<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Introduction</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Africa: Land of Splendor</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Central and Western Africa</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Congo: Two Countries, One Name</td>
<td>8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ghana: Gold Coast of Africa</td>
<td>10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Accra, Ghana: From Trading Post to Modern City</td>
<td>12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Guinea: Forests and Minerals</td>
<td>14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Liberia: Africa’s Oldest Republic</td>
<td>16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Monrovia, Liberia: Freedom City</td>
<td>18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nigeria: Land of 500 Languages</td>
<td>20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Senegal: Land of Teranga</td>
<td>22</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dakar, Senegal: City of the Tamarind Tree</td>
<td>24</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Eastern Africa</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ethiopia: Ancient Country in Africa’s Horn</td>
<td>26</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Addis Ababa, Ethiopia:</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The City Called “New Flower”</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kenya: Cradle of Humanity</td>
<td>30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nairobi, Kenya: From Swamp to Capital City</td>
<td>32</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Seychelles: An Island Paradise</td>
<td>34</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Somalia: Land of Nomads</td>
<td>36</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tanzania: Land of Natural Wonders</td>
<td>38</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Uganda: Country of Lakes and Rivers</td>
<td>40</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kampala, Uganda: City on the Hill of Antelopes</td>
<td>42</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>North Africa</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Algeria: Desert Land on the Sea</td>
<td>44</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Algiers, Algeria: The Island City on the Hills</td>
<td>46</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Egypt: The Pharaohs and the Pyramids</td>
<td>48</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Egypt: Cultural Center, Past and Present</td>
<td>50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cairo, Egypt: City of the Nile</td>
<td>52</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nile River: Egypt’s Gift</td>
<td>54</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Suez Canal: Joining Two Seas for a Shortcut</td>
<td>56</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Libya: Oil Country of Africa</td>
<td>58</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tripoli, Libya: Ancient Walled City</td>
<td>60</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rabat, Morocco: Built for Victory</td>
<td>62</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Sudan: Giant of Africa</td>
<td>64</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Southern Africa</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Angola: Land of Oil and Diamonds</td>
<td>66</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Luanda, Angola: A Portuguese Legacy</td>
<td>68</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Botswana: The Jewel of the Kalahari</td>
<td>70</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Madagascar: Island Sanctuary</td>
<td>72</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Malawi: Lakeside Country</td>
<td>74</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lilongwe, Malawi: On Malawi’s Fertile Plains</td>
<td>76</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Namibia: A Beautiful, Arid Place</td>
<td>78</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Windhoek, Namibia: Namibia’s Windy Corner</td>
<td>80</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>South Africa: Diamond Country</td>
<td>82</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>South Africa: A People Apart</td>
<td>84</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>South African Cities: Mixed Urban Histories</td>
<td>86</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Zimbabwe: From Colony to Independent Country</td>
<td>88</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Harare, Zimbabwe: City in a Garden</td>
<td>90</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Victoria Falls: “The Smoke That Thunders”</td>
<td>92</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Glossary</td>
<td>94</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Index</td>
<td>95</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
INTRODUCTION

Who were the pharaohs? What country was created as a home for freed slaves?
On what river would you find the Aswan High Dam?
What was apartheid?

To help you on your journey, we’ve provided the following guideposts in Africa:

■ Subject Tabs—The colored box in the upper corner of each right-hand page will quickly tell you the article subject.
■ Search Lights—Try these mini-quizzes before and after you read the article and see how much—and how quickly—you can learn. You can even make this a game with a reading partner. (Answers are upside down at the bottom of one of the pages.)
■ Did You Know?—Check out these fun facts about the article subject. With these surprising “factoids,” you can entertain your friends, impress your teachers, and amaze your parents.
■ Picture Captions—Read the captions that go with the photos. They provide useful information about the article subject.
■ Vocabulary—New or difficult words are in bold type. You’ll find them explained in the Glossary at the back of this volume. And there’s a complete listing of all Glossary terms in the set in the Reference Guide and Index, Volume 13.
■ Learn More!—Follow these pointers to related articles throughout the set.
■ Maps—You’ll find lots of information in this volume’s many maps.
■ The Country Maps point out national capitals. Globes beside Subject Tabs show where countries are located in the world.
■ The Continent Maps have a number key showing the location of all countries.

The Icons on the maps highlight major geographic features and climate. Here’s a key to what the map icons mean:

- ☀ Deserts and Other Dry Areas
- ❄️ Polar Regions and Other Frozen Areas
- 🏔️ Mountains
- 🌳 Rainforests
- 🌳 General Forests

The Mini-Atlas, found in Volume 13, offers detailed maps, useful data tables, and assorted photographs of each continent.

And don’t forget: If you’re not sure where to start, where you saw something before, or where to go next, the Index at the back of this volume and the Reference Guide and Index (Volume 13) will point the way.

---

Verreaux’s sifaka, South Africa
© Martin Harvey—Gallo Images/Corbis

Have a great trip!

My First Britannica
Land of Splendor

Africa’s splendor is seen in its beautiful landscapes, its amazing animal life, and its diverse human culture. The African continent is the home of more than 800 million people living in more than 50 countries. Africa is the second largest continent on Earth, after Asia.

Africa’s long coastline is shaped by the Atlantic and Indian oceans and the Mediterranean and Red seas. In the north of the continent lies the Sahara. It is the world’s largest desert and covers almost all of northern Africa. Located in southwestern Africa are two other major deserts, the Kalahari and the Namib.

The African continent has two major rivers, the Nile and the Congo. The Nile is the longest river in the world. At the southern end of the Nile is Lake Victoria, Africa’s largest lake. Not far to the southeast of Lake Victoria is Mount Kilimanjaro, the highest point in Africa. One of the world’s major waterfalls, Victoria Falls, is also in Africa.

Africa is known for its wildlife. There are elephants, rhinoceroses, hippopotamuses, lions, and leopards. Other animals include antelope, gazelles, giraffes, baboons, gorillas, hyenas, and chimpanzees. Most of these animals live in Africa’s open grasslands or in tropical rainforests.

The people of Africa belong to hundreds of ethnic groups. Each group has its own language, traditions, religion, arts, and history. During its political history, Africa has been the site of Egyptian dynasties, African kingdoms, European colonies, and independent countries.

Learn More! Read These Articles…

Asia (Volume 7) • Continents (Volume 1)
Europe (Volume 6)
Women gather firewood in the Democratic Republic of the Congo, which is also called Congo (Kinshasa). More than two-thirds of the people live in small towns and villages.

© Gallo Images/Corbis

SEARCH LIGHT

How did the Congo get its name?

DID YOU KNOW?
The Congo River is one of the great rivers of the world. Only the Amazon River (in South America) drains a larger area than the Congo River does.
As long as 25,000 years ago, people began to live in the forests of the Congo River basin in west-central Africa. They gathered food from the forests and dug up roots to eat.

Today the Congo basin contains two countries separated by the Congo River. Both of the countries are called Congo. To tell them apart, they are sometimes referred to by the names of their capital cities. One of the countries is called Congo (Brazzaville), and the other is Congo (Kinshasa). Congo (Brazzaville) is officially known as the Republic of the Congo. Congo (Kinshasa) is officially called the Democratic Republic of the Congo.

The Congo region got its name from the Kongo, or Bakongo, one of the main groups of people who live there. These people have been in the area for centuries, from the time when the Congo was ruled by various kingdoms.

The Portuguese arrived in the kingdom called Kongo in 1483. At first the newcomers were friendly to the people of the kingdom. But by the 1530s the Portuguese were sending the Kongo people away as slaves.

By the late 1800s other European countries had become interested in the Congo region. They valued the Congo River as a route for trade between the west coast of Africa and the interior part of the continent. The French and the Belgians took over different parts of the Congo. The local people didn’t win their independence until 1960. Though free, each of the two Congos faced many problems. Both countries experienced periods of fierce internal fighting and struggles for power.

Learn More! Read these articles…

- AFRICA (volume 8)
- PORTUGAL (volume 6)
- RIVERS (volume 1)
These miners work at the Ashanti gold mine in Obuasi, Ghana. Ghana has long been one of the world’s leading producers of gold. Mining provides work for many of Ghana’s people.

© Penny Tweedie/Corbis

Why do you think people from so many other countries wanted to take over Ghana? (Hint: Think of Ghana’s former name.)
The country of Ghana has so much gold that it was once called the Gold Coast of Africa. It still has the largest gold reserves in the world. Ghana is in western Africa. Accra is its capital and largest city.

Ghana has coastal plains in the south, savanna in the north, and hills and rainforests in between. The oddly shaped baobab tree grows in the savanna and coastal plains. There you will also find giant anthills, some of which are 14 feet high. In the rainforests are tall trees such as the mahogany. And there are many kinds of animals—lions, leopards, elephants, buffalo, monkeys, and snakes, to name a few.

Many of Ghana’s people work in fishing, logging, or gold mining. Farming is very important as well. Much of the farmland is used for growing cacao. These trees produce cocoa beans, which are used to make chocolate. Cacao, timber, and gold are sold to other countries.

Long ago the Almoravids from northern Africa conquered Ghana and forced its people to become slaves. Since then, many other groups have gone to Ghana. The Portuguese arrived in the 1400s. They traded in gold, ivory, and slaves. Later came the British, the French, the Dutch, the Swedes, and the Danes. In 1901 the British made the Gold Coast a colony. In 1957 the colony won its independence and became the new country of Ghana. Today Ghana is one of Africa’s leading democracies.
Accra is the capital of the West African country of Ghana. It lies on the coast of the Gulf of Guinea, which is part of the Atlantic Ocean. The city is built partly on a low cliff. The rest spreads northward across the Accra plains.

Accra reflects the cultures of the many people who have settled in the area where it now stands. The Ga people had villages there when the Portuguese arrived in 1482. The British, the Danes, and the Dutch came later. The Europeans built fortified trading posts along the coast. They traded in gold, ivory, and slaves. Because of the area’s gold, it became known as the Gold Coast. In 1877 Accra became the capital of the British Gold Coast colony.

The Gold Coast gained its independence from British rule in 1957 and took the name Ghana. Accra became the capital of the new country. Today it is a modern city of more than 1.5 million people.

Accra is Ghana’s business and educational center. The national museum and national archives and the Accra Central Library are located in the city. The University of Ghana is in nearby Legon. Black Star Square is the site of the Independence Arch. This large square is used for parades. For those who like sports, Accra has a football (soccer) stadium and a racecourse. Not far from Accra are the Aburi Botanical Gardens, which were created by the British more than 100 years ago. And the city’s large open markets receive most of the food supply each day.

Learn More! Read these articles...

Ghana (Volume 8)
Rocks and Minerals (Volume 1)
A Story from Ghana: Ananse and the Wisdom Pot (Volume 5)
Accra lies along the Gold Coast, an area in southern Ghana that has rich deposits of gold. The Portuguese built this strong fort, now called Elmina Castle, in the Gold Coast in 1482. They wanted to keep all of the area’s gold trade for themselves.

