the Earth’s finite resources fire /ˈfaɪər/ n. [C] a tree with leaves shaped like needles that do not fall off in winter → see picture on page A10

fire1 /fɜːr/ n. 1 [C.U] uncontrolled flames and heat that destroy and damage things: Fire destroyed part of the building. | a forest fire | Police are trying to find out who started the fire. | It took firefigh ters two days to put out the fire (stop it burning). | The house is on fire (=burning)! | Some other buildings caught fire (=started to burn). | Risters set fire to cars and stores (=made them burn).

flames – the bright parts of a fire that you see burning in the air blaze – the flames from a fire. or a large and dangerous fire: Freemen fought to keep the blaze under control inferno (literary) – a very large and very dangerous fire: Soon, the house became a raging inferno bonfire – a large outdoor fire: a bonfire at the beach campfire – a fire that you build outdoors when you are camping

2 [C] burning wood or coal used to heat a room or provide heat: a campfire | Let’s light a fire in the fireplace. 3 [U] shooting by guns: Troops opened fire on (=started shooting at) the rebels. 4 be/ come under fire to be criticized very strongly [OriGIn: Old English fyr] fire·wall /ˈfaɪərˈwɔːl/ n. [C] a system that protects a computer network from being used or looked at by people who do not have permission to do so.

fire·wood /ˈfaɪərˌwʊd/ n. [U] wood that has been cut or collected in order to be burned on a fire.

fire·work /ˈfaɪərˌwɜːk/ n. [C, usually plural] an object that burns or explodes to produce colored lights and noise in the sky; a Fourth of July fireworks display.

fire·drill /ˈfaɪərˌdrɪl/ n. an occasion when people practice how to leave a burning building safely.

fire·fig·her /ˈfaɪərˌfɪɡər/ n. someone whose job is to stop fires.

fire·crack·er /ˈfaɪərˌkrækər/ n. an object that burns or explodes to produce colored lights and noise in the sky.

fire·fly /ˈfaɪərˌflaɪ/ n. a small insect with a tail that shines in the dark.

fire·proof /ˈfaɪərˌprɔof/ adj. not easy to bend:

fire·place /ˈfaɪərˌplɑːs/ n. a large special vehicle that carries people and equipment to stop fires from burning.

fire·proof /ˈfaɪərˌprɔof/ adj. something that is fireproof cannot be damaged by fire.

fire·side /ˈfaɪərˌsaɪd/ n. [singular] the area close to a fireplace or around a small fire.

fire·watch /ˈfaɪərˌwɒtʃ/ n. [C] a building where the equipment used to stop fires from burning is kept, and where firefighters stay until they are needed.

fire·wall /ˈfaɪərˈwɔːl/ n. [C] a system that protects a computer network from being used or looked at by people who do not have permission to do so.

fire·wood /ˈfaɪərˌwʊd/ n. [U] wood that has been cut or collected in order to be burned on a fire.

fire·work /ˈfaɪərˌwɜːk/ n. [C, usually plural] an object that burns or explodes to produce colored lights and noise in the sky; a Fourth of July fireworks display.

fire·drill /ˈfaɪərˌdrɪl/ n. an occasion when people practice how to leave a burning building safely.

fire·fig·her /ˈfaɪərˌfɪɡər/ n. someone whose job is to stop fires.

fire·crack·er /ˈfaɪərˌkrækər/ n. an object that burns or explodes to produce colored lights and noise in the sky.

fire·fly /ˈfaɪərˌflaɪ/ n. a small insect with a tail that shines in the dark.

fire·proof /ˈfaɪərˌprɔof/ adj. not easy to bend:

fire·place /ˈfaɪərˌplɑːs/ n. a large special vehicle that carries people and equipment to stop fires from burning.

fire·proof /ˈfaɪərˌprɔof/ adj. something that is fireproof cannot be damaged by fire.

fire·side /ˈfaɪərˌsaɪd/ n. [singular] the area close to a fireplace or around a small fire.

fire·watch /ˈfaɪərˌwʊtʃ/ n. [C] a building where the equipment used to stop fires from burning is kept, and where firefighters stay until they are needed.
1st number, pron. 1 at first: in the beginning; At first I thought he was weird, but now I really like him. 2 a first something that has never happened before: "Dad actually washed the dishes tonight." "That's a first." 3 the first person or thing in a series. My uncle was the first in my family to go to college. 4 the 1st of June (=first day of June) first-aid n. [U] basic medical treatment that is given as soon as possible to someone who is injured or who suddenly becomes sick first-floor n. [C] the floor of a building that is at ground level first-hand adj. [only before noun] first-hand knowledge is knowledge that you get or learn yourself, not from other people—first-hand adv.: experience you have gained first-hand first lady n. the First Lady the wife of the President of the U.S.

first-rate adj. extremely good; a first-rate performance fish·cal /'fiskɑl/ adj. ECONOMICS relating to money, taxes, debts, etc., especially those involving the government: the budget for the forthcoming fiscal year | The country faces a fiscal crisis if the government fails to act immediately. [Origin: Old English fisca; related to Pisces]

fish·ery /'fɪʃərɪ/ n. (plural fisheries) [C] a part of the ocean that is used for catching fish as a business fish·ing /'fɪʃɪŋ/ n. [U] the job or sport of catching fish: Do you want to go fishing?

fish·ing pole also fishing rod n. [C] a long thin pole with a long string and a hook tied to it, used for catching fish first-person n. 1 the first person ENG. LANG. ARTS the form of a verb or PRONOUN that you use to show that you are the speaker. "I," "me," and "us" are all first person pronouns, and "am" is the first person singular of the verb "to be." 2 in the first person ENG. LANG. ARTS a story in the first person is told by the writer or a speaker who is involved in the story first-person narrative/story ENG. LANG. ARTS a story that is told by a first person narrator first-person narrator n. [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS a person who writes or tells a story that s/he is involved in, and who refers to himself or herself as "I." A first person narrator only knows about the events s/he is involved in or is told about.

first-person singular of the verb "to be."
fit\(\text{\textdagger}\) /fɪt\(\text{\textdagger}\)/ 1 [T] to be the right size and shape for someone or something: The dress fit her perfectly. | This lid doesn’t fit very well. | C [I] to be the right size and shape for a particular space, and not be too big or too small: This key doesn’t seem to fit in the lock. | All of these pieces are supposed to fit together. | 3 [I,T] if something fits into a place, there is enough space for it: I don’t think we’ll be able to fit any more people into the car. | We can’t get the table to fit through the door. | 4 [T] to put a piece of equipment into a place, or a new part onto a machine, so that it is ready to be used: The windows and doors are all fitted with security locks. 5 [I,T] if something fits another thing, it is similar to or appropriate for it: A man fitting the police description (=looking like it was seen running from the park.) | We wanted an experienced journalist, and Watts fit the bill (=had the right experience). 2 present participle fitting. 1 [T,U] (past tense and past participle fitted) to decorate or repair a room or building: We fixed up the guest bedroom. 2 (informal) to find a romantic partner for someone: Rachel keeps trying to fix me up with her brother. 3 see fit to do sth (formal) to decide that it is right to do something, even though many people disagree: The government has seen fit to start testing more nuclear weapons. fit\(\text{\textdagger}\)ful /fɪt\(\text{\textdagger}\)\textdagger]\(\text{\textdagger}\)/ always starting and stopping, not continuous or regular: a fitful sleep fit\(\text{\textdagger}\)ness /fɪt\(\text{\textdagger}\)\textdagger]\(\text{\textdagger}\)/ the condition of being healthy or strong enough to do hard work or sports: classes to improve your physical fitness 2 the quality of being appropriate for something, especially a job: They were unsure of his fitness for a job as a social worker. fit\(\text{\textdagger}\)ted /fɪt\(\text{\textdagger}\)\textdagger]\(\text{\textdagger}\)/ 1 fitted clothes are designed so that they fit closely to someone’s body: a fitted jacket 2 be fitted with sth to have or include something as a permanent part: The food processor is fitted with three blades. fitting1 /'fɪtnɪ\(\text{\textdagger}\)/ (adj) right or appropriate: It was fitting that it rained the day of his funeral. | The game was a fitting end to the season. fitting2 /'fɪt\(\text{\textdagger}\)ɪ\(\text{\textdagger}\)\(\text{\textdagger}\)/ n. [C] an occasion when you put on clothes that are being made for you to find out if they fit 1 REPAIR to repair something that is broken or not working correctly: I’ve fixed your bike. | Do you know how to fix the problem? 2 PREPARE to prepare a meal or drinks: Let me fix you a drink. | Mom was fixing dinner. 3 DECIDE to decide on an exact time, place, price, etc.: Have you fixed a date for the wedding? | The interest rate was fixed at 6.5%. 4 HAIR/FACE to make your hair or makeup look neat and attractive: Let me fix my hair first and then we can go. 5 RESULT to make dishonest arrangements so that an election, competition, etc. has the results that you want: If you ask me, the game was fixed. | [Origin: 1400—1500 Latin fissus, past participle of fissere “to split”] fit\(\text{\textdagger}\)/ /fɪt\(\text{\textdagger}\)/ (v) figere to be fitted with sth 1 have/throw a fit (spoken) to become very angry and shout a lot: Mom’s going to have a fit when she sees what you’ve done. 2 a short period of time when someone stops being conscious and cannot control his/her body: an epileptic fit 3 a very strong emotion that you cannot control: a fit of rage 4 a period during which you laugh or cough a lot: I had a coughing fit during the concert. 5 be a good/tight/perfect etc. fit to fit a person or a particular space well, tightly, perfectly, etc.: The skirt’s a perfect fit. fit\(\text{\textdagger}\)ed /'fɪt\(\text{\textdagger}\)\(\text{\textdagger}\)/ (adj) 1 appropriate or good enough for something (NOT unfit): This book is not fit for publication. | You’re in no fit state to drive. 2 healthy and strong: He was young and physically fit. fit\(\text{\textdagger}\)fully /fɪt\(\text{\textdagger}\)\(\text{\textdagger}\)/ healthy, well, fine, better, in (good) shape ▸ HEALTHY we miss the last bus. 3 get a fix on sb/sth  a) to find out exactly where someone or something is b) to understand what someone or something is really like 4 [singular] (stang) an amount of an illegal drug that someone needs to take regularly fix-a·tion /fik'seʃən/ n. [C] a very strong interest in someone or something that is not healthy or natural: Brian has a fixation with motorcycles.

—fixed /fik'stɪd/ adj. 1 a fixed amount or time cannot be changed: pensioners on a fixed income 2 firmly fastened to something and in a particular position: a mirror fixed to the wall 3 have fixed ideas/opinions (disapproving) to have opinions or ideas that will not change

fix·ed·ly /fɪksɪdli/ adv. without looking at or thinking about anything else: Ann stared fixedly at the screen.

fix·a·tion —fixated /fɪksɪd/ adj. extremely shocked or surprised in someone or something that is not healthy or

fizzle out /ˈflɪzləʊt/ v. to gradually end in a weak or disappointing way: The party fizzled out before midnight.

flag /flæɡ/ n. 1 (C usually plural) a piece of equipment that is attached inside a house, such as an electric light or a faucet; a bathroom with gold-plated fixtures 2 be a (permanent) fixture to always be present, and unlikely to move or go away: He’s been a fixture in the Senate since 1968.

fizz /fɪz/ n. [singular, U] the bubbles of gas in some types of drinks or the sound they make ➔ see picture or page A7 ➔ fizzy /ˈfɪzɪ/ adj.

fizzle out /ˈflɪzləʊt/ v. to gradually end in a weak or disappointing way: The party fizzled out before midnight.

fla·men·co /fləˈmɛnkoʊ/ n. [C] an extremely exciting Spanish dance, or the music for this dance [Origin: 1800—1900 Spanish “person from Flanders;” in former times the people of Flanders wore bright clothes and were often thought to look like gypsy dancers] flam·ing  /ˈflæmɪŋ/  adj. [only before noun] 1 very bright: flaming red hair  2 burning strongly and brightly: flaming torches flam·in·go  /ˈflæmɪŋgo/  n. (plural flamingos or flamingoes) [C] a tall tropical water bird with long thin legs, pink feathers, and a long neck. [Spanish flamenco, from Provençal flamenc “flamingo, fire-bird”] flam·ma·ble  /ˈflæməbəl/  adj. something that is flammable burns very easily (ANT: nonflammable flap  /flæp/  v. [I,T] 1 to suddenly shine brightly for a short time, or to make something shine in this way: Lightning flashed overhead. | Why did that guy flash his headlights at me?

flap1  /flæp/  n. [C] 1 a sudden quick bright light: a flash of lightning  2 a bright light on a camera that you use when taking photographs indoors or when there is not much light: Did the flash go off?

flap2  n. [C] a word with a card or picture on it, used in teaching flap3  v. [I] to suddenly shine brightly fla·min·go  /ˈflæmɪŋgo/  n. (pl. flamingos) [C] a tall tropical water bird with long thin legs, pink feathers, and a long neck. [Spanish flamenco, from Provençal flamenc “flamingo, fire-bird”]

flap·per  /ˈflæpər/  n. (pl. flappers) a young woman who likes to dance. [Slang]

flap·ping  /ˈflæpɪŋ/  adj. flapping or flapping

flap·ping  /ˈflæpɪŋ/  adj. flapping or flapping

flap·per  /ˈflæpər/  n. (pl. flappers) a young woman who likes to dance. [Slang]

flash  /flæʃ/  v. 1 [I,T] to suddenly shine brightly for a short time, or to make something shine in this way: Lightning flashed overhead. | Why did that guy flash his headlights at me?

fla·min·go  /ˈflæmɪŋgo/  n. (pl. flamingos) [C] a tall tropical water bird with long thin legs, pink feathers, and a long neck. [Spanish flamenco, from Provençal flamenc “flamingo, fire-bird”] flan·nel  /ˈflænəl/  n. [U] soft light cotton or wool cloth that is used for making warm clothes: a flannel shirt flap  /flæp/  v. (flapped, flapping) 1 [I] if a bird flaps its wings, it moves and goes down. 2 [I] if a piece of cloth, paper, etc. flaps, it moves around quickly and makes a noise: The ship’s sail flapped in the wind.

flap  /flæp/  n. [C] a thin flat piece of cloth, paper, skin, etc. that is attached by one end to a surface, which you can lift up easily: the flap of the envelope flaring  /ˈflærɪŋ/  adj. flaring or flaring

fla·min·go  /ˈflæmɪŋgo/  n. (pl. flamingos) [C] a tall tropical water bird with long thin legs, pink feathers, and a long neck. [Spanish flamenco, from Provençal flamenc “flamingo, fire-bird”]

fla·min·go  /ˈflæmɪŋgo/  n. (pl. flamingos) [C] a tall tropical water bird with long thin legs, pink feathers, and a long neck. [Spanish flamenco, from Provençal flamenc “flamingo, fire-bird”]

fla·min·go  /ˈflæmɪŋgo/  n. (pl. flamingos) [C] a tall tropical water bird with long thin legs, pink feathers, and a long neck. [Spanish flamenco, from Provençal flamenc “flamingo, fire-bird”]

fla·min·go  /ˈflæmɪŋgo/  n. (pl. flamingos) [C] a tall tropical water bird with long thin legs, pink feathers, and a long neck. [Spanish flamenco, from Provençal flamenc “flamingo, fire-bird”]

fla·min·go  /ˈflæmɪŋgo/  n. (pl. flamingos) [C] a tall tropical water bird with long thin legs, pink feathers, and a long neck. [Spanish flamenco, from Provençal flamenc “flamingo, fire-bird”]

fla·min·go  /ˈflæmɪŋgo/  n. (pl. flamingos) [C] a tall tropical water bird with long thin legs, pink feathers, and a long neck. [Spanish flamenco, from Provençal flamenc “flamingo, fire-bird”]

fla·min·go  /ˈflæmɪŋgo/  n. (pl. flamingos) [C] a tall tropical water bird with long thin legs, pink feathers, and a long neck. [Spanish flamenco, from Provençal flamenc “flamingo, fire-bird”] fla·min·go  /ˈflæmɪŋgo/  n. (pl. flamingos) [C] a tall tropical water bird with long thin legs, pink feathers, and a long neck. [Spanish flamenco, from Provençal flamenc “flamingo, fire-bird”] flat

even – flat, level, and smooth: Make sure that the floor is even before laying tiles.

horizontal – a line, point, or surface is straight, flat, and not sloping; horizontal layers of rock

2 flat rate/fee etc. an amount of money that is paid and that does not increase or decrease: They charge a flat rate for delivery.

3 a tire that is flat does not have enough air inside it

4 a drink that is flat does not taste fresh because it has no more bubbles of gas: This Coke is completely flat.

5 a flat refusal/denial etc. a refusal, etc. that is definite and which someone will not change

6 flat rate for delivery.

7 a tire that is flat does not have enough air inside it:

8 to become flat:

9 develops two features or qualities, who is not interesting and 10 enough air inside it:

11 to make someone look as attractive as s/he can:

12 to move the tongue against, flatter]

13 to give something a particular taste or

14 to give food or drink a particular flavor

15 to move the tongue against, flatter]

16 to give something a particular taste or

17 to give food or drink a particular flavor

18 to move the tongue against, flatter]

19 to give something a particular taste or

20 to give food or drink a particular flavor

21 to move the tongue against, flatter]

22 to give something a particular taste or

23 to give food or drink a particular flavor

24 to move the tongue against, flatter]

25 to give something a particular taste or

26 to give food or drink a particular flavor

27 to move the tongue against, flatter]

28 to give something a particular taste or

29 to give food or drink a particular flavor

30 to move the tongue against, flatter]

31 to give something a particular taste or

32 to give food or drink a particular flavor

33 to move the tongue against, flatter]

34 to give something a particular taste or

35 to give food or drink a particular flavor

36 to move the tongue against, flatter]

37 to give something a particular taste or

38 to give food or drink a particular flavor

39 to move the tongue against, flatter]

40 to give something a particular taste or

41 to give food or drink a particular flavor

42 to move the tongue against, flatter]

43 to give something a particular taste or

44 to give food or drink a particular flavor

45 to move the tongue against, flatter]

46 to give something a particular taste or

47 to give food or drink a particular flavor

48 to move the tongue against, flatter]

49 to give something a particular taste or

50 to give food or drink a particular flavor

51 to move the tongue against, flatter]

52 to give something a particular taste or

53 to give food or drink a particular flavor

54 to move the tongue against, flatter]

55 to give something a particular taste or

56 to give food or drink a particular flavor

57 to move the tongue against, flatter]

58 to give something a particular taste or

59 to give food or drink a particular flavor

60 to move the tongue against, flatter]

61 to give something a particular taste or

62 to give food or drink a particular flavor

63 to move the tongue against, flatter]

64 to give something a particular taste or

65 to give food or drink a particular flavor

66 to move the tongue against, flatter]

67 to give something a particular taste or

68 to give food or drink a particular flavor

69 to move the tongue against, flatter]

70 to give something a particular taste or

71 to give food or drink a particular flavor

72 to move the tongue against, flatter]

73 to give something a particular taste or

74 to give food or drink a particular flavor

75 to move the tongue against, flatter]

76 to give something a particular taste or

77 to give food or drink a particular flavor

78 to move the tongue against, flatter]

79 to give something a particular taste or

80 to give food or drink a particular flavor

81 to move the tongue against, flatter]

82 to give something a particular taste or

83 to give food or drink a particular flavor

84 to move the tongue against, flatter]

85 to give something a particular taste or

86 to give food or drink a particular flavor

87 to move the tongue against, flatter]

88 to give something a particular taste or

89 to give food or drink a particular flavor

90 to move the tongue against, flatter]

91 to give something a particular taste or

92 to give food or drink a particular flavor

93 to move the tongue against, flatter]

94 to give something a particular taste or

95 to give food or drink a particular flavor

96 to move the tongue against, flatter]

97 to give something a particular taste or

98 to give food or drink a particular flavor

99 to move the tongue against, flatter]

100 to give something a particular taste or

101 to give food or drink a particular flavor

102 to move the tongue against, flatter]

103 to give something a particular taste or

104 to give food or drink a particular flavor

105 to move the tongue against, flatter]

106 to give something a particular taste or

107 to give food or drink a particular flavor

108 to move the tongue against, flatter]

109 to give something a particular taste or

110 to give food or drink a particular flavor

111 to move the tongue against, flatter]

112 to give something a particular taste or

113 to give food or drink a particular flavor

114 to move the tongue against, flatter]

115 to give something a particular taste or

116 to give food or drink a particular flavor

117 to move the tongue against, flatter]

118 to give something a particular taste or

119 to give food or drink a particular flavor

120 to move the tongue against, flatter]

121 to give something a particular taste or

122 to give food or drink a particular flavor

123 to move the tongue against, flatter]

124 to give something a particular taste or

125 to give food or drink a particular flavor

126 to move the tongue against, flatter]

127 to give something a particular taste or

128 to give food or drink a particular flavor

129 to move the tongue against, flatter]

130 to give something a particular taste or

131 to give food or drink a particular flavor

132 to move the tongue against, flatter]

133 to give something a particular taste or

134 to give food or drink a particular flavor

135 to move the tongue against, flatter]

136 to give something a particular taste or

137 to give food or drink a particular flavor

138 to move the tongue against, flatter]

139 to give something a particular taste or

140 to give food or drink a particular flavor

141 to move the tongue against, flatter]

142 to give something a particular taste or

143 to give food or drink a particular flavor

144 to move the tongue against, flatter]

145 to give something a particular taste or

146 to give food or drink a particular flavor

147 to move the tongue against, flatter]

148 to give something a particular taste or

149 to give food or drink a particular flavor

150 to move the tongue against, flatter]
flesh·y /flēshˈē/ adj; a fleshy country, organization, etc. is new and still developing: a fledgling republic flee /fli/ v (past tense and past participle fled /fliːd/) [ˈT] to leave somewhere very quickly in order to escape from danger: The president was forced to flee the country.

fleece /flɛs/ n [C] 1 the wool of a sheep 2 an artificial soft material used for making warm coats —fleecey adj fleece2 v [T] (informal) to charge someone too much money for something, usually by tricking him/her fleet /flɪt/ n [C] 1 a group of ships, or all the ships in a navy 2 a group of vehicles that are controlled by one company: a fleet of trucks fleet·ing /ˈflɛtɪŋ/ adj; happening for only a moment: a fleeting smile flesh /flɛʃ/ n [U] 1 the soft part of the body of a person or animal, between the skin and the bones: a freshwater fish with firm white flesh 2 the soft part of a fruit or vegetable that you eat —see picture on page 414 3 (see/meet sb) in the flesh to see someone whom you previously had only seen in a picture, on television, or in a movie: He’s more handsome in the flesh than on television. 4 your own flesh and blood someone who is part of your family flesh2 v flesh·ed out phr v to add more details to something: You need to flesh out your essay with more examples.

flesh·y /ˈflɛʃɪ/ adj; having a lot of flesh: a round, fleshy face flew /flu/ v the past tense of FLY flex /flɛks/ v [T] to bend and move part of your body so that your muscles become tight flex·i·ble /ˈflɛksəbəl/ (ˈɛksə-) adj 1 able to change easily —inflexible: flexible working hours  2 easy to bend; flexible plastic [Origin: 1400—1500 Latin flexibilis, from flexus, past participle of flexere “to bend”] —flexibility /ˈflɛksəbɪlətɪ/ n [U]: You need some flexibility in how you deal with bad behavior: Stretching improves your flexibility.
flex·time /ˈflɛks,tɜrm/ n [U] a system in which people can change the times at which they start and finish working flick1 /flɪk/ v 1 [T] to make something move by hitting or pushing it quickly, especially with your thumb and finger: Barry flicked the ash from his cigarette. —see picture on page A8 2 [I,T] to move with a quick sudden movement, or to make something move in this way: She flicked her hair back from her face. 3 [T] to press a switch to start or stop electrical equipment: He flicked the light switch on.

flick2 n [C] 1 (spoken) a movie: That was a great flick! 2 a short sudden movement or hit with your hand, a whip, etc.

flick·er1 /ˈflɪkər/ v [I] 1 to burn or shine with an unsteady light: flickering candles 2 (literary) if an emotion or expression flickers on someone’s face, it appears for only a short time: A look of anger flickered across Andrea’s face.

flick·er2 n 1 [singular] an unsteady light that goes on and off quickly: the flicker of the old gas lamp 2 a flicker of interest/guilt etc. a feeling or an expression on your face that only continues for a short time: Not even a flicker of emotion showed on his face.

fli·er /ˈflɪər/ n [C] a sheet of paper advertising something flight /flɪt/ n 1 [C] a trip in an airplane or space vehicle, or the airplane or vehicle that is making the trip: We caught the next flight home. | Our flight leaves in 20 minutes. | We almost missed our flight. | I’m coming in on Flight 255 from Chicago. 2 [U] the act of flying through the air: a bird in flight 3 [C] a set of stairs between one floor and the next: She fell down a whole flight of stairs. 4 [U] the act of avoiding a difficult situation by leaving or escaping: The movie ends with the family’s flight from Austria in World War II. [Origin: Old English flēht] flight·at·tend·ant n [C] someone who is responsible for the comfort and safety of the passengers on an airplane flight·deck n [C] the place where the pilot sits to control the airplane flight·less adj /ˈflɪtəls/ adj; a bird that is flightless is unable to fly flight·y /ˈflɪtɪ/ adj; someone who is flighty changes his/her ideas or activities a lot without finishing them or being serious about them flim·sy /ˈflɪmzɪ/ adj 1 flimsy clothing or material is thin, light, and does not cover much of the body: a flimsy summer blouse 2 weak and not made very well: a flimsy table 3 a flimsy argument, excuse, etc. does not seem very likely and people do not believe it: The evidence against him is very flimsy.

flinch /ˈflɪns/ v [I] 1 to make a sudden small backward movement when you are hurt or afraid of something: He raised his hand, and the child flinched. 2 to avoid doing something because it is difficult or unpleasant: He never flinches from the truth, no matter how painful.
fling /flɪŋ/ v (past tense and past participle flung /flʌŋ/) [T] to throw or move something quickly with a lot of force: She flung her coat onto the bed and sat down. | Val flung her arms around my neck.

flirt /flɜːt/ n. [C] a short and not very serious sexual relationship flint /flɪnt/ n. [C]U a type of very hard black or gray stone that makes a small flame when you strike it with steel flip /flɪp/ v. (flipped, flipping): 1 [T] to turn over quickly, or to make something turn over: The vehicle flipped over several times. | Let's flip a coin to see who goes first. 2 [T] to change the position of something: You just flip a switch and the machine does everything for you. 3 also flip out [informal] to suddenly become very angry or upset, or start behaving in a crazy way: Harry flipped out when he found out that I'd wrecked his motorcycle.

flip through sth phr. v. to look at a book, magazine, etc. quickly flip-flop n. [C] a movement in which you jump up and turn over in the air, so that your feet go over your head flip-flop v. informal (flip-flopping) to turn over in the air, so that your feet go over your head flip chart n. [C] large pieces of paper which are connected at the top so that you can turn the pages over to present information to groups of people flip-flop n. [C] (informal) an occasion when someone changes his/her decision... flip-flop v. [I] flip-pant /ˈflɪpənt/ adj. not serious about something that other people think you should be serious about: a flippant answer flip-ped /flɪpt/ n. [C] 1 a flat part on the body of some large sea animals, used for pushing themselves through water. 2 a large flat rubber shoe that you use in order to help you swim faster flip side n. [singular] (informal) the bad effects of something that also has good effects: The flip side is that the medicine may cause hair loss.

flirt /flɜːt/ v. [I] to behave toward someone as though you are sexually attracted to him/her, but not in a very serious way: He's always flirting with the women in the office.

flirt with sth phr. v. 1 to consider doing something, but not be very serious about it: I've been flirting with the idea of moving to Greece. 2 flirt with danger/disaster etc. to do something that might be dangerous or have a very bad effect flirt n. [C] someone who flirts: Dave is such a flirt!

flir-ta-tion /flɜːrɪˈteɪʃən/ n. [U] behavior that shows you are sexually attracted to someone, but not in a serious way.

flood /floʊd/ v. 1 a) [I] to stay or move on the surface of a liquid without sinking: Leaves were floating on the surface of the water. | Their raft was floating away. b) [T] to put something on the surface of a liquid so that it does not sink: Children were floating small boats on the lake. 2 [I] to stay in the air or move slowly through the air: I watched a balloon float up into the sky. 3 [T] to suggest an idea or plan, especially in order to find out what people think about it: Bob floated the idea in a recent meeting. 4 [T] ECONOMICS to sell shares in a company or business to the public for the first time [origin: Old English flotan] floater /ˈfloʊtər/ n. 1 a large vehicle that is decorated to be part of a parade. 2 a soft drink that has ice cream floating in it flock /flɒk/ n. [C] 1 a group of sheep, goats, or birds: a flock of geese. 2 a large group of people of the same type flock v. [I] if people flock to a place, a lot of them go there: People are flocking to that new Thai restaurant.

flog /flɔɡ/ (flogged, flogging) [T] to beat a person or animal with a whip or stick as a punishment —flogging n. [C] flood /flʌd/ v. 1 [T] to make a place become covered with water, or to become covered with water: The river flooded the valley every spring. | The basement flooded and everything got soaked. 2 [I/T] to arrive or go somewhere in large numbers or amounts: Offers of help came flooding in. 3 be flooded with sth to receive so many letters, complaints, etc. that you cannot deal with them all: After the show, the station was flooded with calls from angry viewers. 4 flood the market ECONOMICS to sell something in very large quantities, so that the price goes down. 5 [I] if a memory or a feeling floods back, you remember it very strongly flood n. [C] 1 a very large amount of water that covers an area that is usually dry: The town was destroyed by floods. 2 a very large number of THESSALUS

ground, land, earth

2 one of the levels in a building: My office is on the third floor.
3 ocean/forest/valley etc. floor the ground at the bottom of the ocean or in a forest
> a picture at PHOTIC
4 the floor a) the part of a public or government building where people discuss things: an argument on the Senate floor
b) the people attending a public meeting: Are there any questions from the floor?
5 an area in a room where people can dance: couples on the dance floor 6 an area in a building where a lot of people do their job: the factory floor

Old English floor

floor2 v. [T] 1 to surprise or shock someone so much that she does not know what to say or do: I was completely floored by his question.
2 to make a car go as fast as possible floor-board

flooring n. [U] a material used to make or cover floors floor-length adj. long enough to reach the floor: a floor-length skirt floor plan n. [C] a drawing that shows the shape of a room or rooms in a building and the positions of things in it, as seen from above floozies n. (plural floozies) [C] informal. a woman who has sexual relationships with a lot of different men flopped v. (flopped, flopping) [I] 1 to sit or fall down quickly, especially because you are tired: Joe flopped down on the bed.

2 informal. if something such as a product, play, or plan flops, it is not successful: The musical flopped after its first week on Broadway.

floppy adj. soft and hanging loosely down: a floppy hat floppy disk also floppy n. [C] a small flat piece of plastic, used for storing information from a computer flopping n. [C] a large area of flat land on either side of a river that becomes covered with water when the river is too full text continued...

flow /ˈfləʊ/ n. [C] 1. a natural tendency of things to happen in a particular way: The river flows past our house.
2. a natural movement: The temperature in the room fluctuated wildly.
3. a natural movement of blood: If you grow plants, will they seem to go well together and make one place to another?

flow·er /ˈfləʊər/ n. [C] 1. a colored part of a plant or tree that produces the seeds or fruit: The tree has beautiful pink flowers in early spring.
2. a small plant that produces beautiful flowers: She’s growing vegetables and flowers in the garden.
3. in flower a plant that is in flower has flowers on it.

flow·er·bed /ˈfləʊərˌbɛd/ n. [C] an area of ground in which flowers are grown.

flow·er·pot /ˈfləʊərˌpɒt/ n. [C] a pot in which you grow plants.

flow·ery /ˈfləʊər.i/ adj. decorated with pictures of flowers: a flowery dress.

flow·er·y·bed /ˈfləʊərˌbɛd/ n. [C] an area of ground in which flowers are grown.

flow·chart /ˈfləʊ.tʃɑːrt/ n. [C] a drawing that uses shapes and arrows to show how a series of actions or parts of a system are connected with each other: see picture at CHART.

flow·er·bed /ˈfləʊərˌbɛd/ n. [C] an area of ground in which flowers are grown.

flow·er·pot /ˈfləʊərˌpɒt/ n. [C] a pot in which you grow plants.

flow·ery /ˈfləʊər.i/ adj. decorated with pictures of flowers: a flowery dress.

flow·er·y·bed /ˈfləʊərˌbɛd/ n. [C] an area of ground in which flowers are grown.

flow·chart /ˈfləʊ.tʃɑːrt/ n. [C] a drawing that uses shapes and arrows to show how a series of actions or parts of a system are connected with each other: see picture at CHART.

flow·er·bed /ˈfləʊərˌbɛd/ n. [C] an area of ground in which flowers are grown.

flow·er·pot /ˈfləʊərˌpɒt/ n. [C] a pot in which you grow plants.

flow·ery /ˈfləʊər.i/ adj. decorated with pictures of flowers: a flowery dress.

flow·er·y·bed /ˈfləʊərˌbɛd/ n. [C] an area of ground in which flowers are grown.

flow·chart /ˈfləʊ.tʃɑːrt/ n. [C] a drawing that uses shapes and arrows to show how a series of actions or parts of a system are connected with each other: see picture at CHART.
flush /flush/ n. [C] (informal) something that only happens because of chance or luck: Their victory was a flush.

flung /flʌŋ/ v. the past tense and past participle of fling flunk /flʌŋk/ v. [I, T] (informal) to fail a test or course, or to give someone a low grade so s/he does this: I flunked the history exam. | Mrs. Harris flunked me in English.

flunk out phr. v. (informal) to be forced to leave a school or college because your work is not good enough: Tim flunked out of Yale.

flun·ky /ˈflʌŋkri/ n. (plural flunkies) [C] (informal) someone who does the boring or physical work that someone else tells him or her to do flu-o-resent /ˈfluəˌres-tənt/ adj. 1 a fluorescent light is a very bright electric light in the form of a tube 2 fluorescent colors shine very brightly [Origin: 1800—1900 fluor spar, type of fluorescent mineral (18—21 centuries), from Modern Latin fl uor “mineral used for melting,” from Latin fluere “to flow.”] 3 [C] usually in the form belonging to the halogen group.

flurry /ˈflʌri/ n. [I, T] (plural flurries) [C] usually singular] an occasion when there is suddenly a lot of activity for a short time: His arrival produced a flurry of excitement. 2 [C] usually plural an occasion when it snows for a short time: Snow flurries are expected tonight.

flush1 /flʌʃ/ v. 1 [I, T] if a toilet flushes, or if you flush it, you make water go through it to clean it 2 [I] to become red in the face, especially because you are embarrassed or angry → flushed: Billy flushed and looked down. 3 [I, T] also flush out to clean something by forcing water through it: Drinking water helps flush out harmful substances from the body.

flush2 n. 1 [singular] the red color that appears on your face when you are embarrassed or angry 2 a flush of pride/embarrassment/happiness etc. a sudden feeling of pride, embarrassment, etc.: He felt a strong flush of pride as he watched his daughter on stage.

flush3 adj. [not before noun] 1 if two surfaces are flush, they are at exactly the same level, so that the place where they meet is flat: Is that cupboard flush with the wall? 2 (informal) if someone is flush, s/he has plenty of money: I’ll buy dinner. I’m feeling flush right now.

flushed /ˈflʌʃt/ adj. 1 red in the face: You look a little flushed. 2 flushed with excitement/success excited or pleased in a way that is easy to notice: Jill run in, flushed with excitement.

flus·tered /ˈflʌstərd/ adj. feeling nervous and confused: Jay got flustered and forgot what he was supposed to say.

flute /flʌt/ n. [C] a musical instrument shaped like a pipe that you play by holding it across your lips and blowing into it [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French flaut e, from Old Provençal flaut] → see picture at WOODWIND —flutist n. [C] flut-ter /ˈflʌtər/ v. 1 [I, T] if a bird or insect flutters, or flutters its wings, its wings move quickly and lightly up and down: moths fluttering around the light 2 [I] to wave or move gently in the air: flags fluttering in the wind 3 [I] if your heart or your stomach flutters, you feel very excited or nervous —flutter n. [singular] flux /flʌks/ n. be in (a state of) flux to be changing a lot so that you cannot be sure what will happen: The economy is in flux at the moment.

fly1 /flai/ v. (past tense flew /flu/, past participle flown /flown/ or person singular flies) 1 THROUGH AIR [I, T] to move through the air, or to make something do this: We watched the birds flying overhead. | He was flying a kite in the park. | The planes fly right over our house. 2 TRAVEL [I] to travel by airplane: Are you going to fly or drive? | From flown to Paris last week. 3 AIRLINE [I, T] to use a particular AIRLINE or use a particular type of ticket when flying: He usually flies first class. 4 BE A PILOT [I, T] to be the pilot of an airplane: Bill’s learning to fly. 5 SEND SB/STH BY AIRPLANE [T] to take goods or people somewhere by airplane: Food and medicine are being flown into the area. 6 MOVE [I] to suddenly move very quickly: Timmy flew down the stairs and out the door. | The door suddenly flew open. 7 TIME [I] (informal) if time flies, it seems to pass quickly: Is it 5:30 already? Boy, time sure does fly! | Last week just flew by. 8 fly off the handle (informal) to suddenly become angry for no good reason 9 FLAG [I, T] if a flag is flying, it is fixed to the top of a tall pole.

fly2 n. (plural flies) [C] 1 a common small flying insect with two wings: There were flies all over the food. 2 (informal) the part at the front of a pair of pants that you can open: Your fly is unzipped. 3 a hook that is made to look like a fly, used for catching fish fly-by-night adj. [only before noun] (informal, disapproving) a fly-by-night organization cannot be trusted and is not likely to exist very long; fly-by-night operators who take your money and run fly-er /ˈflaiər/ n. [C] a flier fly-ing /ˈfliːən/ n. [U] the activity of traveling by airplane or of being a pilot: fear of flying flying2 adj. 1 able to fly: a type of flying insect 2 with flying colors if you pass a test with flying colors, you are very successful on it flying `saucer n. [C] a space vehicle shaped like fly-swatter  /flaiˈswætər/ n  [C] a plastic square attached to a long handle, used for killing flies

FM  n  [U] frequency modulation a system of broadcasting radio programs which produces a clear sound → AM foal  /ˈfeʊl/ n  [C] a very young horse

foam1  /ˈfoʊm/ n  [U] 1 a lot of very small BUBBLES on the surface of something: white foam on the tops of the waves  2 a light solid substance filled with many very small BUBBLES of air: foam packing material —foamy adj.

foam2  /foʊm/ v  [I] 1 to produce foam  2 foam at the mouth to be very angry foam-rubber  n  [U] soft rubber full of air BUBBLES that is used, for example, to fill PILLOWS fo-cal point  /ˈfoʊkæl ˈpɔɪnt/ n  [C] someone or something that you pay the most attention to: Television has become the focal point of most American homes.

fo-cus1  /ˈfɔʊkəs/ (Ac) n  [I,T] 1 to give all your attention to a particular thing: In his speech he focused on the economy.  2 She tried to focus her attention on her work.

focus2  /ˈfɔʊkəs/ n  [S] 1 a special attention that you give to a particular person or subject: Our main focus is on helping people get back to work.  2 in focus/out of focus if a photograph, camera, etc. is in focus, the edges of the things you see are clear; if it is out of focus, the edges are not clear fo-cused (Ac) /ˈfɔʊkəst/ adj paying careful attention to what you are doing, in a way that shows you are determined to succeed: You need to practice hard and stay focused.

fod-der  /ˈfadər/ n  [U] food for farm animals fog1  /ˈfoʊɡ, ˈfɑːɡ/ n  [C,U] cloudy air near to the ground that is difficult for you to see through: I could hardly see the road through thick/heavy fog.

fog2  /ˈfoʊɡ/ or /ˈfɑːɡ/ v  (fogged, fogging) [I,T] if glass fogs or becomes fogged, it becomes covered with very small drops of water so you cannot see through it: My glasses fogged up as soon as I stepped outside.

fo-gey, foggy  /ˈfɑːɡi/ n  plural fogeys or fogies [C] (informal) someone who is old-fashioned and who does not like change: Don’t be such an old fogey.

fog-gy  /ˈfoʊgɪ, ˈfɑːɡɪ/ adj (comparative foggier, superlative foggiest) 1 not clear because of FOG: a foggy morning  2 I don’t have the foggiest idea (spoken, old-fashioned) said in order to emphasize that you do not know something: I don’t have the foggiest idea what his address is.

fog-horn  /ˈfoʊɡhorn/ n  [C] a loud horn used by ships in a FOG to warn other ships of their position.

foi-ble  /ˈfoɪbəl/ n  [C] (formal) a habit that someone has that is slightly strange or silly foil  /ˈfoɪl/ n  [U] metal sheets that are thin like paper, used for wrapping food: Cover the pan tightly with aluminum foil.

foil  v  [I,T] if you foil someone’s plans, you stop him/her from doing something foist  /ˈfoɪst/ v

foist sth on/upon sb phr v to make someone accept something that s/he does not want: Marie is always trying to foist her religious beliefs on everyone.
picture on a computer screen that shows you where a file is kept folk /fouk/ n. [U] BIOLOGY the leaves of a plant

folk /fouk/ adj. [only Before noun] ENG. LANG. ARTS folk music, art, dancing, etc. is traditional and typical of the ordinary people who live in a particular area [ORIGIN: Old English fōlce]

folk /fouk/ n. 1 sb’s folks your parents or family; I need to call my folks sometime this weekend. 2 folks [plural] (spoken) said when you are talking to a group of people in a friendly way: That’s all for now, folks. 3 folks [plural] (informal) people: Most folks around here are very friendly. 4 [U] ENG. LANG. ARTS folk music folk-lore /fouk-lar/ n. [U] ENG. LANG. ARTS the traditional stories, customs, etc. of the ordinary people of a particular area folk /fouk/ n. [U] ENG. LANG. ARTS traditional music that is played by the ordinary people of a particular area folk-sy /fouk-si/ adj. (informal) friendly and informal: The town has a certain folksy charm.

folk /fouk/ n. [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS a traditional spoken story from a particular area that is passed on by adults telling it to children. Folk tales usually form part of a particular society’s CULTURE (=customs, beliefs, and way of life).

fol-li-cle /follis-kul/ n. [C] BIOLOGY one of the small holes in the skin that hair grows from. A follicle consists of a group of cells. 2 BIOLOGY a space that forms around an egg and the surrounding cells when the egg is developing inside a female’s body [ORIGIN: 1400—1500 Modern Latin folliculus, from Latin follis “bag”]

follow /fou-lou/ 1 COME BEHIND [T] to walk, drive, etc. behind or after someone else: If you follow me, I’ll show you to your room. The president came in, followed by a crowd of photographers. | You go ahead — I’ll follow later. 2 IN ORDER TO WATCH SB [T] to go closely behind someone else in order to find out where s/he is going: Marlowe looked over his shoulder to make sure no one was following him.

chase – to quickly follow someone or something in order to catch him, her, or it: Police chased the thief down the street.

pursue (formal) – to chase or follow someone or something in order to catch him, her, or it: We ran faster, but he continued to pursue us.

run after – to chase someone or something: She started to leave, and Smith ran after her.

tail (informal) – to secretly watch and follow someone such as a criminal: Police have been tailing him.

track – to search for a person or animal by following a smell or marks on the ground: The police used dogs to track the missing girl.

stalk – to follow a person or animal quietly in order to catch, attack, or kill him, her, or it: a tiger stalking its prey

3 HAPPEN AFTER [T,T] to happen or come immediately after something else: There was a shout from the garage followed by a loud crash. | In the days that followed, Angie tried to forget about Sam.

4 follow [the instructions/rules/advice etc. to do something according to how the instructions, rules, etc. say it should be done: Did you follow the instructions on the box?

5 follow [suit to do the same thing as someone else, after she has done it: He praised Kim and encouraged others to follow suit. | When Allied Stores reduced prices, other companies were forced to follow suit.

6 follow (in) sb’s footsteps to do the same job that someone else did before you: Toshi followed in his father’s footsteps and started his own business.

7 BE INTERESTED [T] to be interested in something, especially a sport, and pay attention to it: Do you follow baseball at all?

8 follow used in order to introduce a list of names, instructions, etc.: The winners are as follows: first place, Tony Gwynn; second place, ...

9 UNDERSTAND [T] (spoken) to understand something such as an explanation or story: Sorry, I don’t follow you.

10 follow that used in order to show that something must be true as a result of something else that is true: If interest rates come down, it follows that more people will borrow money.

11 GO IN A DIRECTION [T] to continue on a road or path, or go in the same direction as a river: The road follows the river for the next six miles.

12 BELIEVE/OBEY [T] to believe in or obey a particular set of religious or political ideas: They still follow the teachings of Gandhi. [ORIGIN: Old English folgian]

follow sb around phr. v. to keep following someone everywhere s/he goes: My little brother is always following me around.

follow sth • • through phr. v. to do what needs to be done to complete something or make it successful: Harry was trained as an actor, but he never followed through with it.

follow sth • • up phr. v. to find out more about something, or to do more about something: Did Jaye ever follow up on that job possibility in Tucson?

following /fou-lou-ing/ adj. the following day/ year/chapter etc. the day, year, etc. after the one you have just mentioned: Neil arrived on Friday, and his wife came the following day.

following n. 1 [singular] a group of people who support or admire someone such as a performer following

The band has a big following in Europe. 2 the following the people or things that you are going to mention next: To open an account, you will need the following: ID, proof of residency and a minimum deposit of $50.

following 3 prep. immediately after: There will be time for questions following the lecture.

follow-up n. 1 [C] a book, movie, article, etc. that comes after another one that has the same subject or characters: The studio is planning to do a follow-up next year. 2 a follow-up to their successful first album 2 [C,U] something that is done to make sure that earlier actions have been successful or effective — follow-up adj. [only before noun] folly 1 /'foli/ n. (plural follies) [C,U] (formal) a very stupid thing to do: It would be sheer folly to buy another car at this point.

font /fɒnt/ n. /fɒnt/ v. 1 [T] to gently touch and move your fingers over part of someone’s body in a way that shows love or sexual desire fond /fɒnd/ adj. 1 be fond of sb/sth to like someone or something very much: Mrs. Winters is very fond of her grandchildren. 2 fond memories memories that make you happy when you think of them: Marie still had fond memories of their time together. 3 be fond of doing sth to enjoy doing something, and to do it often: Dad is very fond of telling that story. 4 [only before noun] a fond look, smile, action, etc. shows that you like someone very much: As we left, we said a fond farewell. — fondness n. [U] fondle /fɒndl/ v. [T] to gently touch and move your fingers over part of someone’s body in a way that shows love or sexual desire.

fondly /fɒndli/ adv. 1 in a way that shows you like someone or something very much: Greta smiled fondly at him from across the room. 2 fondly remember/recall to feel happy when you remember what you liked about a person or place: That trip is still fondly remembered by all of us.

font /fɒnt/ n. [C] 1 a set of printed letters that is a particular size and shape 2 a stone container in a church that holds the water used for the ceremony of BAPTISM food /fʊd/ n. [C,U] things that people and animals eat, such as vegetables or meat ➔ fast food, health food, junk food: I love Chinese food. We didn’t have enough food for everyone. | the frozen foods section of the supermarket frozen – packed and stored at very low temperatures processed – processed food has chemicals in it to make it last longer organic – produced without using harmful chemicals vegetarian – containing no meat or fish nutritious/nourishing/wholesome – good for your health

2 food for thought something that makes you think carefully about something: The teacher’s advice certainly gave me food for thought. [Origin: Old English fodar] food bank n. [C] a place that gives food to people who need it food chain n. [singular] biology animals and plants considered as a group in which one animal is eaten by another animal, which is eaten by another, etc.

food poisoning n. [U] an illness caused by eating food that contains harmful bacteria food processor n. [C] a piece of electrical equipment for preparing food, that cuts or mixes it very quickly food stamp n. [C] usually plural an official piece of paper, given by the government to poor people, that can be used instead of money to buy food food-stuff /'fʊdست/ n. [C] usually plural food – used especially when talking about the business of producing or selling food food web n. [C] biology all the connected and dependent food chains in a particular place fool /fʊl/ n. [C] 1 a stupid person: I felt like a fool, locking my keys in the car like that. 2 make a fool of yourself to do something stupid that you feel embarrassed about later: Sorry if I made a fool of myself last night. I was drunk. 3 make a fool of sb to deliberately try to make someone seem stupid: She made a fool of me in front of all the other students. [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French fol, from Latin follis “bag for blowing air”] foold v. 1 [T] to trick or deceive someone: Don’t be fooled into buying more insurance than you need. 2 you could have fooled me (spoken) said when you do not believe what someone has told you: “Look, we’re doing our best to fix it.” “Well, you could have fooled me.” 3 be fooling yourself to try to make yourself believe something that you know is not really true: You’re fooling yourself if you think he’s going to come back to you.

fool around phr. v. 1 to waste time behaving in a silly way or doing things that are not important: Stop fooling around and start studying! 2 to behave in a way which is careless and not responsible: Stop fooling around with those scissors before someone gets hurt. 3 to have a sexual relationship with someone else, especially when you should not foot with abbr. phr. v. (informal) to touch or play with something in a careless way. Don’t foot with that control panel unless you know what you’re doing.

foot-hardy /'fʊtˌhɑrdɪ/ adj. taking risks that are not necessary foot-ish /ˈfʊtʃɪʃ/ adj. not sensible or wise: It was a very foolish thing to do. | a foolish woman —foolishly adv.: I foolishly agreed to go with them. —foolishness n. [U] foot-proof /ˈfʊtprúf/ adj. a foolproof plan, method, etc. is certain to be successful foot /fʊt/ n. [C]

1 BODY PART (plural feet /fɪt/) the part of your body that you stand on and walk on: Turner kicks with his left/right foot. | He always walks around in bare feet (without shoes and socks). — see picture on page A3

2 MEASUREMENT (plural feet or foot) (written abbreviation ft.) a unit for measuring length, equal to 12 inches or 0.3048 meters
3 on foot if you go somewhere on foot, you walk there: We set out to explore the city on foot.
4 the foot of sth the lowest part of something such as a mountain or tree, or the end of something such as a bed
5 on your feet a) to be standing for a long time without sitting down: Waitresses are on their feet all day. b) to be healthy again after being sick: It’s good to see you on your feet again!
6 off your feet sitting or lying down, rather than standing or walking: The doctor told me to stay off my feet for a few days.
7 get/rise/jump etc. to your feet to stand up after you have been sitting: The fans cheered and rose to their feet.
8 set foot in sth to go into a place: If that woman ever sets foot in this house, I’m leaving!
9 put your foot down a) to say very firmly what someone must or not do: Brett didn’t want to go to the doctor, but Dad put his foot down. b) to make a car go faster 10 put your feet up to relax and rest, especially by having your feet supported on something 11 put your foot in your mouth to accidentally say something that embarrasses or upsets someone 12 have/keep both feet on the ground to be sensible and practical in the way you live your life 13 get your foot in the door to get your first opportunity to work in a particular organization or industry
14 have one foot in the grave (humorous) to be old
15 ON SEA/LAND ANIMAL BIOLOGY a muscle used to move forward, found on the lower part of a sea or land animal that has a soft body covered by a hard shell
16 POETRY ENG. LANG. ARTS a part of a line of poetry in which there is one strong beat and one or two weaker ones, to give the line a rhythm → iamb, anapest, dactyl, trochee, spondee
17 -footed having a particular number or type of feet: a four-footed animal | a flat-footed man
18 -footer being a particular number of feet in length: Our sailboat’s a twenty-footer. — see picture on page A11 foot /fʊt/ v. foot the bill (informal) to pay for something: Her father is footing the bill for flying lessons.

footage /ˈfʊtɪdʒ/ n. [U] a film that shows a particular event: black-and-white footage of the 1936 Olympics football /ˈfʊtbɔːl/ n. [U] a game in which two teams of 11 players carry, kick, or throw a ball into an area at the end of a field to win points: a football game → see picture on page A4 footbridge /ˈfʊtbɹɪdʒ/ n. [C] a narrow bridge for people to walk over footfall /ˈfʊtfɔːl/ n. [C] (literary) the sound of each step when someone is walking → see picture on page A11 foothold /ˈfʊthəʊld/ n. [C] 1 a position from which you can start trying to get what you want: The Republicans gained a foothold during the last elections. 2 a space where you can safely put your foot when climbing a rock footlight /ˈfʊtlɪt/ n. [plural] a row of lights along the front of the stage in a theater footlocker /ˈfʊtlɒkər/ n. [C] a large strong box that you keep your things in footloose /ˈfʊtlʊs/ adj. able to do what you want and enjoy yourself because you are not responsible for anyone or anything: No, I’m not married – still footloose and fancy free.

footnote /ˈfʊtnʊt/ n. [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS a note in a book at the bottom of a page, which gives more information about something on that page footpath /ˈfʊtpɑːθ/ n. [C] a TRAIL footprint /ˈfʊtprɪnt/ n. [C] a mark made by a foot or shoe: a deer’s footprints in the snow → see picture at fingerprint footrest /ˈfʊtrest/ n. [C] a part of a chair that you can raise or lower in order to support your feet when you are sitting down footsie /ˈfʊtsi/ n. play footsie (with sb) (informal) to secretly touch someone’s feet with your feet under a table, to show that you think s/he is sexually attractive footstep /ˈfʊtstɛp/ n. [C] the sound of each step when someone is walking: He heard someone’s footsteps in the hall. \(\rightarrow\) follow in sb’s footsteps at follow footstool  /ˈfʊstəʊl/ n. [C] a low piece of furniture used for supporting your feet when you are sitting down footwear  /ˈfʊtweər/ n. [U] things you wear on your feet, such as shoes or boots footwork  /ˈfʊtˌwɜːk/ n. [U] skilful use of your feet when dancing or playing a sport: the dancer’s fancy footwork for\(^{1}\) (for: strong Est E prep 1 intended to be given to or used by a particular person or group: Save a piece of cake for Noah. | Somebody left a message for you. | We made cookies for the party. 2 used in order to show the purpose of an object, action, etc.: a knife for cutting bread | What did you do that for? (=why did you do it? | What's this gadget for? (=what is its purpose) 3 for sale/rent used in order to show that something is available to be sold or rented: They’ve just put their house up for sale. 4 in order to get or do something: Alison is looking for a job. | We were waiting for the bus. | Let’s go for a walk. | For more information, write to this address.

THE THESAURUS in order to, to, so (that) \(\rightarrow\) order\(^{2}\)

5 used in order to show the time when something is planned to happen: an appointment for 3:00 | It’s time for dinner (we’re going to have dinner now). 6 in order to help someone: Let me lift that box for you. | What can I do for you? (=can I help you) 7 used in order to talk about a particular length of time: I’ve known Kim for a long time. | Bake the cake for 40 minutes. 8 because of or as a result of: I got a ticket for going through a red light. | The award for the highest sales goes to Pete McGregor. 9 used in order to show where a person, vehicle, etc. is going: The plane for Las Vegas took off an hour late. | I was just leaving for church when the phone rang. 10 used in order to express a distance: We walked for miles. 11 used in order to show a price or amount: a check for $100 | an order for 200 copies | I’m not working for free! (=without being paid). 12 for breakfast/ lunch/dinner used in order to say what you ate or will eat at breakfast, lunch, etc.: “What’s for lunch?” “Hamburgers.” | We had steak for dinner last night. 13 for sb/sth to do sth used when discussing what is happening, what may happen, or what can happen: It’s unusual for it to be this cold in June. | The plan is for us to leave on Friday morning and pick up Joe. 14 if you are happy, sad, etc. for someone, you feel happy, sad, etc. because something has happened to him or her: I’m really happy for you. 15 for now used in order to say that a situation can be changed later: Just put the pictures in a box for now. 16 work for/play for etc. to work at a particular company, play a sport on a particular team, etc.: She worked for Exxon until last year. | He plays for the Boston Red Sox. 17 supporting or agreeing with someone or something: How many people voted for Mulhoney? | I’m for getting a pizza, what about you? 18 for all \(\rightarrow\) considering how little: For all the good I did, I shouldn’t have tried to help. 19 for all I know/care (spoken) used in order to say that you really do not know or care: He could be in Canada by now for all I know. 20 for Christmas/for sb’s birthday etc. in order to celebrate Christmas, someone’s birthday, etc.: What did you get for your birthday? | We went to my grandmother’s for Thanksgiving last year. 21 having the same meaning as another word, sign, etc.: What’s the Spanish word for oil? 22 when you consider a particular fact: Libby’s very tall for her age. 23 if it hadn’t been for/it weren’t for/for sb/sth if something had not happened, or if a situation were different: If it weren’t for Michelle’s help, we’d never get this job done.

for\(^{2}\) conjunction (literary) because for-age /ˈfɔːrədʒ/ ‘fær-ɪ  v. [I] to go to a lot of places searching for food or other supplies: animals foraging for food for-ay /ˈfɔːreɪ, ˈfæreɪ/ n. [C] a short attempt at doing a particular job or activity: a brief foray into politics 2 a short sudden attack by a group of soldiers for-bade /ˈfɔːrˌbæd/ v. the past tense of FORBID for-bear-ance /ˈfɔːrˌbɛrəns, ˈfær-əns/ n. [U] (literary) the quality of being patient, having control over your emotions, and being willing to forgive someone for-bid /ˈfɔːrˌbɪd/ v. (past tense forbade /ˈfɔːrd/; participle forbidden /ˈfɔːrdɪn/; present participle forbidding) [T] 1 to order someone not to do something: I forbade you to see that man again.

THE THESAURUS

not allow/permit/let — to say that someone must not do something, and stop him/her doing it: People are not allowed to sell food or drinks along the parade route ban — to officially say that people must not do something or that something is not allowed: The country’s government has banned foreign journalists from the area prohibit — to officially say that an action is illegal or not allowed: Selling alcohol to people under 21 is prohibited.

bar — to officially prevent someone from doing something: During the drought, residents were barred from watering their lawns.

proscribe (formal) — to officially stop the existence or use of something: The laws proscribe child labor.

2 God/Heaven forbid (spoken) said in order to emphasize that you hope that something will not happen: God forbid you should have an accident. [Origin: Old English forbædan] for-bid-den /ˈfɔːrdɪn/ adj. not allowed, especially because of an official rule: It’s forbidden to force /fɔːrs/ n.

1 TRAINEED GROUP [C] a group of people who have been trained to do military or police work
   ➔ ARMED FORCES, AIR FORCE, POLICE FORCE: Rebel forces are seeking to overthrow the government. | A multinational military force will be sent to the region.
2 VIOLENT ACTION [U] violent physical action used in order to achieve something: The police used force to break up the demonstration. | an investigation into the excessive use of force.
3 NATURAL POWER a) [U] the natural power that is used or produced when one thing moves or hits another thing: Waves were hitting the rocks with great force. | The force of the explosion threw her backwards. b) [C] PHYSICS a natural power that produces movement in another object: the force of gravity.

forceful /fɔːrsfl/ adj. powerful and strong: a forceful personality | a forceful argument —forcefully adv.

force-feed /fɔːrfsd/ phr. v. to make someone accept something even though they do not want it: They tried to force their own views on me.

fore·boding /foərˈbodɪŋ/ n. something that has strong influence on or of something: Mandela was the driving force behind the changes (=the one who made them happen). | Technology can be a force for good (=it can make good things happen).

force·ful·ly /ˈfɔrfləli/ adv. forcefully

1 trained group
2 violent action
3 natural power

forecast

forecast /fɔːrkast/ n. [C] a description of what is likely to happen in the future, based on information you have now: the weather forecast | the company's sales forecast fore·boss·ing /foəˈbɒsɪŋ/ n. [C,U] a feeling that something bad will happen soon: We waited for news of the men with a sense of foreboding.

fore·cast·ing /foəˈkæstɪŋ/ n. [C] something that is likely to happen in the future, based on information you have now: the sales forecast foreclose

Warm weather has been forecast for this weekend.
—forecaster n [C]: a weather forecaster | a stock market forecaster

.fore-close /for'klouz/ v [I] Economics to take away someone’s property because she cannot pay back the money that she has borrowed to buy it —foreclosure /for'klouz/ n [C] one of the two front legs of an animal that has four legs

.fore-fa-ther /for'faðər/ n [C usually plural] someone who was part of your family a long time ago

.fore-five-ger /for'fingər/ n [C] the finger next to your thumb

.fore-front /for'front/ n in/at/to the forefront of sth in the main or most important position: The company has always been at the forefront of science and technology.

.fore-gone con-clus-ion /'fɔːrgən kan'kluzən/ n be a foregone conclusion if something is a foregone conclusion, the result of it is certain even though it has not happened yet

.fore-head /for'hed, 'forzd, 'fɔːrd/ n [C] the part of the face above the eyes and below the hair: He wiped his forehead with a handkerchief.

.foreign /for'tin, 'fɔːrtn/ adj 1 not from your own country: Can you speak a foreign language? | He was in a foreign country, far away from home.

.foreign-ex-change /for'gɛn-iks/ n [C] someone who is from a country that is not your own

.foreign-ex-change /for'gɛn-iks/ n 1 [U] the system of buying and selling foreign money: The dollar is expected to fall in the foreign exchange markets (=places where foreign money is bought and sold).

.foreign-mi-nister /for'gɛn-istə/ n [C] a government official with a high rank who is in charge of a country’s foreign affairs

.foreign-pol-i-cy /for'gɛn-pol'i-si/ n [U] a government’s decisions, actions, etc. relating to other countries

.fore-see /for'si/ v (past tense foresaw /'fɔːsəʊ/, past participle foreseen /'fɔːsən/) [T] (formal) to know that something will happen: No one could have foreseen such a disaster.

.fore-see-a-ble /for'siəbəl/ adj 1 for/in the foreseeable future continuing for as long as you can imagine: Leila will be staying here for the foreseeable future.

.fore-shad-ow /for'shəʊdəʊ/ v [T] (literary) to be a sign of something that will happen: The foreshadowing in the movie, so I wasn’t surprised when the main character shot his wife.

.fore-sight /for'siɡt/ n [singular, U] the ability to imagine what might happen in the future, and to consider this in your plans: Luckily, we’d had the foresight to take plenty of food and warm clothing.

.fore-skin /for'skin/ n [C] a loose fold of skin covering the end of a man’s penis

.fore-st /for'st/ n [C.U] Earth Sciences a very large area of land that is covered with trees: tropical rain forests | a virgin forest (=a forest that is still in its natural state and has not been used or changed by people) [origin: 1200—1300 old French, Latin foris "outside" (because it was outside the main fenced area of woods).] see picture on page A41 fore•stall [fərˈstəl] v. [T] to prevent something from happening by doing something first: The National Guard was sent in, to fore•stall trouble.

for•est•ry [fərˌestrı] n. [C] the science and practice of planting and taking care of forests for•feit [fərˈfııt] v. to forfeit something: something is not important: I’m sorry I broke your lunchbox! Don’t forget to turn off the lights.

for•tell [fərˈtəl] v. to fore•tell: to say what will happen in the future, especially by using special magic pow•ers fore•taste [fərˈtəst] n. to be a fore•taste of sth: to have a premoni•tion: to be able to predict, prophesy, forecast, foresee for•thought [fərˈθəʊt] n. [U] your fore•thought or planning before you do something for•ever [fərˈevər] adv. 1 for all future time: I wanted the holiday to last forever. 2 to forever: to go on forever: The roads out west seem to go on forever.

fore•warn [fərˈwərn] v. [T] 1 to warn someone about something dangerous or unpleasant that may happen 2 forewarned is fore•armed: used in order to say that if you know about something before it happens, you can be prepared for it fore•wom•an [fərˈwəmən] n. [C] 1 a woman who is the leader of a group of workers, for example in a factory fore•word [fərˈwərd] n. [C] the beginning of a book that introduces the book or the person who wrote it for•get [fərˈgıt] v. [T] to forget something: I forget my password. 2 to forget something that is not important: I’m sorry I broke your lunchbox! Don’t forget to turn off the lights.

for•gave [fərˈgəv] v. the past tense of forgive for•get•ful [fərˈgətəl] adj. 1 used in order to tell someone that something is not important: ‘I’m sorry I broke your lunchbox!’ ‘Forget it.’ 2 used in order to tell someone to stop asking or talking about something because it is annoying you: I’m not buying you that bike, so just forget it. 3 to forget used in order to remind someone about something: Don’t forget your lunchbox! Don’t forget to turn off the lights.

for•get•ti•on [fərˈɡətən] n. [U] to stop planning to do or get something because it is no longer possible: With this injury, you can forget about playing this season.

for•go [fərˈgə] v. to give away or do as a punishment because you have broken a rule or law for•ward [fərˈwərd] adj. 1 to move forward: I’m sorry I broke your lunchbox! Don’t forget to turn off the lights.

for•ward•ing [fərˈwər•dəŋ] n. used in order to remind someone about something: Don’t forget your lunchbox! Don’t forget to turn off the lights.

for•ward•ly [fərˈwərdli] adv. 1 used in order to tell someone to stop asking or talking about something because it is annoying you: I’m not buying you that bike, so just forget it. 3 to forget used in order to remind someone about something: Don’t forget your lunchbox! Don’t forget to turn off the lights.

for•ward•ness [fərˈwərdnəs] n. 1 used in order to tell someone to stop asking or talking about something because it is annoying you: I’m not buying you that bike, so just forget it. 3 to forget used in order to remind someone about something: Don’t forget your lunchbox! Don’t forget to turn off the lights.

for•ward•s [fərˈwərdz] pron. used in order to tell someone to stop asking or talking about something because it is annoying you: I’m not buying you that bike, so just forget it. 3 to forget used in order to remind someone about something: Don’t forget your lunchbox! Don’t forget to turn off the lights.
forgetful

name. 9 forget it(you/that) used in order to refuse to do something, or to say that something is impossible: Drive to the airport in this snow? Forget it. 10 ...and don’t you forget it! said in order to remind someone angrily about something important that should make him/her behave differently: I’m your father, and don’t you forget it!

