Pony
I am a foal, a newborn pony. My legs are very wobbly.
My mother feeds me her warm milk as soon as I struggle to my feet.

I feel stronger after my milk. I can stand up tall.
I am one week old. I grow bigger every day.

I spend my days in the meadow with my mother.
I cuddle close to her when the wind blows.

I love feeling the soft grass beneath my hooves.
Looking for Mommy

I am two weeks old. I have two new teeth. I want to show my mother.

Where is she? I neigh loudly to her.
Soon my mother comes. She is never very far away.

I hope she hears me.
Come and play

Today will be a fun day!
A friend has come to play.

I am five weeks old.
We play games and run around the field.

When we are tired, we graze together. The fresh grass tastes sweet.
Crunchy apples

I am eight weeks old. I gallop around the field every day.

Running and jumping makes me hungry.
Look at these crunchy red apples. They smell yummy. I wonder if I can eat one?
I am four months old. My coat is chestnut brown now.

My long legs are sturdy.
I am almost as tall as my mother!

I am growing taller every day.
In the paddock

I am five months old and nearly full-grown.
Soon I will be big enough to join the other ponies in the paddock.
