1 READING & SPEAKING

a What kind of food or dishes do you associate with these countries?

The United States  China  France
Italy  Japan  Mexico

b Read the interviews with Alice and Jacqueline. Match the questions with their answers.

We talk to women around the world about their relationship with food.

1 Is food a pleasure for you?
2 What do you normally eat on a typical day?
3 Do you ever cook?
4 Do you ever eat “unhealthy” food? How do you feel about it?
5 Are you trying to cut down on anything at the moment?
6 Are people’s diets in your country getting better or worse?

Alice Freeman is a lawyer from San Francisco.

A  I think people are trying to improve their diets, but they are doing it the wrong way by following diets like the Atkins diet. Personally, I don’t think it’s very healthy to cut out entire groups of foods like carbohydrates.
B  Not very often. I don’t have the time or talent to cook full meals. I usually heat up a frozen meal or order takeout.
C  Sometimes I get fast food for lunch. I have to admit that I love French fries. I feel terrible about it afterward, but I don’t do it very often.
D  I usually have a bowl of cereal or toast for breakfast. For lunch I eat at a restaurant near my office. I prefer Japanese or Indian food. I usually eat rice with fish and vegetables, soup, or sushi. I don’t eat meat, but I eat a lot of fish. In the evening, I just have something light at home.
E  I am trying to cut down on the amount of fat I eat. I’m also trying to eat more whole wheat bread.
F  Not really. I enjoy certain kinds of food, but most meals are just fuel to keep me going through the day.

Jacqueline Fabre is an IT consultant from Lyons.

A  Yes, I cook every evening for my family. I often make soup or traditional French dishes like boeuf bourguignon, which is a kind of beef and red wine stew, and then we have cheese and salad. It may seem a lot, but we don’t eat big servings. What’s important to me is quality, not quantity.
B  Yes, I’m trying to eat less chocolate.
C  I think people’s diets are getting worse and worse. It’s very strange because we have a lot of information now about how bad fast food is for you. I’m afraid it’s a problem in a lot of countries.
D  Not at home. I think most of the food I cook is healthy. Occasionally when I eat out I have something unhealthy, but it doesn’t worry me.
E  Yes, definitely. For me good meals with the family make me happy!
F  I’m very traditional and I have three main meals a day. For breakfast, I like hot chocolate and bread and butter with honey or jam. For lunch, I often eat in a restaurant with my coworkers. I usually have vegetables and meat or fish, but I love pasta and rice, too. In the afternoon, I have fruit with cookies or a piece of chocolate. In the evening, I have a proper meal with my family.
c Read the interviews again and answer the questions below. Write A (Alice), B (Jacqueline), or C (both of them).

Who...
1. often eats in restaurants
2. eats quite a lot of sweet things
3. eats take-out food
4. cooks big meals at home
5. enjoys eating
6. feels bad when she eats fast food
7. is trying to eat less of something
8. prefers having good food to having a lot of food
9. is negative about eating habits in her country

2. Grammar present tenses: simple and continuous, action and non-action verbs a Listen to Rumiko answering questions 2–6 from the interviews. Do you think food is fuel or pleasure for her? Why?

b Listen again and answer the questions.
1. What does she usually have in the morning?
2. Where does she usually have lunch and dinner?
3. Why doesn’t she cook very often?
4. Does she eat or drink anything unhealthy?
5. Is she cutting down on anything right now? Why (not)?
6. What’s currently happening to the Japanese diet?
7. Does she think this is a completely bad thing?

c Look at some of the things Rumiko said. Circle the correct form. Then compare with a partner and say why the other form is wrong.

1. I don’t usually have I’m not having breakfast.
2. I used to go to fast-food restaurants, but now I prefer I am preferring eating something healthier.
3. I am drinking / I drink a lot of coffee every day.
4. I think that some Japanese people get / are getting fatter.
5. I like / I’m liking the fact that there are more different kinds of food and restaurants now.

d Match the highlighted words or phrases with the definitions.

1. _____ to have a meal in a restaurant, not at home
2. _____ a sweet, thick liquid made by bees
3. _____ the quantity you eat of a kind of food during a meal
4. _____ to make cold food hot
5. _____ food you buy from a restaurant to eat at home
6. _____ substance from animals or plants used for cooking, e.g., oil, butter, etc.
7. _____ food prepared in a particular way, e.g., sushi, lasagna, etc.
8. _____ made from brown flour
9. _____ a liquid food, often made of vegetables, e.g., tomatoes, onions
10. _____ meat cooked for a long time in liquid, usually with vegetables

e Which of the two women do you think has the healthier diet? Why?

f Now interview each other with the questions from 1b. How similar are your eating habits?

Is food a pleasure for you?

Yes, definitely, I love eating.

c ☞ l2 Listen and check.

d ☞ p.157 Sound Bank. Look at the typical spellings for /u/ and /u/.

e Look at the information box. How do phonetic symbols in a dictionary help you pronounce words correctly?

Pronouncing difficult words

Some words are difficult to pronounce because
1. they have a silent syllable or letter, e.g., vegetables /ˈvedʒtəblz/.
2. some letters are pronounced in an unusual way e.g., steak /ˈstek/.
3. you aren’t sure where the stress is, e.g., dessert /ˈdərzt/.

f ☞ 13 Listen at some food words that are difficult to pronounce. Use the phonetics to practice saying them correctly. Then listen and check.

5 LISTENING

a Have you ever tried English food? What did you think of it?

b 1.5 Kevin Poulter, an English chef, has a restaurant in Santiago, the capital of Chile. Listen to an interview with him and number the photos 1–5 in the order he mentions them.

c Listen again and answer the questions.