© Liba Taylor/Panos Pictures
Guinea is a country in western Africa on the Atlantic Ocean. Its capital city, Conakry, is a major port. Ships stop there to load up on Guinea’s minerals and other products and transport them to markets around the world.

The land is divided into four main areas. A flat plain lies along the coast. Northern Guinea has open grasslands called savannas. The grass there grows as high as ten feet during the rainy season. To the east the Fouta Djallon highlands rise sharply from the plain. In the southeast is a hilly area with large forests. There are valuable teak, mahogany, and ebony trees in this area. But much of the forest is becoming open grassland. People have cut down many of the trees so that they can use the land for farming.

Most people in Guinea work as farmers, growing their own food. They grow rice, cassava, sweet potatoes, bananas, coffee, pineapples, peanuts, yams, and corn. Some crops are grown for export, or to sell to other countries. Guinea also has large amounts of such minerals as bauxite, iron ore, gold, and diamonds. These are mined and exported.

The people of Guinea belong to several different groups. In the Fouta Djallon region many people are Fulani. In northern Guinea are the Malinke. Other major groups in the country are the Susu, the Kissi, and the Kpelle. Until 1958 Guinea was a colony of France. Because of that the official language in Guinea is French. But many African languages are spoken there as well.

Learn More! Read these articles…
Africa (Volume 8) • Atlantic Ocean (Volume 1) • Rocks and Minerals (Volume 1)

True or false? Most of the people in Guinea work as miners.
DID YOU KNOW?
All three of western Africa’s major rivers begin in Guinea. The country’s Fouta Djallon region is the source of the Niger, the Gambia, and the Senegal rivers.
Women try to catch fish in a small pond north of Monrovia, Liberia. Fish are a major source of protein for many Liberians.

© Jan Dago/Magnum Photos

DID YOU KNOW?
Liberia means “land of the free,” a fitting name for a country created for freed slaves.
In the 1820s some Americans who opposed slavery bought land in West Africa. They used it to create a new country for freed slaves, whose ancestors had been taken from Africa. This country was called Liberia. Its government was set up as a republic modeled on the United States government. Liberia is now the oldest republic in Africa. Despite the origins of the country, most of its citizens are not the descendants of former slaves.

Today you can find out about Liberia’s past by visiting the Malima Gorblah Village and Besao Village. These villages preserve the country’s old culture. They are like living museums of Liberia’s past.

Liberia’s climate is warm and humid all year and rainy from May to October. The country’s forests and rolling hills are home to such wild animals as monkeys, chimpanzees, antelopes, elephants, crocodiles, and poisonous snakes. There are two rare animals found in Liberia. One is the pygmy hippopotamus, which looks like a baby hippo even when it’s full-grown. The other is the manatee, a big seal-shaped mammal that lives in the water.

The rubber trees, coffee, and cocoa that grow in Liberia provide products that can be sold to other countries. Liberian farmers also grow rice, sugarcane, bananas, and yams. Liberia is rich in mineral resources. It is one of the world’s leading producers of iron ore.

Liberia suffered through a civil war in the early 1990s. It made life dangerous and difficult for many people. The war officially ended in 1996, but some fighting continued.

Learn More! Read these articles…

MANATEES (VOLUME 12)
MONROVIA, LIBERIA (VOLUME 8)
RAINFORESTS (VOLUME 1)
DID YOU KNOW?
If you visit Monrovia, take your umbrella. Monrovia is the second wettest city in the world! It gets more than 200 inches of rain every year. Among the world’s cities, only Buenaventura, Colombia, gets more rainfall.

Where does the name Monrovia come from?
As the capital of Liberia, the city of Monrovia is home to the country’s most important government buildings. The Executive Mansion (at the front of the photo) is where the president lives.
© Albrecht G. Schaefer/Corbis
Monrovia is the capital of Liberia, a country in western Africa. It is also the largest city in the country. Monrovia is located on the coast, where the Mesurado River meets the Atlantic Ocean. It is Liberia’s main port. Monrovia is not as old as many other cities, but its short history makes an interesting story of new beginnings.

A group known as the American Colonization Society founded the city. They set up a whole new country so that freed slaves from the United States could move to Africa, the home of their ancestors. Monrovia was named after the U.S. president James Monroe. He was the president at the time Liberia was founded.

The first settlement was established in 1822. It later developed into the city of Monrovia. Liberia became an independent republic in 1847, with Monrovia as its capital. Most of the settlers from the United States arrived between 1830 and 1871. No longer enslaved, they were full of hope for making a fresh start at life. Many people who already lived in Africa also moved to Monrovia and to the other new towns in Liberia.

In 1851 the government of Liberia established a college in Monrovia. That college, now called the University of Liberia, also has a medical school. Today many people go to college in Monrovia.

A hospital in Monrovia is named after another U.S. president, John F. Kennedy. Other important buildings in the city are the capitol, city hall, and the Temple of Justice. But many of these buildings were damaged or destroyed during Liberia’s civil war, which began in 1990. A truce was declared in 1996, but some fighting continued.
Nigeria is a country on the west coast of Africa. It’s a place of great variety, in both land and people. More people call Nigeria home than any other country on the continent. There are about 250 different groups of people living there. Each has its own traditions and ways of life. And each group has its own language. More than 500 different languages are spoken in Nigeria. But English is the official language.

The weather is not the same in all parts of the country. Some areas get a lot of rain. Other areas are very dry. Because there are different kinds of weather in different parts of the country, there are many kinds of animals and plants. There are thick rainforests as well as mangroves and freshwater swamps. There is also open grassland called “savanna.” There are small trees all over the vast savanna.

DID YOU KNOW?
It is said that more twins are born in Nigeria than anywhere else in the world. Twins are so common that they usually get the same set of names. For example, the Yoruba people usually name their twins Taiwo and Kehinde.
Once, camels, antelope, hyenas, lions, baboons, and giraffes lived in the savanna. Red river hogs, forest elephants, and chimpanzees lived in the rainforest. Animals found in both forest and savanna included leopards, monkeys, gorillas, and wild pigs. Today these animals generally are found only in special parks.

Nigeria has many cities. The capital of Nigeria used to be Lagos. But in 1991 the capital changed to Abuja. Lagos is a very large coastal city with many businesses. But Abuja is in the middle of the country, which makes it easier for people to travel there. Lagos was overcrowded too, and Abuja had more open land for building.

Learn More! Read These Articles…

Africa (Volume 8)

A Nigerian Folktales:

The Monkey Court (Volume 5)

Wole Soyinka (Volume 3)

True or false? Nigeria is a very rainy country.

Answer: FALSE. Parts of the country do get a lot of rain, but parts...
The religion followed by most of the people of Senegal is
a) Islam.
b) Christianity.
c) Buddhism.

A Soninke mother and child stand in the doorway of a traditional-style mud house on a bank of the Senegal River. Like most of the other peoples in Senegal, the Soninke are Muslim.
© Margaret Courtney-Clarke/Corbis
Long ago there was a house packed with men and women. They were inspected and priced like animals. The weaker ones died, and the stronger ones were shipped to the Americas to work as slaves. This slave house was on Gorée Island, which lies off the coast of Senegal, in westernmost Africa. Exactly what went on there is not known for sure. But Senegal was at one time involved in selling Africans as slaves.

But that was long ago. Today Senegal’s culture is known for its teranga, a spirit of warm welcome toward outsiders. Teranga means “hospitality,” or “welcoming heart,” in the language of the Wolof. Many different groups of people make up the Senegalese nation. The Wolof are one of the largest of Senegal’s seven main ethnic groups.

Despite their different backgrounds, the people of Senegal tend to live in similar ways. Most of the people practice Islam. And most live in small villages in the countryside. Each village has a water source, a mosque, and a public gathering place. France ruled Senegal until 1960. The different groups of Senegal speak several different African languages, but French is still widely used as a common language. This helps people from different groups talk to each other.

Senegal is one of the world’s main producers of peanuts. The country has wide rivers and good soil. The light-colored sandy soil in the northwestern part of the country is especially good for growing peanuts. Dakar, the country’s capital, is a major center for the peanut trade.

Did You Know?

Léopold Senghor, the first president of independent Senegal, was also an important writer. He was a leading poet of a movement that celebrated African culture.

Learn More! Read These Articles…

- Dakar, Senegal (Volume 8)
- Islam (Volume 5)
- Peanuts (Volume 10)
The small island of Gorée, near Dakar, served as an outpost for slave trading for some three hundred years. Slavery became illegal in Senegal in 1848, and the trading post closed. Today, tourists come to Gorée to visit several museums and the remains of old forts.

© Marcel & Eva Malherbe/The Image Works

DID YOU KNOW?

Dakar is at the heart of Senegal’s thriving music scene. One of the city’s most famous musicians is Youssou N’Dour. His songs blend a wide range of styles, from traditional African music to Cuban rhythms, Western pop, jazz, and soul.
Dakar is the capital city and business center of Senegal. Its name comes from dakhar, a local name for the tamarind tree. The city lies on the west coast of Africa, close to the most westerly point on the continent.

The French founded Dakar when they built a fort on the site in 1857. Even earlier they had begun to establish trade in the area. Dakar has since become one of the chief seaports of western Africa. It has a fine harbor. Natural limestone cliffs protect the harbor from the force of the waves.

The French opened West Africa’s first railway line in 1885. The railway connected Dakar with the nearby island city of Saint-Louis. This helped Dakar grow into a center for the export of peanuts. The city now has an international airport too.

If you visit Dakar, you might enjoy seeing the IFAN Museum. It has a fine collection of art from Senegal and other African countries. On the nearby island of Gorée is the Slave House, built in 1786. Many thousands of slaves passed through it on their way to being shipped away from Africa. The Slave House is now a museum where you can see the tiny cells where the slaves were kept. There are also several old forts, a women’s museum, and a maritime museum (about ships). Gorée is a tiny island with only about 1,000 people. It has beaches and a high rocky area called Le Castel, which offers good views of the island and Dakar.

LEARN MORE! READ THESE ARTICLES…

Liberia (Volume 8) • Peanuts (Volume 10) • Senegal (Volume 8)
Find and correct the error in the following sentence:
Ethiopia is a young country located in the Horn of Africa region of eastern Africa.

DID YOU KNOW?
In the early 1970s the remains of some of the bones of “Lucy” were found in Ethiopia. Lucy is believed to be an early ancestor of humans who lived between 3 million and 4 million years ago.
Not very long ago, a lot of people in Ethiopia, a country in eastern Africa, went hungry. In 1992-93 the Ethiopian government had to ask countries to donate food for its people. Some 10 million people faced starvation. Although many countries helped, hundreds of thousands of Ethiopians still suffered. Many later died because they had no food.

Most Ethiopians are farmers. But sometimes the government makes bad decisions on how to use the country’s farmland. That’s one reason why there’s not always enough food. Another reason is lack of rain. Ethiopia has two rainy seasons. But once in a while it suffers from droughts, times when it does not rain enough. Often Ethiopia must buy food from other countries. But Ethiopia sells things such as sugarcane, beeswax, leather goods, and coffee. Ethiopia is the place where coffee first came from.