[Origin: Old English forgie]n] for-get-ful /ˌfərˈɡeftəl/ adj. often forgetting things —forgetfulness n [U]

for-get-me-not n [C] a plant with small blue flowers for-give /ˌfərˈɡiv/ v. (past tense forgave lˈgerv/, past participle forgiven lˈgervn/) [T] 1 to stop being angry and blaming someone, although she has done something wrong: I can’t forgive him for what he did to her. | I’m sorry.” “That’s OK — you’re forgiven (=if you forgive you).” | If anything happened to the kids, I’d never forgive myself. | Maybe you can forgive and forget, but I can’t (=forgive someone and behave as if she had never done anything wrong). 2 forgive me (spoken) said when you are going to say or ask something that might seem rude or offensive: Forgive me for saying so, but that’s nonsense. 3 forgive a loan/ debt ECONOMICS if a country forgives a loan, it says that the country that borrowed the money does not have to pay it back.

for-give-ness /ˌfərˈɡivnis/ n [U] (formal) the act of forgiving someone for-giv-ing /ˌfərˈɡivɪŋ/ adj. willing to forgive: a forgiving person for-go /ˌfərˈɡoʊl v. (past tense forwent lˈwɛnt/, past participle forgone) [T] (formal) to decide not to do or have something for-got /ˌfərˈɡut/ v. the past tense of FORGET for-got-ten /ˌfərˈɡutən/ v. the past participle of FORGET

fork1 /fɔrk/ n [C] 1 a tool used for picking up and eating food, with a handle and three or four points: knives, forks, and spoons 2 a place where a road or river divides into two parts: Turn left at the fork in the road. 3 a tool with a handle and three or four points, used for digging and breaking up soil: a gardening fork 4 a pitchfork. [Origin: Old English forca, from Latin faca] fork2 v. 1 [if] if a road or river forks, it divides into two parts 2 [T] to pick up, carry, or turn something over using a fork forth "over/out" pre. v. (informal) to spend a lot of money on something because you have to: Fans are being asked to fork over $120 for tickets to see the concert.

forked /ˈfɔrkkt/ adj. with one end divided into two or more parts: a snake’s forked tongue fork-lift /ˈfɔrkˌlaft/ n. [C] a vehicle with special equipment on the front for lifting and moving heavy things, for example, in a factory for-lorn /ˌfɔrlɔrn/, for-lorn adj. (literary) sad and lonely: The child looked forlorn.

form1 /fɔrm/ n. 1 [C] one type of something, that exists in many different varieties (syn) kind: ballet and other forms of dance | a severe form of cancer 2 [C/U] the way in which something exists or appears: You can get the vitamin C in tablet or liquid form. | The story is written in the form of a letter. | Language practice can take the form of drills or exercises. 3 [C] an official document with spaces where you have to provide information: an application form for college | Please fill out the form in black ink. 4 [C] a shape: dark forms behind the trees | The brooch is made of diamonds and rubies in the form of a butterfly. 5 [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS in grammar, a way of writing or saying a word that shows its number, tense, etc. For example, “was” is a past form of the verb “to be.”

form2 v. 1 [T] to start, or to make something start to exist: The college made a formal request for extra funding. | His lawyer filed a formal complaint against the police. 2 formal education/training/qualifications education in a subject or skill that you get in school rather than by practical experience: Most priests have no formal training in counseling. 3 formal behavior is very polite, and is used in official situations, or with people you do not know well (syn formal) 4 formal language is used in official or serious situations (syn informal): a formal letter 5 a formal event is important, and people who go to it wear special clothes and behave very politely. Jack won’t wear a tie, even on formal occasions. 6 formal clothes, such as a TUXEDO or long dress, are worn to formal events (syn casual): men’s formal wear —formally adv. The winner will be formally announced this afternoon.

formal3 n. [C] 1 a dance at which you have to wear formal clothes an expensive and usually long dress that women wear on formal occasions formaldehyde /ˈfɔrˌmeɪldəˌhaɪd/ n. [U] CHEMISTRY a strong-smelling gas that can be mixed with water and used for preserving things such as parts of a body formality /ˈfɔrmələti/ n. (plural formalities) 1 [C usually plural] something formal or official that you must do as part of an activity or process, even though it may not have any practical importance: I need your signature here, but it’s just a formality. 2 [U] careful attention to polite behavior or language in formal situations formalize /ˈfɔrməlайz/ v. [T] to make a plan or decision official and describe all its details: The contracts must be formalized within one month.

formula /ˈfɔrmələ/ n. 1 (plural formulas or formulae /ˈfɔrməli/) 1 [C] a method or set of principles that you use in order to solve a problem or to make sure that something is successful: a formula for peace | There’s no magic formula for a happy marriage. 2 [C] MATH a series of numbers or letters that represent a mathematical or scientific rule: What is the formula for calculating the area of a circle? 3 [C] a list of substances used in order to make something, showing the amounts of each substance to use: a formula for a perfect loaf of fresh bread. 4 [C,U] a liquid food for babies that is similar to a woman’s breast milk. [Origin: 1600—1700 French “small form,” from forma, perhaps from Greek morphè “form, shape.”]

formulate /ˈfɔrməleɪt/ v. (past tense formulated, past participle formulated) to develop something such as a plan or set of rules, and decide all the details of how it will be done: What role does he have in formulating foreign policy? 2 to think carefully about what you want to say, and say it clearly: Ricardo asked for time to formulate a reply. 3 to make something using particular amounts of different substances: specially formulated baby lotions.

format /ˈfɔrmæt/ n. 1 (plural formats) (=when his/her character develops) having an important influence on the way someone or something develops: a child’s formative years (=when his/her character develops) former /ˈfɔrmər/ adj. 1 having a particular position in the past, but not now: SYNON. last, previous: our former president 2 happening or existing before, but not now: the former Soviet Union former n. the former (formal) the first of two people or things that are mentioned → LATTER: Of the two possibilities, the former seems more likely.

form-mer-ly /ˈfɔrmərli/ adv. in earlier times: New York was formerly called New Amsterdam.

formidable /ˈfɔrmədəbəl, ˈfɔrmədəl-/ adj. 1 very powerful or impressive: a formidable opponent. He had a formidable lead in the polls. 2 difficult to deal with and needing a lot of skill: the formidable task of working out a peace plan → formidably adv.

formless /ˈfɔrməls/ adj. without a definite shape form letter n. [C] a standard letter that is sent to many people, without any personal details in it

formula /ˈfɔrmələ/ n. (plural formulas or formulae /ˈfɔrməli/) 1 [C] a method or set of principles that you use in order to solve a problem or to make sure that something is successful: a formula for peace | There’s no magic formula for a happy marriage. 2 [C] MATH a series of numbers or letters that represent a mathematical or scientific rule: What is the formula for calculating the area of a circle? 3 [C] a list of substances used in order to make something, showing the amounts of each substance to use: a formula for a perfect loaf of fresh bread. 4 [C,U] a liquid food for babies that is similar to a woman’s breast milk. [Origin: 1600—1700 French “small form,” from forma, perhaps from Greek morphè “form, shape.”]

forthright /ˈfɔrθrɔɪt/ adj. saying honestly what you think, in a way that may seem rude: a forthright answer

forthright /ˈfɔrθrɔɪt/ adj. saying honestly what you think, in a way that may seem rude: a forthright answer

THESAURUS honest, frank, candid, direct, upfront, straightforward, blunt → HONEST fortieth /ˈfɔrtiθ/ number 40th fortification /ˈfɔrtifɪkʃən/ n. 1 [U] the process of making something stronger 2 fortifications [plural] towers, walls, etc. built around a place in order to protect it fortify /ˈfɔrtɪfaɪ/ v. (fortified, fortifies) [T] 1 to build towers, walls, etc. around a place in order to defend it: a fortified city 2 (formal, humorous) to make someone feel physically or mentally stronger: He fortified himself with a glass of whiskey before going on stage. 3 to make food or drinks more healthy by adding vitamins to them: vitamin D fortified milk fortitude /ˈfɔrtɪtjuːd/ n. [U] courage shown when you are in pain or having a lot of trouble fortress /ˈfɔrtris/ n. [C] a large strong building used for defending an important place fortuitous /ˈfɔrtjuːtəs/ adj. (formal) lucky and happening by chance: a fortuitous discovery

fortune /ˈfɔrtʃən/ n. [C] 1 an organization, meeting, report, etc. in which people have a chance to publicly discuss an important subject: a forum for discussing ideas | a forum on neighborhood crime 2 a group of computer users who are interested in a particular subject and discuss it using a website on the Internet forward /fəˈwɔːrd/ also forwards adv. 1 toward a place or position that is in front of you (ant) backward: The crowd moved forward. | He leaned forward to hear what they were saying. 2 toward more progress, improvement, or development: NASA's space project cannot go forward without more money. | The business is ready to move forward. 3 toward the future (ant) backward: The company must look forward (=make plans for the future) and use the newest technology: ➔ (FAST FORWARD, look forward to sth at look', step forward at step) forward2 adj. 1 forward progress/planning/thinking etc. progress, plans, ideas, etc. that are helpful in a way that prepares you for the future 2 [only before noun] closer to a person, place, etc. that is in front of you (ant) backward: Troops were moved to a forward position on the battlefield. 3 [only before noun] at the front part of a ship, car, airplane, etc. (ant) rear: the forward cabin forward3 v. [T] to send a message or letter that you have received to the person it was intended for, usually at his/her new address: The Post Office should be forwarding all my mail.
forward4 n. [C] in basketball, one of two players whose main job is to shoot the ball at the other team's basket forwarding address n. [C] an address you give to someone when you move so that she can send your mail to you forward-looking also forward-thinking adj. thinking about and planning for the future in a positive way, especially by being willing to try new ideas forward slash n. [C] a line (/) used in writing to separate words, numbers, or letters, for example in a website address ➔ BACKSLASH fossil /ˈfɒsɪl/ n. [C] part of an animal or plant that lived millions of years ago, or the shape of one of these plants or animals that is now preserved in rock [Origin: 1500—1600 Latin fossiliis “dug up,” from offendere “to dig”] —fossil adj.

fortune, cookie n. [C] a Chinese-American cookie with a piece of paper inside that tells you what will happen in your future fortune, teller n. [C] someone who tells you what is going to happen to you in the future forty /ˈfɔrti/ number 40 2 the forties a) the years between 1940 and 1949 b) the numbers between 40 and 49, especially when used for measuring temperature 3 be in your forties to be aged between 40 and 49: He’s in his early/mid/late forties.
fossilize /ˈfɔsəˌlaiz/ v. [-iz, -izz] [U,T] EARTH SCIENCES to become a fossil by being preserved in rock, or to make something do this fossil record n. [C] BIOLOGY information about the animals and other creatures that lived many thousands of years ago, what they looked like, what they ate, and the kind of environment they lived in, etc., which is obtained from their fossils foster /ˈfɑstər/ v. [T] 1 to help to develop an idea, skill, feeling, etc.: Teachers want to foster a spirit of cooperation in their classrooms. 2 to take care of someone else’s child for a period of time without becoming his/her legal parent ➔ ADOPT foster /ˈfɑstər/ adj. 1 foster mother/father/parents/ family the person or people who foster a child 2 foster child a child who is fostered 3 foster home a person’s or family’s home where a child is fostered fought /fɔt/ v. the past tense and past participle of FIGHT foul /foul/ v. 1 [I,T] to do something in a sport that is against the rules: Rickey fouled the first pitch (=hit it outside the legal area). | Sal hit two free throws after being fouled. 2 [T] to make something very dirty: The water had been fouled by industrial waste.

foul /foul/ up phr. v. (informal) to do something wrong or to ruin something by making a mistake: Glen fouled up the seating arrangements. | You’ve totally fouled up this time.

foul /foul/ adj. 1 very dirty or not having a pleasant smell or taste: A foul smell filled the cell. | foul-tasting coffee fox /fɔks/ n. [C] a wild animal like a small dog with dark red fur, a pointed face, and a thick tail ➔ see picture at NOCTURNAL. 2 (spoken) an attractive person: He is such a fox!

foundation /ˈfɔnˌdeʃən/ n. [C] 1 [C] an idea, fact, or system from which a religion, way of life, etc. develops: The Constitution provided/laid the foundation for the American government. | The children had a solid foundation in reading and writing. 2 [C] an organization that gives or collects money to be used for special purposes: a grant from the National Science Foundation 3 [C] the solid base that is built under a building to support it: Construction workers have begun to lay the foundation (=build it). 4 [U] the action of establishing an organization, city, or institution 5 without foundation not true, reasonable, or able to be proved: Luckily my fears were without foundation.

founder /ˈfɔndər/ n. [C] someone who establishes a business, organization, school, etc.: the founders of Brandon College fourth /fɔrθ/ n. number 1 4 2 four o’clock: I’ll meet you at four. 3 four years old: My son is four. 4 on all fours on your hands and knees: Andy was on all fours looking for something. [Origin: Old English feower] four-leaf ‘clover n. [C] a clover plant with four leaves instead of the usual three, that is considered to be lucky four-letter ‘word n. [C] a word that is considered offensive or shocking by most people fourteen /ˈfɔrti/ n. number 14 — fourteenth number fourth /fɔrθ/ n. number 1 4 2 [C] 1/4 (⅙) quarter

Fourth of July n. a U.S. national holiday to celebrate the beginning of the United States as an independent nation

fox /fɔks/ n. [C] one of the main companies that broadcasts television programs in the U.S.

foul /foul/ v. [C] a bird, especially one such as a chicken that is kept for its meat and eggs

found /fəʊnd/ v. the past tense and past participle of FIND [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French fonder, from Latin fundus “bottom”]

found /fəʊnd/ n. 1 to start an organization, town, or institution that is intended to continue for a long time: The college was founded in 1701. | The Center for Auto Safety was founded by Ralph Nader. 2 be founded on/upon sth to base your ideas, beliefs, etc. on something: The U.S. was founded on the idea of religious freedom.

fourteen /ˈfɔrti/ n. number 14 — fourteenth number

Fourth of July n. a U.S. national holiday to celebrate the beginning of the United States as an independent nation

fox /fɔks/ n. [C] one of the main companies that broadcasts television programs in the U.S.

foul /foul/ v. [C] a bird, especially one such as a chicken that is kept for its meat and eggs

found /fəʊnd/ v. the past tense and past participle of FIND [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French fonder, from Latin fundus “bottom”]

found /fəʊnd/ n. 1 to start an organization, town, or institution that is intended to continue for a long time: The college was founded in 1701. | The Center for Auto Safety was founded by Ralph Nader. 2 be founded on/upon sth to base your ideas, beliefs, etc. on something: The U.S. was founded on the idea of religious freedom.
fox-trot 406

fox·trot /ˈfoʊkstrɒt/ n. [C] a type of formal dance with quick movements, or the music for this dance foxy /ˈfɒksɪ/ adj. (informal) someone who is foxy is sexually attractive foy·er /ˈfɔɪər/ n. [C] a room or hall at the entrance of a house, hotel, theater, etc.

fra·cas /ˈfrækəs/ n. [sing] a short noisy fight involving a lot of people (Origin: 1700—1800 French, Italian fracassare “to break in pieces”) frac·tion /ˈfrækʃən/ n. [C] 1 a very small amount of something: For a fraction of a second, there was silence. 2 Math a number that is smaller than 1, such as 3/4 or 1/2, and that shows how many parts of a whole there are. For example, in 3/4, there are three of four equal parts. —fractional adj. —fractionally adv.

frac·tious /ˈfræktʃəs/ adj. someone who is fractious gets angry very easily and tends to start fights frac·ture /ˈfrækʃər/ n. [C] a crack or break in something hard such as a bone or rock frame /frem/ n. [C] 1 a structure made of wood, metal, etc. that holds or surrounds something such as a picture, door, or window: I should put this graduation picture in a frame. Wes leaned against the door frame. 2 the main structure that supports something such as a house, piece of furniture, or vehicle: a bicycle frame (a frame house (with a wooden frame) see picture at bicycle 3 an area of film that contains one photograph, or one of the series of separate photographs that make up a movie or video 4 if one of the areas into which a web page is divided 5 (literary) someone’s body: her slender frame 6 frame of mind a particular attitude or feeling that you have: Melissa was in a good frame of mind when we visited. 7 frame of reference all your knowledge, experiences, etc. that influence the way you think. 8 frames [plural] the metal or plastic part of a pair of glasses that surrounds each lens time frame fran·ci·um /ˈfrænchəm/ n. the Framers the group of men who wrote the American Constitution and Bill of Rights and started the U.S. as a country founding fathers frame·work /ˈfræmərk/ n. [C] 1 a set of rules, beliefs, knowledge, etc. that people use when making a decision or planning something: a framework for further research 2 the structure of something such as a society or organization: the country’s existing legal/political/social framework 3 the main structure that supports a large thing such as a building or vehicle fran·chise /ˈfræntʃɪz/ n. [C] 1 Economics permission that a company gives a person or group to sell the company’s products or services, or the business that has this permission: a McDonald’s franchise 2 a sports team that has been given permanent permission to play in a particular league, or the business that owns the sports team: The Seahawks franchise has been in Seattle since 1974. —franchise v. [T] fran·ci·um /ˈfrænsɪəm/ n. [U] Chemistry (symbol Fr) a heavy radioactive metal that is an element. It is found naturally in uranium or is produced as part of a nuclear reaction.

frank /fræŋk/ adj honest and direct in the way that you speak: Jane said she would be frank with me. | Well, to be frank, I don’t think this is going well. [Origin: 1300—1400 French “free, generous,” from Late Latin Francus “Frank” (because the Franks, an ancient German people, were given political freedom in France)] thesaurus honest, candid, direct, upfront, straightforward, blunt, forthright → HONEST

frank-fur-ter /fræŋkˌfərˈtər/ also frank /fræŋk/ n. a HOT DOG

frank-ly /fræŋklɪ/ adv. 1 used in order to show that you are saying what you really think about something: Frankly, it was boring. 2 honestly and directly: She spoke frankly about her problems.

fran-tic /fræntɪk/ adj. 1 extremely hurried and not very organized: the frantic rush to get things ready 2 very worried, frightened, or anxious: His mother was frantic with worry. —frantically adv frat n. [C (informal) a fraternity

fra-ter-nal /fræˈtərnl/ adj. 1 friendly because you share the same interests with someone: a fraternal organization 2 relating to brothers: fraternal love [Origin: 1400—1500 Medieval Latin fraternalis, from Latin frater “brother”]

fra-ter-ni-ty /frɑː trəˈnɪti/ n. (plural fraternities) 1 a fraternity house a club at a college or university that has only male members → SORORITY 2 [U] a feeling of friendship among people who have the same interests, job, or nationality frat-er-nize /fræˈtrɛznɪz/ v. [I] to be friendly with someone who is not allowed to be your friend: Soldiers who fraternize with the enemy will be shot.

fraud /frɔːd/ n. [C][U] LAW the crime of deceiving people in order to gain money or goods: The police arrested him for tax/credit card/insurance fraud. 2 [C] someone or something that is not what he, she, or it claims to be: He wasn’t a real doctor — he was a fraud. | The police proved that the letter was a fraud. [Origin: 1300—1400 Old French fraude, from Latin fraudus “deceiving”]

fraud-ulent /frɔːdlənt/ adj. LAW intended to deceive people: the sale of fraudulent bonds | fraudulent statements —fraudulently adv.

fraught /frɔːt/ adj. fraught with problems/danger/pain etc. full of problems, danger, pain, etc.

fray /freɪ/ v. [I][PRES] if a cloth or rope frays, its threads become loose because it is old or torn —frayed adj fray /freɪ/ n. the fray a fight or argument: Then, two junior congressmen joined/entered the fray, claiming the bill is unconstitutional.

fraz-zyed /fræsəld/ adj. (informal) confused, tired, and worried freak /friːk/ n. 1 bike/movie/health etc. freak someone who is very interested in a particular thing or activity, or likes something a lot 2 someone or something that looks very strange or behaves in an unusual way: He looked at me as if I were some kind of freak. → CONTROL FREAK thesaurus blemish, pimple, zit, mole →

free /friː/ adj. 1 NOT RESTRICTED allowed to live, exist, or happen without being controlled or restricted: Students are free to choose the activities they want to work on. | The media is free from governmental control. | the right to free speech

2 NO COST not costing any money: I won free tickets to the concert. | Admission is free for children.

3 NOT CONTAINING STH not having any of a particular substance: sugar-free bubble gum | The water is free from chemical pollutants.

4 NOT BUSY not busy doing other things: Are you free for lunch? | Hansen does volunteer work in her free time.

5 NOT BEING USED not being used at this time: Excuse me, is this seat free?

thesaurus empty, deserted, uninhabited, vacant → EMPTY

6 feel free (spoken) used in order to tell someone that s/he is allowed to do something: Feel free to ask me any questions after the class.

7 NOT A PRISONER not a prisoner or SLAVE: Muller will be free in three years. | The UN demanded that the three hostages be set free (she given their freedom).

8 NOT SUFFERING not suffering or not having to deal with something bad: free of danger | Patients undergoing the treatment are now free from cancer. | a happy and trouble-free life.

9 TAX if something is free of tax, you do not have to pay tax: the duty-free store at the airport

10 free hand if someone has a free hand to do something, s/he is allowed to do what s/he wants or needs to do: The police were given a free hand to deal with the gang problems.

11 a free ride something you get without paying or working for it free /friː/ v. [T] 1 to allow someone to leave prison or somewhere s/he has been kept as a prisoner: After nine months, the hostages were finally freed. 2 to move someone or something that is trapped or stuck, or to make something loose: Firefighters helped free two men trapped in the car. 3 to stop someone or something from being controlled or restricted: The farmers were freed from government controls on what they could plant. 4 to stop someone suffering, or help someone by removing something bad or difficult: The scholarship freed her from having to work while attending college. 5 also free up to help someone be able to do something, or to make something be able to be used: Hiring an assistant will free you up your time to do other tasks. I need to free up some space on the hard disk.

free* adv. 1 without having to pay any money: Students can visit the museum free of charge. | Kyle is fixing my car for free. 2 not being restricted or controlled by someone: He created music that broke free of tradition. 3 not stuck or held in a particular place or position: He grabbed my wrist but I managed to struggle/full free.

free* agent n [C] a professional sports player who can choose whether to sign a contract with a team free-bie /'fribi/ n [C] (informal) something that you are given free, especially by a business, store, etc.

free-dom /'fridəm/ n 1 [C,U] the right to do what you want without being restricted or controlled by someone else: The First Amendment guarantees freedom of speech/religion/expression (=the legal right to say what you want, choose your own religion, etc.). The government must respect our basic freedoms. 2 [U] the state of being free and allowed to do what you want: I had a great sense of freedom when I first left home. 3 freedom to work from home. 4 freedom from sth the state of not being hurt or affected by something: freedom from hunger freedom fighter n [C] someone who fights in a war against a dishonest government, army, etc.

free-enterprise n [U] ECONOMICS the freedom for companies to control their own business without being limited by the government very much free-for-all n [C] (informal) a fight or noisy argument that a lot of people join: The argument in the bar turned into a free-for-all.

free-hand /'friænd/ adv. drawn by hand without using any special tools free-lance /'friləns/ adv. doing work for one or more companies, rather than being employed only by one particular company: a freelance journalist | She works freelance from home. [ORIGIN: 1800—1900 free lance “soldier in former times who sold his fighting skills to anyone”] —freelancer n [C] —freelance v [I] free-load-er /'frilədər/ n [C] (informal, disapproving) someone who takes food, money, or other things from other people, without giving them anything in return —freeload v [I]

free-ly /'frilɪ/ adv. 1 without anyone or anything preventing or limiting something: People can now travel freely across the border. | They were speaking freely, assuming we could not understand. 2 freely admit/acknowledge to say that something is true, even though this is difficult: I freely admit I made a bad choice. 3 freely available very easy to get: Information is freely available on the Internet. 4 generously or in large amounts: a company that gives freely to local charities

free market n. [singular] a situation in which prices are not controlled by the government or any other powerful group

Free-man-sion /'frɪ,mɛnʃən/ n [C] a MASON

free-range /'frɪrɛŋ/ adj. relating to a type of farming which allows animals such as chickens and pigs to move around and eat naturally, rather than being kept in cages: free-range eggs free spirit n. [C] someone who lives the way she wants to, rather than in the way society considers usual free throw n. [C] an occasion in the game of basketball when a player is allowed to throw the ball toward the basket without anyone trying to prevent him/her because another player has Fouled him/her free-trade zone n. [C] ECONOMICS a place where goods can be imported (=brought in from another country to be sold) and exported (=sent to another country to be sold) without paying taxes free verse n. [U] ENG. LANG. ARTS poetry that does not have a definite RHYTHM or structure and that does not rhyme at the end of the lines free-way /'frɪwɛː/ n. [C] a very wide road in a city on which cars can travel very fast freeway

free-wheel-ing /'frɪ'wɛlɪŋ/ n or adj. (informal) not worrying about rules or what will happen in the future: a freewheeling lifestyle free will n. do sth of your own free will to do something because you want to and not because someone forces you to: She’s offered to go to her own free will.

freeze /frɪz/ v (past tense froze /frəʊz/, past participle frozen /frəʊzn/) 1 [I,T] if a liquid or thing freezes, or if something freezes it, it becomes solid and hard because it is so cold (MAY) melt, thaw: The lake had frozen overnight. | One man got lost in the blizzard and froze to death. | The ground was frozen solid. 2 [I,T] to preserve food for a long time by keeping it very cold in a freezer: Do you want to freeze some of these pies? 3 it’s freezing frenzy /ˈfrenzɪ/ n. [singular, U]
1 the state of being very anxious, excited, and unable to control your behavior: The kids had worked themselves into a frenzy of anticipation.
2 a period in which people do a lot of things very quickly: The house was a frenzy of activity as we got ready for the party.
3 feeding frenzy (informal) an occasion when a lot of people get involved in something in an uncontrolled way: The media went into a feeding frenzy over this story.

frequency /ˈfriːkwənsi/ n. (plural frequencies) 1 [U] the number of times that something happens within a particular period, or the fact that it happens a lot: the frequency of fatal road accidents | high frequency names such as Smith or Johnson | Arguments began taking place with increasing frequency. 2 [C] the number of radio waves broadcast per second by a particular station, used to find a station on the radio | Physics the number of sound, light, or radio waves that pass any point in a second, which is determined by the wavelength (=the distance between two points on the wave): high frequency sounds frequent /ˈfriːkwənt/ adj. happening very often | infrequent: Her absences were becoming more/less frequent.

frequent flier n. [C] someone who travels on airlines very often, especially using a particular airline — frequent-flier adj.

frequent-flyer /ˈfriːkwəntflɪər/ n. adv. very often: We call each other frequently.

fresh /friːʃ/ adj.
1 added/replaceing adding to or replacing what was there before: Let me make some fresh coffee. | I put fresh sheets on the bed.
2 recent recently done, made, or learned: fresh tracks in the snow | fresh-squeezed orange juice | Researchers have presented fresh data. | Write about your trip while it’s still fresh in your mind.
3 new not done, seen, etc. before: a new manager with fresh ideas | a fresh approach to teaching
4 food fresh food or flowers are in good condition because they have recently been produced, picked, or prepared: fresh strawberries | bread fresh from the bakery
5 clean, clean, smelling, or tasting clean, cool, and nice: a fresh breeze | a fresh minty taste
6 fresh air air from outside, especially clean air: Let’s go and get some fresh air.
fresher

7 be fresh out of sth (spoken) a) to have used your last supplies of something: I'm sorry, we're fresh out of bagels. b) also be fresh from sth to have recently finished doing something: He's fresh out of college.

8 WATER fresh water has no salt and comes from rivers and lakes

9 fresh start the act of starting doing something again in a new or different way, especially after being unsuccessful: immigrants who came to America to make a fresh start (restart a new life) [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French freis] freshen /ˈfrēsən/ v 1 [I] if the wind freshens, it becomes stronger 2 [T] also freshen up to add more liquid to a drink freshen up

freshen up pht v. to wash your hands and face in order to feel comfortable: Would you like to freshen up before dinner?
freshen-ly /ˈfrēsənli/ adv. very recently; freshly mown grass

THE SAURUS recently, just, a little/short while ago, lately, newly \(\rightarrow\) RECENTLY fresh-man /ˈfrēsmən/ n (plural freshmen /ˈfrēsmən/ ) [C] a student in the first year of high school or college \(\rightarrow\) student fresh-water /ˈfrēswɔtər/ adj. EARTH SCIENCES relating to rivers or lakes rather than the ocean: freshwater fish fret′ /fret/ v 1 [I] to worry about small or unimportant things, or to make someone do this: Don't fret about the delay—we'll get there on time. 2 n [C] one of the raised lines on the long straight part of a guitar or similar instruments fret-ful′ /ˈfretfəl/ adj. (old-fashioned) worried, complaining, and unable to relax: a fretful child

Freud-i-an /ˈfrɔɪdɪən/ adj. 1 relating to Sigmund Freud's ideas about the way the mind works. 2 Freudian slip something you say by mistake that shows a thought or feeling you did not mean to show, or did not know you had fri-ar /ˈfriər/ n. [C] a man who belongs to a Roman Catholic group, whose members in past times traveled around teaching about religion and who were very poor fri-c-tion /ˈfrɪkʃən/ n. [U] 1 disagreement, angry feelings, or lack of friendship between people: the things that create friction between parent and child. 2 PHYSICS a force that tries to stop the movement of one surface against another. When things keep moving against each other, friction causes them to rub together and produce heat: Moving parts subjected to constant friction eventually wear out. (Origin: 1500—1600 French, Latin frictio, from fricare “to rub”

Fri-day /ˈfrɛdə/ -day (written abbreviation Fri.) n. [C/U] the sixth day of the week, between Thursday and Saturday: Diane won't be here Friday. I have class on Friday. | Next Friday is my birthday. | I talked to Jim last Friday. | Do you have plans for Friday night? [Origin: Old English frīgedæg “day of Frigg, female god of love”] fridge /frɪdʒ/ n. [C] (informal) a REFRIGERATOR

fried′ /fraɪd/ adj. 1 cooked in hot fat: a fried egg 2 (slang) very tired: My brain is fried today.
fried′ v. the past tense and past participle of fry friend /frend/ n. 1 someone whom you like very much and enjoy spending time with: I'm meeting a friend for lunch. | Is she a friend of yours? | Tony's her best friend. | one of my closest friends | Lee's an old friend.

make friends (with sb) to become friendly with someone: Kate makes friends easily.

2 make friends (with sb) to be someone’s friend: They've been friends with the Wilsons for years.

3 be friends (with sb) to be someone's friend: I'm friends with the Wilsons for years.

4 someone who has the same beliefs or wants to achieve the same things: our friends and allies around the world 5 someone who supports a theater, museum, etc. by giving money or help 6 have friends in high places to know important people who can help you [Origin: Old English freond] friend-ly /ˈfrendli/ adj. 1 showing that you like someone and are ready to talk to him/her: Diane's friendly smile

THE SAURUS warm—friendly: Sonja is a very warm person. cordial—friendly and polite but formal: The two nations have always maintained cordial relations.
amiable—friendly and pleasant: an amiable man genial (formal)—cheerful, kind, and friendly: the genial host of the party affable (formal)—friendly and easy to talk to: an affable young woman with plenty of friends welcoming—making you feel happy and relaxed: Everyone was very welcoming hospitable—friendly, welcoming, and generous to visitors: They were very kind and hospitable to us.

2 user-friendly/ozone-friendly etc. a) easy for people to use or be comfortable with: user-friendly computers | a kid-friendly house. b) not damaging or harming something: environmentally-friendly detergent 3 not at war with you, or not your enemy or opponent: The two countries have friendly relations.

4 friendly fire bombs, bullets, fright /ˈfrɪt/ adj. making you feel afraid or nervous: a frightening experience —frighteningly adv.

frigid /ˈfrɪdʒɪd/ adj. 1 a woman who is frigid does not like sex 2 very cold friend /ˈfrend/ n. 1 [C] a relationship between friends: Their friendship began in college. 2 [U] the feelings that exist between friends: I was grateful for her friendship and support.

friendship /ˈfrendʃɪp/ n. 1 [C] a relationship between friends: Their friendship began in college. 2 [U] a lasting friendship, a close friendship: the feelings that exist between friends: I was grateful for her friendship and support.

frill /ˈfrɪl/ n. [C] a decoration that goes along the top of a wall frigate /ˈfrɪɡet/ n. [C] a small fast ship used especially for protecting other ships in war fringe /ˈfrɪŋg/ n. [C] an edge of hanging threads used as a border or trim: a fringe that goes along the edge of a frame; decorative that goes along the edge of a frame; a cowboy jacket with leather fringe frigid /ˈfrɪdʒɪd/ adj. 1 a small number of people whose ideas are more unusual or extreme than those of most other people: the environmental fringe, the eastern fringe of Vancouver 2 [C,U] an edge of hanging threads used as a decoration on a curtain, piece of clothing, etc.: a cowboy jacket with leather fringe 3 [C] the area that is furthest from the center of something: the eastern fringe of Vancouver 4 on the fringes of sth not completely involved in or accepted by a particular group: Cato lived on the fringes of society.

fringe benefit n. [C] usually plural a service or advantage that you are given with your job in addition to pay: The job’s many fringe benefits include a company car.

fringed /ˈfrɪndʒd/ adj. 1 decorated with a fringe: a large fringed shawl 2 having something on the edge: a palm-fringed beach frighten /ˈfrɪtɪn/ v. phr.v. to make someone feel afraid: Libby was frightened by the thunder. —frightening adj.

frightening /ˈfrɪtɪnɪŋ/ adj. feeling afraid: a frightened child —frighteningly adv.

frightening /ˈfrɪtɪnɪŋ/ adj. feeling afraid: a frightened child —frighteningly adv.

frightened /ˈfrɪtnid/ adj. feeling afraid: a frightened child —frighteningly adv.

frighten sb/sth ↔ away phr.v. to make a person or animal go away by making him, her, or it afraid: Be quiet or you’ll frighten away the birds.

frighten sb ↔ off phr.v. to make someone so nervous or afraid that s/he goes away and does not do something s/he was going to do: The company’s poor results have frightened off investors.

frightened /ˈfrɪtnid/ adj. feeling afraid: a frightened child —frighteningly adv.

frightened /ˈfrɪtnid/ adj. feeling afraid: a frightened child —frighteningly adv.
frond

frond /frɒnd/ n [C] a leaf of a fern or palm tree

fringe

fringe /frɪndʒ/ n

1. a) the part of something that is furthest forward, and closest to the direction it faces
2. a) further forward than or ahead of someone or something; b) facing someone or something

frond

frond /frɒnd/ n [C] a leaf of a fern or palm tree

front

front /frɒnt/ n

1. a) the part of something that is furthest forward, and closest to the direction it faces
2. a) further forward than or ahead of someone or something; b) facing someone or something

front

front /frɒnt/ v

1. [T] to lead something such as a musical group by being the person that the public sees most: He's now fronting his own band.

front

front /frɒnt/ adj

1. [only before noun] a) at, on, or in the front of something; b) the front door; c) tickets for front row seats; d) the magazine's front cover; e) one of the front wheels

2. [IT] to face something, or to be in front of something: a building fronting Lake Michigan

front

front /frɒnt/ n

1. the part of a building or piece of land that is along a road, river, etc.
something: a frontal attack 2 at the front part of something: the frontal lobe of the brain front-tier /frəntˈtɪər/ n [C] 1 the frontier the area beyond the places that people know well, especially in the western U.S., in the 19th century: the settlement of the Oklahoma frontier 2 the limit of what is known about something: the frontiers of science 3 the border of a country, or the area near the border frontier /ˈfröntiər/ n 1 the geographical limits of a country: the U.S. frontier 2 the places that people know well, especially beyond the boundaries of a country: the frontier regions fronthorn /′fröntˌhɔrn/ n [C] 1 the front of something, especially the front of a horse or other animal: The horse touched his front horn 2 the person or thing that is most likely to succeed in a competition: the frontrunner 3 the leader of it: 2 the leader of a jazz or rock band froth /froθ/ n 1 a white foam that rises to the surface of a liquid: froth from a petri dish 2 the foam that comes off the surface of a liquid: the froth of a cup of coffee frown /ˈfrʌn/ n [C] 1 a muscle movement that makes your forehead look wrinkled: She frowned at her reflection in the mirror 2 a look of dislike or annoyance: He gave me a frown when I told him I was going to be late froze /froʊz/ v past simple of FREEZE 1 preserve by being kept at a very low temperature: frozen peas 2 be frozen (stiff) (spoken) to feel very cold: Can you turn up the heat? I'm froze 3 made very hard or turned to ice because of the cold: the frozen lake → see picture at MELT 4 be frozen with fear/terror/fright to be so afraid, shocked, etc. that you cannot move fructose /frəˈkəʊs/ n [U] chemistry a type of natural sugar in fruit juices and honey → GLUCOSE, LACTOSE, SUCROSE frugal /ˈfrəɡəl/ adj 1 careful to only buy what is necessary: My parents were very frugal. 2 small in quantity and cost: a frugal lunch of cheese and bread —frugally adv —frugality n fruit /fruːt/ n (plural fruit or fruits) 1 something that grows on a plant, tree, or bush, can be eaten as food, contains seeds, and is usually sweet: Apples and bananas are Nancy's favorite fruits. 2 a piece of fruit? see picture on page 413 2 the fruits of sth the good results that you have from something, after you have worked hard: the fruits of his research [Origin: 1100—1200 Old French, Latin fructus, from fructo (to enjoy, have the use of) → bear fruit at BEAR] fruitcake /ˈfruːktkeɪk/ n [C] a cake that has dried fruit in it 2 [C] (informal) someone who seems to be mentally ill or behaves in a strange way fruitful /ˈfruːtʃʊfəl/ adj producing good results: a fruitful meeting fruitless /ˈfruːtləs/ adj failing to produce good results, especially after much effort: a fruitless attempt to end the fighting —fruitlessly adv fruitful /ˈfruːtʃʊfəl/ adj tasting or smelling strongly of fruit: a fruity wine frump- /ˈfrʌmp-/ adj someone, especially a woman, who is frumpy wears old-fashioned clothes and looks unattractive frustrate /ˈfrʌstrət/ v [T] 1 if something frustrates you, it makes you feel annoyed or angry because you are unable to do what you want: The lack of public transportation frustrates commuters. 2 to prevent someone's plans, efforts, or attempts from succeeding: They feel the system frustrates their attempts to improve productivity.

frustrate /ˈfrʌstrət/ v [T] 1 if something frustrates you, it makes you feel annoyed or angry because you are unable to do what you want to do: He gets frustrated and angry because he feels stupid. I was frustrated with the lack of progress.

frustrating /ˈfrʌstrətɪŋ/ adj making you feel annoyed or angry because you cannot do what you want to do: Having a broken arm is really frustrating.
frustration /frəsˈtræʃ(ə)n/ 1 [C,U] the feeling of being annoyed or angry because you are unable to do what you want to do: A toddler was kicking the ground in frustration. 2 [U] the fact of being prevented from achieving what you want to achieve: The frustration of his ambitions left him bitter.

fry /fraɪ/ n. (plural fries) [C usually plural] a long thin piece of potato that has been cooked in hot oil [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French frīre, from Latin frigere] fuel /fyuəl, fyul/ n. [C,U] a substance such as coal, gas, or oil that can be burned to produce heat or energy [Origin: 1100—1200 Old French fouaille, from feu “fire,” from Latin focus “hearth”] fuel v. 1 [T] to make a situation worse or to make someone’s feelings stronger: The increase in property prices only fueled inflation. 2 [I,T] also fuel up to take fuel into a vehicle, or to provide a vehicle with fuel fuel cell n. [C] CHEMISTRY a piece of equipment that combines a fuel such as HYDROGEN with oxygen to produce electricity

fuel cell n. [C] CHEMISTRY a piece of equipment that combines a fuel such as HYDROGEN with oxygen to produce electricity

fuel up to take fuel into a vehicle, or to provide a vehicle with fuel fulfill /fəˈfɪl/ v. [I,T] 1 to get, do, or achieve something you wanted, promised, or hoped for: The president fulfilled his election promise to cut taxes. | Learning to fly fulfilled a childhood dream. | an education that will help each child fulfill his potential (=be as successful as he can be) 2 to do or provide what is necessary or needed: The firm failed to fulfill its obligations under the contract. | The breakfast club fulfills a need in this poor neighborhood school. 3 to make you feel satisfied because you are doing something useful and interesting and using your skills and qualities: She wanted work that would fulfill her.

fulfilled /fulˈfɪld/ adj. satisfied with your life, job, etc. because you feel that it is interesting or useful and you are using all your skills fulfilling /fulˈfɪln/ adj. making you feel happy and satisfied because you are doing interesting, useful, or important things: a fulfilling career fulfillment /fulˈfɪlmənt/ n. [U] 1 the feeling of being happy and satisfied with your life because you are doing interesting, useful, or important things: Ann’s work gives her a real sense of fulfillment. 2 the act or state of meeting a need, demand, or condition: This contract offer depends upon the fulfillment of certain conditions.

full /ful/ adj.
1 CONTAINER/ROOM/PLACE ETC. holding or containing as much as or as many things as possible (often empty): Don’t talk with your mouth full. | a full glass of milk | The bottle was only half full. | a box full of paper ➔ see picture at EMPTY

2 COMPLETE [only before noun] including all parts or details: Please write your full name and address in the boxes. | We will pay the full cost of repairs.

3 HIGHEST AMOUNT/LEVEL [only before noun] the highest level or greatest amount of something that is possible: The ship was going at full speed. | You have our full support. | I didn’t pay full price for the jacket.

4 be full of sth a) to contain many things of the same kind: Eric’s essay is full of mistakes. | a garden full of flowers b) to feel or express a strong emotion: Cathy woke up full of excitement. | full of praise for the children’s achievement. c) to think or talk about only one subject all the time: She’s full of plans for the wedding.

5 FOOD [not before noun] having eaten so much food that you cannot eat any more: “Would you like some more soup?” “No thanks. I’m full.”

6 CLOTHING a full skirt, pair of pants, etc. is made with a lot of material and fits loosely

7 BODY a full face, body, etc. is rounded or large: clothes for the fuller figure.

8 TASTE/SOUND ETC. a full taste, sound, color, etc. is strong and pleasant: a full-bodied wine

9 RANK a full taste, sound, color, etc. is strong and pleasant: a full-bodied wine full-time adj. 1 in full if you pay the amount of money in full, you pay the full amount 2 to the full in the best or most complete way: Ronnie lived his life to the full.

full-scale adj. (literary): The sun shone full on her face.

full-blown adj. fully developed: full-blown AIDS full-fledged adj. completely developed, trained, or established: a full-fledged lawyer full-grown adj. a full-grown person, animal, or plant has developed to his, her, or its full size and will not grow any bigger full house n. [C] an occasion at a concert hall, sports field, etc. when every seat has someone sitting in it full-length adj. 1 full-length mirror/photograph etc. a mirror, etc. that shows all of a person, from his/her head to his/her feet 2 full-length skirt/dress a skirt, etc. that reaches the ground | full-length play/book etc. a play, etc. of the normal length full moon n. [singular] the moon when it looks completely round fullness /ˈfʊlnəs/ n. 1 in the fullness of time (formal) when the right time comes: I’m sure he’ll tell us everything in the fullness of time. 2 [U] the condition of having eaten enough food 3 [U] the quality of being large and round: the fullness of her lips full-scale adj. 1 as complete or thorough as possible: a full-scale investigation 2 a full-scale model, copy, picture, etc. is the same size as the thing it represents full-time adj., adv. working or studying for the number of hours that people usually work or study ➔ PART-TIME: Andrea works full-time for an insurance company. | full-time students fully /ˈfʊli/ adv. completely: a fully trained nurse fumble /ˈfʌmbl/ v. 1 [I] to try to hold, move, or find something with your hands in an awkward way: Gary fumbled for the light switch in the dark. 2 [I,T] to have difficulty saying something: She fumbled for an appropriate response. 3 [I,T] to drop a ball after catching it ➔ fumble n. [C] fume /ˈfyʊm/ v. [I] to be very angry: He was fuming about/over/at the repair costs.

fumes /ˈfyʊmz/ n. [plural] strong-smelling gas or smoke that is unpleasant to breathe in: gasoline fumes fund

fun1 n [U] 1 pleasure, amusement, and enjoyment, or an activity that is enjoyable: Swimming is a lot of fun. | Did you have fun at Phil’s house? | I have to admit — it’s more fun to win. | It’s nice to have time to read something for fun. | The trip would be no fun (not fun) with a bad back.

fun2 adj 1 a fun activity or experience is enjoyable: It was a fun day. 2 a fun person is enjoyable to be with: Terry is always fun to be with.

function1 n [C] 1 the usual purpose of a thing, or the job that someone usually does: What’s the exact function of this program? | A manager has to perform many different functions. 2 a large party or ceremonial event, especially for an important or official occasion: The mayor has to attend all kinds of official functions. 3 a mathematical quantity that changes according to how another mathematical quantity changes [Origin: 1500—1600 Latin functio, from fungi ‘to perform’] function2 v [I] to work in a particular way or in the correct way: Her kidneys had stopped functioning.

function as sth. phr v to be used or work as something: The space station functions as a laboratory in space.

functional adj 1 designed to be useful rather than attractive: functional furniture 2 working in the way that something is supposed to: There is a fully functional calculator on the key ring. 3 functional illiteracy/literate the quality of being able to read, but not well enough to perform skilled jobs, or someone who has this quality —functionally adv function key n [C] a key on the keyboard of a computer that tells it to do something function word n [C] Eng. Lang. Arts a word such as a pronoun or preposition that is used in place of another word, or that shows the relationship between two words. For example, in the sentences “The cat is hungry. It hasn’t been fed yet,” “it” is a function word.

fund1 n [C] ECONOMICS an amount of money that is kept for a particular purpose: candidates’ campaign funds | a scholarship fund 2 funds (plural) ECONOMICS the money that an organization needs or has: The PTO helps raise funds for the school. | federal funds for welfare programs → MUTUAL FUND 3 an organization that is responsible for collecting and spending money for a particular purpose: The Environmental Defense Fund [Origin: 1600—1700 Latin fundus ‘bottom, piece of land’]

fund2 v [T] to provide money for an activity, organization, event, etc.: Their medical research is federally funded.

fundamental adj 1 relating to the most basic and important parts of something: People are demanding a fundamental change in the political system. | the fundamental democratic principle of free speech fundamental2 n [C] usually plural the most important ideas, rules, skills, etc. that something is based on: the fundamentals of basketball fun-da-men-tal-ist n [C] someone who follows the rules of his/her religion very strictly | a fundamentalist adj —fundamentalism n [U] fun-da-men-tal-ly adv in every way that is important or basic: Our political views are fundamentally different.

fun-da-men-tal-ists n [C] the fundamentals of sth the most important ideas, rules, etc. that something is based on: a class in the fundamentals of computer programming fun-ding n [C] ECONOMICS an amount of money used for a special purpose: The university is providing funding for the research.

fund-raising adj fund-raising events collect money for a specific purpose fun-er-al n [C] a ceremony, usually religious, for burying or burning a dead person: The funeral will be held on Thursday at St. Patrick’s church. | More than 150 people attended the funeral. [Origin: 1300—1400 Late Latin funerális, from Latin fúnus ‘funeral’] funeral director n [C] someone whose job is to arrange funerals funeral home also ‘funeral parlor’ n [C] the place where a body is kept before a funeral and where sometimes the funeral is held fungus n [plural fungi] or funguses] BIOLOGY a simple plant without leaves, such as mushrooms, mold, and yeast, that grows in dark warm slightly wet places —fungal adj fumigate

funk /ˈfʌŋk/ n. 1 a type of popular music with a strong beat that is based on JAZZ and African music. 2 in a funk (informal) unhappy or worried about something.

funky /ˈfʌŋki/ adj. (informal) 1 modern, fashionable, and interesting: a funky website. 2 funky music is simple, with a strong rhythm that is easy to dance to.

funnel /ˈfʌnəl/ n. [C] a tube with a wide top and a narrow bottom, used for pouring liquids or powders into a container.

funnelled /ˈfʌnəld/ v. 1 [T] if you funnel something somewhere, or if it funnels there, it goes there by passing through a narrow opening: The crowd funneled through the narrow streets. 2 [T] to send things or money from different places to a particular place or person: a policy of funneling the most talented students into special schools.

funnies /ˈfʌnɪz/ n. the funnies a number of different CARTOONS (=funny pictures) printed together in newspapers or magazines.

funnily /ˈfʌnɪli/ adv. strangley/oddly/funnily enough or ENOUGH.

funny /ˈfʌnɪ/ adj. 1 amusing you and making you laugh: John gave a funny little speech. | What’s so funny? | He looked really funny.

funny bone n. [singular] the soft part of your elbow that hurts a lot when you hit it against something.

fur /fɜːr/ n. 1 [U] the thick soft hair that covers the bodies of some animals, such as dogs and cats. —see picture on page A2. 2 [C] fur to cover the inside of with fur. (14—19 centuries), from Old French fourre “inside covering” furious /ˈfjʊriz/ adj. 1 very angry: Jim’ll be furious with me if I’m late. | Dad was furious that I had taken the car without asking.

2 done with a lot of uncontrolled energy or anger: He woke up to a furious pounding at the door. —furiously adv.

furled /ˈfɜːld/ adj. rolled or folded: a furled umbrella —furl v. [T] fur-long /ˈfɜːlnɡ/ n. [C] (old-fashioned) a unit for measuring length that is used in horse racing. A furlong equals 201 meters and there are eight furlongs in a mile.

fur-lough /ˈfɜːlou/ n. [C] a short period of time in which someone is allowed to be away from his/her job, especially in the military: a soldier home on furlough.

fur-nace /ˈfɜːrnɑːs/ n. [C] a large container with a hot fire inside it, used for producing power or heat, or to melt metals and other materials.

fur-nish /ˈfɜːnɪʃ/ v. [T] 1 to put furniture and other things into a house or room: a room furnished with two beds 2 to supply something: Your Internet provider will furnish you with e-mail software. —furnished adj.: a furnished apartment.

fur-nish-ings /ˈfɜːnɪʃɪŋz/ n. [plural] the furniture and other things in a room, such as curtains, decorations, etc.

fur-ni-ture /ˈfɜːntʃər/ n. [U] large objects such as chairs, tables, and beds that you use in a room, office, etc.: The room’s only piece of furniture was an old sofa. | office furniture [Origin: 1500—1600 French furnish, from Old French fournir “to complete, provide equipment”]

furniture
fu·ror /ˈfyurər/ n [singular] a sudden expression of anger or excitement among a large group of people: His decision to resign caused a furor.

fur·row /ˈfûrər/ n [C] a long deep fold or line in the surface of something such as skin or the ground: the furrows of a plowed field furrow v [T] to make a long deep fold or line in the surface of something such as skin or the ground: Saks furrowed his brow.

fur·ry /ˈfûrî/ adj covered with fur, or looking or feeling as if covered with fur: furry material fur·ther /ˈfûrðər/ adv 1 more, or to a greater degree: I have nothing further to say. 2 Mark went further into debt. 3 He was falling further and further behind in his schoolwork.

fur·ther·ly /ˈfûrðərli/ adv (formal) in addition to what has already been written or said fur·ther·most /ˈfûrðərmostat/ adj, adv (formal) to the greatest degree or amount, or more than before: Smith’s book has probably gone furthest (=done the most) in explaining these events.

fu·sion /ˈfyuʒən/ n 1 the combination of separate things, groups, or ideas: a fusion of French and Indian cuisine. 2 PHYSICS the process of joining together the nuclei (NUCLEUS) of atoms, which produces heavier atoms and a lot of energy.

fu·tile /ˈfyuətəl/ adj (formal) having no chance of being effective or successful: a futile attempt/effort to prevent the war.

fu·tile·ly /ˈfyuətəlj/ adv (formal) having no chance of being effective or successful: a futile attempt/effort to prevent the war.
the written abbreviation of for your information, used especially on MEMOS (=short business notes)

G, g /dʒiː/ the seventh letter of the English alphabet

G /dʒiː/ n. 1 [CU] ENG. LANG. ARTS the fifth note in the musical SCALE of C, or the musical KEY based on this note 2 [C] PHYSICS an amount of force caused by GRAVITY on an object that is on the surface of the Earth 3 [C] PHYSICS a unit for measuring the rate at which an object increases speed as a result of GRAVITY 4 [CU] general used to show that a movie has been approved for people of any age

GA the written abbreviation of GEORGIA

gab /gæb/ v. (gabbed, gabbing) [I] (informal) to talk continuously, usually about things that are not important gaffe /ˈɡæfi/ n. [C] an embarrassing mistake made in a social situation gag1 /ɡæg/ v. (gagged, gagging) [I] to be unable to swallow and feel as if you are going to bring up the food from your stomach: The smell made me gag. 2 [I] to tie a piece of cloth over someone’s mouth so that s/he cannot make any noise

gag2 /ɡæɡ/ n. [C] 1 [I] (informal) a joke or funny story

2 a piece of cloth used in order to gag someone 3 gag gift a present for someone that is meant to be funny 4 gag order gagged /ˈɡæɡd/ adj. having your mouth tied with a piece of cloth so that you cannot make any noise gaggle /ˈɡæɡl/ n. [C] a group of GEESE, or a noisy group of people gag order n. [C] an order given by a court of law to prevent any public reporting of a case that is still being considered in the court gag rule n. [C] 1 POLITICS a rule or law that stops people from talking about a subject during a particular time or in a particular place) a 2 HIST the law passed by the House of Representatives in 1836 that prevented any speeches or documents that were against slavery to be read or dealt with in the House

gai·ly

/gai·l@/ adv (old-fashioned) in a happy way gai·ty

/gai·t@/ n [U] (old-fashioned) the state of having fun and being happy gal·axy

/galˈækˌsi/ n (plural galaxies) [C] physics one of the large groups of stars that are in the universe \( \bigtriangledown \) space 2. The galaxy physics the large group of stars that includes the Earth, the Sun, and the other planets in our solar system [origin: 1300—1400 late Latin galaxias, from Greek, from gala “milk;” because the galaxy looks milky white from the Earth] gale

/gei/l/ n [C] a very strong wind: a fierce gale

THE SAURUS wind, breeze, gust, storm, hurricane, tornado, typhoon \( \bigtriangledown \) wind gall

/gol/ n have the gall to do sth to do something rude or unreasonable that most people would be embarrassed to do: She had the gall to say that I looked fat!
gal·rant

/ɡɑːlˈrɑːnt/ adj (old-fashioned) brave and kind: a gallant soldier \( \bigtriangledown \) gallantly —galiantry n [U] gall bladder

/gælˈblædər/ n [C] biology the organ in your body that stores bile gal·ler·y

/ɡælərɪ/ n (plural galleries) [C] 1 a room, hall, or building where people can look at paintings or other types of art: the national gallery of art in Washington 2 a small expensive store where people can look at and buy art: art galleries in Manhattan 3 an upper floor like a balcony inside a hall, church, or theater, where people can sit [origin: 1400—1500 medieval latin galea] gal·ley

/ɡælə/ n [C] 1 a kitchen on a ship or an airplane 2 a long Greek or Roman ship that was rowed by slaves gal·lop

/ɡæˈlɒp/ n [I] if a horse gallops, it runs as fast as it can gallop·ing

/ɡælˈɑːpɪŋ/ adj increasing or developing very quickly: galloping inflation gal·lops

/ɡæləʊz/ n (plural galls) [C] a structure that is used for killing criminals by hanging them gall·stone

/ɡælˈstoʊn/ n [C] biology a hard stone that can form in your gall bladder gal·lo·re

/ɡæˈlɔːr/ adj in large amounts or numbers:
about a game of chess? 3 games [plural] a large sports event, where a variety of sports are played: the Olympic Games 4 [C] one of the parts of a competition, such as in tennis or bridge: Williams leads, two games to one. 5 sb's game how well someone plays a particular game or sport: Ramone's game steadily improved. 6 play games to behave in a way that is not serious or that is dishonest or unfair: Don’t play games with me. I don’t have time. 7 be (just) a game if something is just a game to you, you do not consider how serious or important it is: Marriage is just a game to you, isn’t it? 8 [U] wild animals and birds that are hunted for food and as a sport [Origins: Old English gamen] game2 adj willing to do something dangerous, new, or difficult: I’m game if you are. game plan n [C] a plan for achieving success, especially in business or politics: the Senator’s political game plan game show n [C] a television program in which people play games or answer questions in order to win money and prizes ➔ TELEVISION gambetto “act of making someone fall over,” from gambare “leg” gambler /gambrl/ n [C] someone who gambles, especially as a habit gambling /gamb/-ing/ n [U] the activity of risk-ing money and possessions because you might win a lot more if a race, card game, etc. has the result you want: Gambling is legal in Nevada. gambler /gambrl/ n [C] someone who gambles, especially as a habit gamble /gambl/ v 1 [I] to risk money or possessions on the result of something such as a card game, race, etc. because you might win a lot more money if the race, etc. has the result you want: Jack won $700 gambling in Las Vegas. 2 [I,T] to do something that involves risk because you hope things will happen the way you want them to: Many investors gambled that the market would continue to improve. gambling /gamb-lng/ n [sing] gambling or playing with money or possessions by gambling gamely adv away phr. v to lose money or possessions by gambling game3 n [C] an activity or sport that people play for fun or in a competition: a good card/video/board game 2 a particular occasion when you play a sport or activity: Who won/lost the football game? | The Aztecs play only two games this month.  | How...
gangly

/gæŋˈlɪ/ also /gæŋˈgɪln/ adj. very tall and thin and unable to move gracefully: a gangly teenager gang-plank /gæŋplæŋk/ n [C] a board you walk on between a ship and the shore, or between two ships gangrene /ˈgæŋgriːn, ˌgæŋˈgriːn/ n [U] a medical condition in which your flesh decays on part of your body because blood has stopped flowing there as a result of an illness or injury gangster /ˈgæŋstə(r)/ n [C] a member of a group of violent criminals gang-way /ˈgæŋweɪ/ n [C] a large gangplank gap /gæp/ n [C] 1 an empty space between two things or two parts of something: a big gap between her two front teeth | a gap in the fence

2 a difference between two situations, groups, amounts, etc.: a large age gap between Jorge and his sister | We should be trying to bridge the gap between rich and poor. 3 something that is missing that stops something else from being good or complete: His death left a gap in my life. | a gap in her memory | The company has filled a gap in the market (where they produce a product or service that did not exist before). 4 a period of time in which nothing happens or nothing is said: an uncomfortable gap in the conversation 5 a low place between two higher parts of a mountain gape /ɡeɪp/ v [I] 1 to look at something for a long time, usually with your mouth open, because you are very shocked or surprised: She backed away from the children, who were gaping at her.

2 also gape open to be wide open or open widely: Dan stood at the door, his shirt gaping open.

gapping /ˈɡærɪŋg/ adj. a gaping hole, wound, or mouth is very wide and open garage /ˈɡɜːrɪdʒ, ˈɡɑːrdʒ/ n [C] 1 a building, usually connected to or next to your house, where you keep your car: I think my tools are out in the garage. | a one-car/ two-car garage 2 a place where cars are repaired: We took the car to a garage on Fourth Street. [Origin: 1900–2000 French garer “to shelter”] ➔ PARKING GARAGE garbage /ˈɡɑːrbɪdʒ/ n. [C] a sale of used clothes, furniture, toys, etc. that you no longer want, usually held in your garage garb /ɡɑːrb/ n. [U] (literary) a particular style of clothing garbage /ˈɡɑːrbɪdʒ/ n. 1 singular, U waste material such as old food, dirty paper, and empty bags, usually considered together with the container that holds it: The place smelled of garbage. | Can somebody take out the garbage? | We threw the paper plates in the garbage.

THESAURUS

trash – things that you throw away, such as old food, dirty paper, etc.: a bag stuffed with trash refuse (formal) – things that you throw away, such as old food, dirty paper, etc.: the money spent on refuse collection litter – garbage, especially pieces of paper, food containers, etc.: that people leave on the ground in public places: The Scouts picked up litter in the park.
waste – unwanted things or substances that are left after you have used them: the safe disposal of nuclear waste

2 [singular] (informal) something that is of very low quality: Most of the stuff they sell is just garbage. 3 [U] (informal) statements or ideas that are silly or wrong: nonsense: I don’t want to hear this garbage. [Origin: 1400—1500 Anglo-French]

‘garbage can’ n [C] a large container with a lid in which you put waste materials, usually kept outside: trash can

‘garbage collector’ n [C] someone whose job is to remove waste from garbage cans

‘garbage disposal’ n [C] a small machine in a kitchen sink that cuts food waste into small pieces

‘garbage man’ n [C] a garbage collector

‘garbage truck’ n [C] a large vehicle used for carrying waste that is removed from people’s garbage cans

‘garbled’ /ˈɡɑːrbəld/ adj. confusing and not giving correct information: a garbled version of the story

‘garden’ /ˈɡɑːrdn/ n. 1 [C] the part of someone’s land used for growing flowers, or vegetable and fruit plants: Jane was weeding the vegetable/flower garden. 2 gardens [plural] a public park where a lot of flowers and unusual plants are grown: the Japanese Tea Gardens in Golden Gate Park [Origin: 1300—1400 Old North French]

‘gardener’ /ˈɡɑːrdnə(r)/ n. [C] someone who does gardening as a job

‘gardening’ /ˈɡɑrdnɪŋ/ n. [U] the activity or job of making a garden, yard, etc. look pretty by growing flowers, removing weeds, etc.: gardening tools

‘gargle’ /ˈɡɑrɡl/ v. [I] to move medicine or liquid around in your throat in order to make it stop feeling sore, or to clean the inside of your mouth: If you have a sore throat, gargling with salt water might help. – gargle n. [C.U]

‘gar-goyle’ /ˈɡɑːɡɔɪl/ n [C] a stone figure shaped like the face of a strange creature, usually on the roofs of old buildings [Origin: 1400—1500 Old French gargouille “throat;” because the water appears to come out of the creature’s throat] gar·ish /ˈɡaərɪʃ, ˈɡɛər-ə/ adj. very brightly colored and unpleasant to look at: the garish carpet in the hotel lobby.

gar·land /ˈɡarland/ n. [C] a ring of flowers or leaves, worn for decoration or in special ceremonies.

gar·lic /ˈɡarli(k)/ n. [U] a small plant like an onion with a very strong taste, used in cooking [Origin: Old English garlaec, from gar “spear” + leac “leek”] gar·ment /ˈɡarment/ n. [C] (formal) a piece of clothing gar·ner /ˈɡarər/ v. [T] (formal) to take or collect something, especially information or support: Harris garnered 54% of the vote.

gar·net /ˈɡaːrnet/ n. [C] a dark red stone used in jewelry gar·nish /ˈɡarnɪʃ/ v. [T] 1 to decorate food with a small piece of a fruit or vegetable: Garnish each plate with a slice of lemon. 2 also garnish

v. [I] LAW to take money directly from someone’s salary because s/he has not paid his/her debts garnish² /ˈɡɑːrnɪʃ/ n. [C] a small piece of a fruit or vegetable that you use to decorate food gar·ret /ˈɡarət/ n. [C] (literary) a small room at the top of a house gar·ri·son /ˈɡærəsən/ n. [C] a group of soldiers who live in a particular area in order to defend it

⇒ garrison v. [T]

gar·ru·lous /ˈɡɑːrələs/ adj. always talking a lot: her garrulous women friends gar·ter /ˈɡɑːtər/ n. [C] a piece of material that stretches attached to a woman’s undergarment and to her stockings to hold them up

gas¹ /ˈɡæs/ n. 1 [U] also gasoline a liquid that is used for producing power in the engines of cars, trucks, etc.: How much is a gallon of gas? 2 The mechanic found a hole in the gas tank (=container for holding gas). 2 (plural gases or gasses) [C.U] PHYSICS a substance such as air that is not solid or liquid and does not have a definite shape or volume; (measurement of the amount of space it fills), and cannot usually be seen: hydrogen gas | greenhouse gases 3 [U] a clear substance like air that is burned to give heat for cooking and heating: a gas stove | I think we might have a gas leak in here. 4 the gas the gas pedal on a car: Step on the gas (=push down the gas pedal and make the car go faster). 5 [U] the condition of having a lot of air in your stomach [Origin: (2) 1600—1700 Modern Latin, Greek khaoi “empty space”]

⇒ NATURAL GAS

gas² v. (gassed gassing) [T] to attack or kill someone with poisonous gas gas·chamber n. [C] a large room in which people or animals are killed with poisonous gas gas·eous /ˈɡæsɪəs, ˈɡæsəs/ adj. consisting of gas or in the form of gas: Jupiter is the largest gaseous planet in our solar system.

gash /ˈɡæʃ/ n. [C] a deep cut —gash v. [T] gas·ket /ˈɡæsket/ n. [C] a flat piece of rubber between two surfaces of a machine that prevents steam, oil, etc. from escaping gas·mask /ˈɡæskɑːm/ n. [C] a piece of equipment that you wear over your face to protect you from breathing poisonous gases gas·o·line /ˈɡæsəˌlaɪn, ˈɡæsəˌlaɪn/ n. [U] GAS gasp /ˈɡæsp/ v. [I] 1 to breathe in suddenly and loudly because you are surprised or in pain: The audience gasped in/with surprise. 2 to quickly breathe in a lot of air because you are having difficulty breathing normally: Kim crawled out of the pool, gasping for air/breath. —gasp v. [C]: a gasp of disbelief gas·ped /ɡɑːsp/ v. [T] to breathe in suddenly and loudly because you are surprised or in pain: The audience gasped in/with surprise.

gas·sta·tion /ˈɡæstəˈʃen/ n. [C] a place that sells gas for your car gas·tric /ˌɡæstrɪk/ adj. relating to the stomach: gastric ulcers gas·tro·nom·ic /ˌɡæstrəˈnɒmɪk/ adj. [only before noun] relating to cooking and eating good food: the gastronomic delights of Chinatown gate /ɡeɪt/ n. [C] 1 a door in a fence or outside wall ⇒ gateway to go to or through: Who left the gate open? 2 Make sure the front/back/rear/main gate is locked. 2 the place where you leave an airport building to get on the airplane: Flight 207 to Chicago will be leaving from gate 16. 3 THE DEPARTURE GATE [Origin: Old English gear] gate·crasher, gate·crash·er /ˈɡeɪtˌkrɛr,sɪr/ n. [C] someone who goes to a party that s/he has not been invited to ⇒ gatecrash v. [I,T] gate·way /ˈɡeɪtˌweɪ/ n. [C] 1 an opening in a fence or wall that can be closed by a gate 2 the gateway to sth a place, especially a city, that you go through in order to reach another place: St. Louis was once the gateway to the West. 3 if a way of connecting two different computer networks that helps them to work together gather /ˈɡæθər/ v. [I,T] if people gather somewhere, or if someone gathers them, they come together in the same place: A crowd gathered to watch the fight. | Gather around and I’ll tell you a story. | Jill gathered the children and lined them up. | Dozens of reporters were gathered outside the hotel.

⇒ MEET

2 [T] to bring things from different places together: I’m currently trying to gather new ideas for my next novel. | “Wait for me,” said Anna, gathering up her books. 3 [T] to believe that something is true based on the information you have: From what I can gather/As far as I can gather (=I think it is true that) he never intended to sell the house. | I gather (that) he won’t be coming. 4 gather steam/speed/momentum/force etc. to become faster, stronger, etc.: The car gathered speed as it rolled down the hill. 5 gather dust if something useful gathers dust, it is not being used: The report has been gathering dust for 18 years. [Origin: Old English gādrian] gathering /ˈgæðərɪŋ/ n. [C] a meeting of a group of people: a family gathering | a gathering of war veterans gauging /ˈgægoʊŋ/ n. [C] an instrument that measures the amount or size of something: a car’s gas gauge 2 a gauge of something that helps you make a judgment about a person or situation: The amount of money you make is not the only gauge of your success. 3 a measurement of the width or thickness of something: a 12-gauge shotgun gaugeability /ˈgægəbilət/ 1 to judge what someone is likely to do or how she feels: It’s difficult to gauge exactly how he’s going to respond.