1 Why did he decide to open a restaurant in Chile?
2 Why did he call it Frederick's?
3 Why were Chilean people surprised when he opened his restaurant?
4 What English dishes does he serve in his restaurant? Are they popular?
5 How many women work in his kitchen? Why does he think there are so few women in restaurant kitchens?
6 What is most difficult for him about life in Chile?

d What kinds of restaurants are there in your town? What nationalities do they represent? Which ones do you like?

6 SPEAKING

a Work in groups of three A, B, and C. First read sentences 1–6 and decide (individually) whether you agree or disagree. Think about examples you can use to support your point of view.

1 Women worry more about their diet than men.
2 Young people today have a worse diet than they did ten years ago.
3 Men cook as a hobby; women cook because they have to.
4 Vegetarians are healthier than people who eat a lot of meat.
5 You can often eat better in cheap restaurants than in expensive ones.
6 Every country thinks that its cooking is the best.

b Now A say what you think about sentence 1. B and C listen and then agree or disagree with A. Then B say what you think about sentence 2, etc. Try to use the expressions in Useful language.

Useful language

For example, I agree. I don't agree. I think that's true. I don't think that's true. (I think) it depends.
1 GRAMMAR  past tenses: simple, continuous, perfect a  In which sports are there the most cases of cheating? How do people cheat in these sports?

b  Read the article and find out how the people cheated.

c  Look at the highlighted verbs in text 1. What three tenses are they? Underline an example of each tense in the other two texts.

d  Which of the three tenses in c do we use for...?
   1  completed actions in the past
   2  an action in progress at a particular moment in the past
   3  an action that happened before the past time we are talking about e  p.130 Grammar Bank 1B. Read the rules and do the exercises.

  ___________  ___________

f Cover the texts. In pairs, retell the three stories using the correct tenses.

Text 1
England (play) Argentina.
Maradona (score) a goal.
The English players (protest) but the referee (allow) the goal.
The TV cameras (show) that Maradona (score) the goal with his hand.

Text 2
Fred Lorz (win) the marathon in 1904.
He (wait) to get his medal.
The spectators (cheer).
Everybody (start) shouting “cheater.”
Fred (travel) 18 km by car!

Text 3
Boris Onischenko (compete) against Jim Fox.
Boris (win) but Jim Fox (protest).
The Olympic officials (examine) Boris’s sword.
They (discover) that he (change) the electronic part of his sword.

2 SPEAKING
a You are going to tell a story. Choose one of the topics below and plan what you are going to say. Ask your teacher for any words you need.
Tell your partner about...

- A TIME YOU OR SOMEONE YOU KNOW CHEATED (ON AN EXAM OR IN A SPORT / GAME)
  What were you / was he / she / doing?
  Where? When?
  Why did you / he / she / cheat? What happened?

- A REALLY EXCITING SPORTS EVENT YOU SAW
  Where and when was it?
  Who was playing?
  What happened?
  Why was it so exciting?

- A TIME YOU HAD AN ACCIDENT OR GOT A SPORTS INJURY
  What were you doing? How did the accident happen?
  What part of your body did you hurt? What happened next? How long did it take you to recover?

- A TIME YOU SAW OR MET A CELEBRITY
  Where were you? What was the celebrity doing? What was he / she wearing? Did you speak to him / her?
  What happened?

b In pairs, tell each other your stories. Ask for more details.

3 LISTENING
a Can you think of two disadvantages of being a professional soccer referee?
b <16> You’re going to hear an interview with a former Champions League referee from Spain. Listen and choose a, b, or c.

1 What was the most exciting game he ever refereed?
   a His first professional game.
   b He can’t choose just one.
   c Real Madrid against Barcelona.

2 Why does he mention Mauro Silva?
   a Because he was the best player he ever saw.
   b Because he was a great person.
   c Because he was a very good player and a good person.

3 The worst experience he ever had as a referee was...
   a when a player hit him during a game.
   b when a woman with a child tried to attack him.
   c when a 16-year-old boy attacked him.

4 Why does he think there is more cheating in soccer today?
   a Because soccer is big business.
   b Because the referees are worse.
   c Because the players are better at cheating.

5 How does he say the players cheat?
   a They fall down when nobody has touched them.
   b They accept money to lose games.
   c They touch the ball with their hands.

6 What’s the most difficult thing for him about being a referee?
   a Players who cheat.
   b Making decisions.
   c The rules are too complicated.

7 Does he think fair play still exists?
   a Yes.
   b No.
   c He doesn’t say.

When you hear the final whistle

One of the hardest things for any professional athlete to do is to know when to retire. Do you retire when you are at your physical peak or do you wait until your body (or your coach) tells you that it’s time to go? But even harder is finding the answer to the question “What am I going to do with the rest of my life?”

There’s a high risk of depression and people often find adjusting to a new way of life difficult,” says Ian Cockerill, a sports psychologist. “For athletes, there’s an extra trauma — the loss of status, the loss of recognition, and the loss of the glamour. That’s the hardest part.” As Eddie Acaro, the US jockey says, “When a jockey retires, he becomes just another little man.”

Perhaps they just can’t stand life without the high of playing professional sports. Michael Jordan, the greatest basketball player of all time, retired three times. He retired once from the Chicago Bulls, made a successful comeback with the Bulls, and then retired again. His second comeback with an inferior team ended in failure, and he retired forever at the age of 40. Jordan said, “There will never be anything I do that will fulfill me as much as competing did.”

Muhammad Ali needed the money, but his comeback fight, at the age of 39, against Trevor Berbick, was one of the saddest spectacles in modern sports. After losing to Berbick, Ali retired permanently. Three years later, he developed Parkinson’s disease.

