Practice

1a Underline all the uncountable nouns in the following text.

We welcome you as a guest at the Sherwood Holiday Village and hope that you enjoy your holiday with us.

The sports complex is open from 7 a.m. and facilities are available for tennis, squash, bowling, table tennis and snooker.

You can hire equipment at the complex for a nominal fee. If you require tuition, there is coaching available but you must book in advance. For those of you who enjoy competition, there will be tournaments taking place throughout the week. Please sign your name up on the notice board if you are interested. And if you need something to quench your thirst after an energetic game, you can purchase fruit juice, mineral water and herbal drinks as well as a variety of healthy snacks from the health-food bar. May we take this opportunity to inform you that appropriate footwear must be worn for all activities and heavy shoes are not allowed in the sports complex.

Next to the sports complex, you will find our brand-new swimming pool, complete with water slides and a wave machine. The lighting in the pool area gives the effect of sunlight even on the dullest days. And if you want to look your best in the pool, our sports shop stocks a wide range of designer swimwear.

After lots of exercise, you'll probably be ready for a good meal. Why not go to the Sherwood Restaurant? If you'd like to try the buffet, you can eat as much food as you like for just £8. If you'd prefer to eat in, you can purchase your food from the minimarket. Fresh fruit and vegetables are delivered to the minimarket daily and the bread is freshly baked by our own bakers.

If you require any advice or information, please come to the Reception Desk and we will be glad to assist.

Nouns which may be uncountable or countable

Many nouns which are generally uncountable can also be countable in certain contexts.

- Some nouns are uncountable when we talk about the substance, material or abstract concept but countable when we talk about one specific item: chicken/a chicken, light/a light, stone/a stone, hope/a hope, education/an education, hair/a hair

  I'm very interested in education.
  It is important that she receives a good education.
  There isn't much light in this room.
  Is there a light in this room?

- Some nouns which are uncountable when we talk about the material and countable when we refer to a specific thing have a particular meaning as countable nouns. For example, glass refers to a material. A glass refers to an item that we drink from which is made of glass. It does not refer to a piece of glass:
  wood/a wood, paper/a paper, iron/an iron, cloth/a cloth

- Some nouns which are usually uncountable can be countable when we refer to a particular variety:
  wine/an excellent wine, cheese/a strong cheese, fruit/a very sweet fruit

- In informal English, drinks and some types of food which are normally uncountable can be counted, particularly when we are making an order in a cafe or restaurant:
  tea/three teas, coffee/a coffee, soup/two soups

- Some ing forms can be countable:
  painting/a good painting, drawing/a few drawings

2 The article

The indefinite article a or an

- a or an? We use a before consonant sounds and an before vowel sounds.
  But note:
  a uniform /juːmɪn/  a European /juːrəˈpiːən/  an MP /em/  an L-plate /el/

USE

We can use the indefinite article before singular countable nouns: we cannot use it before uncountable nouns:
I bought a chair but NOT I bought a furniture.

We use the indefinite article:
- when we are referring to one thing but it is not one in particular:
  I’d like a banana.

- when we refer to something for the first time. With the second reference, we use the:
  There’s a man at the door. I think it’s the man from the garage.
• after to be and have got when we are describing someone or something, including someone’s job:
  She’s a headteacher.
  (BUT She’s the headteacher of Park School.)
  He’s got a lovely smile.
  It’s a nice day.
  (BUT It’s the nicest day we’ve had all week.)

• with a unit of measurement (weight, quantity, time):
  £2 a kilo, three times a day, once a week

• In exclamations:
  What a lovely day!

The definite article: the

USE

We can use the definite article before singular and plural countable nouns and before uncountable nouns.

We use it when we are referring to a specific thing or things. This includes:

• when the content of the sentence specifies which particular one(s) we are talking about:
  The people next door have invited us round for a drink.
  I’ll wear the dress I bought last week.

• when something is referred to for a second time and therefore becomes specific:
  They’ve got a boy and a girl. The girl’s at university now.

• when we refer to a particular place, person, animal or thing and the speaker and listener know which one(s) is/are being referred to:
  The window cleaner’s here.
  (our regular window cleaner)
  I think your keys are in the kitchen.
  (our kitchen or the kitchen here)

• when there is only one:
  the world  the sun  the weather  the American Civil War

• before some collective nouns referring to a whole group of people, including names of nationalities and political parties or groups:
  the British  the Italians  the Conservatives  the police  the government the public  the army  the management  the electorate  the fire brigade

• before some adjectives (used without a noun) to refer to the group in general:
  the rich  the poor  the unemployed  the disabled

• before parts of the day:
  in the morning/the afternoon/the evening

• before names of ships, newspapers and magazines and some names of musical groups:
  The National Union of Teachers  The QE2  The Daily Mirror  The Economist
  The Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra
• before superlatives and ordinals:
   It's the best film I've seen.
   That's the third time she's phoned.

• before names of musical instruments when we talk about playing them:
  Can you play the piano?
  (BUT I've just bought a piano.)

• before names of seas, rivers, groups of islands, islands called ‘The Isle of ...’, chains of mountains, deserts, regions and a few names of countries:
  the Atlantic Ocean the River Nile the Himalayas the Sahara the Southern Hemisphere the Arctic the north, south, etc. the USA the Netherlands the Sudan the United Arab Emirates the Ivory Coast the Philippines the Bahamas the Isle of Wight

The zero article (no article)

USE

We do not use an article before plural nouns and singular uncountable nouns when we use them in a general sense.

Books are very important to me.
Have you read the books I brought you last month?
Water is the best thing to drink when you're thirsty.
Did you put the water in the fridge?

Other uses of the zero article:
• with proper nouns:
  Helen's gone to Paris.
  I'm going away on Friday.

• with meals:
  Have you had breakfast yet?
  (BUT That was a lovely breakfast.)

• with school, class, college, university, home, work, church, bed, hospital, prison, town when we talk about going to these places or being in them for their normal use:
  Danny's gone to bed.
  She's been in hospital for three weeks.
  (BUT There isn't a hospital in the town.)

• with by + item of transport:
  Did you go by train?

• with next/last + week, days of the week, etc:
  next Wednesday, last night, next time

2c Rewrite the reference below in your notebook, adding the definite article the and the indefinite article a or an where appropriate.

Packard Brown Ltd, Digby Industrial Estate, Silton, Bristol BS12 2PE

Reference: Timothy Harding

Timothy Harding has worked for this company for ten years. Throughout this time he has shown himself to be hard-working and enthusiastic employee. He first joined company as junior sales representative but was soon promoted and is now at head of successful team of sales representatives. He manages team with skill and energy and significant increase in sales achieved by team is measure of his success. He has considerable initiative and this has been particularly evident in area of training, where he has had notable success.

Training programme he devised for his team has now been adopted throughout company with very positive results.

On personal level, I have found Timothy to be very honest and considerate person and he is well-liked in company. I have no hesitation in recommending him for job for which he has applied, though I would of course be sorry to lose him.

3 Adjectives

Attributive and predicative adjectives

- When an adjective comes before a noun, it is attributive:

  She’s an intelligent young woman.
  *I love strong cheese.

- When an adjective is separated from the noun and comes after the verb, it is predicative. An adjective can follow verbs like be, become, get, seem, appear, feel, smell, look, sound, taste, make (+ person), keep, stay, grow, turn. It is a complement of the verb and not an object:
  *The exam was really difficult.
  *She seems worried.
  *Hilary made me very angry.

- A few adjectives can have a different meaning as attributive adjectives from their meaning as predicative adjectives:
  *Jenny’s a really old friend.
  (I’ve known her for a long time.)
  *Margaret’s quite old now.
  (old in age)

  *You’re a very heavy sleeper.
  (You sleep very heavily; you do not wake up easily.)
  *This suitcase is really heavy.

  *His late father used to run the shop.
  (His father is dead now.)
  *He’s nearly always late.

- A few adjectives can be used only as attributive adjectives or only as predicative adjectives:

  Only predicative
  - Some adjectives relating to health, including ill, poorly, well/unwell, fine:
    *She’s very ill.
  - Adjectives beginning with a, including asleep, awake, afraid, alive, alone:
    *Do you feel afraid?
  - Some adjectives describing feelings, including content, glad, pleased, sorry, upset:
    *He seems upset.
  - *near, far (away): It’s not far away

  Only attributive
  - Adjectives which qualify the noun, including chief, main, only, particular, principal, sole:
    You’re my only friend.
Order of adjectives

When there is more than one adjective preceding a noun, they are generally placed in the following order:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>What is it like?</th>
<th>How big?</th>
<th>How old?</th>
<th>What shape?</th>
<th>What colour?</th>
<th>Where was it made?</th>
<th>What is it made from?/What type is it?</th>
<th>Noun</th>
</tr>

<tr>

</tbody>

Notes

- great big generally goes before any other adjectives: a great big lovely old building.
- When you use more than one adjective from the What is it like? category, it does not usually matter what order they go in:

  She's a depressed, anxious young woman.

  She's an anxious, depressed young woman.

  If one of the adjectives is more general, it is likely to come first:

  It was a beautiful, thought-provoking film.

- We generally only use commas between attributive adjectives when there are two or more adjectives of equal importance describing what something is like. The comma separates the adjectives of equal emphasis. There is often another adjective describing age or type before the noun:

  He's an ignorant, selfish old man.

- We can also use and to separate two attributive adjectives describing what something is like:

  It's a violent and shocking book.

- If we use two adjectives predicatively, we separate the adjectives with and. If there are more than two adjectives, we separate the last two adjectives with and and the preceding adjectives with a comma:

  He is always bright and cheerful.

  The new teacher is committed, enthusiastic and hard-working.
Practice

3a Rewrite the sentences, putting the words into the correct order. If you think there should be a comma, add it in the correct place.

11 thoughtful a be man young seems very he to 12 impractical is time-wasting expensive the and project.

13 beginning hair grey turn to is my.
14 young actress a Diana successful well-respected and is.

Construction of adjectives

Participles as adjectives
- Many present participles and past participles can be used as adjectives:
  an exciting trip  a falling tree a crying child      a completed manuscript a torn shirt        frozen vegetables
- Many compound adjectives are formed with participles. Well + past participle is particularly common:
  a well-built house  well-cooked meat a time-wasting activity  handmade tools a fast-selling product  home-grown vegetables

Practice

3b Complete the sentences with participles as adjectives, using the verbs in the box. The verbs with adverbs should be used to form compound adjectives.

Non-gradable adjectives

A non-gradable adjective is one that cannot be qualified by words like very, too and enough.

Non-gradable adjectives include words like: weekly, unconscious, dead, legal, medical, empty, full.

where the meaning is strictly defined and cannot be qualified. There are, for example, no degrees of being dead or unconscious. Thus we cannot say ‘very dead’.

Other non-gradable adjectives are adjectives with a very strong meaning like: wonderful, perfect, terrible, astonished, delicious, amazing, hilarious.

Astonished, for example, already means very/extremely/completely surprised, and so we cannot say ‘very astonished’. But we can add some strength to these words by preceding them with absolutely or really:

absolutely wonderful

really amazing
Practice

3e Copy the table into your notebook and write the adjectives in the correct columns. Put them into pairs of adjectives with similar meanings.

| surprising | starving | nice | filthy | devastated | wonderful |
| hungry | delicious | big | tasty | furious | ugly |
| small | hideous | terrified | good | enormous | tired | thirsty |
| amazing | angry | vital | parched | dirty | upset | important |
| terrible | frightened | minute | exhausted | dirty | perfect | difficult |

Gradable | Non-gradable
surprising | amazing

4 Comparison of adjectives

| Comparative | Superlative |
| One syllable adjectives: young, big, short | younger, bigger, shorter | youngest, biggest, shortest |
| Two-syllable adjectives ending in -y: lovely, pretty, funny | lovelier, prettier, funnier | loveliest, prettiest, funniest |
| Other two-syllable adjectives: pleasant, annoyed, modern, careful careless | more pleasant | most pleasant |
| | more annoyed | most annoyed |
| | more modern | most modern |
| | more careful | most careful |
| | more careless | most careless |
| Adjectives of three or more syllables: expensive, attractive, exciting, intelligent | more expensive | most expensive |
| | more attractive | most attractive |
| | more exciting | most exciting |
| | more intelligent | most intelligent |
| Adjectives with irregular comparatives and superlatives: good, bad, far | better, worse, further/farther | best, worst, furthest/farthest |
Notes

- Less and least can be used in comparative and superlative sentences:

  Travelling by train is less tiring than driving.

  This must be the least attractive part of the coast.

  Least is sometimes used in the expression ‘not in the least’ meaning ‘not at all’:

  It doesn’t matter in the least if you can’t come. I’ll see you next week.

- Spelling:

</tbody>
</table>

  single  single  double vowel   consonant  consonant

  | nice  |  →  | nicer  |  →  | nicest  |
  | large |  →  | larger |  →  | largest |
  | rude  |  →  | ruder  |  →  | rudest  |

  ‘e’ ending

- An adjective with a negative prefix forms its comparative and superlative in the same way as the adjective without the negative prefix:

  kind  →  kinder  →  kindest unkind  →  unkind  →  unkind  →  unkind happy  →  happier  →  happiest unhappy  →  unhappier  →  unhappiest honest  →  more honest  →  most honest dishonest  →  more dishonest  →  most dishonest

  However, it is more common to say not as kind as ..., not as honest as ..., than it is to say unkind, more dishonest.

- When than is followed by a personal pronoun, it can be a subject pronoun + auxiliary or a subject pronoun + whole clause. In informal English, it is acceptable to use an object pronoun after than:

  She works harder than I do.
  She works harder than me. (informal)
  She works harder than I used to (work) at her age.

- It is not always necessary to follow a comparative with than. A comparative can stand on its own:

  A: Shall we go by train or by bus?
  B: The train’s more expensive.
  A: Yes, but it’s more comfortable.

  It is clear from the context that the train is being compared with the bus.

- We use as + adjective + as to indicate that two things are very similar. And we often use it in the negative: not as ... as: I’m not as strong as you are.

- Two comparatives joined by and give the idea of a continuing increase:

  It’s growing bigger and bigger every day.
  It’s getting more and more difficult to find a quiet beach.

- We can qualify comparatives using a bit, a little, a little bit, quite a bit, a lot, much, far, even, hardly, any, no:

  She’s much happier than she used to be.
  He’s even more upset today than he was yesterday.
  Why don’t we go on the coach? It’s quite a bit cheaper than the train.

The company's annual report shows that sales figures were \[1\]..... (low) than the previous year. This is no surprise due to the recession but what is \[2\]..... (disappointing) than this is the clear evidence that some of our very \[3\]..... (old) clients have switched to another supplier. We are aware that there are \[4\]..... (cheap) suppliers than ourselves but this may not be the \[5\]..... (important) factor. One old client was heard to say that their new supplier was \[6\]..... (efficient) and \[7\]..... (flexible) than we are. If this is the case, then this is \[8\]..... (worrying) than anything else. The economic situation is getting \[9\]..... and \[10\]..... (critical) and if we do not compare favourably with our \[11\]..... (big competitors), then we will not survive. We used to have the \[12\]..... (high) reputation in the business but we are in danger of losing that forever. It is not easy to be the \[13\]..... (good) but that is what we should be aiming for.

PAM: So how are you enjoying living in the new place?

DEBBIE: Oh, it's very nice. The house is much \[14\]..... (spacious) than the flat we had in London and one of the \[15\]..... (good) things is being able to walk out of the back door into our own garden.

PAM: Mm, that must be lovely. So all in all, it's much \[16\]..... (good) than London, is it?
DEBBIE: Well, I’m not sure I would say that. It’s certainly

DEBBIE: Well, sometimes it is. Anyway, at least I’m coming up to London

PAM: Yes, probably. I personally think you’re really lucky to be where you are. When I came to visit you, I thought it was one of the 5 Adverbs and adverbial phrases

Types of adverbs and adverbial phrases

- Adverbs of manner:
  carefully, badly, quickly, in a friendly way:
  You must pick the glass up very carefully.

- Adverbs of place (location and direction):
  in Cairo, to Egypt, abroad, downstairs, underneath, over here, at my brother’s:
  They’re staying abroad.

- Adverbs of time:
  on Saturday, for a long time, now, eventually:
  I’ll see you on Saturday.

- Adverbs of frequency:
  always, often, sometimes, twice a week, monthly, again:
  I often meet him in the park.

- Adverbs of degree:
  almost, a bit, quite, hardly, very much, only, even:
  I quite like that dress.

- Sentence adverbs (modifying the whole sentence or clause and often expressing degrees of certainty and/or the speaker’s opinion):
  obviously, definitely, presumably, probably, luckily, naturally:
  The new system is definitely an improvement on the old one.
  Hopefully, I’ll be there before 10 o’clock.

Notes

- Adverbs often add to the meaning of a verb. They tell us how, when, where, etc. something was done. However, they do not always modify a verb. They can modify adjectives, nouns, other adverbs, phrases and sentences.

- When, where, why, etc. are interrogative adverbs.

- Very, really, etc. are adverbs which strengthen adjectives and other adverbs. They are sometimes called intensifiers.

- The second word in a phrasal verb is often an adverb, e.g. lie down.

- Adverbs such as even, only, just and simply precede the word they qualify and focus attention on it. They are sometimes called focus adverbs.
Position of adverbs

- Adverbs of manner, place and time usually go after an intransitive verb or after a transitive verb + object.

  V ADVERB
  Adverbs of manner: The children sat quietly.

  V  O  ADVERB
  They did the work quickly.

  V  ADVERB
  Adverbs of place: They stayed in a hotel.

  V  O  ADVERB
  I bought these shoes in the market.

  V  ADVERB
  Adverbs of time: They arrived this morning.

  V  O  ADVERB
  I saw Steve last night.

- Adverbs of manner, place and time can sometimes be placed at the beginning of a sentence for emphasis:
  Slowly, the door started to open.
  In Crete, we stayed in a beautiful beach villa.
  Last weekend, I stayed in and did lots of work.

- It is also possible to place adverbs of manner and adverbs of indefinite time between the subject and the verb:
  Ben stupidly went out without locking the door.
  I recently changed my job.
  (NOT I last month changed my job.)

- If there is more than one kind of adverb in a sentence, the order is usually: manner, place, time:
  Manner  Place  Time
  She waited anxiously at the airport for five hours.
• Adverbs of definite frequency, e.g. once, twice, three times a week, daily, every afternoon, on Saturdays, again, are usually placed at the end of a sentence:
  I go swimming twice a week.
  I get up at seven o’clock every morning.
But they can also go at the beginning of a sentence:
  On Saturdays, I do my shopping.

• Adverbs of indefinite frequency, e.g. always, usually, sometimes, often, never, usually go after an auxiliary or the verb to be and before a full verb:
  I am usually in bed before midnight.
  I have always wanted to go there.
  We sometimes meet for lunch.

• The adverbs frequently, generally, normally, occasionally, ordinarily, sometimes, usually, quite/very often, always/never (in the imperative), can also go at the beginning of a sentence for special emphasis:
  Sometimes he agrees to help me with my homework.
  Never do that again!

• Adverbs of degree, e.g. quite, hardly, too, usually go before the words they modify:
  quite nice  quite slowly
  I quite enjoyed it.

• Sentence adverbs, e.g. clearly, generally, evidently, honestly, can go at the beginning of a sentence:
  Clearly, the situation is very serious.
Or they can go before the verb (or after the verb to be or an auxiliary):
  I honestly believe that this is the best thing we can do.
  Mr Jameson is evidently very happy with the results.

Practice

5a Write the sentences with the adverbs/adverbial phrases in brackets in the correct position. If the adverbs can go in more than one position, put them in the more usual one.

1  I’ve been working (in my office/all morning/hard).

   I’ve been working hard in my office all morning.

2  He speaks to me (in the mornings/never/nicely).

3  We were listening (all evening/carefully).

4  She’s been sleeping (in that chair/all afternoon/soundly).

5  He is (at this time of day/usually/at the college).
6 The postman comes (in the morning/very early).

7 I thought you spoke (in that meeting/very well/yesterday).

8 We go swimming (on Saturdays/generally/at the local pool).

9 I bought these jeans (in the sales/very cheaply/last week).

10 He’s been (to a dentist/never/in his life).

\item \text{Ms Pamela Roberts please go to the desk in the departure lounge}
\item \text{A message has arrived for her.}
\item \text{Pamela walked towards the desk.}
\end{enumerate}
6 Comparison of adverbs

Only gradable adverbs, that is adverbs that can be modified, can have comparative and superlative forms. We cannot modify adverbs such as sometimes, never, there, now, almost.

Adverbs ending in -ly and a few other adverbs can be put into comparative and superlative forms:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Adverb ending in -ly</th>
<th>Comparative</th>
<th>Superlative</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>carefully quickly</td>
<td>more carefully</td>
<td>most carefully</td>
</tr>
<tr>

<td>better</td>
<td>best</td>
</tr>
<tr>

<td>least</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>much</td>
<td>more</td>
<td>most</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

She drives more carefully than he does.
I think Sarah works the hardest of us all.
He helps me less than he used to.

Notes

- We can also make adverbial comparisons using:
  - (not) as + adverb + as:
    - You walk as fast as your brother does.
    - I can’t speak English as well as you can.
  - the + comparative adverb, the + comparative adverb or adjective:
    - The harder I try, the worse I seem to do.
    - The more carefully you do it, the better it will be.
  - comparative adverb + and + comparative adverb:
    - As the exams got nearer, he worked harder and harder.
    - It’s happening more and more regularly.

- superlative adverbs are not used very often.
  - We often use comparative + than ever, anyone, anything:
    - *You can do the job better than anyone can.

Practice

6a Put the adjectives into the comparative adjective or comparative adverb form.

1. I sleep much more heavily. (heavy) than I used to.
2. She’s become much happier. (happy) since she stopped seeing Dominic.
3. He has to work a lot ................................................. (hard) in this new job than he used to in his old one.
4 I always feel ........................................ (healthy) when I’m on holiday than when I’m at work.

5 It all happened ........................................ (sudden) than I was expecting.

6 I think the meal’s going to be a lot ........................................ (expensive) than we anticipated.

7 That child ate ........................................ (hungry) than any child I’ve ever seen.

8 This curry tastes ........................................ (hot) than you usually make it.

9 I occasionally go to the gym but I should go ........................................ (frequent) than I do.

10 He was injured ........................................ (serious) than any of the others.

11 He made me ........................................ (furious) than I’ve ever been in my life.

12 He treats her ........................................ (considerate) now than he used to.

13 You need to react ........................................ (assertive) when they treat you like that.

14 The weather’s turned ........................................ (cold) recently.

15 Your hair looks much ........................................ (nice) like that.

16 You’ve upset her now. I think you could have told her ........................................ (tactful).

17 I think you were charged too much. Bill would have done the job ........................................ (cheap) for you.
18 I hope this exam is ........................................ (easy) than the one I did yesterday.
19 She took the news ........................................ (calm) than I thought she would.

6b Put the adjectives and adverbs in brackets into the comparative.
Use: a comparative with -er, a comparative with more/less, a comparative with more and more or a comparative with as ... as. Write the answers in the spaces provided below the text.

Feel Young and Bright with Suppavite

Are you not ¹... (young) you used to be? Do you feel ²... and ³... (tired) in the mornings? When you get in from work, do you get ready to go out ⁴... (quickly) possible so that you can go and meet your friends? No? You probably go out ⁵... (often) now than you used to. You just don’t seem to have the energy for it anymore. You used to do everything so much ⁶... (enthusiastically), but now all you want to do is stay at home.

What you need is Suppavite, an amazing new vitamin supplement that will restore some of that youthful energy. After a couple of weeks of taking Suppavite, you’re likely to find that you’re getting up ⁷... (early), getting things done ⁸... fast and approaching life ⁹... (energetically) and ¹⁰... (optimistically) than you have done for years. Your friends will wonder how you’re coping so much ¹¹... (well) with the rigours of daily life than they are.

Why don’t you try it and see? You certainly won’t regret it.

Verbs

7 Simple and continuous aspects

Verbs forms can use either the simple aspect or the continuous aspect.

The infinitive can also be used in the simple or continuous aspect:
That child is too young to play with matches.
(infinitive with to)
That child is too young to be playing with matches.
(continuous infinitive with to)
You shouldn’t work so hard.
(modal + infinitive)
You shouldn’t be working so hard.
(modal + continuous infinitive)

The simple aspect

When we use the simple aspect, we view the action or series of actions as a whole.

The simple aspect indicates one or both of the following:

- that an action or series of actions is complete.
- that the situation is permanent or is regarded as permanent.

We can use both dynamic and stative verbs in the simple aspect.

Dynamic verbs are verbs which describe actions, e.g. go, ask, walk, explain, work.

Stative verbs are verbs which do not describe actions: they describe feelings, thoughts, wishes, the senses and states of being, e.g. believe, belong, know, smell, understand, want.

The continuous (or progressive) aspect

When we use the continuous aspect, we view the action or series of actions in progress. The continuous aspect does not describe the whole event.

The continuous aspect indicates one or more of the following:

- that the action or series of actions are in progress. We view the action at some point between its beginning and its end.
- that the action is not complete.
- that the situation is temporary.

When we use the continuous aspect, we describe an activity in progress. We therefore use the continuous aspect with dynamic verbs but not with stative verbs.
Practice

7a Put the verbs in brackets into the tense indicated. Choose between the simple aspect and the continuous aspect.

Jenny and Francesca, two friends, are talking.