Ethiopia is one of the oldest countries in Africa. It lies within a region that’s called the Horn of Africa because on a map it looks like an animal’s horn. The capital is Addis Ababa. Most of the people in Ethiopia are Christian. Some follow Islam. Others follow traditional animism, the belief that there is life in the forces of nature or even in inanimate objects.

One of the exciting things in Ethiopia is the rich variety of wildlife. But many of the animals have become rare, including lions, leopards, elephants, giraffes, rhinoceroses, and wild buffalo. In order to protect the remaining animals, the government has set aside 20 special parks and sanctuaries.

LEARN MORE! READ THESE ARTICLES…
ADDIS ABABA, ETHIOPIA (VOLUME 8)
CHRISTIANITY (VOLUME 5) • COFFEE (VOLUME 10)
How did Addis Ababa get so many eucalyptus trees?

DID YOU KNOW?
Many of the places in Addis Ababa don’t have regular addresses. Many of the city’s streets don’t even have names. So if you go to Addis Ababa, be sure to get a guide.
If you visit Ethiopia by airplane, you will probably land in Addis Ababa. The city is the capital of Ethiopia and its largest city. Addis Ababa sits high in the mountains at an elevation of about 8,000 feet above sea level. It is the highest city in Africa.

At one time in Ethiopia’s history, a town called Entoto was the capital. This town had a cold climate but lacked enough firewood to provide heat for the people. The wife of Emperor Menilek II wanted him to build a house at a nearby hot springs. The emperor did so, and a new city was founded around it in 1887. The emperor’s wife named the new city Addis Ababa, which means “New Flower.”

As the population of Addis Ababa grew, that city experienced a shortage of firewood too. To help solve this problem, a large number of eucalyptus trees were imported from Australia. The eucalyptus trees eventually grew in number and now provide a forest for the city’s needs.

Today Addis Ababa is the headquarters of several international organizations. One of them is the United Nations Economic Commission for Africa. Another one is the African Union. This league includes many African nations that work together to improve their economies and governments.

As a national capital, Addis Ababa has many of Ethiopia’s government buildings. The city is also an important educational and commercial center. Addis Ababa University was started in 1950. And goods such as textiles, plastics, and wood products are manufactured in the city. Addis Ababa is also the site of one of Africa’s largest open-air markets.

LEARN MORE! READ THESE ARTICLES…

ETHIOPIA (VOLUME 8) • EUCALYPTUS (VOLUME 10) • MOUNTAINS (VOLUME 1)
Some of the very earliest humans are believed to have lived in Kenya. That is why some people call the country the “cradle of humanity.”

Kenya is a country in East Africa. Its capital is Nairobi. The country has a beautiful natural landscape with great variety. There are sandy beaches, huge mountains, rolling grassland, and deserts. A long deep valley cuts through western Kenya. It is part of the Great Rift Valley, a very long series of cracks in the Earth’s surface. It runs from southwestern Asia through East Africa. Part of Kenya’s southeastern border lies along the Indian Ocean. Lake Victoria makes up part of Kenya’s western borders. It’s the largest lake in Africa.

The Kenyans are mostly farmers. In the Mount Elgon region, coffee and tea are grown and then sold to other countries. Mount Elgon is a volcano that no longer erupts. The soil in this volcanic region is especially good for growing crops. In the evergreen forests in the west are valuable trees such as cedar and podo. In the south of the country, most of the forests have been cut down.

Kenya’s wildlife safaris are world famous. Many tourists visit the country to see the wide range of wild animals, including lions, leopards, elephants, giraffes, gazelles, baboons, and many others. In the rivers there are hippopotamuses, crocodiles, and many fish and spiny lobsters. Many of the animals that live in Kenya are very rare. The country has set up more than 50 national parks and preserves to protect its wildlife.

LEARN MORE! READ THESE ARTICLES…
COFFEE (VOLUME 10) • MOUNTAINS (VOLUME 1)
NAIROBI, KENYA (VOLUME 8)
A group of Masai men perform a traditional dance in Kenya. All young Masai men are brought up to learn the group's customs. They are also encouraged to develop strength, courage, and endurance—traits for which the Masai warriors are noted throughout the world.

© Wendy Stone/Corbis

DID YOU KNOW?
Every year more than a million wildebeests, a kind of African antelope, pass through Kenya.
DID YOU KNOW?
Nairobi is the largest city between Johannesburg, South Africa, in the far south of the continent, and Cairo, Egypt, in northern Africa.
Nairobi used to be a swampy place. But this swamp would one day become the capital city of Kenya, in East Africa. The name Nairobi comes from a water hole that the Masai people of Kenya called Enkare Nairobi. Enkare Nairobi means “cold water.”

In the late 1890s, the British established a settlement there while building a railway across southern Kenya. This railway still runs through Nairobi. It connects Lake Victoria, on the border with Uganda, to Mombasa, Kenya’s major port on the Indian Ocean. When the British took control of Kenya in 1905, Nairobi was made its capital city. Under British rule, Nairobi grew into a trading center and a large city. It remained the capital when Kenya became free from the British in 1963.

Today Nairobi is an important center for education. The University of Nairobi and its Kenyatta University College are among the major schools in the city. Visitors go to see the National Museum of Kenya, McMillan Memorial Library, and Kenya National Theater. The tourism industry is important to the city’s economy.

Just a few miles south of the city is Nairobi National Park. It’s a large beautiful park set aside to protect the area’s wild animals. It was the first such park established in Kenya. Tourists go to see the park’s lions, black rhinoceroses, gazelles, giraffes, antelope, and zebras, as well as hundreds of kinds of birds. Near the main gate is a small zoo. Keepers there take care of baby elephants and black rhinoceroses.

Learn more! Read these articles…

England (Volume 6) • Kenya (Volume 8) • Swamps (Volume 1)
The rocky islands of Seychelles are rugged and beautiful.

© Nik Wheeler/Corbis
The Republic of Seychelles is a country made up of about 115 islands in the Indian Ocean off the east coast of Africa. Victoria is its capital city and only shipping port. It lies on Mahé, the country's largest island.

Seychelles is made up of two main island groups. The Mahé group has 40 islands. These islands are rocky and hilly, with narrow strips of coastline. The other group consists of low islands built up from the rock-hard skeletons of countless coral animals. These coral islands have almost no water. Very few people live on them.

Mahé is home to the great majority of the country’s people. Most of the people are Creole, with a mixture of Asian, African, and European heritage. The French and then the British used to rule the islands. Seychelles was given its independence by Britain in 1976. Creole, English, and French are all national languages.

The islands have very little good farmland. Tree products such as coconuts and cinnamon bark are the main crops. Fishing is a very important industry. The people catch the fish, pack them into cans, and ship them around the world.

The islands are especially rich in beautiful tropical scenery. Coconut palm trees grow along the coast on most of the islands. Giant tortoises and green sea turtles live along the coasts. Sharks are found in the ocean. The seafaring frigate bird spends time on the islands. Tourism is Seychelles’ biggest industry, with visitors attracted by the country’s beaches, wildlife, and greenery.
Somalia is a country on the eastern coast of Africa. It occupies a region known as the Horn of Africa. It is called that because on a map it looks something like an animal’s horn. The capital city is Mogadishu.

Somalia has flatlands in the south and areas of rocky highlands in the north. It has a narrow sandy coast along the Gulf of Aden called the Guban. Most of the country is too hot and dry to have a great variety of plants. Forests exist only in the highlands. But in certain seasons there is rain. During the rainy seasons cars and trucks can get stuck in the mud. Because of this, camels, cattle, and donkeys are still used for transportation.

Somalia has many kinds of animals, including hyenas, foxes, leopards, lions, ostriches, and antelope. Such other animals as giraffes, zebras, hippopotamuses, rhinoceroses, and elephants have been hunted until they are almost extinct.

Many Somalis don’t live in one place for the entire year. Instead, they move frequently to find grass for their animals to eat. People who regularly move around like this are called nomads. For support and protection the people look to big family groups called clans. Most Somalis follow the religion of Islam.

Foreign powers, including England, Italy, and Ethiopia, controlled Somalia for a long time. Somalia became independent in 1960. But the country suffered through many wars, often involving fighting between different clans. Partly because of all the fighting, Somalia remained a poor country. The people have often faced hunger.

Learn More! Read These Articles…

- CAMELS (VOLUME 12)
- ISLAM (VOLUME 5)
- KENYA (VOLUME 8)
SOMALIA

Answer: a) hot and dry.

DID YOU KNOW?
Point Xaafuun, on Somalia’s eastern coast, is the easternmost point in all of Africa.

Years of fighting in Somalia have left many of the country’s people poor and hungry.

© David Turnley/Corbis
The East African country of Tanzania is known for its stunning natural features. It has the tallest peak in Africa (Mount Kilimanjaro) and the world’s largest volcano crater (Ngorongoro Crater). Along its borders with neighboring countries are three large lakes. Lake Victoria, in the north, is the second largest lake in the world. The longest and second deepest is Lake Tanganyika, in the west. Lake Nyasa is in the south.

The government of Tanzania has created several national parks to protect the country’s animals. The Serengeti National Park is the most famous. The Serengeti Plain, in the northern part of the country, is a large area of grasslands that is home to many animals. The plain stretches across the border into Kenya. It has also been home for thousands of years to a group of people called the Masai. The name Serengeti comes from a Masai word that means “endless plains.” There thousands of zebras, gnus (wildebeests), gazelles, lions, and many other animals live in large herds.

In the eastern part of the Serengeti Plain is the Olduvai Gorge. This is a narrow valley with steep sides where some of the earliest human remains have been found. Scientists have discovered that early human ancestors lived and used tools in that area more than 2 million years ago.

Several islands in the Indian Ocean are also part of the country. The island of Zanzibar is the most notable. It was once a major trading port. Many Africans were sent into slavery from there. Today many people from all over the world travel to Tanzania to see its splendid scenery and wildlife.

LEARN MORE! READ THESE ARTICLES…
KENYA (VOLUME 8) • LIONS (VOLUME 12) • MOUNTAINS (VOLUME 1)
A pair of giraffes is at home near Mount Kilimanjaro in Tanzania.
© Daryl Balfour—Stone/Getty Images

DID YOU KNOW?
The scientist Jane Goodall studied chimpanzees for many years in Tanzania’s Gombe Stream National Park, along Lake Tanganyika.
The source of the Nile River was a mystery that had fascinated people since ancient times. It wasn’t until 1862 that explorers found out for sure that a major source of the river is Lake Victoria in Uganda. Here the river flows through the Source of the Nile Park. © Dennis Johnson/Lonely Planet Images

DID YOU KNOW?
The gentle and friendly crested crane is the official bird of Uganda. This bird has feathers of red, yellow, and black—the same colors that are in the national flag. In fact, the crested crane is portrayed at the flag’s center.