As Jimmy Greaves, a former soccer player for England, said, “I think that a lot of players would prefer to be shot once their career is over.” Many of them spend their retirement in a continual battle against depression, alcohol, or drugs.

Franz Beckenbauer is a classic example of a soccer player who won everything with his club, Bayern Munich. After retiring, he became a successful coach with Bayern and finally president of the club. John McEnroe, the infamous “bad boy” of tennis, is now a highly respected and highly paid TV commentator. But sadly, for most professional athletes these cases are the exceptions.

Look at the photos. In pairs, answer the questions.

Have you ever seen any of these people playing sports? At what age do you think people reach their peak in these sports? Do you know what these people do now?

Read the article once. Do most professional athletes find it easy or difficult to retire?

Complete the article with sentences A–F below.

A For some people the pain of saying goodbye never leaves them.
B Others can’t resist the chance of one last “pay day.”
C Some athletes go on playing too long.
D But for the lucky few, retirement can mean a successful new career.
E Retirement for people in general is traumatic.
F One of the hardest things for any professional athlete to do is to know when to retire.

Can you remember these words? If not, check with the text. Underline the stressed syllable.

1 adjective: depressed noun: depression
2 adjective: glamorous noun:
3 verb: lose noun:
4 verb: recognize noun:
5 verb: fail noun:
6 verb: retire noun:

Think of an athlete from your country who has retired. What is he/she doing now? Do you think he/she retired at the right time?
a Look at the two pictures. Which one do you think shows the typical family of the future? Read the first paragraph of the article and find out.

Twenty years ago, the typical extended family was “wide.” It usually consisted of two or three generations, with many children in each nuclear family. People had lots of aunts and uncles but often didn’t know their grandparents. However, according to a new study, the family is changing shape. The family groups of the future will be “long and thin,” with three or four small generations.

Here are some of their predictions:

1. Most children will know their great-grandparents (and even great-great-grandparents) because people are living longer.
2. Very few children will have brothers or sisters, and it will be common to be an only child. As a result, future generations will not have many cousins either.
3. Many children will grow up isolated from other children and young adults. This may make them more selfish and introverted.
4. More couples will divorce and remarry, some more than once. They may have children with their new partners, so many children will have a stepmother or stepfather and half-brothers or half-sisters.
5. There will be many “boomerang children.” These are children who leave home to get married, but then divorce and return to live with their parents.
6. There will be more single-parent families.
7. Because houses are now so expensive, different generations may decide to live together, so parents, grandparents, and adult children may co-own their houses, and many couples will have to live with their in-laws.
b Now read the whole article. Match the highlighted words with the definitions.

1. __________ your grandparents’ parents
2. __________ a child who doesn’t have any brothers or sisters
3. __________ families where the mother or father is bringing up the children on his / her own
4. __________ your uncle’s or aunt’s children
5. __________ the family of your husband / wife
6. __________ all your relatives including aunts, grandparents, etc.
7. __________ your grandparents’ grandparents
8. __________ boys who have (for example) the same father but a different mother
9. __________ the new wife of your father
10. __________ two people who are having a relationship

C Read the seven predictions again. In pairs or small groups, answer the questions for each prediction.

1. Is this already happening in your country?
2. Do you think it will happen in the future?
3. Do you think it will be a good thing or a bad thing?

I think I suffered a lot because of my father leaving us when we were small, but Wendy helped me to understand that Dad loved us too, but in a different way. She also taught me that you can’t ‘blame other people for your problems. You have to look at yourself.

(arnie, the older sister, says: I sometimes think that poor Wendy has spent all her life competing with me. She was a very quiet, shy child, while I was incredibly talkative and demanding. I was awful! I wasn’t interested in studying. All I wanted to do was go to parties, and Wendy used to tell my parents. So I was horrible to her. I used to pinch her and bite her. I was very jealous of Wendy also because she was more attractive. But she always defended me when other people criticized me. Sometimes it seemed as if she was the older sister and I was the younger one. Although we were complete opposites, we were also very close and had a lot of fun together. When I was 16 or 17, the one and a half year age gap between us didn’t matter anymore, and we started to get along with each other and to write songs together.

Wendy Wilson and her older sister Carnie are the daughters of the Beach Boys founder, Brian Wilson. They formed the band Wilson Philips (with the daughter of Michelle Philips of The Mamas and Papas) and their first album was a worldwide hit. Today they are both married and live in Los Angeles. Here they talk about their relationship.

Wendy, the younger sister, says: I always thought Carnie was really cool, especially when she was a teenager and had bright red spiky hair. But, like most older sisters, she wasn’t at all interested in her younger sister. I desperately wanted to be with her and her friends. Sometimes I used to follow them, but she hated that.

When we were kids, we both had a lot of material things like toys and clothes, but even then we knew that Mom and Dad weren’t happy. We used to talk about it all the time. After a while they separated and we stayed with my Mom. We didn’t see Dad for quite a few years, which really hurt us. But it’s also the thing that brought me and Carnie closer together. When I was 16 or 17, the one and a half year age gap between us didn’t matter anymore, and we started to get along with each other and to write songs together.

Being in a band – or working at anything – with a member of your family can be difficult, but it also has advantages. If we have a big argument about a song, after a while we remember that we are sisters and we make up. Nothing is going to stop us from being sisters.

Carnie, the older sister, says: I sometimes think that poor Wendy has spent all her life competing with me. She was a very quiet, shy child, while I was incredibly talkative and demanding. I was awful! I wasn’t interested in studying. All I wanted to do was go to parties, and Wendy used to tell my parents. So I was horrible to her. I used to pinch her and bite her.