J: So what is it that worrying. (worry – present) you?
F: Well, I just .......................................................... (not see – present) a way out of my problems with my boss.
J: Why? What ....................... (go on – present perfect)?
F: Well, we .......................................................... (go out – past) for dinner about a month ago and I .......................................................... (think – present) he ................. (assume – past) that I .......................................................... (be interested – past) in going out with him regularly, but I’m not.
J: .......................................................... (you/tell – past) him that?
F: Yes, of course I have, but he just .......................................................... (not seem – present) to understand. Take yesterday for example. I .......................................................... (work – past) hard on my monthly report when he .......................................................... (come up – past) to me and .......................................................... (put – past) his arm round my shoulder. I really .......................................................... (not like – present) him doing that.
J: No, of course. I .......................................................... (suppose – present) he .......................................................... (not believe – present) you’re not interested in him.
F: No. And he .......................................................... (get – present) worse all the time. And I .......................................................... (get – present) more and more fed up with it. In fact I .......................................................... (think – present) of leaving.
J: But .......................................................... (you really want – present) to leave?
F: Well no, but I .......................................................... (not want – present) to be treated like this. Oh well, he’s not here today, thank goodness. He .......................................................... (attend – present) a conference in Birmingham. I .......................................................... (expect – present) he .......................................................... (talk – present) to all the attractive women and .......................................................... (try – present) to find someone to have dinner with.
J: I can tell you really .......................................................... (dislike – present) him.
Stative and dynamic verbs

- Dynamic Verbs – activities, e.g. drive, watch, listen.
- Stative Verbs – a state of being and not an activity.
  These includes:
  feelings – love, hate thinking/believing – think, suppose, expect wants and preferences – want, need, prefer perceptions and the senses – look, smell possession – have, own, belong being/seeming – be, seem, appear

- Some verbs which are normally stative verbs can become dynamic verbs with some change in meaning:
  I hope to see you this weekend.
  (expresses a wish)
  I'm hoping to see you this weekend.
  (Quite a common use. In the continuous form, hope becomes more of a deliberate action now in progress.)
  I think it's a good idea.
  (expresses opinion)
  You're very quiet. What are you thinking about?
  (question about the activity of thinking)
  He's a very foolish person.
  (description of something about his character)
  He's being very foolish.
  (description of how he's acting/behaving at the moment)
  This wine tastes good.
  (describing the effect on one of the senses)
  Amy's tasting the wine to see if it's all right.
  (describing the activity of tasting)

Practice

7b Complete the gaps using the verbs from the box. Each verb is used once as a stative verb and once as a dynamic verb. Put the verbs into the appropriate present simple or present continuous form.

</thead>

1  How much are you weigh? About 60 kilos.
2  We ......................... dinner at the moment so I'll phone you back in half an hour if that's O.K.
3 Harry's been in his room for ages. He ......................... at all his old photographs.
4 I really ......................... Helen. She's an excellent manager.
5 Penelope Fitzgerald ......................... in a new production of Oliver in London's West End.
6 I'm quite happy for your children to come to the party because I know they ......................... very well-behaved.
7 The snake in this picture ......................... the forces of evil.
8 They don't really like living here. They ......................... of moving.
9 ......................... you ......................... that man over there with the grey suit on? He's my brother.
10 I'm really looking forward to this holiday. The hotel ......................... lovely in the photographs.
11 I can't come out tonight because I ......................... Paul.
12 I'll do it if I can, but I ......................... not ......................... much time today.
13 What ......................... you ......................... of the management's new proposals?
15 'What are you doing in here?'
'......................... just ......................... this painting, I think it's really beautiful.'
16 'Where's the baby?'
'They ......................... her. Look, there she is on the scales.'
17 I haven't spoken to him much but he ......................... to be a very nice man.
18 Look at Nick out in the garden. He ................................ really nice with the younger children.
19 So Peter’s still not here. I ..................................... he’s forgotten about the meeting. We should start without him.
20 ‘I hope you’ve got a good lawyer.’
‘Yes, Alison Medley ............................... me at the trial. She’s the best lawyer in town.

8 The perfect aspect

The use of the perfect aspect indicates that the event took place before the time being referred to or that it covered a period of time up to the time being referred to. It also shows that this event has some relevance to the time being referred to:
John’s left. (present perfect)
John left before the present time.
He is not here now.
John had left when we got there. (past perfect)
John left before we got there.
He was not there when we got there.
John will have left when we get there. (future perfect)
John will leave before we get there.
He will not be there when we get there.
The infinitive can also have a perfect aspect:
He is sure to be there. (infinitive with to)
He is sure to have been there. (perfect infinitive with to)
( = It is certain that he has been/was there.)
Modals can be followed by the infinitive or the perfect infinitive:
Pam may tell him the news. (infinitive)
Pam may have told him the news. (perfect infinitive)
( = It is possible that Pam has told him the news.)

Practice

8 Put the verbs in brackets into the present perfect simple, the past perfect simple or the future perfect simple.

1 The local car factory ........................................... (suffer) a big drop in sales this year.
2 I ................................................................. (work) here for too long. It’s time to find a new job.
3 By the time I see my mother tonight, she ..............................................
.............. (hear) the news.
4 I was nineteen and studying at university. I ...........................................
.............. (be) there for almost a year.
5 It was New Year’s Eve but none of the family really wanted to celebrate. They ................................................ (have) a terrible year.

6 They ................................................ (be married) for twenty-five years next month.

THE PRESENT TENSE

9 Present Simple and Present Continuous

Present simple

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>I work, etc.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Do/Does + infinitive for questions, negatives and short answers</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

USE

- A regular repeated activity.
  We often use the present simple in this way with adverbs or adverbial phrases of frequency: sometimes, never, occasionally, every day, on Saturdays, once a week, etc.

  I catch the 8 o’clock train every day.
  He attends the board meeting every Monday.

- Something that is generally true; a statement of fact:

  Water boils at 100 degrees centigrade.
  Cats don’t like water.
  Where do you work?

- With stative verbs, that is, verbs that describe sentiments, thoughts and states rather than activities:

  Adrian needs your help.
  That coat belongs to me.

- Instructions:

  (We can use the imperative or the present simple for instructions.)

  You take the first turning on the left.
  You mix the soup with some cream at the end.

- In clauses of time and condition, referring to the future. It is used after: when, if, unless, before, after, until, as soon as, whenever, etc.

  I’ll give her the message when she comes back.
  Will you tell me if you see her?

- Introducing a quotation:

  This book says that too much butter and milk is bad for you.
  The local newspaper says that the government should do more to create jobs in the area.

- In newspaper headlines:

  RIOTS BREAK OUT IN CITY CENTRE
  PRESIDENT RECEIVES HUGE WELCOME

- For dramatic narrative.

  It is most often used for dramatic narrative in sports commentating when radio and television commentators describe a short action that is completed as the commentator is speaking:
  And Eastwood passes the ball to Andrews.
  And Miller takes the lead in the first lap.
To give information about a future event:
It is used in this way with information about timetables, official events and itineraries:
The train leaves at 3.30 this afternoon.
The Prime Minister starts his official visit to China tomorrow.
You arrive at the hotel at about 6.00 and have your evening meal at 7.30.

Present continuous

FORM
Verb to be + present participle:
I am working, etc.

USE
• Activity in progress at this moment:
  Where’s David?
  He’s doing his homework.

• An activity that is taking place in the present time period and will continue for a limited time. The activity may or may not be in progress at the moment of speaking.
The present continuous is often used in this way with these days, this week, today, this month, etc:

  ‘And what’s Linda doing these days?’
  ‘She’s doing a course in engineering.’
(Linda may not be studying engineering at this minute.)

The decorator’s painting the children’s bedrooms this week so they’re sleeping in the living room.
(The decorators may not be painting at this moment and the children may not be sleeping.)

• A situation that is in the process of changing:
  Venice is falling into the sea.
The number of cars on the road is increasing rapidly each year.

• A future intention with a verb of motion:
  We’re driving up to Scotland next week.
  He’s flying back on Saturday.

(you/get on)?

J: Oh, fine. Everything (go) very well.

(you still/go out) with Dave?

J: No, I’m not, but I (go out) with someone called Jamie: I met him at my pottery class.

M: Is he here now?

J: Yes, look, he’s over there. He (talk) to Charlotte.

M: Oh yes, I (see) him.

(he/wear) a yellow jumper?

J: Yes, that’s him.

M: Oh, he (look) really nice.

J: He is. I’ll introduce you to him when he (come) over here. So what about you? How (life/treat) you?

M: Not too badly. I (still/work) at that awful cafe. I (keep) looking for other jobs but the problem is that I (feel) so tired when I (get in) that I

(not have) much energy to look through all the job ads and everything. Oh well, I (suppose) something else will come up soon.

J: I ...................... (hope) so. Oh look, Jamie
19 ...................... (come over) here.
20 ...................... (you/want) to meet him?
M: Oh yes.

THE PAST TENSE

10 Past Simple and Past Continuous

Past simple

FORM

Positive: past simple form of verb: I arrived, etc. (regular)
          I came, etc. (irregular)

Negative and question form: did + infinitive
Short answer: did

USE

• Completed actions.
  To talk about events and actions in the past that are now finished.
  The past simple refers to the complete event. The time or approximate time that the event took place is stated or is understood from the context. It may be in the very recent past:
  Your mother phoned a few minutes ago.
  Who opened this window?
  or it may be in the more distant past:
  I never learnt to swim as a child.

• Past habit or regular event.
  To talk about a regular, repeated or habitual event:
  We went out for a meal every evening on holiday.
  He got up at 7 o’clock every morning to go to work.
  or a past habit or situation of some duration:
  He smoked for most of his life.
  She worked there for twenty years.

• Past situation at a point in time.
  With stative verbs, to talk about a situation that existed at a certain time in the past:
  In 1950, there were fewer than 50 million cars in use around the world.
  At the time, I had a poorly-paid job in the local shop.
Past continuous

FORM

was/were + present participle: I was studying, etc.

USE

• Used in conjunction with the past simple to describe an action or event that started before the event in the past simple and was in progress when the event in the past simple occurred:
  They were watching a film when we arrived.
  She was studying law when the war started.

• To describe an action, event or situation that was in progress at a specified time in the past:
  In 1982, we were living in a small flat in Bristol.
  In May of last year, she was studying hard for her final exams.
  At 6 o’clock this morning, I was walking along the beach.

• Used with while to describe two actions that were in progress at the same time:
  While I was driving along this morning, I was thinking about what you’d said.
  He was cooking the dinner while she was talking to him.

• With adverbials beginning with all e.g. all night, all morning, all day yesterday, to show that an action or event was in progress throughout this time:
  I was watching television all evening.
  Were you working all weekend?

• To describe the background and set the scene for a narrative in the past:
  The wind was blowing and the rain was beating down. John Snell was standing at the bus stop shivering. He was trying to imagine being at home sitting by a warm fire. Finally he saw the headlights of the bus approaching from the distance.

Contrast: past continuous versus past simple

The past simple describes a complete event in the past. The past continuous does not describe the complete event, it describes the event in progress, at some time between its beginning and its end.

Stative verbs, that is verbs that describe thoughts, sentiments and states, cannot normally be put into the continuous form. (See p. 29)

Look at the difference between these sentences:

He was cooking the dinner when I arrived.
(He started cooking the dinner before my arrival and the cooking was in progress at the time of my arrival.)

He cooked the dinner when I arrived.
(I arrived and then he cooked the dinner. Two complete events.)
I was reading a book about astrology last night.
(The reading of the book was in progress last night. The past continuous does not describe the complete event so we assume that the book was not finished last night.)
I read a book about astrology last night.
(I read the whole book from beginning to end last night.)
It was raining all night.
(The rain was in progress throughout the night. The use of the past continuous emphasizes the continuity and duration of the event.)
It rained all night.
(It rained from the beginning of the night to the end of the night. The rain is viewed as one single, complete event.)
While I was making the dinner, the children were watching television.
(Two activities in progress at the same time.)
While I made the dinner, the children watched television.
(Two complete events that happened at the same time.)
I was having a bath at 8 o'clock.
(The bath started before 8 o'clock and was still in progress at 8 o'clock.)
I had a bath at 8 o'clock.
(This describes the complete event. It started at 8 o'clock.)

TENSES WITH THE PERFECT ASPECT

11 Present Perfect Simple and Present Perfect Continuous

Present perfect simple

FORM

\textit{have ('ve) / has ('s) + past participle: I've decided, etc.}

USE

The present perfect shows a relationship between past time and present time. It can be used in the following ways:

A To describe an action that happened at an indefinite time before the present. For example:

- To refer to things that people have done and experiences they have had. Its connection with the present is that the experience is part of that person in the present:

  He's taught English in five different countries.
  Have you been round the National Gallery?
  I've been to Spain but I haven't been to Italy.

- When there is very specific evidence in the present of the event that took place in the past:

  Oh, you've had a haircut.
  I see they've knocked down the old cinema in the centre of town.

- Often in news reporting. The use of the present perfect makes the event seem more immediate and of direct relevance to the present:

  At least twenty people have been killed in a motorway crash.
  The Prime Minister has announced that taxes are to increase from the beginning of next year.

B After the construction of \textit{to be} (in the present) + ordinal or superlative:

This is the first time I've been to London.
She is the most honest person I've ever met.

C With adverbials.

Used with adverbials that show a connection between the past and the present, e.g. so far, up to now, lately, already, yet, just:

She's already done her homework.
I've seen Jane a lot lately.
These letters have just arrived.

C With a time reference.

Used with reference to a period of time that is still continuing in the present, e.g. this morning, this afternoon, today, this week, this month, this year, this century:

I've read two books this week.
They've been on holiday twice this year.
D In clauses of time and condition.
Can be used in clauses of time and condition when, at a certain point in the future, the event will be in the past:
I’ll give you back your ring when I’ve found it.
I’ll go swimming with you on Monday if I’ve recovered from this cold.
Do you think I could borrow that book after you’ve finished reading it?

E With since, for and how long to describe the duration of an activity or situation that started in the past and continues up to the present and possible into the future:
She’s been away from home for six months.
Hello, I haven’t seen you for ages.
He’s lived there since he was a child.
How long have you had this problem?

Present perfect continuous

USE
A To refer to an activity which has been taking place in the recent period up to the present. The activity may have finished shortly before the moment of speaking or finish at the moment of speaking in the present:
‘You look tired. What have you been doing?’
‘I’ve been playing football.’

‘Have you had a good evening?’
‘Well, I’ve been watching this film on television but it’s rubbish so I think I’ll turn it off now.’

They’ve been going out a lot recently.

B With since, for and how long to refer to an activity which started in the past and continues up to the present and possibly into the future. Also used with phrases starting with all (all day, all night, all morning), phrases which emphasize the duration of the activity:
They’ve been studying English for three years.
John’s been looking for a job since he finished university.
How long have you been feeling so depressed?
She’s been working all day.

Contrast: present perfect simple versus present perfect continuous

A With no time reference:
I’ve been reading that book.
(Describes the activity. The book is not finished.)
I’ve read that book.
(Describes the completion of an event. The book is finished.)

She’s been running.
(Describes the activity of running.)
She’s run three miles.
(This describes the completion of the three miles. We cannot say She’s been running three miles.)
He’s written a book about wind-surfing.
(Completed at an unspecified time in the past.)
He’s been writing a book about wind-surfing.
(Describes his recent activity.)

B With a time reference:

We can use both the present perfect simple and the present perfect continuous to describe an activity that started in the past and continues up to the present and possibly into the future:

They’ve been studying English for three years.

They’ve studied English for three years.
(Both these sentences are correct. The present perfect continuous puts more emphasis on the continuity of the activity.)

We can use the present perfect simple and the present perfect continuous with lately and recently:

I’ve been working really hard lately.
(The activity of working is important.)

I’ve done a lot of work lately.
(The completion of a lot of work is important.)

Practice

IIa Put the verbs in brackets into the present perfect simple or present perfect continuous.

Tim Bryant, a magazine journalist, is interviewing Margaret Rodwell, the founder of a successful company.

TB: So why do you think your company has been (be) so successful?
MR: Well, our products (fill) a large gap in the market and I think one of the most important things is that we (always listen) to our clients and (act) on their comments and suggestions.

TB: And what’s a typical day for you?
MR: Well, take today for example. I (interview) candidates for a marketing executive post.

TB: And how many (you/interview)?
MR: Er, I (interview) four so far. And I (talk) to clients on the phone on and off all day. I seem to spend a lot of time on the phone. I (discuss) some new ideas with them for the transportation and delivery of our products.
TB: Mm, it sounds like a very busy day.
MR: Oh, that’s only part of it. I have two meetings, one with Union representatives and one with departmental heads. And I also work on a proposal for a new marketing strategy.
TB: And it’s not two o’clock yet!
MR: No, but of course I’ve been here since seven o’clock this morning.
TB: Gosh. And, I hope you don’t mind my mentioning this Ms Rodwell, but some rumours (circulate) about your possible engagement to Mr Grimaldi, the banker.

MR: No, there will be no engagement, though it’s true that Mr Grimaldi and I (see) each other. That’s no secret.

TB: When you get the time, I suppose. And is it also true that you (learn) Russian with a view to introducing your products there?

MR: Yes, I have, but I (not learn) much yet; there’s still a long way for me to go.

11b Put the verbs in brackets into the present perfect simple or present perfect continuous.

1A: You look hot. What have you been doing. (you/do)?
B: I run.
A: Running! In this heat? How far (you/run)?
B: About four miles.

2A: What’s the problem? You look a bit preoccupied.
B: Yes, I think about Helen.
A: Why? Is there something wrong with her?
B: Well, she (act) so strangely lately.
A: In what way?
B: Well, some days when she arrives at work, I know that she (cry). And she (make) private calls when we’re all out at lunch. I just think that something’s going on.
A: ................................................. (you/talk) to her about it yet?
B: Yes, a few times, and each time she ...................................................
   (say) that there’s nothing wrong, but I’m not so sure.
3A: Where ........................................... (you/be), Simon?
B: I ...................................................... (talk) to Mark on the phone. He says he ........................................... (try) to phone us all day.
A: Well I ............................................. (be) in most of the day but I .................................................. (not hear) the phone.
B: That’s strange. But anyway, he ........................................... (have) a phone call from Jackie’s mother and Jackie
   ............................................. (be) in some kind of accident. It’s nothing very serious but she’s got to stay in hospital overnight.
A: Oh dear. ........................................... (she/break) any bones?
B: I’m not quite sure how badly she ........................................... (be hurt) but I think we should go and see her tonight.

12 Contrast: present perfect simple versus past simple

Have you been busy this morning?
(It is still the morning now.)
Were you busy this morning?
(This morning is now the finished past.)

Have you had a good holiday?
(You have just returned.)
Did you have a good holiday?
(Your holiday finished some time before the question.)

She’s starred in a lot of major films.
(She is still alive and acting.)
She starred in a lot of major films.
(Her acting career is finished or she’s dead.)

He’s been in the army for fifteen years.
(And he is still in the army now.)
He was in the army for fifteen years.
(But he is no longer in the army. The time period of fifteen years finished in the past.)
Practice

12a Put the verbs in brackets into the past simple, present perfect simple or present perfect continuous.

Jake and Michael, two friends, are talking.

J:  Hello, I haven't seen (not see) you for ages.

M:  No, it must be about two years since we last (meet). What (you/do) with yourself?

J:  I (do) all sorts of things. Life (be) very busy lately. I (start) a new job at the sailing centre.

M:  Really! Doing what?

J:  Well, I (teach) beginners' courses to school groups this term but when those (finish), I'll be teaching more advanced groups on holiday courses.

M:  That sounds great. What about your old job at the tourist office then?

J:  Well, I (work) there for ten years and I (enjoy) the job but I (want) to do something different. I (always/enjoy) sailing in my spare time so I (think) it would be nice to do it for a job.

M:  So how long (you/be) at the sailing centre?

J:  For about two months now. I'm sure I (do) the right thing. It's a really enjoyable job. And what about you?

M:  Well, I'm still at the Rembrandt Hotel. I (work) there for fifteen years now. But I (have) a promotion so that's good. They (give) me the job of head receptionist.

J:  Oh, that's good news.

M:  Yes, it (make) me feel much better about work. I mean, I (do) a lot of different jobs at the hotel but I haven't (never have) a job with this much responsibility before. I worked (work) on the reception desk for four years when I started (start) at the hotel – that was before they moved me into the office – but I was only a junior receptionist then so I just did (do) what I was told (be told) to do.

J: So when did you (you/get) the new job?

M: A month ago, after I passed (pass) my intermediate exams in Spanish and German at the college. Did you know I was doing (do) language evening classes at the college for a while now?

J: No, I didn’t realize.

M: Yes, I decided (decide) that I couldn't (cannot get) any further at work without learning some languages.

A: And so you did! What a good idea.

12b In your notebook, rewrite the following passages putting the verbs into the present perfect simple or past simple.

News has just come in (just come in) that there was an air crash somewhere off the south coast of England. There were 120 passengers and crew on the plane and it is understood that no survivors were found. Apparently the plane was mysteriously out of control and plunged (plunge) into the sea. Relatives of most of the passengers and crew have been informed and many of them set off (set off) for the sea rescue base, but they have (not be given) much hope. Most of the passengers are on business.

Despite the problems that the government have (have) in the last two years, it has somehow managed to stay in power. There is a number of scandals involving government ministers, including one rumour about the Prime Minister himself. It is said that he has promised gifts to certain Members of Parliament in exchange for their vote before he was elected leader. In spite of all this, the government maintains (maintain) its position in Parliament and claims that this is the most successful term of office that a government ever had. This is rather surprising as they came (come) to power with only a small majority.
13 Past Perfect Simple

The past perfect simple is used to refer to a past time which preceded the past time already being referred to. It is used in combination with other past tenses to clarify the sequence of events in a past narrative.

FORM

had ('d) + past participle: I had finished, etc.

USE

• In sentences which have a when + past simple clause. It is used to make it clear that the event in the past perfect came before the event in the past simple:
  When I got to the station, the train had left.
  Compare with:
  When I got to the station, the train left.
  (The train left as I arrived or immediately after my arrival.)

• In when clauses. It is used when we need to make it clear that the event in the when clause was completed before the event in the past simple started:
  When I had read the letter, I started to cry.
  (I finished the letter before I started to cry.)
  Compare with:
  When I read the letter, I started to cry.
  (I started to cry after I started reading the letter.)

We can also use the past perfect in this way with as soon as, the moment, immediately:
As soon as I had told her the news, I regretted it.

Note: As the action in a when + past simple clause happens just before the other past simple clause, it is not generally necessary to use the past perfect in the when clause. We only do this when we need to make it clear that the event in the when clause was completed before the event in the past simple clause started.

• In after clauses:
  After we had passed our exams, we went out to celebrate.
  We can also say:
  After we passed our exams, we went out to celebrate.

The use of the past perfect merely emphasizes the fact that the event in the after clause preceded the other event. It is correct to use either the past perfect or the past simple in after clauses.

• As the equivalent of the present perfect. The present perfect looks back from the past:
  Ann and Michael have just got married.
  It was June 1991. Ann and Michael had just got married.
  Jeremy's 21 now and he's been in a wheelchair since he was 10.
  Jeremy was 21 and he had been in a wheelchair since he was 10.
  (Note that we use was in the since clause in both sentences.)
• As the equivalent of the past simple, we use it when we want to narrate events looking back from a point in the past. Unlike the present perfect, the past perfect can be used with a specific time reference:

Jane MacDonald is now 28. She started working for the company when she was eighteen. She quickly climbed the career ladder and is now the youngest managing director the company has ever appointed.

Jane MacDonald was then 28. She had started working for the company when she was eighteen. She had quickly climbed the career ladder and became the youngest managing director the company has ever appointed.

Notes
• The verb in the when clause remains in the past simple when the main verb is in the past perfect: She had started working for the company when she was eighteen.

• For reasons of style, the narration is not likely to continue for very long in the past perfect. The story usually returns quite quickly to the main time reference point, which is in the past simple.

• If we narrate the events in the order in which they occurred, there is no need for the past perfect: Jane MacDonald started working for the company when she was eighteen. She quickly climbed the career ladder and became the youngest ever managing director at the age of 28.

• In reported speech:
  A statement or question in the present perfect is usually put into the past perfect in reported speech:
  I've had a lovely time
  She said she had had a lovely time.

  A statement or question in the past simple can be put into the past perfect or remain in the past simple in reported speech:
  I tried to phone you earlier.
  He said that he had tried to phone me earlier.
  or He said that he tried to phone me earlier.

• After if, wish, if only:
  If I had known you were at home, I would have called you.
  I expect you wish you had never met him.
  If only they had stayed at home.

He ³² ................................. (get up), legs shaking and forehead sweating and ³³ ................................. (wonder) whether he ³⁴ ................................. (look) as terrified as he ³⁵ ................................. (feel).

14 Past Perfect Continuous

FORM

had (‘d) been + present participle: I had been running, etc.

USE

The past perfect continuous is the equivalent of the present perfect continuous. The present perfect continuous describes an activity looking back from the present and the past perfect continuous describes an activity looking back from the past:

I’m very tired. I’ve been working all day.
I was very tired. I had been working all day.

Why are you so wet? What have you been doing?
Why were you so wet? What had you been doing?

The dog from next door has been barking for two hours.
It was 1 o’clock and the dog from next door had been barking for two hours.

‘It’s been raining here for days.’ she said.
She said it had been raining there for days.
(Present perfect continuous becomes past perfect continuous in reported speech.)
Practice

14 In your notebook, rewrite the following passage, making all the necessary tense changes.

It's 10 o'clock at night. The offices of 'The Daily News' are buzzing with excitement. The deadline for the paper is in half an hour and they are frantically trying to finish the front page. Everyone has been working all evening without a break. Some of the journalists have been at the office since early morning. They have all been trying to get an exclusive story, to find out something that no other journalist has discovered. The main story is a big one. The Prime Minister has resigned. Everyone knows that his government has had lots of problems in the last year but his resignation is nonetheless a big surprise. Rumours have been going round all day about the real reasons for the announcement. Some say that he has been involved in some financial scandal. Others say that he has been seeing another woman. All the papers have been working all day to get the best story. And they've been doing their best to find out what the other papers have said. The whole day has been very tense. Suddenly the editor asks everyone to be quiet. There is a telephone call from the Prime Minister's office.

Example: It was 10 o'clock at night. The offices of 'The Daily News' were buzzing with excitement.
FUTURE FORMS

15 The be going to future and the Present Continuous as future

The be going to future
We can express the future with be going + to–infinitive. This is often referred to as the going to or be going to future.