Fill in the blanks:
Almost half the world’s population of __________ are found in Uganda.
Uganda is a beautiful country in East Africa with many lakes and rivers, vast grasslands, and some forests. Most of the country lies on a plateau bordered by mountains and valleys. The capital city, Kampala, is built on seven hills.

Water is plentiful in Uganda. There are eight main rivers and six major lakes. Among the main rivers are two sections of the Nile River. Lake Victoria is the world’s second largest freshwater lake. About half of it lies within Uganda. The area around this lake has some of the best soil in the world for growing crops. Most of the country receives plenty of rainfall too.

Uganda is home to many kinds of animals. There are hippopotamuses and crocodiles in most of the lakes and rivers. Zebras, giraffes, and antelope roam the grasslands. The country has developed several national parks to protect its animals. In these parks live lions, leopards, rhinoceroses, elephants, and chimpanzees. The Bwindi Impenetrable National Park contains nearly half the world’s population of mountain gorillas, an endangered species.

At one time Uganda was a dangerous country to visit. In 1971 Idi Amin, an army officer, took power and became the country’s dictator. The people welcomed him at first. But he was a cruel ruler, and the Ugandans suffered greatly. Amin started a war with Tanzania in 1978. The following year he was forced to leave the country. Afterward Uganda experienced yet more fighting, but peace eventually returned to the country.

LEARN MORE! READ THESE ARTICLES…
GORILLAS (VOLUME 12) • KAMPALA, UGANDA (VOLUME 8)
RIVERS (VOLUME 1)
Fill in the blank: Kampala is built on a series of ____.
Kampala, the capital and largest city of Uganda, is a country of East Africa. It lies in the southern part of the country, north of Lake Victoria. Kampala spreads over a number of hills. The rulers of the powerful Buganda kingdom of the 1800s kept antelope on the slopes. In the local language, Kampala means “the hill of antelopes.”

Buganda came under the control of the British in the 1890s. The British chose Kampala as the site of their headquarters. For a while they controlled all of what is now Uganda from a fort on Old Kampala Hill. When Uganda gained independence from Great Britain in 1962, Kampala became the capital.

Kampala is Uganda’s center for business. It lies on fertile farmland and is the main market for the Lake Victoria region. Coffee, cotton, tea, tobacco, and sugar are sold there. And most of Uganda’s large companies have their offices in the city.

Kampala serves as the religious center for Uganda as well. Some well-known Christian churches in the city include the Namirembe Anglican Cathedral and Rubaga and St. Peter’s Roman Catholic cathedrals. Kampala’s many mosques include the white Kibuli Mosque. It also has Hindu temples.

If you ever visit Kampala, make sure to go to the Uganda Museum. It has a collection of historical musical instruments that you can play. You’ll also find a number of art galleries in the city. Northeast of Kampala, a place called Nyero is famous for a different kind of art. There you can see rock paintings that date back hundreds of years. No one knows for sure who made them.
Algeria is a country on the north coast of Africa. It is the second largest country in Africa and the 11th largest country in the world. The country’s capital is Algiers.

The northern part of Algeria is on the Mediterranean Sea. This area is known as the Tell. Two mountain ranges separate the coastal area in the north from the Sahara in the south. About four-fifths of Algeria’s land lies within the Sahara, the largest desert in the world. Two huge sandy areas known as “ergs” cover most of Algeria’s desert. Not much grows on the desert’s surface. But there are valuable minerals, petroleum, and gas underground.

Rainfall is very rare in the desert. At times, areas in the Sahara get no rain for years. There are also dry streambeds known as wadis in the desert. If it rains, the wadis quickly fill with water.

Most of Algeria’s people live in the northern part of the country, where the climate is mild. That area receives enough water from rivers and rainfall to water the crops and provide people with water for drinking and industry. The people in Algeria are mostly Arabs, but many are Berbers. The ancestors of the Berbers lived in the area before the Arabs arrived.

Algeria was a French colony for more than 100 years. Hundreds of thousands of French people settled there. After a war against the French, the Algerians gained their independence in 1962. Most of the French then left the country.

SEARCH LIGHT

A wadi is

a) northern part of the country.
b) dry streambed.
c) wide field of sand.

Learn More! Read These Articles…

Algiers, Algeria (Volume 8) • Deserts (Volume 1) • France (Volume 6)
The name Sahara comes from the Arabic word sahra', which means “desert.”

DID YOU KNOW?

This trans-Saharan highway winds through the desert in Algeria. Historically, traveling through the Sahara was very slow and dangerous. But year by year modern roadways have been extended further along the ancient trade routes into the desert.

© Robert Holmes/Corbis
Algiers is located along what body of water?

a) the Algiers River
b) the Atlantic Ocean
c) the Bay of Algiers
Algiers, ALGERIA

The Island City on the Hills

Algiers is located along the Bay of Algiers in the North African country of Algeria. Much of it was built on the slopes of the Sahel Hills. From the harbor it looks like a large theater with dazzling white buildings rising in steps.

The city has a long history. It was founded more than 2,000 years ago and has changed hands several times. In the 1500s the Ottoman Turkish Empire gained control, and the French captured the city in 1830. The French made Algiers a headquarters for a large territory they controlled in North and West Africa. The city became the capital of Algeria when the country gained independence from the French in 1962.

The city has two sections, one built when Ottoman Turkey controlled the country and the other built when the French ruled. The old Turkish city is on the upper slopes of the hills. It is full of high blank-walled houses standing on narrow winding streets. Much of it looks like it must have when it was first built. The most prominent building here is the fortress of the Casbah. This is where the last two Turkish governors of Algiers lived.

The French section of Algiers is built along the lower slopes of the hills closer to the harbor. This part of the city is full of big squares and wide streets. At the heart of the modern city center are the University of Algiers, many foreign embassies, and a few skyscrapers. There are also the old palace of the archbishop and the Winter Palace, which used to be the home of the French governor-general.

Learn More! Read These Articles...

ALGERIA (VOLUME 8) • ISLANDS (VOLUME 1) • RABAT, MOROCCO (VOLUME 8)
DID YOU KNOW?
More than 2 million blocks of stone had to be cut, transported, and assembled to create the Great Pyramid.
Nearly 5,000 years ago there was a kingdom by the Nile River in a place called Egypt. The king was known as the pharaoh. People thought of him as a god.

The people of Egypt developed a great civilization. They built ships and sailed to other countries. They made great buildings. They carved and painted lovely pictures. And they developed a system of writing.

Three Egyptian kings—Khufu, his son Khafre, and his grandson Menkure—each ordered the people to build him a pyramid. The pyramids were to be the kings’ tombs. A pyramid is a large structure with a square base and four sides shaped like triangles. The sides slope upward and meet in a point at the top.

After a king died, his body was carefully prepared and wrapped in many layers of cloth. (A body prepared in this way is called a mummy.) Then it was placed in a splendid coffin that was placed in a room in the middle of the pyramid. The Egyptians believed in an afterlife. So they put all the pharaoh’s treasures in the room too, for him to use in the afterlife. After that, the doors were sealed with stones.

The pyramids of the pharaohs can still be seen today. They stand by the Nile River near a town called Giza. The first pyramid to be built is perhaps the largest structure ever made by people. It is called the Great Pyramid. The other two pyramids stand beside it. It took thousands of workers many years to build the pyramids. But since the Egyptians had no heavy machinery, no one knows exactly how they were built.

Learn More! Read These Articles...

ARCHITECTURE (VOLUME 3) • CAIRO, EGYPT (VOLUME 8)
EGYPT: CULTURAL CENTER, PAST AND PRESENT (VOLUME 8)
The Aswan High Dam has allowed the people of Egypt to control the flooding of the Nile River for the first time in history. Now farmers can use the river’s water for their crops year-round.

© Lloyd Cluff/Corbis

DID YOU KNOW?
Many cities in the United States are named for ancient Egyptian cities. There’s a Cairo in Illinois, a Memphis in Tennessee, and an Alexandria in Virginia.
Egypt is a large country in northeastern Africa. Its capital is Cairo. Most of Egypt is dry and rocky. But the Nile River, the longest river in the world, runs through it. In the north the Nile forms a delta before it flows into the Mediterranean Sea. The delta has Egypt’s best farmland.

Because of the Nile and the water it brings, Egypt has one of the largest populations in the Middle East. People have lived there since ancient times. In fact, ancient Egypt was one of the world’s earliest civilizations. The ancient Egyptians built large cities and many great monuments, including the pyramids of Giza.

Almost 1,400 years ago, people from the Arabian Peninsula invaded Egypt. After that, most of the people of Egypt began to speak Arabic. Most of them also accepted the religion of Islam. But a group called the Copts kept their native beliefs. The Copts belong to one of the oldest Christian churches in the world.

For much of Egypt’s history, foreigners ruled it. Since 1952 Egyptians have governed themselves. One of Egypt’s great achievements was the building of the Aswan High Dam on the Nile River. Egypt also controls the Suez Canal, a major transportation route. Egypt is considered a leader among the Arab states. And many of the greatest Arab writers and scholars are from there.

But Egypt has faced a number of problems. The country fought several wars with neighboring Israel. And there has been a great deal of political violence by those wishing to change the government.

Learn More! Read these articles...

Cairo, Egypt (Volume 8)
Egypt: The Pharaohs and the Pyramids (Volume 8)
Rivers (Volume 1)
Find and correct the error in the following sentence: Cairo is the largest city in Asia.
Cairo is the largest city in Africa. It is the capital of Egypt and is very old, dating back more than a thousand years. It stands on the banks of the Nile River.

Cairo has old and new sections. The old part of the city is very crowded. Most of Cairo’s historic monuments are in this area. Along the eastern side of Cairo is the “City of the Dead.” This area is the burial place of early religious leaders and sultans. But it’s also home to hundreds of thousands of Egyptians who live in and around the tombs. The new part of Cairo faces the Nile River. It has broad streets with modern apartment buildings, skyscrapers, government buildings, theaters, and shops.

Shopping can be an exciting experience in Cairo. Khan al-Khalili is one of the world’s oldest markets. It was set up more than 600 years ago. You’ll find other markets selling things made of gold, silver, and copper. There are also places where you can get clothes, rugs, spices, and leather goods.

Cairo is known for its museums as well. The Egyptian Museum has the famous treasures of King Tutankhamen. The Museum of Islamic Art has many beautiful items made of wood, brass, and glass from different periods of Egypt’s long history.

On the east side of Cairo are the Muqattam Hills. If you climb up there, you can look across the Nile to the Great Pyramids of Giza.

LEARN MORE! READ THESE ARTICLES…
EGYPT: CULTURAL CENTER, PAST AND PRESENT (VOLUME 8) • RIVERS (VOLUME 1) • ANWAR EL-SADAT (VOLUME 4)
There’s one country that depends almost entirely on the river that flows through it. That country is Egypt, and the river is the Nile.

Life would be drastically different in Egypt if there were no Nile River. The river is the source of all the water used for farming in Egypt. That is why people call Egypt the “gift of the Nile.”