2 to calculate the size or amount of something: The thermostat will gauge the temperature and control the heat.
gauty /ˈgɔtə/ adj. very thin, pale, and unhealthy gauze /ˈgauz/ n. [U] a very thin light cloth used for covering wounds and making clothes: His hand was wrapped in a gauze bandage.

gave /gɑv/ v. the past tense of give gavel /ˈgævel/ n. [C] a small hammer that someone in charge of a court of law, meeting, etc. hits on a table to get people’s attention gawk /ɡɔk/ v. [I] to look at someone or something for a long time, in a way that looks stupid: Drivers slowed to gawk at the accident.
gawk-y /ˈgɔkski/ adj. tall and not graceful: a tall gawky teenager gay /ˈgæt/ adj. 1 sexually attracted to people of the same sex | The gay community | He told me she’s gay. 2 (oldfashioned) bright and attractive: a room painted in gay colors 3 (old-fashioned) happy and cheerful: gay laughter [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French gai “happy”]
gay² n. [C] someone, especially a man, who is sexually attracted to people of the same sex | THE SAURUS

THESAURUS

look, glance, peek, peep, peer, stare, gape, regard → LOOK³ gaze² n. [singular] a long steady look: Uncle John inspected us both with a clear and steady gaze.

ga-ze-bo /gaˌziˈboʊ/ n. (plural gazebos) [C] a small building in a garden or park that you can sit in gazelle /ˈgæzəl/ n. [C] an animal like a small deer

gcd: math the abbreviation of greatest common factor

GDP n. economics gross domestic product the total value of all goods and services produced in a country in one year, not including income received from abroad ➔ gnp gear /gɑr/ 1 [C] the machinery in a vehicle such as a car, truck, or bicycle that you use to go at different speeds: There’s a weird noise every time I change/gear gears. | The car’s in first/second etc. | gear ➔ see picture at bicycle 2 [U] special equipment, clothing, etc. that you need for a particular activity: camping gear 3 [U] a piece of machinery that does a particular job, the landing gear on a plane

gear² v. to be geared to/toward sb/sth to be organized in order to achieve a particular purpose: All his training was geared to winning an Olympic gold medal. | concerts geared toward young children gear up get v. to prepare for something: Congress is gearing up for a debate on Social Security.

gearbox /ˈgɜrboks/ n. [C] the system of gears in a vehicle gear shift n. [C] a stick that you move to change gears in a vehicle

GED n. [C usually singular] General Equivalency Diploma a diploma that people who did not finish high school can get by taking a test difference in the way they think about politics

...
generally

that generalize about women 2 to make a statement about people, events, or facts without mentioning any details: It's difficult to generalize about a subject as big as American history.

gen-er-al-ly /ˈdʒenərəli/ adv 1 considering something as a whole, rather than its details: Her school work is generally very good. Generally speaking, movie audiences like happy endings. 2 by or to most people: It's generally believed that the story is true. | an agreement that is generally acceptable 3 usually: Megan generally works late on Fridays.

general store n [C] a store that sells a lot of different things, especially in a small town
gen-er-ate /ˈdʒenəreɪt/ (AC) v [T] 1 to produce or make something: Our discussion generated a lot of new ideas. | The new game generated more than $1 million in sales. | Reed hopes the exhibit will generate interest in the museum. 2 to produce energy, power, heat, etc.: A solar panel helps generate power for the building.

generation gap n. [singular] a lack of understanding between older and younger people

Generation X n [U] the group of people who were born during the late 1960s and 1970s in the U.S.

gen-er-a-tor /ˈdʒenərətər/ n. [C] a machine that produces electricity gen-er-ic /ˈdʒenərɪk/ adj 1 CHEMISTRY a generic drug or other product is an exact copy of an existing drug or product, but does not have a brand name (the name a company gives to each of its products): the need for cheaper generic drugs 2 ENG. LANG. ARTS relating to a whole group of similar things, rather than just one of them: Fine Arts is a generic term for subjects such as painting, music, and sculpture. —generically adv.

gen-er-os-i-ty /dʒəˈnərəsəti/ n. [U] a generous attitude, or generous behavior: Thank you for your generosity. | The company is known for its generosity toward employees.

gen-er-ous /ˈdʒenərəs/ adj 1 someone who is generous is kind and enjoys giving people things or helping them: She’s always giving generous to the kids. | Carl is generous with his time (willing to spend time helping people). | It is very generous of you to help. 2 more than the usual amount: a generous slice of cake [ORIGIN: 1500—1600 French généreux, from Latin generous “born into a high rank”] —generously adv. | Clark gives generously to local charities.

gen-er-os-ity /ˌdʒenəˈrəsəti/ n. [singular] (formal) the beginning of something [ORIGIN: 1600—1700 Latin, Greek, from gignesthai “to be born”]

gen-er-ic /ˈdʒenərɪk/ adj BIOLOGY relating to genes or genetics: genetic research | genetic defects —genetically adv.

ge-net-ic /ˌdʒenəˈtɪk/ adj BIOLOGY genetically modified food, crops, etc. have been changed so that their gene structure is different from the one they would have naturally gen-etic code n. [C] BIOLOGY the arrangement of chemicals in DNA or RNA that controls the way in which features are passed on from parents to their young gen-etic di-vers-i-ty n. [U] BIOLOGY the fact that there are many creatures, plants, etc. with slightly different genes within a particular species (a group of animals or plants that can breed together)

gen-etic engi-neer-ing n. [U] the science of changing the genes of a living thing

gen-etic-ally /ˌdʒenəˈtɪkli/ adv. BIOLOGY the study of how genes affect the development of living things —geneticist n. [C]

Ge-ne-va Con-ven-tion /ˌdʒiːnɪˈvə kanˈvɛntʃən/ n. HISTORY one of a series of international agreements containing rules for the treatment of prisoners of war, sick and wounded soldiers, and civilians in a time of war geni-al /dʒiˈnɪəl, -niəl/ adj cheerful, kind, and friendly; a genial host gen-i-e /dʒiˈniəl/ n. [C] a magical creature in old stories who can make wishes come true

gen-i-als /dʒiˈnɪəli/ also gen-i-ta-li-a /ˌdʒiːnəˈtɪliə/ n. [plural] BIOLOGY the outer sex organs —genital adj.

gen-i-tive /dʒiˈnɪtɪv/ n. [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS a form of the noun in some languages, which shows a relationship of possession or origin between one thing and another —genitively adv.

gen-i-us /dʒiˈnɪəs/ n. 1 [U] a very high level of intelligence or ability: a man of genius — Even the movie’s title was a stroke of genius (=a very smart idea). 2 [C] someone who has a very high level of intelligence or ability: a musical genius [Origin: 1300—1400 Latin “spirit who guards a person or place,” from signare]

gen-o-me /dʒɪnəʊmɪ/ [C] biology all the genes in one cell of a living thing; containing all the genetic information about that particular living thing: the human genome [Origin: 1900—2000 Greek genos “birth, race, type” + English chromosome]

gen-o-type /dʒɪnəʊtaɪp/ n. [C] biology the type and structure of the genes found in a living thing.

gen-re /ˈdʒɜːrnəl/ n. [C] Eng. lang. arts a particular type of art, writing, music, etc.: Science fiction is a relatively new literary genre.

gent /dʒent/ n. [C] (informal) a gentleman

gen-teel /dʒentˈtiːl/ adj. polite, gentle, or graceful gen-tile /dʒentɪl/ n. [C] someone who is not Jewish —gentility /dʒentɪˈlɪtɪ/ adj.

gen-tle /dʒentl/ adj. 1 kind, and careful not to hurt anyone or anything: Be gentle with the baby. | a gentle young man 2 not strong, extreme, or violent: a gentle voice | a gentle breeze | gentle persuasion | gentle humor 3 a gentle hill or slope is not steep —gentleness /dʒentəˈləns/ n. [U] —gently adv.: He gently lifted the baby from the cradle.

gen-tle-man /dʒentlˌmən/ n. (plural gentlemen /dʒentləˈmɛn/ [C] 1 a man who is polite and behaves well: Roland was a perfect gentleman last night. 2 a polite word used for a man you do not know; Can you show this gentleman to his seat? | Thank you, ladies and gentlemen.

—gentlemanly adj.

gen-tri-fi-ca-tion /dʒentrɪˈfɪkeɪʃən/ n. [U] a process in which a poor area improves after people who have money move there.

gen-try /dʒentri/ n. [plural] (old-fashioned) people of a high social class who owned land and employed others to work in their house or on their land.

gen-u-lect /dʒɪnjuˈlekt/ v. [I] to bend one knee when in a church or a holy place, as a sign of respect.

gen-u-ine /dʒəˈnɪn/ adj. 1 a genuine feeling or desire is one that you really have, not one that you pretend to have (syn: sincere): He has a genuine interest in seeing his students succeed. | Mrs. Liu showed a genuine concern for Lisa’s well-being. 2 something that is genuine is real or true (syn: real): a genuine diamond 3 someone who is genuine is honest and sincere —genuinely adv.: She seemed genuinely surprised.

gen-us /dʒəˈnəs/ n. (plural genera /dʒəˈnərə/ [C] biology of the groups into which scientists divide animals and plants. A genus is larger than a species but smaller than a family. [Origin: 1500—1600 Latin “birth, race, type”] geo-graph-i-cal /dʒɪˈgrɑːfɪkəl/ also geo-graph-ic /dʒɪˈgrɑːfɪk/ adj. relating to geography: geographical maps of the area.

geo-graph-ic isolation n. [U] biology a situation in which a river, mountain, ocean, etc. keeps two populations of people, animals, plants, etc. apart, so that they develop different genes and become a separate species.

geo-graph-ic-ally adv.

geo-graph-ic time /dʒɪˈələdʒɪk ˈtɜːm/ n. [U] earth sciences the period of time from when the Earth first formed until the present day.

geo-graph-y /dʒɪˈələdʒi/ n. [U] earth sciences the study of the countries, oceans, cities, populations, etc. of the world or of a particular area [Origin: 1400—1500 Latin geographia, from Greek “describing the Earth”] —geographer n. [C] geo-log-i-cal /dʒɪˈɑːlədʒɪkəl/ adj. geological geo-met-ric /dʒɪˈmɛtrɪk/ also geo-met-ric-al /dʒɪˈmɛtrɪkəl/ adj. 1 having a regular pattern of shapes and lines: geometric shapes 2 relating to geometry.

geo-met-ric figure n. [C] mathematics a shape, such as a triangle, square, or pyramid, etc., that has lines, curves, or points. Geometric figures can be flat or three-dimensional (=having length, depth, and height).

geo-met-ric ‘mean n. [singular] mathematics an average value of a set of numbers.

geo-met-ric ‘sequence n. [C] mathematics a series of related numbers formed by multiplying or dividing each previous number in the list by one particular number. For example, in the geometric sequence 2, 4, 8, 16, each number is multiplied by 2 to get the next number in the series.

geo-met-ric ‘series n. [C] mathematics the sum of the numbers in a geometric sequence.

geo-met-ric ‘try /dʒɪˈɑːtrɪ/ n. [U] mathematics the mathematical study of angles, shapes, lines, etc. [Origin: 1300—1400 French géométrie, from Greek geometria “measuring the Earth,” from ge “Earth” + metron “measure”]

geo-pol-i-ti-cal /dʒɪˈɒpəliˈteɪkl/ adj. social science relating to geopolitics: geopolitical boundaries.
gestate /dʒɛst/ v [t] to make movements with your arms and hands while speaking, usually because you are excited or angry gesture 1 /dʒɛst/ n [C,U] a movement of your head, arm, or hand to express your feelings: He made a rude gesture at us as he drove by. [He made a fist in a gesture of disgust.] 2 [C] something you do or say to show that you care about someone or something: The flowers were a nice gesture. [a gesture of friendship/support] gesture 2 v [I] to move your head, arm, or hand in order to tell someone something: Tom gestured for me to move out of the way.
gestate/germalyzed /dʒɛstæt/ n [plural] SOCIAL SCIENCE the study of the effects of a country’s position, population, etc. on its political character and development gestational /dʒɛstənəl/ adj EARTH SCIENCES relating to or coming from the heat inside the Earth: geothermal energy geriatric /dʒɛtrɪətɪk/ n [C] a common house plant with colorful flowers and large round leaves [Origin: 1500—1600 Latin, Greek geranion, from geranos “crane”; because the plant’s seed-case looks like a crane’s beak] gerbill /dʒɛbɪl/ n [C] a small animal with soft fur and a long tail that is often kept as a pet geriatic /dʒɛrɪətɪk/ adj relating to geriatrics: geriatric patients [Origin: 1900—2000 Greek geras “old age” + English -iatric] geriatrics /dʒɛrɪətrɪks/ n [U] the medical treatment and care of old people germ /dʒɜrm/ n [C] 1 a very small living thing that can make you sick ➔ BACTERIA: Sneezing spreads germs. 2 the germ of an idea/hope etc. the beginning of an idea, etc. that may develop into something else [Origin: 1400—1500 French germe, from Latin germen “seed, bud, germ”] German 1 /dʒɜrmən/ n adj relating to Germany, its people, or its language German 2 n [U] the language used in Germany, Austria, and parts of Switzerland [C] someone from Germany German measles n [plural] an infectious disease that causes red spots on the body ➔ rubella German shepherd n [C] a large dog that looks like a wolf, often used by the police and for guarding property germinate /dʒɛrɪmən/ v [t] BIOLOGY if a seed germinates, or if it is germinated, it begins to grow ➔ germination [dʒɛrɪmənʃən] n [U] germander /dʒɜrɪmandər/ n [U] the practice of changing the borders of an area before an election, so that one person or party has an unfair advantage [Origin: 1800—1900 Elbridge Gerry (1744-1818), U.S. politician + salamander; because a voting area he made to help his own party win an election was said to be shaped like a salamander] ➔ gerrymander n [U] gesture /dʒɛst/ n [C,U] ENG. LANG. ARTS in grammar, a noun formed from the PRESENT PARTICIPLE of a verb, such as “reading” in the sentence “He enjoys reading.”
gestation /dʒɛstəʃən/ n [U] BIOLOGY the process during which a baby grows inside its mother’s body, or the period when this happens: a nine-month gestation period gesticulate /dʒɛstɪkjəl/ v [I] to make movements with your arms and hands while speaking, usually because you are excited or angry get /get/ v (past tense got [gat], past participle gotten [gətn, present participle getting]
1 RECEIVE/Buy [T] to receive, buy, or obtain something: Did you get the job? [We haven’t gotten any mail for three days.] [I got an A in Spanish.] How much money did you get from Grandma? [My mom got these earnings for a dollar.] Jill knows a woman who can get the material for you.
2 have got a) used to say that you have or possess something: Mike’s got a good job. [We’ve got tickets for tonight’s game.] b) used to say that you need to do something or you must do something: I’ve got a lot of work to do.
3 become [linking verb] to change from one state, feeling, etc. to another ➔ syn become: Vicky got really mad at him. [If I wear wool, my skin gets all red. The weather had suddenly gotten cold.] I got lost on the way to the stadium. [Seam’s getting married next week.] Hurry up and get dressed!
4 change position/state [T] to change or move from one place, position, or state to another, or to make something do this: How did the burglar get into his house? [I can’t get this jar open.] Everybody get down on the floor!
5 reach a PLACE [I] to reach a particular place or position: When did you get home? [She got downstairs, and found that the room was full of smoke.] The thieves got away (escaped). [You might be disappointed when you get to the end of the book.
6 bring/take [T] to bring someone or something back from somewhere, or take something from somewhere: Run upstairs and get me that book. [She got some money out of her purse.] I’m going to go get the kids from the babysitter’s.
7 money [T] to receive money for doing work or selling something: He gets $12 an hour at his job. How much can you get for a house this size?
get to do sth (informal) to have an opportunity to do something: As you get to know the city, I’m sure you’ll like it better. [I didn’t get to see the game last night.
9 make sth happen [T] to make or arrange for someone or something to do a particular job or action: I have to get this work done by tomorrow. [We’ll have to get this room painted before they move in.}
ILLNESS  [T] to begin to have an illness: I got the flu when we were on vacation.

REACH A STAGE  [T] to reach a particular stage in a process successfully: We didn’t seem to be getting anywhere. | I started reading the book, but I didn’t get very far.

get sb to do sth  to persuade or force someone to do something: I tried to get Bill to come out tonight, but she was too tired.

get sth to do sth  to make something do something: Bert couldn’t get the light to work.

get the feeling/idea etc.  to start to have a feeling or an idea: I get the feeling you don’t like her.

get the bus/air etc.  to travel somewhere on a bus, airplane, etc.: She managed to get a flight into Detroit.

RECEIVE A PUNISHMENT  [T] to receive a punishment: He got ten years for robbery.

RADIO/TV  [T] to be able to receive a particular radio signal, television station, etc.: Her TV doesn’t get channel 24.

SPoken phrases

get sth across  phr. v. to be understood, or to make someone understand something: The message isn’t getting across. | It was difficult to get my idea across to the committee.

get ahead  phr. v. to be successful in your job, work, etc.: She lacks the business skills she’ll need to get ahead.

get along  phr. v. 1 to have a friendly relationship with someone: She gets along with Cy really well.

2 get along without sb/sth  to be able to continue doing something without having someone or something to help: We’ll have to get along without the car until the new part arrives.

get around  phr. v. 1 get around sth to avoid something that will cause problems: There are ways of getting around the law.

2 get around (sth) to go to different places: His new wheelchair lets him get around more easily.

3 if news or information gets around, a lot of people hear about it get around to sth  phr. v. to do something you have been intending to do for a long time: I meant to go to the bookstore, but I never got around to it.

get at sth  phr. v. 1 be getting at sth to be trying to explain an idea: Did you understand what he was getting at?

2 get at the meaning/facts etc. to discover information about something: The judge asked a few questions to try to get at the truth.

3 to be able to reach something: I could see the ring stuck under the refrigerator, but I couldn’t get at it.

get away with it  1 to leave a place: Barney had to work late, and couldn’t get away until 9:00.

2 to escape from someone who is chasing you: The two men got away in a blue pickup truck.

3 to go on vacation: Are you going to be able to get away this summer?

get away with sth  phr. v. to not be noticed or punished when you have done something wrong: He’ll cheat if he thinks he can get away with it.

get back  phr. v. 1 to return to a place: I didn’t get back until after midnight. | Call me when you get back to Miami.

2 get sth back to have something again after you had lost it or given it to someone: Did you get your wallet back?

3 get sb back also get back at sb to hurt or embarrass someone who has hurt or embarrassed you: Jerry wants to get back at her for leaving him.

get back to  phr. v. 1 get back to sth to return to a previous state, condition, or activity: It was hard to get back to work after my vacation. | Life is beginning to get back to normal.

2 get back to sb to talk to or telephone someone later in order to answer a question or give him/her information: I’ll try to get back to you later today.

get behind  phr. v. if you get behind with work or a regular payment, you fail to do the work or pay the money in time: They made people pay extra if they got behind in/on their rent.

get by  phr. v. to have only just enough of something to be able to do the things you need to do: I know enough French to get by. | He gets by on just $800 a month.

get down  phr. v. 1 get sth down to quickly write something down on paper: Let me get your number down before I forget it.

2 get sb down (informal) to make someone feel unhappy: Don’t let his criticism get you down.

3 get sth down to be able to swallow food or drink: I knew I’d feel better once I got some food down.

get down to sth  phr. v. to start doing something that needs time or energy: It’s time to get down to work.

get in  phr. v. 1 to be allowed or able to enter a place: The door was locked, and he couldn’t get in. | I applied to Princeton but I didn’t get in.
getaway

2 to arrive at a particular time or in a particular place: What time does the plane get in?
3 to arrive home: Steve just got in a few minutes ago.
4 get sth in to send or give something to a particular person, company, etc.: Make sure you get your homework in by Thursday.

get in on sth (informal) to become involved in something that other people are doing: The kids saw us playing and wanted to get in on the game.

get into sth phr. v.
1 to be allowed to go to a school, college, or university: Liz got into the graduate program at Berkeley.
2 to start being involved in a situation: He’s always getting into trouble.
3 (informal) to start being interested in something: When I was in high school I got into rap music.
4 (informal) to begin to have a discussion about something: Let’s not get into it right now. I’m tired.

get off phr. v.
1 get off (sth) to finish working: What do you get off work?
2 get (sb) off to get little or no punishment for a crime, or to help someone escape punishment: I can’t believe his lawyers managed to get him off. | He got off lightly (received a very small punishment).
3 where does sb get off (doing sth)? (spoken) said when someone has done something that you think she does not have a right to do: Where does he get off telling me how to raise my kids?

get on phr. v.
1 get on with sth to continue or to make progress with a job, work, etc.: Let’s get on with the meeting, so we can go home on time.
2 be getting on (in years) to be old get onto sth phr. v.

1 to start talking about a particular subject: Then, we got onto the subject of women, and Craig wouldn’t shut up.

get out phr. v.
1 get (sb) out to leave or escape from a place, or to help someone do this: How did the dog get out of the yard? | We knew it was going to be difficult to get him out of the country.
2 if secret information gets out, people find out about it: Once word gets out, we’re going to be in big trouble.

get out of sth phr. v.
1 to avoid doing something that you should do: She couldn’t get out of the meeting, so she canceled our dinner.
2 get sth out of sb to persuade someone to tell or give you something: I was determined to get the truth out of her.
3 get sth out of sth to enjoy an activity and feel you have gained something from it: She gets a lot of pleasure out of acting.

get over phr. v.
1 get over sth to feel better after an illness or bad experience: It will take a couple of weeks to get over the infection. | Her son died suddenly, and she never got over it.
2 get sth over with to finish something you do not like doing as quickly as possible: “It should only hurt a little.” “OK. Just get it over with.”
3 sb can’t/couldn’t get over sth (spoken) said when you are surprised, shocked, or amused by something: I can’t get over how much weight you’ve lost.

get through phr. v.
1 get (sb) through sth to manage to deal with a difficult or bad experience until it ends, or to help someone do this: I was so embarrassed. I don’t know how I got through the rest of the dinner.
2 to succeed in calling someone on the telephone: When she finally got through, the department manager wasn’t there.
3 get (sth) through sth if a law gets through Congress, it is officially accepted get through to sb phr. v.

1 to succeed in making someone understand you: I tried to explain, but I couldn’t get through to her.
2 to get sb phr. v (informal) to upset someone: Don’t let him get to you, honey. He’s just teasing you.

get together phr. v.
1 to meet with someone or with a group of people: We should get together for a drink. | Every time he got together with Murphy, they argued.
2 to start a romantic relationship with someone 3 get yourself together/get it together to change the way you live so that you are better organized, happier, etc.: It took a year for me to get myself together after she left.

get up phr. v.
1 get (sb) up to get out of your bed after sleeping, or to make someone do this: I have to get up at 6:00 tomorrow. | Could you get me up at 8:00?
2 to stand up: Corrine got up slowly and went to the window.

get-away /ˈɡeɪtəwei/ n. [C] an escape from a place after doing something wrong: a getaway car (= a car used by criminals to escape after a crime)

The bank robber made his getaway in a red truck.

get-to-gether n. [C] an informal meeting or party: a small get-together with friends get-up /ˈɡeɪtəp/ n. [C] (informal) strange or unusual clothes that someone is wearing guy-ser /ˈɡeɪzər/ n. [C] EARTH SCIENCES a natural spring that sends hot water and steam suddenly into the air from a hole in the ground

ghast-ly /ˈɡæsli/ adj. extremely bad, shocking, or upsetting: ghastly injuries | a ghastly noise
Pronunciation: /ˈgɪtəʊ/ n. (plural ghettos or ghettos)
[C] a part of a city where poor people live in bad conditions, especially people of one particular race or social class [Origin: 1600—1700 Italian]

THESAURUS
area, region, territory, zone, district, neighborhood, suburb, slum ghetto, blaster n. [C] (informal) a BOOM BOX ghost /ˈgoʊst/ n. [C] the spirit of a dead person that some people think they can see. They say the captain’s ghost still haunts the waterfront.

—ghostly adj.

THESAURUS
spirit – a creature without a physical body, such as an angel or ghost phantom/specter/apparition (literary) – a ghost ghost story n. [C] a story about ghosts that is intended to frighten people ghost town n. [C] a town that is empty because most of its people have left ghost writer, ghost-writer /ˈgoʊst, rɑɪtər/ n. [C] someone who is paid to write a book or story for another person, whose name then appears as the writer of the book —ghostwrite v. [T]

ghoul /ˈɡoʊl/ n. [C] an evil spirit in stories that steals and eats dead bodies —ghoulish adj.

GI /dʒi/ n. [C] a soldier in the U.S. army

giant /ˈdʒaɪənt/ adj. much bigger than other things of the same type: a giant step towards peace in the region | a giant TV screen [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French gigant, from Greek gigás]

giant /ˈdʒaɪənt/ n. 1 a very tall strong man in stories 2 a very successful person or company: one of the giants of the music industry

gib-berish /ˈgɪbərɪʃ/ n. [C] not understandable things you say or write that have no meaning or are difficult to understand

gibe /dʒərb/ n. [C] an unkind remark intended to make someone seem silly

giblets /ˈdʒɪblɪts/ n. [plural] organs such as the heart and liver that you remove from a bird before cooking it giddy /ˈdʒɪdi/ adj. (comparative giddier, superlative giddiest) 1 behaving in a silly, happy, and excited way: We were giddy with excitement. 2 feeling slightly sick and unable to stand up because everything seems to be spinning around —giddy adj.

GIF /ɡɪf/ n. [C] in Graphics Interchange Format a type of computer file used on the Internet that contains pictures, photographs, or other images gift /ɡɪft/ n. 1 [C] something that you give to someone as a present: a birthday/Christmas/wedding etc. gift | a gift from my mother | He sent her gifts of flowers and chocolate. 2 [C, usually singular] a natural ability to do something: Ekene sure has a gift for making people laugh. [Origin: 1200—1300 Old Norse]

THESAURUS
skill, talent, ability, knack, flair, aptitude gift certificate n. [C] a special piece of paper that is worth a specific amount of money when it is exchanged at a store for goods

gift-ed /ˈɡɪftɪd/ adj. having the natural ability to do something very well: a gifted poet | a gifted child (a child who is extremely intelligent)

THESAURUS
intelligent, smart, bright, brilliant, wise, clever, intellectual, apt gift wrap n. [U] attractive colored paper used for wrapping presents in —gift wrap v. [T]: Would you like this gift wrapped?

gig /ˈdʒɪg/ n. [C] (informal) a concert at which musicians play popular music or jazz gig-a-byte /ˈɡɪgəˌbaɪt/ n. [C] a unit for measuring computer information, equal to 1024 MEGABYTES

gig-an-tic /ˈdʒɪɡəntɪk/ adj. extremely large: a gigantic skyscraper

THESAURUS
big, large, substantial, sizable, prodigious, huge, enormous, vast, massive, immense, colossal

giggle /ˈɡɪɡl/ v. [I] to laugh quickly in a high voice, especially because you are nervous or embarrassed: If you can’t stop giggling, you’ll have to leave the room. —giggle n. [C]: a nervous giggle

THESAURUS
laugh, chuckle, cackle, snicker, titter, guffaw gild /ɡɪld/ v. [T] to cover the surface of something with a thin layer of gold or gold paint gill /ɡɪl/ n. [C] [Biology] one of the organs on the side of a fish through which it breathes —gill n. [U] gimmick /ˈɡɪmɪk/ n. [C] (informal, disapproving) something unusual that is used to make people notice something: advertising gimmicks —gimmicky adj.

gin /ˈdʒɪn/ n. [U] a strong clear alcoholic drink made from grain [Origin: 1700—1800 geneva “gin” (18—20 centuries), from Dutch genever, from Latin juníperus “juniper,” plant used to give gin its taste]

ginner /ˈdʒɪnər/ n. [U] a hot-tasting light brown root, or the powder made from this root, used in cooking ginger ale n. [U] a soft drink (=drink with no alcohol in it) with a ginger taste gingerbread /ˈdʒɜːndʒərˈbrɛd/ n. [U] a type of cookie or cake with ginger in it: a gingerbread house/man (=cookie in the shape of a house or person) gingerly /ˈdʒɜːndʒəlɪ/ adv. very slowly, carefully, and gently: They gingerly loaded the patient into the ambulance.

gingham /ˈɡɪŋmən/ n. [U] cotton cloth that has a pattern of small white and colored squares on it giraffe /ˈɡɪrəf/ n. [C] a tall African animal with a very long neck and legs and dark yellow spots on its yellow-brown fur gird-or /ˈɡɜːrdər/ n. [C] an iron or steel beam that supports a floor, roof, or bridge girdle /ˈɡɜːrdəl/ n. [C] a piece of woman’s underwear that fits tightly around her waist and hips girl /ɡɜːrl/ n. [C] 1 a female child: She’s tall for a girl of her age. | a six-year-old girl | I’ve wanted to be in the movies since I was a little girl. 2 a daughter ➔ boy: They have two boys and a girl. 3 a word meaning a young woman, which is considered offensive by some women. 4 the girls (informal) a woman’s female friends; I’m going out with the girls tonight.

girl-friend /ˈɡɜːrfrend/ n. [C] 1 a girl or woman with whom you have a romantic relationship. 2 a woman or girl’s female friend girl-hood /ˈɡɜːrhʊd/ n. [U] the time in a woman’s life when she is a girl

Girl Scout n. 1 the Girl Scouts an organization for girls, that teaches them practical skills and helps develop their character ➔ Boy Scouts 2 [C] a member of the Girl Scouts.

girth /gɜːθ/ n. [C,U] the distance around the middle of something: the girth of the tree’s trunk

GIS n. [singular] EARTH SCIENCES geographic information system a computer system for storing and examining information about the natural features of the Earth’s surface gist /dʒɪst/ n. the gist the main idea or meaning of what someone has said or written: After a while I began to get the gist of his speech (=understand the main ideas).

give¹ /gɪv/ v. (past tense gave /gɛv/, past participle given /ˈgɪvn/) 1 PROVIDE [T] to provide something for someone: Dan gave me a ride to work. | She refused to give me any help. | They gave the job to that guy from Texas. 2 PUT STH IN SB'S HAND [T] to put something in someone’s hand ➔ hand, pass: Give me your coat. | He gave the books to Carl. 3 LET SB DO STH [T] to allow or make it possible for someone to do something: I was never given a chance to explain. | She gave me some time to finish the report. | Who gave you permission to come in here? | This bill will give more power to local authorities.

4 PRESENT [T] to let someone have something as a present: She gave Jen a CD for Christmas.

5 TELL SB STH [T] to tell someone information or details about something, or tell someone to do something: Would you give Kim a message for me? | Let me give you some advice. | The police will ask him to give a description of the man. | Could you give me directions to the airport (=tell me how to get there)? | Harris walked into the room and started giving orders.

6 PERFORM AN ACTION [T] to perform a particular action: The boy gave Lydia a big smile. | The theater company gave performances in neighborhood schools and hospitals. | Give me a call (=telephone me tonight). | Come on, give your Grandpa a hug.

7 give sb trouble/problems etc. to make someone have problems: The machines in the lab are giving us trouble. | Stop giving me a hard time (=stop criticizing me).

8 ILLNESS [T] to infect someone with the same illness that you have, or make someone feel a particular emotion or sensation: The noise is giving me a headache. | My husband gave this cold to me.

9 QUALITY [T] to make someone or something have a particular quality: The color of the room gives it a warm cozy feeling.

t0 give (sb) an idea/feeling etc. to make someone think about something in a particular way: She gave me the impression she wasn’t interested.

11 MONEY [T] to pay a particular amount of money for something: I’ll give you $75 for the oak desk.

12 BEND/STRETCH [] to bend, stretch, or break because of weight or pressure: The leather will give slightly when you wear the boots.

13 give or take a few minutes/a mile/a dollar etc. used in order to show that a number or amount is not exact: The show lasts about an hour, give or take five minutes.

14 give (sth) thought/attention/consideration etc. to spend some time thinking about something carefully

15 not give sth another/a second thought to not think or worry about something

16 BREAK/FALL [] also give way to break or fall down suddenly under pressure: The branch suddenly gave way beneath him.

SPOKEN PHRASES

17 sb would give anything/a lot/your right arm etc. for sth said in order to emphasize that you want something very much: I'd give my right arm for his job.

18 don't give me that! said when someone has just said something that you know is not true: "I'm too tired." "Oh, don't give me that. You just don't want to come."

[Origin: Old English giefan] ➔ GIVE AND TAKE, give sb a (big) hand at HAND.

give away phr v.
1 give sth ↔ away to give someone something without asking for money: I gave my old clothes away. | The store is giving away toasters to the first 50 customers.
2 give sb/sth ↔ away to do or say something that lets someone know a secret: They said they were English, but their New York accents gave them away (eshowed they were lying). ➔ GIVEAWAY.

give (sb) sth ↔ back to return something to its owner: Give him back his toy. | I gave her the book back. | I'll give the money back to you next week.

give in phr v.
1 to finally agree to do something that you did not want to do: Randy asked her out for months until she finally gave in. | The government refused to give in to their demands.
2 to accept that you have lost a fight, game, etc.: Even when they fell behind by three goals, the team refused to give in.

give in to sth phr v.
no longer try to stop yourself from doing something you want to do: \( \text{If you feel the need for a cigarette, don't give in to it.} \)

give off phr v.
1 to produce a smell, light, heat, a sound, etc.: The factory gives off a terrible smell.
2 to give away: The branch suddenly gave way beneath him.

give out phr v.
1 give sth ↔ out to give something to each person in a group: She stood on the corner, giving out flyers. | He gave out candy to the kids.

17 give anything/a lot/your right arm etc. for sth: said in order to emphasize that you want something very much: I'd give my right arm for his job.

18 don't give me that!: said when someone has just said something that you know is not true: "I'm too tired." "Oh, don't give me that. You just don't want to come."

[Origin: Old English giefan] ➔ GIVE AND TAKE, give sb a (big) hand at HAND.

give away phr v.
1 give sth ↔ away to give someone something without asking for money: I gave my old clothes away. | The store is giving away toasters to the first 50 customers.
2 give sb/sth ↔ away to do or say something that lets someone know a secret: They said they were English, but their New York accents gave them away (eshowed they were lying). ➔ GIVEAWAY.

give (sb) sth ↔ back to return something to its owner: Give him back his toy. | I gave her the book back. | I'll give the money back to you next week.

give in phr v.
1 to finally agree to do something that you did not want to do: Randy asked her out for months until she finally gave in. | The government refused to give in to their demands.
2 to accept that you have lost a fight, game, etc.: Even when they fell behind by three goals, the team refused to give in.

give in to sth phr v.
no longer try to stop yourself from doing something you want to do: \( \text{If you feel the need for a cigarette, don't give in to it.} \)

give off phr v.
1 to produce a smell, light, heat, a sound, etc.: The factory gives off a terrible smell.
2 to give away: The branch suddenly gave way beneath him.

give out phr v.
1 give sth ↔ out to give something to each person in a group: She stood on the corner, giving out flyers. | He gave out candy to the kids.

SPOKEN PHRASES

17 sb would give anything/a lot/your right arm etc. for sth said in order to emphasize that you want something very much: I'd give my right arm for his job.

18 don't give me that! said when someone has just said something that you know is not true: "I'm too tired." "Oh, don't give me that. You just don't want to come."

[Origin: Old English giefan] ➔ GIVE AND TAKE, give sb a (big) hand at HAND.

give away phr v.
1 give sth ↔ away to give someone something without asking for money: I gave my old clothes away. | The store is giving away toasters to the first 50 customers.
2 give sb/sth ↔ away to do or say something that lets someone know a secret: They said they were English, but their New York accents gave them away (eshowed they were lying). ➔ GIVEAWAY.

give (sb) sth ↔ back to return something to its owner: Give him back his toy. | I gave her the book back. | I'll give the money back to you next week.

give in phr v.
1 to finally agree to do something that you did not want to do: Randy asked her out for months until she finally gave in. | The government refused to give in to their demands.
2 to accept that you have lost a fight, game, etc.: Even when they fell behind by three goals, the team refused to give in.

give in to sth phr v.
no longer try to stop yourself from doing something you want to do: \( \text{If you feel the need for a cigarette, don't give in to it.} \)

give off phr v.
1 to produce a smell, light, heat, a sound, etc.: The factory gives off a terrible smell.
2 to give away: The branch suddenly gave way beneath him.

give out phr v.
1 give sth ↔ out to give something to each person in a group: She stood on the corner, giving out flyers. | He gave out candy to the kids.

SPOKEN PHRASES

17 sb would give anything/a lot/your right arm etc. for sth said in order to emphasize that you want something very much: I'd give my right arm for his job.

18 don't give me that! said when someone has just said something that you know is not true: "I'm too tired." "Oh, don't give me that. You just don't want to come."

[Origin: Old English giefan] ➔ GIVE AND TAKE, give sb a (big) hand at HAND.

give away phr v.
1 give sth ↔ away to give someone something without asking for money: I gave my old clothes away. | The store is giving away toasters to the first 50 customers.
2 give sb/sth ↔ away to do or say something that lets someone know a secret: They said they were English, but their New York accents gave them away (eshowed they were lying). ➔ GIVEAWAY.

give (sb) sth ↔ back to return something to its owner: Give him back his toy. | I gave her the book back. | I'll give the money back to you next week.

give in phr v.
1 to finally agree to do something that you did not want to do: Randy asked her out for months until she finally gave in. | The government refused to give in to their demands.
2 to accept that you have lost a fight, game, etc.: Even when they fell behind by three goals, the team refused to give in.

give in to sth phr v.
no longer try to stop yourself from doing something you want to do: \( \text{If you feel the need for a cigarette, don't give in to it.} \)

give off phr v.
1 to produce a smell, light, heat, a sound, etc.: The factory gives off a terrible smell.
2 to give away: The branch suddenly gave way beneath him.

give out phr v.
1 give sth ↔ out to give something to each person in a group: She stood on the corner, giving out flyers. | He gave out candy to the kids.
gladly /'glædlı/ adv. willingly or eagerly: “Would you drive Jenny to school today?” “Gladly.”

glass /gleıs/ n. [U] a hard transparent material that is used for making windows, bottles, etc.: a glass jar | a piece of broken glass | panes of glass | the cathedral’s stained-glass windows glass-ware /'glasswər/ n. [U] glass objects, especially ones used for drinking and eating glare /'glærz/ v. [I] 1 to look angrily at someone or something for a short time and then look quickly away: He glared at his watch.

glare at 2 to be glad to do sth to be willing to do something: He said he’d be glad to help me. [Origin: Old English gled “bright, shining, happy”] glare of 2 to be glad to do sth to be willing to do something: He said he’d be glad to help me.

glazed /'glæzd/ adj. surrounded by a glass structure: a glazed-in porch glassed-in /'glassdɪn/ adj. surrounded by a glass structure: a glazed-in porch

glassy /'glaɪsi/ adj. 1 smooth and shiny, like glass: the glassy surface of the lake | 2 glassy eyes do not show any expression glaze /'glæz/ v. [I] 1 to look angrily at someone or something for a short time and then look quickly away: He glared at his watch.

glass-ceiling /'glaɪsˌsiːliŋ/ n. [C] the fact that women or people from minority groups are not given jobs at the highest level in a company glazed-in /'glæzdɪn/ adj. surrounded by a glass structure: a glazed-in porch

glass-ware /'glasswər/ n. [U] glass objects, especially ones used for drinking and eating

glass-y /'glaɪsi/ adj. 1 smooth and shiny, like glass: the glassy surface of the lake | 2 glassy eyes do not show any expression

glaucoma /'glaukəʊmə, glu-/ n. [U] biology an eye disease in which someone gradually loses the ability to see because of an increase in the pressure inside his/her eye glaze /'glæz/ v. [I] also gaze over if your eyes glaze, they show no expression because you are bored or tired: Her eyes glazed over as if she were daydreaming.

glazing /'glæzɪŋ/ n. [C] 1 a liquid that is put on clay pots, bowls, etc. to give them a shiny surface | 2 a liquid put on food to give it an attractive shiny surface glaring /'glærɪŋ/ adj. 1 too bright to look at: a glaring white light glare /'glær/ v. [I] 1 to look angrily at someone or something for a long time: They glared at each other across the room | 2 to shine with a strong bright light that hurts your eyes: the glare of the sun | 2 a long angry look: a menacing glare glare of 2 n. [singular, U] a bright strong light that hurts your eyes: the glare of the sun | 2 [C] a long angry look: a menacing glare gleam /'ɡliːm/ v. [T] to find out information slowly and with difficulty: Several lessons can be gleaned from our experience so far.

glee /ɡlɪ/ n. [U] a feeling of excitement and satisfaction: The kids shouted with glee when they saw Santa. — gleefully adv.
glen /ɡlen/ n. [C] a deep narrow valley in Scotland or Ireland glib /ɡlɪb/ adj. (disapproving) 1 said in a way that makes something sound simple, easy, or true when it is not: The doctor made some glib comment about my headaches being “just stress.” 2 speaking easily but not sincerely: a glib salesman — glibly adv.

glide /ɡlaɪd/ v. [I] to move smoothly and quietly, as if without effort: We watched the sailboats glide across the lake. — glide n. [C] glider /ɡlaɪdər/ n. [C] a light airplane that flies without an engine glim·mer 1 /ˈɡlimər/ n. [C] 1 a glimmer of hope/doubt etc. a small amount of hope, doubt, etc. 2 a light that is not very bright glimmered v. [I] to shine with a light that is not very bright glimpse 1 /ˈɡlimpʃ/ v. [I] to get a quick, short view of someone or something: I caught a glimpse of the figures at the window. 2 got/caught a glimpse of glimpse1 n. [C] 1 a short, unexpected view of something: We finally got a glimpse of the peak.

glimpsed af igurea tthe window.

glimpsed n. [C] informal a small amount of a soft substance or thick liquid, that has a round shape: a glob of ketchup glitter /ˈɡlɪtər/ n. (informal) a small amount of something that is shiny or reflective: a glob of ketchup glo·rit·fy /ˈɡloʊrɪfɪ/ v. (I) to show in an annoying way that you are proud of your success, or happy about someone else’s failure: The fans are still gloating over the team’s victory.

globe /ˈɡloʊb/ n. [C] a round object that has a map of the Earth painted on it 2 the globe the world: Carson traveled all over the globe.

glob·al·i·za·tion /ˌɡlobələˈzaʃən/ n. [U] 1 economics the process of operating a business in a lot of countries all over the world, or the result of this: the globalization of world markets 2 the idea that all the places in the world are becoming very similar, as large businesses become more powerful: protests against globalization global ‘warming n. [U] earth sciences an increase in the world temperatures, caused by an increase of carbon dioxide around the Earth — environment

glob·e /ˈɡloʊb/ n. [C] 1 a round object that has a map of the Earth painted on it 2 the globe the world: Carson traveled all over the globe.

glob·u·lar /ˈɡloʊbjuər/ adj. shaped like a ball [origin: 1500–1600 French, Latin globus]

glo·ve /ˈɡlov/ n. [C] 1 a small drop of liquid or a melted substance gloom /ɡluːm/ n. [singular, U] 1 (literary) darkness that you can hardly see through: He was sitting alone in the gloom. 2 a feeling of sadness, or having no hope — doom and gloom of doom³ gloom·y /ˈɡluːmɪ/ adj. (comparative gloomier, superlative gloomiest) 1 making you feel that a situation will not improve: The report paints a gloomy picture of the economy. 2 sad because you do not have a lot of hope; gloomy thoughts glyc·er·in /ˈɡlɪsərɪn/ n. [U] 1 a colorless, sweet-smelling liquid: I used glycerin to make my lotion.

glorious

436

glorify violence 2 to praise someone or something, especially God — glorification /ˌɡlərəˌfeɪʃən/ [U]; the glorification of war

glor-i-ous /ˈɡlɔrɪəs/ adj. 1 having or deserving praise and honor; a glorious achievement | the country’s glorious past 2 very beautiful or impressive; glorious views of the coast | a glorious fall morning — gloriously adv.

glo-ry /ˈɡlɔrɪ/ n. (plural glories) 1 [U] the importance, praise, and honor that people give someone they admire: At 19 he won glory as an Olympic champion. 2 [C] an achievement that is greatly admired or respected, or that makes you feel proud: Becoming a Supreme Court judge was the crowning glory (=the final, most successful part) of her legal career. | the glories of nature | the team’s past glories 3 [U] a beautiful and impressive appearance: They spent $10 million on restoring the Grand Theater to its former glory.

glory in 2sth prn v. to enjoy or be proud of the praise, attention, and success that you get:

— gloriﬁed /ˈɡlərɪfɪd/ adj. 1 shiny attractive surface: a hair gel that adds gloss to dull hair 2 [C] a note in a piece of writing that explains a difficult word, phrase, or idea gloss /ɡlɒs/ n. 1 [singular, U] a shiny attractive surface: a hair gel that adds gloss to dull hair 2 [C] a note in a piece of writing that explains a difficult word, phrase, or idea gloss v. [T] 1 to provide an explanation of a difficult word, phrase, or idea gloss over 2sth prn v. to avoid talking about something unpleasant, or to say as little as possible about it: She glossed over the details of her divorce.

— glossaries /ˈɡlɒsəri/ n. (plural glossaries) [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS a list of technical or unusual words with an explanation of their meaning, printed at the end of a book glossy /ˈɡlɒsɪ/ adj. 1 shiny and smooth: glossy healthy hair 2 a glossy magazine, book, or photograph is printed on shiny good quality paper glot-tis /ˈɡloʊtəs/ n. [C] BIOLOGY the space between your vocal cords. When you open and close this space, the movement produces the sound of your voice. — glottal adj glove /ɡлов/ n. [C] a piece of clothing worn on your hand, with separate parts to cover the thumb and each finger — mitten /ˈmɪtn/ a pair of gloves [Origin: Old English greof] — see picture at clothes glove compartment also ‘glove box’ n. [C] a small cupboard in a car in front of the passenger seat, where small things such as maps can be kept glow /ɡləʊ/ v. [I] 1 to shine with a steady light: The red tip of his cigarette was glowing in the dark — gloaming /ˈɡləumɪŋ/ adj. glowing report/review/description etc. a report, etc. that is full of praise for someone or something: He spoke in glowing terms about the concert. — gloamingly adv glow-worm /ˈɡləʊwɜːrn/ n. [C] an insect that gives out light from its body glue /ɡlu/ n. [C] a sticky substance used for joining things together: Stick the ribbon on with glue.

glue v. [T] 1 to join things together using glue: The two pieces of leather were glued together.

— th eaurus /ˈθiːərəs/ fasten, attach, secure, join, tape, staple, clip, tie, button (up), zip (up) → FASTEN

2 be glued to sth to look at something with all your attention: He was glued to the TV for the World Series.

glum /ɡlʌm/ adj. unhappy and quiet: Anna looked glum.

— th eaurus sad, unhappy, miserable, sorrowful, depressed, down, low, blue, downhearted, melancholy, morose, gloomy → SAD glut /ɡlut/ n. [C] a supply of something that is more than you need: a glut of new cars on the market glut v. 1 to be glutted with sth to be supplied with too much of something: The world market was glutted with oil.

glutton /ˈɡlutən/ n. [C] 1 someone who eats too much food 2 a glutton for punishment someone who seems to enjoy working very hard or doing something unpleasant gluttony /ˈɡlutənɪ/ n. [U] (fornal) the bad habit of eating and drinking too much glyco-er-in /ˈɡlɪskərən/ n. [U] CHEMISTRY a sticky colorless liquid used in making soap, medicine, and explosives

glyph /ˈɡlɪf/ n. [C] HISTORY a sign or picture, especially one cut into stone, used in a writing system GMO  n. [C] biology genetically modified organism a plant or other living thing whose genes have been changed by scientists in order to make it stronger, less likely to get diseases, etc.

GMAT  /ˈdʒiːmæt/  n.  [C] (trademark) Graduate Management Admission Test an examination taken by students who have completed a first degree and want to go to graduate school to study business

GNP  n.  [C] economics Gross National Product the total value of the goods and services produced in a country, including income received from abroad gnome  n.  [C] a creature in children’s stories like a little old man, who lives under the ground gnaw  /nɔː/  v.  [T] to keep biting something: a dog gnawing on a bone gnaw at  abbr. v.  to make you feel worried or anxious over a long time: Giulia had been gnawing at him all day.

gnawing  /ˈnɔːɪŋ/  adj. [only before noun] worrying or painful for a long time: gnawing doubts gnawing of teeth (harmful) used in order to say that people are very angry about something and are complaining loudly gnawing on  1 LEAVE much too fast.

gnawing on  2 VISIT (past participle gone or been)  [I] to visit a place and then leave it: Lucia has gone to Paris (=she is in Paris now), Lucia has been to Paris (=she has visited Paris in the past).

gone and been  Gone is the usual past participle of go: She has gone to New York (=she has traveled to New York and is there now).

Been is the past participle of the sense of go that means “visit”: I have been to New York many times (=I have visited New York many times in the past, but I am not there now).

go  /ɡoʊ/  v.  (past tense went  /wɛnt/, past participle gone  /ɡəʊn/, third person singular goes  /ɡəʊz/)  1 LEAVE [I] to leave a place ➔ COME: I wanted to go, but Craig wanted to stay. ➔ Let’s go home. ➔ It’s late – we should get going.

2 VISIT (past participle gone or been)  [I] to visit a place and then leave it: Lucia has gone to Paris (=she is in Paris now), Lucia has been to Paris (=she has visited Paris in the past).

3 TRAVEL/MOVE [I] to travel or move in a particular way or for a particular distance: The car was going much too fast. ➔ We can go by bus/car/train etc.

4 be going to do sth used in order to say that something will happen, or is supposed to happen in the future: It looks like it’s going to rain.

5 DO A PARTICULAR ACTIVITY [I] to leave the place where you are in order to do something: Let’s go for a walk. ➔ I’ll go and pick up the car for you.

6 go shopping/swimming/clubbing etc. to leave somewhere in order to shop, swim, etc.

7 REACH [I] to reach as far as a particular place, or lead to a particular place: The roots of the tree go very deep. ➔ The belt won’t go around my waist.

8 BE SENT [I] to be sent or passed on: The email went to everyone in the company.

9 USUAL POSITION [I] if something goes somewhere, that is its usual position: “Where do the plates go?” ➔ “On the shelf.”

10 FIT [I] to be the right size, shape, or amount for a particular space: I don’t think all these bags will go in the trunk.

11 CHANGE [linking verb] to change in some way, especially by becoming worse than before: The company went bankrupt last year. ➔ Her hair is starting to go gray.

12 BE IN A STATE [linking verb] to be or remain in a particular state: Many families are forced to go hungry. ➔ His letter went unanswered (=nobody replied to his letter).

13 ATTEND [I] a) to regularly attend school, a church, etc.: Is Brett going to college next year? b) to be at a concert, party, meeting, etc.: Are you going to Gloria’s party?

14 HAPPEN [I] to happen or develop in a particular way: How did your French test go? ➔ The party went well.

15 START [I] to start doing something: It’s time to get going on the cleaning. ➔ The builders are ready to go, but their equipment isn’t here yet.

16 GET RID OF SB/STH [I] to be bad enough to be made to leave or be thrown away: They knew that Parker had to go. ➔ “Do you want all these magazines?” ➔ “No, they can go.”

17 MONEY [I] if money goes, it is spent: The money goes to local charities.

18 TIME [I] if time goes, it passes: I just don’t know where the time goes!

19 BE SOLD [I] to be sold: The painting should go for $2,000.

20 SOUND/SONG [I] to make a particular sound, or have particular words or music: Do you remember how that song goes? ➔ The balloon suddenly went bang.

21 MATCH [I] to look or taste good together: Those colors don’t go together very well. ➔ Does red wine go with chicken?

22 GET WORSE [I] to become weak and not work correctly: He’s old, and his hearing is going.

23 to go a) remaining before something happens: Only two weeks to go before we leave for South America! b) food that is to go is bought from a restaurant and taken away to be eaten: I’ll have an order of fries to go, please.

24 How’s it going?/How are things going? said in order to ask someone how she is: “Hey, Jimmy, how’s it going?” ➔ “All right, I guess.”
25 go like this/that used in order to tell someone about what movement someone or something made: He went like this and knocked the lamp over.

26 go (to the bathroom) to pass liquid or solid waste from your body: Mommy, I have to go!

[Origin:] Old English gan

go about sb/sth phr. v. to do something or begin doing something: I don’t know how to go about this. I didn’t have the slightest idea how to go about making a movie.

go after sb/sth phr. v.

1 to follow or chase someone: Joe went after her to make sure she was okay.
2 to try to get something: I can’t decide whether to go after the job or not.

go against sb/sth phr. v.

1 if something goes against your beliefs, principles, etc., it is the opposite of what you believe in: This goes against everything I’ve been brought up to believe in.
2 to do the opposite of what someone wants or advises you to do: She was scared to go against her father’s wishes.

go ahead phr. v.

1 (spoken) said in order to give someone permission to do something, or to let him/her speak before you: You can go ahead of me — I’m waiting for someone.
2 to start or continue to do something: They’ve decided to go ahead with plans to build 50 new houses on the site.
3 also go on ahead to go somewhere before the other people in your group: You can go ahead and we’ll catch up with you later.

go along phr. v.

1 to continue doing something: I went along making the same mistakes for weeks.
2 if you do something as you go along, you do it without preparing or planning it: I just made up the story as I went along.

go along with sb/sth phr. v.

to agree with or support someone or something: You’ll never get Mom to go along with it.

go around phr. v.

1 go around doing sb to behave or dress in a particular way: You can’t go around lying to people all the time!
2 if something such as an illness or news is going around, it is being passed from one person to another: There’s a rumor going around that Hugh is having an affair.
3 enough/plenty to go around enough for each person: Is there enough ice cream to go around?

go at sb/sth phr. v.

to attack someone or start a fight: The dogs went at each other as soon as we let go.

go away phr. v.

1 to leave a place or a person: Go away! Leave me alone!
2 to spend some time away from home, especially on vacation: We’re going away for two weeks in June.
3 if a problem or bad feeling goes away, it disappears: My headache hasn’t gone away.

go back phr. v.

1 to return to a place that you have just come from: I think we ought to go back now.
2 to continue something that you were doing before: I’ll go back to studying after the news is over.
3 to have been made, built, or started at some time in the past: Their family history goes back to the 16th century.

go on phr. v.

1 if you go on about something, you do not do what you promised to do: We’re not going back on our word.
2 if time goes by, it passes: Two months went by before Winton called.
3 go on to use information, rules, etc. to help you decide what to do: Don’t go by that map. It’s really old.

go down phr. v.

1 go down as a price, amount, size, quality, etc.: The temperature went down to freezing last night. The swelling in her knee didn’t go down for days.
2 go down (=be remembered always) to spend some time away from home, especially on vacation: We’re going away for two weeks in June.
3 go down as a reaction from someone: Robbie’s jokes didn’t go down very well with her parents.
4 be remembered to be remembered or recorded in a particular way: This day will go down in history (=be remembered always).

go for sb/sth phr. v.

1 to try to get or win something: a swimmer going for an Olympic record
2 go for it (spoken) said when you want to encourage someone to do something: Well, if you’re sure you want to, go for it!
3 I could/would go for sth (spoken) to want something: I could really go for a taco right now.
4 (spoken) to usually like a particular type of person or thing: Kathy tends to go for older men.

go into sb/sth phr. v.

1 to start working in a particular profession or type of business: Vivian wants to go into politics.
2 to be used in order to make something work or happen: A lot of money has gone into building this house.
3 to describe or explain something thoroughly: I don’t want to go into details right now, but it was horrible.
4 MATH if one number goes into another, it can divide it: 12 goes into 60 five times.

go off "phr. v."
1 to explode: Fireworks went off all over the city that night.
2 to make a loud noise: My alarm clock didn’t go off.
3 to leave a place, especially in order to do something: He went off to get something to eat.
4 if a machine or light goes off, it stops working or stops shining: Suddenly, all the lights went off.

go on "phr. v."
1 to continue without stopping or changing: We can’t go on fighting like this! [This guy went on and on (=talked for a long time) about himself all night.] We had to go on with our lives.
2 to happen: What’s going on down there? Did something break?
3 to do something new when you have finished something else: Go on to question number 5 when you’re done.
4 to continue talking or explaining something, after you have stopped for a while: After a minute, she stopped crying and went on with the story.
5 (spoiler) said in order to encourage someone to do something: Go on, have another drink.
6 to base an opinion or judgment on something: The police don’t have much to go on.
7 be going on six o’clock/25 etc., to be nearly a time, age, number, etc.: Aunt Tess must be going on 70 by now.
8 if time goes on, it passes: As time went on, he became more friendly.
9 if a machine or light goes on, it starts working or starts shining go out "phr. v."

1 to leave your house, especially in order to do something you enjoy: Are you going out tonight?
2 to have a romantic relationship with someone: Leah used to go out with Dan’s brother.
3 if the tide goes out, the water moves away from the land (off) come in 4 if a light or fire goes out, it stops shining or burning go over "phr. v."

1 go over sth to look at or think about something carefully: I’ve gone over the budget and I don’t think we can afford a new computer.
2 go over well if something goes over well, people like it: His comments didn’t go over very well with customers.
3 go through "phr. v."
1 to go through sth to have a very upsetting or difficult experience: She’s just been through a divorce.
2 go through sth to use all of something: Jeremy goes through at least a quart of milk every day!
3 if a deal, agreement, or law goes through, it is officially accepted: My car loan has finally gone through.
4 go through sth to look at, read, or explain something carefully: She had to go through all her uncle’s papers after he died.

go through with "phr. v."
1 to do something you had planned or promised to do: I’m not sure if I can go through with the wedding.
2 to go to sth toiliketo go to great lengths to use a lot of effort to get something or do something: Suki went to a lot of trouble to get us the tickets.
3 to begin to experience or do something, or begin to be in a particular state: I lay down and went to sleep.

go under "phr. v."
1 to increase in number or amount: Our rent has gone up by almost 20%.
2 to be built: All of those houses have gone up in the past six months.
3 to explode or be destroyed by fire: The factory went up in flames before the firemen got there.

go with "stkh. phr. v."
1 to be included as part of something: The car goes with the job.
2 to accept someone’s idea or plan: Let’s go with John’s original proposal.
3 to go without having something you need or want: We can go without a car in the city.
4 it goes without saying used in order to say that something should be clear without needing to be said: It goes without saying that you should stay with us when you’re in Boston.

go 2 n. (plural goes) "C" 1 an attempt to do something: Don’t worry about getting it right — just give it a go. 2 on the go (informal) very busy or working all the time: Susan’s three children really keep her on the go.

goa d (goad) "v. [T]"
1 to make someone do something by annoying him/her until she does it: Kathy goaded him into confessing that he had lied.

go-a-head n. give sb the go-ahead (informal) to officially give someone permission to start doing something: The bank finally gave us the go-ahead to start building.

goal (goal) "n. [C]" 1 something that you hope to achieve in the future: My ultimate long-term goal is to become a doctor. He will do anything it takes to achieve/reach his goal.

---

Thesaurus

aim — something that you want to achieve when you do something: His aim was to grow enough food to feed his family.
goalie  n. [C] (informal) a GOALKEEPER goals  n. [plural] 1 the area into which a player tries to put the ball in order to win a point [Origin: Old English goal] goalie  n. [C] (informal) someone whose job is to get and carry things for other people go-between  n. [C] someone who takes messages from one person or group to another because the two sides do not want to meet or cannot meet: The lawyer will act as a go-between for the couple.

goal-post  n. [C] one of the two upright bars, with another bar along the top or across the middle, that form the goal in games like SOCCER and football goalkeeper  n. [C] the player on a sports team who tries to stop the ball from going into the goal goat  n. [C] 1 a common farm animal with horns and long hair under its chin ➔ see picture at FARM  2 get sb’s goat (informal) to make someone very angry or annoyed [Origin: Old English gut]

g goal in over → to go into a particular area to win a point, or the point won by doing this: He hasn’t scored a goal in over four games.

goals  n. [plural] the things that a person or organization wants to achieve, which forms the basis of all their activities: The company says its mission is to organize the world’s information and make it available to everyone.

God  n. 1 God the spirit or BEING whom Christians, Jews, Muslims, etc. pray to, and who they believe made the universe: She believes in God.  2 [C] a male spirit or BEING who is believed by some religions to control the world or part of it, or who represents a particular quality ➔ GODDESS: Mars, the god of war god-child  n. (plural godchildren) [C] a child that a GODPARENT promises to help, usually by teaching him/her Christian values god-dess  n. [C] a female spirit or BEING who is believed by some religions to control the world or part of it, or who represents a particular quality ➔ GOD: Athena, the Greek goddess of wisdom god-father  n. [C] a male GODPARENT 2 (slang) the leader of a criminal organization god-for-saken  adj. (old-fashioned) having according to the moral rules of a religion: god-fearing men and women

god-like  adj. having a quality like God or a god

god-mother  n. [C] a female GODPARENT god-off-spring  n. [C] someone who promises to help a child, usually by teaching him/her Christian values god-send  n. [singular] something good that happens to you at a time when you really need it: The drug has proved a godsend to people with the disease.

god-parent  n. [C] someone whose job is to get and carry things for other people goggle-eyed  adj. (informal) with your eyes wide open and looking at something that surprises you

God-fearing adj. (old-fashioned) behaving according to the moral rules of a religion: god-fearing men and women

Godless  adj. not showing any respect for or belief in God

God-like  adj. having a quality like God or a god

Godless  adj. not showing any respect for or belief in God

God-like  adj. having a quality like God or a god

God-loving  adj. (informal) someone who loves God

God-fearing adj. (old-fashioned) behaving according to the moral rules of a religion: god-fearing men and women

Godless  adj. not showing any respect for or belief in God

God-like  adj. having a quality like God or a god

God-loving  adj. (informal) someone who loves God goggles  n. [plural] (informal) something that covers your eyes

Godsend  n. [singular] something good that happens to you at a time when you really need it: The drug has proved a godsend to people with the disease.

God-ber  n. [C] (informal) someone whose job is to get and carry things for other people

God-like  adj. having a quality like God or a god

Godless  adj. not showing any respect for or belief in God

God-loving  adj. (informal) someone who loves God

God-grown  adj. (informal) someone who grew up with you

God-sent  adj. (informal) someone who was sent to you

God-fearing adj. (old-fashioned) behaving according to the moral rules of a religion: god-fearing men and women

Godless  adj. not showing any respect for or belief in God

God-like  adj. having a quality like God or a god

God-loving  adj. (informal) someone who loves God

God-grown  adj. (informal) someone who grew up with you

God-sent  adj. (informal) someone who was sent to you

God-fearing adj. (old-fashioned) behaving according to the moral rules of a religion: god-fearing men and women

Godless  adj. not showing any respect for or belief in God

God-like  adj. having a quality like God or a god

God-loving  adj. (informal) someone who loves God

God-grown  adj. (informal) someone who grew up with you

God-sent  adj. (informal) someone who was sent to you

God-fearing adj. (old-fashioned) behaving according to the moral rules of a religion: god-fearing men and women

Godless  adj. not showing any respect for or belief in God

God-like  adj. having a quality like God or a god

God-loving  adj. (informal) someone who loves God

God-grown  adj. (informal) someone who grew up with you

God-sent  adj. (informal) someone who was sent to you

God-fearing adj. (old-fashioned) behaving according to the moral rules of a religion: god-fearing men and women

Godless  adj. not showing any respect for or belief in God

God-like  adj. having a quality like God or a god

God-loving  adj. (informal) someone who loves God

God-grown  adj. (informal) someone who grew up with you

God-sent  adj. (informal) someone who was sent to you

God-fearing adj. (old-fashioned) behaving according to the moral rules of a religion: god-fearing men and women

Godless  adj. not showing any respect for or belief in God

God-like  adj. having a quality like God or a god

God-loving  adj. (informal) someone who loves God

God-grown  adj. (informal) someone who grew up with you

God-sent  adj. (informal) someone who was sent to you

God-fearing adj. (old-fashioned) behaving according to the moral rules of a religion: god-fearing men and women

Godless  adj. not showing any respect for or belief in God

God-like  adj. having a quality like God or a god

God-loving  adj. (informal) someone who loves God

God-grown  adj. (informal) someone who grew up with you

God-sent  adj. (informal) someone who was sent to you

God-favor  n. [C] a good or well-timed event: He had a god-favor when he met her.
good /gʊd/ adj. 1 very nice or pleasant: We had a good time. 2 (informal) useful for your health or character: It’s good for you. 3 (informal) a good chance to get something valuable, or to be very successful: I have a good chance of winning.

great (especially spoken): We had a great time at camp. excellent: It was an excellent concert. wonderful: a wonderful place for a picnic. fantastic: That’s fantastic news!

USAGE
Use good to describe the quality of something or someone: They did a good job. He’s a good actor.
Use well to talk about the way someone does something: He plays tennis very well.

THERESAUS

good

1. going /ˈgouʊɪŋ/ n. [U] 1 the act of leaving a place: His going will be a great loss to the company. 2 rough/hard/good etc. going (informal) the speed at which you do something: I’m getting the work done, but it’s slow going.

2. going /ˈɡoʊɪŋ/ n. [U] 1 the act of leaving a place: His going will be a great loss to the company. 2 rough/hard/good etc. going (informal) the speed at which you do something: I’m getting the work done, but it’s slow going.

3. going /ˈɡoʊɪŋ/ n. [U] 1 the act of leaving a place: His going will be a great loss to the company. 2 rough/hard/good etc. going (informal) the speed at which you do something: I’m getting the work done, but it’s slow going.

4. going /ˈɡoʊɪŋ/ n. [U] 1 the act of leaving a place: His going will be a great loss to the company. 2 rough/hard/good etc. going (informal) the speed at which you do something: I’m getting the work done, but it’s slow going.

5. going /ˈɡoʊɪŋ/ n. [U] 1 the act of leaving a place: His going will be a great loss to the company. 2 rough/hard/good etc. going (informal) the speed at which you do something: I’m getting the work done, but it’s slow going.

6. going /ˈɡoʊɪŋ/ n. [U] 1 the act of leaving a place: His going will be a great loss to the company. 2 rough/hard/good etc. going (informal) the speed at which you do something: I’m getting the work done, but it’s slow going.
good

WELL-BEHAVED behaving well, used especially about children: Sit here and be a good girl.
KIND kind and helpful: It's good of you to come. Dad was always good about helping me with my homework.
as good as almost: The work is as good as finished.
a good deal (of sth) a lot: I spent a good deal of time preparing for this test.
RIGHT morally right: He had always tried to lead a good life.
large|long large in amount, size, etc.: a good-sized car. They've been gone a good while (=a long time).
COMPLETE [only before noun] complete or thorough: The car needs a good wash. Take a good look at this picture.
too good to be true/too good to last so good that you cannot believe it is real, or you expect something bad to happen: Their relationship had always seemed too good to be true.

SPOKEN PHRASES

good|oh good said when you are pleased that something has happened or has been done: "I've finished." "Good, put your papers in the box."

good luck used in order to say that you hope that someone is successful good idea/question/point etc. used when you approve of something that someone has done: "I've decided to accept the job." "Good for you!"

It's a good thing said when you are glad that something has happened: It's a good thing you remembered to bring napkins.

Good for sb! used in order to say that you approve of something that someone has done: "I've decided to accept the job." "Good for you!"

Good God/grief/heaven etc. said when you are surprised or annoyed: "God!" in this way is offensive to some people: Good grief! Is it that late?

[Origin: Old English god] doing silly things or not doing very much: We spent the afternoon just goofing around at the mall.

goose n. [C (informal)] 2 a silly mistake goosey /ˈgauʃ/ adj (informal) stupid or silly; a goofy smile gorum /ˈgoʊn/ n. [C (informal)] 1 a violent criminal who is paid to frighten or attack people

2 a silly or stupid person goom /ˈgup/ n. [U (informal)] a thick slightly sticky substance: What’s that goop in your hair?

goose /ˈgus/ n. (plural goose /ˈgus/):

1 [C] a common water bird that is similar to a duck but larger, and makes loud noises

2 [U] the meat from this bird [Origin: Old English god] goose-bumps /ˈgusbʌmpz/ also ’goose/pim·ples n. [plural] a condition in which your skin is raised up in small points because you are cold, afraid, or excited:

I get goosebumps every time I think about playing in the championship.

GOP n. the GOP Grand Old Party; another name for the Republican party in U.S. politics go-pher /ˈgoʊfər/ n. [C] a North and Central American animal like a SQUIRREL with a short tail, that lives in holes in the ground gore1 /ˈɡɔr/ v. [T] if an animal gores someone, it wounds him/her with its horns gore2. n. [U] blood that has flowed from a wound and become thicker and darker ➔ GORY: There’s too much blood and gore (=violence and blood) in the movie.

gorge1 /ˈɡɔrdʒ/ n. [C] EARTH SCIENCES a deep narrow valley with steep sides ➔ see picture on page A11

gorge2 v. gorge yourself on with sth to eat until you are too full: We gorged ourselves on popcorn and hot dogs at the game.

gorous /ˈɡɔrdʒəs/ adj very beautiful or pleasant: What a gorgeous sunny day! Liz looked gorgeous.

gorough /ˈɡɔrʊ/ interjection said when you are surprised: Gosh! I never knew that!

gosling /ˈɡɔzlɪŋ/ n. [C] a baby GOOSE gospel /ˈɡɔspəl/ n. [C] also Gospel:

1 one of the four stories of Christ’s life in the Bible

2 [U] also gospel truth something that is completely true: Don’t take what Ellen says as gospel (=believe it to be completely true).

3 [U] also ’gospel music ENG. LANG. ARTS a type of Christian music, performed especially in African-American churches [Origin: Old English godspel, from god “good” + spell “story, news”] gossip /ˈgəʊsp/ n. [U] conversation or information about other people’s behavior and private lives, often including unkind or untrue remarks: People love hearing gossip about movie stars.

2 [C] someone who likes talking about other people’s private lives [Origin: Old English godspel “godparent, close friend,” from god “god” + sibb “relative”]

2 v. [I] to talk or write gossip about someone or something: What are you gossiping about?

THESAURUS talk, have a conversation, chat (with/to sb)/have a chat, converse, visit with sb, discuss ➔ TALK got /ɡɔt/ v. 1 the past tense of GET 2 a past participle of GET gotch-cha /ˈɡɔtʃa/ interjection (spoken) ➔ a short form of “I’ve got you,” said when you catch someone, or you have gained an advantage over him/her ➔ 2 a word meaning “I understand” or “all right”: “We have to be at the airport for five.” “Gotcha.”