FORM

| verb to be + going + to–infinitive: I'm going to stay, etc. |

USE

- To express intention. The speaker had the intention before the time of speaking:
  I'm going to visit Bob tomorrow.

- To make a prediction based on present evidence:
  The sun's going down. It's going to be dark in half an hour.

Present continuous as future
We can use the present continuous to refer to the future. A future time reference must be stated or be clear from the context.

USE

- To describe arrangements. We use it to talk about the future when the plans have been made. It is quite informal and is used to describe personal arrangements such as social activities rather than official plans. As it refers to personal arrangements, the subject of the verb should be a person or people and not a thing:
  I'm meeting Charlotte for lunch tomorrow.

Contrast: be going to future versus present continuous as future

- a) I'm going to visit my aunt in hospital tomorrow.
- b) I'm visiting my aunt in hospital tomorrow.

Both these sentences are correct and the difference between them is slight. Sentence a) places more emphasis on the intention and sentence b) places more emphasis on the arrangement.

We do not generally use the present continuous with activities that do not involve the making of an arrangement or plan. We can say: 'I'm going to write a letter to my parents tonight.' (the intention is important) but we do not say:

- I'm writing a letter to my parents tonight.' (no arrangement is required).

We tend to avoid using verbs of motion, e.g. to go and to come in the be going to future and prefer instead to use the present continuous with these verbs:

We're going to the theatre tonight.
• a) Look at that helicopter coming down. It's \textbf{going to land} in a minute.
b) Look at that helicopter coming down. \textit{It's landing} in a minute.
Sentence a) is correct but sentence b) is not possible. We do not use the present continuous to make a prediction based on present evidence.

• We can only use the present continuous as future with a future time reference or where the future time reference is clear from the context. Where this is not the case, we use the \textbf{be going to} future:
\textit{He's having a swim.} (= now, if there is no time reference)
\textit{He's going to have a swim.} (in the future)

• Verbs not normally used in the continuous are not used in the present continuous as future. We cannot say: \texttt{I'm needing some help next week.}
We can sometimes use verbs not normally used in the continuous with the \textbf{be} going to future. This does not happen very often as these verbs do not describe events that we normally predict or intend. We can say:
\textit{I'm going to need some help next week.}

\textbf{Practice}

15 In your notebook, rewrite the dialogue, substituting the verbs in the \textbf{be} going to future with the present continuous as future where this is possible.

A: \texttt{Are you going to come} to the meeting tomorrow about the proposed staff cuts?
B: Oh yes, definitely.
A: Have you read the report about the cuts?
B: No, not yet. \texttt{I'm going to read} it tonight. What does it say?
A: Well, \texttt{there are going to be} quite a few cuts in this department.
B: Oh no. I wonder \texttt{who's going to lose} their job.
A: I don't know. I think \texttt{they're going to ask} people if they want to take voluntary redundancy.
B: Well, I certainly don't want that. \texttt{We're going to move} into a new flat next month and the rent's quite high. I don't know \texttt{what's going to happen} if I lose my job.
A: Oh, don't worry about it too much. I'm sure \texttt{everything's going to be} all right. Look, why don't we go out for drink after work.
B: I can't. \texttt{I'm going to meet} some friends for a meal and then \texttt{we're going to} go to the cinema.
A: Well what about tomorrow night? \texttt{Are you going to go out} then?
B: No, \texttt{I'm not going to do} anything.
A: So let's go out after the meeting.
B: OK. Good idea.

Example:
\texttt{Are you coming ...}
16 Future with will

This is also referred to as the future simple or simple future tense.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>will (‘ll) + bare infinitive: I will (I’ll) go, etc.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Short form of will not: won’t</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

USE

- To make a statement of fact or a prediction about the future:
  Sam will be here tomorrow.
  Tonight’s programme will be very interesting.

- To make formal announcements of future plans and to present weather forecasts. It is therefore often used in newspapers and on the television and radio:
  The new President will move into the White House tomorrow.
  Rain will continue throughout the day.

- To express hopes, expectations, thoughts about the future. Used after verbs like: assume, believe, doubt, expect, hope, reckon, suppose, think and be sure/afraid and with adverbs like perhaps, possibly, probably, definitely:
  I expect they’ll be here soon.
  Do you think she’ll bring her boyfriend?

- In sentences containing clauses of condition or time:
  If I get that job, I’ll go out and celebrate.
  I’ll phone you when I get there.

- To express an intention when the decision is made at the time of speaking:
  A: There isn’t any milk left.
  B: Oh, isn’t there? I’ll get some in town. I’m going there later on.

- To express the idea of willingness:
  I’ll do it for you, I promise. (promise)
  Will you open the window, please? (request)
  I’ll look after the children for you. (offer)
  He won’t come with me. (refusal)
  Yes, I’ll come with you. (agreement)
  I’ll definitely tell him the truth this time. (determination)
  Stop that or I’ll call the police. (threat)

- To make offers or suggestions or to ask for suggestions, advice, instructions.
  Use Shall I/we ... in the question form:
  Shall I help you with that? (offer)
  Shall we invite them round for dinner? (suggestion)
  What shall I do?
  Shall we come round after dinner?
Notes
The use of shall

- In spoken English, shall is most often used in the question form with I or we to make offers or suggestions or to ask for suggestions, advice, instructions:

  Shall I come with you?
  What shall we do tomorrow?

- Shall is occasionally used to express strong determination about oneself or someone else:
  I shall go anyway. I don’t care what you think.
  I shan’t let him bully me.
  You shall have whatever you want.

- Shall can be used in the same way as will in the first person but will is more common. In spoken English, the contraction ’ll is the most common.
  Shall is used more frequently in formal written English than in informal written or spoken English:
  We shall make every effort to answer your enquiry as soon as possible.
  I shall be at the airport to meet you in person.

- Short form of shall not: shan’t.

Practice

13 They definitely .................................................. not
........................................................ me the job: I had a terrible interview.

14 ........................................................ I ...................................................... these plates?

15 I’m determined that he ........................................ everything he wants.

17 Contrast: be going to versus will Intention

The be going to and will futures can both be used to express an intention about the future.

• be going to: the intention is premeditated. The decision was made before the time of speaking or writing and plans have probably already been made:
  A: You know it’s Emily’s birthday on Friday, don’t you?
  B: Yes, I’m going to buy her a present this afternoon.

• will: the intention is unpremeditated. The decision is made at the time of speaking or writing:
  A: You know it’s Emily’s birthday on Friday, don’t you?
  B: Actually I’d forgotten. Thanks for reminding me. I’ll buy her a present this afternoon.

Prediction
The be going to and will futures can both be used to make predictions about the future.

• be going to: the prediction is based on some form of evidence that exists in the present.
  It is often used to predict what is about to happen but it can be used to predict something that is not in the immediate future:
  Oh look! That car is going to crash.
  That child eats too much. He’s going to be really overweight one day.

• will: to express beliefs, hopes, thoughts, assumptions and doubts about the future:
  It’ll be a difficult year for the new Prime Minister.
  I’m sure you’ll enjoy yourself there.
Statement of future fact

The be going to and will futures can both be used to make statements about the future but the emphasis is slightly different:

a) The number of students will fall over the next five years.
b) The number of students is going to fall over the next five years.

Sentence a) is a statement of future fact or of the speaker’s beliefs. Sentence b) is also a statement of future fact but it emphasizes that the speaker is thinking of present trends. It makes the speaker seem more involved and is thus more informal.

Expression of willingness

Will is often used to express willingness. Be going to does not have this meaning:

I’ll help you as much as I can.
(expression of willingness: a promise)
I’m going to help you as much as I can.
(expression of intent)

Summary

• Be going to always indicates a link with the present.
  a) present intention/plans/preparations
  b) present evidence of a future event

• When we use will, the emphasis is more on the future than on its link with the present.

• Will is more formal than be going to and is therefore used more extensively in written English.

Practice

17 Put the verbs into the be going to future or the shall/will future. If both tenses are possible, choose the one that is most appropriate for the context. With the verbs to go or to come use the present continuous as future instead of the be going to future.

Two friends, Jack and David, are talking.

J: Have you decided what you are going to do (do) this weekend?

D: Yes, we have (have) a quiet day on Saturday and then on Sunday we take (take) a bus up into the mountains and do some walking. And we probably book into (book) a hotel there for the night. What about you? You do (you/do) lots of work as usual?

J: Well, no. Mark phoned last night about coming down this weekend.

D: Really?
J: Yes, he 6................................................. (come) on Friday.
D: Oh, I’d like to see him. I think I 7........................................... (phone him up) tonight and arrange something.
J: Well, we’re planning to spend the day on the beach on Saturday. We 8............................................. (do) some swimming and sunbathing. I just hope the weather 9........................................... (be) warm enough. And then on Saturday night we 10................................................. (see) that new film with Tom Cruise.
D: Well, as I’ve got nothing planned, I 11.............................................. (join) you at the beach on Saturday then, if that’s O.K.
J: Of course it is. I 12.............................................. (pick you up) from your flat some time after breakfast.
D: Oh thanks. 13................................................. (I/bring) a picnic?
J: Yes. Why not? I tell you what: Mark and I 14................................................. (make) some sandwiches and 15................................................. (you/bring) some salad and fruit?
D: Yes, fine. I 16................................................. (do) that. Good. That 17................................................. (save) us all the cost of eating out. And what about the film? What time 18................................................. (you/see) that?
J: We 19................................................. (see) the early showing at 6.00 and then we 20................................................. (try out) that new disco in town.
D: Right. Well, I think I 21................................................. (spend) the evening at home with Sarah.
J: O.K. So I 22................................................. (see) you on Saturday morning, probably at around 10 o’clock.
D: Fine.
18  Present Simple as future

USE

- We use the present simple to refer to the future in clauses of time and condition, e.g. after if, unless, when, as soon as, until, before, after, by the time:
  We'll phone you when we get there.
  Please wait here until I get back.

And after everything, anything, whatever, It is important, etc:
Everything that you say will be recorded.
You will do whatever I ask you to.

- We can use the present simple to refer to future events when the event is part of a fixed timetable, e.g. a travel timetable, a holiday itinerary, other organized events, an official trip by a member of the government. The event or the timing of the event is fixed by some official body, organization or timetable:
The flight leaves at 6 o'clock in the morning.
You spend the first night of the trip in a hotel in London.

Practice

18  Where possible, put the verbs in brackets into the present simple. Where this is not possible, use the will future.

A teacher is giving some students the details of a forthcoming trip.

The coach \( leaves \) (leave) here at 9.00 a.m., and we \( \) (arrive) at the field study centre before lunch. When we \( \) (get) there, you \( \) (be shown) to your rooms and \( \) (be given) time to unpack. Lunch \( \) (be served) in the dining-room at 12.30 precisely so make sure you \( \) (not get) there late. When lunch \( \) (finish), it \( \) (be) time to get ready for our first activity: a walk down to the beach to look at the rock pools.
Nets, magnifying glasses and containers \(^{10}\)................................. (be provided) by the centre. It the weather \(^{11}\)................................. (be) fine, we \(^{12}\)................................. (stay) on the beach for the whole of the afternoon. Otherwise, we \(^{13}\)................................. (go back) to the centre after an hour or two and watch a video on seashore life. You \(^{14}\)................................. (be expected) to keep a written record of everything that you \(^{15}\)................................. (find) and we \(^{16}\)................................. (look) at all the records when we \(^{17}\)................................. (get back) to school at the end of the week. Mr McNeill, the field study supervisor, is very knowledgeable and I’m sure that he \(^{18}\)................................. (help) you to identify anything that you \(^{19}\)................................. (not recognize). Supper \(^{20}\)................................. (be served) at 6.00, and at 8.00 there \(^{21}\)................................. (be) an evening activity. On the first night, Mr McNeill \(^{22}\)................................. (plan) to go on a moonlight walk with us to look for bats. It is important that you \(^{23}\)................................. (stay) together on this walk. Please don’t wander off. It \(^{24}\)................................. (not be) easy for us to find you if you \(^{25}\)................................. (get lost) in the dark. Behave sensibly and I’m sure you \(^{26}\)................................. (all have) a wonderful time.

19 Future Continuous

FORM

\[ \text{will be} + \text{present participle: I'll be coming, etc.} \]

USE

- To describe an activity that will be in progress at a point in the future:

  This time tomorrow we'll be sitting on the plane.

- To describe an activity that will cover the whole of a future time period:

  I’ll be working in the office all evening.

- To describe a future event without expressing deliberate intention:

  Sue: Oh dear, I haven’t given Ben that book back.

  Joe: That’s all right. I’ll be seeing him at the music club tonight so I’ll give it to him for you.

Here, the activity of seeing Ben is not an express intention but will happen when Joe goes to the music club.

I’ll be revising for my exams this weekend so I think I’ll stay in on Saturday night.

The intention expressed here is to stay in on Saturday night. The plan to revise is relevant to this decision.
• To describe what we assume someone else is doing at this moment:
  Don’t phone her now. It’s 4 o’clock and she’ll be collecting the children from school.

Note: The future continuous is not used with verbs that do not normally take the continuous form. See page 27.

Contrast: future continuous versus will future will future: expresses intention, belief, hope, assumption and willingness future continuous: indicates future activity or event but does not express intention or willingness

Practice

19 Put the verbs in brackets into the will future or the future continuous. Complete any short answers with will or won’t.

1 A: Would you like to come over for lunch on Saturday?
   B: Well unfortunately, I’ll be working. (work) all day Saturday.
   A: Oh, that’s a shame. Well, you (have to come over) another day. I (talk) to Andy about it and I (phone) you on Sunday.
   (you/be) in then?
   B: Yes definitely. I (recover) from my week’s work.

2 A: (you/go) to the meeting tonight? If so, I (give) you a lift there.
   B: Oh yes please, that would be helpful. I (play) tennis until 7 o’clock but I (be) back shortly after that.
A: O.K. I ¹⁰ ........................................ (pick you up) at about 7.30. ¹² ........................................ (you/be) ready by then?

B: Yes. Don’t worry. I ¹³ ........................................ (wait) for you when you get here.

3 A: Do you ever think about what you ¹⁴ ........................................ (do) in ten years’ time?

B: Oh yes. I sometimes imagine that I ¹⁵ ........................................ (do) a very important job and earning lots of money and that I ¹⁶ ........................................ (live) in a beautiful big house. But to be honest, I think I ¹⁷ ........................................ (still work) here and I ¹⁸ ........................................ (probably do) the same job.

A: No, you ¹⁹ ........................................ . You ²⁰ ........................................ (get) a better job soon, I’m sure you ²¹ ........................................ .

B: And so ²² ........................................ you.

A: And then we ²³ ........................................ (go) on wonderful foreign holidays and we ²⁴ ........................................ (learn) to speak different languages.

B: Perhaps.

4 A: Oh dear, I’ve run out of stamps. I ²⁵ ........................................ (not be able to post) these letters now.

B: Well, I ²⁶ ........................................ (go) to the post office later on. I ²⁷ ........................................ (take) the letters and post them for you.

A: Oh thank you. I ²⁸ ........................................ (give) you the money for the stamps.
5 A: So I .............................................. (wait) for you when you get to the station. I .............................................. (not come) onto the platform but I .............................................. (see) you by the ticket office.

B: O.K., that’s fine. I .............................................. (carry) a heavy suitcase so I think we .............................................. (have to get) a taxi from the station.

20 Contrast: future continuous versus present continuous as future

Present continuous as future: used for plans. The intention is not important. Future continuous: can also be used to refer to plans. It is not generally used when we first tell someone about a plan. It is often used to refer to a plan when this plan is relevant to the main future event in the sentence:

We’re spending the summer on the coast. (Telling someone about our plans)

A: Have you ever been sailing?

B: No, but we’ll be spending the summer on the coast so I might try it then. (Referring to the arrangement to spend summer on the coast in connection with the main idea of the sentence – to try sailing)

A: Will you be using your bike tomorrow?

B: No, I won’t.

A: Well, I wonder if I could borrow it for the afternoon.

(Asking about plans in order to make a request for the future that is connected to those plans)

Practice

20 Put the verbs in brackets into the present continuous or the future continuous. It is often the case that either tense is correct. Choose the tense that you think is the most appropriate.

1 A: Will you be seeing (you/see) Tony at work tomorrow?

B: Yes, I will.

A: Do you think you could give him a message for me?

2 A: Where .............................................. (you/go) this summer?

B: We .............................................. (go) to the Pyrenees for a couple of weeks in July to do some walking.

3 A: Have you read the notes for the meeting?

B: No, not yet, but I .............................................. (sit) on the train for three hours tomorrow so I can do it then.
4 A: Can you post this letter for me on your way to work?
B: I’m sorry but I .......................................................... (not walk) past the post box this morning because Emma .......................................................... (give) me a lift to work. I’ll post it for you later on though.

5 A: What .......................................................... (you/do) tonight?
.......................................................... (you/go round) to Rita’s with us?
B: No, I don’t think so. I .......................................................... (see) quite a lot of her at our play rehearsals next week.

6 A: I must collect my new glasses from the optician.
B: Do you want me to collect them? I ..........................................................
(go) past there later on anyway.

21 Future Perfect Simple and Continuous

To talk about the past from a point in the future. It is the equivalent of the present perfect with the reference point in the future. The present perfect looks back from now: the future perfect looks back from the future.

FORM

| Future perfect simple:       | will have + past participle; |
|                             | I’ll have finished, etc. |
| Future perfect continuous:  | will have been + present participle: |
|                             | I’ll have been working, etc. |

USE

• We use the future perfect simple to say that, at a certain time in the future, something will be completed and be in the past. It is often used with by + time reference:
  I’ll have finished this book by tomorrow.
  I’ll have told him the news by the time you get here.

• We use the future perfect simple and continuous with for to talk about the duration of an activity or state up to a time in the future:
  We’ll have lived here for two years in January.
  She’ll have been working here for ten years soon.

• We use the future perfect continuous to describe an activity leading up to a time in the future:
  They might be tired when you see them because they’ll have been working hard.
Practice

21 Put the verbs in brackets into the present simple, future simple, future perfect simple or future perfect continuous.

1 I think she will have heard (hear) all about it by the time I see (see) her.
2 I reckon I (finish) this book by the weekend and then I (give) it to you.
3 The children (be) hungry when they (get in) because they (run around) all afternoon.
4 This government (be) in power for eight years soon but I don’t think they (win) the next election.
5 (you/eat) when you (get) here? If not, I (make) you something.
6 Don’t phone them now. They (not get) home yet. They (probably get back) at about half-past eight.
7 I think they (finish) building the house by the time the winter (come) and then we (move in) in the New Year.
8 I expect they (be) tired when you (see) them because they (work) all day.
9 If I (come) and see the film with you on Saturday, I (see) it six times. But it is my favourite film of all time: I think you (love) it.
10 Why don’t you come round at 9 o’clock? The children (go) to bed then so it (be) nice and peaceful.
22 Other ways of referring to the future

As well as all the forms we use to refer to the future, we can also use a range of verbs and expressions to show that we are talking about the future. These verbs and expressions are often more precise than a future form and they are used widely, particularly in written English.

- BE TO \( (am/is/are/was/were + \text{to-infinitive}) \)
  Used for formal plans, official arrangements, instructions and prohibitions:
  The British Ambassador is to meet the President at the White House on Friday.
  The factory is to close for three weeks for repairs.
  She is to become the youngest Member of Parliament in our history.
  You're to be there by eight o'clock.
  You're not to cross the road without me.

- BE DUE TO / ABOUT TO / ON THE POINT OF
  be due + to-infinitive: used for arrangements that are to take place at a fixed time. Often used with timetables and official itineraries:
  The plane's due to arrive in half an hour.
  Clare's due to have her operation in three weeks' time.

  be (just) about + to-infinitive: used to refer to something that will happen very soon, in the immediate future:
  Don't start talking to them now: they're about to leave.

  be (just) on the point of + gerund or noun: used to refer to something in the very immediate future:
  It is understood that the Chancellor is on the point of announcing his resignation.

- CERTAIN VERBS + TO-INFINITIVE
  We can say:
  They are going to build a new shopping centre in town.
  We can also use a verb that refers to the future and say:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>They</th>
<th>to build a new shopping centre in town.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>plan</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>intend</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>are proposing</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>hope</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>have agreed</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>have promised</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Note: that intend and propose can also be followed by a gerund:
They intend/propose building a new shopping centre in town.

We often use a verb that refers to the future, instead of a future form, particularly in written English.
Practice

22  Rewrite the sentences using be (not) to, due to, about to, on the point of, plan/intend/propose/hope/agree/promise (not) to.
    You may use a verb or expression more than once.

1  I’m sorry I can’t talk to you now. I’m going to work in a minute.
   I’m sorry I can’t talk to you now. I’m about to go to work.

2  The Council have decided what they would like to do one day.
   They are going to close the old swimming pool.
   The Council intend to close the old swimming pool.

3  They are making plans now. They are going to have a big wedding in the summer.

4  The train will depart at 8.25.

5  The Condor Freight Company have had discussions with staff representatives and they have reached an agreement on work clothes.
   They are going to provide free work clothes to all employees.

6  You must not enter the building without signing your name in the register.

7  The Government have made a promise. They will not increase taxes during the next year.

8  The economy will collapse in the very near future; it will happen at any time now.

9  The Department of Social Security has made a proposal. It is probably going to cut unemployment benefit.
10 My grandfather is going to die soon.

11 I hope I’ll find a new job before the end of the year.

12 Do you promise that you won’t tell anyone about this?

13 What are the two leaders’ intentions? When are they going to meet?

14 They are making plans. They are going to move abroad.

15 You will arrive at the hotel at 7.30 in the evening.

THE PASSIVE

23 Forms and uses of the passive

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Active</th>
<th>Passive</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>to do</td>
<td>to be done</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>to have done</td>
<td>to have been done</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>doing</td>
<td>being done</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>having done</td>
<td>having been done</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

- The passive is not used in the present perfect continuous, the past perfect continuous or the future continuous for reasons of style.
- We can use the passive in all other tenses and in other verb forms.

USE

- We use the passive form when the receiver of the action is more important than the performer of the action or when the performer of the action is not someone specific. The use of the passive avoids sentences with a vague subject like ‘Someone’ or ‘Some people’:

  The local cinema was closed down three years ago.

  Very few typewriters are being sold these days.

  Children should be warned not to speak to strangers.

  The 10.30 flight to Greece has been delayed.

- The use of the passive is a way of avoiding placing responsibility for a particular action on any specific person or organisation:

  Due to the company’s need to increase production, the lunch break will be reduced from one hour to forty-five minutes.
(The managers will probably prefer to say this than to say We / The Company / The management will reduce the lunch break...)

I am sorry that your letter was mislaid.
(The speaker may prefer not to say I am sorry that I mislaid your letter.)

- The passive is often used to avoid a change of subject in a sentence:
  When they got to the police station, they were immediately questioned.
  I went by train and was met at the station by my aunt.

- We can use by + the performer of the action after a verb in the passive if we want to say who or what did it. This places emphasis on the performer of the action.
  We often use by + agent after the passive form of these verbs:
  build, compose, damage, design, discover, invent, make, write:
  The play was written by a previously unknown author.
  St. Paul’s Cathedral was designed by Christopher Wren.
  The book tells how he was often beaten by his cruel father.
  The petition was signed by all the people in the street.
  We were stopped by the police on our way home.

- The passive is often used with verbs of saying and believing in these constructions:
  It + passive + that clause:
  It is expected that many more people will die from starvation in the next decade.

  There + passive + *to be:
  There are believed to be many thousands of homeless teenagers living on the streets of the capital.

  Subject + passive + to–infinitive
  She is considered to be the best singer in the group.

- The passive is often used in notices, news reports and descriptions of processes:
  Customers are advised to buy their tickets in advance.
  Two escaped prisoners were recaptured this morning when they tried to board an aircraft.
  ENGLISH SPOKEN HERE
  The oranges are treated with wax and then stored in large boxes before being shipped abroad.

Notes

- Some languages often use an impersonal pronoun where English uses the passive. One as an impersonal pronoun is only occasionally used in formal English now. You is a more informal personal pronoun and is used more frequently than one:
  One often sees / You often see large cruise ships coming into this port.

- Get is often used with certain past participles: get engaged, get married, get lost, get killed, get dressed, get elected, get hit, get drunk.
Practice

23a Rewrite the sentences, putting the underlined verbs into the passive. Make any other changes necessary.

1. They should have given us this information ages ago.

   This information should have been given to us ages ago.

2. Do you want someone to wake you up in the morning?

   Do you want to be woken up in the morning?

3. I don’t like someone telling me what to do.

4. The windows are really dirty: no-one’s cleaned them for weeks.

5. After the company made him redundant, he became very depressed.

6. I would like them to have given me the chance to explain my point of view, but they weren’t interested.

7. I’m hoping they will choose me for the college football team.

8. People believe that many more people will die of skin cancer over the next ten years.

9. If it hadn’t rained so much, we would have finished the job on time.

10. We can’t take the car: the people at the garage are repairing it.
23b In your notebook, rewrite the following texts, putting the underlined verbs into the passive and making any other changes that are necessary. Use by + agent where appropriate.

1 The company is sorry to announce that the situation has forced it to introduce a range of cost-cutting measures as from the beginning of the new year. Unfortunately, we can no longer provide free tea and coffee. Someone is going to install new coin-operated drinks machines in every department and you can purchase a wide range of drinks from these. We will also stop overtime payments after the end of this month and we will expect all members of staff to complete their duties within their contract hours. You must no longer make personal calls from office phones and we request you to use the pay phone in the basement for this purpose.

2 Fire almost completely destroyed the Royal Hotel last night. By the time someone called the Fire Brigade, the hotel was already blazing. Ambulances took fifteen people to hospital suffering from severe burns. They say that seven of them are in a serious condition. People think that a discarded cigarette started the fire.

Example:
The Royal Hotel was almost completely destroyed by fire last night. By the time the Fire Brigade was/were called, ...