People farm on the banks of the river. Two of the most important things they grow are rice and cotton. Egyptian cotton is one of the finest cottons in the world.

It rains very little in Egypt. Where it does, it rains not much more than seven inches a year. There are very dry deserts on both sides of the Nile River. The plants you will find there are mostly thorny bushes and desert grass.

Long ago even Egypt’s seasons depended on the river. There were just three seasons. Akhet was when the river was flooded. During peret the land could be seen after the flood. And shomu took place when the river’s waters were low.

The Nile River is teeming with different kinds of fish. The most common is the Nile perch. The river is also an important waterway. Canals, or man-made streams, act as a highway network for small boats and ships during the flood season.

After its long journey across North Africa, the Nile empties into the Mediterranean Sea.
The Nile is the longest river on Earth. It flows through Uganda, The Sudan, and Egypt on its way from Lake Victoria to the Mediterranean Sea.

DID YOU KNOW?

The Nile is the longest river on Earth. It flows through Uganda, The Sudan, and Egypt on its way from Lake Victoria to the Mediterranean Sea.
The Suez Canal is one of the most important waterways that people have ever made. The canal is located in Egypt. It joins the Mediterranean Sea and the Red Sea and separates the continents of Africa and Asia. It offers the shortest route for ships sailing between Europe and the lands on the Indian and western Pacific oceans, such as Australia and large parts of Asia. Before the canal was built, ships traveling between these parts of the world had to sail all the way around Africa.

Beginning about 3,900 years ago, people dug several canals roughly in the area of the Suez Canal. But none of them joined the Mediterranean and Red seas directly. The Suez Canal was created by joining a series of lakes across the Isthmus of Suez to form one long water passage between the two seas.

The Suez Canal has eight major bends. In some places it has been widened to form double channels called “bypasses.” These allow ships traveling in opposite directions to pass each other. In the canal ships travel in groups and follow rules to prevent accidents. Each ship moves at a set speed, leaving a fixed gap between it and the next ship in the group. This keeps the ships from knocking against each other. A tugboat follows each large ship. The entire trip takes between 12 and 18 hours.

On average, 50 ships cross through the Suez Canal each day. Nearly 20,000 trips are made in a year. Most of the vessels using the canal are small tankers and cargo ships. But some passenger liners and warships also use the waterway.

LEARN MORE! READ THESE ARTICLES…

EGYPT: CULTURAL CENTER, PAST AND PRESENT (VOLUME 8)
MEDITERRANEAN SEA (VOLUME 1)
PANAMA CANAL, PANAMA (VOLUME 9)

Fill in the blanks:
The Suez Canal joins the ______ Sea with the _______ Sea.
The Suez Canal joins the Mediterranean Sea with the Red Sea.

DID YOU KNOW?
By taking the Suez Canal shortcut, a ship traveling from London, England, to Bombay, India, cuts more than 5,000 miles off its trip.

Cargo ships like this one make up a large part of the traffic in the Suez Canal.

Hubertus Kauns/Superstock
Libya was once a poor country. Then in 1959 oil was discovered in the desert. This made Libya one of the richest countries in North Africa. Some of the largest petroleum deposits in the world are in Libya. The capital city of Libya is Tripoli. It is located on the coast of the Mediterranean Sea and is one of Libya’s major ports.

Libya has three main regions: the Sahara, Tripolitania, and Cyrenaica. The largest is the desert land of the Sahara, which is one of the driest places on Earth. There are very few plants in the Sahara. But date palms grow in the oases, such as that found around the town of Sabha. An oasis is a fertile place in the desert where water can be found. Most Libyans live in Tripolitania, in the northwest. Many of the people keep sheep and goats. They also grow barley, wheat, tobacco, dates, figs, grapes, and olives. In Cyrenaica, in the northeast, the Akhdar Mountains and some oases are the main features.

Many people in Libya identify themselves with traditional tribes, or qabilahs. The Berbers, the original people of Libya, were mostly coastal farmers. Today, however, most Libyans have a mixed Berber and Arabic heritage.

Libya became an independent country in 1951. It was ruled by a king until 1969. In that year a group of army officers led by Muammar al-Qaddafi took control of the country. Many people outside Libya have criticized Qaddafi for supporting terrorists and using his army to attack other countries.

Learn More! Read these articles…

Deserts (Volume 1) • Oasis (Volume 1) • Tripoli, Libya (Volume 8)
A lake lined with palm trees forms an oasis in the Libyan desert.

Doug McKinlay/Lonely Planet Images

DID YOU KNOW?
The highest temperature ever recorded on Earth was measured at Al-Aziziya, Libya. One day in September 1922, the temperature soared to 136° F.
A wide street lined with palms leads into the city of Tripoli.
© Jean-Marc Charles—Corbis/Sygma

Which answer below lists some of the peoples who occupied Tripoli in order from earliest to most recent?

a) Phoenicians, Romans, Arabs, Turks
b) Romans, Spanish, English, Turks
c) Turks, Romans, Phoenicians, Spanish
Libya’s capital city is Tripoli. It lies along the coast of the Mediterranean Sea in North Africa. It is the nation’s largest city and chief seaport.

In ancient times the city was called Oea. It was one of three cities in the region that were founded by the Phoenicians more than 2,500 years ago. The other two cities were Sabratha and Leptis Magna. The cities were later ruled by the Romans, who called them Tripolitania (which means “three cities”). Walls were built around each of the three cities to protect them from attackers. These high walls survived many invasions. Eventually, the walls of Sabratha and Leptis Magna were destroyed by invading armies. Tripoli grew more important as a result.

In the 7th century, Arab Muslims captured Tripoli. They added a wall on the sea side of the city. Three huge gates were built into the old wall for entering the town.

The ancient walls of Tripoli are still standing. But the city spread beyond the old walls long ago. Today the walled part of the city is called the old quarter or the medina. The modern city lies outside the walls.

The medina has narrow streets and is known for its bazaars. It also has a number of historic mosques. Many of these mosques date from the long period of Turkish rule, from 1551 to 1911. The most prominent structure is the Red Castle, a huge Spanish-style castle from the 1500s. Today it contains a museum about the city’s history. From the castle one also gets an excellent view of the whole city, old and new.

Learn More! Read these articles…
Islam (Volume 5) • Libya (Volume 8)
Rome, Italy (Volume 6)
Rabat is the capital city of Morocco, a country in North Africa. It is located on the coast of the Atlantic Ocean. Modern Rabat has a rich mixture of cultures reflecting African, Arab, Islamic, and French influences.

Rabat has ancient roots. The city started out almost 900 years ago as a camp for Muslims who wanted to sail across the sea to fight in Spain. Later, the camp was named Ribat al-Fath, which means “camp of victory.” A wall was built to protect the camp. Within the wall the city of Rabat began to grow.

Large parts of the old wall are still standing. Within them are the old town and the Jewish quarter. The Oudia Gate and the Tower of Hassan also stand as impressive monuments of the past.

France and Spain each controlled sections of Morocco for part of the 20th century. The country gained its independence in 1956. Rabat now houses government offices, universities, and art schools. The king of Morocco lives in Rabat for part of the year.

It’s a short ride by road or rail to Casablanca, which is Morocco’s largest city and its chief port. Like Rabat, it was once a base for pirates who attacked European ships. The Portuguese put a stop to the piracy in 1468. They later built a new town in the area called Casa Branca. The French called it Maison Blanche, and the Spanish called it Casablanca. All these names mean the same thing: “white house.”

LEARN MORE! READ THESE ARTICLES…
FRANCE (VOLUME 6) • ISLAM (VOLUME 5) • TRIPOLI, LIBYA (VOLUME 8)
DID YOU KNOW?
The name Rabat comes from the Arabic word ribat. That word is often translated as “camp” but can also mean “monastery.” In North Africa it refers to a place were Muslim soldiers would gather either to study or to prepare for holy war.
Sudanese men rest on a wall near their camels, which are considered a symbol of wealth. Many people in The Sudan raise camels for their milk and meat as well as for transportation.

© Jonathan Blair/Corbis

DID YOU KNOW?
The name “Sudan” comes from the Arabic term ḏiyl ad al-sudan, which means “land of the blacks.” This term was once used to describe all settled African lands south of the Sahara (a large desert in northern Africa).
The largest country in Africa is The Sudan. It is the tenth largest country in the world. The Sudan is located in northeastern Africa. Khartoum is the capital city. It sits at the point where the Blue Nile and White Nile rivers join together to form the mighty Nile River. The Sudan is one of the hottest places in the world. In Khartoum temperatures higher than 100° F may be recorded during any month of the year.

There are 19 major ethnic groups in The Sudan. More than 100 languages and dialects are spoken in the country. Many of the people either farm or raise camels and cattle. Roughly 10 percent of the people live as nomads. Among all groups poetry and song are respected art forms. Both often reflect the country’s mixed Arab and African heritage.

In 1956 The Sudan gained its independence from the United Kingdom. But fighting broke out almost immediately. The people living in southern Sudan opposed the new government, which was controlled by northerners. The southerners are typically black Africans who practice traditional African religions or Christianity. The northerners are typically of mixed ethnic origins. They speak a version of Arabic and practice Islam. The civil war continued until 1972, when the southerners were given control of their local government. But war broke out again in 1983. In 2005 the two sides signed an agreement to stop the war, but fighting continued in some parts of the country.

LEARN MORE! READ THESE ARTICLES…

- Camel (Volume 12)
- Nile River (Volume 8)
- Sand (Volume 1)

Fill in the blanks: Fighting in The Sudan has been mainly between people living in the ____ and people living in the _____.

Answer: Fighting in The Sudan has been mainly between people living in the north and people living in the south.
How were the Portuguese able to take control of Angola and stay in power there? (Hint: What would the Portuguese have brought with them to fight with?)
Angola is a large country on the southwestern coast of Africa. The Atlantic Ocean is its western boundary. Four countries shape its borders on land. Its capital is Luanda, a large city on the coast.

Most of Angola is a high plateau covered by savannas, which are open grasslands with scattered trees. Roaming this land are leopards, lions, hyenas, elephants, and hippopotamuses. You may also see giraffes, zebras, and monkeys. With such rich wildlife, Angola has many national parks and nature reserves. But some of the animals are in danger of disappearing because of hunting and other reasons. These animals include elephants, gorillas, chimpanzees, and black rhinoceroses.

The two largest groups of people in Angola are the Ovimbundu and the Mbundu. These two groups, and others, speak different languages that together are called Bantu languages. Almost all of the people also speak Portuguese, the country’s official language.

Angola has many natural resources. Two of them—oil and diamonds—are major parts of the country’s economy. Angola sells these products to other countries. But more people work in farming than in any other job. They grow cassava, corn, sugarcane, bananas, and coffee. In the southwest they raise cattle.

Portuguese explorers reached Angola in 1483. Over time the Portuguese developed a colony. They ruled for almost 500 years. During much of this time the Portuguese sent millions of Africans away from the colony to work as slaves. After years of fighting the Portuguese, Angola finally won its independence in 1975. But afterward the country struggled off and on with fighting inside its borders.