Goth-ic /ˈɡəʊθɪk/ adj. ➔ 1 ENG. LANG. ARTS a style of building that was common in Western Europe between the 12th and 16th centuries. Its main features were pointed ARCHES, tall PILLARS, and tall thin pointed WINDOWS: Gothic architecture ➔ 2 ENG. LANG. ARTS a Gothic story, movie, etc. is about frightening things that happen in mysterious old buildings and lonely places, especially stories that were popular in the early 19th century ➔ 3 Gothic writing, printing, etc. has thick decorated letters got-cha /ˈɡɔtʃa/ v. a way of writing “got to” used to show how people sound when they speak: I gotta go now: You’ve gotta admit he plays really well.

got-ten /ˈɡɔt/ n. the usual past participle of GET gouache /ɡʊəʃ/ ➔ 1 ENG. LANG. ARTS a method of painting using colors that are mixed with water and made thicker with a type of GUM ➔ 2 ENG. LANG. ARTS a picture produced using this method gouge /ɡəʊdʒ/ v. [T] to make a deep hole or cut in the surface of something ➔ to charge someone too much money for something: Hotels are ready to gouge Olympic visitors by raising their prices. ➔ 2 n. [C] gough sh + out sb v. to make a hole in something such as rock by removing material that is on its surface gourd /ɡɔrd/ n. [C] a large fruit with a hard shell, that is sometimes used as a container gour-mand /ˈɡʊrmænd/ n. [C] (disapproving) someone who enjoys good food and drink very much, but who sometimes eats too much ➔ GOUR-gourmet

/gö'rmət, 'gürmət/ adj. [only before noun] relating to very good food and drink; a gourmet restaurant gourmet2 n. [C] someone who knows a lot about good food and drink, and who enjoys them gout /gou/ n. [U] a disease that makes your toes, knees, and fingers hurt and swell [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French goute “drop,” because it used to be believed that it was caused by drops of disease in the blood] govern /gəvərn/ v. 1 [U] to officially control a country, state, etc. and make all the decisions about things such as taxes and laws: The same party governed for thirty years. 2 [T] (formal) to control the way a system or situation works; new rules governing immigration [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French gouverner, from Latin gubernare, from Greek kybernan “to control the direction of something”] governess /gəvərˈnəs/ n. [U] POLITICS a woman who knows a lot about politics or the act or process of governing government2 /gəvərnˌmənt/ n. [C] a woman who lives with a family and teaches the children at home, especially in past times government3 /gəvərnˌmənt/ n. 1 [C] also Government the group of people who govern a country, state, etc.: The government will send aid to the disaster area. 1] the British/ German etc. government governor /gəvərnər/ n. —Governor of —government governmental /gəvərnˈməntl/ adj.

governor /gəvərnər, -ər/ n. [C] the person in charge of governing a U.S. state: the Governor of California —governorship /gəvərnˈmərchip/ n. [U] gown /goʊn/ n. [C] 1 a long dress worn by a woman on formal occasions: a silk evening gown 2 a long loose piece of clothing worn for a particular activity or ceremony: a graduation gown gPA n. [C] grade point average a number representing the average of all a student’s grades, in which an A is 4 points, a B is 3 points, a C is 2 points, a D is 1 point, and an F is 0 points: Kim has a really high/low GPA. 1] He graduated with a 3.5 GPA.

gPS n. (plural GPSes) 1 [U] Global Positioning System a system that uses radio signals from satellites to show your exact position on the Earth 2 [C] a special piece of equipment that uses GPS to show your exact position, which people use in their cars to help them find places they are going to grab /græb/ v. (grabbed grabbing) [T] 1 to take hold of someone or something with a sudden or violent movement: He grabbed my bag and ran off. 2 [informal] to eat or sleep for a very short time: I’ll just grab a sandwich for lunch. 3 [informal] to quickly take an opportunity to do something: Try to get there early and grab a seat. 1] You should grab the chance to travel while you’re young. 4 how does sth grab you? (spoken) used in order to ask if someone would be interested in doing a particular thing: How does the idea of a trip to Hawaii grab you?

grab at sth phr. v. to quickly and suddenly put out your hand in order to take hold of something: I grabbed at the glass just before it fell.

grab2 n. 1 make a grab for/at sth to suddenly try to take hold of something: Parker made a grab for the knife. 2 be up for grabs (sth) if a job, prize, opportunity, etc. is up for grabs, it is available for anyone who wants to try to get it grace /græs/ n. [U] 1 a smooth way of moving that appears natural, relaxed, and attractive: She moved with the grace of a dancer. 2 a) polite and pleasant behavior: At least he had the grace to admit he was wrong. b) graces plural the skills needed to behave in a way that is considered polite and socially acceptable: Her parents tried to teach her all the finer social graces. 3 also grace period more time that is added to the period you are allowed for finishing a piece of work, paying a debt, etc.: The bill was supposed to be paid by Friday, but they’re giving me a week’s grace. 4 (formal) God’s kindness that is shown to people: Through the grace of God my dream became reality. 5 a short prayer before a meal: Who would like to say grace? [Origin: 1100—1200 Old French, Latin gratia “pleasing quality, kindness,” from gratis] grace v. [T] 1 grace sb/sth with your presence (humorous) said when someone arrives late, or when someone who rarely comes to meetings or events arrives: I’m so glad you’ve decided to grace grad /grad/ n [C] (spoken) a GRADUATE

gra-da-tion /ˈɡreɪdəʃən/ n [C] (formal) a small change in a set of changes: gradations of color from dark red to pink grade /greɪd/ n 1 [C] one of the 12 years you are in school in the U.S., or the students in a particular year: My brother is in the eleventh grade. 2 [C] a number or letter that shows how well you have done at school, college, etc.: She works hard and gets good grades. 3 [C,U] a particular standard or level of quality that a product, material, etc. has: Grade A beef 4 make the grade to succeed or reach the necessary standard: I wanted to be an actress, but I was afraid I wouldn’t make the grade. 5 [C] a slope or a degree of slope, especially in a road or railroad tracks 6 [C,U] the level of importance you have or the level of pay you receive in a company or organization: The pay depends on your grade. [Origin: 1500–1600 French, Latin gradus “step, degree”]

grade /greɪd/ v [T] 1 to separate things, or arrange them in order according to their quality or rank: The eggs are graded according to size. 2 to give a grade to an examination paper or to a piece of school work: Grading essays takes time. —grading n. [U]: I have a lot of grading to do.

grad-ed /greɪdɪd/ adj 1 designed to suit different levels of learning: The reading materials are graded. 2 made level or less steep: a graded road

grade point average n [C] a GPA

-grader /ˈɡreɪdər/ n [C] a child in a particular grade: a cute little first-grader

grade school n [C] an ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

gra-di-ent /ˈɡreɪdiənt/ n [C] a slope, or a measurement of how steep a slope is, especially in a road or railroad

grad school n [C] (informal) a GRADUATE SCHOOL

gra·di·ent /ˈɡreɪdiənt/ adj 1 moving in a smooth and attractive way, or having an attractive shape: a graceful dancer | the car’s graceful curves 2 polite and exactly right for a situation: They urged him to take the graceful way out and resign. —gracefully adv

gra-cious /ˈɡreɪʃəs/ adj 1 behaving in a polite, kind, and generous way: a gracious host 2 having the type of expensive style, comfort, and beauty that only rich people can afford: gracious living 3 (goodness) gracious! (spoken, old-fashioned) used in order to express surprise or to emphasize “yes” or “no” —graciously adv: Valerie graciously agreed to let the group meet at her house.

graft /ɡrɑːft/ n 1 [U] writing and pictures that are drawn illegally on the walls of buildings, trains, etc. [Origin: 1800–1900 Italian grafficare “to make marks in a surface”]

graft /ɡrɑːft/ v 1 [U] the practice of dishonestly using your position to get money or advantages: politicians accused of graft 2 [C] a piece of healthy skin or bone taken from someone’s body and put on a damaged part of his/her body: skin grafts 3 [C] a piece cut from one plant and joined to another plant so that it grows where it is joined grad-u-al /ˈɡrædʒuəl/ adj 1 happening, developing, or changing slowly over a long time (adv) gradually: gradual changes

grad-u-al·ly /ˈɡrædʒuələli/ adv in a way that happens or develops slowly over time: Gradually, his back got better. | The situation is gradually getting better. | The animals evolved gradually over millions of years.

grad-u-ate /ˈɡrædʒuət/ n [C] someone who has successfully completed his/her studies at a school, college, or university: undergraduate: high school graduates | a graduate of UCLA → student grad-u-ate /ˈɡrædʒuət/ v [I] to obtain a DIPLOMA or a degree by completing your studies at a school, college, or university: Ruth has just graduated from Princeton.

grad-u-ate /ˈɡrædʒuət/ adj divided into different levels or sizes from lower to higher amounts or degrees: graduated rates of income tax

graduate school n [C,U] a college or university where you can study for a MASTER’S DEGREE or a PH.D., or the period of time when you do this

graduate student n [C] a student who is studying for an advanced degree → student

grad-u-a-tion /ˈɡrædʒuəʃən/ n 1 [U] the time when you complete a college or university degree or HIGH SCHOOL, education: After graduation, Jane went to nursing school. 2 [C] a ceremony at which you receive a degree or DIPLOMA: We’re going to Sara’s graduation today.

gra·fi·ti /ˈɡræfəti/ n [U] a piece of healthy skin or bone taken from someone’s body and put on a damaged part of his/her body: skin grafts 3 [C] a piece cut from one plant and joined to another plant so that it grows where it is joined

graft /graft/ n 1 [U] to put a piece of healthy skin or bone from one part of someone’s body onto another part that has been damaged: Doctors grafted skin from Mike’s arm onto his burnt face. 2 to join a part of a flower, plant, or tree onto another flower, plant, or tree

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>THEloiNAUOS</th>
<th>slow, leisurely, sluggish</th>
<th>SLOW</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>grad_u_all</td>
<td>2 a gradual slope is not steep</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>grad_u_al-ly</td>
<td>grad_u_ate, -al-ly</td>
<td>adv in a way that happens or develops slowly over time: Gradually, his back got better.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>grad_u_ate</td>
<td>1 [C] someone who has successfully completed his/her studies at a school, college, or university: undergraduate: high school graduates</td>
<td>a graduate of UCLA → student</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>grad_u_ate</td>
<td>2 [C] to obtain a DIPLOMA or a degree by completing your studies at a school, college, or university: Ruth has just graduated from Princeton.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>grad_u_ate</td>
<td>adj divided into different levels or sizes from lower to higher amounts or degrees: graduated rates of income tax</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>grad_u_ate</td>
<td>n</td>
<td>[C,U] a college or university where you can study for a MASTER’S DEGREE or a PH.D., or the period of time when you do this</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>grad_u_ate</td>
<td>v</td>
<td>[I] the time when you complete a college or university degree or HIGH SCHOOL, education: After graduation, Jane went to nursing school.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| grad_u_ate | v | [U] writing and pictures that are drawn illegally on the walls of buildings, trains, etc. [Origin: 1800–1900 Italian grafficare “to make marks in a surface”]
| grad_u_ate | v | [U] the practice of dishonestly using your position to get money or advantages: politicians accused of graft 2 [C] a piece of healthy skin or bone taken from someone’s body and put on a damaged part of his/her body: skin grafts 3 [C] a piece cut from one plant and joined to another plant so that it grows where it is joined gran·dil·o·quent /ˈgrændɪloʊkwont/ adj. (formal) using words that are too long and formal, in order to sound important (⇒ pompous): a gran-dilquent speech —gran·di·lo·quen·ce n. [U] gran·di·ose /ˈgrændɪˌəs/ adj. grandiose plans sound very important but are really not practical grand jury n. [C] a group of people who decide whether someone who may be guilty of a crime should be judged in a court of law grand·ma /ˈgrænmə/ n. [C] (informal) a GRANDMOTHER
grand·mo·th·er /ˈgrændˌmɑθər/ n. [C] the mother of your mother or father ⇒ RELATIVE grand·pa /ˈgrændpɑ/ n. [C] a GRANDFATHER grand·par·ent /ˈgrændˌpɜrənt/ n. [C] the parent of your mother or father grand·son /ˈgrændsɔn/ n. [C] the son of your son or daughter

GRANDSTAND /ˈgrændstånd/ n. [C] a large structure that has many rows of seats and a roof, where people sit to watch sports competitions or races ⇒ BLEACHERS gran·ite /ˈgrænit/ n. [U] EARTH SCIENCES a very hard gray rock, often used in buildings gran·ny /ˈgrænɪ/ n. (plural gran·nis/ˈgrænɪz/ [C] a grandmother gro·no·la /ˈɡrənəˌluː/ n. [U] a breakfast food made from nuts, oats, and seeds grant /ɡrɑnt/ n. [C] an amount of money given to someone by an organization for a particular purpose: They have applied for a research grant. ⇒ a grant from the National Institute of Health [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French cre-ancer, grrement, from Latin credere “to believe”] grant\(^2\) \(\text{v.}\) 1 take it for granted (that) to believe that something is true without making sure you assume: You shouldn’t take it for granted that your parents will pay for college. 2 take sb for granted to expect that someone will always be there when you need him/her, and never thank him/her: He’s so busy with his work that he takes his family for granted. 3 \([T]\) (formal) to give someone something that she has asked for or earned, especially official permission to do something: The U.S. granted her permission to remain as a refugee.

4 granted (that) used in order to say that something is true, before you say something else about it: Granted, he didn’t practice much, but he played well anyway.

gran-u-lat-ed \(/\text{grænəˈleɪtəd}/\ adj. granulated sugar is in the form of small white grains gran-ule \(/\text{grænəl}/\ n. [C]\ a very small hard piece of something: coffee granules —\(\text{granular}\) \(\text{adj.}\) grape \(/\text{ɡræp}/\ n. [C]\ a small round green or purple fruit that grows on a vine and is often used to make wine: a bunch of grapes \(\text{[ORIGIN: 1200—1300 Old French cripe, grape “hook, bunch of grapes”]}\) ➔ see picture on page 474 grape-fruit \(/\text{ɡræprɪfɔːrt}/\ n. [C]\ a large yellow or pink citrus fruit with a thick skin, like a large orange grape-vine \(/\text{ɡræp(v)wɪn}/\ n. hear sth on/through the grapevine to hear news because it has been passed from one person to another in conversation: Sarah had heard through the grapevine that Larry was getting the job.

graph \(/\text{ɡrɑːf}/\ n. [C]\ a drawing that shows how two or more sets of measurements are related to each other: a graph showing population growth over 50 years ➔ see picture at CHART?

graph-ic \(/\text{ɡrɑːflɪk}/\ adj. 1 a graphic account/description etc. a very clear detailed description of an event. 2 \(\text{ENGL. ARTS}\) relating to drawing or printing: graphical art —\(\text{graphically}\) adv.: She described the scene so graphically that we were there.

graphical ‘user, interface \(n. [U]\) ➔ GUI graphic de/sign \(n. [U]\) the art of combining pictures and words in the production of books, magazines, etc. —\(\text{graphic designer}\) \(n. [C]\) graphic novel \(n. [C]\ \(\text{ENGL. ARTS}\) a book that tells a story using a series of pictures, each of which is drawn inside a box, as they are in a COMIC STRIP —\(\text{graphic novelist}\) \(n. [C]\) graphic ‘organizer \(n. [C]\) a picture, GRAPH, DIAGRAM, etc. that helps you organize information in a way that is easy to see graph-ics \(/\text{ɡrɑːfɪks}/\ plural \(\text{IT pictures or images, especially those produced on a computer: the latest computer graphics}\) graph-ite \(/\text{ɡrɑːfət}/\ n. [U] \(\text{EARTH SCIENCES}\) a soft black substance that is a type of carbon and is used in pencils grap-pling \(/\text{ɡræplɪŋ}/\ v. [I] to fight or struggle with someone, holding him/her tightly: A young man was grappling with the guard.

grapple \(v.\) with \(\text{sth}\) \(\text{v.}\) to try hard to understand or solve a difficult problem: The new governor will have to grapple with the problem of unemployment.

grasp\(^1\) \(\text{v.}\) 1 to take and hold something firmly in your hands: I grasped his arm firmly and led him away.

grasp\(^2\) \(n.\) [singular] 1 the ability to understand a complicated idea or situation: He has a good grasp of English grammar. | ideas that are beyond my grasp (=too difficult to understand) 2 the possibility of being able to achieve or gain something: Eve felt that success was finally within her grasp. 3 a hold on something, or your ability to hold it: The bottle slipped out of his grasp and smashed on the floor.

grappling\(\) /\text{ɡræplɪŋ}/ \(\text{adj.}\) (disapproving) too eager to get money: a grasping man grasp\(\) /\text{ɡræsp}/ \(n.\) 1 [U] a very common plant with thin green leaves that grows across fields, parks, hills, and yards: Please keep off the grass. | a blade of grass (=a single leaf) 2 [C, U] a particular type of grass: mountain grasses 3 [U] (informal) MARIHUANA \(\text{[ORIGIN: Old English græs]}\)

graph\(\)/\text{ɡræp}/ \(\text{adj.}\) /\text{ɡræp}/ \(\text{noun}\) /\text{ɡræp}/ : a grass-roots campaign graph\(\)/\text{ɡræp}/ \(\text{verb}\) /\text{ɡræp}/ : to grasp with grass: a grassy hill grate\(^1\) \(\text{v.}\) to rub food such as cheese, vegetables, etc. against a rough or sharp surface in order to break it into small pieces: grated cheese grate

THESAURUS
cut, chop (up), slice, dice, peel, carve, shred → cut

2 [i] (informal) to annoy someone: She’s really beginning to grate on my nerves.
grate2 n [C] 1 the frame and metal bars that hold wood, coal, etc. in a fireplace 2 a metal frame with bars across it that covers a hole, window, etc. (informal) grating: iron grates on the windows grateful /grəˈtful/ adj 1 feeling that you want to thank someone because of something kind that they’ve done: I’m very grateful for the opportunity to study at Harvard. | We’re just grateful that you can help. | the thanks of a grateful nation 2 I/we would be grateful if... used in formal situations or letters to make an request: I would be grateful if you would allow me to visit your school. — gratefully adv: We gratefully accepted their offer.
grater /ˈgrætər/ n [C] a kitchen tool used for grating food grat-i-fy /ˈgrætəˌfi/ v (gratified, gratifies) [T] (informal) to make someone feel pleased and satisfied: We were gratified by the result of the vote. — gratification /ˌgrætəˈfiʃən/ n [U] grat-i-fy-ing /ˈgrætəˌfiŋ/ adj [formal] pleasing and satisfying: It’s gratifying to know that we have achieved so much.

grating /ˈgrætəŋ/ n [C] a metal frame with bars across it that covers a hole, window, etc.
grating2 adj: a grating sound is unpleasant and annoying: a grating voice grat-i-ful /ˌgrætəˈfl/ adj, adv [formal] provided without payment: gratified: free grat-i-tude /ˈgrætəˌtjuːd/ n [U] the feeling of being grateful: I’d like to express my gratitude to everyone who helped us.
grat-i-tu-din-ous /ˌgrætəˈtjuːdiŋəs/ adj said or done without a good reason in a way that offends someone: television programs full of gratuitous violence grat-i-tu-de /ˈgrætəˌtjuːd/ n (plural gratuities) [C] (formal) a tip grave1 /greiv/ n [C] 1 the place where a dead body is buried: We visited my grandfather’s grave. | They buried him in an unmarked grave (once with no name on it). 2 sb would turn over in their grave used in order to say that someone who is dead would strongly disapprove of something that is happening now 3 the grave (literary) death: He took the secret to the grave with him. [origin: Old English grefe]

grave2 adj 1 very serious and worrying: I think he is making a grave mistake. | The war is a cause of grave concern. 2 looking or sounding very serious: My parents spoke quietly and looked grave for the rest of the day. — gravely adv gravel /ˈgreivl/ n [U] small stones used in order to make a surface for paths or roads graves1 /ˈgreivz/ v [I,T] if an animal grazes, it eats grass: cattle grazing in the field graveside /ˈgreivsɛid/ n [C usually singular] the area around a grave: Mourners stood somberly at his graveside (beside it).

graveyard /ˈgreivsid/ n [C] an area of ground where people are buried, often near a church → cemetery gaveyard, shift n [C] a period of working time that begins late at night and continues until the early morning, or the people who work during this time grain /ɡreɪn/ n [C] a small stone used in order to make a surface for paths or roads gravity /ˈɡrævətɪ/ n [U] 1 the force that makes two objects, such as planets, move toward each other because of their mass gravitation /ˈɡrævəˌteɪʃən/ n [U] physics the force that makes objects fall to the ground: the laws of gravity 2 the seriousness or importance of an event, situation, etc.: I don’t think they understand the gravity of the situation.

gravy /ˈɡrævi/ n [U] sauce made from the juice of cooked meat, flour, and milk: mashed potatoes and gravy gray /ɡreɪ/ adj 1 having the color of black mixed with white: He was wearing a gray suit. 2 having gray hair: Ryan’s black hair is turning going gray. 3 if the weather is gray, the sky is full of clouds and the Sun is not bright: a gray day 4 gray area a part of a subject such as law or science that is hard to deal with because the rules are not clear grey2 n [U] a color made from black mixed with white: The suit comes in gray or red.

grey3 v [I] if someone isgraying, his/her hair is becoming gray gray, matter n [U] (informal) your intelligence, or the part of your brain that thinks grazing /ˈgreɪziŋ/ v [I,T] if an animal grazes, it eats grass: cattle grazing in the field themselves by accidentally rubbing against something rough: Billy grazed his knee when he fell. 3 [T] to touch something lightly while passing it, sometimes damaging it: The bullet grazed his arm.

grease² n [C] a wound caused by rubbing against something rough, which slightly breaks your skin: minor cuts and grazes

GRE n. [C] (trademark) Graduate Record Examination an examination taken by students who have completed a first degree and want to go to graduate school.

grease¹ /’gris/ n. [U] 1 a thick oily substance that is put on the moving parts of a car or machine to make it run smoothly 2 soft fat from animals or vegetables grease² v [T] to put grease on something: Grease the pan lightly with butter.

greasy /’grəsi, -zi/ adj covered in grease or oil: greasy food | greasy hair

THE THESAURUS

dirty, filthy, dusty, muddy, grimey, soiled, polluted ➔ DIRTY greasy ’spoon n. [C] (informal) a small cheap restaurant that mainly serves fried (FRY) food great /ɡreɪt/ adj

1 USEFUL (informal) very useful or appropriate for something: This stuff’s great for getting stains out of clothes.
2 LARGE very large in size, amount, or degree: Willis caught a great big fish! | A great many people died in the earthquake.
3 IMPORTANT very important, successful, or famous: the great civilizations of the past | Ella Fitzgerald was the greatest jazz singer ever.

SPOKEN PHRASES
4 EXCELLENT very good: It’s great to see you again! We had a great time.

THE THESAURUS

good, excellent, wonderful, fantastic, outstanding, exceptional, superb, first-class, ace ➔ GOOD nice, enjoyable, pleasant, fantastic, wonderful ➔ NICE

5 NOT GOOD said when you are annoyed and think that something is not good at all: “Your car won’t be ready until next week.” “Oh, great!”

6 a great deal a lot: He’s traveled a great deal. | The explosion caused a great deal of damage.

7 great-grandmother/great-uncle etc. the grandmother, uncle, etc. of one of your parents

8 great-granddaughter/great-nephew etc. the granddaughter, nephew, etc. of your child

9 (the) Great used in names to mean large or important: Alexander the Great | the Great Lakes

10 Greater Boston/New York etc. used to talk about a large city, including all the outer areas: the Greater Los Angeles area [Origin: Old English — greatness n. [U] greatest ,common factor (abbreviation GCF) n. [singular] MATH the largest positive number that divides exactly into each of a set of numbers great-ly /’gret’li/ adv (formal) extremely or very much: The money you lent us was greatly appreciated. ➔ Don’t say “The money was appreciated greatly.”

greed /ɡriːd/ n. [U] a strong desire for more food, money, power, possessions, etc. than you need greedy /’ɡriːdi/ adj. (comparative greedier, superlative greediest) always wanting more food, money, power, possessions, etc. than you need: He was being selfish and greedy. ➔ greedily adv.

greediness n. [U]

Greek¹ /’ɡriːk/ adj 1 relating to or coming from Greece 2 relating to the Greek language

Greek² n. 1 [U] the language used in Greece 2 [C] someone from Greece

green¹ /’ɡriːn/ adj 1 having the color of grass: green eyes | pale/dark green leaves 2 covered with grass, trees, bushes, etc.: green fields 3 fruit that is green is not yet ready to be eaten: green bananas 4 relating to or concerned about the environment: green issues 5 be green with envy to wish very much that you had something that someone else has 6 give sb/sth the green light to allow a project, plan, etc. to begin: The board just gave us the green light to begin research. 7 (informal) young and lacking experience: The trainees are still pretty green.

THE THESAURUS

young, youthful, immature, underage ➔ YOUNG²

8 have a green thumb to be good at making plants grow [Origin: Old English grene] green² n. 1 [C,U] the color of grass 2 [C] the smooth flat area of grass around a hole on a GOLF course: the 18th green 3 greens [plural] vegetables with large green leaves: salad greens green-back /’ɡriːnbæk/ n. [C] (informal) a dollar BILL.

green ’bean n. [C] a long thin green vegetable that is picked and eaten before the beans inside it grow green ’card n. [C] a document that shows that someone who is not a citizen can live and work in the U.S.

green-er-y /’ɡrɪnərɪ/ n. [U] green leaves and plants green-horn /’ɡrɪnəhrn/ n. [C] (informal) someone who lacks experience in a job and can be easily deceived green-house /’ɡrɪnhaus/ n. [C] a glass building in which you grow plants that need to be protected from the weather greenhouse effect  n. the gradual warming of the air around the Earth as a result of the Sun’s heat being trapped by pollution in the atmosphere and causes the greenhouse effect

greenhouse gas  n. [C] EARTH SCIENCES a gas, especially carbon dioxide or methane, that traps heat above the Earth and causes the greenhouse effect gre-nyon  n. [C] a small white onion with a small round end and a long green stem that you eat raw greet  /griet/ v. [T] 1 to say hello to someone or welcome him/her: Carol’s mother greeted her with hugs and kisses. 2 to react to something in a particular way: The first speech was greeted with cheers and laughter.

greet-ing  /gri[t]ɪŋ/ n. [C] something that you say or do when you meet someone: The two men exchanged greetings (=said hello to each other). We received a warm (friendly) greeting.

greeting card  n. [C] a card that you send to someone on his/her birthday, at Christmas, etc.

gre-gari-ous  /gri’geræ̆s/ adj. someone who is gregarious is friendly and enjoys being with other people (Origin: 1600–1700 gregarius, from Greek "group of animals")

grem-lin  /gremlɪn/ n. [C] an imaginary evil spirit that is blamed for problems in machinery

green  /gri:n/ n. [C] a small bomb that can be thrown by hand or fired from a gun

greenhouse effect  n. the gradual warming of the air around the Earth as a result of the Sun’s heat being trapped by pollution in the atmosphere and causes the greenhouse effect

greenhouse gas  n. [C] EARTH SCIENCES a gas, especially carbon dioxide or methane, that traps heat above the Earth and causes the greenhouse effect

greet  /griet/ v. [T] 1 to say hello to someone or welcome him/her: Carol’s mother greeted her with hugs and kisses. 2 to react to something in a particular way: The first speech was greeted with cheers and laughter.

greet-ing  /gri[t]ɪŋ/ n. [C] something that you say or do when you meet someone: The two men exchanged greetings (=said hello to each other). We received a warm (friendly) greeting.

greeting card  n. [C] a card that you send to someone on his/her birthday, at Christmas, etc.

gre-gari-ous  /gri’geræ̆s/ adj. someone who is gregarious is friendly and enjoys being with other people (Origin: 1600–1700 gregarius, from Greek "group of animals")

grem-lin  /gremlɪn/ n. [C] an imaginary evil spirit that is blamed for problems in machinery

green  /gri:n/ n. [C] a small bomb that can be thrown by hand or fired from a gun

greenhouse effect  n. the gradual warming of the air around the Earth as a result of the Sun’s heat being trapped by pollution in the atmosphere and causes the greenhouse effect

greenhouse gas  n. [C] EARTH SCIENCES a gas, especially carbon dioxide or methane, that traps heat above the Earth and causes the greenhouse effect

greet  /griet/ v. [T] 1 to say hello to someone or welcome him/her: Carol’s mother greeted her with hugs and kisses. 2 to react to something in a particular way: The first speech was greeted with cheers and laughter.

greet-ing  /gri[t]ɪŋ/ n. [C] something that you say or do when you meet someone: The two men exchanged greetings (=said hello to each other). We received a warm (friendly) greeting.

greeting card  n. [C] a card that you send to someone on his/her birthday, at Christmas, etc.

gre-gari-ous  /gri’geræ̆s/ adj. someone who is gregarious is friendly and enjoys being with other people (Origin: 1600–1700 gregarius, from Greek "group of animals")

grem-lin  /gremlɪn/ n. [C] an imaginary evil spirit that is blamed for problems in machinery

green  /gri:n/ n. [C] a small bomb that can be thrown by hand or fired from a gun

greenhouse effect  n. the gradual warming of the air around the Earth as a result of the Sun’s heat being trapped by pollution in the atmosphere and causes the greenhouse effect

greenhouse gas  n. [C] EARTH SCIENCES a gas, especially carbon dioxide or methane, that traps heat above the Earth and causes the greenhouse effect

greet  /griet/ v. [T] 1 to say hello to someone or welcome him/her: Carol’s mother greeted her with hugs and kisses. 2 to react to something in a particular way: The first speech was greeted with cheers and laughter.

greet-ing  /gri[t]ɪŋ/ n. [C] something that you say or do when you meet someone: The two men exchanged greetings (=said hello to each other). We received a warm (friendly) greeting.

greeting card  n. [C] a card that you send to someone on his/her birthday, at Christmas, etc.

gre-gari-ous  /gri’geræ̆s/ adj. someone who is gregarious is friendly and enjoys being with other people (Origin: 1600–1700 gregarius, from Greek "group of animals")

grem-lin  /gremlɪn/ n. [C] an imaginary evil spirit that is blamed for problems in machinery

green  /gri:n/ n. [C] a small bomb that can be thrown by hand or fired from a gun

greenhouse effect  n. the gradual warming of the air around the Earth as a result of the Sun’s heat being trapped by pollution in the atmosphere and causes the greenhouse effect

greenhouse gas  n. [C] EARTH SCIENCES a gas, especially carbon dioxide or methane, that traps heat above the Earth and causes the greenhouse effect

greet  /griet/ v. [T] 1 to say hello to someone or welcome him/her: Carol’s mother greeted her with hugs and kisses. 2 to react to something in a particular way: The first speech was greeted with cheers and laughter.

greet-ing  /gri[t]ɪŋ/ n. [C] something that you say or do when you meet someone: The two men exchanged greetings (=said hello to each other). We received a warm (friendly) greeting.

greeting card  n. [C] a card that you send to someone on his/her birthday, at Christmas, etc.

gre-gari-ous  /gri’geræ̆s/ adj. someone who is gregarious is friendly and enjoys being with other people (Origin: 1600–1700 gregarius, from Greek "group of animals")

grem-lin  /gremlɪn/ n. [C] an imaginary evil spirit that is blamed for problems in machinery

green  /gri:n/ n. [C] a small bomb that can be thrown by hand or fired from a gun

greenhouse effect  n. the gradual warming of the air around the Earth as a result of the Sun’s heat being trapped by pollution in the atmosphere and causes the greenhouse effect

greenhouse gas  n. [C] EARTH SCIENCES a gas, especially carbon dioxide or methane, that traps heat above the Earth and causes the greenhouse effect

greet  /griet/ v. [T] 1 to say hello to someone or welcome him/her: Carol’s mother greeted her with hugs and kisses. 2 to react to something in a particular way: The first speech was greeted with cheers and laughter.

greet-ing  /gri[t]ɪŋ/ n. [C] something that you say or do when you meet someone: The two men exchanged greetings (=said hello to each other). We received a warm (friendly) greeting.

greeting card  n. [C] a card that you send to someone on his/her birthday, at Christmas, etc.

gre-gari-ous  /gri’geræ̆s/ adj. someone who is gregarious is friendly and enjoys being with other people (Origin: 1600–1700 gregarius, from Greek "group of animals")

grem-lin  /gremlɪn/ n. [C] an imaginary evil spirit that is blamed for problems in machinery

green  /gri:n/ n. [C] a small bomb that can be thrown by hand or fired from a gun

greenhouse effect  n. the gradual warming of the air around the Earth as a result of the Sun’s heat being trapped by pollution in the atmosphere and causes the greenhouse effect

greenhouse gas  n. [C] EARTH SCIENCES a gas, especially carbon dioxide or methane, that traps heat above the Earth and causes the greenhouse effect

greet  /griet/ v. [T] 1 to say hello to someone or welcome him/her: Carol’s mother greeted her with hugs and kisses. 2 to react to something in a particular way: The first speech was greeted with cheers and laughter.

greet-ing  /gri[t]ɪŋ/ n. [C] something that you say or do when you meet someone: The two men exchanged greetings (=said hello to each other). We received a warm (friendly) greeting.

greeting card  n. [C] a card that you send to someone on his/her birthday, at Christmas, etc.

gre-gari-ous  /gri’geræ̆s/ adj. someone who is gregarious is friendly and enjoys being with other people (Origin: 1600–1700 gregarius, from Greek "group of animals")

grem-lin  /gremlɪn/ n. [C] an imaginary evil spirit that is blamed for problems in machinery

green  /gri:n/ n. [C] a small bomb that can be thrown by hand or fired from a gun

greenhouse effect  n. the gradual warming of the air around the Earth as a result of the Sun’s heat being trapped by pollution in the atmosphere and causes the greenhouse effect

greenhouse gas  n. [C] EARTH SCIENCES a gas, especially carbon dioxide or methane, that traps heat above the Earth and causes the greenhouse effect

greet  /griet/ v. [T] 1 to say hello to someone or welcome him/her: Carol’s mother greeted her with hugs and kisses. 2 to react to something in a particular way: The first speech was greeted with cheers and laughter.

greet-ing  /gri[t]ɪŋ/ n. [C] something that you say or do when you meet someone: The two men exchanged greetings (=said hello to each other). We received a warm (friendly) greeting.

greeting card  n. [C] a card that you send to someone on his/her birthday, at Christmas, etc.

gre-gari-ous  /gri’geræ̆s/ adj. someone who is gregarious is friendly and enjoys being with other people (Origin: 1600–1700 gregarius, from Greek "group of animals")

grem-lin  /gremlɪn/ n. [C] an imaginary evil spirit that is blamed for problems in machinery

green  /gri:n/ n. [C] a small bomb that can be thrown by hand or fired from a gun grime n. [U] thick black dirt that forms a layer on surfaces grim-y adj. covered in thick black dirt: a grimy apartment building grim·ace v. (grimaced, grinning) 1 to smile continuously with a very big smile: Sally was grinning at Martin from across the room.
grin1 v. (grinned, grinning) 1 to smile with a large round smile: He looked back at me with a big grin on his face.
grind v. 1 to press or crush something: 2 to crush something such as coffee beans into small pieces or powder: Could you grind some coffee for me?
grinder n. (in the mill) grind·stone n. [C] a large round stone that is turned like a wheel and is used for making tools sharp → keep your nose to the grindstone at nose grim·aced adj. extremely unpleasant and unpleasant → grimly adv.
grip1 v. (gripped, gripping) 1 [singular] a tight hold on something, or your ability to hold it: Get a firm grip on the rope, and then pull. 2 [singular] the control that you have over a person, a situation, or your emotions: Come on, Dee, get a grip on yourself (=try to control your emotions)! 3 come/get to grips with sth to understand and deal with a difficult problem or situation: Eric still hasn’t come to grips with his drug problem. 4 be in the grip of sth to be experiencing a very unpleasant situation: The economy is deep in the grip of a recession.
grip·ping adj. (gripping) 1 [T] to hold something very tightly: I gripped his hand in fear.
grit n. (grits) 1 a type of crushed grain useful in a particular situation: The president’s comments provided journalists with plenty of grit for their mill.
grist·meal n. [U] the piece of a part of meat that is not soft enough to eat grim·aced adj. extremely unpleasant because death or violence is involved: a grisly murder grist·meal n. [U] the piece of a part of meat that is not soft enough to eat groan v. ([groaned, grumbling] [I]) to make a long deep sound, for example because you are in pain or are not happy... about something: Charlie was holding his arm and groaning. —groan n. [C]: Loud groans came from the crowd.

grocer /'groʊsər/ —grocer-ies n. [plural] someone who owns or works in a grocery store [origin: 1200—1300 Old French grossier “person who sells in large quantities,” from gros “big, thick”] grocery store /'groʊsəri stər/, -frə- also grocery n. [C] a store that sells food and other things used in the home grocery /'groʊsəri/ adj. weak and unable to walk steadily or think clearly because you are sick or very tired groin /'groʊm/ n. [C] the place where your legs join at the front of your body

1 groom /grəʊm/ v. [T] 1 to prepare someone for an important job or position by training him/her: Sharon’s being groomed to take over the business. 2 to take care of your appearance by keeping your hair and clothes clean and neat: a well-groomed young man 3 to take care of animals by cleaning and brushing them —grooming n. [U]

2 groom /grəʊm/ n. [C] 1 a man at the time he gets married, or just after he is married: a wedding photo of the bride and groom —wedding 2 someone whose job is to take care of horses groove /gruːv/ n. 1 [C] a thick line cut into a surface to hold something, or to make something move where you want it to: Plant the seeds in grooves about a foot apart. 2 [singular] informal the way things should be done, so that it seems easy and natural: It will take the players a while to get back in the groove.

grope /gruːp/ v. [T] 1 to try to find something you cannot see, using your hands: She grooped in the dark for the flashlight. 2 grope your way along/across etc. to go somewhere by feeling your way with your hands because you cannot see: 3 grope for sb/sth to have difficulty in finding the right words to say or the right solution to a problem 4 [T] informal to touch someone’s body in a sexual way when s/he does not want to be touched gross /ɡrɒs/ adj. 1 (spoken) very unpleasant to look at or think about: There was one really gross part in the movie. | Oh, gross! I hate spinach! 2 [only before noun] economics a gross amount of money is the total amount before any tax or costs have been taken away —net: His gross profit was $300,000. 3 a gross weight is the total weight of something, including its wrapping —gross profits were $200,000. 4 [only before noun] wrong and unacceptable: Workers are using the company for gross negligence. | That’s a gross exaggeration. [origin: 1300—1400 Old French gros “big, thick,” from Latin grossus] —grossly adv. —grossness n. [U] gross2 v. [T] ECONOMICS to earn an amount as a total profit or earn it as a total amount, before tax has been taken away: The movie has already grossed over $10 million.

THESAURUS earn, make, get, be/get paid, net ➔ earn gross ab ‡ out ghv v if something grosses you out, it is very unpleasant and almost makes you feel sick: His dirty fingernails really gross me out.

gross do, mestic ‘product n. [singular, U] ECONOMICS GDP

gross, national ‘product n. [singular, U] ECONOMICS GNP grotesque /grotəsk/ adj. ugly or strange in a way that is unpleasant or frightening: drawings of grotesque monsters [origin: 1500—1600 French; Old Italian (pittura) grottesca “cave painting;” from grotta] —grotesquely adv.: The movie is grotesquely violent.

THESAURUS ugly, unattractive, unsightly, hideous, repulsive ➔ UGLY

1 ground /ɡraʊnd/ n. 1 EARTH’S SURFACE [singular, U] a) the surface of the Earth: We were all sitting on the ground. | People in the area were advised to move to higher ground in the event of a flood. | The fuel is stored below ground. b) the soil on and under the surface of the Earth: We put seeds in the ground. —see picture at WATER CYCLE

USAGE

Use on the ground to say where someone or something is: I saw the keys on the ground next to the car. Use to the ground to show movement that goes down: Eddie was knocked to the ground.

THESAURUS groundy, grumpy, cranky, crabby, canktaneous, irritable, touchy ➔ GRUMPY

The ground is the surface under your feet when you are outside: The ground was very muddy. The floor is the surface under your feet when you are inside a building: The floors all have carpets.

Land is an area of ground that is owned or controlled by someone: He owns all the land around here.
Earth or soil is the substance that plants grow in: the soil is good for growing plants.

2 AREA OF LAND a) [C] a large area of land or ocean that is used for a particular purpose: a burial ground b) grounds plural the land or gardens around a building: prison grounds

3 KNOWLEDGE [U] an area of knowledge, ideas, experience, etc.: Scientists are breaking new ground (= discovering new ideas) in cancer research. [W] We covered a lot of ground in class today.

4 OPINIONS [U] the general opinions you have about something: There has to be a way we can find some common/middle ground (= something that everyone can agree about). Neither side was willing to give any ground (= agree that someone else is right).

5 hold/stand your ground a) to refuse to move when someone threatens you, in order to show that you are not afraid b) to refuse to change your opinion, belief, etc., even though people are trying to make you change it: Joanne held her ground and made no apologies.

6 REASON grounds plural a) a good reason for doing, believing, or saying something: Mental cruelty can be grounds for divorce. [W] The committee rejected the proposal on the grounds that it would be too expensive.

7 get off the ground to start being successful: His company hasn’t really gotten off the ground yet.

8 gain/lose ground to become more or less successful or popular: Republicans have been gaining ground in recent months.

9 ELECTRICAL [singular] PHYSICS a wire that connects a piece of electrical equipment to the ground for safety

10 SMALL PIECES grounds plural the small pieces of something such as coffee which sink to the bottom of a liquid: coffee grounds [origin: Old English grund]

GROUND2 v [T] 1 to stop an aircraft or pilot from flying: All planes were grounded due to the snow. 2 to be grounded in sth to be based on something: His theories about education are grounded in years of research. 3 (informal) to stop a child from going out with his/her friends as a punishment for doing something wrong: If you stay out that late again, you’ll be grounded for a week. 4 PHYSICS to make a piece of electrical equipment safe by connecting it to the ground with a wire

GROUND3 adj. 1 ground beef/turkey/pork etc. meat that has been cut up into very small pieces 2 ground coffee, pepper, etc. has been crushed into small pieces: freshly ground pepper

GROUND4 v the past tense and past participle of grind

GROUND-BREAKING [ground,breakɪŋ/ adj. groundbreaking work involves making new discoveries, using new methods, etc.: groundbreaking research

GROUND CREW n. [C] the group of people who work at an airport taking care of the aircraft

GROUND FLOOR n. [C] the part of a building that is on the same level as the ground

GROUND-HOG /'groun,d,bɒg/ n. [C] a small North American animal that has thick brown fur and lives in holes in the ground. woodchuck → see picture at rodent

GROUND-HOG DAY n. February 2; according to American stories, the first day of the year that a groundhog comes out of its hole. If it sees its shadow, there will be six more weeks of winter; if it does not, good weather will come early.

GROUND-LESS /'grʌʊndlɪs/ adj. not based on facts or reason: They assured me that my fears were totally groundless.

GROUND RULE n. [C] a rule or principle on which future actions should be based GROUND-SWELL /'grʌʊndswel/ n a groundswell of support/enthusiasm a sudden increase in how strongly people feel about something: There has been a groundswell of support for change.

GROUND-WORK /'grʌʊndwɜːk/ n. [U] work that needs to be done in order for an activity or plan to be successful: Amelia is already laying the groundwork for her re-election campaign.

GROUND ZERO n. [U] 1 the place where an explosion happens, where a lot of damage has been done and a lot of people have been killed. 2 Ground zero HISTORY the place in New York City where the World Trade Center buildings were destroyed by TERRORISTS on September 11, 2001

GROUP1 /'grʌp/ n. [C] 1 several people or things that are all together in the same place: a group of children. The teacher asked everyone to get into groups of four.

THESSARUS

GROUP OF PEOPLE

CROWD – a large group of people in one place
TEAM – a group of people who work together: a team of doctors | a successful baseball team
CREW – a group of people who all work together, especially on a ship or airplane: the flight crew GANG – a group of young people, especially a group that often causes trouble and fights
MOB – a large noisy group of people, especially one that is angry and violent: an angry mob | mob violence
BUNCH (informal) – a group of people: They’re a nice bunch of kids FLOCK – a large group of people of the same type: a flock of tourists HORDE – a large group of people moving in a noisy uncontrolled way: There were hordes of people coming out of the subway MASS – a large group of people all close together in one place: As soon as the doors opened a mass of people pushed their way into the store.
group

party – a group of people who have been organized to do something together: a search party group of animals herd of cows/deer/elephants flock of sheep/birds school/shoal of fish/dolphins/herring, etc.
pack of dogs
litter of puppies/kittens (a group of baby animals born from the same mother at the same time) group of things bunch of flowers/grapes/keys, etc. (=several flowers, etc. tied or held together) bundle of papers/clothes/sticks (=several papers, etc. tied or held together) set of dishes/keys/rules, etc. (=several things that belong together or are related in some way)

2 several people or things that are connected with each other in some way: a terrorist group | There should be equal treatment of all racial and ethnic groups.
3 musicians or singers who perform together, usually playing popular music: a rock group 4 chemistry a column of elements in the periodic table, which all have similar atomic structures and chemical properties (property)

grove

/’grouv/ n. [C] a grove of trees

grow

/v. [I,T] to let your hair or nails become longer: He’s growing a beard.

2 plants [I,T] if plants grow, or if you grow them, they develop and become bigger: Not many plants can grow in the far north. | We’re trying to grow roses this year.

3 increase [I] to increase in amount, size, or degree: a growing business | The number of students grew by 5% last year. | A growing number of people are working from home.

grouping

/’grupIÎ/ n. [U]

group apart phr. v. if two people grow apart, their relationship changes and they become less close grow into sb/sth phr. v.

1 to develop over time and become a particular type of person or thing: Gene’s grown into a handsome young man.
2 if a child grows into clothes, s/he becomes big enough to wear them: The jacket’s a little bit big for him now; but he’ll soon grow into it.

grow on sb phr. v.

if someone or something grows on you, you gradually start to like him, her, or it: I didn’t like blue cheese at first, but he taste has kind of grown on me.

grow out of sth phr. v.

1 if a child grows out of clothes, s/he becomes too big to wear them
2 to stop doing something as you get older: Sarah still sucks her thumb, but she’ll grow out of it.

grow up phr. v.

1 to develop from being a child to being an adult: I grew up in San Diego.
2 grow up! (spoken) said in order to tell someone to behave more like an adult

grower /’grouə/ n. [C] a person or company that grows fruit, vegetables, etc. in order to sell them

growing pains n. [plural] problems and difficulties that start at the beginning of a new activity, for example starting a business

growing season n. [C] the period during the year from the time when crops start to grow until they become fully grown

grouse

/’grouz/ n. (plural grouse) [C,U] a small fat bird that is hunted for food and sport, or the meat from this bird grove /’grouv/ n. [C] a piece of land with trees growing on it: a lemon grove growl /’gravl/ v. [I,T] to let your hair or nails become longer: He’s growing a beard.

2 plants [I,T] if plants grow, or if you grow them, they develop and become bigger: Not many plants can grow in the far north. | We’re trying to grow roses this year.

3 increase [I] to increase in amount, size, or degree: a growing business | The number of students grew by 5% last year. | A growing number of people are working from home.

THESSAURUS increase, go up, rise, double, shoot up, multiply ➔ INCREASE become [linking verb] to become old, hot, worse, etc. over a period of time: He became more conservative as he grew older.

grow to like/fear/respect etc. to gradually start to like, fear, etc. someone or something: She had grown to love the city.

improve [I] to improve in ability or character: Beth’s really growing as a singer.

business [T] to make something such as a business become larger or more successful: The president thinks cutting taxes will help grow the economy.

grow apart phr. v. if two people grow apart, their relationship changes and they become less close

grow into sb/sth phr. v.

1 to develop over time and become a particular type of person or thing: Gene’s grown into a handsome young man.
2 if a child grows into clothes, s/he becomes big enough to wear them: The jacket’s a little bit big for him now; but he’ll soon grow into it.

grow on sb phr. v.

if someone or something grows on you, you gradually start to like him, her, or it: I didn’t like blue cheese at first, but he taste has kind of grown on me.

grow out of sth phr. v.

1 if a child grows out of clothes, s/he becomes too big to wear them
2 to stop doing something as you get older: Sarah still sucks her thumb, but she’ll grow out of it.

grow up phr. v.

1 to develop from being a child to being an adult: I grew up in San Diego.
2 grow up! (spoken) said in order to tell someone to behave more like an adult

grower /’grouə/ n. [C] a person or company that grows fruit, vegetables, etc. in order to sell them

growing pains n. [plural] problems and difficulties that start at the beginning of a new activity, for example starting a business

growing season n. [C] the period during the year from the time when crops start to grow until they become fully grown

grouse /’grouz/ n. (plural grouse) [C,U] a small fat bird that is hunted for food and sport, or the meat from this bird grove /’grouv/ n. [C] a grove of trees grow /’grou/ v. (past tense grew/’gru/, past participle grown/’groun/) grown /ˈgrōn/ adj. grown man/woman an adult, used especially when you think someone is not behaving as an adult should: I’ve never seen a grown man act like that.

grown /grōn/ v. the past participle of GROW grown-up /ˈgrōn-up/ n. [C] an adult, used especially by children or when talking to children: Ask a grown-up to help you.

grown-up /ˈgrōn-up/ adj. fully developed as an adult: a grown-up son growth /ˈgrōth/ n. 1 [singular, U] an increase in amount, size, or degree: rapid population growth. | the growth of the healthcare industry. | the growth of modern technology. 2 [U] the increase in the physical size and strength of a person, animal, or plant over a period of time: Vitamins are necessary for healthy growth. 3 [U] the development of someone’s character, intelligence, or emotions: a job that provides opportunities for personal growth. 4 [C] something that grows in your body or on your skin, caused by a disease: a cancerous growth. 5 [C, U] something that is growing: There are signs of new growth on the tree.

grub /ˈgrub/ n. [U] (informal) food grub-b-y /ˈgrub-b-ə/ adj. dirty: grubby hands dirty:

grudgy /ˈgrudʒ-ə/ n. [C] a feeling of anger or dislike you have for someone who has harmed you: Diane doesn’t hold grudges (=stay angry with people). | Aunt Alice bore a grudge against him for 25 years.

grudgy /ˈgrudʒ-ə/ adj. done in a way that shows you do not really want to do something: Some of the stuff had grudging respect for her. | grudgingly adv. They grudgingly agreed.

grue-ful /ˈgru-ə-fəl/ adj. very difficult and tiring: a grueling entrance exam. | 1800—1900 gravel “to punish.” | from gravel “food.” because people were given gruel as a punishment.

gruel /ˈgruel/ n. [U] dirty:

grueling /ˈgru-ə-lən/ adj. very unpleasant to look at, and usually involving death or injury: a gruesome accident. | 1500—1600 grue “to shake (with fear)” | 14—19 centuries, from Middle Dutch grovere

gruff /gruf/ adj. unfriendly or annoyed: a gruff answer. | gruffly adv.

grum-bly /ˈgrum-bəl/ v. [I] to keep complaining in a quiet but slightly angry way: He’s always grumbling about how expensive everything is.

grum-py /ˈgram-pi/ adj. (comparative grumpier, superlative grumpiest) easily annoyed and tending to complain: a grumpy old man. | grumpily adv.

cranky /ˈkrāk-ə/ adj. (informal) – easily annoyed or made angry: He’s been a little irritable lately. | touchy – easily offended or annoyed: She’s touchy about her weight.
prisoner from escape: Soldiers are always on guard at the embassy. | The prisoners were held under armed guard at all times. 3 catch/take sb off guard to surprise someone by doing something that s/he is not ready to deal with: The question caught the senator off guard. 4 [C] something that covers and protects someone or something: a hockey player’s face guard. 5 sb’s guard the state of paying careful attention to what is happening in order to avoid being tricked or getting into danger: These men are dangerous, so you’ll need to be on your guard (be careful). | He never let down his guard (relaxed and felt comfortable with others). 6 [C] a) one of two players in basketball whose main job is to defend his/her basket. b) one of two football players who play on either side of the center [origin: 1400–1500 French garder].

guard

2 to protect something such as a right or secret by preventing other people from taking it: a closely-guarded secret guard against sth phr. v. to try hard to prevent something from happening: Exercise can help guard against a number of serious illnesses.

guarded adj. careful not to show your emotions or give away information: a guarded answer guardian n. [C] 1 someone who is legally responsible for a child, but who is not the child’s parent: His aunt is his legal guardian. 2 [formal] a person or organization that tries to protect something — guardianship n. [U] guerrilla n. 1 a military group that is fighting for political reasons: guerrilla warfare [origin: 1800–1900 Spanish guerra “war”].

guess* n. [C] 1 an attempt to guess something: Just take/make a guess. | I can only hazard a guess (=make a guess) on how old she is.

guessed\(\text{ed}\) v. [T] a) to try to answer a question or form an opinion when you are not sure whether you will be correct: I’d say he’s about 40, but I’m just guessing. b) to guess something correctly: “Don’t tell me; you got the job.” “How did you guess?” | I never would have guessed that they were sisters. 2 keep sb guessing to not tell someone what is going to happen next: a film that really keeps the audience guessing

guess

1 v. [T] a) to try to answer a question or form an opinion when you are not sure whether you will be correct: I’d say he’s about 40, but I’m just guessing. b) to guess something correctly: “Don’t tell me; you got the job.” “How did you guess?” | I never would have guessed that they were sisters. 2 keep sb guessing to not tell someone what is going to happen next: a film that really keeps the audience guessing

3 I guess a) said when you think that something is true or likely: I wasn’t there, but I guess Mr. Radkin yelled at Jeannie. His light’s on, so I guess he’s still up. b) said in order to show that you do not feel very strongly about what you are planning or agreeing to do: I guess I’ll stay home tonight.

4 I guess so/not used in order to say yes or no to a question or statement, when you are not very sure: “She wasn’t happy?” | “I guess not.” 5 guess what you’ll never guess who/what etc. said when you are about to tell someone something that will surprise him/her: You’ll never guess who I saw today.

guest n. [C] 1 someone famous who is invited to speak on a subject or take part in a television program, concert, etc.: Tonight’s special guest will be Justin Timberlake. 2 someone who is paying to stay in a hotel: Use of the swimming pool is free for guests. 4 be my guest (spoken) said when giving someone permission to do what she has asked to do: “Could I use your phone?” | “Be my guest.” [origin: 1200–1300 Old Norse gestr]

guest

1 v. [T] a) to try to answer a question or form an opinion when you are not sure whether you will be correct: I’d say he’s about 40, but I’m just guessing. b) to guess something correctly: “Don’t tell me; you got the job.” “How did you guess?” | I never would have guessed that they were sisters. 2 keep sb guessing to not tell someone what is going to happen next: a film that really keeps the audience guessing

guess

3 I guess a) said when you think that something is true or likely: I wasn’t there, but I guess Mr. Radkin yelled at Jeannie. His light’s on, so I guess he’s still up. b) said in order to show that you do not feel very strongly about what you are planning or agreeing to do: I guess I’ll stay home tonight.

4 I guess so/not used in order to say yes or no to a question or statement, when you are not very sure: “She wasn’t happy?” | “I guess not.” 5 guess what you’ll never guess who/what etc. said when you are about to tell someone something that will surprise him/her: You’ll never guess who I saw today.

guest n. [C] 1 an attempt to guess something: Just take/make a guess. | I can only hazard a guess (=make a guess) on how old she is.

guess

1 v. [T] a) to try to answer a question or form an opinion when you are not sure whether you will be correct: I’d say he’s about 40, but I’m just guessing. b) to guess something correctly: “Don’t tell me; you got the job.” “How did you guess?” | I never would have guessed that they were sisters. 2 keep sb guessing to not tell someone what is going to happen next: a film that really keeps the audience guessing

guess

3 I guess a) said when you think that something is true or likely: I wasn’t there, but I guess Mr. Radkin yelled at Jeannie. His light’s on, so I guess he’s still up. b) said in order to show that you do not feel very strongly about what you are planning or agreeing to do: I guess I’ll stay home tonight.

4 I guess so/not used in order to say yes or no to a question or statement, when you are not very sure: “She wasn’t happy?” | “I guess not.” 5 guess what you’ll never guess who/what etc. said when you are about to tell someone something that will surprise him/her: You’ll never guess who I saw today.

guest n. [C] 1 an attempt to guess something: Just take/make a guess. | I can only hazard a guess (=make a guess) on how old she is.

guess
noun] for guests to use: the guest room | guest towels guffaw /ˈɡuʃ/ v [I] to laugh loudly —guffaw n. [C]

THESSARUS
laugh, giggle, chuckle, cackle, snicker, titter ➔ LAUGH

GUI /ˈɡuː/ n. [U] it graphical user interface a way of arranging information on a computer screen using pictures, which makes it easier for you to tell the computer what to do guidance /ˈɡʌɪdəns/ n. [U] helpful advice about work, education, etc.: Ms. Norris has given me a lot of guidance about colleges and careers.

THESSARUS
advice, tip, suggestion, recommendation, counseling, warning ➔ ADVICE guide, counselor n. [C] someone who works in a school, giving advice to students about what subjects to study and helping them with personal problems guide1 /ˈɡaɪd/ n. [C] 1 someone whose job is to take tourists to a place, or show a place to tourists: a tour guide 2 a book that provides information about a particular subject or explains how to do something: a guide for new parents 3 something that helps you decide what is likely to happen or helps you to make a decision: The balance sheet is a fairly reliable guide to the company’s financial position.

guide2 v. [T] 1 to take someone to or through a place that you know very well, showing him/her the way: He offered to guide us around/through the city.

THESSARUS
escort, usher ➔ LEAD

2 to help someone or something to move in a particular direction: The pilot guided the plane to a safe landing. 3 to help someone to do something or to make a decision: Children need parents to guide them.
guide-book /ˈɡaɪdbʊk/ n. [C] a special book about a city or country that gives details about the place and its history guide-lines /ˈɡaɪdlaɪnz/ n. [plural] rules or instructions about the best way to do something: the guidelines for health and safety at work

THESSARUS
rule, law, regulation, restriction, statute, code, precept ➔ RULE guild /ɡaɪld/ n. [C] an organization of people who share the same interests, skills, or profession: the writers’ guild guile /ˈɡiːl/ n. [U] (formal) the use of smart but dishonest methods to deceive someone guile-less /ˈɡiːl-ɪs/ adj. behaving in an honest way, without trying to deceive people guil-to-line /ˈɡuɪltoʊtɪn, ˈɡiːl-ʊtɪn/ n. [C] a piece of equipment that was used in past times to cut off the heads of criminals [Origin: 1700—1800 French, from Joseph Guillotin (1738—1814), French doctor who invented it] —guillotine v. [T] guilt /ɡuːlt/ n. [U] 1 a strong feeling of shame and sadness that you have when you know or believe you have done something wrong: Marta felt a sense of guilt about leaving home. | He used to buy them expensive presents out of guilt.

THESSARUS
shame — the feeling of being guilty or embarrassed that you have after doing something that is wrong: I was too scared to help them, and I was filled with shame. remorse — a strong feeling of being sorry for doing something very bad: a murderer who showed no remorse conscience — the set of feelings that tell you whether what you are doing is morally right or wrong: My conscience wouldn’t allow me to lie to her.

guilt-ridden adj. feeling extremely guilty about something guilty /ˈɡiːltɪ/ adj. 1 ashamed and sad because you have done something that you know is wrong: I feel guilty about not inviting her to the party. | I don’t think of watching TV as a guilty pleasure (=something you like doing but feel guilty about). | His guilty conscience kept him awake at night.

THESSARUS
ashamed — unhappy and disappointed with yourself because you have done something wrong or unpleasant: You should be ashamed of yourself for lying to your mother. embarrassed — feeling slightly worried about what people will think of you because you have done something stupid or silly: I forgot his name, and I felt so embarrassed. | I’m embarrassed to say I voted for him. contrite (formal) — feeling guilty and sorry for something bad that you have done: She felt suddenly contrite, and apologized.

2 having broken a law or a rule (formal) innocent: I was not guilty of doing anything wrong. | The jury found him guilty of murder. | Her lawyers entered a guilty plea. ➔ COURT —guiltily adv. —giltiness n. [U] guinea pig /ˈɡniːə pɪɡ/ n. [C] 1 a small animal like a rat with fur, short ears, and no tail that is

THESSARUS
—cackle, snicker, titter ➔ LAUGH

1800 French, from Joseph Guillotin (1738—1814), French doctor who invented it

COURT —guiltily adv. —giltiness n. [U] guise /gəz/ n. [C] (formal) the way someone or something seems to be, which is meant to hide the truth: In under the guise of being protectors, the army took over the government.

gul·tar /gʊltər/ n. [C] a musical instrument with six strings, a long neck, and a wooden body, which you play by pulling the strings (origin: 1700 French guitare, from Spanish guitarra, from Arabic qitar, from Greek kithara type of stringed instrument) —guitarist n. [C] gul·ch /gʊlkə/ n. [C] EARTH SCIENCES a narrow deep valley formed by flowing water, but usually dry —gullies

Gulf Stream n. the Gulf Stream EARTH SCIENCES a current of warm water that flows northeast in the Atlantic Ocean from the Gulf of Mexico toward Europe

Gulf /gʊlf/ n. [C] a SEAGULL

gull·let /gʊləl/ n. [C] (informal) the tube through which food goes down your throat —gulping

gul·py /gʊlpɪ/ adj. a gullible person always believes what other people say, and is therefore easy to trick —gullibility /gʊliˈbɪləti/ n. [U]

gul·ly /gʊlɪ/ n. (plural gullies) [C] 1 EARTH SCIENCES a small narrow valley, formed by a lot of water flowing down the side of a hill 2 a deep DITCH

gulp /ɡʌlp/ v. 1 [T] also gulp down to swallow something quickly: She gulped her tea and ran to catch the bus. 2 [T] also gulp in to take in large breaths of air quickly. Steve leaned on the car and gulped in the night air. 3 [I] to swallow suddenly because you are surprised or nervous: Shula read the test questions, and gulped.

gulp s th ↔ back phr. v. to stop yourself from expressing your feelings: The boy was trying to gulp back his tears.

gulp /ɡʌlp/ n. [C] an act of swallowing something quickly: He drank his beer in one gulp.

gum /ɡʌm/ n. 1 [C] a sweet substance that you chew for a long time but do not swallow 2 [C] usually plural the pink part inside your mouth that holds your teeth 3 [U] biology a sticky substance in the stems of some trees —gummy adj.

gum·bo /ɡʌmboʊ/ n. [U] a thick soup made with meat, fish, and particular vegetables —gumbo soup gump·tion /ɡʌmpʃən/ n. [U] (informal) the ability and determination to decide what needs to be done and to do it: At least he had the gumption to call the police.

gun /ɡʌn/ n. 1 a weapon from which bullets are fired: He was carrying a gun. 2 a loaded gun

I’ve never fired a gun in my life. 1 He had a gun in the car. 2 big/top gun (informal) someone who controls an organization, or who is the most successful person in a group 3 a tool used in order to send out a liquid by pressure: a spray gun —jump the gun at JUMP, stick to your guns at STICK TO

gung /ɡʊŋ/ v. (gunned, gunning) [T] 1 (informal) to make the engine of a car go very fast by pressing the ACCELERATOR very hard 2 be gunning for sb to be trying very hard to obtain something: They’re gunning for their third straight Superbowl win. 3 be gunning for sb (informal) to be trying to find an opportunity to criticize or harm someone gun sb ↔ down phr. v. to shoot someone and badly injure or kill him/her: He was gunned down outside his own home.

gun·boat /ɡʌnbəʊt/ n. [C] a small military ship that carries several large guns —gun con, trol n. [U] laws that restrict the possession and use of guns gun·fire /ɡʌnfər/ n. [U] the repeated shooting of guns, or the noise made by this —gunshot: We heard gunfire in the distance. 1 an exchange of gunfire (= when people are shooting at each other for a short time)

gung-ho /ɡʊŋˈhoʊ/ adj. (informal) very eager, or too eager to do something: a gung-ho supporter of the president [origin: 1900–2000 Chinese gonghe, from jiongguo gongye hozo she “Chinese Industrial Cooperatives Society,” used as a battle cry (meaning “work together”) by U.S. soldiers in World War II]

gunk /ɡʊŋk/ n. [U] (informal) any substance that is thick, dirty, and sticky: There’s a bunch of gunk clogging the drain.

gun·man /ɡʊnmən/ n. (plural gunmen /ˌɡʌnmən/) [C] a criminal who uses a gun —gunmen gun·ner /ɡʊnˈɛr/ n. [C] a soldier, sailor, etc. whose job is to aim or fire a large gun gun·point /ɡʊnˈpɔɪnt/ n. at gunpoint while threatening people with a gun, or being threatened with a gun: She was robbed at gunpoint gun·pow·der /ɡʊnˈpouder/ n. [U] an explosive substance in the form of powder gun·run·ner /ɡʊrnʌnər/ n. [U] the activity of taking guns into a country secretly and illegally —gunrunner n. [C]

gun·shot /ɡʊnˈʃɒt/ n. 1 [C] the action of shooting a gun, or the sound that this makes —gunfire: We heard a gunshot and a loud scream. 2 [U] the bullets that are shot from a gun: a gunshot wound

gup·py /ɡʊpɪ/ n. (plural guppies) [C] a small brightly colored tropical fish

gur·gle /ɡɜrl/ v. [I] 1 if water gurgles, it flows along gently with a pleasant low sound 2 if a baby gurgles, it makes a happy low sound in its throat —gurgle n. [C] guru /ˈɡɜru/ n. [C] (informal) someone who knows a lot about a particular subject, and to gusto

1) /gəst/ n. [countable] a quantity of food or drink that is consumed in a short time

2) /gəst/ v. [intransitive] to express your praise, pleasure, etc. in a way that is strong:
   “This is so exciting,” gushed Dana.

The Thesaurus

- pour, flow, drip, leak, ooze, spurt, run, come out ➔ POUR
- expressing admiration, pleasure, etc. in a way that is strong:
  - gushing
  - gust
  - gut

- gust
  - v.
  - n.

- gut reaction
  - a reaction or feeling that you are sure is right, although you cannot give a reason for it:
  - “I’m not going to say what he really thought,” wrote Gust, a beer gut 4 a) guts [plural] informal the organs inside your body
  - b) [C] BIOLOGY the tube in your body through which food passes

- guts
  - v. [past tense and past participle gutted]
  - gut reaction/feeling/instinct
  - (informal) a reaction or feeling that you are sure is right, although you cannot give a reason for it:
  - My gut reaction is that it’s a bad idea.
  - 2 guts plural informal the courage and determination you need to do something difficult or unpleasant:
  - He didn’t have the guts to say what he really thought.
  - It takes guts to start a business on your own.
  - 3 guts plural informal someone’s stomach, especially when it is large:
  - He felt as if someone had just kicked him in the gut.
  - a beer gut 4 a) guts plural informal the organs inside your body
  - b) [C] BIOLOGY the tube in your body through which food passes

- gusty adj.