3 Jane is talking to her friend Greg about her holiday.

G: So, how was the holiday?
J: Oh, it was fantastic. They organized everything so well. As soon as we arrived at the airport, our courier met us and took us to the hotel. Someone had cleaned all the rooms beautifully and put fresh flowers on the tables.
G: Oh, how lovely. And what about the food?
J: It was excellent. They freshly prepared it all in the hotel and they even made the bread in the hotel kitchen. They served the bread rolls hot every morning with breakfast.
G: Mm, it does sound good. I must say, I’d like someone to cook my meals for me for a couple of weeks. And what about the surrounding area? Was that nice?
J: Oh beautiful. There were trips every day and they showed us all the local sights. There was so much history to see. You’d love it there, honestly.
Last month the Council put forward a plan to make the seafront traffic-free. Many of the shop and restaurant owners support the plan as they believe that a more pleasant environment will improve their trade. However, the hotel owners are less enthusiastic and say that the traffic restriction will make access to their car parks very difficult. There have also been protests from some local residents who complain that the closure of the seafront road will make their journeys around the town much longer.

23c Put the verbs in brackets into the correct tense and form. Some of the verbs should be in the passive and some in the active. Write the answers in the spaces provided below the text.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Animals on the roads</th>
</tr>
</thead>
| More cars and lorries drive on our roads every year and, sadly, as a result of this, more and more wild animals kill by vehicles. Roads often cross the routes that take by animals when they are migrating, breeding or feeding. Every spring, many thousands of toads kill as they make their way to the traditional breeding ponds. All over the world, animals are victims of the road and their dead remains can often see lying on the roadside. Many badgers and hedgehogs hit by cars at night as they move around in search of food. Rabbits sometimes seem to hypnotize by the headlights of cars and not move quickly out of the way. Birds sometimes hit too as they fly low over roads.

14. (can anything do) to protect these animals from the dangers of the road? Well, in 1969, a toad tunnel build in Switzerland and was a great success. Since then, other tunnels construct elsewhere in Europe, not just for toads but for badgers and salamanders too. In Florida, where the rare Florida panther live, panther tunnels build under the highway and fencing put up beside the highway to guide the animals safely into these underpasses. Road signs warning drivers to look out for particular animals often see in the US and it is to hope that they become a more common sight on the roads of Europe.
24 The causative have and the causative get

FORM

\[
\text{have/get} + \text{object} + \text{past participle}
\]

USE

- We use the causative have or the causative get when we are not concerned about the person doing the action.
  The subject of the verb have or get causes the action to take place:
  - We have/get the windows cleaned once a month.
  (We have an agreement with the window cleaner that s/he cleans the windows once a month and we pay him/her.)
  - You should have/get your eyes tested. (You should arrange for an eye test.)

- We occasionally use the causative have or get with by + agent:
  - We had/got the house decorated by a local firm of decorators.

Contrast: have and get

The causative have and the causative get are very similar and often interchangeable. However, the causative get is more concerned with the arranging that is required in order for something to be done:

- I had the car serviced this morning.
  (I caused this to happen but I may or may not have taken the car to the garage myself.)

- I got the car serviced this morning.
  (This is almost the same but there is an assumption here that I took the car to the garage.)

When we are concerned with the process of something happening and not the preparatory arrangements, we use the causative have and not the causative get:

- I like having my hair done.
- They stayed with us while they were having their flat decorated.
We do not generally use the causative get in the present perfect or past perfect: Oh, you’ve had your hair done. (NOT You’ve got your hair done.)

Notes

- We also sometimes use get + object + past participle to say that we did something ourselves. When we use it in this way, it suggests that there was a lot to be done or that it was difficult but that we managed to finish it:
  I got all my work done yesterday.
- We occasionally use the causative have and get when the subject of have/get does not cause the action to happen but is an unwilling victim. It is generally used in this way with verbs denoting crimes:
  I had/got my bag stolen last week.

Practice

24 Rewrite the words underlined using have or get + object + past participle.

1 There’s a photographer over there. Why don’t we ask her to take our picture?

   Why don’t we have/get our picture taken?

2 I’ve finally decided to arrange for someone to pierce my nose.

   I’ve finally decided to have/get my nose pierced.

3 There’s a leak in the roof. We should arrange for someone to repair it.

4 What time is it? I’m afraid someone hasn’t repaired my watch yet.

5 Someone is going to redecorate the kitchen for us next month.

6 If I were you, I’d ask someone to fell hat tree. It shuts out all the light.

7 I’m having a bit of trouble with my eyes at the moment so someone’s going to test them next week.

8 I love someone massaging my shoulders.

9 The dentist hasn’t checked my teeth this year.
10 The baby was crying because someone was washing her hair.

11 He looks much younger. I think someone’s dyed his hair.

12 I don’t know if I’ve passed the course because the tutors haven’t marked all my work yet.

13 That wasps’ nest is dangerous. You must ask someone to remove it.

MISCELLANEOUS

25 Constructions after wish

USE

• With past simple.
  To express dissatisfaction with a present situation or repeated habitual activity, use wish + past simple:
  I wish she didn’t... (but she does)
  I wish she did... (but she doesn’t)
  I wish she spoke French. (but she doesn’t. I would very much like her to.)
  With the verb to be, use was or were after I/She/He/It. Were is a little more formal:
  I wish the weather was/were a bit warmer. (but it isn’t)

• With would.
  To express dissatisfaction and annoyance about something that we would like to be different but that we do not expect to be different. When we use it to refer to a person, it suggests that the person refuses to change:
  I wish she would speak French. (but she won’t. She can speak French but she refuses to speak it.)
  I wish it would stop raining. (but it won’t. I do not expect it to stop.)

• With past perfect.
  To express regret about the past, use wish + past perfect:
  I wish I had studied harder. (but I didn’t and now I regret it.)

Notes

• We can use if only... in place of I wish... . It also expresses dissatisfaction and regret. It is somewhat stronger than wish: If only I hadn’t said that.

• Wish + to-infinitive is a more formal way of saying I want to... or I would like to... It is used in formal spoken language or in writing: The management wish to inform you that...
Practice

25 Rewrite the sentences using I wish + past simple, past perfect or would.

1 I haven’t got a car. I would very much like to have one.
   I wish I had a car.

2 I went to bed late last night. I regret it now.
   I wish I hadn’t gone to bed late last night.

3 We don’t live in a nice big flat. I would like us to.

4 I didn’t buy that dress. I regret it now.

5 He won’t stop shouting. I would like him to 6 I lost my temper I regret it now.

7 You didn’t tell me the truth. I am very sorry that you didn’t.

8 You’re playing that music. I would like you to stop playing it but I don’t expect that you will.

9 I didn’t go to that concert. I regret it now.

10 I don’t have an interesting job. I would like my job to be more interesting.

11 My family live a long way from here. I would like them to live nearer to me.

12 You’re not listening to me. I feel annoyed about it and I would like you to listen to me but I don’t think you will.

13 I am not with him now. I would very much like to be.

14 I spent all my money on that new coat. I regret it now.

15 I’m really hungry now. We didn’t eat before we came out and I regret that.
26 Phrasal verbs

A phrasal verb is formed with a verb + particle. The particle is an adverb or a preposition. Sometimes its meaning may be inferred from the meaning of the verb and the particle, e.g. Can you slow down?, but often the meaning is completely different from the meanings of the separate words, e.g. He takes after his mother in his mathematical ability.

Types of phrasal verbs:
• Intransitive:
  We must set off early tomorrow.

• Transitive (separable):
  The object can go before or after the particle.
  Did you turn down that job offer?
  Did you turn that job offer down?
  Did you turn it down?
  (NOT Did you turn down it?)

• Transitive (inseparable):
  The object can only go after the particle.
  She takes after her mother.
  (NOT She takes her mother after.)

Notes
• Some phrasal verbs have three words: verb + adverb + .preposition. In three-word phrasal verbs, the object can only go after the preposition:
  She came up with lots of good ideas.
  I think you should get down to your work.

• Some combinations of verb + particle have more than one meaning and some of them may be either transitive or intransitive:
  Business was very slow over the winter but it's picking up now.
  I'll pick you up at 8 o'clock.

• Many verbs are followed by prepositions but are not phrasal verbs. The combination of the verb with the preposition does not have a meaning of its own. The verb and the preposition each have their literal meaning:
  She walked through the room.
  I don't approve of this idea.

The distinction between a phrasal verb and a prepositional verb is not important, however. It is only important to understand the meaning of the verbs.

Practice

Jerry, a head of department, is talking to his manager, Tony.

T: So can you tell me how things are going in your department at the moment, Jerry?
J: Well, Alison’s getting on very well. I think we did the right thing taking her on. She’s already achieved higher sales than Martin this month. She’s got lots of enthusiasm and she never wastes any time; she just gets on with it.

T: Well, that’s good news. But what about Martin? Is his work still not coming up to standard?

J: No, it isn’t. His sales figures have been going down steadily since the beginning of the year. If he carries on like this, I think I’ll have to take him off that job and put him back in the office.

T: So what do you think the problem is?

J: Well, to be honest, I think he’s lost enthusiasm for the job. And I think his outside interests are taking up a lot of his time and energy.

T: I’m afraid that’s just not good enough. If his sales figures don’t start going up soon, he might find himself looking round for another job.

J: Yes, I think that’s right. I’ll fix up a meeting with him so that we can run through this year’s figures and then I’ll let him know that he can’t get away with this poor performance for much longer.

T: Yes, I really think he should give up some of these outside activities if his work is suffering.

J: Yes, I agree. Don’t worry, I’ll sort it out with him.

26b Rewrite the parts underlined, replacing the words in bold with a phrasal verb from Exercise 26a.

1 I’d like to discuss your plans with you. Can we arrange to have a meeting soon?

   Can we fix up a meeting soon?

2 You’ve got exams soon. You can’t continue going out every night.

3 He arrives late for work every day. I don’t know how he does it without getting into trouble.

4 If the business continues to expand, we’ll need to employ more staff soon.

5 We’ll never get this problem resolved if we don’t talk about it.

6 The club membership has been declining for the last five years.

7 I’m going to remove you from this case, detective. I think you’re becoming too personally involved.
8 I really think he should stop drinking; it's not doing him any good.

9 I'm afraid I'm a bit disappointed with the course. It hasn't really reached my expectations.

10 I don't think she'll want to be in the play this year. Her new job is using all her energy.

Conditionals

27 First, second and third conditional

There are three main types of conditional sentences.

First conditional (or Type 1 conditional)

*If I see Andrew at the meeting, I 'll give him your message.*
   present simple    future simple

To talk about something that is quite likely to happen in the future. It is very possible that I will see Andrew at the meeting, in which case I’ll give him your message. The condition is quite likely to be fulfilled.

Second conditional (or Type 2 conditional)

*If my parents were alive, they would be very proud of me now.*
   [they’d]
   past simple    would + infinitive

To talk about a present situation which is impossible: a hypothetical situation. The condition cannot be fulfilled because my parents are not alive.

*If she changed her job, she would be much happier.*
   [she’d]

To talk about a future event that is unlikely to happen. The speaker does not expect her to change her job. That is, it is unlikely that the condition will be fulfilled.

Third conditional (or Type 3 conditional)

*If she had worked harder, she would have passed the exams.*
   *[she’d have]/she would’ve past perfect    would + perfect infinitive

To talk about something in the past that did not happen. She didn’t work harder and she didn’t pass her exams. It is an unfulfilled condition in the past.

Notes

- In conditional sentences, the conditional clause can be the first or second clause in the sentence, although it is more often the first clause.
  When the conditional clause comes first, it is followed by a comma. When it comes second, there is no comma.
  If I get home early enough, I’ll make a special dinner.
  I’ll make a special dinner if I get home early enough.

- The tense and verb forms given here are the ones most commonly used in conditional sentences. However, it is possible to use other tenses and these variations are presented on pages 85-86.
Practice

27 The following sentences are first, second or third conditional. Put the verbs in brackets into the appropriate form.

1 We wanted to go out yesterday but the weather was terrible. If it \textit{had been}. (be) a nice day, we \textit{would have gone}... (go) for a picnic.

2 Why don’t you explain everything to him? If you
\begin{itemize}
  \item \textit{do not tell} him the truth, I’m sure
  \item \textit{regret} it one day.
\end{itemize}

3 Jennifer was here not long ago. If you
\begin{itemize}
  \item \textit{come round} earlier, you
  \item \textit{see} her.
\end{itemize}

4 Apparently, the ferry company are planning to close the port in this town. If that \textit{happen}, the town
\begin{itemize}
  \item \textit{lose} a great deal of money.
\end{itemize}

5 I \textit{help} you with it if I
\begin{itemize}
  \item \textit{have} more time but I’m afraid I haven’t got any spare time at all at the moment.
\end{itemize}

6 The government is expecting to win the next election, but if it
\begin{itemize}
  \item \textit{lose}, the Prime Minister
  \item \textit{resign} from politics.
\end{itemize}

7 I am so glad that you took me to your friend’s party. If we \begin{itemize}
  \item \textit{not go} there, I
  \item \textit{never meet} Adrian.
\end{itemize}

8 It’s ridiculous that trains are so expensive. If fares
\begin{itemize}
  \item \textit{be} cheaper, I’m sure more people
  \item \textit{use} the train and leave their cars at home.
\end{itemize}

9 If she \textit{get} that job she’s applied for, she \textit{be} delighted. And I think she’s got a good chance of getting it.

10 Fortunately the explosion took place at night when the streets were empty. It \textit{be} a disaster if it
\begin{itemize}
  \item \textit{happen} in the middle of the day.
11 The talks between the two leaders keep breaking down. If they .............. (break down) again, it is possible that there ............... (be) a war between the two countries.

12 If Alison ....................... (know) anything about car mechanics, I’m sure she ....................... (help) us fix the car, but I think she knows even less than we do.

13 They’ve been married for twenty years now but I don’t think she ............... (marry) him if she
............... (know) what a selfish man he was.

14 Children spend too much time watching television and playing computer games. I’m sure they ....................... (be) happier if they ....................... (spend) more time playing outside.

15 Jamie has everything he wants but he’s always moaning. I’m sure that if I ....................... (have) so much money, I
....................... (not moan) all the time.
Conditional sentences: variations in tenses

There are a number of variations in the tenses or verb forms that can be used in conditional sentences.

First conditional

The if clause is usually in the present simple. However, we can also use: present continuous, present perfect simple, present perfect continuous, can, should:

If he’s still waiting for you, he’ll be very angry.
If you’re coming out with us tonight, you’ll need to be ready by 7 o’clock.
If Rob’s received your letter, I’m sure he’ll phone you today.
If it’s been raining in the night, you’ll have to wear wellingtons.
If I can finish work early, I’ll come and help you.
If I should see him, I’ll tell him the good news.

Note: When we use if + should, the condition is less likely to be fulfilled.

The main clause usually has the verb in the future with will/shall. However, we can also use: ‘be going to’ future, future continuous, future perfect, imperative, can/could, may/might, should/ought to, must:

If Helen passes all her exams, we’re going to buy her a big present.
If we book this holiday, we’ll be lying on a warm beach in two weeks’ time.
If they win this next match, they’ll have won every match in the season.
If you need any help, call me.
If you phone me after 12 o’clock, I might be in bed.
If they don’t eat their dinner, they can’t have any ice-cream.

Second conditional

The if clause is usually in the past simple. However, we can also use the past continuous, could, or were/was to:

If you were coming with me, I’d give you a lift.
If I could have the day off, I’d come with you.
If you were to ask Steve, I’m sure he would do it.

The main clause usually has the modal would + infinitive. However, the modals could and might are also used and the infinitive can be in the continuous form:

If we had more money, we wouldn’t be living here.
If we had more money, we could go out more often.
If you asked Tony, he might do it for you.
Third conditional

The if clause is usually in the past perfect simple. However, we can also use the past perfect continuous or could + perfect infinitive:

If he had been travelling in that car, he would have been killed too.
If we could have got a taxi, we would have come round to see you.

The main clause usually has the modal would + perfect infinitive.
However, we can also use the modals could and might before the perfect infinitive:

If I had known there was no more work to do, I could have stayed in bed.
If the ambulance had come sooner, he might have been saved.

The zero conditional

If I stay out late, I always get a taxi home.

present simple  present simple

To describe something that is generally true. The use of if here is very similar to when.

Each time I stay out late, I get a taxi home.

We can also use the past simple in the two clauses:
If I stayed out late, I always got a taxi home.

Practice

28 Put the verbs in brackets into the appropriate form.

1 Oh dear, I think we’re a bit late. If the concert’s already started, we won’t be allowed. (not be allowed) to go in.

2 He wouldn’t be coming here if he ................................................................. (not want) to.

3 If you were planning to leave your husband, I ................................................................. (advise) you against it.

4 He could be earning lots of money now if he really ................................................................. (want) to, but I don’t think that’s what he wants.

5 You can stay here tonight if you .................................................................
 (not have) anywhere else to stay.

6 If I could have phoned you, I .................................................................
 (tell) you what was happening.

7 If you ................................................................. (have) any problems, give me a ring.
8 If you .......................................................... (get) here at about 8 o'clock, I'll be waiting for you.
9 We could have got there in time if you ............................................. (phone) us earlier.
10 If this should happen again, .................................................. (come) and .......................................................... (tell) me about it immediately.
11 You can't expect kindness and support from your family if you .......................................................... (not give) the same to them.
12 If she's been working all day, she ...................................................... (be) very tired when she gets in.
13 If the management were to reinstate the strike leader, the strike .......................................................... (be called off).
14 If I .......................................................... (keep) working on this essay, I'll have finished it by tonight.
15 If I could borrow some money, I .......................................................... (definitely come) on the holiday with you, but I think it's unlikely.
16 I might have been able to help you if you .................................................. (explain) the problem to me.
17 If I could live wherever I wanted to, I think I .................................................. (choose) to live on a Scottish island.
18 If they had been listening more carefully, they .................................................. (might understand) what I was saying.
19 If I .......................................................... (be) a year older, I could join the army.
20 If I .......................................................... (get) a pay rise, I'm going to buy a new car.
29 Mixed conditionals

In addition to all the tense variations that we can use in first, second and third conditionals, it is also possible to mix conditionals so that, for example, the if clause uses a verb form used in the first conditional and the main clause uses a verb form used in the third conditional. The context defines the meaning. The most common mixed conditional is:

\[
\begin{array}{ll}
3\text{rd} & 2\text{nd} \\
\text{if} + \text{past perfect} & \text{would/could/might} + \text{infinitive} \end{array}
\]

Examples of mixed conditionals

\[
\begin{array}{ll}
3\text{rd} & 2\text{nd} \\
\text{If I had worked} & \text{I would have a degree now.} \\
1\text{st} & 2\text{nd} \\
\text{If you come} & \text{I wouldn’t bring Mike with you.} \\
2\text{nd} & 3\text{rd} \\
\text{If she loved him, she would have stayed} & \text{with him.}
\end{array}
\]

Practice

29 Match the clauses and write the mixed conditional sentences in your notebook.

1 If you had told me about this problem earlier, A he probably won’t be at the meeting.

2 If you were a more sensitive person, B you could always ring them up.

3 If they don’t contact you soon, C his wife would never have left him.

4 If he hadn’t died so young, D you wouldn’t have said that to her.

5 If he didn’t work so hard all the time, E I would have had them by now.

6 If the train hadn’t been delayed, F everything would be all right now.

7 If he was feeling ill this morning, G would you hurry up and get ready?

8 If you’re coming with us, H you wouldn’t be so busy this month.

9 If I really wanted to have children, I we would be there by now.

10 If you had worked harder last month, J I’m sure he’d be a famous musician by now.

Example:
1F - If you had told me about this problem earlier, everything would be all right now.
30  Conditionals

As you have seen, it is possible to use almost any combination of tenses in conditional sentences. The context determines the choice of tense.

Check

30  Put the verbs in brackets into the appropriate form.

1 Harry and Sarah, a husband and wife, are talking.

H: Shall I make the children something to eat?

S: I wouldn’t bother. You know how much they eat when they visit their grandparents.

H: That’s true. If they have been eating (eat) all afternoon, they 2 ...................................................... (not want) anything when they get home.

S: Are we going to pick them up soon?

H: No, my parents are bringing them over. We agreed that if I

3 ...................................................... (take) them there, they

4 ...................................................... (bring) them back.

S: Oh good. Well, if we ............................................... (not collect) them, I ............................................... (go back) upstairs and do a bit more work. I’ve nearly finished that report now. If I

5 ...................................................... (do) another half hour’s work, I

6 ...................................................... (finish) it by the time the children get home.

H: Why do you always have to bring work home with you? If you

9 ...................................................... (not agree) to take on that new job, you ............................................... (have) much more free time now.

S: Yes, and if I ............................................... (not take on) that job, we ............................................... (not have) much money now.

H: That’s true, but I don’t like you working so much.

S: Well never mind. We’ve got a week’s holiday soon. Just think! In two week’s time, we ............................................... (lie) on a warm sunny beach – that’s if I ............................................... (can get) the time off work of course.
H: What do you mean, ‘if’?
S: Well, everything’s very busy at the moment. And if we 15.................................................. (get) any more orders, I just 16.................................................. (not see) how I can leave the office.
H: What? But that’s ridiculous.

2 Dear Angela,

Thanks for your letter, it was nice to hear from you. And yes, I would like to come and see you in Spain. If I 17.................................................. (save up) enough money when the summer holidays start, I 18..................................
(try) and come then – if that 19.................................................. (be)
O.K. Otherwise, I’ll come over in the autumn because I’m sure I
20.................................................. (save up) enough by October – if I
21.................................................. (not lose) my job by then!
Unfortunately, lots of people in our company are being made redundant and it could be me next. If I 22.................................................. (have) any sense, I 23.................................................. (leave) this job ages ago. Still it could be worse I suppose.

I was delighted to hear about your promotion – it’s great news. If you
24.................................................. (keep on) getting promoted, you
25.................................................. (run) the whole school soon.

And it sounds like the weather’s been really good over there. It’s been terrible here. I don’t think it’s been dry once this month. If it 26..............
................................................. (be) dry, I 27.............................................
(not notice). Oh well, we’re hoping it’ll get better soon. If it 28.................................................. (still rain) at the weekend, we (decide) we’ll try and emigrate!

Have you heard from Charlotte by the way? She said she was going to phone you to tell you that she’s pregnant. If she (not phone you up yet), (not tell) her that I’ve already told you her news, will you?

All the best,
Jade

31 Words other than if

Conditionals can also be introduced by the following conjunctions:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>unless</th>
<th>even if</th>
<th>if only</th>
<th>as/so long as</th>
<th>assuming (that)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>on (the) condition (that)</td>
<td>provided / providing (that)</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

_in questions:_ suppose / supposing (that) _what if_ imagine

Practice

31 In your notebook, rewrite the sentences replacing if with the most appropriate conjunction.

1 Mr Davidson says he’ll come and give a talk at the conference if we pay him a reasonable fee.
   (supposing that / unless / on condition that)
   _Mr Davidson says he’ll come and give a talk at the conference on condition that we pay him a reasonable fee._

2 I won’t help him if he doesn’t ask me properly.
   (provided / unless / as long as)

3 If I could get a job, life here would be perfect.
   (what if / even if / if only)

4 If you had a lot of money, do you think you would give up work?
   (Supposing that / Providing that / As long as)

5 If the train arrives on time, they’ll be here in a few minutes.
   (What if / Assuming that / On condition that)

6 If he doesn’t agree to my request, what will I do then?
   (Imagine / What if / Provided that)

7 You can go out tonight if you get back by midnight.
   (as long as / assuming that / supposing that)
8 If the helicopter hadn’t been there to save her, what would have happened then?
   (If only / Imagine / Unless)
9 If you’d offered to pay me a thousand pounds, I wouldn’t have done it.
   (If only / Provided that / Even if)
10 If Rosie gets this new promotion, we’ll have enough money for a holiday abroad this year.
   (Even if / Provided that / Supposing that)

32 Implied conditionals

Conditions are not always expressed in the form of conditional clauses, particularly in spoken English. They can be expressed in another way or they may be evident from the context:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Please come out with us tonight. I’m sure you’ll enjoy it.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>(implied condition: if you come out with us)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>With a bit more help, I would have finished it on time.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(with a bit more help = if I had had more help)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I’m sure we’d really enjoy going on holiday with you but we just can’t afford it.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(implied condition: if we went)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I’m glad you didn’t tell Matthew about it. He would have been furious.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>(implied condition: if you had told him)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Practice

32 The condition is not stated in a conditional clause in the following underlined sentences. It is implied or is stated in a different way. Write a sentence containing the underlined words as a main clause, and an appropriate conditional clause.

1 I think Alison should apply for the job. She would make a very good managing director.
   She would make a very good managing director if she got the job.

2 The problem is that she doesn’t work very hard. I know that she could do really well.

3 We’re lucky it’s sunny today. It would be horrible sitting out here otherwise.
4 He would not be able to live on his own without the help of his neighbours.

5 With luck, we’ll finish the job by the end of today.

6 I hear you’re thinking of going to Indonesia for the summer. You’ll love it there.

7 I hope those refugees aren’t deported, but I think they will be. They may be imprisoned or even executed.

8 It’s a good job you brought all those tables and chairs in from outside last night. The rain would have ruined them.

9 Mark should have told her the truth. I’m sure she would have forgiven him.

10 Without the help of the Red Cross doctors, many more would have died.
Modal auxiliaries

Modal auxiliaries: introduction

Modal auxiliaries are also sometimes called modal verbs or modals. The following are modal auxiliaries:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Present</th>
<th>Past form</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>can</td>
<td>could</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>may</td>
<td>might</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>will</td>
<td>would</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>shall</td>
<td>should</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>must</td>
<td>—</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ought to</td>
<td>—</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>need</td>
<td>—</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

FORM

- Positive: subject + modal + bare infinitive:
  - I must see you tomorrow.
  - We must go now.

- Negative: subject + modal + not/n’t + bare infinitive:
  - You shouldn’t go to bed so late.
  - They needn’t come if they don’t want to.

- Question: modal + subject + bare infinitive:
  - Can you help me?
  - Will she be here soon?