DID YOU KNOW?
Angola is rich in tropical woods such as mahogany, rosewood, and black ebony. These woods are used to make fine furniture.

LEARN MORE! READ THESE ARTICLES…
DIAMONDS (VOLUME 1) • LUANDA, ANGOLA (VOLUME 8) • PORTUGAL (VOLUME 6)
Luanda is the capital of Angola, a country in southwestern Africa. Luanda is in the northern part of Angola. It is the country’s largest city. Located near the Atlantic Ocean, Luanda is a busy seaport.

Luanda was set up in 1576 by Paulo Dias de Novais from Portugal. The king of Portugal sent him to take over African land. Portugal ruled Angola for hundreds of years. Slaves were sent by boat to the Americas from Luanda. Angola finally became independent from Portugal in 1975.

Petroleum, a source of oil, was found in the area in 1955. The Angolans sell this petroleum to other countries. This brings money to the city. Because of this, Luanda now has modern skyscrapers and wide streets. But there was a war in Angola from the middle of the 1970s until 2002. This caused a lot of poverty and other problems in the city.

If you visit the city, you’ll be able to see the old fortress of São Miguel. You will also see the city’s many churches. The churches are a legacy of Luanda’s Portuguese past. There is also a museum of slavery in the city. Luanda has plenty of supermarkets, shops, and open-air markets. Roque Santeiro is always open and is one of the largest markets in all of Africa. You can buy almost anything there.

LEARN MORE! READ THESE ARTICLES…
ANGOLA (VOLUME 8) • OIL (VOLUME 2) • PORTUGAL (VOLUME 6)
Luanda is a modern city with a busy seaport. © Adil Bradlow—Trace Images/The Image Works

Luanda is one of the oldest cities in its part of Africa. Before the Portuguese founded it more than 400 years ago, the local people called the area Loanda. This means “flat land.”

DID YOU KNOW?
Why did Botswana become one of Africa’s wealthiest countries?
Botswana was once one of the poorest countries in Africa. It used to be called Bechuanaland. After gaining independence from Great Britain in 1966, it was renamed Botswana. The new name came from that of the main group of people living there, the Tswana, or Batswana. In 1967 large deposits of diamonds were discovered in the region. Suddenly Botswana was one of Africa’s richest countries.

Botswana is located in southern Africa. Its capital city is Gaborone. Most of the country’s area is a dry region called the Kalahari. This is known as the sandveld, or “thirstland.” The thirstland is different from a true desert because it has some grass and trees. In eastern Botswana there are rocky ranges of hills.

In the northwest is the Okavango River, which flows in from Namibia. It has been called “the river that never finds the sea” because it ends in Botswana instead of flowing into the ocean. The place where it ends is called the Okavango delta. This huge swampy area has thick clumps of papyrus and much wildlife, including lions, hippopotamuses, and zebras. Many of the animals are protected in the Moremi Wildlife Reserve.

Botswana has forests in the north and east. Some of the trees produce fruits such as the marula or nuts such as the mongongo, which are important to the diet of the local people. Their diet also includes beans, meat, and porridge made with sorghum or corn. Some people eat dried caterpillars as a snack!

DID YOU KNOW?
The San people of the Kalahari speak an unusual language. It’s called a “click language” because it has many clicking sounds as parts of words. It is nearly impossible to speak that language if you don’t learn it while you are growing up.

Learn More! Read these articles…
Deserts (Volume 1) • Diamonds (Volume 1)
South Africa: Diamond Country (Volume 8)
Where did the first people to live in Madagascar come from?
The Republic of Madagascar lies 250 miles off the southeastern coast of Africa in the Indian Ocean. It occupies the fourth largest island in the world; only Greenland, New Guinea, and Borneo are larger. The capital of Madagascar is Antananarivo. It is located in the center of the country.

Even though Madagascar is so close to Africa, its people are not mainly African. The first people to live on the island were Malagasy people from Indonesia, more than 3,000 miles to the east. They arrived in about AD 700. People from Africa and other parts of Asia came later. The people of Madagascar are still called Malagasy, but today their culture is a unique mix of Asian and African influences.

About half of the Malagasy follow Christianity. Most of the rest practice a traditional religion that has been passed down through the years. These people believe that the dead can reward or punish the living. They bury the dead in richly decorated tombs. They spend more time, money, and care on building tombs than they do on their houses.

For thousands of years Madagascar was covered with forests. But over time most of the trees have been cut down to make room for rice fields. The loss of the forests has been difficult for many of the animals of Madagascar—especially the lemurs. Lemurs look something like monkeys with long bushy tails. They are found in the wild only in Madagascar and on nearby islands. Madagascar also has many unique kinds of birds, chameleons, and butterflies. There are about 800 types of butterflies alone!

LEARN MORE! READ THESE ARTICLES…

BUTTERFLIES (VOLUME 11) • INDONESIA (VOLUME 7)
LEMURS (VOLUME 12)
Many homes are clustered along the shores of Lake Malawi, a large deep lake in eastern Malawi. It takes up nearly a fourth of Malawi’s total area.

© Anthony Bannister—Gallo Images/Corbis
Malawi is a long narrow country in southern Africa. Its capital is Lilongwe. The country’s name comes from the Maravi, a Bantu-speaking group of people. They invaded the area and settled there about 600 years ago. When the British ruled Malawi, it was called Nyasaland. The name was changed to Malawi in 1964, when the country became independent.

The landscape of the country is made up of wide plateaus, deep valleys, and mountains. A large lake stretches along much of the eastern part of Malawi. The people who live in the country call it Lake Malawi, but people in other countries call it Lake Nyasa. It is one of the world’s deepest lakes. There are about 200 kinds of fish in this lake. Many of these fish are not found anywhere else in the world.

There are many different kinds of plants and animals in Malawi. There are antelope, buffalo, elephants, leopards, lions, rhinoceroses, and zebras. These animals are found mostly in special parks. Much of the country is covered by grassy savannas, but there are also forests and woodlands. Eucalyptus and pine trees have been planted to provide Malawi with wood and paper products.

Most of the people in Malawi today are farmers. They grow corn, beans, peas, and peanuts. There are big tea plantations as well. Tobacco is grown in the middle of the country. Malawi sells most of its tobacco to the United Kingdom. Tea, sugar, and cotton are also sold to other countries.

Did You Know?
The flag of Malawi has three colors: black, red, and green. The black stands for the African people of Malawi. The red stands for the blood of those who died to make Malawi a free country. And the green stands for the natural beauty of the country.
Find and correct the error in the following sentence: Lilongwe is where coffee, the country’s main crop, is sold.
The capital of Malawi, a country in southern Africa, is Lilongwe. It is largely a planned city. It was not founded until 1947, when it was established as a trading center. The city is in the central part of the country. In the late 1960s the leaders of Malawi decided to try to develop this central area of the country further. As part of their plan, they moved the capital from Zomba to Lilongwe in 1975.

In addition to being a government center, Lilongwe provides a market for local farmers to sell their crops. Some of the country’s best farmland surrounds Lilongwe. This region produces tobacco, the main crop that Malawi sells to other countries. In Lilongwe you can visit the tobacco auction floors, where large amounts of tobacco are sold.

The city has two main sections, the old city and Capital Hill. The old city has the central market, cafés, and restaurants. People go there regularly to shop. The newer part of the city, on Capital Hill, has government buildings, hotels, and embassies. Between the two sections of the city is a nature sanctuary, which provides protection for the native animals and plants. The sanctuary covers about 370 acres and is home to many different kinds of birds.

Because of its central location, many people travel through Lilongwe on their way to other parts of the country. The city has an international airport. It also has rail connections to Salima in the east and the Zambian border on the west.

LEARN MORE! READ THESE ARTICLES...

BIRDS (VOLUME 11) • HARARE, ZIMBABWE (VOLUME 8) • MALAWI (VOLUME 8)
Namibia is a country in southwestern Africa. It is named for the Namib Desert, which covers much of the west side of the country. The desert is at least 80 million years old. It is huge and empty. It is one of the most arid, or dry, places on Earth.

Namibia is a young country. South Africa controlled Namibia until March 1990, when Namibia gained its independence. Windhoek, in the center of the country, is Namibia’s capital city. English is the official language of Namibia. But most of the people usually speak African languages.

Namibia’s landscape is beautiful and varied. It has a coastline, deserts, mountains, and canyons. It is usually very dry and hot. In the summer it can get as hot as 120° F in the desert. Sometimes Namibia doesn’t have any rain for long periods of time. Most of Namibia’s rivers flow only after strong rains. But in the northeast there are tropical swamplands.

Namibia has plenty of wildlife. Etosha National Park is one of the largest parks for wild animals in the world. It is a popular attraction for tourists. Antelope, giraffes, impala, lions, leopards, rhinoceroses, and zebras can all be found in the park. It also has more than 600 bird species.

Mining is very important to Namibia’s economy. Among the country’s most valuable minerals are diamonds, copper, uranium, silver, and gold. But not many people are needed to work in mining. Even though much of the country is desert, more than a third of Namibians are farmers.

Which of the following sentences is true?

a) All the land in Namibia is desert.
b) The Namib Desert is very old.
c) Most of Namibia gets plenty of rain.

Learn More! Read these articles…

Birds (Volume 11) • Deserts (Volume 1)

Windhoek, Namibia (Volume 8)
Answer: b) The Namib Desert is very old.

DID YOU KNOW?
About 650,000 fur seals breed along the coast of Namibia every year. They'd better like the fog, because the coast is covered with fog about 160 days of the year.
DID YOU KNOW?
The country's first university, the University of Namibia, was founded in Windhoek in 1992.
Windhoek is the capital city of Namibia, a country in southern Africa. The city lies at a height of more than 5,000 feet. It is surrounded by a ring of hills. These hills protect it from the most violent of the dry winds blowing in from the Kalahari Desert to the east and the Namib Desert to the west. The city’s name comes from a German word that means “windy corner.” Windhoek is free of fiercely blowing winds for less than four months of the year.

The Herero and Khoekhoe peoples were among the first settlers in the region. Before the Europeans arrived, the city was called Aigams. This name means “hot water” and referred to the hot springs in the area. Germany claimed the town for itself in 1890. South Africa took over the region, then known as South West Africa, 25 years later. When Namibia became independent in 1990, Windhoek was made the nation’s capital.

Windhoek is also the country’s chief economic center. It sits in the middle of the grazing lands of the Karakul sheep. The skins of very young Karakul lambs are processed and transported by a number of furriers in Windhoek. This business employs many people in the city.

Windhoek has several interesting places and buildings to visit. The Alte Feste (Old Fort), built by the Germans, is one of the oldest buildings in the city. It is now a history museum. Christuskirche is an attractive church that was also built during German colonial times. And the city’s St. George’s Cathedral is the smallest functional cathedral in southern Africa.