- wind, breeze, gale, storm, hurricane, tornado, typhoon ➔ WIND

- gymnasium
  - a place where you exercise with no clothes on
  - an Olympic gymnast

- gymnastics
  - a sport involving physical exercise:
    - gymnastics as a sport:
    - an Olympic gymnast

- gymnastics as a sport
  - a sport involving physical exercise:
    - gymnastics as a sport:
    - an Olympic gymnast

- gymnast
  - a person who does gymnastics as a sport:
    - an Olympic gymnast

- gynecological
  - relating to or about two or more people, male or female
  - gynecologist [medical] a doctor who specializes in the study and treatment of medical conditions that affect women
  - —gynecological [medical]

- gypsy
  - plural gypsies
  - a member of a group of people who traditionally live and travel around in caravans.
  - Most gypsies prefer to be called Romanies.
  - 2 someone who does not like to stay in the same place for a long time

- gyrate
  - to turn around fast in circles: dancers gyrating wildly haberdashery /hæbədɑːsərɪ/ n. (plural haberdasheries) (C.U.) old-fashioned a store or part of a store that sells men’s clothing, or the clothes sold there habit /ˈhæbɪt/ n. 1 [C.U.] something that you do regularly, and usually without thinking: healthy eating habit | Jen was in the habit of going to lunch with them every day. | Try to get in the habit of exercising regularly. | After my son moved out, I was still cleaning his room out of habit (=because it was a habit).

habitual /ˈhæbɪtjuəl/ adj. 1 happening as a habit, or often doing something because it is a habit: a habitual smoker 2 [only before noun] usual or typical: James took his habitual morning walk around the park. —habitually adv habitation /ˈhæbɪtəʃən/ n. [U] LAW the right of someone who is in prison to come to a court of law so that the court can decide whether s/he should stay in prison or be freed haberdasheries /hæbədɑːˈʃɛrɪz/ n. people or is bad for your health: the chance to see the gorillas in their natural habitat.

ha-ha /ˈhæhə/ interjection (spoken) said when you are surprised or pleased about something: Ha! I knew I was right. —HA HA ha-ha-ha /ˈhæhəˌhæ/ interjection used in writing to represent laughter hail /heɪl/ v. 1 [T] to call out to someone in order hag /hæg/ n. 1 an ugly or mean woman, especially one who is old or looks like a witch hag-gard /ˈhægərd/ adj. having lines on your face and dark marks around your eyes because you are tired, sick, or worried: He was thin and haggard. [origin: 1500—1600 French hagard “wild”] haggle /ˈhæɡl/ v. [I] to argue about the amount of money you will pay for something: The car dealer and I were haggling over the price for an hour.

hack /hæk/ v. 1 [T] to cut something into pieces roughly or violently, or to hurt someone badly with a weapon such as a sword: We hacked away the ivy that was growing over the wall. | He was hacked to death by the mob. 2 [U] to use a computer in order to secretly and illegally enter someone else’s computer system: Somebody hacked into the company’s central database. 3 sb can’t hack it (informal) used in order to say that someone cannot continue to do something because it is too difficult or boring. 4 [I] to cough very loudly and painfully: a hacking cough hackneyed /ˈhæknɪd/ adj. a hackneyed phrase is boring and does not have much meaning because it has been used too often hack-saw /ˈhæksɔʊ/ n. [C] a small saw (scissoring tool) used especially to cut metal hack-adock /ˈhækædɔk/ n. (plural hackdock) [C.U.] a common fish that lives in northern oceans, or the meat from this fish bad habit 3 don’t make a habit of (doing)sth used in order to tell someone who has done something bad or wrong that she should not do it again: You can turn your paper in late this time, but don’t make a habit of it. 4 [C] a set of long loose clothes worn by members of some religious groups habit a ble /ˈhæbitəbl/ adj. good enough for people to live in habit ation /ˈhæbɪteɪʃən/ n. [U] (formal) the act of living in a place: There was no sign of habitation on the island.

habit uation /ˈhæbɪteɪʃən/ n. [U] BIOLOGY a basic learning process by which the reaction of a person, animal, or other living thing to a STIMULUS (=something that makes them move or react) gradually becomes less strong, so that after a period of time the person, animal, etc. does not react at all habituation /ˈhæbɪteɪʃən/ n. [U] BIOLOGY the process of punishing children by making them sit somewhere for a long time: The practice of punishing children by making them sit somewhere for a long time is a bad habit.

hail it /ˈhælət/ the eighth letter of the English alphabet habit ation /ˈhæbɪteɪʃən/ n. [U] BIOLOGY the right of someone who is in prison to come to a court of law so that the court can decide whether s/he should stay in prison or be freed

habit ation /ˈhæbɪteɪʃən/ n. [U] BIOLOGY the practice of punishing children by making them sit somewhere for a long time: The practice of punishing children by making them sit somewhere for a long time is a bad habit.

habit ation /ˈhæbɪteɪʃən/ n. [U] BIOLOGY the basic learning process by which the reaction of a person, animal, or other living thing to a STIMULUS (=something that makes them move or react) gradually becomes less strong, so that after a period of time the person, animal, etc. does not react at all

habit ation /ˈhæbɪteɪʃən/ n. [U] BIOLOGY the practice of punishing children by making them sit somewhere for a long time: The practice of punishing children by making them sit somewhere for a long time is a bad habit.

habit ation /ˈhæbɪteɪʃən/ n. [U] BIOLOGY the basic learning process by which the reaction of a person, animal, or other living thing to a STIMULUS (=something that makes them move or react) gradually becomes less strong, so that after a period of time the person, animal, etc. does not react at all

habit ation /ˈhæbɪteɪʃən/ n. [U] BIOLOGY the practice of punishing children by making them sit somewhere for a long time: The practice of punishing children by making them sit somewhere for a long time is a bad habit.

habit ation /ˈhæbɪteɪʃən/ n. [U] BIOLOGY the basic learning process by which the reaction of a person, animal, or other living thing to a STIMULUS (=something that makes them move or react) gradually becomes less strong, so that after a period of time the person, animal, etc. does not react at all

habit ation /ˈhæbɪteɪʃən/ n. [U] BIOLOGY the practice of punishing children by making them sit somewhere for a long time: The practice of punishing children by making them sit somewhere for a long time is a bad habit.

habit ation /ˈhæbɪteɪʃən/ n. [U] BIOLOGY the basic learning process by which the reaction of a person, animal, or other living thing to a STIMULUS (=something that makes them move or react) gradually becomes less strong, so that after a period of time the person, animal, etc. does not react at all

habit ation /ˈhæbɪteɪʃən/ n. [U] BIOLOGY the practice of punishing children by making them sit somewhere for a long time: The practice of punishing children by making them sit somewhere for a long time is a bad habit.

habit ation /ˈhæbɪteɪʃən/ n. [U] BIOLOGY the basic learning process by which the reaction of a person, animal, or other living thing to a STIMULUS (=something that makes them move or react) gradually becomes less strong, so that after a period of time the person, animal, etc. does not react at all

habit ation /ˈhæbɪteɪʃən/ n. [U] BIOLOGY the practice of punishing children by making them sit somewhere for a long time: The practice of punishing children by making them sit somewhere for a long time is a bad habit.

habit ation /ˈhæbɪteɪʃən/ n. [U] BIOLOGY the basic learning process by which the reaction of a person, animal, or other living thing to a STIMULUS (=something that makes them move or react) gradually becomes less strong, so that after a period of time the person, animal, etc. does not react at all

habit ation /ˈhæbɪteɪʃən/ n. [U] BIOLOGY the practice of punishing children by making them sit somewhere for a long time: The practice of punishing children by making them sit somewhere for a long time is a bad habit.
to get his/her attention: He was hailing a taxi/limousine (=waving at a taxi to make it stop). 2 [i] if it hails, frozen rain falls from the sky hail verb as sth phr. v. to publicly state how good someone or something is: Their discovery was hailed as the most important event of the century.

hail from sth phr. v. to come from a particular place: The professor hailed from Massachusetts.

hail ¹ n. 1 [U] small drops of frozen rain that fall from the sky

hailstone ² n. a small hard drop of frozen rain that is shot or thrown at someone hairy adj. 1 [adjective] having a lot of body hair: a hairy chest 2 (informal) dangerous or frightening: I’ve had a few hairy moments when sailing.

hairspray n. [C] a sticky liquid that you put onto your hair in order to make it stay in place half ¹ 1 [one of two equal parts of something; equivalent to one of two equal parts of something; Half of 10 is 5. I do not know half of the things I can do.]

half ² adj. 1 [only before noun] 50% (½) of an amount, time, distance, number, etc.: The wall is half a mile long. | Only half the guests had arrived by 7:00. | I’ll wait another half hour (=30 minutes), but then I have to go. 2 half the time/people etc. a lot of the time, people, etc.: I was up half the night worrying about you. 3 be half the battle (spoken) used in order to say that when you have done the most difficult part of an activity, the rest is easy: Getting your children to listen to you is half the battle. 4 if something or someone is half one thing and half something else, he, she, or it is a combination of those two things: She’s half Mexican and half German. 5 half a dozen also a half dozen a) six: half a dozen eggs b) a small number of people or things: There were half a dozen other people in front of me. 6 half a second/minute (spoken) a very short time: If you can wait half a second, I’ll be ready to go.

half ³ n. pron. [C] (plural halfers) ¹ one of two equal parts of something; Half of 10 is 5.
you want the sandwich cut in half (in two equal pieces)? | Half of the hotel’s rooms have double beds in them. Don’t say “the half of the rooms.”

| Our profits increased in the second half of the year. | My son’s two and a half (= 2½) now.

| Don’t say “two and one half.”

The hotel’s rooms have double beds in them.

| Don’t say “the half of the rooms.”

| Don’t say “two and one half.”

| 2 half past one/two/three etc. thirty minutes after the hour mentioned. | We should arrive there at half past three.

| 3 one of two parts into which a sports event is divided: The score was 21 to 10 at the end of the second half.

| half adj 1 partly but not completely: I was half expecting her to say “no.” | She sat up in bed, still half asleep.

| 2 half as good/interesting etc. (as sth) much less good, less interesting, etc. than someone or something else: The movie wasn’t half as good as the book.

| 3 not half bad said when something that you expected to be bad is actually good: The dinner wasn’t half bad.

| 4 half and half partly one thing and partly something else: The group was about half and half, men and women.

| half-and-half n [U] a mixture of milk and cream, used in coffee

| half-baked adj (informal) a half-baked idea, plan, or suggestion is not sensible or intelligent enough to be successful

| half-brother n [C] a brother who is the child of only one of your parents

| half-hearted adj a half-hearted attempt is something that you do without really trying or wanting to be successful: a half-hearted effort

| half-life n [singular] PHYSICS the amount of time it takes for a radioactive substance to lose half of its radioactivity

| half-mast n fly/be at half-mast if a flag flies or is at half-mast, it is lowered to the middle of its pole because someone important has died

| half note n [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS a musical note that continues for half the length of a whole note → QUARTER NOTE

| half-sister n [C] a sister who is the child of only one of your parents

| half step n [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS the difference in pitch between any two notes that are next to each other on a piano

| half-time /'hæftaɪm/ n [U] a period of rest between two parts of a game such as football or basketball: Our team was in the lead at halftime.

hal·way /ˈhæl·weɪ/ adj., adv. at the middle point in space or time between two things: I fell asleep halfway through the concert. | a town halfway between Los Angeles and San Francisco | Their boat was halfway across the lake when it started to rain. | We had reached the halfway mark/point of the trail. ➔ meet (sb) halfway at X hal·i·but /ˈhæl·əbət/ n. [C/U] a large flat sea fish, or the meat from this fish hall /hɔl/ n. [C] 1 a passage in a house or building that leads to other rooms: The bathroom’s just down the hall. 2 a public building or large room that is used for events such as meetings, concerts, and parties: a concert at Carnegie Hall in New York | a dance hall [Origin: Old English heal] | hal·le·lu·jah /ˈhæləˌluhˈja/ interjection said in order to express thanks or praise to God hall·mark /ˈhælmɑrk/ n. [C] 1 a quality, idea, or method that is typical of a particular person or thing: Excellent service has always been the hallmark of this hotel. 2 an official mark put on silver, gold, or platinum to prove that it is real

Hall of Fame n. (plural Halls of Fame) [C] a list of famous sports players, or a building in which the players’ uniforms, sports equipment, and information about them is kept ➔ Hall of Famer n. [C]: baseball Hall of Famer, Roger Clemens hal·lowed /ˈhæləʊd/ adj. 1 made holy: hallowed ground 2 respected, honored, and important: the hallowed walls of the U.S. Supreme Court

Hal·low·een /ˈhæləwɛn/, ˈhæ-l-ən/ n. [U] a holiday on the night of October 31, when children wear costumes, play tricks, and walk from house to house in order to get candy ➔ TRICK OR TREAT [Origin: 1700—1800 All Hallow Even “All Saints’ Eve”] hal·lu·ci·na·tion /ˈhæləˌluːsi·neɪʃən/ n. [C,U] something you see or hear that is not really there, or the experience of this, usually caused by a drug or mental illness ➔ hallucinate /ˈhæləˌluːsiˌnet/ v. [T] hal·lu·ci·no·gen·i·cally /ˈhæləˌluːsiˌnədʒənɪˈkeɪli/ adv. hallucinogenic drugs cause hallucinations hall·way /ˈhælweɪ/ n. [C] a Hall hal·lo·lo·u /ˈhæləˌlu/ n. (plural halos) [C] a circle of light that is painted above the head of a holy person in a religious painting hal·o·gen /ˈhælədʒən/ n. [U] CHEMISTRY one of a group of five simple chemical substances that make compounds easily. They are: CHLORINE, FLUORINE, IODINE, BROMINE, and ASTATINE. [Origin: 1800—1900 Swedish, Greek hals “salt”] hal·o·gen·a·tic /ˈhæləˌdʒənəˈtɪk/ adj. a halogen lamp/light/bulb etc., a type of lamp or light bulb that uses halogen gas to produce light halt /hɔlt/ n. [T] 1 to stop or make something stop: Safety concerns have halted work on the dam. 2 halt [sing] a stop or pause: Traffic suddenly came/ground to a halt. | The project was brought to a halt (=ended) due to lack of money.

hal·ter /ˈhɔlər/ n. [C] 1 also halter top a piece of women’s clothing that ties behind the neck and does not cover the arms or back. 2 a rope or leather band fastened around a horse’s head in order to lead it halt·ing /ˈhɔltɪŋ/ adj. stopping a lot when you move or speak, especially because you are nervous: her halting voice hal·ve /ˈhæv/ v. [T] 1 to reduce the amount of something by half: The number of people taking part in the 10k run has almost halved this year. 2 to cut something into two equal parts: Wash and halve the mushrooms.

hal·ves /ˈhævz/ n. the plural of HALF ham·f/ˈhæm/ n. [C,U] meat from the upper part of a pig’s leg that is preserved with salt or smoke: a ham sandwich [Origin: (1) Old English hamm] ham·med /ˈhæmpt/ v. (hammered, hammering) ham it up (informal) to perform or behave with too much false emotion ham·burg·er /ˈhæmˌbɔrɡər/ n. [U] beef that is ground (GRIND) into very small pieces: a pound of hamburger 2 [C] BEER that has been ground (GRIND) into very small pieces and is then cooked in a flat round shape and eaten between pieces of round bread ➔ CHEESEBURGER [Origin: 1800—1900 German “of Hamburg,” city in Germany]

ham·let /ˈhæmlət/ n. [C] a very small VILLAGE

ham·mer /ˈhæm/ n. [C] a tool with a heavy metal part on a straight handle, used for hitting nails into wood hammer·2 v. 1 [T] to hit something with a hammer in order to force it into a particular position or shape: You’ll have to hammer a few nails into the frame. 2 [I] to hit something again and again, making a lot of noise: They hammered on the door until I opened it.

ham·mer·ize /ˈhæmərˌraɪz/ v. to continue repeating something until people completely understand it: The message must be hammered home that crime doesn’t pay.

ham·mer·ized /ˈhæmərˌraɪzd/ v. to finally agree on a solution, contract, etc. after arguing about details for a long time: It took several days to hammer out an agreement.

ham·mock /ˈhæmək/ n. [C] a large piece of material or a net you can sleep on that hangs between two trees or poles [Origin: 1500—1600 Spanish hamaca, from Taino (a Caribbean language)] ham·per /ˈhæmp/ v. [T] to make someone have difficulty moving, doing something, or achieving something: The searches for the missing girl were hampered by the bad weather.

hamper

hamster

hamstring

hamper

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand

hand
handed the phone over to me. 2 to give someone power or responsibility over something which you used to be in charge of: He will be handing over the business to his son.

hand-bag /ˈhændbæg/ n. [C] a PURSE hand-book /ˈhændbʊk/ n. [C] a small book with instructions and information about a particular subject: an employee handbook hand-cuff /ˈhændkʌf/ v. [T] to put handcuffs on someone hand-cuffs /ˈhændkʌfs/ n. [plural] two metal rings joined by a chain, used for holding a prisoner’s wrists together: Two people were arrested and taken away in handcuffs.

hand-ful /ˈhændfʊl/ n. [C] 1 an amount that you can hold in your hand: a handful of nuts 2 a handful of sth a small number of people or things: Only a handful of people showed up. 3 a handful (triformal) someone, especially a child, who is difficult to control: She’s a real handful!

hand-gre,nade /ˈhændgrəd/ n. [C] a small bomb that is thrown by a person rather than shot from a machine hand-gun /ˈhændɡʌn/ n. [C] a small gun you hold in one hand when you shoot hand-held /ˈhændhɛld/ adj. [only before noun] a handheld machine is small enough to hold in your hand when using it: a handheld computer hand-I,cap/ˈhændɪˌkeɪp/ n. [C] 1 something permanently wrong with a person’s mind or body: a severe physical handicap 2 something that makes it difficult for you to do or achieve something: Not being able to speak Spanish was a real handicap. [Origin: 1700—1800 handicap “game in which people put their hand, holding money for a bet, into a hat” (1600—1700), from hand in cap].

handicap2 v. (handicapped, handicapping) [T] to make it difficult for someone to do something that s/he wants to do: The charity is handicapped by a lack of funds.

hand-I,capped /ˈhændɪˌkeɪpt/ adj. 1 not able to use a part of your body or mind normally because it has been damaged. Many people think that this word is offensive ➔ DISABLING, IMPAIRMENT: schools for mentally/physically handicapped children 2 the handicapped people who are mentally or physically handicapped hand-I,work /ˈhændɪˌwɜːk/ n. [U] something that someone does or makes: The documentary is the handiwork of a respected director.

hand-ker-chief /ˈhændkərtʃif/ n. [C] a piece of cloth that you use for drying your nose or eyes hand-I /ˈhændI/ v. [T] 1 to deal with a situation or problem: The principal handled the situation very well. 2 the job was so stressful, he couldn’t handle it any longer.

hand-icap n. [C] 1 the act of formally giving someone else control of a place or business: The handover of the business to his daughter has gone smoothly. 2 a piece of paper with printed or copied information that is given to people in a class, meeting, etc.: Let’s look at the first page of the handout.

hand-o-ver /ˈhændəʊvər/ n. [singular] the act of formally giving someone else control of a place or business: The handover of the business to his daughter has gone smoothly.

hand-picked /ˈhændpɪkt/ adj. someone who is handpicked has been carefully chosen for a particular purpose hand-set /ˈhændset/ n. [C] 1 the part of a telephone that you hold with your hand to your ear and mouth 2 a CELL PHONE hands-free /ˈhændzfrɪ/ adj. [only before noun] a handsfree machine is one that you operate without using your hands: a handsfree headset for your cell phone hand-shake /ˈhændʃeɪk/ n. [C] the action of taking someone’s right hand and shaking it, usually done when people meet or leave each other: a firm handshake hands off interaction said when warning someone not to touch something that is yours: Hands off my cookies!

hands-off adj. 1 a hands-off approach/attitude etc., a method, attitude, etc. taken by someone who likes to leave other people to make decisions and do all the work 2 someone who is hands-off does not like to be directly involved in a job and leaves other people to make the decisions and do all the work.
handsome /ˈhænsəm/ adj. 1 a) a man who is handsome is attractive: He was a handsome young man. b) a woman who is handsome looks healthy and strong in an attractive way.

hand·stand /ˈhændstænd/ n. [C] a movement in which you kick your legs up into the air so that you are upside down and supporting yourself on your hands.

hand·to·mouth adj. with just enough money and food to live, and nothing for the future: For years they had been living hand to mouth.

hand·writ·ing /ˈhændˌrɪtɪŋ/ n. [U] the way someone writes when she uses a pen or a pencil: She has very neat handwriting.

hand-y /ˈhændi/ adj. 1 useful, or simple to use: The extra key may come in handy (=be useful in the future). 2 (informal) near and easy to reach: You should always keep a first aid kit handy. 3 be handy with sth to be good at using something, especially a tool: Terry’s very handy with a needle and thread.

hand·y·man /ˈhændiˌmæn/ n. (plural handymen /ˈhændɪˌmɛn/) C] someone who is good at making and repairing things.

hang /hæŋ/ v. (past tense and past participle hanged /ˈhæŋt/) 1 [I/T] to put something somewhere so that its top part is fixed but its bottom part is free to move, or to be in this position: You can hang your coat in the closet. 2 paintings hanging on the wall. 2 hang in the balance to be in a situation in which the result is not certain, and something bad may happen: The whole future of the airline is hanging in the balance. 3 leave sb/sth hanging to fail to finish something, or tell someone your decision about something: The investigation should not be left hanging. 4 [i] to stay in the air in the same place for a long time: Dark clouds hang over the valley. 5 hang your head to look ashamed and embarrassed. 6 hang in there also hang tough to remain determined to succeed in a difficult situation: Just hang in there, Midori, things will get better. 7 hang a right/left said in order to tell the driver of a car to turn right or left.

hang around phr. v. (informal) 1 to stay in one place without doing very much, often because you are waiting for someone: I hung around for about an hour and then left. 2 hang around with sb to spend a lot of time with someone: He’s been hanging around with Rick a lot lately.

hang back phr. v. to be unwilling to say or do something, often because you are shy: Stella ran out to see what was happening, but the others hung back.

hang on phr. v. 1 (informal) to hold something tightly: Hang on, everybody, the road’s pretty bumpy. 2 hang on! (spoken) said in order to tell someone to wait for you: Hang on, I’ll be with you in a minute! 3 hang onto sb/sth phr. v. (spoken) to keep something, or continue a relationship with someone: I’d hang onto that letter. You might need it later.

hang out phr. v. (informal) to spend a lot of time at a particular place or with particular people: A lot of kids hang out at the mall.

hang up phr. v. 1 to put the telephone down at the end of a conversation: Please hang up and dial again. 2 hang up on to put something such as clothes on a hook or hanger.

hang glider n. (past tense and past participle hanged) [I/T] to kill someone by dropping him/her with a rope around his/her neck, as a punishment for a crime, or to die in this way: Clayton hanged himself in his prison cell. He was hanged for the killings.

hang up! (informal) to learn how to do something: Driving a car is hard at first, but you’ll get the hang of it.

hang·ar /ˈhæŋər,ˈhæŋɡər/ n. [C] a very large building where aircraft are kept.

hang·er /ˈhæŋər/ n. [C] a thing for hanging clothes on, made of a curved piece of metal, wood, or plastic with a hook on it.

hang·er·on·n·n. (plural hangers-on) [C] (disapproving) someone who tries to spend a lot of time with important people, so that she can get some advantage.

hang·glider n. [C] a large frame covered with cloth, that you hang from and fly slowly through the air, without an engine.

hang·gling n. [U] the sport of flying using a hang glider.

hang·ing /ˈhæŋɪŋ/ n. [C,U] the action of killing someone by dropping him/her with a rope around his/her neck as a punishment for a crime.

hang·man /ˈhæŋmæn/ n. (plural hangmen /ˈhæŋmən/) [C] someone whose job is to kill criminals by hanging them.

hang·nail /ˈhæŋneɪl/ n. [C] a piece of dead skin that has become loose near the bottom of your fingernail.

hang·out /ˈhæŋaʊt/ n. [C] (informal) a place that you like to go to often, especially with friends: The coffee shop is our favorite hangout.
hang-over /ˈhæŋˌəʊvər/ n  [C] the feeling of sickness that someone has the day after s/he has drunk too much alcohol; I have a really bad hang-over. hang-up /ˈhæŋpʌp/ n  [C] (informal) something that you are worried or embarrassed about; She has a lot of hang-ups about relationships. hank-er /ˈhæŋkər/ v  [I] (informal) to have a very strong desire for something over a period of time: The voters seem to be hankering for change. hankering /ˈhæŋkərɪŋ/ n  [sing] han-kie /ˈhæŋkɪ/ n (plural hankies) [C] (informal) a hankercchief

hap·ky·pan·ky | hap·ki·pæ·nki /ˈhæŋkɪpæˈnki/ n [U] (informal, humorous) sexual or criminal behavior that is not very serious Ha-nuk·kah /ˈhæŋkɒkl/ n an eight-day Jewish holiday in December hap·haz·ard /ˈhæpˌhæzərd/ adj (disapproving) happening or done in a way that is not organized or planned —haphazardly adv hap·less /ˈhæplɪs/ adj (literary) unlucky hap·loid /ˈhæplɔɪd/ n [C] Biology a cell that contains only one set of chromosomes and one set of genes —haploid adj; haploid cells hap·pen /ˈhæpən/ v  [I] 1 if an event or situation happens, it exists and continues for a period of time, usually without being planned: Did anything exciting happen while I was away? | We must do all we can to prevent such a disaster ever happening again. | We'll still be friends whatever happens. 2 happen to sb/sth to affect someone or something: Strange things have been happening to me lately. 3 to be the result of something you do: When I try to turn on the motor, nothing happens. | What happens if your parents find out? 4 happen to do sth to do or to have something by chance: I happened to see Hannah at the store today. 5 sb/sth happens to be sth (spoken) said when you are angry or annoyed, to add force to what you are saying: That happens to be my foot that you just stepped on! 6 as it happens/it just so happens (spoken) used in order to say that something happens by chance, especially when this is surprising: It just so happened that Mike and I had gone to the same school. 7 what/whatever happened to sb/sth? used in order to ask where a person or thing is now: What happened to my blue sweater? | Whatever happened to Jenny Beale? [Origin: 1300—1400 hap “chance, luck” (13—20 centuries), from Old Norse hap!] happen on/upon sth with phr. v to meet someone or find something by chance: We just happened on the cabin when we were hiking one day. hap·pen·ing /ˈhæpənɪŋ/ adj (informal) fashionable and exciting: a happening club happen·ing2 n [C] something that happens: The paper has a listing of the day's happenings.

hap·pi·li·ties /ˈhæpɪˌliːtɪz/ n pl —hap·pi·li·ty /ˈhæpɪˌliːti/ n —hap·pi·li·ti·al·ly adv hap·ri·ty /ˈhæprɪti/ adv 1 in a happy way: Michelle smiled happily. | a happily married couple | Cinderella marries the prince and they live happily ever after (=for the rest of his/her life). 2 fortunately: Happily, no one was hurt in the fire. 3 very willingly: I'll happily watch the kids for you while you're gone. hap·pi·ness /ˈhæpɪnəs/ n [U] the state of being happy: Her face was glowing with happiness. | They found happiness together at last. hap·py /ˈhæpi/ adj (comparative happier, superlative happiest) 1 feeling pleased and cheerful, often because something good has happened to you and unhappy, sad: He was a happy child. | I've never felt happier in my life. | I'm happy (that) everything worked out in the end. | I don't think he was too happy about having to stay late. | Congratulations! I'm so happy for you.
happy-go-lucky

happy-go-lucky adj. enjoying life and not worrying about things happy hour n. [C] a short period of time when a bar sells drinks at a lower price harange /həˈræŋg/ v. [T] to speak in an angry way, often for a long time, to try to persuade someone that you are right —harangue n. [C] harass /həˈræs, ˈhærəs/ v. [T] to deliberately annoy or threaten someone, often over a long period of time: They claim that they are being harassed by the police.

harassment /həˈræsمنت, ˈhærəs-ment/ n. [U] behavior that is threatening or offensive to other people: Tina accused her boss of sexual harassment.

harbor /ˈhærboʊ/ n. [C] an area of water next to the land, where ships can stay safely harbor2 v. [T] 1 to protect someone by hiding him/her from the police 2 to keep hopes, bad thoughts, or fears in your mind for a long time: Ralph harbors no bitterness toward his ex-wife.

harbor3 adj. 1 FIRM TO TOUCH firm and stiff, and difficult to cut, press down, or break —soft: I can’t sleep on a hard mattress. | hard candy | The plums are still too hard to eat.

difficult difficult to do or understand —easy: Chemistry was one of the hardest classes I’ve ever taken. | The print was small and hard to read. | I find it extremely hard to believe that no one saw the accident. | It was hard for me to tell him the truth. | It’s hard to say (= difficult to know) when Glenn will be back.

A LOT OF EFFORT involving a lot of physical or mental effort: I had a hard day at work. | Mowing the lawn is hard work.

be hard on sb (informal) a) to treat someone in a way that is unfair or too strict: Don’t be hard on the children – they were only playing. b) to cause someone a lot of problems: It’s hard on her, having her husband in the hospital.

be hard on sth (informal) to have a bad effect on something: Aspirin can be pretty hard on your stomach.

give sb a hard time (informal) a) to make someone feel embarrassed or uncomfortable, often by making jokes about him/her: The guys were giving him a hard time about missing the ball. b) to criticize someone a lot

NOT KIND showing no kindness or sympathy: Mr. Katz is a hard man to work for, but he’s fair.

PROBLEMS full of problems, especially not enough money: Times were hard, and we were forced to sell our house. | My mother has had a hard life.

learn sth the hard way to learn about something by a bad experience or by making mistakes no hard feelings (spoken) used in order to tell someone that you no longer feel angry with him/her

WATER hard water has a lot of minerals in it and does not mix easily with soap —soft: [Origin: Old English heard] —hardness n. [U]

hard adv. 1 using a lot of effort: She has worked hard all her life. | We try hard to keep our customers happy. 2 with a lot of force: You need to hit the ball hard. | It’s raining hard outside. 3 be hard pressed/put/pushed to do sth (informal) to have difficulty doing something: The painters will be hard pressed to finish by 6 o’clock. 4 take sth hard to feel very upset about something: I didn’t know that Joe would take the news so hard.

hard-and-fast adj. hard-and-fast rules/regulations rules that cannot be changed hardback /ˈhɑrdbaɪk/ n. hard-and-fast rules/regulations rules that cannot be changed hardball /ˈhɑrdbɔl/ n. play hardball (informal) to be very determined to get what you want, especially in business or politics hard-boiled adj. 1 a hard-boiled egg has been boiled until it becomes solid 2 (written) not showing or influenced by your emotions a) tough: a hard-boiled policeman hard ‘cash n. [U] paper money and coins, not checks or credit cards hard ‘copy n. [C,U] information from a computer that is printed onto paper, or the printed papers themselves hard-core /ˈhɑrdkɔr/ adj. [only before noun] extreme, and unlikely to change: hardcore criminals hard-cover /ˈhɑrd,ˈkʌvər/ n. [C] a book that has a strong stiff cover —book hard ‘currency n. [C] ECONOMICS money from a country that has a strong economy, that is unlikely to lose its value hard ‘disk n. [C] a disk inside a computer, used for permanently storing a large amount of information hard drive n. [C] the part of a computer where information and programs are stored, consisting of hard disks and the electronic equipment that reads the information stored on them —see picture on page A6 drug ‘s n. [plural] very strong illegal drugs such as cocaine hard-en /ˈhɑrtn/ v [L T] 1 to become firm or stiff, or to make something do this: The glue takes about an hour to harden. 2 to become less kind, less affairs, and more determined, or to make someone become this way: Leslie’s face hardened, and she turned away from him. | a hardened criminal hard hat n [C] a protective hat, worn by workers in places where buildings are being built ➔ see picture at WAT hard-headed adj able to make difficult decisions without being influenced by your emotions hard-hearted adj not caring about other people’s feelings hard-hitting adj criticizing someone or something in a strong and effective way: a hard-hitting TV documentary hard-line /ˈhɑrl@n/ adj unwilling to change your extreme political opinions: hardliner conservative ➔ hardliner n. [C] hard liquor n. [U] strong alcohol such as WHISK-hard-ly /ˈhɑrlɪ/ adv. 1 almost or not at all none: hardly know the people I’m working with. | The children were so excited they could hardly speak. | Hardly anyone (=very few people) goes to the old theater anymore. | Katy is hardly ever (=almost never) at home. 2 (formal) used in order to say that something is not at all true, surprising, etc.: It’s hardly surprising that she won’t answer his calls after the way he’s treated her. | You can hardly blame Tom for not waiting.

hard-nosed adj not affected by emotions, and determined to get what you want: a hard-nosed negotiator hard of ‘hearing adj. [not before noun] unable to hear well hard-pressed adj having a lot of problems and not enough money or time: The program is meant to help hard-pressed families with young children.

hard rock n [U] loud rock music hard sell n. [singular] used in order to say that something is very hard to persuade you to buy something hard-ship /ˈhɑrʃip/ n. [C U] something that makes your life difficult, especially the condition of having very little money: Many families were suffering economic hardship. | the hardships of war hard up adj. (informal) not having much money: Scott was pretty hard up, so I gave him $20.

hard-ware /ˈhɑrkwɛr/ n. [L U] 1 It computer machinery and equipment, as opposed to the programs that make computers work ➔ SOFTWARE. 2 equipment and tools you use in your home and yard: a hardware store ➔ (where you can buy these things) hard-wired adj. It computer systems that are hard-wired are controlled by HARDWARE rather than SOFTWARE and cannot be easily changed by the user hard-wood /ˈhɑrwʊd/ n. [C U] strong heavy wood used for making furniture, or a type of tree that produces this kind of wood ➔ SOFTWOOD hard-working adj working seriously with a lot of effort, and not wasting time ➔ not lazy: a hard-working student hard-y /ˈhɑri/ adj. strong and healthy and able to live through difficult conditions: hardly plants hare /ˈhɛr/ n. [C] an animal like a rabbit, but larger, with longer ears and longer back legs hare-brained /ˈhɑrbreɪnd/ adj. not sensible or practical: a harebrained scheme hare-lip /ˈhɛrlɪp/ n. [singular, U] the condition of having a top lip that is divided into two parts hard-em /ˈhɑrəm, ‘hɑrm/ n. [C] 1 the group of wives or women who lived with a rich or powerful man in some Muslim societies in past times. 2 the rooms in a Muslim home where the women live hark/ hark/harken back to sth ppr v. to remember or to remind people of something from the past: The band’s music harks back to the 1950s.

har-lot /ˈhɑrlət/ n. [C] (literary) a PROSTITUTE harm /ˈhɑrm/ n. [U] 1 damage, injury, or trouble caused by someone’s actions or by an event: Some chemicals cause harm to the environment. | Just give it a taste; it won’t do you any harm. | Trying to lose weight can do more harm than good (because problems). 2 there’s no harm in doing sth used in order to say that even though someone hurt or upset someone else, this was not that person’s intention: I’m sure he didn’t mean any harm. 3 no harm done (spoken) said in order to tell someone that you are not upset by what s/he has done or said: “I’m sorry.” “That’s OK; no harm done.”

harm /v/ [T] to damage or hurt something: Too much sun will harm your skin.

harm-ful /ˈhɑrmfəl/ adj. causing harm, or likely to cause harm: the harmful effects of pollution. Some pesticides are harmful to the environment.

poisonous/toxic – containing a substance that can kill you or make you sick if you eat it, breathe it, etc.: a poisonous snake | toxic fumes | detrimental (formal) – harmful or damaging to something. Fatty foods are detrimental to your health.

damaging – having a bad effect on someone or something: the damaging effects of alcohol on the brain destructive – causing something to be destroyed: If the herd is too big, deer can be very destructive to woodlands.

deleterious (formal) – damaging or harmful: the deleterious effects of smoking harm-less /ˈhɑrmliʃ/ adj. 1 unable or unlikely harmonica

to hurt anyone or cause damage: harmless bacteria 2 not likely to upset or offend anyone: harmless fun —harmlessly adv.

har-mon-i-ca /ha-r’mon-i-kə/ n [C] a small musical instrument that you play by blowing into it and moving it from side to side har-mo-nize /ha-rma’noz/ v [I] 1 to work well or look good together: Choose clothes that harmonize with your coloring. 2 to sing or play music in harmony har-mo-ni-ty /har-mə’nə-tē/ n (plural harmonies) 1 [U] a situation in which people are friendly and peaceful, and agree with each other: The students lived/worked together in harmony. 2 [C,U] combinations of musical notes that sound good together: four-part harmony —harmonious /har-mə’niōs/ adj har-ness1 /ha-rns/ n 1 [C,U] a set of leather bands fastened with metal, used in order to control a horse and attach it to a vehicle that it pulls. 2 [C] a set of bands that is used to hold someone in a place, or to stop him/her from falling: a safety harness har-mo-nize2 v [T] 1 to control and use the natural force or power of something: a dam to harness the power of the river 2 to fasten two animals together, or to fasten an animal to something using a harness harp1 /harp/ n [C] a large musical instrument with strings stretched on a frame with three corners —harpist n [C] harpa v.

harp on sth phr v (informal, disapproving) to talk about something again and again, in a way that is annoying or boring: My parents are always harping on my boyfriend’s faults.

har-poon /ha-pun/ n [C] a weapon used for hunting whales harp-si-chord /ha-rp-si’kord/ n [C] a musical instrument like a piano, used especially in CLASSICAL MUSIC har-row-ing /ha-rō’ning/ adj (formal) a harrowing sight or experience is one that frightens, shocks, or upsets you very much harsh /harsh/ adj 1 harsh conditions are difficult to live in and very uncomfortable: harsh Canadian winters | the harsh realities of war 2 too loud or too bright, and making you feel uncomfortable: a harsh voice | the harsh streets lights 3 unkind, cruel, or strict: harsh criticism | He had harsh words for the way the mayor has handled the issue. —harshly adv. —harshness n [U]

har-vest1 /ha-rvest/ n [C,U] the time when crops are gathered from the fields, or the act of gathering them: It was harvest time. | the wheat harvest 2 [C] the size or quality of the crops: a good harvest

harvest2 v [T] to gather crops from the fields hate /haɪt/ n. [C] a crime that is committed against someone only because s/he belongs to a particular race, religion, etc.

hateful /ˈhɛfəlt/ adj. very bad or unkind; a hateful thought ha-tred /ˈhɛtrɪd/ n. [U] (formal) HATE: his hatred of racism

hate crime n. [C] a crime that is committed against someone only because s/he belongs to a particular race, religion, etc.

hate ful /ˈhɛftəl/ adj. very bad or unkind: a hateful thought hate, hate ful /ˈhæt/ v. (T) to dislike someone or something very much: She hated my father. I really hate spinach. Tony hates it when people are late.

hated /ˈhætɪd/ v. (past tense and past participle) to hate someone or something very much: I was going out with a boy my mother detested.

hate sb’s guts (informal) to hate someone very much and not respect him/her at all: She despised her neighbours.

hate to do something because you think it is morally wrong: He abhors violence of any kind. → L.OVE

hate off pron. v. (informal) to take someone somewhere s/he does not want to go: Dave got hauled off to jail.

hate sb’s guts (informal) to take someone somewhere s/he does not want to go: Dave got hauled off to jail.

hate crime n. [C] a crime that is committed against someone only because s/he belongs to a particular race, religion, etc.

hate ful /ˈhætəl/ adj. very bad or unkind: a hateful thought

hate, hate ful /ˈhæt/ v. (T) to dislike someone or something very much: She hated my father. I really hate spinach. Tony hates it when people are late.

hated /ˈhætɪd/ v. (past tense and past participle) to hate someone or something very much: I was going out with a boy my mother detested.

hate to do something because you think it is morally wrong: He abhors violence of any kind. → L.OVE

hate off pron. v. (informal) to take someone somewhere s/he does not want to go: Dave got hauled off to jail.

hate sb’s guts (informal) to take someone somewhere s/he does not want to go: Dave got hauled off to jail.

hate crime n. [C] a crime that is committed against someone only because s/he belongs to a particular race, religion, etc.

hate ful /ˈhætəl/ adj. very bad or unkind: a hateful thought

hate, hate ful /ˈhæt/ v. (T) to dislike someone or something very much: She hated my father. I really hate spinach. Tony hates it when people are late.

hated /ˈhætɪd/ v. (past tense and past participle) to hate someone or something very much: I was going out with a boy my mother detested.

hate to do something because you think it is morally wrong: He abhors violence of any kind. → L.OVE

hate off pron. v. (informal) to take someone somewhere s/he does not want to go: Dave got hauled off to jail.

hate sb’s guts (informal) to take someone somewhere s/he does not want to go: Dave got hauled off to jail.

hate crime n. [C] a crime that is committed against someone only because s/he belongs to a particular race, religion, etc.

hate ful /ˈhætəl/ adj. very bad or unkind: a hateful thought

hate, hate ful /ˈhæt/ v. (T) to dislike someone or something very much: She hated my father. I really hate spinach. Tony hates it when people are late.

hated /ˈhætɪd/ v. (past tense and past participle) to hate someone or something very much: I was going out with a boy my mother detested.

hate to do something because you think it is morally wrong: He abhors violence of any kind. → L.OVE

hate off pron. v. (informal) to take someone somewhere s/he does not want to go: Dave got hauled off to jail.

hate sb’s guts (informal) to take someone somewhere s/he does not want to go: Dave got hauled off to jail.

hate crime n. [C] a crime that is committed against someone only because s/he belongs to a particular race, religion, etc.

hate ful /ˈhætəl/ adj. very bad or unkind: a hateful thought

hate, hate ful /ˈhæt/ v. (T) to dislike someone or something very much: She hated my father. I really hate spinach. Tony hates it when people are late.

hated /ˈhætɪd/ v. (past tense and past participle) to hate someone or something very much: I was going out with a boy my mother detested.

hate to do something because you think it is morally wrong: He abhors violence of any kind. → L.OVE

hate off pron. v. (informal) to take someone somewhere s/he does not want to go: Dave got hauled off to jail.

hate sb’s guts (informal) to take someone somewhere s/he does not want to go: Dave got hauled off to jail.

hate crime n. [C] a crime that is committed against someone only because s/he belongs to a particular race, religion, etc.

hate ful /ˈhætəl/ adj. very bad or unkind: a hateful thought

hate, hate ful /ˈhæt/ v. (T) to dislike someone or something very much: She hated my father. I really hate spinach. Tony hates it when people are late.

hated /ˈhætɪd/ v. (past tense and past participle) to hate someone or something very much: I was going out with a boy my mother detested.

hate to do something because you think it is morally wrong: He abhors violence of any kind. → L.OVE

hate off pron. v. (informal) to take someone somewhere s/he does not want to go: Dave got hauled off to jail.

hate sb’s guts (informal) to take someone somewhere s/he does not want to go: Dave got hauled off to jail.
have had it with the noise here. Let's go! [Origin: Old English "habbant" have² /ˈhæv/ v [not in past]

1 FEATURES/QUALITIES used when saying what someone or something looks like, or what qualities or features he, she, or it possesses: Ruby has brown eyes and dark hair. My mother grew up in a house that didn’t have an indoor toilet. Japan has a population of over 120 million.

2 OWN OR USE to own something, or be able to use something: Kurt had an ice bike, but it got stolen.

3 have got instead of “have” to mean “possess”: I’ve got four tickets to the opera.

4 EAT/DINK to eat, drink, or smoke something: Do you want to come have a beer with us? We’re having steak for dinner tonight. What time do you usually have lunch/breakfast/dinner?

5 EXPERIENCE/DO to experience or do something: I have a meeting in 15 minutes. The kids will have fun at the circus. Her secretary had trouble/problems with the copy machine.

6 RECEIVE to receive something: Jenny! You have a phone call! I’m sure he had help from his father on his homework.

7 IN A POSITION/STATE to be in a particular position or state: He had his eyes closed. Why do you always have the TV on so loud?

8 may I have/can I have/I’ll have (spoken) said when you are asking for something: I’ll have two hot dogs to go, please. Could I have that pencil, please?

9 SELL/MAKE AVAILABLE to sell something, or make it available for people to use: Do they have lawn mowers at Sears? The other pool has a water slide.

10 FAMILY/FRIENDS ETC to know or be related to someone: She has six brothers. Chris has a friend who lives in Malta.

11 AMOUNT OF TIME also have got to be allowed a particular amount of time to do something: You have 30 minutes to finish the test.

12 have time if you have time to do something, there is nothing else that you must do at that particular time: Do you have time to come and have a cup of coffee with us?

13 BE SICK/INJURED to become sick with a particular illness, or be injured in a particular way: Sheila had the flu for a week. He has a broken leg.

14 CARRY WITH YOU to be carrying something with you: Do you have your knife? How much money do you have on you?

15 IDEA/THOUGHT to think of something, or realize something: Listen, I have an idea.

16 have sth ready/done etc. to make something ready, or finish something: They promised to have it done by Friday.

17 GIVE BIRTH to give birth: Sasha had twins!

18 have your hair cut/have your house painted etc. to employ someone to cut your hair, paint your house, etc.

19 GUESTS to be with someone, or be visited by someone: Sorry, I didn’t realize you had guests.

20 have an influence/effect etc. to influence someone or something, or cause a particular effect: Folk songs had a great influence on his music.

21 have nothing against used in order to say that you do not dislike someone or something: I have nothing against hard work, but 80 hours a week is too much. be had at HAD have on phr. v

1 have sth on to be wearing something: Marty had a blue shirt on.

2 have sth on sb to know about something bad someone has done: Do the police have anything on him?

have-ven /ˈhævən/ n [CU] a place where people go to be safe: a haven for refugees have-n’t /ˈhæv-n’t/ v the short form of “have not”: We haven’t tried Indian food yet. Don’t say “haven’t it.”

have to /ˈhæv.təʊ/ strong ‘hæftəʊ also have got to /ˈɡəʊt, əʊv-, ˈhæv-ə modal verb 1 to be forced to do something because someone makes you do it, or because a situation makes it necessary: We don’t have to answer their questions. Susan hates having to get up early. I’ve got to go now. I’m already late! 2 used when saying that it is important that something happens: You have to be nice to Aunt Lynn. 3 used when telling someone how to do something: First you have to take the wheel off. 4 used when saying that you are sure that something will happen or is true: He has to be stuck in traffic – he wouldn’t be late otherwise.

have-oc /ˈhæv.əʊk/ n. [U] a situation in which there is a lot of confusion and damage: The bus strike caused/created havoc in the city's streets. | The war will wreak havoc on the country’s economy. [Origin: 1400—1500 Anglo-French, Old French havot “destruction, disorder”]

hawk1 /hɔk/ v [T] to try to sell goods by carrying them around and talking about them. —hawk n.

hawk2 n [C] a large wild bird that eats small birds and animals hay /heɪ/ n [U] a type of long grass that has been cut and dried, used as food for farm animals → STRAW → hit the hay at [11]

hay fever /heɪˈfər/ n [U] a medical condition like a bad COLD, caused by breathing in POLLEN (=dust from plants) → ALLERGY hay-ride /ˈheɪrɪd/ n [C] an organized ride in a CART filled with hay, usually as part of a social event hay-stack /ˈheɪstæk/ n [C] a large firmly built pile of hay hay-wire /ˈheɪwaɪər/ adj: go haywire (informal) to start working in the completely wrong way: My computer’s going haywire again.

hazard1 /ˈheɪzdər/ n [C] 1 something that may be dangerous or cause accidents, problems, etc.: a health hazard | the hazards of starting your own business head1 /hed/ n 1 TOP OF BODY [C] the top part of your body that has your eyes, mouth, etc. in it: He turned his head to kiss her. → see picture on page A3

2 MIND [C] your mind: Phil has some strange ideas in his head. | Ann has a good head for math (=she is good at doing math). | Why don’t you leave your head out of it? | I wish he’d get it into his head (realize or understand) that school is important.

3 LEADER [C] the leader or most important person in a group or organization: the head of the biology department | the head waiter

4 POSITION [singular] the top or front of something, or the most important part of it: Edgar sat proudly at the head of the table (=at the end where the most important people sit).

5 ON A TOOL [C] the widest or top part of something such as a piece of equipment or a tool: a shower head

6 PLANT [C] the top part of a plant with a lot of leaves: a head of lettuce/cabbage

7 (from) head to toe/foot over your whole body: The kids were covered from head to toe in mud.

8 put your heads together (spoken) to discuss a difficult problem together: If we put our heads together, we’ll think of a way.

9 go over sb’s head a) to be too difficult for someone to understand: Most of the lecture went way over my head. b) to ask a more important person to deal with something than the person you normally talk to

10 keep/lose your head to behave reasonably or stupidly in a difficult situation: I guess I just lost my head for a minute.

11 go to sb’s head a) to make someone feel more important than s/he really is: It’s too bad Dave let his promotion go to his head. b) to make someone quickly feel slightly drunk

12 come to a head if a problem comes to a head, it becomes worse and you have to do something about it immediately: The situation came to a head when the workers went on strike.

13 heads up! (spoken) used in order to warn head

people that something is falling from above, or that something is being thrown to them

14 keep your head above water to just manage to live or keep your business working when you have money problems

15 laugh/shout/scream etc. your head off (informal) to laugh, shout, etc. very loudly

16 head over heels (in love) loving someone very much

17 COIN heads [U] the side of a coin that has a picture of a head on it head-band /ˈhɛdˌbænd/ n. [C] a band that you wear around your head to keep your hair off your face head-count, head-count /ˈhedkʌnt/ n. [C] usually singular the process of counting the number of people in a particular place or event, or the actual number; ‘Hal’ did a quick head count before the meeting began.

head-dress /ˈheddrɪs/ n. [C] something that someone wears on his/her head for decoration on a particular occasion head-ache /ˈhedək/ n. [C] 1 a pain in your head; ‘I have a bad headache. 2 (informal) an annoying or worrying problem: ‘Balancing the checkbook is always a headache.’

head-band n. [C] a band that you wear around your head to keep your hair off your face head-count n. [C] usually singular the process of counting the number of people in a particular place or event, or the actual number; ‘Hal’ did a quick head count before the meeting began.

head-dress n. [C] something that someone wears on his/her head for decoration on a special occasion head-er /ˈhedrər/ n. [C] 1 ENG. LANG. ARTS information at the top of a page, especially things such as page numbers or the titles that appear on each page in a document 2 if information at the beginning of an email message that shows when it was written or sent, who wrote or sent it, etc. 3 a shot in soccer made by hitting the ball with your head head-first /ˈhedfrɪst/ adv. moving or falling forward with your head going first; ‘He fell down the stairs headfirst.’

head-gear /ˈhedʒɑːr/ n. [U] hats and similar things that you wear on your head head-hunt-er /ˈhed,ˈhʌntər/ n. [C] someone who finds people with the right skills and experience to do a particular job head-land /ˈhedlænd/ n. [C] EARTH SCIENCES an area of land that sticks out from the coast into the ocean head-light /ˈhedlaɪt/ n. [C] one of the large lights at the front of a vehicle; ‘She flashed her headlights (=quickly turned them on and off) at me.’

head-line /ˈhedˌlaɪn/ n. [C] 1 the title of a newspaper article, printed in large letters above the article 2 make (the) headlines to do something important, shocking, or new, so that newspapers, television shows, etc. talk about you; ‘The attacks made headlines around the world.’

head-long /ˈhedlɒŋ/ adv. 1 without thinking carefully; ‘They rushed headlong into marriage.’ 2 falling or moving quickly with your head going first; ‘He fell headlong from the window.’

head-mas-ter /ˈhɛdˌmɑːstər, ˈhedmɪstrɪs/ n. [C] a principal in a private school head of state n. (plural heads of state) [C] POLITICS the main representative of a country, such as a queen, king, or president head-on adv. 1 meet/hit/crash etc. head-on if two vehicles meet or hit head-on, the front part of one vehicle comes toward or hits the front part of the other vehicle 2 if you deal with someone or something head-on, you deal with him, her, or it in a direct and determined way; ‘She intended to face her difficulties head-on.’ —head-on adj.: a head-on crash head-phones /ˈhedfəʊnz/ n. [plural] a piece of equipment that you wear over your ears to listen to a radio or recording head-quar-ters /ˈhedkwɑːtəz/ n. [plural] 1 a building or office that is the center of a large organization, or the center of a particular activity; the corporation’s global headquarters in New York 2 also HQ the place from which military operations are controlled head-rest /hed-rést/ n. [C] the top part of a chair or seat that supports the back of your head head-room /hed-rúm/ n. [U] the amount of space above your head inside a car

Head /héd/ n. POLITICS a government program for poor children, that helps prepare them to start school and gives families advice about health and about other programs that may help them head /héd/ n. [C] the advantage you gain in a particular activity by starting before other people: We should give the younger kids a head start in the race.

head-stone /hed-stóm/ n. [C] a GRAVESTONE head-strong /hed-stráng/ adj. very determined to do what you want, even when other people advise you not to do it: a headstrong child head-to-head /hed-tó-héd/ adv. directly competing with another person or group: The new sitcom will go head-to-head with the top-rated show on Thursday nights.

head-way /hed-wáy/ n. make headway to make progress toward achieving something even when you have difficulties: Try make progress.

head-wind /hed-wínd/ n. [C] a wind that blows directly toward you when you are moving head-y /hed-é/ adj. (written) exciting in a way that makes you feel you can do anything: the heady days of our youth heal /hél/ v. 1 [I] if a wound or broken bone heals, it becomes healthy again: The scratch on her finger healed quickly. 2 [I] to cure someone who is ill, or make a wound get better [Origin: Old English héallan] health /hélθ/ n. [U] 1 the general condition of your body, and how healthy you are: You should take better care of your health, or a 68-year-old man in good health serious health problems. 2 the state of being without illness or disease: I wish you health and happiness. 3 how successful an economy, business, or organization is [Origin: Old English halth, from hal “healthy, unhurt, complete”] health care, health-care /hélθkári/ n. [U] the service of taking care of the health of all the people in a country or area: the high cost of health care health club n. [C] a place where people go to exercise that you have to pay to use health food n. [C,U] food that contains only natural substances healthful /hélθfúl/ adj. (written) likely to make you healthy health-y /hélθi/ adj. 1 physically strong and not likely to become sick: a healthy baby girl | Rachel’s always been perfectly healthy.

health well – healthy, used especially when describing how someone feels or looks: I’m not feeling very well.

fine (spoken) – healthy, used when someone has asked you how you feel and you are replying that you feel well: “Hi, Tom, how are you?” “Fine, thanks.”

better – less sick than you were, or no longer sick: I’m feeling a lot better now.

in (good) shape – in a good state of health and physically strong. Jogging keeps me in pretty good shape.

physically fit – healthy and having a strong body. Even kids need exercise to be physically fit.

2 good for your body or your mind: a healthy diet/lifestyle. 4 (informal) fairly large or noticeable: She seems to have a healthy appetite. | a healthy increase in sales. | Reed has a healthy respect for rattlesnakes. 5 showing that you are healthy: healthy skin — healthiness n. [U]

heap /hip/ n. [C] 1 a large messy pile of things: a heap of newspapers | His clothes lay in a heap by the bed.

heap 2 (informal) an old car that is in bad condition heap 3 1 to put a lot of things on top of each other in a messy way: Magazines were heaped on the table. 2 be heaped with sth to have a lot of things on top of something: He held a plate heaped with food.

heap-ing /hip-íng/ adj. a heaping measurement of food is slightly more than the tool it is being measured with can hold: two heaping teaspoons of sugar hear /híər/ v. (past tense and past participle heard) 1 [I] to know that a sound is being made, using your ears: I love to hear the baby laugh like that. | Didn’t you hear when I called you?

If a sound is drowned out by something, it prevents you from hearing the sound: His voice was drowned out by the traffic.

If someone cannot hear you because s/he is very far away from you, s/he is out of earshot: “What are we going to do if you lose your job?” I asked John, as soon as the children were out of earshot.

If someone is close enough to hear what you say, s/he is within earshot. If someone says something under his/her breath, s/he makes a rude or angry statement very quietly because s/he does not want anyone to hear him/her: “You rat,” he muttered under his breath.
If someone is inaudible, s/he speaks so softly that you cannot hear him/her. Her reply was inaudible.

If someone is not able to hear very well because of a physical problem with his/her ears, you can say that s/he is hard of hearing or hearing impaired: My grandmother’s a little hard of hearing.

If someone is deaf, s/he is not able to hear anything at all.

You hear a noise or something that someone says, often without trying to: Did you hear that noise? I could hear the phone ringing.

If you listen to words, sounds, or music, you pay attention to them: I enjoy watching movies and listening to music. She listened carefully to his advice. → see

2 [T] to listen to music that is being played, to what someone is saying, etc.: I heard a great song on the radio. You should at least hear what she has to say.

3 [I,T] to be told or find out a piece of information: Have you heard about the new project? “Mark’s going to law school.” “So I’ve heard!” (said when you already know about something).

4 hear a case to listen to what is said in a court of law, and make a decision: The case will be heard on July 16.

5 (do you hear (me))? (spoken) said when you are giving someone an order: Should at least hear what she has to say. [origin: Old English hieran] hear from sb phr.v. to get news or information from someone, usually by letter: Have you heard from Jane yet?

hear of sb/sth phr.v. have heard of sb/sth to know that someone or something exists because you have been told about him, her, or it: “Do you know a guy named Phil Merton?” “I’ve never heard of him.”

hear out phr.v. to listen to all of someone’s explanation for something, without interrupting: Look, I know you’re mad, but at least hear me out.

hear-ing /ˈhɪrɪŋ/ n. 1 [U] the sense that you use to hear sounds: My hearing’s not as good as it used to be. 2 [C] a meeting of a court or special committee to find out the facts about a case hearing aid n. [C] a small thing that you put in your ear if you cannot hear well, to make sounds louder hearing-impaired adj. unable to hear well — the hearing-impaired n. [plural] hear-say /ˈhɜrˌseɪ/ n. [U] something that you have heard about from other people, but do not know to be true → gossip: Her opinions are based mainly on rumors and hearsay.

hearse /ˈhɜr̩s/ n. [C] a large car in which a dead body in a casket is carried to or from a funeral [origin: 1200–1300 Old French herce “frame for holding candles, farm tool for breaking up soil,” from Latin hirpes] heart-ache /ˈhɑrtoʊk/ n [U] a strong feeling of sadness heart attack n [C] a serious medical condition in which a person’s heart suddenly stops working: Jon’s dad had a heart attack last year.

heart beat /ˈhɑrt ˈbit/ n [C usually singular] the action or the sound of a heart pumping blood through the body heart break /ˈhɑrt ˈbreik/ n [U] a strong feeling of sadness and disappointment heart break ing /ˈhɑrt ˈbreɪkiŋ/ adj making you feel very upset: a heartbreaking story heart bro ken /ˈhɑrt ˈbrəʊkən/ adj very sad because someone or something has disappointed you heart burn /ˈhɑrt ˈbɔrn/ n [U] a slightly painful burning feeling in your stomach or chest caused by indigestion heart disease n [U] a medical condition in which a person’s heart has difficulty pumping blood heartened /ˈhɑrt ˈnərd/ adj feeling happier and more hopeful (ANT: disheartened) —hearten v [T] heart en ing /ˈhɑrt ˈnɪŋ/ adj making you feel happier and full of hope (ANT: disheartening: heartening news heart failure n [U] the failure of the heart to continue working, which causes death heart felt /ˈhɑrtfelt/ adj felt very strongly and sincerely: heartfelt thanks hearth /ˈhɑrt/ n [C] the part of the floor around a fireplace heartily /ˈhɑr tli/ adv 1 loudly and cheerfully: He laughed heartily. 2 very much or completely: I heartily agree with you.

heart land /ˈhɑrtlænd/ n the heartland the part of a country where most of the food is produced and where people live in a way that represents the basic values of that country heart less /ˈhɑrtliːs/ adj cruel or unkind heart rend ing /ˈhɑrt rɛndɪŋ/ adj making you feel great pity: heartrending sobs heart strings /ˈhɑrt ˈstrɪŋz/ n tug/pull on sb’s heartstrings to make someone feel a lot of pity or love heart throbb /ˈhɑrtθrəb/ n [C] (harmorous) a famous person whom many young people feel romantic love for: a picture of the latest teen heartthrob heart to heart n [C usually singular] a conversation in which two people honestly express their feelings or opinions about something: I sat down and had a heart-to-heart with Emily. —heart to heart adj heart warming /ˈhɑrt ˈwɔrmiŋ/ adj making you feel happy, calm, and hopeful: a heartwarming story heart wood /ˈhɑrt ˈwʊd/ n [U] BIOLOGY the older harder wood at the center of a tree which provides support but does not carry any sap heart y /ˈhɑrtli/ adj 1 very cheerful and friendly: a hearty laugh 2 a hearty meal or appetit e is very large heat /hɪt/ n 1 [U] warmth or the quality of being hot: heat generated by the sun 2 [U] very hot weather: I can’t work in this heat. 3 [I] the system in a house that keeps it warm, or the warmth that comes from this system: Can you turn the heat on/off? 4 houses with no heat or electricity 5 the heat of the moment/argument etc. the period in a situation, argument, etc. when you feel extremely angry or excited: In the heat of the moment, I said some things I didn’t mean. 6 take the heat to deal with difficulties in a situation, especially by saying that you are responsible for them: Coach Brown had to take the heat for the team’s loss in the press.

heat e r /ˈhɛtər/ n [C] a machine used for heating air or water heat en /ˈhɛtən/ n (plural heaten) [C] (old-fashioned, disapproving) someone who does not belong to the Christian religion, or to any of the main world religions —heaten adj heat wave n [C] a period of unusually hot weather heave /ˈhiːv/ v 1 [I,T] to pull, throw, or lift something with a lot of effort: She heaved the box onto the back of the truck.

heave a sigh v to breathe out loudly, especially because you have stopped worrying about something: We all heaved a sigh of relief when it was over. 3 [I] if your chest heaves, it moves up and down quickly because it is difficult to breathe heat wave

heav·en·ly /ˈhevənli/ əd. 1 relating to heaven 2 very good or pleasing: a heavenly dessert heavenly body n. [C] a star, planet, or moon heave 1 n. [C] a strong pulling, pushing, or throwing movement heave-en /ˈhevən/ n. 1 [U] also Heaven the place where God or the gods are believed to live, and where good people go after they die ➔ HELL 2 [U] (informal) a very good thing, situation, or place: Give Brad a TV and a comfortable chair, and he’s in heaven. 3 (Good) Heavens! (sigh) said when you are surprised or slightly annoyed: Good heavens! Where have you been? 4 for heaven’s sake (spoken) said when you are annoyed or angry: For heaven’s sake, just shut up! 5 heaven forbid (spoken) said in order to emphasize that you hope something will not happen: And if— heaven forbid—he has an accident, what do I then? 6 the heavens (literary) the sky: Their eyes lifted to the heavens. [Origin: Old English heofon] heav·y /ˈhEvi/ adj. 1 heavy 2 very much:

heavy-bodied adj. 1 in very large amounts: He’s been drinking heavily recently. 2 very or very much: heavily armed rebels The band’s sound is heavily influenced by early punk rock. 3 someone who is breathing heavily is breathing very slowly and loudly heavy breathing breathing that is slow and loud heavy-duty adj. 1 strong enough to be used often or for hard work without being damaged: heavy-duty plastic gloves 2 [informal] said when you want to emphasize how complicated, serious, etc. someone or something is: The movie deals with some heavy-duty issues.

heavy-handed adj. strict, unfair, and not considering other people’s feelings: heavy-handed demands heavy industry n. [CU] an industry that produces goods such as coal, steel, or chemicals, or large goods such as cars and machines heavy metal n. [U] a type of rock music with a strong beat that is played very loudly on electric guitars heavy-weight /ˈhEvi-wEkt/ n. [C] 1 someone who Boxes or wrestles, and is in the heaviest weight group ➔ LIGHTWEIGHT 2 someone who has a lot of power and experience in a particular business or job: political heavyweights ➔—heavyweight adj

He-brew /ˈhEbrəu/ n. [U] the official language of Israel, also used in many other places by Jewish people ➔—Hebrew, Hebraic /ˈhEbrəik/ adj heck /hEkt/ interjection 1 said in order to emphasize a question, or when you are annoyed: What what/where etc. the heck is that? | Ah, heck! I’ve lost my glasses. 2 a/one heck of a th th said in order to emphasize a statement: That was one heck of a storm! | We had a heck of a time finding a parking space. 3 what the heck! said when you do something that you should not do: “Want another piece of pie?” “Yeah, what the heck!”

heck-le /ˈhEk@l/ v. [T] to interrupt someone who is speaking or performing in front of a group of people ➔—heckler n. [C] ➔—heckling n. [U] heck·ter /ˈhEkter/ n. [C] a unit for measuring an area of land, equal to 10,000 square meters or 2.471 acres hectic /ˈhEktik/ adj. very busy, hurried, and slightly exciting: It’s been a really hectic week.

he’d f id; strong hide! 1 the short form of “he would”: Ed said he’d be a little late. 2 the short form of “he had”: He’d never been a good dancer.

hed·ge /ˈhEd@/ n. [C] 1 a row of bushes used as a border around a yard or between two yards 2 a hedge against disaster/inflation etc. something that helps avoid problems, losing a lot of money, etc.: Putting your money into different stocks is a hedge against financial risk.

hed·ge v. [I] to avoid giving a direct answer to a question: She tried to hedge when Tom asked her age. 2 hedge your bets to reduce your chances of failing by trying several different possibilities hed-o-nism /hedˈnɪzəm/ n. [U] the belief that pleasure is the most important thing in life [Origin: 1800—1900 Greek hedone “pleasure” —hedonist /ˌhedəˈnɪst/ n. C —hedonistic /ˌhedəˈnɪstɪk/ adj.

heed1 /hɪd/ v. [T] (formal) to pay attention to something important heed2 /hɪd/ n. [U] (formal) take heed of sth/pay heed to sth to pay attention to something important.

heel /hɪl/ n. 1 [C] the back part of your foot. 2 [C] the raised part of your hand near your wrist:

heels with high/low heels — see picture at shoe3

3 heels [plural] high heels 4—heeled having a particular type of heel: a high-heeled shoe 5 on the heels of sth very soon after something: The team’s loss came on the heels of another defeat in Dallas.

heel of your hand

height /hɪt/ n. [C] a young female cow that has a heifer.

heighten /ˈhaɪtən/ v. [T] to increase or make something become increased.

heightened /ˈhaɪtnid/ adj.

heighten in intensity: Recent events have heightened residents’ awareness of crime.

heightening /ˈhaɪtənɪŋ/ n. [U] something causing increased height or growth.

heightened /ˈhaɪtnid/ v. [T] to increase in intensity.

heir /ˈhɪər/ n. [C] someone who will legally receive all of the money, property, etc. of a person who has died: the sole heir to a vast fortune.

heirloom /ˈhɪərlʊm/ n. [C] a valuable object that a family owns for many years.

heist /ˈhɛist/ n. [C] a burglary.

he-jab /hɪˈdʒæb/ n. [U] another spelling of hijab.

heald /ˈheld/ v. the past tense and past participle of hold.

he-i-co-per-ter /ˌhɛlɪkəˈpɜːtər/ n. [C] a type of aircraft with metal blades on top of it that spin very fast [Origin: 1800—1900 French hélicoptère, from Greek helik- + pteron “wing”] — see picture at TRANSPORTATION hel-i-o-cen-tric /ˌhelɪəʊˌsɛntrɪk/ adj. PHYSICS having the Sun at the center: Copernicus described a heliocentric system, with the planets going around the Sun.

hel-i-port /ˌhɛlɪpɔːrt/ n. [C] an airport for helicopters.

hel-i-um /ˈhɛliəm/ n. [U] CHEMISTRY (symbol He) a gas that is an element and that is lighter than air, often used in order to make balloons float [Origin: 1800—1900 Greek helios “Sun,” because it was discovered in the Sun’s spectrum].

helix /ˈhelɪks/ n. (plural helices /ˈhelɪsɪz/) [C] MATH a line that curves and rises around a central line spiraling.

I’ll /ɪl, ɪl, ɪl/ strong hill the short form of “he will”: I’m sure he’ll get here soon.

Hel. Hell n. [singular] the place where bad people will be punished after they die, according to some religions [Origin: Old English]

Hel-le-nis-tic /ˌheləˈnɪstɪk/ adj. HISTORY relating to the ancient Greeks in the period between the fourth and the first century b.c.

hel-ló /ˈheləʊ/ he’ll, he’s, he’s, his/our interaction 1 used when meeting someone or greeting someone: Hello, my name is Betty. 2 said when answering the telephone or when starting a telephone conversation: “Hello?” “Hello, is Chad there?” 3 said when trying to get someone’s attention: Hello? Is anybody here? 4 say hello to have a quick conversation with someone: I’ll drop by later and say hello.

helm /helm/ n. [C] 1 at the helm of sth controlling a group or organization: With Ms. Mathis at the helm, the company has grown by 20%. 2 a wheel used for guiding a ship’s direction.

helmet /ˈhelmət/ n. [C] a hard hat that covers and protects your head: a motorcycle helmet.

help /hɛlp/ v. 1 [I, T] if you help people, you do something for them that makes it easier for them to help

helping adj. lend/give a helping hand to help someone helping verb n [C] English, arts an auxiliary verb help-less /helpls/ adj. unable to take care of yourself or protect yourself: The man lay helpless in the street.

—helplessness n. [U]

—helplessly adv.

hel-ter-skel-ter /heltǝ’skeltǝr/ adj., adv. done in a disorganized, confusing, and hurried way hem /hem/ n [C] the folded and sewn edge of a piece of clothing → EDGE hem 2 v. (hemmed, hemming) [T] to fold and sew the edge of a piece of clothing hem sb. ++ in phrv. 1 to surround someone or something closely: The valley is hemmed in by mountain ranges on both sides.