- Short answers: subject + modal auxiliary:
  - Yes, we can. No, they won’t.

- Modal auxiliaries always stay the same. They cannot be:
  - put into different tenses.
  - used as infinitives.
  - used as gerunds or present participles.

- They can be followed by the infinitive in different forms:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Active</th>
<th>Passive</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>bare infinitive:</td>
<td>be + past participle:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>must take</td>
<td>must be taken</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>be + present participle:</td>
<td>have been + past participle:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>must be taking</td>
<td>must have been taken</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>have + past participle:</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>must have taken</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>have been + present participle:</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>must have been taking</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Notes
• need can be a modal auxiliary only in the question or negative form.
• ought is the only modal auxiliary followed by to.
• dare can be used as a modal auxiliary in the question and negative forms. It can also be used as a main verb followed by the to-infinitive. It is not a common modal auxiliary and is not therefore included in the practice exercises.

Practice
33 Rewrite the following sentences using a modal. The underlined words can be written as subject + modal + verb (or modal + subject + verb in questions). In some sentences, more than one modal is possible.

1 I promise to phone you next week.
   I will/I'll phone you next week.

2 At the age of nine, he still didn’t know how to read.
   At the age of nine, he still couldn’t read.

3 It’s essential that we leave on time tomorrow morning.

4 Are you able to come with me tonight?

5 It’s not a good idea for you to work so hard.

6 It’s possible that they’ll be here soon.

7 Why don’t we go and see a film tonight?

8 He said that he intended to write to me soon.

9 Is it possible for me to sit here?
10 He refuses to give me an answer.

11 It’s not necessary for you to apologize.

12 Am I allowed to smoke in here?

13 He knew how to speak four languages by the time he was twelve.

14 I want to help you but I’m not able to.

15 I think it’s a good idea for me to stay in tonight: I’ve got a lot of work to do.

16 I don’t know who she is but it’s possible that she’s Rick’s sister.

17 Do not tell him any of this: it’s vital that it remains a secret

18 I intend to finish this essay before I go to bed.

19 It’s 7 o’clock. I assume that Clare will be here soon.

20 He’s in but he’s not answering the phone. I’m sure that he’s asleep.
34 Ability: can, could, be able

- Can (present or future) and could (past) refer to a general ability to do something. Can is also used to refer to an ability to do something specific at a time in the future:
  - She can sing really well.
  - I can come and see you next week.
  - I can’t swim so I won’t come to the pool with you.
  - He could read when he was four.
  - I couldn’t understand the language when I first came here.

- Can and could refer to the ability to do something, but not to the doing of it. We use can or be able to talk about ability:
  - Will you be able to/can you come on Saturday?
  - *My parents live quite a distance away so we’re not able to/can’t see them very often."
  - *He had a motorbike accident at the age of eighteen and after that he wasn’t able to/couldn’t walk."

  - We use be able to talk about ability + achievement of the action:
    - *Jan gave me a lift home so I was able to stay at the party till late.
    - *We got lost but we were able to find our way home again with the map.

- We use will be able and not can to talk about skills that will be acquired in the future:
  - *I’ll be able to drive by next summer so we can hire a car."
  - *Will you be able to read textbooks in German when you’ve finished this course?"

- We use can + be + adjective or noun to talk about possibility:
  - *The sea can be quite warm in September. The sea is sometimes quite warm in September."
  - *She can be very charming when she wants to be."

- We use be able for different grammatical forms that are not possible with can:
  - *I like being able to work at home.
  - *We’d like to be able to help you but we can’t.
  - *I’ve been able to work much faster since I got that new computer."

- We use can, could and could have in conditional sentences. We also use them in sentences with an implied condition:
  - *I can help you if you want me to.
  - *I could do it if I had the time.
  - *You could do that job easily. (if you had that job)
  - *I couldn’t have done it if I hadn’t had your help.
  - *I could have got here earlier but I didn’t know you were waiting. (I could have got here earlier if I had known you were waiting.)"
Practice

34 Complete the sentences with the correct form of can, could or be able. If it is possible to use can/could or be able, use can/could.

1 He is very fit for his age. He ...can run. (run) really fast.

2 I’d like ...to be able to work. (work) with you one day.

3 He ............................................... (not climb) up to the top: he was too scared.

4 If they hadn’t phoned for an ambulance, he ........................................... (die).

5 I love ............................................. (spend) all morning in bed at the weekends.

6 We ................................................. (go) to that concert tomorrow if the tickets haven’t sold out.

7 I think you should go in the spring: it ................................................ (be) very crowded there in the summer.

8 I ...................................................... (not understand) what he says: he speaks too quickly.

9 Do you know where Nick’s glasses are? He ........................................... (not see) very much without them.

10 ..................................................... (speak) another language fluently is a great advantage when you’re looking for a job.

11 Jonathan .............................................. (not say) anything until he was about three years old.

12 We .................................................. (not phone her up) because her phone had broken, but fortunately we ........................................... (get) a message to her.

13 Amy’s exam results weren’t very good. She ........................................... (do) better.

14 I ....................................................... (not sleep) very well for the last four nights. It’s been too hot.

15 She tried to think of other things but she ............................................... (not put) that awful memory out of her mind.

16 You should ........................................... (go out) when you want to.
17 ................................................................. (you come) to the party on Saturday?

18 I ................................................................. (ride) this bike soon: I just need more time to practise.
19 He doesn’t do very much when he’s here. He .............................................
 ................................................ (be) more helpful.
20 I ................................................................. (play) tennis really well a few years ago, but not anymore.

35 Certainty, possibility, deduction: can, could, may, might, must, will, should, ought to

- To talk about something that it is possible to do at any time, use can or may. With this use, can and may are often followed by the passive infinitive: Suitcases can/may be left in the left luggage office at the station. Stamps can/may be bought at most shops which sell cards.

- To talk about a future possibility, use may or might. We can also use could; could refers to a theoretical possibility: The parcel may/might arrive tomorrow. I may/might see you next week. You could go by train. (It is possible to take a train there if you wanted to do that.)

- To talk about a present or future certainty, use will + simple or continuous infinitive: You can phone Sally: she’ll be at home now. I’ll be there by 9 o’clock. The meeting will start at 7.30. We should go now: they’ll be waiting for us. I’ll be standing on the platform when you arrive.
• To talk about the possibility in the present, use may, might or could + simple infinitive (usually the verb to be) or continuous infinitive:

‘Where’s Tony?’ ‘I don’t know. He may be outside.’
‘Whose is this?’ ‘It could be Emma’s.’
Alison’s not in the office today so she may be working at home.
I won’t phone Jennifer now because she might be having a rest.

• To talk about possibility in the past, use may, might or could + perfect infinitive (simple or continuous):

It’s 8.30 so she may have left by now.
I don’t know why they’re so late. I suppose they could have got lost.
Sue wasn’t at the party last night. She might have been feeling too tired to come.

• To make a deduction about something in the present, use must (positive deduction) or can’t (negative deduction) + simple infinitive (usually the verb to be) or continuous infinitive:

Jane’s not at home so she must be on her way here.
The office is closed now so he can’t be there.
Barbara’s back at work now so she must be feeling better.
He can’t be driving here: he hasn’t got a car.

• To make a deduction about something in the past, use must or can’t (or couldn’t) + perfect infinitive (simple or continuous):

It’s very wet outside so it must have rained in the night.
He can’t have forgotten about the meeting: he talked to me about it only this morning.
You must have been talking on the phone for a long time last night: I phoned four times and it was engaged.
Eddie couldn’t have done that robbery: he was with me the whole weekend.

• We can use should or ought to + present infinitive to make assumptions about the present or the future and should or ought to + perfect infinitive to make assumptions about the past. We use should more frequently than ought to:

The train got in half an hour ago so they should be here soon.
The sun’s been shining all day so the sea should be quite warm now.
The weather’s lovely there at this time of year so they should be having a nice holiday.
Let’s go and see Cathy: she ought to have finished working by now.

Notes

• We can use modals in short responses:

‘Are they at home now?’ ‘They might be.’
‘I expect Debbie was very pleased with her results.’ ‘Yes, she must have been.’

• In short responses, do often replaces other verbs:

‘Has he gone home?’ ‘He may have done.’

Advice, obligation, necessity: should, ought to, must, have to, have got to, need

- To give advice, use should or ought to. Should is used more frequently. Should/Ought to = that course of action would be a good idea; it would be the best thing to do. It can refer to present time or to future time:
  You should/ought to try and lose some weight.
  We should/ought to be leaving soon.
  You shouldn’t/oughtn’t to take any notice of him. He always upsets you.
  Should we/Ought we to tell Ann where we’re going?
  We often use should/ought to with I think .../Do you think ...?/Don’t you think...?
  Don’t you think you should/ought to stop seeing him?
  We sometimes use I should ... (NOT I ought to) to give advice to someone else when there is an implied condition if I were you:
  Everything’s going to be allright. I should stop worrying about it. (if I were you)

- To give strong advice and recommendations, use must. It can refer to present time or to future time.
  You must go and see that film; it’s fantastic.
  You really must try to forget him.
  You mustn’t let him talk to you like that.
  We must go and visit them more often.
  You must come and stay with us sometime. (Here it is used to give a casual invitation.)

- To criticize actions in the past, use should or ought to + perfect infinitive.
  Should/Ought to in the past means that the subject did not do the right thing:
  I should have stayed at home. (= I didn’t stay at home and my behaviour was wrong.)
  You shouldn’t have said that. (= You said that and it was the wrong thing to have said.)
  They shouldn’t have been talking when the exam started.
  Should I have phoned you back?

- To talk about obligation, use must, mustn’t or have to.
  Have to is not a modal verb. It is an ordinary verb and it can be used in any form.
  Must and have to are often interchangeable but there is sometimes a difference between them.
  Have to – the obligation is often external, it comes from the situation:
  We have to get up early tomorrow to catch the plane.
  (The time of the plane is the reason for the obligation.)
  Must – the obligation comes from the speaker or writer of the sentence.
  This may be an individual or some kind of authority:
  We must get up early tomorrow. We’ve got a lot to do.
  (We are imposing the obligation on ourselves.)
  Passengers must fasten their seat belts.
  (The obligation is imposed by the airline who wrote the notice.)
  Children must wear school uniform at all times when they are in school.
  You mustn’t smoke in here.
  We’ll have to get there before 5 o’clock because the shops close then.
  Do you have to pay for the tickets in advance?
• We can also use have got to to express obligation.
  Have got to is often interchangeable with have to but there is sometimes a difference.
  Have to can be used for habitual actions and single actions:
  I have to get the bus into work today.
  I have to get the bus into work every day.
  Have got to can only be used for single actions:
  I have got to get the bus into work today.
  (NOT: I have got to get the bus into work every day.)

• To express a negative obligation, use mustn’t.
  Do not use don’t have to. Don’t have to means there is no obligation:
  You mustn’t wait here. (You are not allowed to wait here.)
  You don’t have to wait here. (It is not necessary for you to wait here but you can if you want to.)

• To express obligation in the past, use had to:
  I had to report the incident to the police.
  Did you have to get a visa?

Note: Must + perfect infinitive is not used to talk about past obligation. It is used to make deductions about the past: She must have left early.

• To express necessity, use need.
  We can use need as a modal verb in questions and negative sentences. It is mostly used in the negative:
  You needn’t come if you don’t want to.
  Need I bring anything with me?
  We can also use need as an ordinary verb, followed by the *to-*infinitive:
  You don’t need to come if you don’t want to.
  Do I need to bring anything with me?
  Everyone needs to eat fresh fruit and vegetables.
  I’ll need to buy some new clothes if I get that job.

• To express lack of necessity in the past, use needn’t + perfect infinitive or didn’t need to/didn’t have to + infinitive. There is some difference between them:
  I needn’t have gone to the station so early. *The train was nearly an hour late.
  (It wasn’t necessary to go to the station early but I didn’t realise that and so I did get there early.)
  We didn’t need to/didn’t have to get up early this morning because we had no lectures. (It wasn’t necessary and so we didn’t do it.)

Note: We do not use need + perfect infinitive in the positive.
Practice

36 Complete the sentences using the modals should, ought to, must, need or the verb have to in the correct tense and form. Put the infinitive into the appropriate form.

12 Offer to answer the phone.
    ...............................................................

13 Ask a friend for a pen.
    ..............................................................
Habit

would and used to

- used to is not a modal. It is formed like this:

  I used to work there.

  I didn’t use to work there.

  Did you use to work there?

- Use would and used to to talk about past habits:

  When we were children, my brother and I used to fight all the time.

  When we were children, my brother and I would fight all the time.

- When we use would to talk about a past habit, it is necessary to use a past time reference. Used to can be used with or without a past time reference.

  I used to go out a lot.

  (NOT I would go out a lot.)

  Before I got this job, I used to/would go out a lot.

- When we talk about past situations (not actions), we can use used to but we can’t use would:

  We used to live in a flat in the town centre.

  (NOT We would live in a flat in the town centre.)

  She used to have long hair but now she wears it short.

Practice

38 Complete the sentences with would or used to. Where either form is possible, write them both. Where there is a word in brackets, put it in the correct position.

1  I used to have lots of free time before I started working here.

2  In the long summer holidays, we used to/would go out somewhere with a picnic every day.

3  When I was a newly-trained teacher, I used to work till late every night preparing lessons.

4  They used to be happy together but they’re not now.

5  When they came to London, they used to (never) travel anywhere on the tube.

6  When I had a car, I used to drive everywhere, but now I’m much fitter because I always walk or cycle.

7  During my last year at university, I used to go to the library to start work at 9 o’clock every morning.

8  When we shared a flat together, we used to stay up talking late into the night.
9 When Amy was a baby, people (often) come up to me and tell me how beautiful she was.

10 He be very overweight but he’s much slimmer now.

11 When I was at school, I (never) do my weekend homework until Sunday evening.

12 I work in the same department as your sister.

13 When I was a teenager, I (often) spend the whole evening just listening to music.

14 She have a lot of boyfriends when she was younger.

15 He go for a run every day.
Gerunds and infinitives

39  Gerunds and infinitives: uses

The gerund

USES
- Subject of a verb:
  Smoking is bad for you.
- Object of a verb:
  Do you like cooking?
- The complement of to be:
  His favourite activity is watching television.
- After prepositions:
  She’s very good at listening to people.
- After determiners (a, the, this, some, a lot of):
  The bombing of civilians horrified everyone.
- After possessive adjectives, object pronouns or nouns:
  I hope you don’t mind his/him/John coming here.
- After adjectives:
  Regular swimming is very good for you.
  It was awful working there.
- In certain expressions:
  It’s no use trying to help her.
  Is this for peeling vegetables?
  How about going out for a meal tonight?
  There are some jobs I hate, like washing and ironing the clothes.
  We usually go fishing at the weekend.
  No smoking

Notes
- Gerunds can take objects and can be qualified by adverbs.
  I enjoy reading new books.
  gerund  object
  You should stop working so hard.
  gerund  adverb
- The negative gerund form is not + gerund:
  It’s nice not being at work.

The infinitive

USES
- After certain verbs:
  They agreed to come.
- After certain verbs + person (object):
  I asked her to come here.
Gerunds and infinitives

• After to be:
  My first thought was to phone you.

• To express purpose:
  I came here to tell you the good news.

• After be + adjective (+ of + noun/pronoun):
  It was nice to see you.
  It's kind of you to help me.
  She's very keen to do the course.

• After the first/second/last/only/best (and other superlative adjectives) + noun or pronoun 'one':
  He was the only one to die.

• After a noun/pronoun. The verb in the infinitive relates to the preceding noun/pronoun:
  There's a lot of work to do.
  I've got a few people to see.

• After verbs of knowing and believing:
  verb + object + infinitive or verb in the passive + infinitive
  I know him to be an honest man.
  He is known to be an honest man.
  We consider it to be our duty.
  It is considered to be our duty.

• After verb + question word:
  I don't know what to do.

• After too + adjective and after adjective + enough:
  He's too ill to come.
  The garden isn't big enough to play games in.

• After is/are to describe a future event:
  He is to become Mayor next month.

Notes

• Infinitives can take objects and can be qualified by adverbs:
  He expects to win the race easily.

  infinitive object adverb

• The negative infinitive form is not + (to-) infinitive:
  He agreed not to tell anyone.
Verb + infinitive, verb + gerund

The to-infinitive after a verb often describes a future event, an event following the main verb. For example, after hope, expect, promise, want, the event in the to-infinitive comes after the activity or thought in the main verb:
I hope to see you next week.

The gerund describes an activity. It does not indicate a time sequence:
We enjoyed seeing you last weekend.

Practice

39a In your notebook, copy the table and put the following verbs into the correct columns.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Verb (+ person) + infinitive</th>
<th>Verb + preposition + gerund</th>
<th>Verb + gerund</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>arrange (for s.o.)</td>
<td>apologize for</td>
<td>avoid</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

39b Put the verbs in brackets into the infinitive or the gerund.

1. He has promised to deliver (deliver) it to me this afternoon.
2. I’ve invited Mark and Anna (stay) for the weekend.
3. I don’t mind (stay) at home to look after the children.
4. Has she decided (take) that job?
5. He’s always complaining about (work) too hard.
6. He claims (be) her brother but I think he’s lying.
7. Why are you blaming me for (get) lost? You’ve got the map.
8. We don’t believe in (buy) each other big presents.
9. I know you don’t approve of (smoke) so I won’t smoke in here.
10. The doctor told me (stay) in bed but it’s so boring.
11. Don’t keep on (talk) about it. It’s upsetting me.
12. It’s raining outside. Would you prefer (stay in)?
13. My boss told me (not leave) the office before five.
14 It’s very nice here but I miss ................. (see) my friends.
15 I don’t recommend ......................... (study) on your own.
16 I’ve always dreamed of ....................... (live) in a cottage in the country.
17 Sometimes I think you enjoy .................. (upset) me.
18 I regret .................................... (not keep) in touch with my old friends.
19 I’m not expecting him ......................... (phone) me tonight but I hope he does.
20 Don’t forget ................................. (lock up) when you go to bed.

40 The bare infinitive

We generally use to with the infinitive, e.g. I want to see you. However, in some cases, we use the bare infinitive: that is, the infinitive without to.

USES
- After modals and after the auxiliaries do/did:
  You must come.
  They may arrive soon.
  Did you pass the exam?
- After Let’s …:
  [us]
  Let’s go out tonight.
- After make + noun/pronoun object:
  He made me come here.
- After would rather:
  I’d rather walk there than take the bus.
  I’d rather not stay out late tonight.
- After had better:
  We’d better go home now.
- After Why not …?:
  Why not phone me tomorrow?

• After the verb help, we can use the to–infinitive or the bare infinitive:
  Can you help me (to) open this?
• After a verb of perception (see, watch, notice, feel, hear) + object:
  I didn't hear you come in.

Note: Present participles also come after verbs of perception. See page 116.

• When there is a series of infinitives after a verb:
  I'd like to come and see you.

Practice

40 In your notebook, copy the dialogue underlining all the infinitives and adding to where it is required.

Two friends, Alex and Megan, are talking.

A: Megan, where were you last night? I tried to find you but I couldn't see you anywhere. James says he didn't see you come in to the party.
M: Yes Alex, that's right. I'm sorry. My parents wouldn't let me come out last night. I wanted see you – honestly I did.
A: Why did your parents make you stay in? They usually allow you go out in the evenings, don't they?
M: Yes, but I hadn't finished doing my homework. And they refused let me go out until I had.
A: Oh dear, poor you. Oh well, never mind. Let's do something tonight instead.
M: OK. Actually, I'd like see that new film.
A: Would you? I suppose it might be quite good but I'd rather just go out to the cafe. I was hoping have a chance talk to you properly.
M: Well, why not do both? We could go to the early showing of the film and then go to the cafe.
A: I'm not sure I can afford go to the cinema.
M: That's all right. I've got some money.
A: So what time would you like meet, then?
M: Six o'clock I suppose – in the cinema. I'll try get there a bit earlier and buy the tickets.
41 Verbs of perception + object + ing or the bare infinitive

Verbs of perception (see, notice, look at, watch, feel, hear, listen to) can be followed by the ing form or the bare infinitive. The verb smell can only be followed by the ing form:
The use of the bare infinitive describes the complete action:
I watched her play tennis. (I saw the whole game.)
The use of the ing form describes the action in progress:
I watched her playing tennis. (I saw the game in progress.)
The ing form after a verb of perception is a present participle. Verb of perception + present participle is more common than verb of perception + bare infinitive. The difference between the use of the present participle and the use of the bare infinitive is often very small:
I always hear the birds singing in the mornings.
I always hear the birds sing in the mornings.

Note: We use a few other verbs with the present participle: find, discover, catch, leave, keep. These verbs cannot be followed by the bare infinitive:
I found her looking in my desk.

Practice

41 Rewrite the following pairs of sentences as one sentence, using the ing form or a bare infinitive.

1 I saw you the other day. You were cycling to work.
   I saw you cycling to work the other day.

2 I heard him early this morning. He left the house.
   I heard him leave the house early this morning.

3 She stood there and watched him. He drove away.

4 Did you notice me? I was crying.

5 I’ve often seen you. You’ve been walking along the beach with your dog.

6 Have you ever heard him? He plays the saxophone.

7 I expect to find you when I get back. You’ll be working hard.

8 Did you hear me? I arrived.
9 I looked at the child and felt very sad. She was smiling up at me.

10 We heard them. They were arguing all night.

11 I can feel my hands. They’re shaking.

12 I watched you and then I left. You went to sleep.

13 I never really noticed your hair. It was going grey.

14 I can smell smoke. It’s coming in through the windows.

15 He watches me every weekend. I play football.

42 Verbs followed by the to-infinitive or the gerund

Some verbs can be followed by the to-infinitive or the gerund, with some change in meaning.

BE
My favourite watersport is wind-surfing.
(The gerund behaves like a noun and describes an activity.)
Our plan is to close the factory down next year.
(The to-infinitive describes a complete event. It often describes a future event and is frequently used after words like plan, aim, intention, decision, solution.)

REMEMBER
I remembered to give her the message.
(I remembered first and then I gave her the message.)
I remember giving her the message.
(I gave her the message and now I remember that I did that.)

FORGET
I forgot to go to that meeting.
(I forgot and so I didn’t go.)
I forget going to that meeting.
(I forget now that I went.)

TRY
I tried to open the door but it was locked.
(I tried to do it, but I couldn’t. The attempt failed.)
I couldn’t open the door so I tried using a different key.
(Try doing something suggests an experiment. I experimented with using a different key. The result may have been a success or a failure.)
REGRET
I regret to say that your interview was not successful.
(I am sorry to say .... Regret is quite formal here.)
I really regret being so rude to her.
(The speaker looks back to an action that took place in the past. The regretting takes place now.)

STOP
We stopped to have a cup of tea.
(The to–infinitive describes purpose. It introduces the reason why we stopped.)
We stopped talking when she came in.
(Talking is what we were doing. That is what we stopped doing.)

GO ON
After an unsuccessful first year at university, he went on to get a first-class degree.
(go on + to–infinitive = move to something different.)
We went on talking all night.
(go on + gerund = continue doing the same thing)

LIKE / DISLIKE / LOVE / HATE
I like going for a run before work.
(I enjoy the activity of going for a run before work. I may or may not do it regularly.)
I like to go for a run before work.
(Describes a regular activity. I like it because I think it’s a good idea. I may or may not enjoy the activity while I am actually doing it.)

PREFER
I don’t go out much. I prefer to stay at home in the evenings.
I don’t go out much. I prefer staying at home in the evenings.
(The meaning of these two sentences is very similar.)
I prefer staying in to going out.
(We cannot say: I prefer to stay in to go out.)
I’d prefer to stay in tonight.
(Would prefer is followed by the infinitive and refers to a specific occasion.
NOT I’d prefer staying in tonight.)

BEGIN / START / CONTINUE
He began/started/continued shouting.
He began/started/continued to shout.
(The meaning of these two sentences is very similar.)

ADVISE / ALLOW / ENCOURAGE / FORBID / RECOMMEND
They advised us to leave.
They advised leaving.
(These verbs are usually followed by an object [name of a person or a personal pronoun] + to–infinitive. Occasionally they have no object. In that case, they take a gerund.)
NEED
I need to get up early tomorrow.
(It is necessary for me to do it.)
The car needs cleaning.
(Need + gerund has a passive meaning. Someone needs to clean the car: it doesn’t matter who does it.)

Practice
42 Complete the following texts putting the verbs into the gerund or the to–infinitive.

1  Caroline and Simone, two friends, are talking.
   C: Would you like 1.to go out. (go out) for a meal tonight?
   S: Yes, that would be nice. I just need 2. .................. (wash) my hair first.
   C: Shall we go to Perry’s?
   S: I’d prefer 3. .................. (go) somewhere else. Don’t you remember
   4. .................. (send) the food back last time we went there? It was terrible.
   C: Oh yes, I’d forgotten. We decided to stop 5. .................. (go) there, didn’t we?
   S: Yes, we did. So I’ve got another suggestion. Sally recommended
   6. .................. (try) that new French restaurant, Chez Victor. She said it was very good. We’ll go there, shall we?
   C: OK. That’s a good idea.

2
Dear Ms Walters,
Thank you for your application for the diploma in tourism but I regret
7. .................. (inform) you that this course is now full. Should you wish to take the course elsewhere, I would advise you 8. .................. (apply) to Central College. They started 9. .................. (run) a course in tourism a year ago and I would recommend you 10. .................. (consider)
11. .................. (enrol) on that course rather than 12. ..................
(wait) another year to do a course here. If you would prefer 13. ..................
(wait) for this course, then I would encourage you 14. ..................
(try)
15. .................. (find) some work related to tourism so that you can start
16. .................. (acquire) some relevant experience.
3 Gareth and Vincent, two friends, are talking.

