EDITOR’S NOTE

It has been a pleasurable experience indeed for me to collaborate with the great Maestro Andrés Segovia in editing his original compositions for guitar.

Segovia displays no pretense as to being a composer. In fact, he discourages those who attempt to acclaim him as one. “These pieces,” he facetiously claims, “were composed at the same time I learned to play the guitar — — — before I was born!”

Performers, teachers and students will find these pieces delightful in their repertoire. Yet, they are useful studies in phrasing and fingering which definitely develop technique.