2 to make someone feel that she is not free to do what she wants: She felt hemmed in by her tight schedule.

hem-i-sphere /hemǝ’sfǝr/ n [C] 1 Earth sciences one of the halves of the Earth, especially the northern or southern parts above and below the equator: the northern hemisphere (=the half of the Earth that is north of the equator) | the southern hemisphere (=the half of the Earth that is south of the equator) → see picture at globe 2 biology one of the two halves of your brain: The right hemisphere of your brain controls the left side of your body.

hem-line /hɛmlɛn/ n [C] the bottom edge or length of a dress, skirt, or pair of pants hem-lock /hɛmlɔk/ n [C.U] a very poisonous plant, or the poison of this plant hem-mo-glo-bin /hɛmǝ’gloubɪn/ n [U] biology a red substance in the blood that carries oxygen and iron [Origin: 1800—1900 hematoglobulin, from Greek haima “blood”] hem-mo-phili-a /hɛmǝ’fɪliǝ/ n. -fɪliǝς/ n [U] biology a serious disease that usually affects only men, in which the blood does not become thick, so that they lose too much blood after being cut or wounded [Origin: 1800—1900 Modern Latin hem- from Greek haima “blood” + -philia “fondness”] → hemophilia /hɛmǝ’fɪliǝ/ n. [C] hem-or-rha-gie /hɛmǝ’rædʒ/ n. [C] a serious medical condition in which an area in someone’s body loses too much blood [Origin: 1400—1500 French hémorrhagie, from Latin haemorrhagia, from Greek, from haima “blood” + “bursting out, flow”] hem-or-rhoids /hɛmǝ’rɔdz/ n [plural] painfully swollen blood vessels at the anus hemp /hɛmp/ n. [U] a plant used for making a strong type of rope, and also for making the drug marijuana hen /hɛn/ n. [C] a fully grown female bird, especially a female chicken hence /hɛns/ adv. (formal) for this reason Thus: The sugar from the grapes remains in the wine, hence the sweet taste. [Origin: 1200—1300 hence “hence” (12—15 centuries) (from Old English heonan) + -e (as in backwards)] henceforth /ˈhensfɔːrθ/ , henceforθ /ˈhensfɔːrθ/ adv. (formal) from this time on: Henceforth in this book, these people will be called “The Islanders.”

henchman /ˈhentʃmən/ n [C] someone who faithfully obeys a powerful person such as a politician or a criminal hen-na /ˈhɛnə/ n [U] a reddish-brown substance used to change the color of your hair or to dye the skin —henna v [T]

Hen-ry’s law /ˈhɛnri z ˈɛntʃ/ n. CHEMISTRY a scientific principle that says the amount of gas that can be absorbed by a liquid will increase if the pressure of the gas above the liquid increases and the temperature remains the same hepatic /ˈhepətɪk/ adj. relating to your LIVER

heptagon /ˈhɛptəɡən/ n [C] MATH a flat shape with seven sides and seven angles —heptagonal /hɛptəˈɡənl/ adj.

heptathlon /ˈhɛptəˌθælən/ , -ʔən/ n [singular] a women’s sports competition consisting of seven running, jumping, and throwing events → decathlon, pentathlon

her1 /hər/; strong hər possessive adj. 1 belonging to or relating to a female person or animal that has been mentioned or is known about: Lori said her cat died last week. | Have you seen her new house? 2 used when talking about a country, car, ship, etc. that has been mentioned: Her top speed is 110 miles per hour. [Origin: Old English here]

her2 pron. 1 the object form of “she”: I gave her $20. | Did you see her at the concert? 2 a country, ship, car, etc. that has been mentioned herald /ˈhɛrəld/ v [T] 1 to say publicly that someone or something is likely to be successful: He was heralded as the poet of his generation. 2 to be a sign that something is going to come or happen soon: The Internet heralded a new age of communications.

herb /hɜːb/ n [C] a plant used in cooking to give food more taste, or to make medicine: herbs and spices [Origin: 1200 — 1300 Old French erbe, from Latin herba “grass, herb”] herbal /ˈhɜːbəl/ adj. relating to herbs: herbal tea herbicide /ˈhɜːbəsidaɪd/ , ‘hɜːbəˌsaɪd/ n [C, U] BIOLOGY a substance used to kill unwanted plants herbivore /ˈhɜːbəvɔːr/ , ‘hɜːbəˌvɔːr/ n [C] BIOLOGY an animal that only eats plants [Origin: 1800—1900 Latin herbivorus “plant-eating,” from herba “grass, herb”] against the normal beliefs of a particular religion that it is considered to be evil

her·o·tic /herˈtik/ n [C] someone whose beliefs are considered to be evil by a particular religion —her·eti·cal /herˈtikəl/ adj.

here·with /ˈhәr.wɪθ/ adv (formal) with this letter or document

he·ri·ta·ble /ˈherətəbəl/ adj 1 biology a physical or mental feature that is inheritable can be passed from a parent to his or her children: a heritable cancer gene. 2 [usually before noun] law inheritable property, land, etc. is property or land that you can legally give to someone when you die —in·er·it her·i·tage /ˈherətɪdʒ/ n [singular, U] the traditions, values, arts, etc. that are passed down through many years within a country, society, or family; the immense variety of America’s musical heritage her·ma·phro·di·te /hɜˈməfrəˌdaɪt/ n [C] biology a living thing that has both male and female sexual organs [origin: 1400 —1500 Latin Hermaphroditus, from Greek Hermaphroditos] —her·ma·phrod·i·tic /hɜˌməfrəˈdɪtɪk/ adj.

her·met·i·cal·ly /ˈhɛrəˌmɛtɪkli/ adv. hermetically sealed very tightly closed so that no air can get in or out —her·met·ic adj.

her·mit /ˈhɝmit/ n [C] someone who prefers to live away from other people —re·cluse [origin: 1100 —1200 Old French eremite, from Greek eremos “living in the desert” from eremos “lonely”] her·mit·age /ˈhɝmitɪdʒ/ n [C] a place where a hermit lives or has lived her·mit·crab n [C] a type of crab that lives in the empty shells of other sea creatures

her·ni·a /ˈhɝnɪə/ n [C,U] biology a medical condition in which an organ pushes through the skin or muscle that covers it her·ro /ˈhɝro/ n [plural heroes] 1 someone who is admired for doing something very brave or good; one of America’s national heroes. 2 It was a chance to meet my hero in person. 2 Eng. Lang. Arts a man or boy who is the main character of a book, play, or movie —hero·ine The hero of the story is a young soldier.

main character – the most important person in a story, play, or movie, especially the person the story is about: The main character is an eleven-year-old boy who finds out that he is a wizard pro·tag·o·nist (formal) – the main character in a play, movie, or story: The protagonist is based on the author’s grandfather anti-hero – the main character in a story, play, or movie who is an ordinary or unpleasant person and does not have the qualities that most people think a hero should have, such as being good or brave: Hoffman plays Benjamin, the movie’s anti-hero, who rebels against his parents’ values more out of boredom than for any moral reasons.

villain – the main bad character in a story, play, or movie: Comic book villains such as Lex Luthor or The Joker are written as wholly evil characters.

3 a bo·o·s her·o·sandwich a sandwich made of a long loaf of bread filled with meat, cheese, etc.

he·ro·i·c /ˈhɝroʊɪk/ adj 1 admired for being brave, strong, and determined: the firefighters’ heroic efforts to rescue people from the fire

thes·au·rus brave, courageous, valiant   → BRAVE

> 2 a heroic story, poem, etc. has a hero in it he·ro·ics /ˈhɝrəʊɪks/ n. [plural] brave actions or words that are meant to seem impressive to other people he·ro·in /ˈhɝroʊɪn/ n. [U] a strong illegal drug that some people take, usually by putting it into their arms with a special needle

he·ro·ine /ˈhɝroʊɪn/ n [C] a female hero

he·ro·ism /ˈhɝroʊɪzəm/ n. [U] very great courage: the soldiers’ heroism in battle

he·ro·on /ˈhɝroʊən/ n [C] a large wild bird with very long legs and a long beak that lives near water

he·ro·pes /ˈhɝrəpɪz/ n. [U] a very infectious disease that causes spots on the skin, especially on the face or sexual organs

he·ring /ˈhɝrɪŋ/ n. [C,U] (plural herrings) a long thin silver sea fish, or the meat from this fish

he·røz /ˈhɝrəz/ pron. the thing or things belonging to or relating to a female person or animal that has been mentioned or is known about: That’s my car. This is hers. | Tim is a friend of hers. My boots are black. Hers are brown.

he·rself (sp’el’f) strong ha’self/ pron 1 the reflexive form of “she” Carol hurt herself. 2 She bought herself a new scarf. 3 the strong form of “she,” used in order to emphasize the subject or object of a sentence: She installed the cabinets herself. 4 [all] by herself (spoken) if someone is not herself, she is not behaving or feeling the way she usually does because she is sick or upset: Mom hasn’t been herself lately.

her·tæs /hɜˈtæs/ n. (plural hertz) Physics (written abbreviation Hz) a unit used to measure frequency. One hertz is one cycle each second. [origin: 1800 —1900 Heinrich Hertz (1857-94), German scientist who worked on energy waves] het·er·o·sex·u·al /hêtr-o-sek-syô-l/ n. 1 the short form of “he is”
He’s a lawyer. 2 the short form of “he has,” used when “has” is an auxiliary verb: He’s been in prison.

hes·i·tant /hêz-ı-tant/ adj. not willing to do or say something because you are uncertain or worried: He was hesitant to discuss the details.

hes·i·tate /hêz-ı-tät/ v. [I] 1 to pause before doing or saying something because you are uncertain: She hesitated before answering his question. 2 do not hesitate to do sth (formal) used in order to tell someone not to worry about doing something: Don’t hesitate to call me if you need any help. [Origin: 1600 — 1700 Latin, past participle of hæistare “to stick firmly, hesitate,” from haerere “to stick”] hes·i·ta·tion /hêz-ı-ta-shun/ n. [U] the action of hesitating: Without hesitation he said, “Yes!”

het·er·o·gene·ous /hêtr-o-jen-e-us/ adj. consisting of parts or members that are very different from each other: HETEROGENEOUS: a heterogeneous population [Origin: 1600 — 1700 Medieval Latin heterogeneous, from Greek, from heteros “other” + genos “type”] —heterogeneity /hêtr-o-jen-e-at-ı-n/ n. [U] het·er·o·gen·eous 'mixture n. [C] CHEMISTRY a substance consisting of two or more different substances that remain physically separate, so that all parts of the mixture look different het·er·o·sex·u·al-ly /hêtr-o-sek-syô-l-l/ adv. sexually attracted to people of the opposite sex het·er·o·sex·u·al·i·ty /hêtr-o-sek-syô-l-ı-te/ n. [U] the condition of being sexually attracted to people of the opposite sex hetero·troph /hêtr-o-trôf/ n. [C] BIOLOGY a living creature that obtains the energy it needs in order to live, grow, and stay healthy from the foods it eats, rather than by PHOTOSYNTHESIS

hete·ro·zy·gous /hêtr-o-zı-gəs/ adj. genetics relating to an organism that has two or more different forms of a particular gene het·e·ro·zy·gote /hêtr-o-zı-gıt/ n. [C] BIOLOGY a plant, animal, etc. that has two different genes in a particular place on a pair of CHROMOSOMES that have the same series of genes het·e·ro·zy·go·sus /hêtr-o-zı-gəs-əs/ adj. genetics relating to a cell or ORGANISM that has two or more different forms of a particular gene he·rus·tic /hyur-ıstık/ adj. 1 heuristic education is based on discovering and experiencing things for yourself 2 helping you in the process of learning or discovery —heuristically adv

he·rus·tics /hyur-ıstıks/ n. [U] the study of how people use their experience to find answers to questions or to improve performance hew /hêw/ v. (past participle hewed or hewn /hüwn/) [T] (literary) to cut something with a cutting tool hex·a·dec·i·mal /hêk-ı-sı-des-ma-l/ also hex /hêks/ adj. MATH hexadecimal numbers are based on the number 16 and are mainly used on computers hex·a·gon /hêk-sı-gan/ n. [C] MATH a flat shape with six sides and six angles [Origin: 1500 — 1600 Latin, from Greek hexagonon, from hex “six” + gonia “angle”] —see picture at POLYGON —hexagonal /hêk-sı-ge-na-l/ adj.

hex·a·gram /hêk-sı-gram/ n. [C] MATH a star shape with six points, made from two TRIANGLES hex·am·e·ter /hêk-sı-mə-tər/ n. [C] the heyday of silent movies [Origin: 1500 — 1600 heyda a shout of happiness (16 — 17 centuries), influenced by day]

H the written abbreviation of HAWAII

hi /hı/ interjection (informal): hello! How are you?

hi·a·tus /hı-ə-təs/ n. [C] usually singular (informal) a pause in an activity [Origin: 1500 — 1600 Latin hiatus “to yawn”]

hi·ber·nate /hı-bər-nät/ v. [I] if an animal hibernates, it sleeps all the time during the winter [Origin: 1800—1900 Latin, past participle of hibernare “to pass the winter,” from hibernus “of the winter”] —hibernation /hı-bər-nə-shun/ n. [U] hic·cup /hık-ıp/ n. [C] 1 usually plural a sudden repeated stopping of the breath, usually caused by eating or drinking too fast: 1 have the hicups. 2 a small problem or delay: There’s a slight hiccup in the schedule for today.

hiccup² v. (hiccuped, hiccuping) [I] to have the hicups hick /hık/ n. [C] (disapproved) someone who lives in the country and is thought to be uneducated or stupid hick·ey /hık-ı/ n. [plural hickeys] [C] informal a slight bruise (=dark mark on your skin) from being kissed too hard hick·o·ry /hık-ı-rı/ n. [U] a North American tree that produces nuts, or the hard wood from this tree [Origin: 1600 — 1700 Algonquian pawcotic-cora “food made from crushed nuts”] hid /hıd/ v. the past tense of HIDE hid·den² /hıd*n/ v. the past participle of HIDE hidden adj. 1 difficult to see or find: Marcia kept her letters hidden in a box. 2 not easy to notice or discover: a hidden meaning hide v. (past tense hid, hid, past participle hidden) 1 [T] to put something in a place where no one else can see or find it: Jane hid the Christmas presents in the closet.

2 [T] to go to or stay in a place where no one can see or find you: I'll hide behind/under the bed. 3 [T] to not show your feelings to people, or to not tell someone about something: She could not hide her embarrassment. 4 [T] to not tell someone about something: The police knew Wilson was hiding something. [Origin: Old English hidan] hide (n. [U]) a children’s game in which one child shuts his/her eyes while the other children hide, and then s/he tries to find them hideaway n. (past tense hideway, past participle hiddenaway) a place where you can go to hide or be alone hierarchy n. (plural hierarchies) 1 [C] the system of organization in which people have higher and lower ranks 2 [C] the most powerful members of an organization 3 [C] biology the system in which animals are organized so that some are more important than others, which affects the way they behave

---

THE SAURUS

conceal (formal) – to hide something carefully: She dies her hair to conceal the gray.

disguise/mask – to hide a smell or taste, your feelings, or the truth: The scented candles masked the cooking smells from the kitchen.

secrete (formal) – to hide something: The money had been secreted somewhere within the house.

high adv. 1 TALL something that is high measures a long distance from its top to its bottom (adj) low → tall: the highest mountain in Colorado 2 ABOVE GROUND being a long way above the ground (adj) low: The nest was on a high branch. 3 MORE THAN USUAL a high amount, number, or level is greater than usual (adj) low: clothes selling at high prices | high speed | a higher level of productivity → EXPENSIVE

rank/position having an important or powerful position or rank: She was elected to high office. | the highest levels of management

good very good (adj) low: Most items were of very high quality. | We insist on high standards.

DRUGS under the effects of drugs: He was high on drugs. | kids getting high on marijuana

CONTAINING A LOT containing a lot of a particular substance or quality (adj) low: Candy bars are high in calories.

sound/voice near the top of the range of sounds that humans can hear (adj) low: singing the high notes

hierarchie n. (plural hierarchies) 1 [C] social science a system of organization in which people have higher and lower ranks 2 [C] the most powerful members of an organization 3 [C] biology the system in which animals are organized so that some are more important than others, which affects the way they behave [origin: 1300—1400 old French ierarchie, from Latin, from Greek hierarchies, from hieros “holy” + arches “ruler”] – hierarchical

hieroglyph n. (plural hieroglyphs) (Also hieroglyphic) a sign or picture used in a writing system, for example by the ancient Egyptians hieroglyphics n. (plural hieroglyphics) (Also hieroglyphic) a system of writing, especially one from ancient Egypt, that uses pictures to represent words (Origin: 1500—1600 French hieroglyphique, from Late Latin, from Greek, from hieros “holy” + glyphein “to cut marks in a surface”) – hieroglyphic

hi-fi n. (plural hi-fis) (Also hi-fi) a piece of electronic equipment for playing recorded music high-pitched – higher than most sounds or voices: a high-pitched voice piercing – very high and loud in a way that is not nice to listen to: a piercing scream shrill – high and unpleasant: a shrill whistle squeaky – making very high noises that are not loud: squeaky floorboards

high adj. 1 at or to a level that is far above the ground: kites flying high in the sky | She held her award high above her head. 2 at or to a high value, amount, rank, etc.: Jenkins has risen high in the company. | Ribas advised the students to “aim high” (=try to be successful). 3 look/search high and low to look everywhere for someone or something: I searched high and low for the car

high adj. 2 adv. 1 at or to a level that is far above the ground: kites flying high in the sky | She held her award high above her head. 2 at or to a high value, amount, rank, etc.: Jenkins has risen high in the company. | Ribas advised the students to “aim high” (=try to be successful). 3 look/search high and low to look everywhere for someone or something: I searched high and low for the car

high adj. 3 adv. 1 at or to a level that is far above the ground: kites flying high in the sky | She held her award high above her head. 2 at or to a high value, amount, rank, etc.: Jenkins has risen high in the company. | Ribas advised the students to “aim high” (=try to be successful). 3 look/search high and low to look everywhere for someone or something: I searched high and low for the car
Be left high and dry (informal) to be left without any help in a difficult situation.

high 1 n [C] 4 the highest level, number, temperature, etc. that has been recorded in a particular time period: The price of gold reached a new high yesterday. 2 a high (=high temperature) in the mid 90s high-jump /'haɪdʒəmp/ n [C] a special pen that you use to mark written words so that you can see them more easily.

high-born adj [formal] born into the highest social class.

high-brow /'haɪbraʊ/ adj a highbrow book, movie, etc. is very serious and may be difficult to understand.

high-chair /'haɪtʃə/ n [C] a tall chair that a baby sits in to eat.

high-class adj [of good quality and style, and usually expensive: a high-class restaurant]

high-definition (abbreviation: HD) adj [only before noun] a high-definition television or computer monitor shows images very clearly.

higher education n [U] education at a college or university.

highest common factor 24, 28, and 30 is 6.

The highest common factor of 12, 24, and 30 is 6.

high-definition television or computer so that you can see them more easily.

high·born adj [formal] born into the highest social class.

high·class adj [of good quality and style, and usually expensive: a high-class restaurant]

high·definition (abbreviation: HD) adj [only before noun] a high-definition television or computer monitor shows images very clearly.

higher education n [U] education at a college or university.

highest common factor n [C] MATH the largest number that a set of numbers can all be divided by exactly: The highest common factor of 12, 24, and 30 is 6.

high·explosive n [C,U] a substance that explodes with great power and violence.

high·frequency word n [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS a word that is used much more often than most words in speaking or writing: high-frequency words such as ‘the’ and ‘and’.

high·grade adj of high quality: high-grade motor oil.

high·heels n [plural] women’s shoes with a high raised heel at the back — high·heeled adj — see picture at SHOE.

high·jinks n [U] (old-fashioned) noisy or excited behaviour when people are having fun.

high·jump n the high jump a sport in which you run and jump over a bar that is raised higher after each successful jump — high·jumper n [C] high·lands /’haɪlændz/ n [plural] EARTH SCIENCES an area with a lot of mountains — low·lands: the Scottish highlands — high·land adj [only before noun] — high·lander n [C] high·level adj involving important people, especially in the government: high-level peace talks.

high·light vb [T] 1 to make a problem, subject, etc. easy to notice so people will pay attention to it: The report highlights the problem of inner-city crime.

high·light adj emphasize, stress, underline, underscore — EMPHASIZE high·light n [C] the most important or exciting part of a movie, sports event, etc.: the highlights of our trip.

high·light·er /’haɪlitər/ n [C] a special pen that you use to mark written words so that you can see them more easily.

high·ly adv 1 very: a highly successful meeting — highly skilled workers 2 to a high level or degree: a highly paid attorney.

high·minded adj having high moral standards or principles.

High·ness /’haɪnəs/ n Your/His etc. Highness a royal title used when speaking to a king, queen, etc.

high·pitched adj a high-pitched song or voice is higher than most sounds or voices.

high·powered adj 1 very powerful: a high-powered speedboat 2 very important or successful: a high-powered businessman.

high·pressure n [C] usually singular: EARTH SCIENCES an area of high air pressure in the sky, which usually brings warm weather.

high·pressure adj 1 a high-pressure job or situation is one in which you need to work very hard to be successful 2 having or using a lot of pressure: a high-pressure hose.

high·profile adj attracting a lot of attention from people: a high-profile court case.

high·rise, high·rise·building n [C] a tall building — high·rise adj: high-rise apartment buildings.

high·roller n [C] (informal) someone who spends a lot of money, especially by betting on games, races, etc.

high·school n [C,U] a school in the U.S. and Canada for students aged 14 and over: Most high school students take three years of math. | Wendy and I were best friends in high school.

high·speed adj [only before noun] designed to travel or operate very fast: a high-speed train.

high·spirited adj having a lot of energy and liking to have fun: a high-spirited four-year-old boy.

high·strung adj nervous, and easily upset or excited: a high-strung horse.

high·tech, hi·tech /’haɪtek/ adj using the most modern information, machines, etc.: a new high-tech camera.

high·way /’haɪweɪ/ n [plural] roads that connect cities or towns: There’s always a lot of traffic on that highway.
hike /ˈhɪk/ v. [T] 1 to take control of an airplane, vehicle, etc. illegally: The plane was hijacked by terrorists. 2 to take control of something and use it for your own purposes: The protesters tried to hijack the meeting. —hijacker n. [C] —hijacking n. [C-U] hijab /haɪˈdʒæb/ n. [C] 1 a scarf worn by Muslim women that completely covers the head and sometimes includes a veil (i.e. a thin piece of material) that covers the face except for the eyes 2 [U] SOCIAL SCIENCE the custom for some Muslim women to wear clothes that cover most of their body hijack /ˈhɪjak/ v. [T] 1 to take control of an airplane, vehicle, etc. illegally: The plane was hijacked by terrorists. 2 to take control of something and use it for your own purposes: The protesters tried to hijack the meeting. —hijacker n. [C] —hijacking n. [C-U] hill /hɪl/ n. [C] 1 EARTH SCIENCES an area of high land, like a small mountain: driving up a steep hill 2 over the hill (informal) no longer young, or too old to do a job well 3 the Hill POLITICS another word for CAPITOL HILL, used especially by politicians and JOURNALISTS [Origin: Old English hyll] —hilly adj.
hill-lying /ˈhɪl.lɪŋ/ adj. (pl. hilllying) [C] someone who lives in the mountains and is thought to be uneducated or stupid hill-side /ˈhɪlsайд/ n. [C] the side of a hill hilt /hɪlt/ n. 1 to the hilt completely or extremely: Their house had been mortgaged to the hilt: 2 [C] the handle of a sword or a large knife him /hɪm/ pron. the object form of “he”: Why don’t you just ask him yourself? 1 The cop ordered him out of the car. [Origin: Old English] him-self /hɪmˈself/ pron. 1 the reflexive form of “he”: Bill looked at him self in the mirror: 2 the strong form of “he,” used in order to emphasize the subject or object of a sentence:

It’s true! He told me himself. 3 (all) by himself a) without help: He tried to fix the car by himself. b) alone: Sam was all by himself on the mountain trail. 4 (all) for himself for his own use: Ben had the house to himself for a week. 5 not feel/look/seem like himself if someone does not feel like himself, he is not behaving or feeling as he usually does, because he is sick or upset hind /haɪnd/ adj. hind legs/feet the back legs or feet of an animal → see picture on page A2 hind-er /ˈhɪndər/ v. [T] to make it difficult for someone to do something: The bad weather is hindering rescue efforts.
hind-dle /ˈhɪndəl/ n. [U] a language used in India hind-que-ters /ˈhaɪnd.kwɛtəz/ n. [plural] (formal) the back part of an animal hind-rance /ˈhɪndrɑːns/ n. [C] someone or something that makes it difficult for you to do something: Students’ family problems can be a hindrance to their education.
hind-sight /ˈhaɪndSiːt/ n. [U] the ability to understand something after it has happened: In hindsight, it was a terrible mistake.
Hind-du-ism /ˈhɪndu.ɪzəm/ n. [U] the main religion in India, which includes belief in REINCARNATION hinge /ˈhɪŋ/ n. [C] a metal part that joins two things together, such as a door and a frame, so that one part can swing open and shut —hinged adj.
hinge /hɪŋ/ v. [T] to depend on something: His political future hinges on this election.
hint /hɪnt/ n. [C] 1 something that you say or do that helps someone guess what you really want: Come on, give me a hint. 2 Sue has been dropping hints (=giving hints) about what she wants for her birthday 2 a hint of sth a small amount of something: a hint of perfume in the air 3 a useful piece of advice on how to do something: a book full of hints on gardening hint /hɪnt/ v. [T] to say something that helps someone guess what you want, or what will happen: Irene hinted that I might get a raise.
hin-ter-land /ˈhɪntər.ˈlænd/ n. the hinterland the inner part of a country, usually away from cities or the coast hip /haɪp/ n. [C] one of the two parts on either side of your body, where your legs join your body: She stood there with her hands on her hips. [Origin: (1) Old English hippe] → see picture on page A3 hip-2 adj. (informal) modern and fashionable: a hip new comedy on NBC hip-hop /ˈhɪp.hɒp/ n. [U] 1 a type of dance music with a strong regular beat and spoken words: 2 a type of popular culture among young people in big cities, Hispan·ic /ˈhis·ən·ik/ adj belonging to or relating to a particular country: a class in European history.

his·tor·ic /ˈhɪs·tər·ɪk, -ˈstɑr-ɪk/ adj a historic place or event is important as part of history: important historic sites his·tor·i·cal /ˈhɪs·tər·ɪkəl, -ˈstɑr-ɪkəl/ adj 1 relating to the study of history: a collection of historical documents 2 historical events, people, etc. really happened or existed in the past his·tor·i·es /ˈhɪs·tər·i·zəs/ n (plural histories) 1 [U] all the things that happened in the past: Throughout history, wars have been fought over religion. 2 [U] the study of history, especially the political, social, or economic development of a particular country: a class in European history.

hit /hɪt/ v (past tense and past participle hit, present participle hitting) [T]

1 STRIKE to swing your hand, or something held in your hand, hard against someone or something: He hit the boy on the nose. | She swung the bat and hit the ball.

2 CRASH to crash into someone or something quickly and hard: Ann’s car hit a tree. | I hit my head on the table.

bump – to hit or knock against something, especially by accident: I bumped my head on the wall.

collide – to crash violently into something or someone: The two cars almost collided.

hit /hɪt/ n [U] the result of striking something: a hit single hit·ter /ˈhɪt·ər/ v [T] to hit or throw or fire something, especially at a specific person or target: The police fired tear gas to disperse the crowd.

his·tri·on·ics /ˈhɪstrɪˈənɪks/ n. [plural] (disapproving) behavior that is very emotional but is not sincere —histrionic adj hit·ter /ˈhɪt·ər/ v [T] to make a sound using your hand, especially against someone or something: The boy hit his hand against the door to make a noise.

hit

hit 1 n. [C] 1 a small problem that causes a delay: The performance went off without a hitch (=happened with no problems).

hit 2 n. [C] 1 a small problem that causes a delay: The performance went off without a hitch (=happened with no problems).

hit 3 n. [C] 1 a small problem that causes a delay: The performance went off without a hitch (=happened with no problems).

hit 4 n. [C] 1 a small problem that causes a delay: The performance went off without a hitch (=happened with no problems).

hit 5 n. [C] 1 a small problem that causes a delay: The performance went off without a hitch (=happened with no problems).

hit 6 n. [C] 1 a small problem that causes a delay: The performance went off without a hitch (=happened with no problems).

hit 7 n. [C] 1 a small problem that causes a delay: The performance went off without a hitch (=happened with no problems).

hit 8 n. [C] 1 a small problem that causes a delay: The performance went off without a hitch (=happened with no problems).

hit 9 n. [C] 1 a small problem that causes a delay: The performance went off without a hitch (=happened with no problems).

hit 10 n. [C] 1 a small problem that causes a delay: The performance went off without a hitch (=happened with no problems).

hit back v. phr. to attack or criticize someone who is attacking or criticizing you: Today the President hit back at his critics.

hit on sth v. phr. to have a good idea about something, often by chance: Turner may have hit on a solution.

hit sb up for sth v. phr. (spoken) to ask someone for something: Mitch hit him up for a loan.

hit 2 n. [C] 1 a movie, song, play, etc. that is very successful: Her first novel was a big hit.

hit 3 n. [C] 1 a movie, song, play, etc. that is very successful: Her first novel was a big hit.

hit 4 n. [C] 1 a movie, song, play, etc. that is very successful: Her first novel was a big hit.

hit 5 n. [C] 1 a movie, song, play, etc. that is very successful: Her first novel was a big hit.

hit 6 n. [C] 1 a movie, song, play, etc. that is very successful: Her first novel was a big hit.

hit 7 n. [C] 1 a movie, song, play, etc. that is very successful: Her first novel was a big hit.

hit 8 n. [C] 1 a movie, song, play, etc. that is very successful: Her first novel was a big hit.

hit 9 n. [C] 1 a movie, song, play, etc. that is very successful: Her first novel was a big hit.

hit 10 n. [C] 1 a movie, song, play, etc. that is very successful: Her first novel was a big hit.

hit-and-miss adj. (informal) done in a way that is not planned or organized well hit-and-run adj. a hit-and-run accident is one in which a car driver hits someone and then drives away without stopping to help hitch 1 v. phr. [1] (informal) to travel by asking for free rides in other people’s cars: Hitchhiking. We hitched a ride with a couple from Florida. 2 [T] to fasten something to something else: Dad finished hitching the trailer to the car. 3 get hitched (informal) to get married hitch 2 v. phr. to pull a piece of clothing up: Bill hitched up his pants.

hitchhike /’hɪtʃhaɪk/ v. [I] to travel by asking for free rides in other people’s cars —hitchhiker n. [C] —hitchhiking n. [U]

hi-tech /’hʌɪtʃtɛk/ adj. another spelling of HIGH-TECH hit-and-run accident is one in which a car driver hits someone and then drives away without stopping to help hit the spot n. (informal) to be liked very much by someone:

hit the hay/sack v. phr. (informal) to get out of a way that is not planned or organized well hit the spot n. (informal) to be liked very much by someone:

hit 2 n. [C] 1 a small problem that causes a delay: The performance went off without a hitch (=happened with no problems).

hit 3 n. [C] 1 a small problem that causes a delay: The performance went off without a hitch (=happened with no problems).

hit 4 n. [C] 1 a small problem that causes a delay: The performance went off without a hitch (=happened with no problems).

hit 5 n. [C] 1 a small problem that causes a delay: The performance went off without a hitch (=happened with no problems).

hit 6 n. [C] 1 a small problem that causes a delay: The performance went off without a hitch (=happened with no problems).

hit 7 n. [C] 1 a small problem that causes a delay: The performance went off without a hitch (=happened with no problems).

hit 8 n. [C] 1 a small problem that causes a delay: The performance went off without a hitch (=happened with no problems).

hit 9 n. [C] 1 a small problem that causes a delay: The performance went off without a hitch (=happened with no problems).

hit 10 n. [C] 1 a small problem that causes a delay: The performance went off without a hitch (=happened with no problems.).
hob·by /ˈhəbə/ n. (plural hobbies or hobies) [C] (old-fashioned) someone who travels around and has no home or regular job hock·ey /ˈhɔki/ n. [U] also ice hockey a sport played on ice in which players use long curved sticks to try to hit a hard flat round object into a goal ho·bo /ˈhoʊboʊ/ n. [plural hoboes or hobos] [C] (informal) someone who travels around and has no home or regular job ho·posed /ˈhaʊpəzd/ adj. a lot of things put together with no order or arrangement: The cafe is decorated with a hodgepodge of little knick-knacks and souvenirs.

ho·me /həma/ n. [C] a garden tool with a long handle, used for making the soil loose and for removing wild plants —ho·me v. [U] hog·ged /ˈhɑɡd/ v. (hogged, hogging) [T] (informal) to use all of something for yourself in a way that is roughly or completely unfair: My sister was hogging the mirror.

ho·min·al /ˈhoʊmɪnəl/ adj. (informal) disappointing or boring: a ho-hum movie ho·ist·ed /ˈhoʊɪst/ v. [T] to raise or lift something, especially using ropes or a special machine ho·ist·ed /ˈhoʊɪst/ n. [C] a piece of equipment used for lifting heavy things ho·key·play /ˈhoʊkɪпл/ adj. (informal, disapproving) expressing emotions in a way that seems old-fashioned, silly, or too simple: a hokey love song ho·ld·ed /ˈhoʊld/ v. (past tense and past participle held) 1 in your hands/arms [T] to have something firmly in your hands or arms: Will you hold my purse for a minute? | Hold my hand when we cross the street. | He held it carefully in his hands. | I held her tight.| a couple holding hands (=holding each other’s hands)

hold·up /ˈhoʊldʌp/ n. (informal) to take hold of something suddenly or violently: He grabbed the bag and ran.

hold·up /ˈhoʊldʌp/ v. (hold up) to keep or contain something: The files are held on computer. | That closet holds our winter clothes.

hold·up /ˈhoʊldʌp/ adj. to have a particular position, job, or level of achievement: The permit allows foreign workers to hold jobs in the U.S. | She was the first woman to hold high office. | He holds the record for the 10,000 meters race.

hold·up /ˈhoʊldʌp/ n. (informal) to continue at a particular level, rate, or number, or to make something do this: Hold your speed at fifty miles an hour. | Housing prices are holding steady.

hold·up /ˈhoʊldʌp/ v. (hold) (spoken) used in order to tell someone to wait, or to stop doing something ho·not·ed /ˈhoʊnɔt/ v. (hated, hating) [T] to be in debt hug·ged /ˈhʌg/ v. (hugged, hugging) [T] (informal) to hug, embrace, cuddle, wrap your arms around sb hold·up /ˈhoʊldʌp/ adj. to have a particular quality: The new drug holds promise for cancer sufferers.

hold·up /ˈhoʊldʌp/ n. (informal) to keep a person or animal in a place where he, she, or it cannot leave: Police are holding two suspects. | The tigers are held in cages until they can be released in the wild. | He was held hostage/prisoner/captive for two years.

hold·up /ˈhoʊldʌp/ v. (hold) (informal) to support the weight of hold

something: I wasn’t sure the branch would hold him.

17 think/believe [T] (formal) to think or believe something: He disagrees with most of the views/opinions held by Republican politicians. | The theory holds that tax cuts help economic growth.

18 hold true/good (formal) to be true in particular situations: I think her statement holds true for older women (is true about them). [Origin: Old English hældan] → hold your breath at breath; hold your horses! at horse; hold sway at sway hold sb against sb phr. v. to blame someone for something s/he has done: If the economy worsens, voters are likely to hold it against him.

hold back phr. v.

1 hold sth ↔ back to control something or make it stay in one place: The police couldn’t hold the crowds back.

2 hold (sth ↔) back to stop yourself from showing a particular feeling or saying something: She struggled to hold back her tears.

3 hold sb/sth back to prevent someone or something from developing or improving: Your son’s reading problems are holding him back.

hold at hold sb/sth back to control something or make it stay in one place: The police couldn’t hold the crowds back.

hold sb against sb phr. v. to blame someone for something s/he has done: If the economy worsens, voters are likely to hold it against him.

hold out phr. v.

1 hold out hope/the prospect etc. to refuse to tell someone something s/he wants or needs to know

2 hold out hope/the prospect etc. to refuse to accept less than you have asked for: He hasn’t signed a contract; he’s holding out for more money.

hold on at hold on to continue to defend yourself, or keep on refusing to do something: Some of the council members are holding out against the changes.

hold out hope/the prospect etc. to say that something may happen: The doctors don’t hold out much hope.

3 if a supply of something holds out, there is still some of it left: We talked for as long as the wine held out.

hold out for sth phr. v. to refuse to accept less than you have asked for: He hasn’t signed a contract; he’s holding out for more money.

hold on to continue to do something difficult until it gets better: The Rangers held on to win the game in the final period. The play has been held over for another week.

hold sb to sth phr. v. to make someone do what s/he has promised to do: “He said he would do it.” “Well, you’d better hold him to it.”

hold together phr. v.

1 hold sb ↔ together if a group, family, organization, etc. holds together, or something holds it together, it stays together: The children are the only thing holding their marriage together.

2 to remain whole, without breaking: I hope the car holds together long enough to get us to Fresno.

hold up phr. v.

1 hold sth ↔ up to make someone or something late: I got held up in traffic.

2 hold up sth to try to steal money from a store, bank, etc. using a gun: Two men held up the convenience store.

3 hold sth ↔ up to support something: Posts hold up the tin roof.

4 to remain strong or effective: The theory didn’t hold up in practice.

hold2 n.

1 [singular, U] the action of holding something: He grabbed/took/caught hold of my arm. 2 get (a) hold of sth to find someone or something for a particular purpose: Were you able to get a hold of Mike? [See if you can get hold of an overhead projector.]

3 on hold a) waiting on the telephone before speaking to someone: His secretary put me on hold. b) if something is on hold, it is going to be done or dealt with later: Her own plans had to be put on hold while she took care of her mother.

4 [singular] control, power, or influence over something or someone: The rebels were tightening their hold over the countryside.

5 take hold to start to have an effect on someone or something: The ceasefire took hold in December.

6 [C] the part of a ship where goods are stored hold-er /ˈhouldər/ n. [C] 1 someone who has control of or owns a place, position, or thing: Only ticket holders will be admitted. 2 something that holds or contains something else: a napkin holder hold-ing /ˈhouldɪŋ/ n. [C] something that you own or rent, especially land or part of a company holding company n. [C] a company that owns a controlling number of shares in other companies hold-o-ver /ˈhouldəvər/ n. [C] a feeling, idea, fashion, etc. from the past that has continued to the present: The robes that judges wear are a holdover from a time when all important people wore robes.

hold-up /ˈhouldəp/ n [C] 1 a delay, especially one caused by traffic 2 an attempt to rob someone, especially using a gun hole /ˈhOIl/ n [C] 1 an empty or open space in something solid: a hole in my sock | The dog dug a hole in the yard.

holiness /ˈholiNs/ n 1 the quality of being pure and holy 2 Your/His Holiness a title used for talking to or about some religious leaders, especially the Pope holistic /ˈhOlstIk/ adj, concerning the whole of something, rather than its parts: Some doctors are interested in holistic medicine (=medicine that treats the whole person, not just the illness)

holi-day /ˈhOliDeI/ n [C] a day when you do not have to go to work, school, etc.: July 1 is a national holiday in Canada. [Origin: Old English holi̊dæg “holi day”]

holi-ness /ˈholIness/ n 1 the quality of being pure and holy 2 Your/His Holiness a title used for talking to or about some religious leaders, especially the Pope

holi-wood /ˈholIwud/ n [U] a special picture made with a laser that looks as if it is not flat [Origin: 1900–2000 Greek holos “whole” + English -gram]

hol-o-gram /ˈholOgram/ n [U] a special picture made with a laser that looks as if it is not flat [Origin: 1900–2000 Greek holos “whole” + English -gram]

hol-ster /ˈholstər/ n [C] a leather object that you use for carrying a gun

hol-ly /ˈhOlli/ adj (comparative holier, superlative holiest) 1 relating to God or religion [sacred] 2 the holy city of Jerusalem 2 very religious and morally pure: a holy man 3 holy cow/mackerel/moly (spoken) used in order to express surprise, admiration, or fear [Origin: Old English halig]

Holy Ghost n the Holy Spirit

holy grail /ˈholi ˈgreI/ n [singular] 1 something that you try very hard to get or achieve: A cure for AIDS has become something of a medical holy grail. 2 the Holy Grail the cup believed to have been used by Jesus Christ before his death. In stories, especially stories about King Arthur, people search for this cup.
Holy Land

Holy Land n. the Holy Land the parts of the Middle East where the events in the Bible happened.

Holy Spirit n. the Holy Spirit God in the form of a spirit, according to the Christian religion

hom-age /h*om*æ/ n. [singular, U] (formal) something that you say or do to show respect for an important person: The visitors paid homage to the war veterans. [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French hommage, from homme “man, man who owes duty to a ruler”]

home1 /hoʊm/ n. 1 [CU] the place where you usually live, especially with your family: I decided just to stay at home. | I’ve been living at home (living with my parents) for the past two years.

THE THESAURUS
- house — the house, apartment, or room where someone lives: Let’s go over to Dave’s house. | place (informal) — the house, apartment, or room where someone lives: Do you want to come back to my place for coffee?
- residence (formal) — the place where you live: a private residence
- dwelling (formal) — a house, apartment, etc., where people live: the cliff dwellings in Colorado, where the Anasazi Indians used to live
- abode (formal) — the place where you live, used especially in literature: In Norse mythology, Valhalla is the abode of fallen warriors

home2 adv. 1 to or at the place where you live: Hi, honey, I’m home. | Come on, Andy, it’s time to go home. | Many kids come home to an empty house. | I should get home in time for dinner.

> Don’t say “go/get home” at dinner. 2 take home to earn a particular amount of money after tax has been taken away: I take home about $200 a week. 3 drive/hammer sth home to make someone understand what you mean by saying it in a very clear and determined way: We need to hammer home the message that drugs are dangerous. 4 hit home if something hits home, it makes you realize or understand something more clearly: She said I was bullying her, and that really hit home.

home3 adj. 1 relating to or belonging to your home or family, or done at home: My home town is Matamata. | What’s your home address? | some good home cooking (meals cooked by your family)

2 playing on your own sports field rather than an opponent’s field: away: The home team is ahead by four runs.

home4 v. home in on sth phr. v. to aim exactly at something and move directly toward it: A rescue plane homed in on the location of the crash.

home-boy /ˈhounbɒɪ/ n. [C] (slang) a male HOMEMY

home-com-ing /ˈhounkæmɪŋ/ n. [C] 1 an occasion when someone comes back to his/her home after being away for a long time 2 an occasion when former students return to their school or college home-land /ˈhounlænd/ n. [C] the country where you were born home-less /ˈhounlɪs/ adj. 1 the homeless people who do not have a place to live, and who often live in the streets 2 without a home: The war left a lot of people homeless.

home-ly /ˈhounlɪ/ adj. a homely person is not very attractive home-made /ˈhounmeɪd/ adj. made at home and not bought from a store: homemade jam home-mak-er /ˈhounmɛkər/ n. [C] someone who works at home cooking and cleaning, and does not have another job

home-office /ˈhounəfɪs/ n. [C] an office you have in your house so that you can do your job at home home-me-op-a-thy /ˈhounmiəpəθi/ n. [U] a system of medicine in which someone who is sick is given very small amounts of a substance that has the same effects as the disease [Origin: 1800—1900 German homöopathie, from Greek homöo “like” + pathos “suffering”] —homeopathic /ˌhounmeɪpəθɪk/ adj.

home-o-sta-sis /ˌhounəˈstæsɪs/ n. [U] biology the process in which a living organism or cell stays in the same state even when its environment changes home page, home-page /ˈhounpɛɡ/ n. [C] it the first page of a website on the Internet, which usually has links to the other parts of the website

home plate /ˈhounpiːt/ n. [U] in a game of baseball, the place where you stand to hit the ball, which is also the last place the player who is running must touch in order to get a point home-er /ˈhounər/ n. [C] a home run —home run v. [I]

home-room /ˈhounrʊm, -rʊm/ n. [C] the room where students go at the beginning of the school day, or at the beginning of each semester home run n. [C] a long hit in baseball that lets the player run around all the bases and get a point home·shopping n [U] shopping that you do at home by telephone, mail, or Internet, buying things that you have seen on the television or Internet home·sick /'həməˌsɪk/ adj: feeling sad because you are away from your home: I felt homesick already for my family. —homesickness n [U]

home·stead /'həməˌsted/ n [C] a farm and the area of land and buildings around it, especially one that was originally given to someone by the government —homestead v [I,T]

home·stand·er /'həməˌstedər/ n [C] HISTORY in the past, homesteaders were people who owned an area of land that was given to them by the government according to a law called the Homestead Act home·ward /'həməˌwərd/ adj: going toward home —homeward adv

home·work /'həməˌwɜrk/ n [U] 1 work for school that a student does at home —housework: Have you done your homework? 2 do (sb's) homework to prepare for something by finding out information: Before the interview, do some homework about the company.

hom·ey1 /ˈhɔmɨ/ adj: comfortable and pleasant, like home: The restaurant had a nice homey atmosphere.

honey2 n [C] (slang) a friend, or someone who comes from your area of GANG

hom·i·ci·dal /ˈhɔmɨˌsɪdəl/,ˈhəʊ-/adj: likely to murder someone hom·i·cide /ˈhɔmɨˌsɪd/ n [U] LAW the crime of murder [Origin: 1200—1300 French, Latin homicidium, from homo “man” + caedere “to kill”]

hom·i·noid /ˈhɔmɨˌnɔɪd/ n [C] BIOLOGY a member of a group of animals which includes humans and also the animals from which humans developed

hom·i·noid /ˈhɔmɨˌnɔɪd/,ˈhəʊ-/adj: 1 similar to a human 2 BIOLOGY belonging to a group of animals that includes humans and APEs

ho·mo·ge·ne·ous /ˈhɑməˌdʒiənəs/, -nəs/ adj: a chemical substance consisting of two or more different substances that have completely combined together, so that all parts of the mixture look the same [1876] solution

ho·mo·ge·nized /ˈhɑməˌdʒiəˌnaizd/ adj: homogenized milk has had its cream mixed in with the milk

hom·o·graph /ˈhɑməˌɡrɑf/,ˈhɑʊ-/n [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS a word that is spelled the same as another, but is different in meaning, origin, grammar, or pronunciation. For example, the noun “record” is a homograph of the verb “record.” [Origin: 1800—1900 Greek homo- “same” + -graphos “written”]

ho·mo·lo·gous /ˈhɑməˌləˈgəs/ adj: 1 BIOLOGY relating to two CHROMOSOMES that have the same form and structure 2 BIOLOGY relating to parts of a person’s or animal’s body which evolved (developed) from the same animal, and which now look different or have a different purpose: a homologous structure

hom·o·nym /ˈhɑməˌnɪm/ n [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS a word that sounds the same and is spelled the same as another word, but has a different meaning. For example, the noun “bear” and the verb “bear” are homonyms. [Origin: 1600—1700 Latin homonymum, from Greek, from homos + onyma “name”]

ho·mo·phi·bi·a /ˈhɑməˌfəbɪə/ n [U] hatred and fear of homosexuals [Origin: 1900—2000 homosexual + -phobia] —homophobic adj

THE SAURUS prejudiced, intolerance, sexism

hom·o·phone /ˈhɑməˌfɔn/,ˈhɑʊ-/n [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS a word that sounds the same as another word, but is different in spelling or meaning. For example, “pair” and “pear” are homophones.

ho·mo·sex·u·al /ˈhɑməˌsɛksəˈjuːəl/ adj: a member of a group of animals which includes humans and also the animals from which humans developed ho·mo·zy·gous /ˈhɑməˌzaɪˈɡəs/ adj: relating to two parts of a CHROMOSOME that have the same or have an identical or having the same gene at a specific location on a chromosome.

hon·ey — [T] 1 to improve as kill: Players must practice to hone their skills. 2 to make a knife, sword, etc. sharp

hon·est — adj: 1 someone who is honest does not lie, cheat, or steal [ANT: dishonest]: an honest, hardworking man 2 not hiding the truth or the facts about something: The honest answer was that I didn’t know. 3 I need you to be honest with me.

THE SAURUS frank: honest and direct in the way that you speak: To be frank, I don’t like him very much. candid: telling the truth, even when the truth honestly

may be unpleasant or embarrassing. It sounds like you need to have a candid talk with him.
direct – saying exactly what you mean in an honest and clear way: direct criticism upfront – talking or behaving in a direct and honest way: Parents need to be upfront with their kids about the risks of drugs and alcohol.
straight – honest and direct and telling the truth: Are you being straight with me?
straightforward – honest and not hiding what you think: He seems like a straightforward guy.
blunt – speaking in an honest way even if it upsets people. She was blunt about her feelings.
forthright – saying honestly what you think, in a way that may seem rude. She answered the questions in a forthright manner.

3 honest/to be honest (spoken) said to emphasize that what you are saying is true: We didn’t think of that, to be honest with you. 4 honest mistake a mistake you make when you did not intend to deceive anyone or be cruel: (spoken) honesty and decency.

In all honesty, we made a lot of mistakes.
honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.

honestly about her problems.

honesty and decency.
hook up with sb (phr. v. to meet someone and become friendly with him/her or start a romantic relationship with him/her) hooked /hʊkt/ adj 1 be/get hooked on sth (informal) a) to be or become very interested in something and want to do or see it a lot: We’re trying to get kids hooked on books. b) to be unable to stop taking a drug (informal) addicted 2 shaped like a hook: a hooked nose hook-er /ˈhʊkər/ n. [C] (informal) a PROSTITUTE

Hooke’s law /ˈhjuːks/ n. [C] physics a scientific rule stating that the amount an ELASTIC material stretches, is pressed, etc. is directly connected to the amount of force being used hook-y /ˈhjuːki/ n. (informal) play hooky to stay away from school without permission hoo-gan /ˈhuːɡan/ n. [C] a noisy violent person who causes trouble by fighting or damaging things hook /hʊk/ n. 1 [C] a circular piece of wood, metal, plastic, etc.: hoop earrings | a basketball hoop (=what you throw the ball through) 2 hoops (plural) (informal) basketball: The guys are out shooting hoops (playing basketball).

hoo-ray /ˈhuːreɪ/ interjection shouted when you are very excited and happy about something hoot1 /hʊt/ n. [C] 1 the sound made by an owl or a ship’s horn 2 a shout or laugh that shows you think something is funny, exciting, or stupid: hoots of laughter 3 be a hoot (spoken) to be a lot of fun 4 not give a hoot (spoken) to not care or be interested in something hoot2 v. [IT] if an owl or a ship’s horn hoots, it makes a loud clear noise 2 to shout or laugh loudly because you think something is funny or stupid hooves /huvz, hUvz/ n. a plural of HOOF hop /hɒp/ v. (hopped, hopping) [I] 1 to move by making short quick jumps ➔ see picture at JUMP

JUMP

2 (informal) to get into, onto, or out of something, for example a vehicle: Hop in and I’ll give you a ride.

hop2 n. [C] 1 a short jump 2 short hop (informal) a short trip by airplane

hope1 /həʊp/ v. [IT] to want something to happen or be true: I hope (that) you feel better soon. | We hope to reduce our costs. | Leaders are hoping for a quick end to the fighting. | You just do what you can and hope for the best (=hope a situation will end well). | “Can I help you?” “I hope so (=I hope this will happen).” | “Do you think it’s going to rain?” “I hope not!” (=I hope this will not happen)

hope2 n. 1 [C] usually singular, U the feeling that good things can or will happen: The new treatment gives sufferers hope to cancer patients (=makes them have hope). | The report expresses little hope that the economy will improve soon. | our hopes for peace | We have high hopes (=strong feelings that something good will happen) for this year’s team. 2 [C, U] a chance of succeeding or of something good happening: Many of these children have no hope of going to college. | There is still a faint hope that the two sides will reach an agreement. 3 [C] something that you hope will happen: her hopes and fears for the future 4 in the hope that of sth if you do something in the hope that you will get a particular result, you do it, even though you cannot be sure of this result: Her parents put her in a new school, in the hope that her work would improve. 5 don’t get your hopes up (spoken) used in order to tell someone that something s/he is hoping for is not likely to happen hope-ful /ˈhəʊpfl/ adj 1 believing that what you want is likely to happen: We’re hopeful about our chances of winning. | I’m hopeful that the situation will improve. 2 making you feel that what you want is likely to happen: There are hopeful signs that an agreement will be reached. —hopefulness n. [U]

hope-ful-ly /ˈhəʊpflɪ/ adv. 1 a way of saying what you hope will happen, which some people think is not correct: Hopefully, I’ll be home early. 2 in a hopeful way: They talked hopefully about their futures.

hope-less /ˈhəʊplɪs/ adj. 1 without any chance of success or improvement: the hopeless poverty of the inner cities 2 feeling no hope, or showing this —hopelessly adv. —hopelessness n. [U] hop-skotch /ˈhɒpskɒtʃ/ n. [U] a game in which children jump on squares drawn on the ground horde /ˈhɔrd/ n. [C] a large crowd moving in a noisy uncontrolled way: hordes of tourists hor-ri-zo-n /ˈhaʊrəraɪzn/ n. 1 the horizon the place where the land or ocean seems to meet the sky: a ship on the horizon 2 horizons (plural) the limit of your ideas, knowledge, and experience: I took an evening class to broaden my horizons. 3 on the horizon seeming likely to happen in the future: There may be a recession on the horizon. [Origin: 1300—1400 Late Latin, Greek, from horizon “to limit”] hor-i-zon-tal /ˈhaʊəraɪzontəl, hər-ə-/ adj. flat and level: a horizontal surface —horizontally adv. ➔ see picture at LINE hor-mone /ˈhɔrmən/ n. [C] biology a substance produced by your body that influences its growth, development, and condition —hormonal horn n. 1 [C.U] a hard pointed thing that grows in pairs on the heads of cows, goats, etc., or the substance this is made of → antlers → picture on page A2 2 [C] the thing in a car, truck, etc. that you push to make a sound as a warning: Someone was honking/blowing a horn (=made a noise with the horn) behind him. 3 [C] a trumpet

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>THESAURUS</th>
<th>bad, awful, terrible, horrible, appalling, horrific</th>
<th>BAD²</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

2 extremely bad or difficult: Traffic was horrendous on the freeway.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>THESAURUS</th>
<th>horrible, awful, terrible, dreadful</th>
<th>HORRIBLE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

hors d’oeuvres n. [C] a small amount of food that is served before people sit down at the table for the main meal horse1 n. [C] 1 a large strong animal that people ride on and use for pulling heavy things → pony: A girl was riding a white horse. (a horse race → picture at TARM) 2 hold your horses! (spoken) said when you want someone to wait or to stop doing something [Origin: Old English horph] horse² v. horse around phr. v. (informal) to play in a rough and silly way horse-back n. [U] [pl. horseback] riding the activity of riding a horse for pleasure 2 on horseback riding a horse: two men on horseback horse-power n. [pl. horsepower] (written abbreviation hp) [C] a unit for measuring the power of an engine horse-shoe n. [pl. horseshoes] [U] a curved piece of iron that is attached to the bottom of a horse’s foot to protect it 2 horseshoes [U] an outdoor game in which horseshoes are thrown at a post hori-tu-culture n. [pl. horticulture] [U] the practice or science of growing plants [Origin: 1600—1700 Latin hortus "garden" + English culture] —horticultural hose n. 1 [C,U] a long rubber or plastic tube that can be moved and bent, used to put water onto plants, fires, etc., or to allow liquids or air to flow through an engine, etc. 2 [plural] pantyhose

hose² v. hose down phr. v. to wash or pour water over someone or something, using a hose: Would you hose down the car for me?

hos-pice n. [pl. hospices] [C] a special hospital where people who are dying are cared for hos-pi-tal n. [C] a building where sick or injured people receive medical treatment: Rick’s dad is still in the hospital (=being cared for in a hospital). He was unconscious and had to be taken/rushed to the hospital. | His wife had been admitted to/released from the hospital the day before. [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French, Medival Latin hospitale “place to stay at,” from Latin hospitātis “of a guest”] hos·tel /ˈhɒstəl/ n [U] friendly behavior toward visitors hos·tal·i·za·tion /ˈhɒs(t)ələˌzeɪʃn/ n [U] —hospitalization host /ˈhɒst/ n [C] 1 the person at a party who invited the guests and organized the party ➔ host·ess: Our host greeted us at the door. 2 someone who introduces and talks to the guests on a television or radio show: a game show host 3 a country or organization that provides the space, equipment, etc. for a special event: The bookstore will host a poetry reading.

host·age /ˈhɒstɪdʒ/ n [C] a person who is kept as a prisoner by an enemy, so that the other side will do what the enemy demands ➔ captive: Three nurses were taken/hosted hostage (=caught and used as hostages) by the rebels.

host·el /ˈhɒstəl/ n [C] a cheap place for young people to stay when they are traveling host·ess /ˈhɒstɪs/ n [C] 1 the woman at a party who invited the guests and organized the party 2 a woman who takes people to their seats in a restaurant host·ile /ˈhɒstɪl/ adj 1 very unfriendly and ready to fight or argue with someone: a hostile audience 2 opposing a plan or idea very strongly: Several unions are hostile to the proposals. 3 belonging to an enemy: hostile territory 4 difficult to live in: Plants such as cacti can survive in hostile environments. 5 hostile takeover/bid a situation in which a company tries to buy another company which does not want to be bought ➔ hostile toward immigrants?

host·il·i·ty /ˈhɒstɪləti/ n 1 [U] unfriendly and angry feelings or behavior: Why is there so much hostility toward immigrants? 2 [U] strong opposition to a plan or idea: There’s a certain amount of hostility to the changes.

hot /hɒt/ adj (comparative hotter, superlative hottest) 1 high in temperature ➔ cold: Be careful — the soup’s hot. | a hot shower | It’s hot (=the weather is hot) today. | The Mojave Desert is the hottest place in America. | We were all hot and tired. | a steaming/piping/boiling hot cup of coffee | a scorching/broiling/boiling hot day in August | The metal became red hot (=extremely hot).

hot·dog /ˈhɑt.dɑg/ n [C] a long sausage (tube-shaped piece of cooked meat), eaten in a long bun (=type of bread) ho·tel /ˈhɒtel/ n [C] a large building where people pay to stay for a short time: I prefer to stay hot flash

in a small hotel. | We checked into our hotel by six. [Origin: 1600–1700 French hôtel, from Old French hôtel] 498

hot-head /hoʊˈtɛd/ n. [C] someone who gets angry orExcited easily and does things too quickly, without thinking —hotheaded adj hot key n. [C] one or more keys that you can press on a computer keyboard to make the computer quickly do a particular set of actions hot-line /ˈhɒtlain/ n. [C] a special telephone number that people can call for quick help with questions or problems: a suicide hotline hot-ly /ˈhɒtlɪ/ adv. 1 in an angry or excited way: a hotly debated/disputed issue 2 done with a lot of energy or effort: the hotly contested race for governor hot plate, hot-plate /ˈhɒtplɛt/ n. [C] a small piece of equipment with a flat heated top, used for cooking food hot rod n. [C] (informal) a car that you have put a powerful engine into hot-shot /ˈhɒtʃɔt/ n. [C] (informal, disapproving) someone who is very successful and confident —hotshot adj.: a hotshot lawyer hot spot n. [C] 1 a place where there is likely to be fighting or a particular problem: hot spots around the globe 2 physics a place where there is a lot of heat or radiation 3 if an area on a computer screen that you click on in order to make other pictures, words, etc. appear hot-tempered adj. tending to become angry very easily hot tub n. [C] a heated bathtub that several people can sit in hot-water bottle n. [C] a rubber container filled with hot water, used to make a bed warm hot-wire v. [T] (informal) to start the engine of a vehicle without a key, by using the wires of the ignition system hound /ˈhaund/ v. [T] to keep following someone and asking him/her questions in an annoying or threatening way: Celebrities are hounded by reporters.

hound n. [C] a dog used for hunting hour /ˈhaʊr/ n. 1 [C] a unit for measuring time. There are 60 minutes in one hour: It takes two hours to get here from the airport. I’ll be home in an hour. We met for an hour over lunch. Paul should have been here a half hour/half an hour (=30 minutes) ago. A bomb exploded in the airport just hours before (=a few hours before) the President’s arrival. A ten-hour trip (=one that is ten hours long) / a top speed of 120 miles per hour 2 Don’t say “a ten hours trip.” 3 [C] the distance you can travel in an hour: The lake is an hour from Hartford. 3 [singular] a time of day when a new hour starts: Classes begin on the hour (=exactly at 1 o’clock, 2 o’clock, etc.). 4 [C] a particular period or point in time during the day or night: I’ll go to the store on my lunch hour. 5 [C] an important time in history or in your life: You were there in my hour of need (=when I needed help). 6 hours [plural] a) the period of time when a store or business is open, or when a particular activity happens: The mall’s opening hours are from 9 a.m. till 9 p.m. | Please phone during office hours. | What are the visiting hours (=the time when you can visit) at the hospital? | The inventory will be done after hours (=when the store is closed). b) (informal) a long time: She spends hours on the phone. 7 at all hours at any time during the day and night: People wander through the lobby at all hours. [Origin: Old French heure, from Latin hora, from Greek] hour-glass /ˈaʊrɡlæs/ n. [C] a glass container for measuring time, in which sand moves from the top half through a narrow middle part to the bottom half in exactly one hour hour-ly /ˈhaʊrli/ adj., adv. 1 happening or done every hour: an hourly news bulletin | Trains from Boston arrive hourly.

hourly pay/fees etc. the amount you earn or charge for every hour you work house /ˈhaʊs/ n. (plural houses /ˈhaʊzəz/) 1 [C] a building that you live in, especially one that is intended to be used by one family: I’m going over to Dean’s house. a three-bedroom house b) Every room in the house was cluttered with books. c) You’re welcome to stay at my house. household /ˈhaus,kiːp/ n. [C] all the people who live in a house; Be quiet, or you'll wake the whole house! 3 [C] a building used for a particular purpose or to keep a particular thing in: the Opera House 4 [C] a) POLITICS one of the groups of people who make the laws of a state or country: The President will speak to both houses of Congress on Thursday. b) the House POLITICS the HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES 5 [C] a company, especially one involved in a particular area of business: America’s oldest publishing house 6 [C] the part of a theater where people sit, or the people in it: There was a full house (every seat was full) at Friday’s performance. 7 be on the house (spoken) if drinks or meals in a restaurant are on the house, they are free 8 also house music U [C] a type of modern dance music [ORIGIN: Old English bus] house /ˈhaus/ v. [T] 1 to provide someone with a place to live: More than 150,000 prisoners are housed in 32 prisons. 2 if a building houses something, that thing is kept there house arrest n. be under house arrest to not be allowed to leave your house by the government or police house-bound /ˈhausbɒund/ adj. not able to leave your house, especially because you are sick or old house-broken /ˈhaus,brʊkən/ adj. a pet animal that is housebroken has been trained not to make the house dirty with its URINE or other body waste household /ˈhaus,hol/ n. [C] all the people who live together in one house household chores 2 be a household name/word to be famous or known about by many people house-keep-ing /ˈhaus,kiːpɪŋ/ n. [U] 1 the work that needs to be done in a house, hotel, etc. to keep it clean. 2 the department in a large building such as a hotel or hospital that is in charge of keeping the building clean inside

House of Representatives n. the House of Representatives POLITICS the larger of the two groups of people who are part of the government and who make the laws in countries such as the U.S. and Australia → SENATE house-plant /ˈhaus,plɑnt/ n. [C] a plant that is grown indoors for decoration house-sit v. [I] to take care of someone’s house while s/he is away house-wares /ˈhausˌwɛrз/ n. [plural] things used in the home, such as plates and lamps house-warm-ing /ˈhaus,wɔrnɪŋ/ n. [C] a party that you give to celebrate moving into a new house house-wife /ˈhausˌwɪf(ə)/ n. (plural housewives /ˈhausˌwɪvz/) a married woman who works at home doing the cooking, cleaning, etc. → HOMEMAKER house-work /ˈhausˌwɜrk/ n. [U] the work that you do to take care of a house, for example cleaning and washing clothes → HOMEWORK housing de,velopment n. [C] a number of houses built in the same area at the same time, usually in a similar style housing ,project n. [C] a group of houses or apartments for poor families, usually built with money from the government how-el /ˈhaʊəl,ˈhaʊ-əl/ n. [C] (literary) a small dirty place where someone lives how-er /ˈhaʊər/ v. [I] 1 if a bird, insect, or HELICOPTER hovers, it stays in one place in the air. 2 to stay in the same place, especially because you are waiting for something: Her family hovered at her bedside. 3 to stay close to a particular amount: The temperature hovered just above freezing.

how /haʊ/ adv., conjunction 1 used in order to ask about or explain the way something happens or is done: How do you spell your name? | Martin explained how the system worked. | The advisor can show you how to apply for the loan. 2 used in order to ask about the amount, size, or degree of something: How old is Debbie? | How long have you been here? | How much are the tickets? 3 used in order to ask about someone’s health: How is your mother these days? 4 used in order to ask someone about his/her opinion or his/her experience of something: “How do I look?” “Great!” | How was your
SPOKEN PHRASES

7 how are you?/how's it going?/how are you doing? used when asking someone if they are well and happy: So, how's it going at work? 8 how about ...? used when asking someone if they are well and happy: I'm busy tonight, but how about tomorrow? 9 how come? used when asking why something has happened: Why did you do that? 10 how do you know? used when asking why someone is sure about something: He's not back yet.” “How do you know?” 11 how can/could sb do sth? said when you are very surprised by something or disapprove strongly of it: How could you say that to her? 12 how do you do? (formal) said when you meet someone for the first time.

how-dy /ˈhaʊdi/ (spoken, informal, humorous) used in order to say “hello” in an informal, usually humorous way.

how-ever /ˈhauvər/ adv 1 used in order to add an idea or fact that is surprising or seems very different from what you have just said: It is a serious disease that is, however, easy to treat. 2 although used in order to say that it does not matter how big, good, serious, etc. something is: However difficult it is for you to accept, it is the truth.

however /ˈhauvər/ conjunction in whatever way: However you do it, I’m sure it will be good.

howl /haʊl/ v [I] 1 to make a long loud crying sound like a dog or a wolf → bark. 2 if the wind howls, it makes a loud high sound as it blows. 3 to make a loud shouting or crying sound: The jokes had the audience howling with laughter. → howl n [C]

HQ the abbreviation of HEADQUARTERS
hr. (plural hrs.) the written abbreviation of HOUR

HTML n [U] | If hypertext markup language a computer language used to make documents that can be put on the Internet → SGML, XML hub /ˈhaʊb/ n [C] 1 the central part of an area, system, etc. that all the other parts are connected to: the hub of a transit system 2 the central part of a wheel hub-bub /ˈhaʊbəb/ n [singular, U] (informal) 1 the noise of a lot of people all talking at the same time 2 a situation in which there is a lot of activity or excitement: the hubbub surrounding the trial hub-cap /ˈhaʊbkæp/ n [C] a metal cover for the center of a wheel on a vehicle hu-bris /ˈhaʊbriəs/ n [U] (literary) too much pride (=pleasure in what you have achieved) hud-dle /ˈhaɪdl/ v [I] 1 also huddle together/up if a group of people huddle together, they gather very closely together: A group of reporters were huddled around the door. 2 to lie or sit with your arms and legs close to your body because you are cold or frightened: Rosie huddled under the blankets. → huddle n [C] hue /haɪ/ n [C] (literary) a color or type of color → SHADE: a golden hue huff /haʊf/ n in a huff feeling angry: Ray left in a huff.

huff v (informal) huff and puff to breathe out in a noisy way, especially because you have been doing physical work huffy /ˈhaʊfi/ adj (informal) annoyed or slightly angry: Don’t get huffy with me.

hug /haʊɡ/ (hugged, hugging) v 1 to put your arms around someone and hold him/her tightly to show love or friendship: Hug your children.

how could you say that to her? 12 how do you do? (formal) said when you meet someone for the first time.

hug n [C] the act of hugging: Give me a hug.

huge /ˈhjuːɡ/ adj very big: Their house is huge. | a huge problem —hugely adv

huh /haʊ/ interjection 1 said when you have not heard or understood a question: “What do you think, Bob?” “Huh?” 2 said at the end of a question to ask for agreement: Not a bad restaurant, huh?

hulk /ˈhʌlk/ n [C] 1 an old ship, airplane, or vehicle that is no longer used 2 a large heavy person or thing hull /haʊl/ n [C] the main outer structure or body of a ship hul-la-bloo /ˈhaʊlbəlu/ n, /ˈhaʊlbəlu/ n [s] (informal) a lot of noise, excited talk, newspaper stories, etc., especially about something surprising or shocking: There's always so much hullabaloo about the Olympics.

human /ˈhjuːmən/ (hummed, humming) 1 [T] to sing a tune by making a continuous sound with your lips closed: Mrs. Garner hummed while she worked. 2 [I] to make a low continuous sound: Air conditioners hummed in the windows. 3 [I] if a place is humming, it is very busy and full of activity —hum n. [singular] humane /ˈhuːmən/ adj. 1 belonging to or relating to people: human behavior the different cell types in the human body 2 viruses are too small to be seen by the human eye. 3 NASA said the accident was a result of human error (=a mistake made by a person, not a machine). 4 the value of human life 2 human weaknesses, emotions, etc. are typical of ordinary people the human heart Movie The movie shows us human nature (=she good and bad qualities that are typical of people) at its best and worst. 3 sb is only human used in order to say that someone should not be blamed for what s/he has done. 4 human interest a quality that makes a story interesting because it is about people’s lives, feelings, relationships, etc. [Origin: 1300—1400 French humain, from Latin humanus] humanitarian /ˈhuːmənətərē/ n. [U] the department in a company that deals with employing, training, and helping people personnel human rights n. [plural] the basic rights that every person should have to be treated in a fair equal way without cruelty, especially by his/her government humanism /ˈhuːmənɪzəm/ n. [C] biology the bone between your shoulder and elbow humanitarianism /ˈhuːmənətərēənɪzəm/ n. [U] the belief that human problems can be solved through science rather than religion —humanist n. [C] humanizing /ˈhuːmənəˌzīŋ/ adj. treating people or animals in a way that is kind, not cruel and humane —humanely adv.

humanist /ˈhuːmənɪst/ n. [C] a man, woman, or child humane /ˈhuːmən/ adj. —humanely adv.

humanitarian /ˈhuːmənətərēən/ adj. —humanitarianism n. [U] humane /ˈhuːmən/ adj. —humanely adv. —humanely possible able to be done using all your skills, knowledge, time, etc.: The doctors did everything humanly possible to save his life.

human interest n. [C] biology the bone between your shoulder and elbow humanly /ˈhuːmənli/ adv. —humanly possible able to be done using all your skills, knowledge, time, etc.: The doctors did everything humanly possible to save his life.