G: Did you remember 17........................ (book) the tickets for that concert?
V: Yes, I did, but the problem now is 18........................ (get) there. My mother says I’m not allowed 19........................ (borrow) the car this weekend, so I don’t know what to do. What about your old motorbike?
G: No, I’m afraid it needs 20........................ (repair). I could try 21........................ (ask) my brother if we can have his car. You never know - he might agree.
V: I doubt it. And the tickets were so expensive. I regret 22........................ (buy) them now. I’m sure we’ve just wasted the money.
G: I’m sure we haven’t. We just need 23........................ (give) the problem some thought.
V: Actually, I remember 24........................ (walk) there one night. Mind you, it took about two hours, and we did get a lift home.
G: OK, so we could walk if necessary. Just stop 25........................ (worry) and start 26........................ (think).

43 Preposition + gerund

- After prepositions, we use the gerund.
  Preposition + gerund:
  After reading the letter, he changed his mind.
  You shouldn’t have gone there without telling me.

- Adjective/noun + preposition + gerund:
  Are you interested in applying for this job?
  He’s expressed a lot of interest in applying for this job.

- Verb + preposition + gerund/phrasal verb + gerund:
  They succeeded in getting the new contract.
  She apologized for upsetting him.
  They carried on working.

- Verb + object (person/personal pronoun) + preposition + gerund:
  We dissuaded him from writing the letter.
  She accused me of cheating.

- Verb + preposition + object pronoun or possessive adjective + gerund:
  My boss complained about me/my arriving late last week.
  They agreed on us/our sharing the expenses.
  Also: What about me/my coming to see you tomorrow?

Note: We use an object pronoun (me, us) more often than a possessive adjective (my, our) after a preposition. The use of a possessive adjective is rather formal.

Note: to may be part of the to-infinitive or it may be a preposition preceding a gerund:
We’re hoping to see you this weekend.
We’re looking forward to seeing you this weekend.
Practice

43a Complete the sentences with the correct preposition and the gerund.

14 This problem is similar to ..................... (have) problems with money: it’s not a problem until you find you haven’t got any.
15 They’re proposing to ..................... (open) a new airport just outside the town.

44  \textbf{be + adjective + infinitive}

- \textit{be} + adjective + \textit{to–infinitive}:
  The verb in the infinitive often refers to an event in the future:
  \begin{itemize}
  \item \textit{He is keen to change} his job.
  \item They’re \textit{willing to lend} us the money.
  \item We’re \textit{sure to have} a good time.
  \end{itemize}

- \textit{be} + adjective of feeling + \textit{to–infinitive}:
  \begin{itemize}
  \item I’m \textit{pleased to see} you.
  \item We were \textit{sorry to hear} your news.
  \end{itemize}

- \textit{be} + adjective describing personal characteristic + (of person) + \textit{to–infinitive}:
  \begin{itemize}
  \item It was \textit{silly of her to say} that.
  \item It’s \textit{good of you to come}.
  \item It was \textit{selfish of me to ignore} you.
  \end{itemize}

- \textit{be} + adjective describing the activity + \textit{to–infinitive}:
  \begin{itemize}
  \item This book is very \textit{difficult to read}.
  \item She’s very \textit{amusing to talk to}.
  \end{itemize}

\textbf{Note:} After adjectives like \textit{nice, lovely, great, wonderful, awful} and \textit{horrible}, we can use the \textit{ing} form (present participle) or the \textit{to–infinitive}:
\begin{itemize}
  \item It’s \textit{nice seeing} you.
  \item It’s \textit{nice to see} you.
\end{itemize}

The \textit{ing} form describes the activity in progress and the \textit{to–infinitive} describes the whole event. But in practice, the use of the two forms is very similar.
Practice

44 Rewrite the sentences using be + adjective + to-infinitive.

1 We’re going to leave. We’re ready.
   We’re ready to leave.

2 He’s afraid of telling her the truth.

3 I received your letter. I was delighted.

4 I heard about their divorce. I was surprised.

5 You shouldn’t interrupt people. It’s rude.

6 You brought those flowers. It was very kind of you.

7 Heating this house is very expensive.

8 I saw you last night. It was lovely.

9 Having interests outside work is important.

10 That child learns very quickly.
45 The infinitive and gerund: mixed uses

Before doing the next exercise, re-read the list of uses on pages 111-113.

Practice

45 Put the verbs in the dialogue into the to-infinitive or the gerund.

Helen has been called to the office of her boss, Andrea.

A: Take a seat, Helen. Would you like to have (have) some coffee?
H: Er, no thank you.
A: I asked (see) you (talk) about your work. I think there are a few things that we need (discuss).
H: Oh dear. Is there some problem? I do love (work) here and I think I’m getting better at (do) the job.
A: Yes, I’m sure you are, Helen, but sometimes you are rather slow (learn). In a hotel of this reputation, we cannot afford (make) mistakes and I am sorry (say) that you have made rather a lot. There are some things you are very good at, like (welcome) the guests, (talk) to them and (give) them any help they require.
H: That’s true. I was rather shy when I first started (work) here but now I’m much better at...
(communicate) with the guests. They have often said to me that it is nice

A: That’s good. It’s true (say) that you have got much better at (deal) with people. But you do not pay enough attention to (ensure) that the administrative part of your job is carried out efficiently.

H: (Keep) the records is not my favourite part of the job, I must admit.

A: But it’s essential (do) that properly. It’s no use problems for them by (fail)

(carry out) your job efficiently. I know there is a lot of work (do) at reception, but last week you made three mistakes with the billing. That’s not good enough.

H: Yes, I’m sorry about that, but sometimes the bills are very complicated (work out).

A: I know, but we can’t make mistakes and that’s that. And what about you (accept) that booking for the penthouse suite at the weekend when we were using it for a conference? It was very careless of you (do) that. I had to do a lot of (apologize) (calm down) those guests. They were furious.

H: Yes, it was terrible. I do try (get) everything right but I can’t help (make) mistakes sometimes. I just don’t know what (do) about it.

A: Well, I do. You’ve got a month (prove) to me that you can do the job efficiently, and if you can’t, you’ll have (start) (look) for another job.

Reported speech

47 Reported statements

In reported speech (also known as indirect speech), the tense used in the speaker’s original words is usually (but not always) moved back a tense when the reporting verb (said, told, etc.) is in the past. The tense does not change if the reporting verb is in the present, present perfect or future.

Tense changes

Example: ‘Sales have dropped dramatically in the last year.’
A representative said (that) sales had dropped dramatically in the last (or previous) year.

Note: It is possible to omit that.

When the tense doesn’t change

The past simple and continuous often remain unchanged in reported speech, in both written and spoken English, if this can be done without causing any confusion about the time of the actions.
It is also possible for other tenses to remain unchanged in reported speech in spoken English.

Past continuous

- The past continuous usually remains unchanged in reported speech:
  ‘When they arrived, I was still cooking the dinner.’
  He said that when they arrived, he was still cooking the dinner.
'I was working until ten o’clock last night.'
She said that she was working until ten o’clock last night/the previous night.

- Where the past continuous is used to refer to an activity that was completed before an event in the past simple or present perfect, we are more likely to change the past continuous to the past perfect continuous:
  ‘We were planning to go out but then Joe started feeling sick.’
  ‘She said that they had been planning to go out but then Joe started/had started feeling sick.

Past simple
- When the past simple is used in a time clause, it does not generally change.
  When there is a time clause, the verb in the main clause can remain in the past simple or change to the past perfect:
  ‘When I got there the place was almost empty.’
  She said that when she got there, the place was/had been almost empty.

- When the past simple is used to refer to a situation that still exists in the present, it does not generally change:
  ‘We didn’t stay in the hotel because it was too expensive.’
  (And presumably the hotel is still expensive now.)
  She said that they hadn’t stayed in the hotel because it was too expensive.

- In other circumstances it is better to change the past simple to the past perfect in written reporting. However, in oral reporting, it is becoming increasingly common to leave the past simple unchanged:
  ‘I enjoyed myself last night.’
  Oral reporting:  Clare said that she enjoyed (had enjoyed) herself last night/on Saturday night.

  Written reporting:  Clare said that she had enjoyed herself last night/the previous night/on Saturday night.

Present tenses
- In oral reporting, it is becoming increasingly common not to change the present tenses if the activity is still going on or the situation still exists at the time of reporting:
  ‘Alison’s living with her parents now.’
  Jo told me that Alison is living (was living) with her parents now.

  ‘I can’t come to the party because I’m doing my homework.’
  He said that he can’t (couldn’t) come to the party because he was doing his homework.

However, if the party is now finished and he is no longer doing his homework, then we change the tense in reported speech:
He said that he couldn’t come to the party because he was doing his homework.

- ‘The school takes on new students every month.’
  Assuming that this situation still exists, the verb can stay in the present simple or change to the past simple in oral reporting:
  The receptionist told me that the school takes on/took on new students every month.
The future

In oral reporting, the future tenses can remain unchanged if the event is still in the future:

‘I’m meeting John tonight.’

Sheila said that she is meeting/was meeting John tonight.

(Tonight is still in the future.)

BUT

Sheila said that she was meeting John last night.

(Tonight is now in the past.)

‘We’re going to launch a thorough investigation.’

The police said that they are going to/were going to launch a thorough investigation.

‘There will be no increase in taxes.’

The Prime Minister said that there will/would be no increase in taxes.

‘The plane will be leaving in thirty-five minutes.’

They announced that the plane will/would be leaving in thirty-five minutes.

Time and place changes

It is often necessary to change time, place and other references in reported speech, depending on when and where the reporting takes place in relation to the actual words.

Some common changes

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>now</th>
<th>→</th>
<th>then</th>
</tr>

Note: In the following exercises, you should make the tense changes as for written reporting.
Practice

47 In your notebook, rewrite the sentences in reported speech.

1 ‘I’ll come and see you on Friday if that’s all right.’ (She said)
   She said (that) she would come and see us on Friday if that was all right.
2 ‘The conference will be spending a considerable time discussing the world debt crisis.’ (The statement said)
3 ‘The shop’s closing in half an hour.’ (She explained)
4 ‘He’s planning to set up his own business.’ (Gareth tells me)
5 ‘We’re going to have to make quite a few cutbacks.’ (The managing director said)
6 ‘The police have been investigating new allegations of fraud.’ (A spokesperson said)
7 ‘When the project first started, there was a lot of interest in it.’ (She explained)
8 ‘It’s pouring with rain down here.’ (She told me)
9 ‘I’ll have finished writing the report by the time you get here.’ (She promised me)
10 ‘My new computer has made a lot of difference to me.’ (She says)
11 ‘The 8.45 train from Waterloo will be arriving in approximately five minutes.’
   (The station announcer has just said)
12 ‘When we were setting up the organisation, we had very little money.’ (They told me)
13 ‘The club lost quite a lot of money last month.’ (The treasurer told the meeting)
14 ‘It will be a very difficult time for all of us.’ (He agreed)
15 ‘You work too hard. You should take more time off.’ (He told me)

48 Reported questions

The rules about tense changes apply to questions in the same way as they apply to statements.

• Wh questions
   The subject and verb are NOT inverted in reported speech:
   ‘Why didn’t you tell me the truth?’
   inversion
   She asked me why I hadn’t told her the truth.
   subject + verb

• Yes/no questions
   Put if or whether before the subject + verb:
   ‘Have I seen you before?’
   She asked me if she had seen me before.

to–infinitive in reported speech

• In reported requests, advice, commands, etc., use to–infinitive:
   ‘Can you help me write my speech?’
   She asked me to help her write her speech.
   ‘Don’t stay out too late.’
   She told me not to stay out too late.
• When reporting shall/should questions, we can use to-infinitive after the question word:
  ‘How much should we give them?’
  He wanted to know how much to give them.
  ‘What should I buy for Peter?’
  She asked me what to buy for Peter.
  ‘Should I tell her what happened?’
  He wanted to know whether to tell her what had happened.

Note: We do not use the to-infinitive after why or if.

Practice

48 Write the following in reported speech.

1. ‘Where do you think we should advertise? (He asked me)
   He asked me where I thought we should advertise.

2. ‘Are you going to audition for the play?’ (Emma asked me)
   ...........................................................
   ...........................................................
   ...........................................................

3. ‘Give me a ring if you need any help.’ (She told me)
   ...........................................................
   ...........................................................
   ...........................................................

4. ‘How is Laura getting on?’ (She often asks me ... you ...)
   ...........................................................
   ...........................................................
   ...........................................................

5. ‘Shall I ask her out for a meal?’ (He’s been wondering)
   ...........................................................
   ...........................................................
   ...........................................................

6. ‘Why did Matthew look so embarrassed when he saw Carole?’ (He asked)
   ...........................................................
   ...........................................................
   ...........................................................

7. ‘Must we stay here all evening?’ (He asked)
   ...........................................................
   ...........................................................
   ...........................................................

8. ‘What are they doing about publicity for the event?’ (She wondered)
   ...........................................................
9 ‘Will you send me the report when it’s finished?’ (He asked me)

10 ‘What have you done with the student records?’ (She asked me)

11 ‘Do you think you could keep your voices down a bit?’ (She asked us)

12 ‘Where did you buy that hat?’ (He wanted to know)

13 ‘Have you been eating properly?’ (The doctor asked me)

14 ‘Don’t make any noise during the performance.’ (They asked us)

15 ‘Were you still teaching music when you met Oliver?’ (Mike asked me)
49 Verbs used in reporting

Many different verbs are used in reporting. We do not usually report every word that was said or written and these different verbs can help to summarize the original words:

‘Would you like to come and stay for the weekend?’

→ He invited us to stay for the weekend.

‘No, no, I don’t want your money. I’m definitely going to pay for the meal and that’s that.’

→ She insisted on paying for the meal.

Examples of verbs used in reporting

| advise someone | agree | decide | encourage s.o. | invite s.o. | offer | promise | refuse | warn s.o. (not to ...) | + INFINITIVE |
| recommend s.o. | persuade s.o. |

| accuse s.o. of | agree on/about | apologize for | complain about | insist on | recommend | suggest | + GERUND |
| suggest | warn against | advise s.o. against | dissuade s.o. from | persuade s.o. against |

| agree | complain | decide | insist | recommend | suggest (+ should) | announce | boast | claim | concede | + that clause |

Practice

49 Put the sentences into reported speech, summarizing what was said and using the verbs in the box.

| decide | complain | accuse | advise | apologize | offer | persuade | remind | warn | refuse |

1 ‘I know you’ve got a lot of work to do at the moment. I’ll help you type up that report if you like,’ he said.

He offered to help me type up the report.

2 A: I don’t think you should hand in your resignation immediately.

Give yourself more time to think about it.

B: OK. I suppose you’re right. I’ll leave it for a while then.

He persuaded me not to hand in my resignation immediately.

3 ‘No, I’m not going to discuss it with you. I think it’s a waste of time,’ he said.

..................................................................................................................
4 ‘I really think I should have been invited to the meeting. I’m very unhappy about the fact that I wasn’t,’ he said.

5 ‘You’ve been quite ill and you need to recover. I really think you should take it easy for a few days,’ the doctor said.

6 ‘You must not go near their house again or there will be trouble,’ the police said to him.

7 ‘After giving the matter some serious thought, we have now reached a final decision. We are going to close down the naval base in two years’ time,’ said the Ministry of Defence.

8 ‘Someone’s been reading my diary. I know they have. I found it in the wrong drawer this morning. It was you, wasn’t it?’

9 ‘Remember that you’ve got to apply for a new passport. Yours is out of date now,’ he said to me.

10 ‘I’m really sorry about all the trouble I’ve caused. I didn’t mean to,’ she said.
50 Summarizing when reporting

When we are reporting, we do not repeat everything that was said or written. As we report, we summarize.
A range of different verbs are used and these help to summarize. (See page 134.) In addition, we often use adjectives to describe how someone responded, instead of reporting their words:
‘Oh, that’s fantastic. I’m just so pleased. This is the best news we’ve had in ages.’
→ She was delighted when we told her the news.

Oral reporting

When we report orally, we regularly switch our method of reporting. We use a mixture of direct speech, reported speech and descriptions of the content of the conversation. For example:

> I was talking to Jo last night about the holiday. She thinks we shouldn’t book anything up yet because we’ll probably get a cheaper deal if we leave it till just before we go. I agreed with her but I said I didn’t know what you would think about that. And then of course we have to decide definitely where we want to go. I said we quite fancied going to one of the islands but she said, ‘Well, I’m not sure Graham will like the idea.’ Anyway, in the end she said why don’t we talk to him about it when we meet him on Thursday.

Written reporting

In written reports, we tend to use reported speech consistently rather than switching from one style of reporting to another. If we are reporting what one person said, it is not necessary to keep repeating She/He/It said … . However, we continue to use the reported speech tenses if it is understood that we are still reporting. For example:

> The meeting was concluded by the Chair of the Governors, who said that although it had been a difficult year, the staff of the school had managed very well. The financial cutbacks had hit hard and it was to be hoped that there would be no further cutbacks in the coming year. Library stocks were severely depleted and he suggested that there should be a series of fundraising activities to help raise money for books. He thanked all the staff for their hard work and hoped that the coming year would be successful. The Headteacher then thanked the Chair of the Governors for his contribution to the school and the meeting was closed at 9.00 p.m.

50 In your notebook, write a summarized report of the following speech.

'I am delighted to have been elected onto the Council and I thank all those voters who came out in the rain today to vote for me. I am very much looking forward to representing the interests of the residents of Kimbridge Valley and hope that I will have the opportunity to do so for many years to come.

During the last few weeks, I have spoken to many of the valley residents on the doorstep and I have a clear idea of the issues which are of most concern to them. The proposed closure of the school is understandably causing a great deal of anxiety and I shall do everything in my power to fight against that. I hope that I will be successful.

Thanks again to my supporters and a big thank you to all those who helped me during the campaign.'

Example:
In her acceptance speech, Diane Banham said that she was delighted ...
Sentence structure

Introduction

Simple sentences

- Subject + verb:
  \[ s \quad v \]
  \[ \text{The rice is burning.} \]
- Subject + verb + complement:
  \[ s \quad v \quad \text{comp.} \]
  \[ \text{She's a lawyer.} \]
  \[ s \quad v \quad \text{comp.} \]
  \[ \text{She's intelligent.} \]
- Subject + verb + direct object:
  \[ s \quad v \quad \text{d.o.} \]
  \[ \text{I've read this book.} \]
- Subject + verb + indirect object + direct object:
  \[ s \quad v \quad \text{i.o.} \quad \text{d.o.} \]
  \[ \text{My boyfriend wrote me a lovely letter.} \]
- Subject + verb + object + complement:
  \[ s \quad v \quad o \quad \text{comp.} \]
  \[ \text{They made him a star.} \]
  \[ s \quad v \quad o \quad \text{comp.} \]
  \[ \text{They made him very famous.} \]

Compound sentences

We can link simple sentences to form compound sentences of two or more clauses. In a compound sentence, the clauses are of equal importance. We can make the link in the following ways:

- With a co-ordinating conjunction, e.g. and, but, so, yet, sometimes preceded by a comma:
  \[ \text{He loves her but she doesn’t love him.} \]
- With a semi-colon or colon:
  \[ \text{I met David yesterday; he’s just come out of hospital.} \]
  \[ \text{or I met David yesterday: he’s just come out of hospital.} \]
- With a semi-colon or a colon followed by a connecting adverb. e.g. however, nevertheless, meanwhile, after all, finally:
  \[ \text{He performed very well in the interview; however, he didn’t get the job.} \]
  \[ \text{or He performed very well in the interview: however, he didn’t get the job.} \]
Complex sentences
Complex sentences have a main clause and one or more subordinate clauses or phrases. We can link the clauses as follows:

- With relative clauses:
  Many people who are out of work become depressed.

- With noun clauses:
  I've always known that he hated me.

- With adverbial clauses:
  Did you see him when he came in?

- With infinitive or participial constructions:
  *To do the job properly, you'll need to get some tools.
  She ran out of the house calling for help.*

51 Conjunctions

Common conjunctions

- To link: and, both ... and, or, either ... or, neither ... nor, not only ... but (also)
- To contrast: but, however, nevertheless, though/although, in spite of, despite, whereas
- To express a reason or purpose: because, for, as, since, so that, in order that
- To express a consequence: so, therefore
- To make an additional point: besides, moreover, anyway

Practice

51 In your notebook, join the sentences with a suitable conjunction. There may be more than one possible answer for each sentence.

1 I went to bed early. I would be able to get up early.
   I went to bed early so that I would be able to get up early.
   I went to bed early in order that I would be able to get up early.

2 It's an excellent course. I'm very lucky to get a place on it.

3 I don't really want to go to the cinema tonight. I can't afford it.

4 There is very little that the company can do about this. It is not their responsibility.

5 I've known her for a long time. I don't know much about her private life.

6 She's extremely generous. Her husband is the exact opposite.

7 I didn't say that. I didn't even think it.

8 The suspect is critically ill in hospital. We can't interview him for the time being.

9 I like working here. The people are very friendly.

10 I could do the work tonight. I could get up early in the morning to do it.

11 In a way, I love the job. I hate it.

12 He looks a bit overweight. He is quite fit.

13 The economy has been in recession all year. Our sales have remained steady.

14 I've brought a photograph. You can see how beautiful the place is.

15 The Government are getting worried. They're losing popularity.
16 I had a terrible headache last night. I couldn’t go out.
17 My job is very interesting. It doesn’t pay very well.
18 You leave now. I’ll call the police.

52 Noun clauses

A noun clause is sometimes called a that-clause. However, noun clauses do not always use that.

- Noun clause as object.
  Many verbs can be followed by a noun clause:
  I can guarantee (that) it will be there on time.
  Do you think (that) she’ll come?

- Noun clause as subject:
  That you don’t love him is obvious.
  However, we more often use the construction:
  It + be/seem + adjective + noun clause
  It is obvious (that) you don’t love him.
  or we use: The fact that …:
  The fact that you don’t love him is obvious.

- Noun clause after certain adjectives, e.g. adjectives describing feelings: pleased, sorry, happy, glad, delighted, upset, worried, concerned, surprised, grateful, and adjectives describing degrees of certainty: sure, positive, convinced, doubtful:
  I’m concerned (that) he won’t believe me.
  Are you sure (that) he said that?

- Noun clause after a large number of abstract nouns, e.g. belief, idea, fact, hope, promise, suggestion, thought, reason, implication, something/anything.
  As object: I don’t like the suggestion that we do this job together.
  As subject: The thought that I upset her so much is awful.

- Noun clause with question words.
  Noun clauses that start with a question word do not start with that.
  As object: I will never understand why he did that.
  or Why he did that I will never understand.
  I looked at what they’d done.
  As subject: What happened between us must remain a secret.

- Noun clauses with if/whether (or not).
  As object: I don’t know if/whether he’s coming tonight.
  As subject: Whether or not he’s coming tonight is still uncertain.
  It is still uncertain if/whether/whether or not he’s coming tonight.
Practice

52a Underline the noun clauses in the following dialogue.

Angie and Helen are talking at work. Angie is Helen’s boss.

A: Helen, I’m delighted to hear that you’ve decided to accept the post of junior manager.
H: Yes. I just hope that it turns out all right.
A: Oh, I’m sure it will. Is there anything in particular that you’re worried about?
H: Well, yes. I’m not sure how the staff will respond to me as a manager. After all, I am quite a bit younger than most of them.
A: Oh, I wouldn’t worry too much about that. I expect that some of them will be a bit hostile to you at first but they’ll soon get used to the fact that you’re the boss. It’s important that you appear confident in your position, even if you don’t feel very confident. The reason that you got this position at your age is that you’re good and you must remember that.
H: Well, I hope that I will live up to your expectations of me. I will certainly try.

52b Join the sentences together using a noun clause. Make changes where necessary.

1  He’s lying to you. I’m sure.
   I’m sure that he’s lying to you.

2  You did something. It is unforgivable.
   What you did is unforgivable.
   It is unforgivable what you did.

3  She still holds on to the belief. He isn’t dead.

4  She hasn’t made a complaint. We must be grateful for that.

5  Some people are coming to the meeting. I don’t know how many.

6  She didn’t lie to you about it. That suggestion is ridiculous.
7    You're going with him. I presume that.

8    Judith's coming round tonight. Have you forgotten that?

9    She may have passed her exams. I don't know.

10   He didn't tell her the truth. She is very angry about that.

11   She may be good enough to do the job: she may not. It remains doubtful.

12   He has some emotional problems. That is quite apparent.

13   Where are we going to meet tonight? Have you arranged that?

14   How is she? Do you know?

15   They're getting married. I'm delighted.
53 Participial constructions: present participial phrases

After verbs
- After verbs of sensation: see, hear, feel, smell, listen, notice, watch:
  I saw her leaving the house very early this morning.
  Note: These verbs can also be followed by a bare infinitive which implies completeness:
  I saw her leave the house early this morning.
  i.e. I saw her whole departure.
- After catch, find, leave:
  I caught him looking through my drawers.
- After go, come, spend time, waste time, be busy:
  Would you like to come skiing with us?

In place of clauses
Participial phrases in place of clauses are quite formal and are used most often in written language.
A participle must have the same subject as the verb in the main clause. We use them:
- when two actions by the same subject take place at the same time:
  She held his hand and led him through the crowd.
  Holding his hand, she led him through the crowd.
  She led him through the crowd holding his hand.
- when one action immediately follows another or is a direct result of it. The main action is a finite verb and the secondary action is a participle. The action which takes place first is written first:
  I stayed at home and watched television.
  I stayed at home watching television.
  I saw her on the other side of the road and quickly tried to hide.
  Seeing her on the other side of the road, I quickly tried to hide.
  She turned on her computer and started work.
  Turning on her computer, she started work.
  He told her not to eat it and explained that there was a risk of food poisoning.
  He told her not to eat it, explaining that there was a risk of food poisoning.
- in place of clauses of time.
  (present or perfect participle after time conjunctions after, before, since, while, on) clause of time
  After I spoke to you, I felt much better.
  After speaking/having spoken to you, I felt much better.
  I felt much better after speaking/having spoken to you.
  When I first met him, I didn’t like him.
  I didn’t like him on first meeting him.
- in place of clauses of reason.
  We use a present participle in place of a clause of reason in the present simple, present continuous, past simple or past continuous:
clause of reason
As/Since/Because I was happy with my results, I decided to go out and celebrate.