HOW WORDS WORK...

Look at two sentences from the We are family text.

“We started to get along with each other.”
“You have to look at yourself.”

• Use each other when A does something to B and B does the thing to A.
  We love each other = I love you and you love me.
• Use a reflexive pronoun (myself, yourself, himself, herself, itself, ourselves, yourselves, themselves) when the subject of the verb is the same as the object.
  I cut myself. She looked at herself in the mirror.
• You can also use a reflexive pronoun for emphasis.
  Nobody helped me. I did it all myself.

Complete the sentences with each other or a reflexive pronoun.

1. After the argument, they didn’t speak to _______ for a week.
2. This light is automatic. It turns on and off by _______.
3. We built the house _______. It took three years.
4. We only see _______ once a month.
5. They argue a lot. They don’t understand _______.
6. I blame _______ for the accident. It was my fault.

Jam today, tomorrow, yesterday...

Craig Flatman is every nutritionist’s nightmare—a fifteen-year-old who never eats anything except bread and jam but, unbelievably, is perfectly healthy. Although his diet contains hardly any protein and is 60 percent sugar, he is 1.84 meters tall, weighs 69 kilos, and his parents say he has never been seriously ill apart from typical childhood illnesses.

Craig, or “Jam Boy,” as his friends have nicknamed him, rejects any form of meat, fish, fresh fruit, or vegetables. The only time he doesn’t eat bread and jam is for breakfast, when he has chocolate cereal, and for snacks, when he occasionally has a slice of chocolate cake. He also drinks two pints of low-fat milk a day.

Craig’s strange diet started when he was four years old. As a baby he had refused to eat solid food, and rejected everything until his father gave him a sugar sandwich when he was nine months old. He also ate chocolate spread sandwiches, and this, with milk, was his diet until he was four, when he asked to try jam and started an eleven-year obsession.

Craig sometimes craves some variety, but every time he tries something else he feels sick. Doctors believe that his condition may have been caused by choking on solid food when he was a baby. “They tell me I’ll grow out of it,” says Craig, “but I don’t know if I’ll ever change.” Although Craig’s parents eat a normal diet, their family meals are made more difficult by the fact that Craig’s sister Amy, 13, is a vegetarian. And every time they go out for a meal together, they have to all in advance—to find out if they can bring jam sandwiches for Craig!

a Read the article and mark the sentences T (true), F (false) or O (doesn’t say).

1. Craig doesn’t eat any protein.
2. He eats ten jam sandwiches a day.
3. The only other things he eats are chocolate cereal and cake.
4. When he was a baby, he didn’t like solid food.
5. His obsession with jam sandwiches started when he was eleven.
6. Craig doesn’t want to try any other kinds of food.
7. Doctors have done a lot of tests on Craig.
8. They think Craig’s diet will change when he gets older.
9. Craig’s family eats out about once a month.
10. Craig also has jam sandwiches when his family eats out.

4 start a new company or organization e.g., My brother is going to ... a software company.

e In pairs, answer the questions.
1 Do you agree with Heidemarie that...
   • all jobs are equally important
   • most people don't like their jobs
   • people judge you according to how much you earn
2 What do you think of Heidemarie?
   Would you like to have her as a friend?

My life without money
Heidemarie Schwermer, a 63-year-old German woman, has lived without money for the last ten years, and has written a book about her experiences called My Life Without Money.

At the age of 54, Heidemarie quit her job as a psychotherapist, gave away all her money and her apartment, and threw away her credit cards. Today, aside from some clothes (three sweaters, two skirts, two pairs of shoes, and a coat) and a few personal belongings, she doesn't own anything.

It all began as a one-year experiment. In her home city of Dortmund, she set up a “swapping circle” where people exchange services without using money, for example, a haircut for a mathematics class. To prove that this could work, she decided to give up using money for a year. But when the year ended, she continued and has not used money since then.

At first she house-sat for friends who were on vacation. She stayed in their houses in return for watering the plants and taking care of their animals. At the moment, she is staying in a student residence where she can sleep, take a shower, or use a computer in return for cooking for the young people who live there. She also “works” as a psychotherapist. “Before I treated very wealthy people but now I help anyone who turns up. Sometimes they give me something in return, but not always.”

Heidemarie says, “I can live thanks to my contacts. A lot of people who know me understand what I'm doing and want to help me. When I need a bus ticket, for example, or a new tube of toothpaste I think, 'Who can I ask? What can I give them in return?' If I want to go to the movies, I might offer to take care of somebody's children for the afternoon.

It is one of the mistakes of our society that most people do something they don't like just to earn money and spend it on things they don't need. Many people judge you according to how much you earn. In my opinion, all jobs are equally important. You may not earn a lot of money, but you may be worth a lot as a person. That's my message.”

So what did she do with all the money she earned from the sales of My Life Without Money?

“I gave it all away...”

2 Do they refer to single actions or continuous / repeated actions?
3 Do they refer to a completed action or one that is still happening?
c p.132 Grammar Bank 2B. Read the rules for present perfect continuous for unfinished actions. Do exercise a only.
3 PRONUNCIATION sentence stress

An important part of clear communication in English is stressing the words in a sentence that carry the information, and not stressing the other ones.

a 2.8 Dictation. Listen to five sentences. Try to write down the stressed words. Look at the words and try to remember the whole sentence. Then listen again and write the complete sentences.

b 2.9 Listen and copy the rhythm.

1 I've been living here for two years.
2 How long have you been learning English?
3 She's been working in Italy since October.
4 How long have you been waiting?
5 It's been raining all night.
6 We've been looking for an apartment for ages.