People were in protest. | of things or people: | strong need or desire for something: | an amelioration of something: | to not have enough food to eat: | get hungry: | a hunk of: | a hundred percent: | hun·dred /ˈhʌndrəd/ n. [C] a piece of paper money worth $100 hun·dred·weight /ˈhʌndrədˌwɛt/ (written abbreviation cw) n. (plural hundredweight) [C] a measure of weight equal to 100 pounds or 45.36 kilograms hun·ger /ˈhʌŋgər/ v. [T] the feeling that you want or need to eat ➔ hungry, thirsty: He had hunger pangs (=feelings of being hungry) from missing lunch. | Don’t say ‘I have hunger.’ Say ‘I am hungry.’ | 2 [U] a severe lack of food, especially for a long period of time (syn: starvation): People were dying of hunger. | 3 [singular, U] a strong need or desire for something: a hunger for power hun·ger for sth phr. v. to want something very much hun·ger strike n. [C] a situation in which someone refuses to eat, in order to protest about something hung’ jury n. [C usually singular] a JURY that cannot agree about whether someone is guilty of a crime hung’ over adj. feeling sick because you drank too much alcohol the previous day ➔ HANGOVER hun·gry /ˈhʌŋɡri/ (comparative hungri·er, superlative hungri·est) 1 wanting to eat something ➔ hunger, thirst: When’s dinner? I’m hungry. | If you get hungry, there’s some turkey in the fridge. | 2 to go hungry to not have enough food to eat: Despite our country’s wealth, many poor families still go hungry. | 3 to be hungry for sth to want something very much: She was a lonely child who was hungry for a friend. —hung·ry·ly adv.

hun·gry·ly adv.

hun·ger down phr. v. [informal] to not do things that may be risky, so that you are safe and protected: People are hungering down and waiting for the economy to get better. | 2 to bend your knees so that you are sitting on your heels, close to the ground ➔ squat

hunt1 /hɔnt/ n. [C] 1 a feeling that something is true or that something will happen: My hunch is that things will improve soon. | I had a hunch you’d call today.

hunt2 v. [I] to bend down and lean forward so that your back forms a curve: Employees were hunched over their computer screens.

hun·ched adj.

hunch·back /ˈhʌŋtʃbæk/ n. [C] (offensive) someone who has a large HUMP on his/her back hun·der·ed /ˈhʌndrɪd/ number 1 100: a hundred years | two hundred miles | 2 a very large number of things or people: Hundreds of people marched in protest. | You’ve seen that program a hundred times! | 3 a/hundred percent completely: I agree one hundred percent. | 4 to give a hundred percent to do everything you can in order to achieve something: Everyone on the team gave a hundred percent. [Origin: Old English] —hun·der·eth /ˈhʌndrɪθ/ noun hun·der·ed /ˈhʌndrɪd/ n. [C] someone who is looking for something or someone who is looking for a problem or difficulty hun·ker /ˈhʌŋkər/ v. [I] to chase animals or birds in order to catch and kill them: This isn’t the season for hunting deer. | 2 to look for someone or something very carefully: She was hunting for the perfect wedding gown. [Origin: Old English huntian] hunt sb/sth ↔ down phr. v. to find an enemy or criminal after searching hard: The agency was created to hunt down war criminals.

hunt2 n. [C] 1 a careful search for someone or something: The hunt for the missing child continues today. | 2 an occasion when people chase animals in order to catch or kill them hun·ter /ˈhʌntər/ n. [C] 1 a person or animal that hunts wild animals. | 2 someone who is looking for a particular thing: job hunters hun·ter·gath·er·er /ˈhʌntərˌɡætərər/ n. [C] SOCIAL SCIENCE a member of a society who live by hunting animals and collecting wild plants

hunt·ing /ˈhʌntɪŋ/ n. [U] 1 the act of chasing animals in order to catch or kill them: Ed’s going to go deer hunting next weekend. | 2 job-hunting/ house-hunting etc. the activity of looking for a job, a house to live in, etc. —hunt·ing adj.

hur·dle /ˈhɜrdəl/ n. [C] 1 a problem or difficulty that you must deal with before you can achieve something: The drug has cleared the final hurdle for FDA approval. 2 a type of small fence that a person or a horse jumps over during a race.

hurdle\(^2\) \(\text{v.} \ [T]\) to jump over something while you are running —hurdler \(n\) [C] hurt\(^1\) \(\text{v.} \ [T]\) to injure yourself or someone else: She hurt her knee playing volleyball. | Did you hurt yourself?

hurt\(^2\) \(\text{adj.}\) 1 suffering pain or injury: It’s okay, nobody got hurt. | Kerry was badly/seriously/slightly hurt in a skiing accident. 2 very upset or unhappy: Debra felt hurt and betrayed. | You say “seriously/badly/slightly hurt” about an injury, but “very hurt” when someone upsets you.

hurtle\(^3\) \(\text{v.} \ [I]\) to move or fall very fast husband

hus-band /ˈhʌzbənd/ n [C] the man that a woman is married to → wife: I’d like you to meet my husband Leon. [origin: Old Norse, from hus “house” + bondi “someone who lives in a house”] hush /ˈhʌʃ/ v [I] (spoken) said in order to tell someone to be quiet, or to comfort a child who is crying hush sth ↔ up phr v to prevent people from knowing about something dishonest: The senator denied that he had tried to hush up the story.

hush-1 n [singular] a peaceful silence: A hush fell over the room (everywhere suddenly became quiet).

hushed /ˈhʌʃt/ adj. quiet: They were speaking in hushed tones.

hush-hush adj. (informal) secret: The whole project was very hush-hush.

hush /ˈhʌʃ/ n [C] the dry outer part of some grains, nuts, corn, etc.

husky /ˈhʌski/ adj. 1 a husky voice is deep and sounds rough 2 a husky boy or man is big and strong husky-y adj. [plural huskies] [C] a dog with thick hair, often used for pulling sleds over snow husky-l /ˈhʌski/l n [T] to make someone move quickly, often by pushing him/her: Jackson was hustled into his car by bodyguards.

hustle /ˈhʌstl/ v [I, T] to hurry in doing something or going somewhere: Come on, you guys! Let’s hustle! 3 [T] (informal) to cheat someone in order to get money hustle-y adj. busy and noisy activity 2 [U] (informal) energy and determination in doing an activity: She’s a good worker with a lot of hustle. 3 [C] (informal) a way of getting money that is illegal and dishonest husker /ˈhʌskər/ n [C] someone who gets money in a way that is illegal and dishonest hut /haʊt/ n [C] a small wooden building with only one or two rooms hutch /ˈhʌtʃ/ n [C] a small wooden box in which you can keep rabbits 2 a piece of furniture used for storing and showing dishes

hwy. the written abbreviation of highway hybrid /ˈhaɪbrɪd/ n [C] biology 1 an animal or plant that is produced from parents of different breeds or types 2 something that is a mixture of two or more things: The book is a hybrid of fantasy and satire. —hybrid adj. hybrid seed corn hybrid-ize /ˈhaɪbrɪdəɪz/ v [I, T] to make a hybrid plant or animal hydrant /ˈhaɪdrænt/ n [C] a fire hydrant hydrant-lic /ˈhaɪdrəntlɪk/ adj. moved or operated by the pressure of water or other liquids: hydraulic brakes → hydraulically adj.

hydrant-ics /ˈhaɪdrəntɪks/ n. [U] physics the study of how to use water pressure to produce power hydro-car-bon /ˈhaɪdruˌkɑːbən/ n [C usually plural] chemistry a chemical compound that consists only of hydrogen and carbon, such as coal or natural gas hydro-e-lec-tric /ˈhaɪdruˌəlɪktrɪk/ adj. physics using water power to produce electricity —hydroelectricity /ˈhaɪdruˌɛlɪkrɪtɪ/ n. [U]: Large hydroelectric dams generate most of the country’s hydroelectricity.

hydro-gen /ˈhaɪdruˌdʒen/ n [U] chemistry (symbol H) a gas that is an element and is lighter than air, and that forms water when it combines with oxygen [origin: 1700—1800 French hydrogène, from hydro- “water” + -gène “producing;” because it produces water when it is burned] hydro-gen per-oxide /ˈhaɪdruˌdʒen pəˈrəʊdiks/ n [U] chemistry a chemical liquid used for killing bacteria, and for making hair and other substances lighter in color hydro-plane /ˈhaɪdruˌpliːn/ v [I] if a car hydroplanes, it slides on a wet road hydro-ther-mal vent /ˈhaɪdruˌθɜːrməl vənt/ n [C] earth sciences an opening in the ground at the bottom of the ocean, from which very hot water containing a lot of minerals is sent out with a lot of force hydroxide /haɪˈdrɒksaɪd/ n [C] chemistry a chemical compound that contains one oxygen atom combined with one hydrogen atom hydroxide ion /ˈhaɪdruˌdʒaɪd/ n [C] chemistry a negative ion which has one oxygen atom and one hydrogen atom hydrox-y /haɪˈdrɒksɪ/ n [C] a wild animal like a dog that makes a loud sound like a laugh hydro-gene /haɪˈdʒiːn/ n [U] the practice of keeping yourself and the things around you clean in order to prevent diseases: The rules help to ensure good hygiene in school kitchens. Good eating habits and personal hygiene (keeping your body clean) can prevent infections. [origin: 1600—1700 French hygiène, from Greek hygieia, from hyg- “healthy”] hygiene /haɪˈdʒiːni/ n [U] the study of how to keep oneself and the things around you clean in order to prevent diseases hydro-sol /ˈhaɪdruˌsɒl/ n [C] biology hygroscopic salts and other compounds are able to prevent infections.

hydrogen peroxide —hydroxide —hydrolyze /haɪˈdʒiːnaɪz/ v [I, T] to hydrolyze something is good or important by talking about it a lot on television, the radio, etc.: The movie looks like it’ll be good, but there is so much media hype around it!

hype ← also hype up v [T] to try to make people think something is good or important by advertising or talking about it a lot on television, the radio, hypédrum /ˈheɪpəˈdrʌm/ adj. (informal) extremely excited or nervous hyper- /ˈheɪpər/ adj. (informal) extremely excited or nervous hyperactive /ˈheɪpərəˈæktɪv/ adj. someone, especially a child, who is hyperactive is too active, and not able to keep still or quiet for very long — hyperactivity /ˈheɪpərəˈæktɪvəti/ n. [U] hyperboic /ˈheɪpərˈbəʊlɪk/ adj.

hyperbole /ˈheɪpərˈbəʊlə/ n. [C] MATH a pair of curved lines formed by a plane (a flat surface) crossing two cones, so that the difference of the distances between two fixed points inside the curves to any point on the curves is always the same — hyperbolic /ˈheɪpərˈbəʊlɪk/ adj.

hyperbolical /ˈheɪpərˈbəʊlɪkəl/ adj.

hyperbolically /ˈheɪpərˈbəʊlɪkəlɪ/ adv.

hyperbolism /ˈheɪpərˈbəʊlɪzəm/ n. [U] — hyperbolic /ˈheɪpərˈbəʊlɪk/ adj.

hypochondriac /ˈheɪpəkənˈdrɪək/ adj. someone who worries all the time about his/her health, even when s/he is not sick — hypochondriacal /ˈheɪpəkənˈdrɪəkl/ adj.

hypochondria /ˈheɪpəkənˈdrɪəriə/ n. [U] [disapproving] the act of saying you have particular beliefs, feelings, etc., but behaving in a way that shows you do not really have these beliefs or feelings [Origin: 1100—1200 Old French hypocrisie, from Greek hypokrisis “act of playing a part on stage, hypocrisy”] hypocrisy /ˈheɪpəkrɪsɪ/ n. [C] (disapproving) someone who pretends to believe something or behave in a good way when really s/he does not — hypocrisical /ˈheɪpəkrɪsɪkəl/ adj.

hypodermic /ˌheɪpəˈdɜrmɪk/ adj. also hypodermic needle n. [C] an instrument with a hollow needle used for putting drugs into someone's body through the skin — hypodermic /ˌheɪpəˈdɜrmɪk/ adj.

hypoetunanse /ˈheɪpəˌpjuːˈtʌnəns/ n. [C] MATH the longest side of a triangle that has a right angle hypothalamus /ˌheɪpəˈθələməs/ n. (plural hypothalami /ˌheɪpəˈθələməɪ/ n.) [C] BIOLOGY a small part of the brain that controls the temperature of your body, your desire for food and drink, and your need for sleep — see picture at brain hypothermia /ˌheɪpəˈθɜrmiə/ n. [U] a serious medical condition in which someone's body temperature becomes very low, caused by extreme cold hypothetical /ˌheɪpəˈθɛtɪkl/ adj. based on a situation that is not real, but that might happen [SYN theoretical]: This is a hypothetical story that illustrates the difference in how rich and poor people are treated. — hypothetically adv.

Hypotonic

Hypotonic

A hypotonic solution (liquid with substances dissolved in it) contains less of a solute (substance that is dissolved) than another solution that you are comparing it to.

Hysterectomy

A medical operation to remove a woman’s uterus.

Hysteria

1. hysteria n. (plural hysterectomies) [C] a medical operation to remove a woman’s uterus. 2. hysterical adj. extremely funny; a hysterical comedy act.

I

1. I n. 1 [U] water that has frozen into a solid: Do you want some ice in your drink? 2. ice v. [T] 1 to put ice on a part of your body that is injured 2. Frost ice over/up phr. v. to become covered with ice: The lake iced over during the night.

Ice Age

1. Ice Age n. [C] Earth Sciences one of the periods in the Earth’s history when temperatures were very cold and ice covered large parts of the Earth’s surface.

Iceberg

1. Iceberg n. [C] an extremely large piece of ice floating in the ocean.

Ice Breaker

1. Ice Breaker n. a ship that can sail through ice.

Ice Breaker

1. Ice Breaker n. a ship that can sail through ice.

Ice Cap

1. Ice Cap n. an area of thick ice that always covers the North and South Poles.

Ice Cold

1. Ice Cold adj. extremely cold; ice-cold drinks.

Ice Cream

1. Ice Cream n. [U] a frozen sweet food made of milk or cream and sugar, usually with fruit, nuts, chocolate, etc. added to it: vanilla ice cream.

Ice Cube

1. Ice Cube n. [C] a small block of ice that you put in cold drinks.

Ice Hockey

1. Ice Hockey n. [U] HOCKEY → see picture on page A4.

Ice Pack

1. Ice Pack n. [C] a bag of ice used for keeping something cold.

Ice Skate

1. Ice Skate n. [C] usually plural one of two special boots with metal blades on the bottom that let you slide quickly on ice.

Ice Skater

1. Ice Skater n. [C] → ice skating n. [U] i·ci·cle /ˈaɪsɪkl/ n. [C] a thin pointed piece of ice that hangs down from something such as a roof ic·ing /ˈaɪsɪŋ/ n. [U] 1 FROSTING 2 sth is (the) icing on the cake used to say that something makes a good situation even better: Cox was delighted to win the race, but breaking the world record was the icing on the cake.

ick·y /ɪkɪ/ adj. (spoken) very disgusting to look at, taste, or feel: The soup tasted icky.

i·con·o·clast /aɪˈkɒnəklɑːst/ n. [C] someone who attacks established ideas and traditional ways of doing things i·con /ɪkən/ n. [ME] 1 a small picture on a computer screen that makes the computer do something when you click on it with the mouse 2 someone or something famous that people think represents an important idea: The peace symbol is an icon of the sixties. 3 a picture or figure of a holy person: religious icons [ORIGIN: 1500—1600 Latin, Greek eikon, from eikónai ‘to be like’] i·con·o·clasm /aɪˈkɒnəklɑːzm/ n. [U] someone who attacks established ideas and traditional ways of doing things i·cy /ˈaɪsɪ/ adj. (comparative icier, superlative iciest) 1 extremely cold: a burst of icy air cold, cool, chilly, frosty, freezing (cold), bitter (cold), frigid ➔ COLD

2 covered in ice: an icy road

3 unfriendly and frightening: an icy stare ➔ ICILY adv. —ICINESS n. [U]

i’d /aɪd/ 1 the short form of “I had”: I’d never met Kurt before today. 2 the short form of “I would”: I’d love to come!

ID1 n. [CU] identification something that shows your name, address, the date you were born, etc., usually with a photograph: Can I see your ID? | Pete got into the club with a fake ID.

ID2 the written abbreviation of IDENTITY

i·de·a /aɪˈdiːə/ n. 1 [C] a plan or suggestion that someone thinks of: Braby got the idea for his book from some old letters. | That sounds like a good/great idea. | Ann thinks it’s a bad idea to go today. I have an idea – let’s get Dad a set of golf clubs.

An idea that explains something concept – someone’s general idea of what something is like: our modern concept of love theory – an idea or set of ideas that is intended to explain something, especially in science: Einstein’s theory of relativity hypothesis – an idea that is suggested as an explanation of something, but has not yet been proven to be true: He carried out a series of experiments in order to test his hypothesis.

Something you think of thought – something that you think of, think about, or remember: Erika had a sudden thought: ‘Why don’t you come with me?’ inspiration – something or someone that encourages you to do or produce something good: People like Tara are an inspiration to us all.

2 [CU] understanding or knowledge of something: The book gives you a pretty good idea of the basic principles of law. | Can you give me a rough idea of (=a not very exact description of) how much it will cost? | I had no idea (=did not know at all) what they were talking about. | I don’t have the faintest idea (=I don’t know at all) what to get Rachel for her birthday. 3 [CU] the aim or purpose of doing something: The idea of the game is to hit the ball into the holes. 4 [C] an opinion or belief: Bill has some strange ideas about religion. I don’t want you to get the idea (=begin to believe) that I look like this all the time.

i-de·al /aɪˈdiːəl/ adj. 1 being the best that something could possibly be: ideal weather conditions | The beaches are ideal for evening strolls

THESAURUS perfect, just right ➔ PERFECT

2 perfect, but not likely to exist: In an ideal world. no one would ever get sick.

ideal2 n. [C] 1 a principle or standard that you would like to achieve: the ideal of perfect equality 2 a perfect example of something: current ideals of beauty

i-de·al·ism /aɪˈdiːəlɪzəm/ n. [U] the belief that you should live according to your high standards or principles, even if it is difficult

i-de·al·is·tic /aɪˌdiːəlɪstɪk/ adj. (approving) believing in principles and high standards, even if they cannot be achieved in real life: idealistic young people ➔ IDEALIST /aɪˈdiːəlɪst/ n. [C] i-de·al·ize /aɪˈdiːəlaiizaɪ/ v. [T] to imagine or suggest that something is perfect or better than it really is: The show idealizes family life. ➔ IDEALIZED adj.

i-de·al·ly /aɪˌdiːəli/ adv. 1 [sentence adverb] in a way that you would like things to be, even if it is not possible: Ideally, I’d like to work at home. 2 perfectly: The job is ideally suited to Amy’s circumstances.

i·den·ti·cal /aɪˈdɛntɪk(ə)l/ adj. 1 exactly the same: The two pictures looked identical. | Jan’s dress is identical to mine. | William and David are identical twins (=two brothers or sisters who were born together and look the same). [ORIGIN: 1500—1600 Medieval Latin identicus, from Late Latin identicus, from Latin idem “same”] identically adv. ➔ SIMILAR identifiable

i-den-ti-fi-a-ble /aɪˈdɛntɪfəˈbəl, ɪˈdiːtɪfəˈbəl/ adj. able to be recognized: The male birds are easily readily identifiable by their bright colors.

i-den-ti-fi-ca-tion /aɪˈdɛntɪfɪˈkeɪʃən, ɪˈdiːtɪfɪˈkeɪʃən/ n. 1 official documents that prove who you are: You can use a passport as identification.

id·e·n·ti·fy /ɪˈdɛntɪfaɪ/ v. (identified, identifies) [T] to recognize someone or something: The victims were identified as John and Louise Preston. The tests help identify children with reading problems.

id·en·ti·fi·a·ble /ɪˈdɛntɪfɪəˈbəl/ adj. able to be recognized: Louise Preston.

id·i·om /ɪˈdɪəm/ n. /idiomatic/ based on a particular set of beliefs or ideas: The novel’s main character.

id·i·o·nym /ɪˈdɪənɒm/ n. [U] a name or something that someone has that makes him/her different from other people: Many people’s sense of identity comes from their job.

identifiable /aɪˈdɛntɪfəˈbəl, ɪˈdiːtɪfəˈbəl/ adj. The victim’s dental records were used in the identification process.

id·i·o·log·i·cal /ɪˈdiːəlɒɡɪkl/ adj. based on a particular set of beliefs or ideas: Freud discusses a child’s idiosyncrasies.

id·en·ti·fy /ɪˈdɛntɪfaɪ/ v. identifies something.

3 having no useful purpose: idle gossip

—idleness n. [U] —idiety adv.

idle /aɪdəl/ adj. 1 not working or being used: Many aircraft idled during the strike. 2 (old-fashioned) lazy

3 having no useful purpose: idle gossip

id·e·o·log·i·cal /ɪˈdiːəlɒɡɪkl/ adj. based on a particular set of beliefs or ideas: The fans’ admiration of her talent.

i-den·ti·ty /aɪˈdɛntɪti, ɪˈdiːtɪti/ n. (plural identities) 1 [C,U] who someone is: She refused to reveal the identity of the killer. 2 [U] the qualities someone has that make him/her different from other people: Many people’s sense of identity comes from their job.

i·den·ti·fy /ɪˈdɛntɪfaɪ/ v. (identified, identifies) [T] to recognize someone or something: The victims were identified as John and Louise Preston.

The tests help identify children with reading problems.

i·den·ti·fi·ac·tion /aɪˈdɛntɪfɪˈkeɪʃən, ɪˈdiːtɪfɪˈkeɪʃən/ n. 1 official documents that prove who you are: You can use a passport as identification.

i·den·ti·fi·ca·tion /aɪˈdɛntɪfɪˈkeɪʃən, ɪˈdiːtɪfɪˈkeɪʃən/ n. 1 official documents that prove who you are: You can use a passport as identification.

i·den·ti·fy /ɪˈdɛntɪfaɪ/ v. identifies something.

4 having no useful purpose: idle gossip

—idleness n. [U] —idiety adv.

idle /aɪdəl/ adj. 1 not working or being used: Many aircraft idled during the strike. 2 (old-fashioned) lazy

idle /aɪdəl/ adj. 1 not working or being used: Many aircraft idled during the strike. 2 (old-fashioned) lazy id·o·l /ɪˈdəl/ n. 1 [C] a stupid person, or someone who has done something stupid: You idiot! What did you say that for?

2 [U] a strong feeling that you are like someone or something and share the qualities she or it has: Freud discusses a child’s idiosyncrasies.

id·o·l·a·try /ɪˈdələtri/ n. the practice of worshipping idols too much admiration for someone or something: The fans’ admiration of her seems to border on idolatry.

id·o·l·ize /ɪˈdəlʌz/ v. [T] to admire someone so much that you think she is perfect: Susan idolizes her mother.

i·dal·a·try /ɪˈdələtri/ n. 1 [C] the practice of worshipping idols too much admiration for someone or something: The fans’ admiration of her seems to border on idolatry.

i·do·l·ize /ɪˈdəlʌz/ v. [T] to admire someone so much that you think she is perfect: Susan idolizes her mother.

i·dy·li·c /aɪˈdɪlɪk/ adj. very happy and peaceful

i·dy·li·c /aɪˈdɪlɪk/ adj. very happy and peaceful

i·dy·li·c /aɪˈdɪlɪk/ adj. very happy and peaceful

i·dy·li·c /aɪˈdɪlɪk/ adj. very happy and peaceful

id·o·l·ize /ɪˈdəlʌz/ v. [T] to admire someone so much that you think she is perfect: Susan idolizes her mother.

i·dy·li·c /aɪˈdɪlɪk/ adj. very happy and peaceful

id·o·l·ize /ɪˈdəlʌz/ v. [T] to admire someone so much that you think she is perfect: Susan idolizes her mother.

id·i·o·nym /ɪˈdɪənɒm/ n. [U] a name or something that someone has that makes him/her different from other people: Many people’s sense of identity comes from their job.

id·i·o·nym /ɪˈdɪənɒm/ n. [U] a name or something that someone has that makes him/her different from other people: Many people’s sense of identity comes from their job.
unless – if something does not happen, or if someone does not do something: You won’t pass your final exams unless you study hard.

otherwise – used when saying that there will be a bad result if someone does not do something, or if something does not happen: He had better hurry up, otherwise we’ll be late.

in case – in order to deal with something that might happen: She did not think it would rain, but she took her umbrella just in case.

whether or not – used when saying that it does not matter if something happens or not, or if something is true or not: Her comments are always interesting, whether or not you agree with what she says.

2 used in order to mean “whether,” when you are asking or deciding something: Do you mind if I close the door? We really don’t know if there’s a problem with the phone line.

3 used when you are talking about something that always happens (SYN) whenever: If I drink milk, I get a stomach ache. 4 said when you are surprised, angry, or upset because something has happened or is true: I’m sorry if I upset you.

5 if I were you used in order to give advice to someone: If I were you, I’d call him instead of writing to him. → even if at every, as if/though at all, if only at only iffy /ˈɪfi/ (informal) an iffy situation is one in which you do not know what will happen: The weather looks iffy today.

illegality /ɪˈlɛɡəlɪti/ n. [C] illegal actions.

illegal /ɪˈlɛɡəl/ (Ac) adj. not allowed by the law (SYN) legal: Did you know it is illegal to park your car here? Illegal immigrants/aliens in the U.S. are not allowed by the law (SYN) legal: Did you know it is illegal to park your car here? Illegal immigrants/aliens in the U.S. are

| |
||
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>USAGE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ignore – to know about something but deliberately not pay any attention to it: You must not ignore other people’s feelings.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| be ignorant of sth – to not know about something: We were ignorant of the dangers involved.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>THE SAURUS</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| sick, not very well, under the weather, ailing, infirm ➔ SICK

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>2</th>
<th>098</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>illegality</td>
<td>illegal</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>illegal</td>
<td>illegal</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(SYN) legal</td>
<td>(SYN) legal</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>[C] illegal immigrants/aliens in the U.S. are</td>
<td>illegal drugs ➔ illegally adv. Most of the software had been illegally copied. ➔ illegally adv. Most of the software had been illegally copied. ➔</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
illegal

illegal2 also illegal immigrant/alien n. [C] someone who comes into a country to live or work without official permission illegible adj. difficult or impossible to read: His handwriting was completely illegible. —illegibly adv.

illegitimate adj. not allowed by the rules or law; an illegitimate use of public money —illegitimacy /ɪˈlɪdʒɪtɪməti/ n. [U] illegibly adv. not visible or readable: His handwriting was completely illegible.

illusory adj. seeming to be true or real illuminating v. seeming to be true or real illuminator n. (formal) a person whose job is to draw pictures for books, magazines, etc.

illustrate v. to draw, paint, etc. pictures for a book [origin: 1500—1600 Latin, past participle of illustrare, from illu- to make pure or bright] —illustrative /ɪˈlɪstrətɪv/ adj. The calculations here are for illustrative purposes.

illustration n. [C] 1 a picture in a book ➔ graphic, diagram: watercolor illustrations imagine v. 1 an example that helps you understand something or shows the truth of something: Saturday's game provided a vivid illustration of how popular soccer has become.

image n. [C] someone whose job is to draw pictures for books, magazines, etc.

imaginary adj. not having the necessary qualities or skills for something: Many companies are ill-equipped to survive in today's economy.

imaginative adj. very famous and admired by a lot of people imagine v. to form an idea in your mind: She had a clear image of how he would look in 20 years.

imagineative adj. making something easier to understand: an illuminating lecture imagination n. [U] (formal) the ability to form pictures or ideas in your mind imagery n. [U] the use of words, pictures, or phrases to describe ideas or actions in poems, books, movies, etc.: Some video games are full of violent imagery.

im·be·cile /ɪmˈbɛsəl/ adj. 1 able to think of new and interesting ideas: an imaginative writer 2 containing new and interesting ideas: an imaginative story —im·be·cility n

im·i·tate /ɪmˈeɪteɪt/ v. [T] 1 to form pictures or ideas in your mind —im·i·ta·tion /ɪmˈeɪteɪʃən/ n 2 [C] a copy of someone’s speech, behavior, etc., or the act of copying: Harry does an excellent imitation of Elvis. | Children learn by imitation. 2 [C] a copy of something: It’s not an antique; it’s an imitation.

im·ma·ture /ɪmˈmeɪtʃər/ adj. 1 not fully formed or developed: immature plants —im·ma·tu·ri·ty /ɪmˌmeɪtʃərɪˈteɪti/ n | The quality of seeming to be important and urgent, and directly relating to what is happening now.

im·me·dia·cy /ɪmˈmiːdiəsɪ/ n 3 (spoken) to think that something may happen or may be true: I imagine Kathy will be there tomorrow.

im·me·di·ate·ly /ɪmˈmiːdiətli/ adv. 1 happening or done with no delay: Carla’s first cafe was an immediate success. | Police demanded the immediate release of the hostages. | When we launched the new system, the results were immediate. 2 existing now, and needing to be dealt with quickly: Our immediate concern was to stop the fire from spreading. | Doctors knew his life was in immediate danger. 3 near something or someone in time or place: We have no plans to expand the business in the immediate future. | They closed the streets in the immediate vicinity of (every close to) the sports arena. 4 sb’s immediate family someone’s parents, children, brothers, and sisters

im·me·di·ate·ly /ɪmˈmiːdiətli/ adv. 1 with no delay: Mix in the other ingredients and serve immediately. | She realized her mistake almost immediately. | The rescue team immediately went to work. | The victims’ names were not immediately available.

im·me·di·ate·ly /ɪmˈmiːdiətli/ adv. instantly – immediately, used when something happens at almost the same time as something else: Data is available instantly over the computer network.

im·me·di·ate·ly /ɪmˈmiːdiətli/ adv. right away (especially spoken) – immediately.
immense used especially when something needs to be done urgently: Jill called him right away. At once – immediately, used especially when something needs to be done urgently: I need it right now!

2 very near to something in time or place: Jon arrived immediately before the end of the show.

im-mense \imˈməns\ / adj extremely large

adj. [Latin immensus, from in- “not” + mens “measured”]

THE SA URUS

big, large, substantial, sizable, prodigious, huge, enormous, vast, gigantic, massive, colossal im-mense-ly /imˈmənsli/ adv. very or very much:

Mountain bikes became immensely popular very quickly.

He enjoyed it immensely.

im-merse /ɪmˈmɜːrs/ v. [T] 1 be immersed in sth/immerse yourself in sth to be or become completely involved in something: Grant is completely immersed in his work. 2 to put something completely in a liquid: First, immerse the jars in boiling water.

im-migration /ɪmˈmɪgrəʃən/ n. [C,U] 1 the process of entering another country in order to live there. 2 the place in an airport, at a border, etc. where officials check your documents, such as your passport.

im-migrant /ɪmˈmɪgrant/ [Ac] n. [C] someone who enters another country to live there permanently —> emigrant, migrant: an immigrant from Russia | Chinese immigrants to the U.S. | the number of legal/illegal immigrants each year im-migrate /ɪmˈmɪɡrət/ v. [I] to enter another country in order to live there: His family immigrated to Canada a few years ago.

im-migrant — to enter a new country in order to live there: Yuko immigrated to the U.S. last year.

emigrate — to leave your own country in order to live in a different one: My grandparents emigrated from Italy.

migrate — if birds migrate, they go to another part of the world in the fall and in the spring.

im-mi-gra-tion /ɪmˌmɪɡrəˈʃən/ [Ac] n. [U] 1 the process of entering another country in order to live there, or the total number of people who do this —> emigration, migration: There has been a rise in immigration to the United States. 2 immigration from countries such as Mexico im-mi-grate /ɪmˈmɪɡreɪt/ v. [I] to happen likely to happen very soon: We believe that an attack is imminent.

The city is not in imminent danger. [Orig. 1500—1600 Latin, present participle of imminere “to stick out, threaten” —> imminently adv.

im-mis-ci-blé /ɪmɪˈsɪsəb(ə)l/ adj. CHEMISTRY immiscible liquids cannot combine together into one liquid.

im-mo-bile /ɪmˈməʊbl/ adj. not moving, or not able to move im-mod-est /ɪmˈməʊdəst/ adj. 1 (formal) too proud of yourself and your abilities, and always willing to tell people about your achievements or how smart you are (Ant) modest 2 clothes that are immodest show too much of someone’s body (Ant) modest 3 immodest sexual behavior shocks or embarrasses im-mor-tal /ɪmˈmɔːrəl/ adj. 1 morally wrong, and not accepted by society: Their church believes that dancing is sinful and immoral.

—immorality /ɪmˌmɔːrələti/ n. [U] im-mraith /ɪmˈmərəθ/ n. [U] 1 living or continuing forever: your immortal soul 2 an immortal phrase, song, etc. is so famous that it will never be forgotten: In the immortal words of James Brown, “Feel good!” —immortality /ɪmˌmɔːrələti/ n. [U] im-move-a-ble /ɪmˈmuvəb(ə)l/ adj. impossible to move, change, or persuade im-mune /ɪmˈmjuːn/ adj. 1 not able to be affected by a disease or illness: Young children may not be immune to the virus. 2 not affected by bad things that affect people, organizations, etc. in similar situations: The company seems to be immune to economic pressures. The Governor is popular, but not immune from criticism.

im-mune re’sponse also im-mune re’action n. [C,U] the reaction of the body’s immune system to disease or infection im-mune sys’tem n. [C] biology the system by which your body protects itself against disease im-mun-i-ty /ɪmˈmjuːniˈti/ n. [U, CU] 1 LAW the state or right of being protected from particular laws or punishment: Congress granted immunity (vague immunity) to both men. 2 biology the state of being immune to diseases or illnesses: The disease causes a low immunity to infections.

im-mu-nize /ɪmˈmjuːnɪz/ v. [T] to protect someone from disease by giving him/her a vaccine: Have you been immunized against tuberculosis?

im-mu-na-ble /ɪmˈmjuːnəb(ə)l/ adj. (formal) never changing, or impossible to change (Ant) mutable: an immutable law of nature, such as such as immutability /ɪmˈmjuːnəbələti/ n. [U] im-pact /ɪmˈpækt/ [Ac] n. 1 [C] the effect that an event or situation has on someone or something: Every decision at work has an impact on profit. What would be the economic impact of a possible...

im-pale /ɪmˈpæl/ v. [T] to have an important or noticeable effect on someone or something: The growth of the airport has impacted the city's economy. | Chilcare is an issue that impacts on many women's lives.

im-pair /ɪmˈpɛər/ v. [T] to damage something, or make it less good: Her sight was impaired as a result of the disease. [起源: 1300—1400 Old French empeirer, from Vulgar Latin impejorare, from Latin imperare “to make worse”] —imperfection n. [U] impaired /ɪmˈpɛrəd/ adj. 1 damaged, less strong, or less good: impaired kidney function 2 hearing/visually/physically impaired someone who is hearing impaired or visually impaired cannot hear, see, etc. well im-pale /ɪmˈpɛl/ v. [T] if someone or something is impaled on something, as a lofty pointed object goes through him, her, or it im-part /ɪmˈpərt/ v. [T] (formal) 1 to give a particular quality to something: Roasted chili peppers impart a smoky flavor to the dish. 2 to give information, knowledge, etc. to someone: He accused the universities of failing to impart moral values to students.

im-partial /ɪmˈpɑːrʃəl/ adj. not giving special attention or support to any one person or group (syn. objective) biased; impartial advice | Rosen said he was unable to remain impartial in the case. —impartially adv. —impartiality n. [U] im-pend-ing /ɪmˈpɛnˌdiŋ/ adj. [only before noun] likely to happen soon: an impending oil shortage im-pend-ment /ɪmˈpɛnˌment/ n. [C] 1 a physical problem that makes speaking, hearing, or moving difficult: Gina has a slight speech impediment. 2 a fact or event that makes action difficult or impossible: The current law is a major impediment to trade.

im-pel /ɪmˈpel/ v. (impelled, compelling) [T] (formal) to make you feel very strongly that you must do something: He felt compelled to explain his actions.

im-per-cept-i-ble /ɪmˈpɜːrsɪtəbəl/ adj. impossible to notice: an almost imperceptible change —imperceptibly adv.

strike? | Rising fuel costs could have a major impact on consumers. 2 [C/U] the force of one object hitting another: The impact of the crash made the car turn over. 3 on impact at the moment when one thing hits another: The missile explodes on impact. [起源: 1600—1700 Latin, past participle of impingere, from pungere “to fasten, drive in”] im-pend /ɪmˈpɛnd/ v. [T] (force) to say officially that someone or something to make progress: Rescue attempts were impeded by storms.

im-pend-i-ment /ɪmˈpɛndɪˌment/ n. [C] 1 a physical problem that makes speaking, hearing, or moving difficult: Gina has a slight speech impediment. 2 a fact or event that makes action difficult or impossible: The current law is a major impediment to trade.

im-pend-ment /ɪmˈpɛnˌment/ n. [C] 1 a physical problem that makes speaking, hearing, or moving difficult: Gina has a slight speech impediment. 2 a fact or event that makes action difficult or impossible: The current law is a major impediment to trade.

im-ped-i-ment /ɪmˈpɛdɪˌment/ n. [C] 1 a physical problem that makes speaking, hearing, or moving difficult: Gina has a slight speech impediment. 2 a fact or event that makes action difficult or impossible: The current law is a major impediment to trade.

im-pen-e-tra-ble /ɪmˈpɛnəˈtrel/ adj. 1 impossible to get through, see through, or get into | penetrate: impermeable fog 2 very difficult or impossible to understand: impermeable business jargon im-per-a-tive /ɪmˈpærətiv/ adj. 1 (formal) extremely important and urgent: It is imperative that all fees be paid in full. 2 [ENG. LANG. ARTS] an imperative verb expresses an order. In the sentence “Go to your room.” “go” is an imperative verb. [起源: 1400—1500 Late Latin imperatus, from Latin imperare “to command”] im-pera-tive /ɪmˈpærətiv/ adj. 1 (formal) something that must be done urgently: Reducing air pollution has become an imperative. 2 [ENG. LANG. ARTS] the form of a verb that expresses an order. In the sentence “Do it now!” the verb “do” is in the imperative.

im-per-cep-ti-ble /ɪmˈpɜːsɛptəbəl/ adj. impossible to notice: an almost imperceptible change —imperceptibly adv.
im·perfect

imperfect adj. not completely perfect: an imperfect legal system imperfectly adv
imperfect n. [singular] ENG. LANG. ARTS the form of a verb that shows an incomplete action in the past that is formed with "be" and the present participle. In the sentence "We were walking down the road," the verb phrase "were walking" is in the imperfect.

im·perf·ec·tion /ɪmˈpɜrfɪkʃən/ n. [C,U] the state of being imperfect, or something that is imperfect: A few slight imperfections won't spoil the overall appearance.

im·per·al /ɪmˈpɛrəl/ adj. relating to an empire or to the person who rules it imperial n. [C] HISTORY a state that was part of the Holy Roman Empire and had a vote in its PARLIAMENT imperially adv
imperialism /ɪmˈpɛrɪlɪzəm/ n. [U] 1 POLICS a political system in which one country controls a lot of other countries 2 (disapproving) the way in which a rich or powerful country’s way of life, CULTURE, businesses, etc. influence and change a poorer country’s way of life, etc.: Small nations resent the West’s cultural/economic imperialism.

im·per·alky /ɪmˈpɛrɪski/ n. [C] —IMPERIALIST im·per·al·ist /ɪmˈpɛrəlɪst/ adj. not respectful, especially to someone who is older or feels something strongly: His family implanted in him a strong sense of patriotism.

im·per·al·ism /ɪmˈpɛrəlɪzəm/ n. [C] something that has been put into someone’s body in a medical operation: silicone breast implants im·per·ate /ɪmˈpɛrət/ v. to order or require, especially with authority or force: The captain imperatively ordered the faulty engine to be removed.

im·per·ety /ɪmˈpɛri/ti/ n. [C] IMPULSIVE im·per·i·um /ɪmˈpɛriəm/ n. [U] (formal) an influence that makes something happen, or happen more quickly: Much of the impetus for reform came from local activists. The conference gave fresh impetus to change.

im·ping·ge /ɪmˈpɪŋɡ/ v. impinge on/upon sb phr v (formal) to have an unwanted or bad effect on someone or something: International politics have impinged on decisions made in Congress.

im·plac·a·ble /ɪmˈplekəbəl/ adj. (formal) very determined to continue opposing someone or something: an implacable enemy im·plant /ɪmˈplænt/ v. [T] 1 to put something into someone’s body in a medical operation: Some healthy cells were implanted into the patient’s brain. 2 to influence someone so that she believes or feels something strongly: His family implanted in him a strong sense of patriotism.

im·pli·cate /ɪmˈplɪkeɪt/ v. to involve or connect something or someone with something else: The police implicated the suspect in the theft.

im·pli·ca·tion /ɪmˈplɪkeɪʃən/ n. [C,U] a possible effect or result of a plan, action, etc.: What are the implications of their research? 1 This ruling will have implications for many people. 2 [C,U] something you do not say directly but that you want people to understand: I don’t like the implication that I was lying. 3 [U] a situation in which it is suggested that someone or something is involved in something wrong, illegal, or harmful; the implication of the bank president in the theft | the implication of smoking in cases of lung disease im·pli·ca·tive /ɪmˈplɪkətɪv/ adj. 1 suggested or understood but not stated directly im·pur·ity /ɪmˈpɜrəti/ n. any feelings of sympathy, friendliness, etc. in order to deceive people: the impersonator im·personal /ɪmˈpɜrsənl/ adj. not showing any feelings of sympathy, friendliness, etc.: an impersonal letter im·per·son·al /ɪmˈpɜrsənl/ adj. impersonal letter im·per·son·a·tor /ɪmˈpɜrənətər/ n. [C] someone who impersonates politicians in order to make people laugh: a comedian who impersonates politicians im·per·son·at·ion /ɪmˈpɜrənəˈteɪʃən/ n. [C] the act of impersonating someone: a complaint about the impersonation of a politician im·per·son·i·ca·tion /ɪmˈpɜrəsənɪˈkeɪʃən/ n. [C] the act of not telling the truth: during the trial the witness made an implausible implication that he had lied im·per·son·ize /ɪmˈpɜrənɪz/ v. to copy someone’s voice and behavior in order to deceive people: The impersonator made the victim think he was talking to a close friend.

im·per·son·ize·r n. [C] someone who impersonates politicians in order to make people laugh: a comedian who impersonates politicians im·per·son·ize·ment /ɪmˈpɜrənɪzəm/ n. [C] the act of impersonating someone: a complaint about the impersonation of a politician im·per·son·ize·ment /ɪmˈpɜrənɪzəm/ n. [C] a tool, especially one used in farming or building: agricultural implements im·pe·ri·al /ɪmˈpɛrɪəl/ adj. giving orders and expecting to be obeyed: his imperious personality

im·per·i·um /ɪmˈpɛrəm/ n. [U] the form of a verb that shows an incomplete action in the past that is formed with "be" and the present participle. In the sentence "We were walking down the road," the verb phrase "were walking" is in the imperfect.

im·per·i·um /ɪmˈpɛrəm/ n. [U] the form of a verb that shows an incomplete action in the past that is formed with "be" and the present participle. In the sentence "We were walking down the road," the verb phrase "were walking" is in the imperfect.

im·per·i·um /ɪmˈpɛrəm/ n. [U] the form of a verb that shows an incomplete action in the past that is formed with "be" and the present participle. In the sentence "We were walking down the road," the verb phrase "were walking" is in the imperfect.

im·per·i·um /ɪmˈpɛrəm/ n. [U] the form of a verb that shows an incomplete action in the past that is formed with "be" and the present participle. In the sentence "We were walking down the road," the verb phrase "were walking" is in the imperfect.
There was implicit criticism in the principal’s statement. 2 complete and containing no doubts: She has implicit faith in her husband. 3 be implicit in sth (formal) to be a central part of something, without being stated: Risk is implicit in owning a business. — implicitly adv.

implied /ɪmˈpliːd/ adj powers [plural] politics powers given to the U.S. government that are not clearly stated in the constitution, but which are accepted as necessary in order for the government to carry out its expressed powers (those written down in the constitution)

implode /ɪmˈplɔud/ v [I] to explode inward implore /ɪmˈploveɪ/ v [T] (formal) to ask someone for something in an emotional way [syn beg]: Joan implored him not to leave.

import /ɪmˈpɔːrt/ n [C,U] economics a product that is brought from one country into another so that it can be sold there, or the business of doing this [ant export]: Car imports have risen recently. | The government has banned the import of weapons.

importance /ɪmˈpɔːrtns/ n [U] the quality of being important: the importance of regular exercise. | The company attaches great importance to employee training. | These issues are of great/crucial/vital importance.

impossible /ɪmˈpɔːsəbl/ adj 1 not able to be done or to happen: It was impossible for us to answer all their questions. | It is impossible to predict what will happen. | The storm made driving impossible. 2 extremely difficult to deal with: an impossible situation 3 behaving in an unreasonable and annoying way: You’re impossible! — impossibly adv — impossibility /ɪmˈpɒsəbəlɪtɪ/ n [C,U]

impose /ɪmˈpɔːz/ v [T] 1 to introduce a rule, tax, punishment, etc. and force people to accept it: City officials have imposed limits on commercial development. 2 to force someone to have the same ideas, beliefs, etc. as you: Parents impose their values on their children. 3 to ask or expect someone to do something when it is not convenient for him/her to do: I didn’t ask you because I didn’t want to impose. | Origin: 1400—1500 Latin imponere, from Latin impurare “to twist together, make complicated”

impossible /ɪmˈpɔːsəbl/ adj large and impressive: an imposing statue

importation /ɪmˈpɔːrteɪʃən/ n [U] the business of bringing goods from another country to sell in your country

impose /ɪmˈpɔːz/ v [T] to introduce a rule, tax, punishment, etc. and force people to accept it: City officials have imposed limits on commercial development. 2 to force someone to have the same ideas, beliefs, etc. as you: Parents impose their values on their children. 3 to ask or expect someone to do something when it is not convenient for him/her to do: I didn’t ask you because I didn’t want to impose. | Origin: 1400—1500 Latin imponere, from Latin impurare “to twist together, make complicated”

impossible /ɪmˈpɔːsəbl/ adj large and impressive: an imposing statue

importance /ɪmˈpɔːrtns/ n [U] the quality of being important: the importance of regular exercise. | The company attaches great importance to employee training. | These issues are of great/crucial/vital importance.

important /ɪmˈpɔːrnt/ adj, -ˈpɔːrnt/ adj having a big effect or influence: a very important meeting | Ellen’s family is more important to her than anything else. | It’s important that you look professional at the interview. | Origin: 1400—1500 French, Old Italian importante “carrying a meaning, significant,” from Latin importare — importantly adv

impolite /ɪmˈpɔːlɪt/ adj rude, insulting, disrespectful im•poser /im'postər/ n. [C] someone who pretends to be someone else in order to trick people im•po•tent /'impətənt/ adj. 1 a man who is impotent is unable to have sex because he cannot have an erection. 2 unable to take effective action because you do not have enough power, strength, or control: an impotent city government —impotence n. [U]
im•pound /'impaund/ v. [T] LAW if the police or court of law impound your possessions, they take them and keep them until you go and get them im•po•ver•ished /'impəvərɪʃəd/ adj. very poor: an impoverished country imprac•ti•cal /'impræktɪkəl/ adj. 1 an impractical plan, suggestion, etc. is not sensible because it would be too expensive or difficult. 2 not good at dealing with ordinary practical matters: impractically adv. —impracticality /'impræktɪkələtɪ/ n. [C/U] im•pre•cis•ion /'imprəsɪʃən/ n. not exact: an imprecise measurement —imprecisely adv. —imprecision /'imprəsɪnʃən/ n. [U] im•preg•na•ble /'impregneɪbəl/ adj. very strong and unable to be entered: an impregnable fort im•preg•na•te /'impregneɪt/ v. [T] 1 to make a woman or female animal pregnant. 2 to make a substance spread completely through something, or to spread completely through something: The paper is impregnated with perfume.

im•press /'impreʃ/ v. [T] 1 to make someone feel admiration and respect: She dresses like that to impress people. We were impressed by the size of his art collection. 2 to make the importance of something clear to someone: My parents impressed on me the value of an education.
im•pres•sion /'impresʃən/ n. 1 [C/U] the opinion or feeling you have about someone or something because of the way she or he or it seems: I get the impression that something’s wrong here. [U] First impressions can be wrong. [U] It’s important to make a good impression at your interview. 2 be under the impression (that) to think that something is true when it is not true: I was under the impression that Marcie was coming to dinner too. 3 [C] the act of copying the speech or behavior of a famous person in order to make people laugh: Eric does a great impression of Mick Jagger. 4 [C] the mark left by pressing something into a soft surface im•pres•sion•is•tic /'impresʃənɪstɪk/ adj. easy to influence: The girls are at an impressionable age.
im•pres•sion•ism /'impresʃənɪzəm/ n. [U] 1 also Impressionism ARTS a style of music or literature from the late 19th and early 20th centuries that emphasizes feelings and images —Impressionist adj. Impressionist painters —Impressionist n. [C] im•pres•sion•is•tic /ˌɪmpresʃənɪstɪk/ adj. based on a general feeling of what something is like rather than on details: an impressionistic account of the events im•pres•sive /'ɪmpreʃɪv/ adj. causing admiration: an impressive performance on the piano. The view was impressive. —impressively adv.
im•pres•sive•ly /ˌɪmpreʃɪvəli/ adv.
im•pres•sion•is•tic /ˌɪmpresʃənɪstɪk/ adj. "impressive" - very impressive because of being big, beautiful, etc.: a magnificent cathedral im•press•ment /'ɪmpreʃmənt/ n. [U] HISTORY the action of forcing people to serve in the military im•print /'ɪmprɪnt/ n. [U] the mark left by an object that has been pressed into or onto something: the imprint of her thumb on the clay im•print•ed /'ɪmprɪnted/ v. be imprinted on your mind/memory if something is imprinted on your mind or memory, you can never forget it im•print•ing /'ɪmprɪntɪŋ/ n. [U] BIOLOGY a very early learning process in animals, in which a young animal learns patterns of behavior and its connection to members of its own kind, especially its parents im•pris•on•ed /'ɪmprɪzənd/ v. [T] to put someone in prison or to keep him/her in a place where they cannot escape from: The opposition leaders were imprisoned and tortured. —imprisonment n. [U] im•prob•a•ble /'ɪmprəbərəbəl/ adj. 1 not likely to happen or to be true: unlikely: It is highly improbable that you will find sharks in these waters. 2 surprising and slightly strange: an improbable partnership —improbably adv. —improbability /'ɪmprəbərəbɪlətɪ/ n. [C/U] im•prom•tu /'ɪmprəmtʃu/ adj. done or said without any preparation or planning: an impromptu speech —impromptu adj.

im•prop•er /'ɪmprəpər/ adj. unacceptable according to professional, moral, or social rules of behavior: Many cases of “stomach flu” result from improper cooking of food. The improper use of funds —improperly adv. The car alarm had been improperly installed.
improve /ɪmˈpruːv/ v. [T,I] to become better, or to make something better: Do some exercises to improve your muscle strength. | Your math skills have improved this year. | The situation improved dramatically. (Origin: 1500—1600 improve “to improve” (15—16 centuries), from Anglo-French imputer “to make a profit”) —improved adj improve on/upon sth to do something better than before, or to make it better: No one’s been able to improve on her Olympic record.
improve-ment /ɪmˈpruːvmənt/ n. 1 [C,U] an act of improving, or the state of being improved: There’s certainly been an improvement in Danny’s behavior. | Your English is getting better, but there’s still room for improvement (the possibility of more improvement). | Jerry has made dramatic improvement since the surgery. | Ben’s work is showing signs of improvement. 2 [C] a change or addition that makes something better: home improvements im-pro-ve-sive /ɪmˈpruːvəsɪv/ v. 1 [I,T] to make or do something without any preparation, using what you have: I left my lesson plans at home, so I’ll have to improvise. 2 [I] to perform music, sing, etc. from your imagination: Jazz musicians are good at improvising. —improvisation /ɪmˈpruːvəzɪʃən/ n. [U] im-pu-dent /ɪmˈpjuːdənt/ adj (formal) rude and not showing respect —impudence n. [U] im-petuous (formal) — tendency to do things quickly, without thinking carefully first: He is young and impetuous.

in /ɪn/ prep. 1 used with the name of a container, place, or area to show where something is: The paper is in the top drawer. 2 I was still in bed at 11:30. 3 Cows were standing in the field. 4 He lived in Boston for 15 years. 5 used with the names of months, years, seasons, etc. to say when something happens: We bought our car in April. 6 In 1969 the first astronauts landed on the moon. 7 Sarah starts college in the fall. 8 during a period of time: We finished the whole project in a week. 9 at the end of a period of time: Gerry should be home in an hour. 10 I wonder if the business will still be going in a year. 9 included as part of something: One of the people in the story is a young doctor. 10 In the first part of the speech, he talked about the environment. 6 sb has not done sth in years/months/weeks if you have not done something in years, etc., you have not done it for that amount of time: I haven’t been to the circus in years! 7 using a particular kind of voice, or a particular way of speaking or writing: “Why?” she asked him in a whisper. 8 Their parents always talk to them in Italian. 9 Do not write in pen on this test. 10 working at a particular kind of job: She’s in advertising. 9 arranged in a particular way, often to form a group or shape: Stand against the wall in a line. 10 He had made a bowl in the shape of a heart. 10 used in order inaccuracies /ɪnəˈkrɪktɪs/ n. (plural inaccuracies) 2 not aimed correctly, or not reaching the place aimed for; an inaccurate throw to third base —inaccurately adv.
inaction /ɪnˈækʃən/ n. [U] lack of action inactive /ɪnˈæktɪv/ adj. not doing anything or not working; inactive volcanoes | He injured his knee and was inactive for the rest of the season. —inactivity /ɪnˌækˈtrɛsɪti/ n. [U]
in-ae-dé-quate /ɪnˈædəkwət/ (Ac) adj. not good enough, big enough, skilled enough, etc. for a particular purpose; inadequate heating | She made me feel so inadequate. | Both he and his wife work, but their wages are inadequate to lift the family out of poverty. —inadequately adv.
in-act /ɪnˈækt/ n. 11 [U] a feeling that you are unable to deal with situations because you are not as good as other people: Not having a job can cause strong feelings of inadequacy. 2 [C,U] the fact of not being good enough for a particular purpose, or something that is not good enough: The research looked at the inadequacy of the children’s diet.
in-act-ive /ɪnˈæktɪv/ adj.
inactives /-ɪvz/ n. [plural] inactives inadequate /ɪnəˈkwæt/ adj. not good enough, big enough, skilled enough, etc. for a particular purpose; inadequate heating | She made me feel so inadequate. | Both he and his wife work, but their wages are inadequate to lift the family out of poverty. —inadequately adv.
in-ad-mis-si-bi-le /ɪnəˈmɪsəbəl/ adj. 12 [U] used in order to describe a strong feeling someone has when she does something: She looked at me in shock as I told her how everything had gone wrong. 13 in all used when giving a total amount: There were about 50 of us in all at the reunion.
in-ad-ver-tent /ɪnəˈvɜːrənt/ adj. without intending to do something: She inadvertently hit the brakes. —inadvertently adv.
in-po-ri-ti-cal /ɪnˈpɔːriˈtekəl/ adj. not appropriate for a particular purpose or situation: inappropriate behavior | The school board felt the book was inappropriate for fourth-grade children. —inappropriately adv.
in-rupt /ɪnˈrɔpt/ n. [U] caused by the breaking of something: an inbred genetic defect in-rupt /ɪnˈrɔpt/ v. [T] 1 to have an official ceremony in order to show that someone is beginning an important job: The President is inaugurated in January. 2 to open a new building or start a new service with a ceremony —inaugural /ɪnəˈɡɜːrəl/ adj.: the president’s inaugural speech —inauguration /ɪnəˈɡɜːrəʃən/ n. [C,U] in-us-pi-cious /ɪnˈəspɪʃəs/ adj. (formal) seeming to show that the future will be unlucky: an inauspicious start to our trip → UNLUCKY in-between adj. (informal) in the middle of two points, sizes, etc.: She’s at that in-between age, neither a little girl nor a woman.
in-born /ɪnˈbɔrn/ adj. an inborn quality or ability is one that you have had naturally since birth: Humans have an almost inborn love of stories.
in-bred /ɪnˈbred/ adj. produced by the breeding of closely related members of a family, which often causes problems: an inbred genetic defect —inbreeding /ɪnˌbredɪŋ/ n. [U] in-cador-ate /ɪnˈkærət/ adj. 11 [U] used before the bigger number when you are talking about a relationship between two numbers: 1 in 10 women (=10% of all women) has the disease. 12 in shock/horror etc. used in order to describe a strong feeling someone has when she does something: She looked at me in shock as I told her how everything had gone wrong. 13 in all used when giving a total amount: There were about 50 of us in all at the reunion.
in-ce-sc-en-ble /ɪnˈkɛsənəbl/ (Ac) adj. difficult or impossible to reach: The stairs make the building inaccessible to the disabled.
in-cer-eous /ɪnˈsəriəs/ adj. not aimed correctly, or not reaching the place aimed for; an inexact throw to third base —incorrectly adv.
in-ces-si-bi-le /ɪnˈsɛsəbəl/ adj. difficult or impossible to reach: The stairs make the building inaccessible to the disabled.
in-cu-rous /ɪnˈkʌrəs/ adj. 7 if a ball is in during a game, it is inside the area where the game is played 8 be in on sth if someone is in for something, something bad is about to happen to him/her: She’s in for a shock if she thinks we’re going to help her pay for it. 9 be in on sth to be involved in doing, talking about, or planning something: Everyone was in on the secret before I was ever interested in sports as a kid.
in-cur-ous /ɪnˈkɜːrəs/ adj. 11 [U] lack of action in-cur-ti-ble /ɪnˈkɜːrtəbl/ adj. extremely stupid, or without much meaning: inane jokes in-deli-ble /ɪnˈdelɪbəl/ adj. 11 [U] a law that cannot be changed or added to: The constitution is inalterable.
in-dest-i-ty /ɪnˈdestɪti/ n. [U] unable to do something: She had no ability to help me.
in-di-vid-u-al /ɪnˈdɪvɪdʒuəl/ adj. in-dip-o-si-ti-ty /ɪnˈdɪpəsəti/ n. [U] being able to do something: She had no dipposivity to help me.
in-di-vid-u-al /ɪnˈdɪvɪdʒuəl/ n. [U] 1 a person or group: She was the only individual who had seen the movie. 2 [U] one person or group: She was the only individual who had seen the movie. 3 [C] a person, group, etc.: I met an individual who knew exactly what I was looking for.
inclination

inciter, from Latin citare “to cause to start moving”] in·cli·na·tion /ɪnˈklaɪnəʃən/ n. 1 [C,U] the desire to do something: I didn’t have the time or inclination to go with them. 2 [C,U] a tendency to think or behave in a particular way: his inclination to act violently in·cline /ɪnˈklain/ v. [I] to slope at a particular angle, or make something do this [Our: 1300—1400 French incliner, from Latin clina “to lean”] in·cline² /ɪnˈklain/ n. [C] a slope: a steep incline in·clined /ɪnˈklaind/ adj. 1 be inclined to agree/believe/think etc. to have a particular opinion, but not have it very strongly: I’m inclined to agree with you, but I don’t really know. 2 wanting to do something: My client is not inclined to speak with reporters. 3 likely or tending to do something: He’s inclined to get upset over small things.

in·clude /ɪnˈklud/ v. [T] 1 if one thing includes another, the second thing is part of the first: The price includes your flight, hotel, and car rental. | Tim’s job responsibilities include hiring new teachers. | Service is included in the bill. 2 to make someone or something part of a larger group or set: You should include your educational background on your résumé. [Origin: 1400—1500 Latin includere, from in- “in” + claudere “to close”] in·clud·ing /ɪnˈkludɪŋ/ prep used in order to show that someone or something is part of a larger group or set that you are talking about (Ant: excluding): There were 20 people in the room, including the teacher. | We only paid $12 each for dinner, including the tip.

in·cu·sion /ɪnˈkjʊʃən/ n. 1 [U] the action of including someone or something in a larger group or set, or the fact of being included in one: I am surprised at his inclusion in the team. | Here’s the list of books we’re considering for inclusion on the reading list. 2 [C] someone or something that is included in·cu·sive /ɪnˈkjʊsɪv/ adj. including a wide variety of people, things, etc.: American colleges try very hard to be inclusive.

in·co·g·ni·to /ɪnˈkɒɡniːtəʊ/ adj. if a famous person does something incognito, s/he is hiding who s/he really is [Origin: 1600—1700 Italian, Latin in cognitum “unknown”] in·co·her·ent /ɪnˈkɒhərənt/ adj. 1 not clear, not organized, and hard to understand: an incoherent letter. 2 speaking in a way that cannot be understood or that does not make sense: Joey mumbled something incoherent. —incoherently adv

in·come /ɪnˈkɒm/ n. [C,U] the money that you earn from working or making investments: a good/high/low income | She has an annual income of $40,000. | an elderly couple living on a fixed income (an income that does not change or grow) in·come distri·but·ion /ɪnˈkʌm ˌdɪstrɪˈbjuʃən/ n. [U] Economics the way in which the total income earned by the population of a country exists in different amounts in different areas, depending on the number of people living in each place and their level of income in·come tax /ɪnˈkʌm ɪndetx/ n. [U] Economics tax paid on the money you earn in·com·ing /ɪnˈkʌmɪŋ/ adj. 1 incoming call/letter/fax a telephone call, letter, or fax that you receive (Ant: outgoing) 2 coming toward a place, or about to arrive (Ant: outgoing): the incoming tide in·com·mu·ni·ca·do /ɪnˈkʌmjuːniˌkeɪdəʊ/ n. | n. | v. 1 communication (the action of communicating): the incomparable beauty of the landscape —incomparably adv

in·com·pa·ra·ble /ɪnˈkʌmpərəbl/ adj. so impressive, beautiful, etc. that nothing or no one is better: the incomparable beauty of the landscape —incomparably adv

in·com·pa·tibil·i·ty /ɪnˈkʌmpəteɪbɪləti/ n. [U] too different to be able to be accepted, work together well, or have a good relationship: The two cellphones use incompatible systems. | Results of the two experiments were incompatible. | These new scientific facts are incompatible with each other. | Tony and I have always been incompatible. —incompatibility /ɪnˈkʌmpəteɪbɪləti/ n. [U]

in·com·pe·tence /ɪnˈkʌmpətəns/ n. [U] lack of ability or skill to do your job: Police have been accused of incompetence.

in·com·pe·tent /ɪnˈkʌmpətənt/ adj. not having the ability or skill to do your job: a totally incompetent waitress —incompetently adv

in·com·ple·te /ɪnˈkʌmpəlt/ adj. not having all its parts or not finished yet: an incomplete sentence | The report is still incomplete.

in·com·plete² /ɪnˈkʌmpətɪv/ adj. impossible to understand: His speech was incomprehensible.

in·com·pe·hen·si·ble /ɪnˈkʌmpərənsəbl/ adj. too strange or unusual to seem real or possible: It was inconceivable that such a quiet man could be violent. —inconceivably adv

in·con·clu·sive /ɪnˈkɒnkləsɪv/ adj. not leading to any decision or result: inconclusive research | The evidence the police provided was inconclusive (=did not prove anything). —inconclusively adv in-con-gru-ous /ɪnˈkɒŋgruəs/ adj. (formal) seeming to be wrong or unusual in a particular situation: Her quiet voice seemed incongruous with her hard face. —incongruously adv. —incongruity /ɪnˈkɒŋgruəti/ n [C,U]

in-con-se-quent-i-al /ɪnˈkɒnˌsɛkwənˈtʃɛl/ adj. (formal) not important [SYM] insignificant: The issue is totally inconsequential. —inconsequentially adv

in-con-sid-er-ate /ɪnˈkɒnˌsɪdərət/ adj. not caring about other people’s needs or feelings: It was really inconceivable of you not to call and say you’d be late. —inconsiderately adv

in-con-sist-ent /ɪnˈkɒnˌsɪstənt/ adj. 1 two ideas or statements that are inconsistent are different and cannot both be true: We’re getting inconsistent results from the lab tests. His story was inconsistent with the evidence. 2 not doing things in the same way each time: Inconsistent discipline can make children behave badly. 3 not following an expected principle or standard: What they have done is inconsistent with the agreement that they made with us. —inconsistently adv in-con-sol-a-ble /ɪnˈkɒnˌsɔːləbəl/ adj. (literary) so sad that you cannot be comforted: His widow was inconsolable.

in-con-spic-u-ous /ɪnˈkɒnˌspɪkjuəs/ adj. not easily seen or noticed: I sat in the corner, trying to look inconspicuous.

in-con-ti-nent /ɪnˈkɒnˌtɪnənt/ adj. —incontinence /ɪnˈkɒnˌtɪnəns/ n [C,U] something that causes you problems or difficulties, or the state of having problems or difficulties: We apologize for any inconvenience caused by the delay to the bus service. —inconveniently adv

in-con-ve-nience /ɪnˈkɒnvənɪns/ n [C,U] something that causes you problems or difficulties, or the state of having problems or difficulties: We apologize for any inconvenience caused by the delay to the bus service. —inconvenience adv

in-con-veni-ent /ɪnˌkɒnvənɪənt/ adj. causing problems or difficulties, especially in an annoying way: Is this an inconvenient time for you to talk? —inconveniently adv

in-cor-po-rate /ɪnˈkərpoʊrət/ [AC] v [T] 1 to include something as part of a group, system, etc.: Several safety features have been incorporated into the car’s design. 2 to form a corporation [Origin: 1300–1400 Late Latin, past participle of incorporate, from Latin corpus “body”] —incorporation /ɪnˌkərpoʊˈreɪʃən/ n [U] in-cor-po-ration /ɪnˌkərpoʊˈreɪʃən/ n [C,U] the action of incorporating: She incorporated the company in the U.S. to show that it is a corporation.

in-cor-rect /ɪnˌkərəkt/ adj. not correct [ANT] wrong: incorrect answers —incorrectly adv

in-corre-ct-ly adv

in-cor-ri-gi-ble /ɪnˈkərɪdʒəbl/ adj. someone who is incorrigible is bad in some way and cannot be changed: an incorrigible liar

in-cr ease /ɪnˈkrɪs/ v [T] 1 to increase in number, amount, or value: Prices have gone up 2%. 2 to increase greatly, or to make something do this: [ANT] decrease: The price of gas has increased by 4%. 3 to increase dramatically in recent decades. 4 | The waves were increasing in size. 5 Smoking increases your chances of getting cancer. [Origin: 1300–1400 Old French encresire, from Latin increscere, from crescere “to grow”] —increasing adj. increasing concern about job security in-cre-a-se /ɪnˈkriːs/ n [C,U] a rise in number, amount, or degree: The number of people working from home has grown substantially.

in-correct-ly adv
increase in housing prices. | Crime in the city is on the increase (=increasing).

increased /ɪnˈkrɪst/ adj. larger or more than before; an increased awareness of environmental issues increasing-ly /ɪnˈkrɪsnɪli/ adv. more and more: It’s becoming increasingly difficult to find employment.

incredi-bly /ɪnˈkredɪbli/ adv. 1 extremely good, large, or impressive: The view from our hotel window was incredible. | an incredible bargain 2 very hard to believe: It’s incredible that he survived the fall. | It’s incredible to think they actually lost the game.