Being happy with my results, I decided to go out and celebrate.

We use a perfect participle in place of a clause of reason in the present perfect or past perfect:

```
clause of reason
He’s lived here all his life so he knows a lot about the town.
Having lived here all his life, he knows a lot about the town.
I’d had an argument with him the night before so I didn’t want to see him.
Having had an argument with him the night before, I didn’t want to see him.
```

- in place of clauses of concession.
  After although and while:
  While fully understanding your problem, I can’t allow you to break the rules.

- In place of defining subject relative clauses in the present simple or continuous:
  The woman who lives/who is living next door works for a television company.
  The woman living next door works for a television company.

Practice

53 In your notebook, rewrite the sentences below using a present participial or perfect participial phrase.

```
1 I smelt something. It was burning.
   I smelt something burning.
2 I went round to see her. I was hoping for a reconciliation.
3 While he hated the job, he did it for many years.
4 She came in. She looked furious.
5 I had plenty of time to spare so I had a good look round the town.
6 He was wearing only a pair of shorts. He walked out into the darkness.
```
7 I had been out all day so I was quite happy to stay in for the evening.
8 The bedrooms that overlook the sea are the best ones in the hotel.
9 We're wasting time. We're sitting here and doing nothing.
10 I have changed my job since I last wrote to you.
11 Before I make a decision, I need to discuss it with my partner.
12 We had been friends for twenty years and suddenly we had a big argument and haven’t seen each other since.
13 I had failed one of my exams so I couldn’t get into university.
14 Because he loved her so much, he forgave her for everything.
15 I left them. They were doing the washing-up.

54 Participial constructions: past participial phrases

The past participle can sometimes replace subject + passive verb in the same way as the present participle can sometimes replace subject + active verb.

- Past participle in place of the passive:
  I often saw her at the disco. She was surrounded by her admirers.
  I often saw her at the disco, surrounded by her admirers.
  He was loved by all who knew him. He devoted his life to others.
  Loved by all who knew him, he devoted his life to others.
  Her books, which are read by people all over the world, are still immensely popular.
  Her books, read by people all over the world, are still immensely popular.
  Although it was intended to be a nice surprise, the party was not what I wanted at all.
  Although intended to be a nice surprise, the party was not what I wanted at all.
  If I am accepted for the job, I’ll have to start at the beginning of next month.
  If accepted for the job, I’ll have to start at the beginning of next month.
  The manuscript had been lost for many years when it suddenly turned up again.
  Lost for many years, the manuscript suddenly turned up again.

- Being + past participle following after, before, when, since, while, on, by:
  After it was cleaned the bike looked as good as new.
  After being cleaned, the bike looked as good as new.
  Since the government was elected, it has had one crisis after another.
  Since being elected, the government has had one crisis after another.
  When he was being questioned, he suddenly burst into tears.
  When being questioned, he suddenly burst into tears.
  The message got across to people because it was repeated over and over again.
  The message got across to people by being repeated over and over again.

54 Rewrite the sentences below using a past participial phrase or being + past participial phrase.

1 I was exhausted through lack of sleep and fell asleep at my desk.
   Exhausted through lack of sleep, I fell asleep at my desk.

2 Peter was abandoned by his parents at an early age and took to stealing.

3 Although it was written many years ago, the book is still relevant today.

4 Since I was promoted, I’ve had no time to go out.

5 The boy was taken from his parents at an early age. He had a very difficult life.

6 The money was hidden in the cellar. It was not discovered for many years.

7 He was frequently criticized for his self-centred attitude but was nonetheless very popular.

8 After he was released from prison, Andy could not find a job anywhere.

9 The committee meetings, which were always dominated by the same people, were slow-moving and ineffectual.
10 When he was caught, he confessed everything. (On ...)

11 When it is seen from the outside, the building looks a mess, but it is lovely inside.

12 If we are elected, we will increase the value of pensions.

13 Although he was ridiculed by everybody, he continued to pursue his bizarre projects.

14 Unless it is destroyed, this material could have damaging consequences.

15 Jennifer had been shoplifting for many years before she was found out.
55 Adverbial clauses of time, place, manner and reason

Adverbial clauses, like adverbs, tell us something further about the verb and answer the questions When?, Where?, How?, Why?, etc. Here are some of the most common conjunctions used to introduce adverbial clauses:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Time</th>
<th>when, after, before, as, as soon as, by the time (that), once, since, until/till, wherever, while</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Place</td>
<td>where, wherever, anywhere, everywhere</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Manner</td>
<td>as, as if, as though</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Comparison</td>
<td>than, as ... as</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Reason</td>
<td>because, as, since</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Purpose</td>
<td>so that, in order that, in case</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Result</td>
<td>so ... that, such a ... that</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Condition</td>
<td>if, unless, provided/providing (that), so/as long as</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Contrast</td>
<td>although/though/even though, while, whereas, however, (+ much/good/badly), whatever, whenever, wherever</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Note: We generally use the present simple to refer to the future in adverbial clauses of time and condition:
When/If I come to London, I’ll come and see you.
and we use the present perfect in place of the future perfect:
When I’ve finished my dinner, I’ll come and help you.

Practice

55a Underline the adverbial clauses and complete them with an appropriate conjunction.

In some sentences, more than one conjunction is possible.

1 I’m sorry I wasn’t here earlier but I came as soon as I could.
2 I’m staying in all weekend ........................................... I can get my work done.
3 He spoke to me ........................................... it was all my fault.
4 He didn’t react ........................................... I’d hoped; he was actually rather angry.
5 Things are never ........................................... bad ........................................... you think they are.
6 You are growing fast. You’re taller ........................................... your mother is now.
7 He'd like to be an actor ...................... his father would like him to be a lawyer.
8 She's ...................................... interested in her work
 ........................................... she never seems to do anything else.
9 I'll meet you ......................... you like; I don't mind where it is.
10 I won't believe you ..................... I've seen it for myself.
11 She seems happy .......................... she can't find a job.
12 ........................................... I didn't feel very well, we decided to leave early.
13 The money was hidden .................. no-one could find it.
14 I'll come with you ........................ we don't stay late. I need to be up early tomorrow.
15 ........................................... I like him, I sometimes find him very irritating.

55b Put an appropriate conjunction before the adverbial clauses. Write the answers in the spaces provided below the text.

The car: Is it worth it?

1..... the petrol-fuelled internal combustion engine was first developed by the German engineers Benz and Daimler in 1885, our lives have changed completely. 2..... the damaging effects of the motor car are now well-recognized, the number of cars on the road continues to grow every year. In 1950, there were fewer than 50 million cars in use around the world, but 3..... cars became more widely available and relatively cheaper, this number grew to 500 million by 1999.

We continue to drive cars 4..... we know how dangerous they are in every respect. People seem to accept the higher number of deaths and injuries as a normal fact of life 5..... smaller risks in other areas of life seem to generate more publicity and fear. We accept the awful risk 6..... it is somehow justifiable. 7..... any other activity carried with it such a risk, there would be a huge public reaction.

And what of the pollution? 8..... research into car emissions started, it has become clearer and clearer how damaging the emissions are to health and the environment. Will we keep on driving our cars 9..... much damage we do? It seems that people are 10..... attached to their cars that they won't give them up for anything. To some people, their car is more important to them 11..... anything else.

One of the obvious answers to the problem is better public transport. 12..... we could travel 13..... we liked on cheap, comfortable public transport, we would be less inclined to use the car. People will not stop using their cars 14..... there is a good alternative. But we need to act now 15..... it is too late. We must change our attitude and our priorities 16..... future generations can live in a cleaner world.
56 Participial phrases

Check

56 In your notebook, write the following text changing clauses to participial phrases where possible.

Vincent Van Gogh, who was born in Holland in 1853, is one of the world’s most famous painters. Although his talent was unrecognized throughout his life, it was much appreciated after his death.

After he had failed in every career he had attempted, Van Gogh first turned to art to express his strong religious feelings. After he had decided to become a painter, in about 1880, he started to paint studies of peasants and miners. During the next few years, which are known as his ‘Dutch period’, he produced paintings with rather dark greenish-brown colours.

In 1886, when he went to Paris to visit his brother Theo, he was immediately attracted to the Impressionist work he saw there. He decided to stay in Paris and continued his painting there. He was encouraged by Pissaro to use more colour in his pictures and his subsequent paintings were bright and immensely colourful.

After Van Gogh had moved to Arles in the south of France, in 1888, he worked frantically. This frenzied activity, which was interrupted by bouts of deep depression and despair, produced the majority of his most famous paintings. One of these, which is called Self Portrait with Bandaged Ear, shows Van Gogh: he was wearing a bandage after he had cut off his own ear. A year later, in 1890, he committed suicide.

A lot is known about Van Gogh’s life and his feelings because of the hundreds of letters which were written by him to his brother Theo and others. Because his brother believed in Van Gogh’s genius, he always encouraged him in his work. He was the person closest to Van Gogh.

Example:
Born in Holland in 1853, Vincent Van Gogh is one of the world’s most famous painters.
Defining relative clauses

Look at this sentence:
The family who live next door moved here from Ireland.
There is a main clause: The family ... moved here from Ireland and there is a relative clause: who live next door.
The main clause does not make proper sense without the relative clause.
The relative clause tells us which family we are talking about. It is a defining relative clause.
The relative clause may come in the middle or at the end of a sentence. It follows the word that it defines.

- Subject relative pronouns:
  Are you the person who telephoned here an hour ago?
  The relative pronoun who functions as the subject of the verb telephoned.
  Can you pick up the knife that/which has just fallen off the table?
  The relative pronoun that/which functions as the subject of the verb has fallen off. That is used more often than which. Which is more formal or scientific.

- Object relative pronouns:
  That’s the woman who/that I met at Tony’s house.
  Who or that functions as the object of the verb met.
  Is this the book that/which you were reading last night?
  That or which functions as the object of the verb were reading.
In defining relative clauses, the object relative pronoun (who/that/which) is often omitted:
  That’s the woman I met at Tony’s house.
  Is this the book you were reading last night?

- Relative pronouns: object of a preposition:
  This is the beach (that/which) I was telling you about.
  That or which functions as the object of the preposition about. It can be omitted.

- Possessive relative pronoun:
  They are the workers whose jobs are being cut.
  Whose is a possessive relative pronoun. It refers to the workers. It is the workers’ jobs that are being cut. Whose jobs functions as the subject of the verb are being cut.
  I couldn’t find the man whose case I’d taken by mistake.
  Whose refers to the man. It was his case I’d taken. Whose case functions as the object of the verb had taken.

- Summary: relative pronouns in defining relative clauses:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Object</th>
<th>Possessive</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>For people</td>
<td>who/that</td>
<td>no pronoun/who/that</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>For things</td>
<td>that/which</td>
<td>no pronoun/that/which</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Note: Where there is a choice of pronoun, the underlined one is the most commonly used.
Practice

57a Underline the ten defining relative clauses in the dialogue. Then circle the relative pronoun in each one and indicate whether it is a subject (S) or object (O) pronoun.

Holt and Watkins, private detectives, are discussing a murder.

W: So who was the one who killed Mr Makepeace? (S)
H: Can’t you guess?
W: Well, I think it was probably the woman who was staying in the room next door to him.
H: No, Watkins, of course it wasn’t. She only wanted the money he owed her. She won’t get that now that he’s dead.
W: Oh yes, I hadn’t thought about that. So was it Mr Grant, the man who always shared their table in the evenings?
H: No, Watkins. It’s true that he loved Mrs Makepeace but he knew that she didn’t love him. And he probably believed that she could never fall in love with a man who had murdered her husband.
W: I suppose that’s true. So who was it then? The son? Do you think that he wanted to have the money that would be due to him from his father’s life insurance policy.
H: Well no, because he knew that the insurance policy would be invalid if his father died suspiciously. And apart from that, I think that in a way he loved his father. The one he hates is Mr Bottomley, the man his mother is in love with.
W: So who did kill Mr Makepeace?
H: Well, I feel quite sure now that it was Mrs Makepeace.
W: Mrs Makepeace!
H: Yes. She had never loved the man she had married. What she loved was all the money he had. Then Mr Bottomley came along. He had money too and she loved him. But she had to get Mr Makepeace out of the way.

57b Join the two sentences together, making the second sentence a defining relative clause. Use the relative pronoun that is most commonly used or no pronoun at all where this is possible.

1 She’s the one. I told you about her.

She’s the one I told you about.
2 I don’t like the people. They are staying with the Browns.

3 I like books. They make you think about things.

4 I’m looking for the person. I’ve just hit their car.

5 Most of the books are still popular today. I read them as a child.

6 You can buy the pasta from that Italian shop. It has just opened in the high street.

7 The woman is coming back to work soon. I’m doing her job.

8 Is she the new television presenter? Everyone’s talking about her.

9 People often have very little money to spend on leisure. They have a lot of leisure time.

10 Is Technico the company? Sarah works for them.

11 This is the job. I’ve always wanted it.

12 The swimming pool is only open to the public in the mornings. I use it.
13 We’ve just bought a computer package. It teaches you how to play the piano.

14 My favourite holiday was that one. We spent it in a cottage in the mountains.

15 We haven’t seen the friends for ten years. They are coming to visit us this weekend.

58 Non-defining relative clauses

Look at the difference between these two sentences:

1 The boy who lives next door is having a party tonight.
   The underlined clause is a defining relative clause. It tells us which boy is being talked about.
   There are no commas before and after a defining relative clause.

2 Darren, who lives next door, is having a party tonight.
   The underlined clause is a non-defining relative clause. It does not tell us which boy we are talking about; we already know that from the name. It gives us extra information about Darren.
   A non-defining relative clause in the middle of a sentence has a comma before and after it. A non-defining relative clause at the end of a sentence has a comma before it and a full stop at the end.

- Subject relative pronouns:
  This is my friend Jane, who has just returned from Italy.
  The relative pronoun who refers to Jane and it functions as the subject of the verb has ... returned in the relative clause.

  Mike’s car, which is only six months old, broke down last night.
  The relative pronoun which refers to Mike’s car and it functions as the subject of the verb is in the relative clause.

- Object relative pronouns:
  The woman next door, who/whom I met for the first time last week, is moving next month.
  Who or whom refer to the woman next door and function as the object of the verb met in the relative clause.
  Whom is more formal and is generally used in formal written English.
  Who is more common in spoken English.
Unlike the object relative pronoun in defining relative clauses, the object relative pronoun in non-defining relative clauses cannot be omitted. That book about the First World War, which I finished last week, was really interesting.

Which refers to that book about the First World War and functions as the object of the verb finished in the relative clause. We cannot omit it.

- Relative pronouns: object of a preposition:
  a) Marjorie Campbell, who/whom we have all depended on so much, has just announced her retirement.
  b) Marjorie Campbell, on whom we have all depended so much, has just announced her retirement.

  Who or whom in sentence a) and whom in sentence b) refer to Marjorie Campbell and function as the object of the preposition on.

  a) The new pedestrian crossings, which there has been much discussion about, are going to be in use from the beginning of next month.
  b) The new pedestrian crossings, about which there has been much discussion, are going to be in use from the beginning of next month.

  Which refers to the new pedestrian crossings and functions as the object of the preposition about.

Notes:
- Position of preposition: In the a) sentences, the preposition comes at the end of the relative clause. This is less formal and is becoming more common.
  In the b) sentences, the preposition comes before the relative pronoun. This word order is used in more formal written English.
- Who or whom? When the preposition comes before the relative pronoun, it is only possible to use whom for people. When the preposition comes at the end of the relative clause, it is possible to use who or whom.
- Possessive relative pronoun:
  Amanda Lovelace, whose husband died last year, has now lost her job.
  Whose refers to Amanda Lovelace. It is her husband who died.
  Whose husband functions as the subject of the verb died.

  This is our son John, whose friends you will be meeting at the party later on.
  Whose refers to our son John. It is his friends you will be meeting.
  Whose friends functions as the object of the verb will be meeting.

  a) We are hoping for a visit from Henry Webster, whose support we have so much depended on.
  b) We are hoping for a visit from Henry Webster, on whose support we have so much depended.

  Whose support functions as the object of the preposition on. The preposition can go at the end of the relative clause, or it can go before the relative pronoun, which is quite formal. It is more common to put it at the end of the relative clause.

- Summary:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>For people</th>
<th>For things</th>
<th>For possession</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Subject</td>
<td>who</td>
<td>which</td>
<td>whose</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Object</td>
<td>who/whom</td>
<td>which</td>
<td>whose</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Note: Spoken versus written English: Non-defining relative clauses which are in the middle of a sentence are quite formal and are more commonly used in written English than in spoken English. In spoken English, we usually prefer to use shorter sentences or to link clauses together with simple conjugations. For example, in written English, we may write: Ann Roberts, whose first job was in this department, has just been appointed Director. but in spoken English, we are more likely to say something like: Ann Roberts has just been appointed Director. Do you remember? Her first job was here in this department.

Practice

58a In your notebook, rewrite the sentences making the second sentence into a non-defining relative clause and putting it into the correct place.

1. When I was in town, I met your sister. She was shopping for some clothes.
   When I was in town, I met your sister, who was shopping for some clothes.

9 We packed a picnic and walked down to the beach.

10 Next Saturday, I'm going to visit my Aunty Sheila.

59 Defining and non-defining relative clauses

Check

59 Underline all the relative clauses in the following article.

POETRY AND THE WAR

One of the most extraordinary things about the First World War was the enthusiasm with which the majority of soldiers went off to fight for their country. Those young, patriotic men, who rushed to the enlistment centres, had no idea what lay ahead of them. They did not know that they would live for months in holes they had dug in the mud. They did not know what it would be like to watch a friend who had been horribly injured die a painful death. And so they were excited, even thrilled, about the prospect of going to war.

This was the first war in which the image-makers made an impact. There were posters which asked women to encourage their men to go to war: 'If he does not think that you and your country are worth fighting for -- do you think he is WORTHY of you?'

The mood which seized the country was one of patriotic and heroic struggle. At the same time, it was generally believed that it would all be over in a few months.

The war fever which gripped the nation stirred up the emotions of everyone and there was a huge growth in the writing of poetry. At first the poems were proud and optimistic: 'Now in thy splendour go before us Spirit of England', but as the war dragged on, the writers of poetry became angry at the myths they had been told. They wanted people to know about the horrible reality of war, which brutalized the people who took part.

One writer who put these feelings into words very effectively was Wilfrid Owen, who, in the poem Anthem for Doomed Youth, wrote 'What passing bells for these who die as cattle?' The poetry of Wilfrid Owen, Siegfried Sassoon, Robert Graves and others, which described the horrific reality of war, also questioned its morality. Many of the poets were wealthy, privileged men who had not at first been anti-war, but whose attitudes were changed by what they saw.
60 Relative clauses of time, place and reason

In relative clauses of time, place and reason, it is possible to use when, where and why in place of relative pronouns.

- Time:
  1990 was the year when we moved here.

- Place:
  That’s the place where we stayed for our honeymoon.

- Reason:
  Its central location is the reason why we chose this flat.

Note: Relative clauses with when, where and why are usually defining but can be non-defining. Relative clauses starting with where are more often non-defining than relative clauses starting with when or why:

The village of Baydon, where I lived as a child, has now become part of the town.

Practice

60 In your notebook, rewrite each pair of sentences as one sentence, using a relative clause with when, where or why.

1 The early morning is the time. I work best then.
   The early morning is (the time) when I work best.

2 His mid-teens were the time. He first became interested in politics then.

3 His dishonesty is the reason. That’s why I left him.

4 Edinburgh is the city. I’d most like to live there.

5 The outdoor swimming pool has now been closed down. We often went there as children.

6 This is a picture of the place. We’re going there for our holidays.

7 His refusal to tell her the truth is the reason. That’s why she is so angry with him.

8 This is the place. I fell off my bike here.

9 The people I work with are the reason. That’s why I stay in the job.

10 That terrible night in December changed my life forever. I found out then what had been going on.
61 Relative clauses after all, etc.

- All, anyone/anything, everyone/everything, the only thing, the best (and other superlatives) + a defining relative clause:

  All that happened was that they had a little argument.
  All (that) I need to do now is to buy my ticket.
  Everyone who came to the party really enjoyed it.
  Everyone (who/that) I met said they were enjoying themselves.

  Note: After everyone/anyone we can use who or that in both subject and object relative clauses.

- A few, several, some, many, much, most, all, none, either/neither, half, a number, the biggest (and other superlatives) + of whom/which in a non-defining relative clause:

  My two cousins, neither of whom I have seen for ten years, are coming to visit next week.
  Her old letters, some of which have now been lost, make very interesting reading.

Practice

61 In your notebook, put the following into one sentence using a relative clause.

1. You shouldn’t listen to anything. He says it.
   You shouldn’t listen to anything (that) he says.

2. It was nice to see all his family. I have met most of them before.
   It was nice to see all his family, most of whom I have met before.

3. The worst thing is that we’ll miss the train. This can happen.
4. I’ve read both the reports. I agree with neither of them.
5. The only thing is to get some cash out of the bank. I need to do it.
6. The cleaners have decided to take industrial action. Several of them have complained to me about their low pay.
7. Everything has been a failure. I’ve done it.
8. I’ve lost any optimism for the future. I once had optimism.
9. Members of the committee have decided to call for an investigation. Many of them are themselves suspected of corruption.
10. The only thing is to give her the chance to talk about it. I can do that.
11. Everyone said that Peter started it. They saw the argument.
12. Those chocolates were not meant to be for me. I’ve already eaten half of them.
13. The management team are all saying the same thing. I trust none of them.
14. The cheapest was about £5, I saw it.
15. Her brothers have set up in business together. The youngest one is a friend of mine.
62 Co-ordinating relative clauses

- In a co-ordinating relative clause, which refers back to a whole sentence:
  He has decided to see the doctor about it, which is a good idea.
  Which refers back to him seeing the doctor about it.
- Co-ordinating relative clauses are always non-defining.

Practice

62 In your notebook, write sentences with a co-ordinating relative clause. Use the sentences in the box to make the relative clauses and combine them with the statements below.

- It will be an interesting experience for him.
- That’s just what she needs after all her problems.
- He should have done that a long time ago.
- It is very worrying.
- It will be a great help to him.
- It was a complete surprise.
- It is a terrible accusation to make.
- That will give him more time to spend with his girlfriend.
- That’s why I don’t go out very much.
- It’s a great shame.

1. She’s going to have to sell the business.
   She’s going to have to sell the business, which is a great shame.
2. The weather’s very cold at this time of year.
3. He’s decided to go and teach abroad.
4. They say he’s been stealing money from the company.
5. She’s going to have a month off work.
6. He’s going to give up his evening job.
7. The editor has finally agreed to print an apology.
8. She suddenly appeared on the doorstep last night.
9. A few people have been attacked in this area recently.
10. He’s going to have an electric wheelchair soon.
63 Tag questions

FORM
Tag questions are formed with the auxiliary of the verb in the main clause. For example, where the main verb is in the present simple, the tag is formed with does/do and where the verb is past simple, the tag is formed with did. Where the main verb is positive, the tag is usually negative and where the main verb is negative, the tag is usually positive. The majority of tag questions use a falling intonation.

*It’s very cold, isn’t it?

*She comes from France, doesn’t she?

*I gave you the message, didn’t I?

Types of tag questions

Tag questions with a falling intonation

positive statement – negative tag negative statement – positive tag

This is the most common type of tag question. The tag question is not really a question. We use it to make a comment where it is assumed that the listener agrees with the statement.

A statement on its own expresses an opinion to the listener or gives the listener some information. A statement with a tag question usually sounds more friendly because the tag assumes that the listener already knows this information or holds this opinion. When we use a tag question, we are therefore including the listener more in what we are saying.

The listener is expected to reply in agreement. S/he may reply in the following ways:
Statement with tag question: It’s a lovely day, isn’t it?

Short answer: Yes, it is.
Short answer with additional comment: Yes, it is. It’s much nicer than yesterday.
Short answer with another tag question: Yes, it is, isn’t it?

USE
- To make a single conversational statement:

  *(It’s a) Lovely day, isn’t it?

  *It’s not very nice today, is it?

  *The train’s late today, isn’t it?
• To open a conversation and introduce a topic:

  It was terrible news about that murder, wasn't it?
  It looks like this meeting's going to be interesting, doesn't it?
  This year's pay review hasn't been announced yet, has it?

• To pass a comment during a conversation:

  Yes, it's disgusting, isn't it?
  But he made some very good points, didn't he?

Tag questions with a rising intonation

positive statement – negative tag negative statement – positive tag

Tag questions with a rising intonation are much less common than tag questions with a falling intonation. A tag with a rising intonation is more questioning than a tag with a falling intonation. It expresses stronger feelings than a falling tag and can be used to convey a range of emotions.

USE

• To express surprise or disapproval:

  You didn't tell him, did you?

• To express surprise and ask for confirmation of what the speaker thought to be true:

  A: I think he's taking his test next week.
  B: But he passed his test a long time ago, didn't he?

• To check and ask for confirmation:

  That's your car, isn't it?

• To make a tentative polite request:

  You couldn't open the door for me, could you?

• To express suspicion:

  It wasn't you who told him, was it?
Tag questions with a rising intonation positive statements - positive tag

These tags are not so common as positive-negative or negative-positive tags. The tag can convey a range of emotions.

USE

• To express friendly interest and to encourage the other speaker to give more information:

  So, you’ve been given a promotion, have you?

• To make a suggestion, where agreement is expected:

  We’ll go for a swim this afternoon, shall we?

• To express disagreement and a warning:

  So you think you’re tougher than me, do you?

• To express disapproval and an accusation:

  You went there without telling me, did you?

Echo tags

Positive statement – positive echo tag
Negative statement – negative echo tag

Intonation: falling or rising
Rising intonation expresses more surprise.

An echo tag is a tag used in response to a statement. Echo tags are very common in spoken English. We use echo tags to show that we are listening to what the speaker is saying and showing interest:

A: I met David the other night.
B: Did you?

A: I’m not going to apply for that job now.
B: Aren’t you?