4 SPEAKING

a Look at the circles, and write something in as many as you can.

A sport you play regularly (or a kind of exercise you do regularly)
Something you are learning (to do)
A friend you know very well
A magazine / newspaper you read regularly
A restaurant you often go to
A thing you have that is very important to you
A club, organization, gym, etc. that you are a member of The make of car you drive
The place where you live

b Compare circles with a partner. Ask your partner at least three questions about the things they've written. One question must be How long have you...?

Remember after How long...? with action verbs, e.g., play, use the present perfect continuous, with non-action verbs, e.g., know, use the present perfect simple.

How long have you been playing volleyball?
Since I was about 15.
How often do you play?
5 READING

a Can you think of one way that a vacation could change your life for the better?

b You’re going to read an article about two people whose lives were changed by a vacation. Work in pairs. A read about Victoria, B about Sally.

c In pairs, take turns telling each other about the two women. Answer these questions.

What is she doing now?
What was she doing before?
What made her change her life?
How does she feel now?

d Read the text that you didn’t read before. Did your partner leave out any important information?

e In pairs, try to guess the meaning of the highlighted words. Then match them with their definitions below.

First text
1 of little importance
2 crazy
3 a person who looks after animals (e.g., in a zoo)
4 animals like large monkeys
5 not looked after well

Second text
6 the London subway
7 very good-tasting
8 asked for (in writing)
9 burning brightly
10 very small

f Whose life do you think has changed the most? Which of the two vacations would you choose?

It was just a vacation, but it changed my life

Vacations can be good for your health. You lie on a beach and relax, and tensions disappear. But sometimes a vacation can change your life completely, which is what happened two years ago to Victoria Smith and Sally Gook.

Victoria Smith, six years ago, was working as a manager at a chain store. Then she went on vacation to Borneo...

"It was a working vacation," said Victoria, "where you could study orangutans in the wild. I have always been interested in apes, so I thought it would be fun." The vacation was wonderful, and when Victoria came home she found it very difficult to return to her old life. "Suddenly the problems in the store just seemed so trivial." Although everybody told her she was insane, she decided to go back to college and study biology. Four years later she became a chimpanzee keeper.

For the last two years Victoria has been working at Monkey World, a center that takes care of apes that have been mistreated. Many have been rescued from laboratories and circuses all over the world. She works long hours, and the pay isn’t very good, but she loves it. "Apes are like a big family, each with their own personality."

"I’m really happy now. Since I started working here, I feel that I’ve been doing something important, not just wasting my life."

Sally Gook wakes up every morning to a deep blue sky and blazing sun. For the last two years she has been living on the tiny Greek island of Lipsi, which is only 16 square kilometers in size and has a population of just 650.

But until a few years ago she lived in London. "I was working for a large financial services company and I had a good social life and made a lot of money. But I had to get up very early every morning, often in horrible weather, and get a train and the Tube to work." Then one day she and a friend decided they needed a relaxing vacation, and they came to Lipsi. "I loved it — the people, the mountains, the sun, and the delicious food. Suddenly I knew there was a different life waiting for me here.” A few months later she applied for a job at the travel company that had organized her vacation.

Since then she has been living on Lipsi and working as a tourist guide. Her boyfriend, who is Greek, is a farmer. Sally said, "I’ve only been back to London once, and I can’t imagine ever living there again.”

1 READING

a In pairs, ask and answer the questions.
1 When was the last time you traveled...?
   by train  by car  by plane
   Where did you go?
   How long did your trip take?
   Did you have a good trip?
2 In general, which of the three forms of transportation do you prefer? Why?

b Read the introduction to the article, Race to the sun. Answer the questions with by car, by train, or by plane.

Which trip do you think was...? the quickest ___________ the most comfortable ___________ the cheapest ___________ the most convenient ___________ c You’re going to read about the first two trips, but the paragraphs are not in the right order. Find the first paragraph for the plane trip, and then the other three. Do the same for the train trip. Then compare with a partner.

The plane
1   2   3   4
The train
1   2   3   4

d Now read about the two trips again carefully in the right order. Answer the questions with T (the train) or P (the plane).

On which trip...?
1 did the traveler have to get up earlier
2 could the traveler have something to eat or drink
3 was the traveler more stressed
4 could the traveler see beautiful scenery
5 did the traveler have a meal when he arrived
6 did the traveler arrive earlier than expected

HOW WORDS WORK...
The bus took 45 minutes.
It took me just 30 minutes from home.
How long does it take you to get to school?

Use take (+ person) + time (+ to get to)... to talk about the duration of a trip.

Ask and answer the questions in pairs.

How long does it take you to get to work / school?
How long does it take to get downtown from your house?
a by car  b by bus  c by subway  d on foot
When I got to security, I saw that there was a really long line. I began to worry that I might miss my flight because you have to board 40 minutes before take-off. I had to run to gate 48 and I arrived completely out of breath.

I arrived on time! I picked up my suitcase and followed the Exit signs. It was great not to have to wait for my luggage or to worry about getting a bus or taxi downtown.

We boarded. Because there are no seat numbers on these flights, everybody tries to get on as quickly as they can. I sat next to a friendly Frenchman. We took off and soon I was looking down on London. There was no meal, not even coffee, but we landed 10 minutes ahead of schedule.

At 4:15 a.m. a taxi picked me up and took me 32 miles to Stansted airport. Although it was early morning, there was a lot of traffic and I arrived later than I had planned. I took my luggage to check-in and asked for a window seat, but the woman said there were no seat numbers.