incredi-bly /ɪnˈkredɪbli/ adv. 2 it is your duty or responsibility to do something, it is your duty or responsibility to do it = the incumbent President/Senator etc. the president, senator, etc. at the present time

incred-i-ble /ɪnˈkredɪbəl/ adj. 1 extremely good, large, or impressive: The view from our hotel window was incredible. | an incredible bargain increased /ɪnˈkrɪst/ v. (increased, increasing) [T] to make something seem guiltier of a crime: He refused to incriminate himself by answering questions. | incriminating adj. incriminating evidence | incriminating /ɪnˈkrimɪntɪŋ/ adj.

indicating

The movie left an indelible impression on her (=she could not forget it). —indelibly adv.

in·del·i·cate /inˈdelˌikt/ adj. (literary) slightly impolite or offensive: an indelicate question —indelicate adv.

in·dem·ni·fy /inˈdɛrnəˌfaɪ/ v. (indemnified. indemnifies) [T] LAW to promise to pay someone if something s/he owns becomes lost or damaged, or if s/he is injured in·de·pend·ent /inˈdɛpəndənt/ adj. 1 independent nation: the United States as an independent nation

2 independently 1 on July 4th that celebrates the beginning of the United States
3 independently 2 Mexico gained independence in 1821.

in·de·pend·ence /inˈdɛpəndəns/ n. 1 the freedom and ability to make your own decisions and take care of yourself without having to ask other people for help, money, or permission: Many old people want to keep/maintain their independence. 2 staying late is one way teenagers try to assert their independence. 3 having a job gives you financial independence. 4 political independence from control by another country: The United States declared independence in 1776. 5 Mexico gained independence from Spain in 1821.

in·de·pend·ent n. [U] 1 an independent person: someone who votes but who does not support one particular political party 2 an independent study/report a study or report that is very thorough and considers all the details
3 indecipherable adj. too good, strange, frightening, etc. to be described: My joy at seeing him was indescribable.

in·de·struct·i·ble /inˈdɛstrəkˈtəbl/ adj. impossible to destroy: The tank was built to be indestructible.

in·de·ter·mi·nate /inˈdɛtrəməˌneɪt/ adj. impossible to find out or calculate exactly: a woman of indeterminate age

in·dex /ˈindeks/ n. (plural indexes or indices) 1 [U] an alphabetical list at the end of a book, that lists all the names, subjects, etc. in the book and the pages where you can find them.
2 a standard or level you can use for judging or measuring something: the consumer price index 3 the number that is written before and slightly above a radical sign (\(^\sqrt{}\)), which shows how many times an number was multiplied by itself to produce the number after the radical sign. The index of \(\sqrt{3}\) is 3. [Origin: 1500—1600 Latin “first finger, guide,” from indicare (indicare)]

in·dex·es /ˈindeksɪz/ n. (plural indexes) a set of cards with information, or a database, in alphabetical order: Look up the book in the library’s card index. 3 a standard or level you can use for judging or measuring something: the consumer price index 4 math the number that is written before and slightly above a radical sign (\(^\sqrt{}\)), which shows how many times a number was multiplied by itself to produce the number after the radical sign. The index of \(\sqrt{3}\) is 3. [Origin: 1500—1600 Latin “first finger, guide,” from indicare]

in·dex·ing /ˈindeksɪŋ/ v. [T] to make an index for something: The software can index the documents on your computer.

in·dex·es /ˈindeksɪz/ n. (plural indexes) a set of cards with information on in·de·pend·ent n. [C] a small card that you write information on in·de·pend·ent n. [C] the finger next to the thumb (\(\overline{\text{index}}\)) for finger → see picture at hand

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an n. [C] 1 a native american 2 someone from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindʒən/ adj. 1 relating to native americans 2 relating to or coming from India

in·di·an /ˈindgettext/ v. [T] 1 to show that something exists or is likely to be true: Research indicates that women live longer than men. 2 to say or do something that shows what you want or intend to do: He indicated that he had no desire to come with us. [Origin: 1600—1700 Latin, past participle of indicare, from dicare “to say publicly or officially’’] indication /ɪnˈdɪkəˈteɪʃən/ n [C,U] a sign that something exists or is likely to be true: Did Rick ever give any indication that he was unhappy? ▶ There has been no indication of improvement in his condition.

indicative /ɪnˈdɪkətɪv/ adj (formal) 1 be indicative of sth to show that something exists or is likely to be true: His reaction is indicative of how frightened he is. 2 ENG. LANG. ARTS relating to the indicative indicator /ɪnˈdɪkətər/ n [C] 1 an event, fact, etc. that shows that something exists, or shows you the way something is developing: All the main economic indicators suggest that business is improving. 2 something on a machine that shows the temperature, speed, etc.

indicates /ɪnˈdɪkətɪz/ n a plural of INDEX indict /ɪnˈdaɪkt/ v [T] LAW to officially charge someone with a crime: He was indicted on charges of perjury. — indictable /ɪnˈdaɪktəbəl/ adj indictment /ɪnˈdaɪktmənt/ n [C] LAW an official written statement saying that someone has done something illegal indiscretions /ɪnˈdɪskrɪʃənz/ n [U] an action, remark, or behavior that shows bad judgment and is usually considered socially or morally unacceptable: his embarrassing indiscretions | youthful indiscretion indifferent /ɪnˈdɪfərənt/ adj not interested in someone or something, or not having any feelings or opinions about him, her, or it: The industry seems indifferent to environmental concerns.

indigenous /ɪnˈdɪdʒənəs/ adj (formal) indigeneous plants, animals, etc. have always lived or grown naturally in the place where they are native: These plants are indigenous to the Amazon region. [Origin: 1600—1700 Late Latin indigena “someone born in a place”] indigent /ɪnˈdɪdʒənt/ adj (formal) not having much money or many possessions poor: money to help indigent hospital patients —indigence /ɪnˈdɪdʒəns/ n [C] —indigent /ɪnˈdɪdʒənt/ adj indigestible /ɪnˈdɪgestəbl/ -di/-əl adj; -di/-əl əd; -di/-əl əd: food that is indigestible cannot easily be broken down in the stomach ▶ DIGEST indigestion /ɪnˌdɪdʒɪˈstʃən/ n, -di/-əl n [U] the pain caused by eating food that cannot easily be broken down in the stomach indignant /ɪnˌdɪgnənt/ adj angry because you feel you have been insulted or unfairly treated: Marsha was indignant about the poor service she had received. — indignant /ɪnˈdɪgnənt/ adj indignation /ɪnˌdɪgnəˈkeɪʃən/ n [U] feelings of anger and surprise because you feel insulted or unfairly treated: her indignation at the suggestion that it was her fault | His eyes blazed with indignation.

indignity /ɪnˌdɪgnəti/ n (plural indignities) [C,U] a situation that makes you feel very ashamed and not respected: Two of the diplomats suffered the indignity of being arrested.

indirect /ɪnˈdɜːrkt/ adj 1 not directly caused by something or relating to it: The accident was an indirect result of the heavy rain. 2 not using the straightest or most direct way to get to a place: an indirect route 3 suggesting something without saying it directly or clearly: He never mentioned my work, which I felt was an indirect criticism of its quality. — indirectly adv indirect object n [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS in grammar, the person or thing that receives something as the result of the action of the verb in a sentence. In the sentence “Pete gave the money,” “me” is the indirect object. ▶ DIRECT OBJECT indirect reasoning also indirect proof n [U] MATH the process of proving that a mathematical statement is true by first saying that it is false, and then showing that, if the statement is really false, other mathematical statements which are known or believed to be true must also be false indirect rule n [U] POLITICS the act of governing a colony (= a country or area ruled by a more powerful country) using local laws rather than the laws of the ruling country

indirect speech n [U] ENG. LANG. ARTS REPORTED SPEECH

indiscipline /ɪnˌdɪsɪˈdɪpl/ -di/-əl əd careless about what you say or do, so that you let people know too much indiscretion /ɪnˌdɪsəˈkrɛʃən/ n [C,U] an action, remark, or behavior that shows bad judgment and is usually considered socially or morally unacceptable: his embarrasing sexual indiscretions | youthful indiscretion indiscriminate /ɪnˈdɪskrɪmənət/ adj an indiscriminate action is done without thinking about what harm it might cause: indiscriminate acts of violence in-dis-pen-sa-ble /ɪnˈdɪspɛnsəbəl/ adj. something that is indispensable is so important or useful that you cannot manage without it, her, or it: The information he provided was indispensable to our research.

in-dis-tinct /ɪnˈdɪstɪŋkt/ adj. not able to be seen, heard, or remembered very clearly (syn: unclear): We could hear indistinct voices in the next room. —indistinctly adv.

in-dis-tin-guish-a-ble /ɪnˈdɪstɪŋgwɪʃəbəl/ adj. things that are indistinguishable are so similar that you cannot see any difference between them: This material is indistinguishable from real silk.

in-di-vid-u-al /ɪnˈdɪvɪdʒuəl/ adj. 1 considered separately from other people or things in the same group: Each individual drawing is slightly different. | the tasks given to the individual members of the group. 2 belonging to or intended for one person rather than a group: Individual attention must be given to each student. | The gallery relies on both corporate and individual donations. [Ori-gins: 1400—1500 Medieval Latin individualis, from Latin individuus “indivisible”]

individuate /ɪnˈdɪvɪduət/ v. [C] one person, considered separately from the rest of the group or society that she lives in: Thousands of homeless individuals and families use these shelters. | The substance can help prevent heart disease in some individuals.

individuation /ɪnˈdɪvɪduəʃən/ n. [U] 1 the behavior or attitude of someone who does things in his or her own way without being influenced by other people: The culture of the western U.S. has always valued rugged individualism. 2 the belief that the rights and freedom of individual people are the most important rights in society: Japanese society promotes the group rather than individualism. —individuationist n. [C]: He was an individualist who always spoke his mind. —individuationistic /ɪnˈdɪvɪduəʃəstɪk/ adj.

individually /ɪnˈdɪvɪduəli/ adv. separately, not together in a group: Mr. Wong met with each employee individually.

indivisibility /ɪnˈdɪvɪzəbɪləti/ n. [U] the quality that makes something or something different from all others: His individuality shows in his art work.

in-do-lent /ɪnˈdəʊlənt/ adj. (formal) lazy —indolently adv. —indolence n. [U] in-dom-i-ta-ble /ɪnˈdəʊmɪtəbəl/ adj. indomitable spirit/courage etc. (formal) determination, courage, etc. that can never be defeated.

individual /ɪnˈdɪvɪdʒʊəl/ n. [C] one person, considered separately from other people or things in the same group: He was an individualist who always spoke his mind.

Individually, each student.

in-door /ɪnˈdɔːr/ adj. [only before noun] used or happening inside a building (adj. outdoor: an indoor swimming pool in-doors /ɪnˈdɔːrs/ adv. into or inside a building indoors: He stayed indoors all morning.

induce /ɪnˈdʌs/ v. (formal) 1 [T] to make someone decide to do something: What induced you to spend so much money on a car?

indolence /ɪnˈdəʊləns/ n. [U] 1 [T] to cause a particular physical condition: This drug may induce drowsiness. 2 [L] to make a woman give birth to her baby by giving her a special drug induce-ment /ɪnˈdʌsment/ n. [C,U] something that you are offered to persuade you to do something: He was given $10,000 as an inducement to leave the company.

in-duct /ɪnˈdʌkt/ v. [T] to officially make someone a member of a group or organization: Joni Mitchell was inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame, —inductee /ɪnˈdʌkti/ n. [C] in-du-cing /ɪnˈdjuːsɪŋ/ adj. the act or ceremony of officially making someone a member of a group or organization in-duc-tive /ɪnˈdjuːktɪv/ adj. using known facts or patterns to form the general principles of something or a general opinion about something: inductive research induc-tive-reASON-ing /ɪnˈdjuːktɪvɹɛˈzaʊnɪŋ/ n. [U] MATH the process of forming a general mathematical rule for solving a mathematical problem using an existing pattern of specific results or facts indulge /ɪnˈdʌldʒ/ v. 1 [L]T to let yourself do or indulgence

have something that you enjoy, especially something that is considered bad for you: We indulged in a piece of cheesecake after lunch. Go ahead—indulge yourself. 2 [T] to let someone do or have whatever s/he wants, even if it is bad for him/her; She did not like her children to be indulged.

indulgence /ɪnˈdʌlʤəns/ n 1 [U] the habit of eating too much, drinking too much, etc.; a life of indulgence 2 [C] something that you do or have for pleasure, not because you need it: Chocolate is my only indulgence.

indulgent /ɪnˈdʌlɡənt/ adj allowing someone to do or have whatever s/he wants, even if it is bad for him/her; indulgent parents —indulgently adv industrial /ɪnˈdəstrɪl/ adj 1 relating to industry or the people working in industry: industrial waste | industrial production 2 having many industries, or industries that are well developed: an industrial region —industrially adv industrialization /ɪnˈdəstrɪˌlaɪˈzaʃən/ n [C,U] the process of becoming industrial: the period in the 18th and 19th centuries in Europe, when machines and factories began to be used to produce goods in large quantities industrious /ɪnˈdəstrɪəs/ adj (formal) tending to work hard: an industrious young woman —industriously adv industrious /ɪnˈdəstrɪəs/ n [plural industries] 1 [U] the production of goods, especially in factories 2 [C] a particular type of trade or service that produces things: He works in the auto/retail/insurance industry. 3 [C,U] (from Latin industriā “skill, work involving skill,” from Latin indūstria “willingness to work hard”) industrious /ɪnˈdəstrɪəs/ adj (formal) drunk —inebriation /ɪnɪˈbruːʃən/ n [U] inedible /ɪnˈɛdəbl/ adj not good enough to eat, or not appropriate for eating: inedible mushrooms ineffective /ɪnˈɛfɪktɪv/ adj too great to be described in words: He felt an ineffective sadness. —ineffectively adv ineffectively /ɪnˈɛfɪktɪvəli/ adv something that is ineffective does not achieve what it was intended to achieve: Critics say that gun-control laws have been ineffective. —ineffectiveness n [U] inefficiency /ɪnˈɛfɪsɪənsi/ n [C] a lack of ability to do or have something: Our family is ineligible for state aid. —ineligibility /ɪnˈelɪdʒəlɪtɪ/ n [U] inept /ɪnˈɛpt/ adj having no skill: an inept driver —ineptitude /ɪnˈɛptɪtjuːd/ n [U] inequality /ɪnˈɛkwələti/ n [plural inequalities] [C,U] unfair situations, in which some groups in society have more money, opportunities, power, etc. than others 2 [C,U] lack of fairness, or something that is unfair: There are still inequalities in the amount that men and women earn for the same job.

ineffectually /ɪnˈɛfɪktʃəlɪ/ adv inequality /ɪnˈɛkwələti/ n (plural inequities) lack of fairness, or something that is unfair: There are still inequalities in the amount that men and women earn for the same job.

inevitable /ɪnˈevɪtləbəl/ adj certain to happen and impossible to avoid or ignore: The inescapable fact is that he has a drinking problem. —inescapably adv inevitably /ɪnˈɛvɪtəbli/ adv inevitable /ɪnˈɛvɪtəbəl/ adj 1 certain to happen and impossible to avoid: A lawsuit seems inevitable. It was inevitable that someone would get hurt. 2 the inevitable something that is certain to happen: Finally, the inevitable happened and he lost his job. 3 [C] a feeling that you do not want to do anything at all 4 [C,U] the force that keeps an object in the same position or keeps it moving until it is moved or stopped by another force in-ex·act /ˈɪnɡˈzækt/ adj not exact: Psychology is an inexact science (≠ you cannot measure things exactly in it).

in-ex·cus·a·ble /ɪnˈɡɛksəbəl/ adj inexcusable behavior is too bad to be excused: Being late on your first day at a job is inexcusable.

in-ex·haust·i·ble /ɪnˈɡɛksətəbəl/ adj something that is inexhaustible exists in such large amounts that it can never be used up: Warton seems to have an inexhaustible supply of energy.

in-ex·in·tri·ca·bly adv.

in-ex·o·ra·ble /ɪnˈɡɛksərbəl/ adj inexorable process cannot be stopped: the inexorable process of aging — inexorably adv.

in-ex·pen·si·ble /ˈɪnɡˈzɛnspaɪəbəl/ adj low in price: an inexpensive vacation — inexpensively adv.

in·fâ·mi·tâ·ble /ˌɪnfəˈmaɪtəbl/ adj formal too unusual or strange to be explained or understood: Police are investigating his inexplicable disappearance.

in·fâ·mi·ty /ˌɪnfəˈmaɪti/ n [U] — infamously adv

in·fect /ɪnˈfɛkt/ v [T] 1 BIOLOGY to give someone a disease: People can feel well but still infect others: a young man who is infected with the AIDS virus 2 BIOLOGY to make food, water, etc. dangerous and able to spread disease: bacteria that can infect fruit 3 if a feeling that you have infects other people, it makes them begin to feel the same way: Lucy’s enthusiasm soon infected the rest of the class.

in·fect·ed /ɪnˈfɛktɪd/ adj. 1 BIOLOGY a part of your body or a wound that is infected has harmful bacteria in it that prevent it from healing: an infected finger 2 BIOLOGY food, water, etc. that is infected contains bacteria that spread disease: water infected with cholera 3 if a computer or disk is infected, the information on it has been changed or destroyed by a computer virus.

in·fect·ion /ɪnˈfɛkʃn/ n. 1300—1400 Latin, past participle of infecte “to dip in, stain” in·fer /ɪnˈfər/ v (infere, inferring) [T] (formal) to form an opinion that something is probably true because of information that you have: What can you infer from the available data?

in·fer·ence /ɪnˈfərəns/ n. [CU] something that you think is true, based on information that you have: You’ll have to draw your own inferences from the evidence (≠ decide what you think is true).

in·fer·en·ti·al ques·tion /ˌɪnfərənˈʃəl ˈkwɛʃən/ n. [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS a question that asks someone to say what s/he thinks is true, based on something that s/he has read: an evaluative question, literal question in·fer·ri·or /ˌɪnˈfərərɪər/ adj. 1 not good, or not as good as someone or something else: (in) superior: Larry always makes me feel inferior.

infâ·mi·la·ry /ˌɪnfəˈmaɪləri/ n. [U] 1300—1400 from Latin infans “unable to speak,” from fari “to speak” in·fan·tile /ˈɪnfəntəl/ adj. 1 (disapproving) infantile behavior seems silly in an adult because it is typical of a child: his infantile jokes 2 [only before noun] affecting very small children: infantile illnesses.

in·fan·try /ˈɪnfəntri/ n. [U] soldiers who fight on foot in·far·c-tion /ɪnˈfærktʃn/ n. [C] BIOLOGY a medical condition in which a blood vessel becomes blocked, so that no blood can go through.

in·fat·u·at·ed /ɪnˈfætʃətɪd/ adj having unreasonably strong feelings of love for someone: He’s infatuated with her.

in·fat·u·a·tion /ɪnˈfætʃəˈneɪʃn/ n. [C] BIOLOGY a medical condition in which a blood vessel becomes blocked, so that no blood can go through.

infâ·ri·al /ˌɪnfəˈrɪəl/ adj. 1300—1400 from Latin infantilis “childlike.”

in·fan·tile /ˈɪnfəntəl/ adj. 1 (disapproving) infantile behavior seems silly in an adult because it is typical of a child: his infantile jokes 2 [only before noun] affecting very small children: infantile illnesses.

in·fer·ry /ɪnˈfərəri/ v. 1300—1400 from Latin infantilis “childlike.”

in·fer·ri·or /ˌɪnfərərɪər/ adj. 1 not good, or not as good as someone or something else: (in) superior: Larry always makes me feel inferior.
in·fer·no /in·ferˈnə(-ə)/ n. [L] a very large and dangerous fire: a raging inferno (an extremely violent fire).

in·fight·ing /in·fight·ing/ n. [U] a fight or argument.

in·fil·trate /inˈfəlˌtrāt/ v. [T] to seep into something: to infiltrate the building.

in·fin·i·tes·i·mal /inˈfɪnəˌtɪzməl/ adj. extremely small; infinitesimal changes in temperature —infin·i·tesi·mal·ly adv.

in·fin·i·tive /inˈfɪnətɪv/ n. [C] ENG. LANG. ARTS in grammar, the basic form of a verb, used with “to.” In the sentence “I forgot to buy milk,” “to buy” is an infinitive. [Origin: 1400—1500 Late Latin infinitivus, from Latin infinitus; because the verb is not limited by person or number.]

in·fin·i·ty /inˈfɪnətē/ n. 1 [U] a space or distance without limits or an end 2 [singular, U] MATH a number that is larger than all others in·firm /inˈfɜrm/ adj. (formal) weak or sick, especially because of being old —in·firm·i·ty /inˈfɜrnətē/ n.

in·fla·to·ry /inˈflætərē/ adj. of, relating to, or causing price increases: inflationary wage increases —in·fla·to·ry·ly /inˈflætərəlē/ adv.

in·fla·tion /inˈflæʃən/ n. [U] 1 ECONOMICS a continuing increase in prices, or the rate at which prices increase: countries with high inflation 2 the rate at which prices rise over time) of three percent 2 the process of filling something with air or gas in·fla·tion·ary /inˈflæʃənerē/ adj. ECONOMICS relating to or causing price increases: inflationary wage increases in·flae·ct /inˈflækt/ v. [I] ENG. LANG. ARTS if a word inflects, its form changes according to its meaning or use in·flec·tion /inˈflæksən/ n. [C,U] ENG. LANG. ARTS the way in which a word changes its form to show differences in its meaning or use, such as the plural or a past tense, or one of the forms that is used in this way. For example, the inflections of “run” are “runs,” “ran,” and “running.”

infuriating

inflexible /ɪnˈfleksəbəl/ (Ac) adj 1 impossible to influence or change: a school with inflexible rules | an inflexible boss 2 inflexible material is stiff and will not bend —inflexibility /ɪnˈfleksəbɪlɪtɪ/ n [U] inflct /ɪnˈflʌkt/ v [T] to make someone suffer something bad: Soldiers assessed the damage inflicted on the enemy. —infliction /ɪnˈflʌktʃən/ n [U] influent /ɪnˈfluənt/ adj having a lot of influence: an influential politician | Dewey was influential in shaping economic policy. —influentially adv

influence /ɪnˈflʌns/ n 1 [C,U] the power to have an effect on the way someone or something develops, behaves, or thinks: Diego Rivera had a profound influence on artists of the 1930s. | He has a lot of political influence in the community. | Lewis used his influence to avoid military service. 2 [C] someone or something that has an effect on other people or things: Alex’s parents always thought that I was a good/bad influence on him. | The country remains untouched by outside influences. 3 under the influence drunk or feeling the effects of a drug [Origin: 1300—1400 French, Medieval Latin influentia, from Latin fluere “to flow”] influence2 v [T] to have an effect on the way someone or something develops, behaves, or thinks: I don’t want to influence your decision. | As a singer, she was strongly influenced by gospel music.

influential /ɪnˈfluəns(ə)l/ adj having a lot of influence: an influential politician | for the first time | Robert F. Kennedy was an influential speaker. —influentially adv

influenceable /ɪnˈfluənsəbəl/ adj 1 capable of being influenced: a man influenced by religion 2 able to influence something: flowers that are influenceable to wind | a policy that is influenceable to public opinion influenceable /ɪnˈfluənsəbəl/ adj having a lot of influence: an influential politician | for the first time | Robert F. Kennedy was an influential speaker. —influentially adv

influentially adv

infraction /ɪnˈfrɪkʃən/ n [C] formal a law, custom, or rule that has been broken.

inform /ɪnˈfɔrm/ v [T] to tell the police, an enemy, etc. about what someone has done: —inform against/on sb phr v to tell the police, an enemy, etc. about what someone has done —informally adv informal /ɪnˈfɔrməl/ adj 1 relaxed and friendly: an informal meeting | informal language 2 appropriate for ordinary situations or conversations: an informal letter to your family —informally adv

information /ɪnˈfɔrməʃən/ n [U] the facts or details that tell you something about a situation, person, event, etc.: I need some more information about this machine. | Goodwin was able to provide several new pieces of information. | For further information, call the number below.

informant /ɪnˈfɔrmənt/ n [C] a person who gives secret information to the police, a government department, etc.: a CIA informant information technology (abbreviation IT) n [U] the use of electronic processes, especially computers, for gathering information, storing it, and making it available informer /ɪnˈfɔrmər/ n [C] a person who gives secret information to the police, an administration, or any other organization.

informative /ɪnˈfɔrmeɪtɪv/ adj providing many useful facts or ideas: a very informative book —informatively adv infrared /ɪnˈfʌrktrəd/ adj 1 having infrared radiation: an infrared device 2 related to infrared waves: infrared photography infrared radiation /ɪnˈfʌrktrəradiəʃən/ n [U] PHYSICS energy in the form of waves that you cannot see, which are longer than waves of light that you can see and shorter than radio waves infra-red /ɪnˈfʌrktrəd/ adj infrared light produces heat but cannot be seen: ultraviolet infra-structure /ɪnˈfʌstrʌktʃər/ n [C] the basic systems that a country or organization needs in order to work in the right way, for example roads, communications, and banking systems: Japan’s economic infrastructure infrequent /ɪnˈfrikwənt/ adj not happening often: very rare: I met him on one of his infrequent visits to his parents. —infrequently adv infringe /ɪnˈfrɪŋɡ/ v [T] to do something that is against the law or someone’s legal rights: —infringement /ɪnˈfrɪŋmənt/ n [C,U]: copyright infringement infringe on/upon sb phr v to limit someone’s freedom in some way: The new law infringes on our basic right to freedom of speech.

infuriating /ɪnˈfʌriətɪŋ/ adj very annoying: an infuriating delay of four hours —infuriatingly adv infuriate /ɪnˈfʌriət/ v [T] to make someone very angry: —infuriation /ɪnˈfʌriəʃən/ n: an infuriating delay of four hours infuriated /ɪnˈfʌriətɪd/ adj very angry: —infuriation /ɪnˈfʌriəʃən/ n infuriatingly adv

in·gra·ti·ate /ɪnˈɡrəˌteɪt/ v. 1 [T] to fill someone or something with a particular feeling or quality: The coach has managed to ingratiate the team with new enthusiasm.  2 [T] to put a substance such as tea in very hot water, so that its taste passes into the water in·fu·sion /ɪnˈfjuːʒən/ n. 1 [C,U] the act of putting something new into something, especially a new feeling or quality: I felt an infusion of spirituality.  A cash infusion helped save the company.  2 [C] a medicine made with herbs in hot water and usually taken as a drink in·gen·i·ous /ɪnˈdʒeɪnjuəs/ adj. 1 an ingenious plan, idea, etc. works well and is the result of inventing thinking and new ideas: an ingenious device  2 an ingenious person is very good at inventing things, thinking of new ideas, etc. [Origin: 1400—1500 Latin ingenius "natural ability"] —ingeniously adv.

in·ge·nu·ous /ɪnˈdʒɪnjuəs/ adj. (formal) an ingenuous person trusts people too much and is honest, especially because they do not have experience in how badly people can behave (and) disingenuously —ingenuously n. [U]

in·gest /ɪnˈdʒest/ v. [T] (formal) to eat something —ingestion /ɪnˈdʒɛʃən/ n. [U]

in·grain·ed /ɪnˈɡreɪnd/ adj. ingrained attitudes or behavior are firmly established and difficult to change: A sense of duty is deeply ingrained in most people.

in·gra·ti·ate /ɪnˈɡrəˌteɪt/ v. ingratiate yourself (with sb) (disapproving) to try to get someone's approval by doing things to please him/her, expressing admiration, etc., especially in a way that does not seem sincere: Politicians try to ingratiate themselves with the voters. —ingratiating adj. —ingratiatingly adv

in·grat·i·tude /ɪnˈɡrætiˈtjuːd/ n. [U] the quality of not being grateful for something in·gre·di·ent /ɪnˈɡreɪdɪənt/ n. 1 [C] one of the things that goes into a mixture from which a type of food is made: Combine all the ingredients in a large bowl.  | Flour, water, and eggs are the main ingredients.  2 a quality that helps to achieve something: Jack seems to have all the ingredients to succeed in business. [Origin: 1400—1500 Latin, present participle of ingredire, from in- "in" + gradi "to go"] in·hale /ɪnˈheɪl/ v. [T] to breathe in air, smoke, or gas: Try not to inhale the fumes from the glue.

in·hab·it /ɪnˈheɪbət/ v. [T] to live in a particular place: The forest is inhabited by bears and moose.

in·hab·it·ant /ɪnˈheɪbətənt/ n. [C] one of the people who live in a particular place: the inhabitants of large cities in·ha·le /ɪnˈheɪl/ v. [T] to breathe in air, smoke, or gas: Try not to inhale the fumes from the glue.

in·her·it /ɪnˈhɛrɪt/ v. 1 to receive something from someone after she has died: I inherited the house from my uncle.  2 to get a quality, type of behavior, appearance, etc. from one of your parents: Suzy inherited her mother's good looks.

in·her·ent /ɪnˈhɛrənt/ adj. 1 a quality that is inherent in something is a natural part of it and cannot be separated from it: The problem is inherent in the system. —inherently adv.

in·her·ent 'po·wers n. [plural] POLITICAL powers given to the U.S. government that are not clearly stated in the CONSTITUTION, but which are accepted as necessary in order for the United States to be a completely independent country in·her·it·ance /ɪnˈhɛrɪtəns/ n. [C] money, property, etc. that you receive from someone after she has died in·hib·it /ɪnˈhɪbɪt/ v. [T] 1 to prevent something from growing or developing in the usual or expected way: The new treatments inhibit the spread of the disease.  2 to make someone feel embarrassed or less confident, so she can do or say what she wants to: Fear of criticism may inhibit a child's curiosity.  3 to make it more difficult or impossible for someone to do something: The goal is to inhibit the virus from invading healthy cells. [Origin: 1400—1500 Latin, past participle of inhibere "to prevent," from habere "to have"] in·hib·it·ed /ɪnˈhɪbɪtɪd/ adj. not confident or relaxed enough to express how you really feel or do what you really want to do: uninhibited: She wanted to dance with him, but felt too inhibited to tell him.

in·hi·bi·tion /ɪnˈhaɪbɪʃən, -ˈhbaɪ-ˈʃən/ n. [C,U] a feeling of worry or embarrassment that stops you from expressing how you really feel or doing what you really want to do: She seems to lose her inhibitions (=stops feeling worried or embarrassed) after a few drinks.  2 the process of preventing something from working, growing, or developing in the usual or expected way: Alcohol causes the inhibition of certain neurons in the brain, preventing them from communicating with other neurons.

in·hos·pi·ta·ble /ɪnˈhɒspɪtəbəl/ adj. (formal) 1 not friendly, welcoming, or generous to visitors  2 difficult to live or stay in because of severe weather conditions or lack of shelter: an inhospitable climate —inhospitably adv.
in·house adj. adv. within a company or organization rather than outside it: an in-house training department.

in-hu·man /in'hu'man/ adj. 1 very cruel and without any normal feelings of pity: inhuman treatment 2 lacking any human qualities in a way that seems strange or frightening: an inhuman scream in-hu·mane /in'huy'mant/ adj. treating people or animals in a cruel and unacceptable way; inhumane living conditions —inhumanely adv.

in·i·mal /in'akəl/ adj. making it difficult for something to exist or happen: This type of task is inimical to creativity.

in·i·ma·ble /in'məbəl/ adj. too good for anyone else to copy: Jerry gave the speech in his own inimitable style.

in·iqu·i·ty /in'akwi'tē/ (plural iniquities) [C, U] (formal) the quality of being very unfair or evil, or an action that is very unfair or evil

i·ni·tial /'iːnʃəl/ [A] adj. happening at the beginning

i·ni·tial·ly /'iːnʃəlē/ adv. initially: the initial stages of the war | My initial reaction was shock.

i·ni·tia·tion /i'nɪʃəˈteɪʃən/ n. [C, U] an act of putting a liquid, especially a drug, into your body by using a special needle (inj) shot. The nurse gave me an injection of painkillers.

in·ju·ry /'ɪnʤəri/ n. (plural injuries) [C, U] physical harm or damage that is caused by an accident or attack, or a particular example of this: a knee/back/head injury | serious/severe injuries to the head and neck | Luckily, she suffered only minor injuries.

in·jus·tice /i'nɪdʒəstis/ n. [C, U] a situation in which something important to start: 1 an initiation ceremony 2 the act of arranging for something important to start: The initiation of legal proceedings 3 take the initiative to be the first one to take action to achieve a particular aim or solve a particular problem 4 [C] politics a process by which citizens can suggest a change in a law by signing a form asking for the change to be voted on: an effort to get the initiative on the ballot needle: His shoulder was injected with a painkiller.

in·ject /ɪnˈdʒɛkt/ v. [T] 1 to put a liquid, especially a drug, into your body by using a special in·ju·ry /ɪnˈdʒəri/ n. [C, U] a situation in which something important to start: 1 an initiation ceremony 2 the act of arranging for something important to start: The initiation of legal proceedings 3 take the initiative to be the first one to take action to achieve a particular aim or solve a particular problem 4 [C] politics a process by which citizens can suggest a change in a law by signing a form asking for the change to be voted on: an effort to get the initiative on the ballot needle: His shoulder was injected with a painkiller. which people are treated very unfairly: Our country has a history of injustices against black people.

ink /ɪŋk/ n. [U] a colored liquid used for writing, printing, etc.

inkling /ɪŋklɪŋ/ n. [singular] a slight idea about something: We had no inkling that he was leaving.

in-laid /ɪnˌleɪd/ adj. having a thin layer of a material set into the surface for decoration: a wooden box inlaid with gold inland /ɪnˈlænd/ n. an inland area, city, etc. is not near the coast inland /ɪnˈlænd/ adj. in, land, -land/ adv. in a direction away from the coast and toward the center of a country.

inland sea n. [C] EARTH SCIENCES a sea that is completely surrounded by land in-laws n. plural your relatives by marriage, especially the mother and father of your husband or wife: We’re spending Christmas with my in-laws.

inlay /ɪnˈleɪ/ n. [C,U] a material that has been set into the surface of another material as a decoration, or the pattern made by this inlet /ɪnˈleɪt/ n. [C,U] 1 a narrow area of water reaching from the ocean or a lake into the land, or between islands 2 the part of a machine through which liquid or gas flows in

in-line skating n. [C] a special boot with a single row of wheels fastened under it (BrE Rollerblade → ROLLERBLADE

inmate /ɪnˈmeɪt/ n. [C] someone who is kept in a prison or in a hospital for people with mental illnesses inn /ɪn/ n. [C] a small hotel, especially one that is not in a city

innards /ɪnˈnərdz/ n. plural (informal) the parts inside your body, especially your stomach innate /ɪnˈnet/ adj. 1 an innate quality has been part of your character since you were born: an innate sense of fun 2 innate behavior biology the things that an animal or person does naturally from the time that they are first born, without having to learn to behave in this way —innately adv

inner /ɪnˈner/ adj. [only before noun] 1 on the inside or close to the center of something outer: the inner ear 2 inner feelings, thoughts, meanings, etc. are secret and not expressed 3 inner circle the few people in an organization, political party, etc. who control it or share power with its leader inner city n. [C] the part of a city that is near the middle, especially the part where the buildings are in a bad condition and the people are poor —inner city adj.: an inner city school inner ear n. [C] biology the part of your ear inside your head that you use for hearing and balance innermost /ɪnˈnərmɔst/ adj. 1 your innermost feelings, desires, etc. are the ones you feel most strongly and keep private outermost inner tube n. [C] the rubber tube that is filled with air inside a tire innocent /ɪnˈsænt/ adj. 1 not guilty of a crime or innocent: Nobody would believe that I was innocent. | He was found innocent of murder by the jury (=they decided he was innocent). 2 innocent victims/bystanders/people etc. people who get hurt or killed in a war or as a result of a crime, though they are not involved in it 3 not having much experience of life, especially so that you are easily deceived: I was 13 years old and very innocent. 4 done or said without intending to harm or offend anyone: It was a perfectly innocent question. [Origin: 1300—1400 French, Latin, from in “not” + nocens “evil,” present participle of nocere “to harm”] —innocently adv

innocuous /ɪnˈnɔkjʊəs/ adj. not offensive, dangerous, or harmful: an innocuous but boring movie —innocuously adv

innovate /ɪnˌnəʊvət/ v. [I] to think of and begin to use new ideas, methods, or inventions: Firms have to innovate to earn higher profits. —innovator /ɪnˌnəʊvətər/ n. [C] Parker was one of the great jazz innovators.

innovation /ɪnˌnəʊveɪʃən/ n. [C,U] a new idea, method, or invention, or the introduction and use of a new idea, method, etc.: innovations in design | Too many regulations can discourage innovation.

innovative /ɪnˌnəʊˈveɪtɪv/ adj. using new ideas, methods, or inventions: an innovative approach to language teaching

innuendo /ɪnjuˈɛndəʊ/ n. (plural innuendos or innuendoes) [C,U] a remark that suggests something sexual or unpleasant without saying it directly, or remarks like this in general: He made some nasty innuendos about Laurie and the boss. | His writing is full of sexual innuendoes.

innuendo /ɪnjuˈɛndəʊ/ adj. (informal) very many in·oc·u·late /ɪnˈəkjuˌleɪt/ [v. [T] (formal)] to protect someone against a disease by introducing a weak form of it into his/her body → immunize, vaccinate; Children should be inoculated against measles. [Origin: 1400—1500 Latin, past participle of inoculare “to attach a bud to a plant,” from oculus “eye, bud”] → inoculation in·or·di·nate /ɪnˈɔːrdənt/ adj. something that is inoperable is not working and cannot be used operable: The airport is closed and will remain inoperable until Labor Day. 2 an inoperable illness or condition cannot be treated by a medical operation operable: an inoperable brain tumor in·op·era·ble /ɪnˈəpərəbəl/ adj. 1 something that is inoperable is not working and cannot be used operable: The airport is closed and will remain inoperable until Labor Day. 2 an inoperable illness or condition cannot be treated by a medical operation operable: an inoperable brain tumor in·or·gan·ic /ɪnˈɔːrgənɪk/ adj. not organic that is not related to life HYDROCARBON in·or·gan·i·cally /ɪnˈɔːrgənɪkəli/ adv. not appropriate or not good for a particular situation: They arrived at an inopportune moment.

in·or·gan·ic·ity /ɪnˈɔːrgənɪkɪtɪ/ n. the quality of being inorganic.

in·op·por·tu·ne /ɪnˈəpɔːrˈtjuːn/ adj. unlikely to offend anyone: a quiet, inoffensive man in·op·por·tu·nous /ɪnˈəpɔːrˈtjuːnəs/ adj. unlikely to offend anyone: a quiet, inoffensive man in·pa·tient /ɪnˌpætənt/ n. (C) someone who stays and sleeps in a hospital while/she is getting medical treatment → outpatient in·quest /ɪnˈkwɛst/ n. [C] LAW an official process to find out the cause of a sudden or unexpected death, especially if there is a possibility that the death is the result of a crime in·qui·ri·ate /ɪnˌkwɪrɪeɪt/ v. [I,T] (formal) to ask someone for information: I am writing to inquire about your advertisement in the New York Post. She called to inquire whether her application had been received. [Origin: 1200—1300 Old French enquérer, from Latin inquirere, from quaerere “to look for”] → inquirer n. [C] in·quir·er /ɪnˈkwɪrər/ n. [C] an inquiring mind. → inquiringly adv.

in·quir·y /ɪnˈkwɪrɪ/ n. [plural inquiries] 1 a question you ask in order to get information: We’re getting a lot of inquiries about our new train service. 2 the process of finding out why something happened, especially something bad in·quis·ti·tive /ɪnˈkwɪzɪtɪv/ adj. interested in a lot of different things and wanting to find out more about them: a very inquisitive little boy in·qui·si·tion /ɪnˈkwɪzɪʃən/ n. [singular] (formal) a series of questions that someone asks you in a way that seems threatening or not nice in·quis·i·tor /ɪnˈkwɪzɪtər/ n. [C] someone who asks you a lot of difficult questions and makes you feel very uncomfortable → inquisitorially in·roads /ɪnˈrəʊdz/ n. make inroads into/on sth to become more and more successful, powerful, or popular and so take away power, trade, votes, etc. from a competitor or enemy: Their new soft drink is already making huge inroads into the market.

in·san·i·ty /ɪnˈsɑːnɪti/ n. the state of being seriously mentally ill: A jury found him not guilty by reason of insanity.

in·san·ity /ɪnˈsɑːnəti/ n. [U] 1 very stupid actions that may cause you serious harm 2 the state of being seriously mentally ill: A jury found him not guilty by reason of insanity.

insatiable /ɪnˈsætɪəbl/ adj. always wanting more and more of something; an insatiable appetite ask, question, interrogate → ASK inquiring into sth phr. v. to ask questions in order to get more information about something or to find out why something happened: The investigation will inquire into the reasons for the disaster.

in·scri·ble /in'skrəbl/ adj 1 (formal) someone who is inscrutable shows no reaction or emotion on his/her face so it is impossible to know what s/he is thinking or feeling: an inscrutable smile —inscrutably adv

in·scribed /in'scribed/ adj (formal) someone who is inscrutable shows no reaction or emotion on his/her face so it is impossible to know what s/he is thinking or feeling: an inscrutable smile —inscrutably adv

in·sect /in'sekt/ n [C] a small creature such as an ant or a fly, with six legs and a body divided into three parts in·sec·ti·vore /in'sek-tə-vor/ n [C] biology a creature that eats insects —insectivorous /in'sektəvərəs/ adj in·se·cu·re /in'sə-kur/ adj 1 not feeling confident about yourself, your abilities, your relationships, etc. (adj) confident: Jane is insecure about her looks. [Children often behave badly when they feel insecure.]

in·sem·i·na·tion /inˌsɛməˈneɪʃən/ n [U] the act of putting sperm into a female's body in order to make her have a baby: The cows are inseminated in order to make her have a baby. The cows are made pregnant by artificial insemination (=using medical treatment, not sex).

in·sen·si·tive /inˈsɛnsətiv/ adj 1 not noticing other people's feelings, and not realizing that something that you do will upset them: insensitive remarks | She's totally insensitive to my feelings. 2 not affected by physical effects or changes —insensitively adv —insensitivity /inˈsɛnsətɪvɪtɪ/ n [U]

in·sep·a·ra·ble /inˈsepərəbl/ adj 1 people who are inseparable are always together and are very friendly with each other: When they were younger, the boys were inseparable. 2 unable to be separated, or not able to be considered separately: The patient's mental and physical problems are inseparable. —inseparably adv

in·sert /inˈsɛrt/ v [T] 1 to put something inside or into something else: Insert the key in/into the lock. 2 to add something to something that already exists, especially a piece of writing: The program will insert addresses in standard letters. [Origin: Latin, past participle of inserere, from serere “to join”] —insertion /inˈsɛrʃən/ n [C,U]: the insertion of a needle into a vein to withdraw blood

in·sem·i·na·tion /inˌsɛməˈneɪʃən/ n [U] the act of putting sperm into a female's body in order to make her have a baby: The cows are inseminated in order to make her have a baby. The cows are made pregnant by artificial insemination (=using medical treatment, not sex).

in·sem·i·na·tion /inˌsɛməˈneɪʃən/ n [U] the act of putting sperm into a female's body in order to make her have a baby: The cows are inseminated in order to make her have a baby. The cows are made pregnant by artificial insemination (=using medical treatment, not sex).

in·sem·i·na·tion /inˌsɛməˈneɪʃən/ n [U] the act of putting sperm into a female's body in order to make her have a baby: The cows are inseminated in order to make her have a baby. The cows are made pregnant by artificial insemination (=using medical treatment, not sex).

in·sem·i·na·tion /inˌsɛməˈneɪʃən/ n [U] the act of putting sperm into a female's body in order to make her have a baby: The cows are inseminated in order to make her have a baby. The cows are made pregnant by artificial insemination (=using medical treatment, not sex).
inside2 adj. 1 on or facing the inside of something; the inside pages of a magazine 2 inside information/the inside story information that is known only by people who are part of an organization, company, etc.
in-sid-er /′in-sidər/ n. [C] someone who has special knowledge of a particular organization because she is part of it in-sid-i-ous /′in-sid-i-əs/ adj. happening gradually without being noticed, but causing great harm: Breathing polluted air can have insidious effects on your health. [Origin: 1500—1600 Latin insidio-sus, from insidiae “attack from a hiding-place”] —insidiously adv.
in-sight /′insight/ n. [C,U] a useful understanding of something that you did not have before, or the ability to understand something clearly: The article gives us a real insight into Chinese culture. | We gained valuable insight about our relationship.
in-sig-ni-a /′i-nig-nə-ə/ n. (plural insignia or insignias) [C] a badge or other object that shows what official or military rank someone has, or which group or organization she belongs to in-sig-nif-i-cant /′i-nig-nə-fənt/ adj. too small or unimportant to consider or worry about; an insignificant change in the unemployment rate —insignificantly adv. —insignificance n. [U] in-sin-cere /′i-ninsər-e/ adj. pretending to be pleased, sympathetic, etc., but not really meaning what you say: an insincere smile —insincerely adv. —insincerity /′i-ninsər-ə-tē/ n. [U] in-sin-u-ate /′i-nən-yə-ət/ v. [T] to say something that seems to mean something unpleasant, without saying it directly: Are you insinuating that she didn’t deserve the promotion? —insinuation /′i-nən-ə-ə-shən/ n. [C,U] in-sip-id /′i-nəspir-id/ adj. (disapproving) not interesting, exciting, or attractive: the movie’s insipid story —insipidly adv.
in-sist /′i-nist/ v. [I] 1 to say firmly and again and again that something is true, especially when other people think it may not be true: The boys insisted that they were innocent. 2 to demand that something happen: I insisted that he leave. | They’re insisting on your resignation. [Origin: 1500—1600 Latin insistere “to stand on, continue with determination,” from sistere “to stand”] in-sist-ence /′i-nistəns/ n. [U] the act of insisting that something should happen: He came, but only at my insistence.
in-sist-ent /′i-nistənt/ adj. insisting that something should happen: She’s very insistent that we should all be on time. —insistently adv.
in so far as. insinu-ate /′i-son-ə-ət/ v. [T] to cause something unstated to be understood: He insinuated that the company was going bankrupt. —insinuation /′i-son-ə-ə-shən/ n. [C,U] —insinuate v. [I] to say something without saying it directly: She didn’t deserve the promotion? —insolent /′i-nolənt/ adj. rude, impolite, insulting, offensive, disrespectful, imperious, impudent —rued in-sol-u-ble /′i-nəsol-ə-əl/ adj. 1 CHEMISTRY an insoluble substance does not dissolve when you put it into a liquid. 2 also insolvable impossible to explain or solve: a seemingly insoluble problem —in-sol-vent /′i-nəsav-lənt/ adj. (formal) rude and not showing any respect: She gave me a cold, insolent look. —insolence n. [U] —insolently adv.
in-som-ni-a /′i-nəsum-nə-ə/ n. [U] the condition of not being able to sleep —insomniac /′i-nəsum-nə-ək/ n. [C] in-spect /′i-n skept/ v. [T] 1 to examine something carefully: The ship had recently passed a safety inspection. | a close inspection of the soldiers’ living areas in-spec-tor /′i-n skeptər/ n. [C] 1 an official whose job is to inspect something: a health inspector. 2 a police officer of middle rank in-spi-ra-tion /′i-insprər-ən/ n. [C,U] something or someone that encourages you to do or produce something good: Dante was the inspiration for my book on Italy. | Her hard work and imagination should be an inspiration to everyone. —inspirational adj.: an inspirational speech in-spi-re /′i-insprər/ v. [I] 1 to encourage someone to do or produce something good: The church is trying to inspire more young men to become priests. 2 to make someone have a particular feeling: The captain inspires confidence in his men. [Origin: 1300—1400 French inspirer, from inspired

Latin, from spirare “to breathe”) —inspiring adj: a powerful, inspiring story in·spired /inˈsparəd/ adj having very exciting special qualities: an inspired leader in·sta·bil·i·ty /ɪnˈstæbɪləti/ n [U] the state of being uncertain and likely to change suddenly

➔ UNSTABLE: political instability in the region in·stall /ɪnˈstæl/ v [T] 1 to put a piece of equipment somewhere and connect it so that it is ready to be used: Many residents have installed new burglar alarms. 2 if to computer software onto a computer so that the software is ready to be used 3 to put someone in an important job or position, especially with a ceremony: She will be installed as president of the college next week.

➔ installation /ɪnˈstæləʃən/ n [C,U] instal·lation /ɪnˈstæləʃən/ n [C,U] ENG. LANG. ARTS modern art that can include objects, light, sound, etc., not just painting or SCULPTURE, or a particular example of this type of art in·stall·ment /ɪnˈstælmənt/ n [C] 1 one of a series of regular payments that you make until you have paid all the money you owe: You can pay for the computer in twelve monthly installments. 2 one of the parts of a story that appears as a series in a magazine, newspaper, etc.

in·stan·taneous /ɪnˈstænˈtəʊnəs/ adj immediately: The movie was an instant success.

➔ instantaneousness /ɪnˈstænˈtəʊnəsɪs/ n: There are some promising signs. For instance, high-school students’ test scores have risen.

in·stand /ɪnˈstænd/ adj 1 happening or produced immediately: The movie was an instant success. 2 [only before noun] instant food, coffee, etc. is in the form of powder and is made ready to eat or drink by adding liquid to it instanta·neous /ɪnˈstænˈteɪnəs/ adj happening immediately: an instantaneous reaction to the drug —instantaneously adv

in·stam·ple /ɪnˈstæmpl/ adv immediately: He was killed instantly.

➔ THERAUS

instant replay n [C] the immediate repeating of an important moment in a sports game on television by showing the film or VIDEO TAVIDEO again in·stead /ɪnˈstɛd/ adv 1 instead of sb/sth in place of someone or something: Can I have chicken instead of beef? 2 [used before a verb] You should do something instead of just sitting around all day.

➔ THERAUS

in·step /ɪnˈstɛp/ n [C usually singular] the raised part of your foot between your toes and your ANKLE, or the part of a shoe that covers this part of your foot in·sti·gate /ɪnˈstɪɡət/ v [T] to make something start to happen, especially something that will cause trouble: Gang leaders were accused of instigating the riot.

➔ instigator n [C] —instigation /ɪnˈstɪgəʃən/ n [U]

in·still /ɪnˈstɪl/ v [T] to teach someone a way of thinking or behaving over a long time: Bonilla says he tries to instill hope in his students.

in·stinct /ɪnˈstɪŋkt/ n [C,U] a natural tendency or ability to behave or react in a particular way, without having to learn it or think about it: a lion’s instinct to hunt | People have a natural instinct for survival. | [Orig.]: 1400—1500 Latin instinctus, from instinguere “to make someone wish to do something”

➔ THERAUS

in·stinct·ive /ɪnˈstɪŋktɪv/ adj based on instinct: an instinctive reaction —instinctively adv

in·sti·tu·tion /ɪnˈstɪʃən/ n [C] an organization that has a particular purpose, such as scientific or educational work: Walt Disney gave money to help found the California Institute of the Arts. | [Orig.]: 1300—1400 Latin, part participle of instituere, from statuere “to set up” in·sti·tu·tion·al /ɪnˈstɪʃənəl/ adj: organization, institution, association ➔ ORGANIZATION institute n [T] (formal) to introduce or start a system, rule, legal process, etc.: The school has instituted changes in the lunch menu.

➔ THERAUS

➔ THERAUS

in·sti·tu·tion·al /ɪnˈstɪʃənəl/ adj: organization, institution, association ➔ ORGANIZATION

in·sti·tu·tion·al·ized /ɪnˈstɪʃənələɪzd/ v [T] to send someone to live in a mental hospital, a special home for old people, etc.

➔ THERAUS

in·sti·tu·tion·al·ized /ɪnˈstɪʃənələɪzd/ adj: institutionalized violence/racism/corruption violence, etc. that has happened for so long in an organization or society that it has become accepted as normal in·struct /ɪnˈstrækt/ v [T] 1 to officially tell someone what to do: The teacher instructed them to open test sheets and begin. 2 to teach someone or show him/her how to do something:

Diane instructs senior citizens in basic computer skills.

in·struc·tion /ˈɪnstrəkʃən/ n 1 instructions [plural] information or advice that tells you how to do something, how to use a piece of equipment or machine, etc. [FORMAL] directions: Follow the instructions at the top of the paper. Did you read the instructions first? He gave us instructions on about how to fix the toilet. Inside, you’ll find instructions for setting up your computer. He gave instructions to keep the ball on the ground, not to kick it high. 2 [U] teaching in a particular skill or subject: She’s never had any formal instruction (= lessons or classes) in music. — instructional adj.

in·struc·tor /ˈɪnstrəktər/ n 1 someone who teaches a particular subject, sport, skill, etc.: a swimming instructor — TEACHER in·sur·ance /ɪnˈsɜrəns/ n [C] 1 an arrangement with a company in which you pay it money regularly and the company pays the costs if anything bad happens to you or your property, such as an illness or an accident: Do you have insurance on for your car? The club took out insurance for all its members. an insurance policy life/health/auto insurance companies. It’s a good idea to buy travel insurance. 2 protection against something that might happen: We bought an alarm as insurance against burglary.

in·surt /ɪnˈsɜrt/ v [T] to put something into something, such as food, a hole, or a crevice: I’ve been told to lower my intake of fat and alcohol. The team’s management system will insurmountable to be important in making something happen: Helen has been instrumental in organizing the festival. 2 instrumental in (doing) sth to be important in making something happen: He gave us an instructive story.

in·ter·rupt /ɪnˈtɜrprət/ v [T] to stop someone or something from doing something: The club took out insurance for all its members. an insurance policy life/health/auto insurance companies. It’s a good idea to buy travel insurance. 2 protection against something that might happen: We bought an alarm as insurance against burglary.

in·sult /ɪnˈsʌlt/ v [T] to say or do something that offends someone, by showing that you do not respect him/her: She didn’t want to insult her hosts by leaving too early. John would be insulted if we didn’t go. [ORIGIN: 1500—1600 French insulteur, from Latin insultare “to jump on, insult”] — insulting adj.

in·sur·mount·a·ble /ɪnˈsɜrmaʊntəbəl/ adj a rude or offensive remark or action: Both groups screamed and shouted insults at each other. The plan is an insult to teachers. add insult to injury at age.

in·sur·mer·tal /ɪnˈsɜrmərˈtəl/ n [C] 1 an object such as a piano, TRUMPET, VIOLIN, etc., used for producing musical sounds: Can you play any musical instruments? 2 a tool used in work such as science or medicine: medical instruments in·sur·men·tal /ɪnˈsɜrmənˈtərəl/ adj 1 be instrumental in (doing) sth to be important in making something happen: Helen has been instrumental in organizing the festival. 2 instrumental in (doing) sth to be important in making something happen: He gave us an instructive story.

in·ter·rupt·ful /ɪnˈtɜrprətʃʊl/ adj not solid, large, strong, or not enough: The evidence against him was insubstantial. — insubstantially adv. — insubstantiality n.

in·sub·or·di·na·tion /ˈɪnsubərdrənəʃən/ n [U] 1 refusal to obey someone who has a higher rank. 2 someone who disapproves of what others do: Tom is insubordinate to his superior.

in·sub·or·di·na·tive /ˈɪnsubərdrənətɪv/ adj not interested in anything except your own group, country, way of life, etc. — insubordination n.

in·sub·or·dict·ive /ˈɪnsubərdrəktɪv/ adj not broken, damaged, or spoiled: Almost nothing was left intact by the storm. The team’s management system will remain intact.

in·take /ˈɪnteɪk/ n [singular] the amount of food, FUEL, etc. that is taken in by someone or something: I’ve been told to lower my intake of fat and alcohol.

in· transformative /ɪnˈtərtræmərətɪv/ adj an intangible quality or feeling cannot be clearly felt or described, although you know it exists — intangibility n.

in·ter·rupt·ting /ɪntɪˈrʊptɪŋ/ n [C] MATH a number that is positive, negative, or zero, such as 3, −2, or 0. integral

in-te-gral /ˌɪntəˈgræl, ɪnˈteɡrəl/ (A) adj forming a necessary part of something: an integral part of the contract | In this musical, the songs are integral to the story.

in-te-grate /ˈɪntɪɡrət/ (A) v 1 [T] to join in the life and traditions of a group or society, or to help someone do this: It will take time for new members to integrate into the group. 2 [T] to combine two or more things in order to make an effective system: This software integrates moving pictures with sound. 3 [I] to end the practice of separating people of different races in a place or institution (A) desegregate (A) segregate: The Supreme Court decided that public schools should be integrated. [Origin: 1600—1700 Latin, past participle of integrare, from integer “whole, complete”] in-te-grat-ed /ˌɪntəˈɡrætɪd/ (A) adj combining many different groups, ideas, or parts in a way that works well: an integrated world economy | integrated schools in-te-gra-tion /ˌɪntɪɡrəˈʃən/ (A) n [U] 1 the combining of two or more things so that they work together effectively: economic integration 2 the process of getting people of different races to live or work together instead of separately: In 1963, Governor Wallace stood in the door to prevent the integration of the University of Alabama. 3 the process by which people join in with a group or society and become members of it: The book examines the integration of Jewish people into American life.

in-teg-ri-ty /ɪnˈteɡrəti/ (A) n [U] 1 the quality of being honest and having high moral principles: a man of integrity 2 (formal) the state of being united as one complete thing: the building’s structural integrity in-tel-lect /ɪnˈteləkt/ n [C/U] the ability to understand things and think intelligently: an artist of great intellect in-tel-lect-u-al /ɪnˈteləkʃuəl/ adj 1 concerning the ability to think and understand ideas and information: the intellectual development of children 2 an intellectual person is well-educated and interested in complicated ideas and subjects such as science, literature, etc.

in-tel·li·gence /ɪnˈtelɪdʒəns/ (A) n [U] 1 the ability to learn, understand, and think about things: a child of average intelligence 2 information about the secret activities of other governments, or the group of people who gather this: intelligence on troop movements in-tel·li·gent /ɪnˈtelɪdʒənt/ (A) adj having a high level of ability to learn, understand, and think about things (A) smart (A) stupid: a young woman who is highly intelligent | an intelligent question in-teg·ri·ty /ˌɪntəˈɡræti/ (A) n [U] 1 a quality of being honest and having high moral principles: the quality of integrity in-tense /ɪnˈtens/ (A) adj 1 very extreme or having a very strong effect: The department’s researchers have been under intense pressure. We weren’t prepared for the intense heat. 2 making you do a lot of work, think hard, etc.: intense physical exercise 3 serious and having very strong feelings or opinions: an intense young woman in-tel·li·gi·ble /ɪnˈtelɪdʒəbl/ adj able to be understood (A) clear —intelligibly adv

in-tend /ɪnˈtend/ v 1 [T] to have something in your mind as a plan or purpose (A) mean: The work took longer than we intended. 2 to have as a purpose, from Latin intendere “to stretch out, have as a purpose” —intended adj: the movie’s intended audience

in-tens·i·fy /ɪnˈtensəfaɪ/ (A) v (intensifies, intensifies) [I,T] to increase in strength, size, or amount, etc., or to make something do this: Spices will intensify the flavor. | Global competition has continued to intensify. —intensification in-tel·li·gence /ɪnˈtelɪdʒəns/ (A) n [U] 1 the quality of being very strong or of having a strong effect: I was surprised by the intensity of his feelings. 2 involving a lot of activity, effort, or attention in order to achieve

THE SAURUS

smart — intelligent: a really smart guy bright — intelligent, used especially about children and young people: a bright kid brilliant — extremely intelligent and good at the work you do: a brilliant scientist wise — having a lot of experience and knowledge about people and the world: a wise old man clever — intelligent, especially in a way that is unusual: She’s clever and creative.
cunning/crafty — good at using your intelligence to trick people: a cunning criminal intellectual — having a lot of education and interested in learning about art, science, literature, etc.

gifted — a gifted child is much more intelligent than most other children appendix (formal) — an appendix pupil or student is able to learn or understand things quickly

in-tel·li·gi·ble /ɪnˈtelɪdʒəbl/ adj able to be understood (A) clear —intelligibly adv
in-tend /ɪnˈtend/ v 1 [T] to have something in your mind as a plan or purpose (A) mean: The work took longer than we intended. 2 to have as a purpose, from Latin intendere “to stretch out, have as a purpose” —intended adj: the movie’s intended audience

in-tens·i·fy /ɪnˈtensəfaɪ/ (A) v (intensifies, intensifies) [I,T] to increase in strength, size, or amount, etc., or to make something do this: Spices will intensify the flavor. | Global competition has continued to intensify. —intensification

in-tel·li·gence /ɪnˈtelɪdʒəns/ (A) n [U] 1 the quality of being very strong or of having a strong effect: I was surprised by the intensity of his feelings. 2 involving a lot of activity, effort, or attention in order to achieve something: an intensive English course —intensively adv.
in·tensive 'care n. [U] a department in a hospital that treats people who are very seriously sick or injured: She’s been in intensive care for two days.
in·tent1 /'intēnt/ n. [C] 1 (formal) what you intend to do: Our intent is to become the market leader. 2 for all intents and purposes almost completely, or very nearly: For all intents and purposes, their marriage was over.
intent2 adj. be intent on (doing) sth to be determined to do something: Nick is intent on going to an Ivy League college.
in·ten·tion /'intənʃən/ n. [C,U] something that you plan to do: I have no intention of retiring anytime soon.
in·ten·sion·al /'intənʃənəl/ adj. done deliberately: If he did break the rules, I’m sure it was not intentional. —intentionally adv.
in·ter /'intrə/ v. (intered, intering) [T] (formal) to bury a dead body in·ter·act /'intrəクト/ [Ac] v. [I] 1 to talk to other people and work together with them: The website allows visitors to interact with other users. 2 Dinner is a good time for parents and children to interact. 2 if two or more things interact, they have an effect on each other: Alcohol interacts with nerve receptors in the brain.
in·ter·ac·tion /'intrəˈækʃən/ n. [C,U] 1 the activity of talking with other people and working together with them: social interaction between teenagers 2 a process in which two or more things have an effect on each other, or an occasion when this happens: This medicine has fewer drug interactions than the other main drug used for the condition.
in·ter·ac·tive /'intrəˈækтив/ adj. 1 if a computer program, game, etc. is interactive, it does things as a reaction to the actions of the person using it: an interactive software program for children 2 involving people talking and working together: interactive teaching methods in·ter·cept1 /'intrəˈsep/t v. [T] to stop someone, or catch something that is going from one place to another before he, she, or it gets there: O’Neill intercepted the ball. —interception /'intrəˌsepʃən/ n. [C,U] in·ter·cep·tion /'intrəˌsepʃən/ n. [C] MATH the point at which a line crosses an axis on a graph in·ter·change /'intrəˌkərn/ n. 1 [C] a place where two highways, freeways, or railroad tracks meet: a friendly interchange of ideas in·ter·change·a·ble /'intrəˌkərnəˈbəl/ adj. things that are interchangeable can be used instead of each other: a toy with interchangeable parts —inchangeably adv.
in·ter·com /'intrəˌkəm/ n. [C] a communication system by which people in different parts of a building, aircraft, etc. can speak to one another: Suddenly, the captain’s voice came over the intercom.
in·ter·con·ti·nu·tal /'ˌintərˌkənˈtənəl/ adj. happening between or going from one continent to another: an intercontinental flight in·ter·course /'intrəˌkərs/ n. [U] (formal) the act of having sex in·ter·de·pend·ent /ˌintərˈdi pendənt/ adj. depending on or necessary to each other: Plants and animals form an interdependent network of life. —interdependence n. [U] in·ter·est /'intrəst/ n. 1 [singular, U] a feeling that makes you want to pay attention to something and find out more about it: Both girls share an interest in politics. 2 [plural, U] to make people interested: His first film attracted interest from the big Hollywood studios. 3 [U] a quality of something that attracts your attention and makes you want to know more about it: a tourist guide to local places of interest. 4 [U] a quality of something that attracts your attention and makes you want to know more about it: a tourist guide to local places of interest. 5 be in sb’s interest to be an advantage to someone: It would be in your interest to study the handbook carefully.
in·ter·est2 v. [T] to make someone want to pay attention to something and find out more about it: I have some books that might interest you.
in·ter·est·ed /'intrəˈsted/ adj. 1 giving a lot of attention to something because you want to find out more about it: Tim’s really interested in antique cars. 2 eager to do or have something: Jill is interested in studying in Europe.
in·ter·est·group n. [C] a group of people who join together to try to influence the government in order to protect their own particular rights, advantages, etc.
interesting

in·ter·est·ing /ˈɪntrəstɪŋ, ˈɪntərˌɛstɪŋ/ adj. unusual or exciting in a way that keeps your attention: That’s an interesting idea. | Amy’s a very interesting person. | It’s interesting that so many people choose to live in remote locations. —interestingly adv.

---

THE SAURUS

fascinating – very interesting: He’s had a fascinating life.

intriguing – something that is intriguing is interesting because it is unusual or mysterious, and you want to find out more: That raises some intriguing questions.

cut interest rates – the percentage amount that is charged by a bank, etc. on money that you borrow, or that is paid to you by a bank when you keep money in your account there: high/low interest rates | The Federal Reserve decided to cut interest rates (=make them lower).

in·ter·face /ˈɪntrəfɪs/ n. [C] 1 the way a computer program looks on a screen, or the way you type or put information into the program | 2 the way two subjects, events, etc. affect each other: the interface between Islam and the West.

gripping/riveting – an absorbing read.

compelling story – an absorbing read.

inter·ject /ˈɪntrədʒekt/ v. [T] (formal) to interrupt what someone is saying with a sudden remark: Don’t let sports interfere with your schoolwork.

interlock – to join two things by fitting or moving them together: the Olympic symbol of interlocking circles.

inter·lock·ing – interlocking circles.

inter·lude /ˈɪntrəlud/ n. [U] 1 a period of time during which you are charged interest on a loan | 2 the act of interfering: I resent his interference in my personal life.

inter·min·able – something that is never ending: an interminable speech.

inter·mit·tent – happening at some times, but not regularly or continuously: clouds and intermittent rain.
in-tern /ˈɪntərn/ n. [C] 1 someone, especially a student, who works for a short time in a particular job in order to gain experience ➔ INTERNSHIP 2 someone who has almost finished training as a doctor and is working in a hospital ➔ RESIDENT in-tern /ˈɪntərn/ v. 1 [I] to work as an intern: Pena interned at the newspaper’s Austin bureau for a year. 2 [T] (formal) to put someone in prison, especially for political reasons ➔ INTERNMENT in-ter-na·tal /ˈɪntər-nəl/ adj. 1 inside something such as your body ➔ external: internal bleeding | internal injuries 2 within a particular company, organization, country, etc.: the company’s confidential internal documents | A major internal investigation is underway. 3 inside something rather than outside ➔ external: an internal modem [ORIGIN: 1400—1500 Medieval Latin internalis, from Latin internus “inside, inside”) —internally adv.: This medicine should not be taken internally.

in-tro·nal energy n [L] PHYSICS the total amount of energy in or relating to all the atoms and molecules in an object or substance in-ter-na·lize /ˈɪntər-nələz/ v. [T] 1 if you internalize a belief, attitude, etc., it becomes part of your character: She had internalized the work ethic of her parents. 2 if you internalize emotions, you do not express them, but think about them ➔ EXTERNA LIZE: Just allowing someone to talk can release internalized fears.

in·ter·nal Revenue Service n the Internal Revenue Service the IRS

in-ter-na·tion·al /ˌɪntər-nəˈʃənəl/ adj. relating to more than one country: an international agreement | international trade | an international airport ➔ internationally adv.

in-ter·net /ˈɪntərˌnet/ n. the Internet | a system of connected computers that allows computer users around the world to exchange information ➔ the Net, the Web: I found information about the college on the Internet.

To use the Internet, you first have to connect to it, using a modem. Some people use a broadband connection so that they can get Internet information faster. On the Internet, you can look for information using a search engine, or you can type in the address of a website. If you spend a lot of time looking at different websites, you can say that you are surfing the net. Many people also visit chat rooms (= sites where you can have a conversation with other people) and newsgroups (= sites where people with a shared interest exchange messages), and some people write blogs (= websites that you keep adding new information to). People use email to contact friends and family, or for work. More and more people and companies are using the Internet to send and receive work, and some people work online ➔ EMAIL, COMPUTER in-ter·nis·t /ˈɪntərnɪst/ n. [C] a doctor who treats medical conditions of the organs inside your body by using medicines, rather than by using SURGERY ➔ SURGEON in-tern·ment /ˈɪntərˌmɛnt/ n. [C]U the act of keeping someone in prison, especially for political reasons