LEARN MORE! READ THESE ARTICLES…
GERMANY (VOLUME 6) • NAMIBIA (VOLUME 8) • SHEEP (VOLUME 12)
South Africa is the southernmost country on the African continent. The Atlantic Ocean and the Indian Ocean lie to its south. Johannesburg is the country’s business center and one of its largest cities. South Africa has three capital cities. Pretoria is the administrative center, while Cape Town is where the legislature meets. The judicial capital, Bloemfontein, is the center of the nation’s court system.

South Africa is a beautiful country with many mountains. The tallest peaks are nearly 11,000 feet high. A large part of the country lies on a tableland called the Karoo. The rock formations of the Karoo are more than 200 million years old.

Because South Africa’s climate is dry, people have to save water. The limited rainfall supports savannas and, in higher areas, grasslands with few trees. The country has more than 20,000 kinds of flowering plants. But only scrub and scattered bush grow in the dry Karoo.

The country’s many wild animals include lions, leopards, elephants, and rhinoceroses. There are also hippopotamuses, baboons, antelope, jackals, and buffalo. Many of these animals can be seen in Kruger National Park, a large nature preserve set up to protect wildlife.

Mining is a major industry in the country. Half of the world’s known gold deposits are in South Africa. Diamonds and gold were discovered in the area in the late 1800s. South Africa later became wealthy by selling these products to other countries. It’s the world’s largest producer of the metals platinum, chromium, and gold.

Learn More! Read these articles...

Diamonds (Volume 1) • South Africa: A People Apart (Volume 8) • South African Cities (Volume 8)
Diamond mining and cutting are major industries in South Africa. Here a diamond cutter in Johannesburg uses a lens to examine a partly cut diamond. Each cut must be carefully planned.

© Charles O'Rear/CORBIS

DID YOU KNOW?
In 1905 the world's largest gem diamond was found in what is now South Africa. The huge stone was cut into more than 100 jewels. The largest, the Great Star of Africa, is now part of the British crown jewels.
DID YOU KNOW?
Mahatma Gandhi led his first political protest in South Africa. Before Gandhi began fighting for India’s independence from Britain, he lived for a time in South Africa. He helped the Indians who lived there fight for their rights.
For several hundred years, most of South Africa’s people had few freedoms. There are four main groups of South Africans today: black Africans, white Africans, people whose families came from India, and people of mixed origins. The whites make up a fairly small number of the country’s people. But for a long time they held all the power. Nonwhites had many of their basic rights taken away.

In the 1650s the Dutch set up the first permanent European settlement in South Africa. The British and Dutch fought for control over the area during the 1800s. In 1910 the British established the Union of South Africa. Black Africans, the majority of the population, were not allowed to vote or hold political office.

In 1948 the government introduced a policy called apartheid. The word apartheid means “apartness” in the Dutch language of Afrikaans. This policy gave most of the country’s land to white people. Black Africans and other nonwhites were forced to live in separate areas and could enter areas where whites lived only if they had a pass. They had separate and worse schools and could hold only certain jobs. They could not vote or take part in government.

One of the leaders in the fight against apartheid was Nelson Mandela. Because of this, the government jailed him from 1962 to 1990. But black Africans continued to support Mandela. The country began to do away with apartheid in 1990. Mandela became South Africa’s president in 1994, and he became a symbol of freedom throughout the world. The country’s laws now support equal rights for everyone. But South Africa is still recovering from the effects of the many years of apartheid.

Learn More! Read These Articles…
Lady Smith Black Mambazo (Volume 3) • Nelson Mandela (Volume 4)
South Africa: Diamond Country (Volume 8)
Johannesburg is the world’s largest city that can’t be reached by ships. It is located inland and has no major lakes or rivers. But the area’s gold attracted many settlers there in the 1890s even though there was no port.

Table Mountain provides a scenic backdrop for Cape Town’s fine harbor. © Charles O’Rear/Corbis
Pretoria, the city of jacarandas, is one of the three capitals of South Africa. In the spring you see the purple blossoms of the jacaranda trees all along the city’s streets.

Pretoria is a well-planned city. It was founded in 1855 by Marthinus, son of the Boer statesman Andries Pretorius. The Boers were farmers whose families moved from the Netherlands to settle in South Africa. Pretoria became the administrative capital of South Africa in 1910. The city boasts several museums, including the home of the famous Boer statesman Paul Kruger. Several monuments also celebrate the city’s Boer past. Pretoria has many parks and the national zoo.

Near Pretoria is Johannesburg, one of South Africa’s largest cities. Johannesburg was founded in 1886 after gold was discovered there. It is the country’s business center.

Just outside Johannesburg is Soweto. The city was developed under South Africa’s former system of apartheid and was only for black people. Under apartheid, blacks and whites were kept separate. Blacks lived under very hard conditions and faced discrimination.

No visitor should leave South Africa without seeing Cape Town, near Africa’s southern tip. It is known as one of the most beautiful cities in the world. In the oldest area of the city lies Table Mountain. It offers fantastic views of the city. It’s also a very windy place and has its own cloud cover, called the Tablecloth. Cape Town is the legislative capital of South Africa. It is where the country’s leaders make laws.

The country’s highest court meets at Bloemfontein, the judicial capital of South Africa. The city’s name means “fountain of flowers,” and it’s known for its parks and gardens.

LEARN MORE! READ THESE ARTICLES…
THE NETHERLANDS (VOLUME 6) • SOUTH AFRICA: DIAMOND COUNTRY (VOLUME 8) • SOUTH AFRICA: A PEOPLE APART (VOLUME 8)
DID YOU KNOW?
A musical instrument called the mbira has a long tradition among the Shona people of Zimbabwe. It has metal keys attached to a hand-sized board, and it’s played with the thumbs and a forefinger. Westerners sometimes call it a “thumb piano.”
Zimbabwe is a country in southern Africa. For many years it was called Southern Rhodesia. It was named after Cecil Rhodes, who took control of the area for Great Britain. In the late 20th century, the country became fully independent and took the name Zimbabwe. The capital city is Harare.

Most Zimbabweans are black Africans of either the Shona or the Ndebele ethnic group. A small number of the people are white. Although most of the people speak either Shona or Ndebele, English is the official language.

The region spent many years under British colonial rule. In 1965 the small group of white people who ran the country declared it independent. But Britain refused to give up its rule. In 1980 Zimbabwe officially gained independence and majority rule. But the country continues to face many internal problems.

Two of Zimbabwe’s most interesting geographic features are formed by the Zambezi River. This river flows along Zimbabwe’s border with Zambia. At one point the entire river plunges over a steep cliff. This forms one of the world’s mightiest waterfalls, Victoria Falls.

Also along this border is one of the world’s largest artificial lakes, Lake Kariba. It was created when the huge Kariba Dam was built over the Zambezi River. About a third of Zimbabwe’s electric power is generated from water power at this dam. Lake Kariba is also a popular fishing spot. Hippopotamuses and elephants live along its shores. And nearby lies the Hwange National Park, one of the last great elephant sanctuaries of Africa.
DID YOU KNOW?

Girls in Zimbabwe used to start wearing jewelry at a young age and never take it off. As they grew older, they would simply add more beads and bangles to their jewelry. Some women would end up wearing 50 pounds of jewelry.
Harare is the capital of the African country of Zimbabwe. It lies on a broad high ridge called the Highveld in the country’s northeastern garden region. Harare is green with trees and bright with flowers.

The city was founded in 1890. It was named Salisbury after Lord Salisbury, the British prime minister. As with much of southern Africa, Zimbabwe came under British rule in the late 1890s. The city developed only after 1899, when a railway line was established from the port of Beira in Mozambique to the east.

There were many industries that were started in Salisbury after World War II. People started moving into this city, and gradually the population grew. The city itself is modern and well planned, with high-rise buildings and tree-lined avenues.

In 1980 the new government of independent Zimbabwe renamed the city Harare. This honored Chief Neharawe, who originally occupied this area with his people. The word Harare means “one that does not sleep” in the Shona language.

Harare is still the center of Zimbabwe’s industry and commerce. It is the main place where crops from the surrounding farmlands are received and then distributed. There are also important gold mines nearby.

The University of Zimbabwe is located in Harare. The city is also home to the National Archives, which displays historical documents. At the National Gallery of Zimbabwe you can see an impressive collection of African painting and sculpture. And every year the city holds the Harare International Festival of the Arts. At this festival you can see all kinds of artistic performances, from traditional dancing and drumming to the plays of William Shakespeare.

Learn More! Read these articles…

England (Volume 6) • Sculpture (Volume 3) • Zimbabwe (Volume 8)
“The Smoke That Thunders”

It is difficult to stand in front of this spectacular African waterfall without feeling small. Victoria Falls is about twice as high as Niagara Falls in North America and about one and a half times as wide. It inspires awe and respect in all who see it.

Victoria Falls lies on the border between Zambia and Zimbabwe in southern Africa along the course of the Zambezi River.

The falls span the entire breadth of the Zambezi River at one of its broadest points. There is a constant roaring sound as the river falls. A dense blanket of mist covers the entire area. The Kalolo-Lozi people who live in the area call this mist Mosi-oa-Tunya, “the Smoke That Thunders.”

The first European to set eyes on this wonder of nature was the British explorer David Livingstone. He named it after Queen Victoria of the United Kingdom.

The waters of Victoria Falls drop down a deep gorge. All the water of the Zambezi River flows in through this gorge. At the end of the gorge is the Boiling Pot, a deep pool into which the waters churn and foam during floods. The river waters then emerge into an enormous zigzag channel that forms the beginning of the Batoka Gorge.

The Victoria Falls Bridge is used for all traffic between Zambia and Zimbabwe. When it opened in 1905, it was the highest bridge in the world. In 1989 Victoria Falls and its parklands were named a World Heritage site.

Learn More! Read these articles...
Niagara Falls (volume 9) • Rivers (volume 1) • Zimbabwe (volume 8)

DID YOU KNOW?
Victoria Falls is huge, but another waterfall takes the record for being the tallest. Angel Falls in Venezuela dwarfs Victoria at an amazing 3,212 feet tall.
Victoria Falls is about twice as high as Niagara Falls. So you can estimate Victoria Falls is 330 feet high.

The average height of Niagara Falls is about 165 feet. What height would you estimate for Victoria Falls? (Hint: Look in the first paragraph.)