At 7:10 a.m. I arrived at Waterloo station by taxi. It took me just 30 minutes from home. I bought a newspaper and walked to the platform. I got on and found my seat. As soon as we started moving, I went to find the dining car and had a cup of coffee.

Just outside the station I looked up and saw the medieval walls of Avignon's historic city center. It was 2:20* in the afternoon and I was just in time for a late lunch! My ticket cost £65.80, and I gave the trip 8/10 for comfort and 9/10 for convenience.

I only had to wait 20 minutes for my luggage. Then I walked outside into bright sunshine and waited for the bus to Avignon, about 40 kilometers away. I didn't have to wait long and the bus took 45 minutes. It was only 11:00* and I had the whole day in front of me. My ticket cost £63, and I gave the trip 5/10 for comfort and 5/10 for convenience.

I looked out of the window. Although we were moving at 340 kilometers an hour, the trip was smooth and relatively quiet. The part where we traveled under the English Channel took just 22 minutes. Soon I was looking at the fields and farmhouses of France. The sun was shining. I closed my eyes and went to sleep.

France is one hour ahead of the UK.

6 LISTENING & SPEAKING

a Read the beginning of a newspaper article and then talk to a partner:

1. Do you (or your family) ever do any of these things while driving a car?

2. Which three do you think are the most dangerous? Number them 1–3 (1 = the most dangerous).

b Now listen to a road safety expert talking about the tests. Number the activities 1–6. Were your top three right?

c Listen again and answer the questions.

1. What should you do when you are driving?
2. Why is opening a bag of chips or a can of soda so dangerous?
3. What do people often do when they pick up a CD?
4. What gets worse when drivers are talking on the phone?
5. How do people drive when they are listening to their favorite music?
6. What happens if the music is fast and heavy?
7. What’s the main problem when drivers talk to other passengers?
8. Why is listening to music you don’t know the least dangerous?

d Look at the statements below and decide whether you agree or disagree. Put a V next to the ones you agree with and an X next to the ones you disagree with. Think about your reasons.

Drivers should not use any kind of phone when they are driving.

The minimum age for riding a motorcycle should be 25.

People who drink and drive should lose their license for life.

The speed limit on highways should be 100 kilometers an hour.

Cyclists are just as dangerous as car drivers.

Police traffic radars do not stop speeding.

People over 70 are more dangerous drivers than young people.

e In groups, give your opinions on each sentence. Do you agree?

Which of these things is the most dangerous when you’re driving a car?

- making a call on your cell phone
- listening to your favorite music
- listening to music you don’t know
- opening a bag of chips or a can of soda
- picking up a specific CD from the passenger seat
- talking to other passengers

A car magazine tested car drivers in a driving simulator. The drivers had to “drive” in the simulator and at the same time do the things in the list above. The results of the tests were surprising (and worrying).

Nightmare trips
We asked you to tell us about your nightmare trips. Rita from California wrote to us about hers...

A nightmare trip I remember was three years ago I was going to the airport with my friend. We were going to Hawaii on vacation and we had to be at Los Angeles airport two hours before the flight.

We left home with plenty of time, when we got to the freeway there was a huge traffic jam! The traffic wasn't moving at all. We didn't know what to do. It was too late to go another way, we just sat in the car getting more and more stressed. Ten minutes, the traffic started moving slowly. We decided to leave the freeway and try to find another way to the airport. I wasn't sure of the way and we got completely lost. We were sure we were going to miss the flight. We finally arrived at the airport just thirty minutes before the plane was going to leave. The woman at the check-in counter said we couldn't check in our luggage it was too late, we had to run with all our suitcases to the departure gate.

My friend felt down and hurt her leg, we managed to get to the gate in time and we caught our flight.

Paragraph 1
When was the trip? Where were you going? Who with? Why?

Paragraph 2
What went wrong? What happened?

Paragraph 3
What happened in the end?

Useful language: travel problems
- the flight was delayed

Why I didn't want to be a millionaire

When Lydia Nash appeared on the TV show Who Wants to be a Millionaire? and was fortunate enough to win £16,000, she decided to give all the money away. This wouldn't have been surprising if she had been rich or famous, but Lydia was a 19-year-old then.

Lydia gave all the money to a charity that helps orphaned children in Thailand and where she had also worked as a volunteer for the previous three years. "I first visited the orphanage when I was seventeen, and I felt very depressed by what I saw. When I got back to England, I felt angry. Looking around, all I could see were people who were obsessed with money. That convinced me to return to Thailand the following year."

After she won the money, some of her friends at the university thought that maybe she had made the wrong decision. "Some people said I should have saved it for a down payment on a house or to pay back my student loan." Lydia said. "That really annoyed me. Students seem to live in an unreal world, where they constantly complain about being poor. But there's an enormous difference between our situation and that of people who have absolutely no money."

With the help of the money Lydia gave them, the charity has just finished building Rainbow House, a new facility that will house 50 young children and where they will live until they are adopted.

If Lydia had won a million pounds and not only £16,000, would she still have given away all the money? She said, "Before going on the show, I thought a lot about what it would be like to have a lot of money, and I realized that I wouldn't like it at all. And then, of course, as I had been to the orphanage and had seen all the work that needed to be done, I knew how useful that money could be. It was far more important for the charity than it could ever be for me. I definitely think I got more enjoyment out of giving the money away than if I had kept it for myself."

a Read the article once. Then read it again and choose a, b, or c.

1 People were surprised that Lydia gave away the money she won because a she was young and not very wealthy b she already had a lot of money of her own c she had won a lot of money

2 Before winning the money, Lydia had been to the orphanage in Thailand a once
   b twice

☐ The English have very good manners.  ☐ The English and Russian ideas of good manners are different.
☐ The English are polite but insincere.  ☐ Russians are very rude and unfriendly.