Notes

• Tag questions always use a pronoun and not a full name:
  John’s coming, isn’t he?
  NOT John’s coming, isn’t John?
  and NOT He’s coming, isn’t John?

• When the main sentence has a modal, use the modal in the tag:
  You can help me, can’t you?
  James would have helped us, wouldn’t he?

• When the subject of the sentence is there, use there in the tag:
  There aren’t many people here, are there?

• When the subject of the sentence is This/That, use it in the tag:
  That’s nice, isn’t it?
• When the subject of the sentence is These/Those, use they in the tag:
  Those are beautiful, aren't they?
• When the subject of the sentence is a word like no-one, someone, everyone, the tag uses the pronoun they:
  Everyone's coming tonight, aren't they?
• Sentences with negative subjects like nothing, no-one, neither, anyone behave like negative sentences and have a positive tag:
  Nobody saw you, did they?
  I don't think anyone's coming, are they?
• Imperative sentences use will in the tag:
  Don't do that again, will you?
• Sentences with Let's ... use shall in the tag:
  Let's go there tomorrow, shall we?
• Negative questions can perform a similar function to question tags with a falling intonation.
  It's cold today, isn't it?
  Isn't it cold today?

Practice

63a Complete the gaps with a tag question or echo tag.

A: It’s been a wonderful day, 1. haven’t it?
B: Yes, fantastic. And we’ve had no problems with anything,
       2. ? Everything’s been perfect.
A: That’s right. It’ll certainly be a lovely day to remember,
       3. ?
       ****

A: I had a letter from Louis yesterday.
B: Oh, 4. ?
A: Yes, he says he’s coming to stay this weekend.
B: Really? That’ll be nice, 5. ?
       ****

A: I don’t know what to do today. Just look at the rain outside.
B: Well, I don’t want to stay in all day. Let’s go and see a film,
       6. ?
A: Why not? Good idea. There’s nothing much on at the local cinema though, 7. ?
B: All right. We’ll take the train into town then, 8. ?
       ****

A: Eve and Tony are coming round for dinner tonight.
B: 9. ? Oh, that’ll be nice.
A: Yes. I thought you might like to come too.
B: Well yes, but you haven’t seen them for a long time. I expect you’d like to talk to them on your own, \(^{10}\) \(\ldots\) ?

****

A: How did you get in here?
B: I came in through the back door.
A: Nobody saw you coming in, \(^{11}\) \(\ldots\) ?
B: No, I don’t think so.
A: You shouldn’t come and see me like this. It’s dangerous. Please don’t come here again, \(^{12}\) \(\ldots\) ?

****

A: That’s a beautiful table, \(^{13}\) \(\ldots\) ?
B: Yes, it is, \(^{14}\) \(\ldots\) ?
A: It would be lovely in our kitchen, \(^{15}\) \(\ldots\) ? Why don’t we get it?
B: Don’t be ridiculous. Look at the price. We can’t afford it, \(^{16}\) \(\ldots\) ?

****

A: You couldn’t hold this door open for me, \(^{17}\) \(\ldots\) ? I can’t get the pram through it.
B: Of course. It’s terrible how they design these doors, \(^{18}\) \(\ldots\) ? It makes it so difficult for people in wheelchairs or with young children.
A: Yes, it does, \(^{19}\) \(\ldots\) ?
****

A: I've just been talking to Roger.
B: ........................................ , Dad?
A: Yes, and I didn't like what he told me. So you went to that nightclub on Friday, ............................... ? The one I told you not to go to.
B: I'm sorry Dad. I thought you wouldn't really mind.
A: Oh you did, ............................... ? Well, I do mind.

63b In your notebook, rewrite the conversation adding tag questions where appropriate.

Tracey and Dominic used to be girlfriend and boyfriend. They meet again at a party.

D: Hello. Nice to see you here. It's a great party.
T: Yes, it's really good. There are so many people here that I haven't seen for ages.
D: Yes, there are a lot of our old school crowd here. Have you spoken to many of them?
T: Yes, quite a few. I bumped into Adrian a few minutes ago and we had a brief chat. Well, no, he chatted and I listened.
D: Yes, he's still the same. He just loves talking about himself and he doesn't seem to be interested in what anyone else has to say.
T: That's right. Oh look, that's Melanie over there.
D: Yes, you're right, it is. Who's that she's with?
T: It's Matthew.
D: But he's going out with her sister Emma.
T: Well, yes, I thought so. But look, he's holding Melanie's hand.
D: Oh yes. Well, I suppose our information must be out-of-date then. Anyway, what about you? I've missed you, you know.
T: Yes, I've missed you too.
D: But I expect you've got a new boyfriend now.
T: Not now. I did for a little while after you went away but not now.
D: It was hard saying goodbye. I was going to write to you but I thought it wouldn't help.
T: No, maybe not. Well, anyway, we're here together now. Why don't we just enjoy ourselves.
D: Good idea. Let's dance.
T: Yes, I'd like to. But not now. The music's terrible.
D: Well, it's no good for dancing, that's for sure. We'll go and ask them if we can change it.
T: OK. Well, you go. And put on one of our favourites.
D: Yes, I will. And will you be waiting for me when I get back?
T: Yes, of course I will.

Example: D: Hello. Nice to see you here. It's a great party, isn't it?
64  Common prepositions of time at a time: at 9 o’clock an age: at fifteen/the age of fifteen on a day or a date: on Monday, on 25th September on Saturday afternoon, on the morning of 4th June

+ noun/gerund: On departure/departing, she ...
= When she departed, she ...

in a period of time:
- some time during that period: in the morning,
in February, in 1994
- at the end of a stated period: I’ll be ready in five minutes.
(five minutes from now)
- the length of time that something takes:
  I read the book in two and a half hours.

by a time, date, period, not later than that time:
You must be here by 7 o’clock.

before a time, date, period, event:
I never go to bed before midnight.

after a time, date, period, event:
I’ll phone you after lunch.

since a point in time, from that time until now or until a point in the past:
We’ve been here since Tuesday.
It was the end of the summer. They had been there since June.

for a period of time: They’ve been together for three years.

during a named period or an event:
We always work hard during the summer.
Fighting broke out between rival fans during the match.

until/till a point in time, the point in time at which the action finished:
We slept until/till 8.00.
We didn’t wake up until/till 8.00.

from a time to/until/till a time:
We slept from 11.30 to/until/till 8.00.

Notes
- We use at with festivals and religious celebrations: at Easter
- We say at night. But we can also say in the night meaning during.
- We often use last/this/next with time words:
  We didn’t go on holiday last summer.
  I’m going home this weekend.
  I’ll see you next Monday.
- During versus for:
  We rented a cottage for the summer.
  (Tells us how long)
He became ill during the summer.
(Tells us when – at some point in the summer period)

We spend all our time outside during the summer.
(Tells us when – refers to the whole summer period)

- During versus in:
  They can both be used to refer to something that happens throughout a time period, from its beginning to its end, and so it is often possible to use either during or in.
  It’s very cold here during/in the winter.

  BUT
  - We use in and not during when we want the time reference to sound more specific. So, for example, if we are contrasting one period of time with another, we use in:
    I last saw you in May, not July.
  - We use during when we want to stress the idea of duration.
    She felt miserable during the whole of that summer.
  - When the time reference is an activity rather than a time period, we use during:
    She didn’t speak once during the meal.

Practice

64 Complete the gaps with a suitable preposition of time.

Paula and Jemma are friends.

P: Jemma, how would you like to come round for a meal * during* Saturday?
J: Yes, that sounds a good idea. * * the evening, do you mean?
P: Yes. * * about 8 o’clock if that’s O.K.
J: Sure, that would be fine. The only thing is, I’ll have to leave * * because I’ve got to get up early * * Sunday morning.
P: That’s all right. I don’t like staying up much * * midnight anyway.
J: No, neither do I. I stayed up * * three o’clock last Saturday and I felt terrible * * Sunday morning.
P: So what were you doing * * three o’clock?
J: Oh, Kirsty came down * * the weekend. We actually got home * * about half past twelve * * Saturday night but then we stayed up talking * * another two and a half hours.
P: Oh, how is Kirsty? I haven’t seen her * * your party last year.
J: Oh, she’s a bit fed up. She’s just split up with Matthew * * four years together.
P: Oh, poor Kirsty.
J: Yes, and they split up just * * her exams started too. In fact, I think she had her first exam the next day. Isn’t that awful? Anyway, I’ll tell you about it * * Saturday.
P: O.K. I’ll see you then.
65 Common prepositions of position and movement

- (away) from/at/to a place.
  Use when the reason for being there is more important than the exact position.
  It may be inside or outside:
  I’ll meet you at the station.
  We walked from the station to the cinema.

- out of/in/in(to) a place.
  Use when the place is something with walls or boundaries:
  I’ll wait for you in the car.
  Could you get in(to) the car?
  Can I get out of the car here, please?

- off/on/on(to) a surface or line:
  We need some pictures on the wall.
  Shall we take that picture off the wall?
  Do you think we should put this on the wall?

Note: We usually use on rather than onto. We use onto when we want to emphasize the movement from one place onto another:
I drove onto the motorway. (I drove off another road and onto the motorway.)
I drove on the motorway. (That’s where I drove./That’s how I got there.)

Notes:
- arrive at/in a place
  - get to/into a place
  - get in (without place)
  - in as an adverb: When does the train get in?
- on a train, bus, plane
  - in a car

Two friends, Polly and Maria, are talking.

P: I didn’t see you _________ the club last night. Where were you? Did you stay _________ home?

M: Yes, I thought it was time to stay _________ for a change and, besides, I didn’t feel very well. I just lay _________ bath reading for ages. I decided I wasn’t going to get _________ the bath until I’d finished the book. But then Rosie turned up _________ the doorstep so I had to get _________ to see her.

P: So are you feeling well enough to come out later on?

M: I think so.

P: Well, I’m going round _________ Helen’s at 5.00 and we’re going to take the train _________ Highbury _________ Richmond. So we should get _________ Richmond by 6.00. Then we can walk _________ the station _________ that nice cafe _________ the riverbank. And if we see Charles there, he might invite us _________ his boat.

M: Oh, that would be nice.

P: Did he tell you about Kate pushing him _________ last week?

M: No. So, he fell _________ the boat, did he?

P: Yes, and straight _________ the river. He was soaked, and pretty cold too.

Check

66 Complete the gaps with a suitable preposition or adverb of time or place.

It was 8 o’clock _________ a cold morning _________ January. She was still asleep.
She usually stayed _________ bed _________ about 9 o’clock _________ the winter. Suddenly she was woken up by a knocking at the door. She got _________ bed and went _________ the door. There was a man
_________ the doorstep. She thought she recognized him. ‘Hello Edna,’ he said. ‘It’s Tom. Can I come _________?’ And then she knew who it was but she didn’t quite believe it. She hadn’t seen him _________ thirty years, not _________ the summer of 1940 when she’d said goodbye to him the night his final departure. That was when he went off war. It was two years that when she received the letter the War Office which said that Tom had been missing some time and was now presumed dead. She kept on hoping that they were wrong right up the end of the war. But then she gave up. then, she'd continued to think of Tom every day. his birthday, she always stayed home all day because she couldn't bear to meet anybody. She'd met Tom the age of sixteen and they'd had a wonderful time together the start of the war. She was nineteen when war broke out and they'd been together three years. They were going to get married the war.

She looked at his face. It was still the same face but with quite a few lines it and there was a bit less hair his head. He put his hand his pocket and took out a small photograph. It was one she'd sent him just his disappearance. It was a picture of her a teenager the war. She held it her hand and remembered back to those times. She felt rather hot and dizzy and thought that she might fall the floor at any moment. She asked him to come the living-room and they sat down together to tell their stories.

2c Timothy Harding has worked for this company for ten years. Throughout this time he has shown himself to be a hard-working and enthusiastic employee. He first joined the company as a junior sales representative but was soon promoted and is now at the head of a successful team of sales representatives. He manages the team with skill and energy and the significant increase in sales achieved by the team is a measure of his success. He has considerable initiative and this has been particularly evident in the area of training, where he has had notable success. The training programme he devised for his team has now been adopted throughout the company with very positive results.

On a personal level, I have found Timothy to be a very honest and considerate person and he is well-liked in the company. I have no hesitation in recommending him for the job for which he has applied, though I would of course be sorry to lose him.

morning. They had all been trying to get an exclusive story, to find out something that no other journalist had discovered.
The main story was a big one. The Prime Minister had resigned. Everyone knew that his government had had lots of problems in the last year but his resignation was nonetheless a big surprise. Rumours had been going round all day about the real reasons for the announcement. Some said that he had been involved in some financial scandal. Others said that he had been seeing another woman. All the papers had been working all day to get the best story. And they had been doing their best to find out what the other papers had said. The whole day had been very tense.
Suddenly the editor asked everyone to be quiet. There was a telephone call from the Prime Minister’s office.

22 1 I'm about to go to work. 2 The Council intend to close the old swimming pool. 3 They are planning to have a big wedding in the summer. 4 The train is due to depart at 8.25. 5 The Condor Freight Company have agreed to provide free work clothes to all employees. 6 You are not to enter the building without signing your name in the register. 7 The Government have promised not to increase taxes during the next year. 8 The economy is on the point of collapse/collapsing. 9 The Department of Social Security has proposed cutting unemployment benefit. 10 My grandfather is about to die. 11 I hope to find a new job before the end of the year. 12 Do you promise not to tell anyone about this? 13 When do the two leaders intend to meet? 14 They are planning to move abroad. 15 You are due to arrive at the hotel at 7.30 in the evening.

23a 1 This information should have been given to us ages ago. 2 Do you want to be woken up in the morning? 3 I don't like being told what to do. 4 The windows are really dirty: they haven't been cleaned for weeks. 5 After being made redundant, he became very depressed. 6 I would like to have been given me the chance to explain my point of view, but they weren't interested. 7 I'm hoping I'll be chosen for the college football team. 8 It is believed that many more people will die of skin cancer over the next ten years. 9 If it hadn't rained so much, the job would have been finished on time. 10 We can't take the car: it is being repaired (at the moment).

23b 1 The company is sorry to announce that it has been forced to introduce a range of cost-cutting measures as from the beginning of the new year. Unfortunately, free tea and coffee can no longer be provided. New coin-operated drinks machines are going to be installed in every department and a wide range of drinks can be purchased from these. Overtime payments will also be stopped after the end of this month and all members of staff will be expected to complete their duties within their contract hours. Personal calls must no longer be made from office phones and you are requested to use the pay phone in the basement for this purpose.

2 The Royal Hotel was almost completely destroyed by fire last night. By the time the Fire Brigade was called, the hotel was already blazing. Fifteen people were taken to hospital suffering from severe burns. Seven of them are said to be in a serious condition. (It is said that seven of them are in a serious condition.) The fire is thought to have been started by a discarded cigarette.

3 G: So, how was the holiday? J: Oh, it was fantastic. Everything was organized so well. As soon as we arrived at the airport, we were met and taken to the hotel. All the rooms had been beautifully cleaned and fresh flowers had been put on the tables. G: Oh, how lovely. And what about the food? J: It was excellent. It was all freshly prepared in the hotel and even the bread was made in the hotel kitchen. The bread rolls were served hot every morning with breakfast. G: Mm, it does sound good. I must say, I’d like my meals to be cooked for me for a couple of weeks. And what about the surrounding area? Was that nice? J: Oh beautiful. There were trips every day and we were shown all the local sights. There was so much history to see. You’d love it there, honestly.

4 Last month a plan was put forward (by the Council) to make the sea front traffic free. The plan is supported by many of the shop and restaurant owners as they believe that their trade will be improved by a more pleasant environment. However, the hotel owners are less enthusiastic and say that access to their car parks will be made very difficult. There have also been protests from some local residents who complain that their journeys around the town will be made much longer.

I wanted to see you - honestly I did. A: Why did your parents make you stay in? They usually allow you to go out in the evenings, don't they? M: Yes, but I hadn't finished doing my homework. And they refused to let me go out until I had. A: Oh dear, poor you. Oh well, never mind. Let's do something tonight instead.
M: OK. Actually, I'd like to see that new film.
A: Would you? I suppose it might be quite good but I'd rather just go out to the cafe. I was hoping to have a chance to talk to you properly.
M: Well, why not do both? We could go to the early showing of the film and then go to the cafe.
A: I'm not sure I can afford to go to the cinema.
M: That's all right. I've got some money.
A: So what time would you like meet, then?
M: Six o'clock I suppose – in the cinema. I'll try to get there a bit earlier and buy the tickets.

41 1 I saw you cycling to work the other day. 2 I heard him leave the house early this morning. 3 She stood there and watched him drive away. 4 Did you notice me crying. 5 I've often seen you walking along the beach with your dog. 6 Have you ever heard him play (or playing) saxophone. 7 I expect to find you working hard when I get back. 8 Did you hear me arrive. 9 I looked at the child smiling up at me and felt very sad. 10 We heard them arguing all night. 11 I can feel my hands shaking. 12 I watched you go to sleep and then I left. 13 I never really noticed your hair going grey. 14 I can smell smoke coming in through the windows. 15 He watches me play football every weekend.

In her acceptance speech, Diane Banham said that she was delighted to have been elected onto the Council and that she was very much looking forward to representing the interests of the residents of Kimbridge Valley. Having spoken to the many valley residents over the last few weeks, she said that she had a clear idea of the issues which were of most concern to them. The proposed closure of the school was understandably causing a great deal of anxiety and she hoped to be successful in fighting against that. She then thanked all her supporters and helpers.

I don't really want to go to the cinema tonight because I can't afford it. There is very little that the company can do about this since it is not their responsibility. I've known her for a long time. However, I don't know much about her private life. She's extremely generous, whereas her husband is the exact opposite. Not only did I not say that; I didn't even think it. The suspect is critically ill in hospital so therefore we can't interview him for the time being. 52a A: Helen, I’m delighted to hear that you’ve decided to accept the post of junior manager.
H: Yes. I just hope that it turns out all right.
A: Oh, I’m sure it will. Is there anything in particular that you’re worried about?
H: Well, yes. I’m not sure how the staff will respond to me as a manager. After all, I am quite a bit younger than most of them.
A: Oh, I wouldn’t worry too much about that. I expect that some of them will be a bit hostile to you at first but they’ll soon get used to the fact that you’re the boss. It’s important that you appear confident in your position, even if you don’t feel very confident. The reason that you got this position at your age is that you’re good and you must remember that.
H: Well, I hope that I will live up to your expectations of me. I will certainly try.

56 Born in Holland in 1853, Vincent Van Gogh is one of the world's most famous painters. Although unrecognized throughout his life, his talent was much appreciated after his death.

Having failed in every career he had attempted, Van Gogh first turned to art to express his strong religious feelings. Having decided to become a painter, in about 1880, he started to paint studies of peasants and miners. During the next few years, known as his 'Dutch period', he produced paintings with rather dark greenish-brown colours.

In 1886, having gone to Paris to visit his brother Theo, he was immediately attracted to the Impressionist work he saw there. Encouraged by Pissaro to use more colour in his pictures, his subsequent paintings were bright and immensely colourful.

After moving/having moved to Arles in the south of France, in 1888, he worked frantically. This frenzied activity, interrupted by bouts of deep depression and despair, produced the majority of his most famous paintings. One of these, called Self Portrait with Bandaged Ear, shows Van Gogh wearing a bandage after having cut off his own ear. A year later, in 1890, he committed suicide.

A lot is known about Van Gogh's life and his feelings because of the hundreds of letters written by him to his brother Theo and others. Believing in Van Gogh's genius, his brother always encouraged him in his work. He was the closest person to Van Gogh.

57b 1 She's the one I told you about. 2 I don't like the people who are staying with the Browns. 3 I like books that make you think about things. 4 I'm looking for the person whose car I've just hit. 5 Most of the books I read as a child are still popular today. 6 You can buy pasta from that Italian shop that has just opened in the high street. 7 The woman whose job I'm doing is coming back to work soon. 8 Is she the new television presenter everyone's talking about? 9 People who have a lot of leisure time often have very little money to spend on leisure. 10 Is Technico the company Sarah works for? 11 This is the job I've always wanted. 12 The swimming pool I use is only open to the public in the mornings. 13 We've just bought a computer package that teaches you how to play the piano. 14 My favourite holiday was the one we spent in a cottage in the mountains. 15 We haven't seen the friends that are coming to visit us this weekend for ten years.

58a 1 When I was in town, I met your sister, who was shopping for some clothes. 2 Their house, which is near the beach, needs a lot of work doing to it. 3 Sandra’s just got a new job with Capital Insurers, which is a much better company than the last one she worked for. 4 The new manager, who/whom I met last week, seems to be a very capable woman. 5 This case, which I carried all the way from the station, is full of books. 6 The Games International Company, which we have done business with for many years, with which we have done business for many years, has just gone bankrupt. 7 The hospital, which is due to close down next year, has handed out redundancy notices to all its staff. 8 The prisoners, whose families are campaigning on their behalf, are requesting more time out of their cells. 9 The new government, which came to power with a lot of public support, is now facing major problems. 10 Her latest novel, which I read on holiday, is really good. 11 The Home Affairs Minister, who/whom the opposition has accused of lying, is suspected of being involved in a financial scandal. 12 The Education Department, which Mrs Parkinson is in charge of, of which Mrs Parkinson is in charge, is changing its policy on single sex schools. 13 The Lilley and Swan department store, which has a sale on at the moment, has made reductions on most of its goods. 14 The principal actor, who normally has a wonderful voice, could hardly speak last night due to a sore throat. 15 The sales manager, whose ideas I support, is planning a news advertising campaign.

59 1 with which the majority of soldiers went off to fight for their country. 2 who rushed to the enlistment centres 3 they had dug in the mud 4 who had been horribly injured 5 in which the image makers made an impact 6 which asked women to encourage their men to go to war 7 which seized the country 8 which gripped the nation 9 they had been told 10 which brutalized the people that took part 11 who put these feelings into words very effectively 12 who, in the poem Anthem for Doomed Youth, wrote ‘What passing bells for these who die as cattle.’ 13 who die as cattle 14 which described the horrific reality of war 15 who had not at first been anti-war 16 whose attitudes were changed by what they saw.

60 1 The early morning is (the time) when I work best. 2 His mid-teens were the time when he first became interested in politics. 3 His dishonesty is (the reason) why I left him. 4 Edinburgh is (the city) where I’d most like to live. 5 The outdoor swimming pool, where we often went as children, has now been closed down. 6 This is a picture of (the place) where we’re going for our holidays. 7 His refusal to tell her the truth is (the reason) why she is so angry with him. 8 This is (the place) where I fell off my bike. 9 The people I work with are (the reason) why I stay in the job. 10 That terrible night in December, when I found out what had been going on, changed my life forever.

61 1 You shouldn’t listen to anything (that) he says. 2 It was nice to see all his family, most of whom I have met before. 3 The worst thing that can happen is that we’ll miss the train. 4 I’ve read both the reports, neither of which I agree with.
5 The only thing (that) I need to do is to get some cash out of the bank. 6 The cleaners, several of whom have complained to me about their low pay, have decided to take industrial action. 7 Everything (that) I’ve done has been a failure. 8 I’ve lost any optimism that I once had for the future. 9 Members of the committee, many of whom are themselves suspected of corruption, have decided to call for an investigation. 10 The only thing (that) I can do is to give her the chance to talk about it. 11 Everyone who/that saw the argument said that Peter started it. 12 Those chocolates, half of which I’ve already eaten, were not meant to be for me. 13 The management team, none of whom I trust, are all saying the same thing. 14 The cheapest (that) I saw was about £5. 15 Her brothers, the youngest of whom is a friend of mine, have set up in business together.

62 1 She’s going to have to sell the business, which is a great shame. 2 The weather’s very cold at this time of year, which is why I don’t go out very much. 3 He’s decided to go and teach abroad, which will be an interesting new experience for him. 4 They say he’s been stealing money from the company, which is a terrible accusation to make. 5 She’s going to have a month off work, which is just what she needs after all her problems. 6 He’s going to give up his evening job, which will give him more time to spend with his girlfriend. 7 The editor has finally agreed to print an apology, which he should have done a long time ago. 8 She suddenly appeared on the doorstep last night, which was a complete surprise. 9 A few people have been attacked in this area recently, which is very worrying. 10 He’s going to have an electric wheelchair soon, which will be a great help to him.

63b D: Hello. Nice to see you here. It’s a great party, isn’t it?
T: Yes, it’s really good, isn’t it? There are so many people here that I haven’t seen for ages.
D: Yes, there are a lot of our old school crowd here, aren’t there? Have you spoken to many of them?
T: Yes, quite a few. I bumped into Adrian a few minutes ago and we had a brief chat. Well no, he chatted and I listened.
D: Yes, he’s still the same, isn’t he? He just loves talking about himself and he doesn’t seem to be interested in what anyone else has to say, does he?
T: That’s right. Oh look, that’s Melanie over there, isn’t it?
D: Yes, you’re right, it is. Who’s that she’s with?
T: It’s Matthew, isn’t it?
D: But he’s going out with her sister Emma, isn’t he?
T: Well yes, I thought so. But he’s holding Melanie’s hand.
D: Oh yes. Well, I suppose our information must be out of date then, mustn’t it? Anyway, what about you? I’ve missed you, you know.
T: Yes, I’ve missed you too.
D: But I expect you’ve got a new boyfriend now, haven’t you?
T: Not now. I did for a little while after you went away but not now.
D: It was hard saying goodbye, wasn’t it? I was going to write to you but I thought it wouldn’t help.
T: No maybe not. Well anyway, we’re here together now, aren’t we? Why don’t we just enjoy ourselves.
D: Good idea. Let’s dance, shall we?
T: Yes, I’d like to. But not now. The music’s terrible, isn’t it?
D: Well it’s no good for dancing, that’s for sure. We’ll go and ask them if we can change it, shall we?
T: OK. Well, you go. And put on one of our favourites, will you?
D: Yes, I will. And will you be waiting for me when I get back, won’t you?
T: Yes, of course I will.