Answer: Victoria Falls is about twice as high as Niagara Falls. So administrative having to do with managing or supervising the functions of a business, organization, or government Arab member of a people originating in the Arabian Peninsula and now inhabiting much of the Middle East and North Africa archives place where public records or historical documents are kept basin the area of land drained by a river and its branches bazaar marketplace where many kinds of goods are sold; especially, such a marketplace in Asia or Africa Berber member or descendant of a people who originally inhabited North Africa, before the Arab conquest in the 7th century AD botanical (noun: botany) having to do with plant life breadth width canal artificial waterway for boats or for draining or supplying water to land cassava tropical plant that has a thick underground rootlike part and can be made into a number of foods cathedral large church where a bishop is in charge civil war war between opposing groups of citizens of the same country civilization the way of life of a people at a particular time or place; also, a fairly advanced culture and technology climate average weather in a particular area colony (verb: colonize) settlement set up in a distant territory and controlled by a more powerful and expanding nation commerce (adjective: commercial) the buying and selling of goods, especially on a large scale and between different places delta large triangular area made of material deposited at the mouth of a river, where it empties into the sea democracy (adjective: democratic) government in which the highest power is held by the citizens; they either use their power directly (usually by voting) or choose others to act for them deposit substance laid down by a natural process dialect one of several varieties of a language used by the members of a particular group or class of people dictator person who rules with total power, often in a cruel or brutal way discrimination the treatment of some individuals or groups differently from others without any fair or proper reason diverse varied; different drastic huge, extreme, or dramatic dynasty series of rulers of the same family economy the system in a country or group by which goods are made, services are offered, and both are sold and used elevation the height of an object above sea level (that is, the surface of the ocean) embassy the living quarters or office of an ambassador (a person who officially represents his or her own government in a foreign country) endangered species a group of plants or animals whose entire survival is threatened ethnic having to do with a large group of people who share a racial, national, tribal, religious, language, or cultural background export to carry or send abroad, especially for sale in another country extinct no longer existing fertile rich and productive; able to yield quality crops in large quantities fortify to strengthen with weapons and by military defenses fortress narrow steep-walled canyon headquarters the governing and directing center of an organization heritage background or descent highland high or mountainous land hot spring a source of hot water coming from underground inanimate not living isthmus narrow strip of land connecting two larger land areas legacy something handed down from an earlier time or person legislature organized government group with the power to make laws majority most; usually, more than half of a group of individual people or things majority rule system in which the majority (that is, a number over half) of a group is given the power to make decisions that the entire group must accept mammal class of warm-blooded animals that feed their young with milk from special mammary glands, have an internal backbone, and are more or less covered with hair mangrove tropical tree or shrub that has partly exposed roots and grows in thickly in areas of salty water manufacture to make from raw materials, by hand or by machine meditation (verb: meditate) quiet focused concentration, meant to calm and clear the mind; sometimes used to reach a spiritual awareness mosque Muslim place of worship network complex system
nomad member of a people who have no permanent home but instead move from place to place, usually with the seasons and within a specific area papyrus tall reed plant that grows in the Nile valley and that the ancient Egyptians used to make an early kind of paper petroleum liquid taken from the ground and not yet cleaned or separated into such products as gasoline and kerosene; also called “crude oil” pilgrimage person who travels to a shrine or holy place to worship plantation large farming property, usually worked by resident laborers plains a wide area of land with a fairly level surface raised sharply above the land on at least one side porridge soft food made by boiling grain meal or a vegetable in milk or water until it thickens poverty the condition of being poor prophet holy person who acts as a messenger between God and people; also, a gifted person with the ability to correctly predict future events rainforest dense tropical woodland with a high yearly rainfall and very tall trees republic form of government in which the leader is not a monarch and is usually a president reserve area of land set apart for some special purpose; also (usually plural, reserves), money or valuable items kept in hand or set apart until needed sanctuary safe place
savanna hot dry grassland with scattered trees seaport port, harbor, or town reachable by seagoing ships shrine place where honor or worship is offered to a saint or deity splendor something very grand or beautiful sultan king or ruler, especially of a Muslim state tableland broad flat area of high land tamarind tropical tree whose sharp-tasting fruit is used as a flavoring teeming crowded tomb special building or room in which a dead person is buried tourism business of encouraging travel to a specific location and of managing services for visitors (including lodging, transport, food, and activities)
tourist person who travels for pleasure	tropical having to do with the Earth’s warmest and most humid (moist) climates truce temporary stop in fighting during a war or other violent conflict vast huge or spacious water power energy produced by moving water that can be used to do physical work; it may come directly from water’s own force or from machines run by water that in turn produce even greater power (such as electricity)
INDEX

Abuja (city in Nigeria)
Nigeria page 21
Accra (city in Ghana) page 12
Ghana page 11
Addis Ababa (city in Ethiopia) page 29
Africa (continent) page 7
Aigams (city in Namibia): look under Windhoek
Algeria (country) page 44
LEARN MORE look under Algiers
Algiers (city in Algeria) page 47
Algiers, Bay of (bay in Algeria)
Algiers photograph page 46
Amin, Idi (Ugandan leader)
Uganda page 41
Angola (country) page 67
LEARN MORE look under Luanda apartheid (racial segregation in South Africa)
South Africa page 85, photograph page 85
Aswan High Dam (dam in Egypt)
Egypt photograph page 50
Batswana (people): look under Tswana
Berbers (people)
Libya page 58
Bloemfontein (city in South Africa)
South Africa page 82,
South African cities page 87
Boers (people)
South African cities page 87
Botswana (country) page 71
Buganda (historic kingdom in Africa)
Kampala page 43
Cairo (city in Egypt) page 53
Camel (animals)
The Sudan photograph page 64
Cape Town (city in South Africa)
South Africa page 82,
South African cities page 87
Casablanca (city in Morocco)
Rabat page 62
City of the Dead (district in Cairo, Egypt)
Cairo page 53
click languages
Did you know? page 71
Conakry (city in Guinea)
Guinea page 14
Congo (region in Africa) page 9
Congo River (river in Africa)
Did you know? page 8
Dakar (city in Senegal) page 25
Senegal page 23
dams: look under Aswan High Dam; Kariba Dam Democratic Republic of the Congo (country)
Congo region page 9
deserts: look under Kalahari; Namib; Sahara diamonds
diamond cutter in Johannesburg, South Africa page 83
Egypt (country) page 51
Nile River page 54
Pharaohs and the Pyramids page 49
LEARN MORE look under Cairo
Ethiopia (country) page 27
LEARN MORE look under Addis Ababa
Etosha National Park (park in Namibia)
Namibia page 78
fishing
Liberia photograph page 16
Fouta Djallon (region in Guinea)
Did you know? page 15
Fulani (people)
Guinea page 14
Gaborone (city in Botswana)
Botswana page 71
Ghana (country) page 11
LEARN MORE look under Accra giraffes (animals)
Africa photograph page 6
Gold Coast (historic region in West Africa)
Accra page 12
Great Pyramid (pyramid in Egypt)
Egypt page 49
Great Rift Valley (valley in Africa and Asia)
Kenya page 30
Great Star of Africa (gem diamond)
Did you know? page 83
Guinea (country) page 14
Harare (city in Zimbabwe) page 91
Herero (city in Zimbabwe) page 91
Islam (religion)
Senegal page 23
Somalia page 36
Johannesburg (city in South Africa)
Did you know? page 86
South Africa page 82
Kalahari (desert in Africa)
Botswana page 71
Kampala (city in Uganda) page 43
Uganda page 41
Karib Dam (dam in Africa)
Zimbabwe page 89, photograph page 88
Karoo (tableland in South Africa)
South Africa page 82
Kenya (country) page 30
LEARN MORE look under Nairobi
Khoekhoe (people)
Windhoek, Namibia page 81
Lagos (city in Nigeria) Nigeria page 21 lakes: look under Malawi, Lake; Victoria, Lake
Liberia (country) page 17
LEARN MORE look under Monrovia
Libya (country) page 58
LEARN MORE look under Tripoli
Lilongwe (city in Malawi) page 77
Malawi page 75
Luanda (city in Angola) page 68
Madagascar (country) page 73
Malagasy (people)
Madagascar page 73
Malawi (country) page 75
LEARN MORE look under Lilongwe
Malawi, Lake (lake in Africa)
Malawi page 75, photograph page 74
Malinke (people)
Guinea page 14
manatees (animals)
Liberia page 17
Mandela, Nelson (South African leader)
South Africa page 85, photograph page 84
Masai (people)
Kenya photograph page 31
Mbundu (people)
Angola page 67
Mogadishu (city in Somalia)
Somalia page 36
Monrovia (city in Liberia) page 19
Morocco (country): look under Rabat mosques (places of worship)
Cairo photograph page 52
Nairobi photograph page 33
Tripoli page 61
mummies
Egypt page 49
Nairobi (city in Kenya) page 33
Namib (desert in Africa)
Namibia page 78
Namibia (country) page 78
LEARN MORE look under Windhoek
Ndebele (people)
Zimbabwe page 89
Nigeria (country) page 20
Nile River (river in Africa) page 54
Africa page 7
Cairo page 53, photograph page 53
Egypt page 51
Uganda photograph page 40
Okavango River (river in Africa)
Botswana page 71
Ovimbundu (people)
Angola page 67
peoples: look under Berbers; Boers; Fulani; Herero; Malagasy; Masai; Mbundu; Ndebele; Tswana; Wolof
pharaohs (Egyptian kings)
Egypt page 49
Point Xaafuun (coastal feature of Somalia)
Did you know? page 37
Portugal (country)
Angola page 67
Congo region page 9
Luanda page 68
Pretoria (city in South Africa)
South Africa page 82
South African cities page 87
Pretorius, Marthinus (Boer South-African leader)
South African cities page 87
pyramids (architecture)
Egypt page 49, photograph page 48
Rabat (city in Morocco) page 62
Red Sea (sea in the Middle East)
Suez Canal page 56
Republic of the Congo (country)
Congo region page 9
Rhodes, Cecil (British leader)
Zimbabwe page 89
rivers: look under Congo River; Nile River; Okavango River; Zambezi River
Sahara (desert in Africa)
Africa page 7
Algeria page 44, photograph page 45
Libya page 58
savannas (grasslands)
Guinea page 14, photograph page 15
Nigeria page 20
Senegal (country) page 23
LEARN MORE look under Dakar
Senghor, Léopold (Senegalese leader)
Did you know? page 23
Seychelles (country) page 35
Shona (people)
Zimbabwe page 89
slavery
Dakar page 25
Liberia page 17
Monrovia page 19
Senegal page 23
Somalia (country) page 36
LEARN MORE look under Mogadishu
South Africa (country) page 82 cities page 87
history page 85
Namibia page 78
Soweto (city in South Africa)
South African cities page 87
sphinxes (mythology)
Africa photograph page 6
Sudan, The (country) page 65
Suez Canal (canal in Egypt) page 56
Table Mountain (mountain in South Africa)
South African cities page 87, photograph page 86
Tanzania (country) page 38
Tripoli (city in Libya) page 61
Tswana, also called Batswana (people)
Botswana page 71
Uganda (country) page 41
LEARN MORE look under Kampala
Victoria, Lake (lake in Africa)
Africa page 7
Uganda page 41
Victoria Falls (waterfall in Africa) page 92
Zimbabwe page 89
Windhoek, also called Aigams (city in Namibia) page 81
Wolof (people)
Senegal page 23
Zambezi River (river in Africa)
Victoria Falls page 92
Zimbabwe page 89
Zimbabwe, also called Southern Rhodesia (country) page 89
LEARN MORE look under Harare