CultUrf shock

Good manners are always good manners – anywhere in the world. That’s what Miranda Ingram, who is English, thought until she married Alexander, who is Russian.

When I first met Alexander and he said to me, in Russian, “Nalei mnye chai – pour me some tea,” I got angry and answered, “Pour it yourself.” Translated into English, without a Could you…? and a please, it sounded really rude to me. But in Russian it was fine. You don’t have to add any polite words.

However, when I took Alexander home to meet my parents, I had to give him an intensive course in pleases and thank yous (which he thought were completely unnecessary), and to teach him to say sorry even if someone else stepped on his toe, and to smile, smile, smile.

Another thing that Alexander just couldn’t understand was why people said things like, “Would you mind passing me the salt, please?” He said, “It’s only the salt, for goodness sake! What do you say in English if you want a real favor?”

He also watched in amazement when, at a dinner party, we swallowed some really disgusting food and I said, “Mmm…delicious.” In Russia, people are much more direct. The first time Alexander’s mother came to our house for dinner in Moscow, she told me that my soup needed more seasoning. Afterward, when we argued about it, my husband said, “Do you prefer your dinner guests to lie?”

Alexander complained that in England he felt “like the village idiot” because in Russia if you smile all the time, people think that you are crazy. In fact, this is exactly what my husband’s friends thought of me the first time I went to Russia because I smiled at everyone, and translated every please and thank you from English into Russian!

At home we now have an agreement. If we’re speaking Russian, he can say “Pour me some tea,” and just make a noise like a grunt when I give it to him. But when we’re speaking English, he has to add a please, a thank you, and a smile.

c Read the article again and mark the sentences T (true) or F (false). Correct the wrong sentences.

1 Miranda got angry because her husband asked her to make the tea.
2 Miranda had to teach him to say “sorry” when something wasn’t his fault.
3 Her husband thinks English people are too polite.
4 Alexander wasn’t surprised when people said they liked the food at the dinner party.
5 The food was delicious.
6 Miranda didn’t mind when her mother-in-law criticized her cooking.
7 Alexander thought his mother was right.
8 In Russia it isn’t normal to smile all the time when you speak to someone.
9 His Russian friends thought Miranda was very friendly because she smiled a lot.
10 Alexander never says “thank you” for his tea when he and Miranda are speaking in Russian.

d Now cover the text. Can you complete the phrases with the missing verbs?

1 _________ on someone’s foot or toe (by accident)
2 _________ some water into a glass or tea into a cup
3 _________ a noise, like a grunt
4 _________ food (so that it goes from your mouth to your stomach)
5 _________ a word from English into Russian

6. a. without hair  b. with a lot of hair
7. a. a kind of document  b. false hair

Do I really look like this?

Our passport or ID photos are the photos we show to the largest number of different people during our lives. But how happy are we with our passport photo? Do we make an effort to get a good one? According to research done by the US printer company Lexmark, the answer varies according to nationalities. It seems that the Italians are the most embarrassed about their passport photo (21% said they didn’t like showing it to other people). On the other hand, 98% of Norwegians said they were happy with their photos. And the French spend the most time trying to get the perfect photo (sometimes spending an hour in the photo booth!). We asked three celebrities how they felt about their passport photos...

Michael Winner movie director

"I used to be very proud of my passport photo," said Michael Winner. "For more than forty years I looked like an elegant movie director." But recently Michael renewed his passport and took a new photo in a photo booth. "Now I look like a drug dealer," he says.

Ruth England
TV host

Ruth England spends her life traveling and showing her passport photo to passport officials around the world. She confessed, "Once I had a passport photo where I looked really hideous and so I deliberately ‘lost’ my passport and got a new one. For my latest passport, I took several photos and I chose the best one. It’s pretty good. I’ve had much worse ones."

Toby Young author and journalist

Toby Young said, "I’m often stopped when I go through immigration because I don’t look like my passport photo at all. In my photo I had a lot more hair but now I’m bald. No one believes it is me. So, now I have two possibilities: take a wig with me every time I travel or get a new passport photo!"

Laura Day, policewoman

When people first meet me, they think I might be a teacher or a hairdresser. When I’m not wearing my uniform, they never believe me that I’m a policewoman. When I tell people what I do, the typical reaction is, “You can’t be a policewoman, you’re too small!” I’m only 5 feet 4 inches tall. People always think that policewomen are big and masculine. Often people only believe me when I show them my police identity card.

Sam Roddick, daughter of Anita Roddick (the millionaire founder of Body Shop)

When I introduce myself to people and say my name, they often say, “Oh you must be the Body Shop woman’s daughter.” Later they can’t remember my name. I’m very proud of my mother, but I would never say, “My mom’s Anita Roddick.” I don’t know if I am very different from the typical “rich kid” because I don’t know any. My friends never mention my background or money and neither do I.

People often ask me who my think, “She can’t be the manager – she’s a woman.” They’re expecting to see an older man in a suit. Or when people speak to me on the phone and hear that I am a woman, then they think that I must be a 50-year-old woman who wears pant suits and is very unfeminine. They’re very surprised when they see me. I’m not like that at all. In the office I just wear jeans and tennis shoes.

I started taking driving lessons when I was 17. Although I'm normally a fast learner, I failed my first test. I was really disappointed. Since then I've taken the test again three times, but I've always failed — usually on reversing or parking. The problem is I get so nervous during the tests that I can't drive very well. It's so embarrassing to admit that I can't learn to do something that I want to.

Amanda, Dallas

...pass my driving test

I've always wanted to be able to dance salsa, and when I was working in Ecuador there were free classes, so I joined. But the art of salsa is to keep your arms still and move your hips, and I just couldn't do it. When I hear music, my arms start moving but my hips don't. After about ten hours of classes, I learned the steps, but I was dancing like a robot! I didn't give up, but soon everyone in the class was dancing and I was just slowly moving from side to side and counting out loud “one, two, three, four.” I was sure that one day I would suddenly be able to do it, but that never happened. I can still remember the first two steps, though, and I still try to dance when I hear a salsa tune, as long as nobody is watching.

John, Tampa

I've started learning English at least ten times. I've been to classes, I've had a private teacher, I've used a self-study course, but I was never able to do anything in English. I even had an American girlfriend once, but she learned Portuguese before I managed to improve my English, so we always spoke in Portuguese. I travel a lot for my job and it's so frustrating. I'm 32 now and I think if you don't learn a language when you're a child, or go and live in the country, you'll never be able to speak it well.

Natalie, the swimmer who lost a leg

Natalie du Toit, the South African swimmer, was only seventeen when she lost her leg in a car accident. She was going to a training session at the swimming pool on her motorcycle when a car hit her. Her leg had to be amputated at the knee. At the time, she was one of South Africa’s most promising young swimmers. Everybody thought that she would never be able to swim competitively again.

But Natalie was determined to persevere. She went back into the pool only three months after the accident. And just one year later, at the Commonwealth Games in Manchester, she swam 800 meters in 9 minutes 11.38 seconds and qualified for the final – but not for disabled swimmers, for able-bodied ones! Although she didn’t win a medal, she still made history.

“I remember how thrilled I was the first time that I swam after recovering from the operation. It felt like my leg was there. It still does,” says Natalie. “The water is the gift that gives me back my leg. I’m still the same person I was before the accident. I believe everything happens in life for a reason. You can’t go back and change anything. Swimming was my life and still is. My dream is to swim faster than I did before the accident.”

Bethany, the surfer who lost an arm

Bethany Hamilton was the best girl surfer of her age when she lost an arm in a shark attack. She was only thirteen years old and was surfing in Hawaii when a tiger shark attacked her and tore off her left arm. It happened so fast she didn’t even scream.

But Bethany was determined to get back on a surfboard as soon as possible. As soon as she left the hospital, she began practicing her surfing exercises on the beach. Everyone was amazed to see her surfing so soon after her accident. Incredibly, she finished 5th at the National Surfing Championships.

“The first time I went back into the water, I was so happy I cried,” she said. “It was easier than I thought. But obviously it’s much more difficult than with both arms, and I have to accept I’ll probably never be world champion, which used to be my dream.”

Since then, Bethany has signed a contract with Rip Curl and has written a book about her experience, which has been made into a movie. “I always dream of the ocean,” she says. “When you surf a wave, it’s like walking on water, and when you’re in the air, it’s like flying.”

Good News—Bad News

One of the best days of my life was the day one of my professors called to say that I had been accepted to study for a year at the University of the Sorbonne in Paris. I had never traveled much, and I didn’t think I would ever have the chance to go to Europe. The news came one afternoon in May of 1993. I was just 19 years old and I was in my room at college. Just before the call, a friend of mine came into my room, threw herself into a chair, and burst into tears. She had had plans to get married in June, but her boyfriend had just broken up with her! At that very moment the phone rang. So there I was listening to the best news of my life, while my friend was crying over the worst news in hers. My professor said, “What’s the matter? Aren’t you excited?” I said, “Yes, I am, but I’ll tell you about it later.” I did my best to console my friend, but it was really hard for me to be sympathetic while I was so happy about my news.

Finally I couldn’t stand it anymore. I said to my friend, “Stay here. I have to go out for a few minutes.” I went out and got a big pizza, a quart of chocolate ice cream, and a big bottle of soda. “You and I are going to have a feast,” I said, and then I told her my news. That friend was a much happier person when she left. I went to France and had a wonderful year. I studied hard, became fluent in French, traveled, and met many wonderful people. When I came back, I ran into my friend. Although she’d been deeply hurt by the break up with her boyfriend, she had also had a good year at school and was about to leave for graduate school. We laughed together over that “famous” day in my room, possibly the best and worst day of our lives.

F “Are you really in our class?” “How old are you?” “Well... you’re not 13!”
G One boy says he has fries every day.
H Phones that ring in class are confiscated until the end of the week.

e In pairs, look at the highlighted words and phrases. Try to guess what they mean from the context. Then check a dictionary.

f In pairs, look at each heading and say if what happens is the same, similar, or different from the high school you went (or go) to.

French

My first lesson is French. I am in a class of thirteen-year-olds. Outside the classroom some girls start interviewing me. “Are you really in our class?” “How old are you?” “How old do you think I am?” I reply. “Well... you’re not 13!”

First we have a listening test that I find difficult. I get 14 out of 20. Not bad. Then we make review lists on the computer.

Math

As we wait outside the math classroom a teacher tells me to button my shirt all the way up. The math teacher uses an interactive whiteboard that has graphics and video, but the students don’t look very interested in the lesson. A cell phone rings and the owner hurries to turn it off.

History

Mr. Fishleigh is the history teacher. He doesn’t have any problems controlling the noise level. (Other teachers do.) He talks to them as if they were adults and gets their attention in return.

Lunch

In the cafeteria we can choose between traditional and fast food. Burgers and fries are the most popular meal.

Information and communication technology

We are designing spreadsheets for cell phone sales and I cannot imagine a more boring lesson.

Most students have Internet access at home and the school has a website where parents can see what homework their children have and when they have to hand it in.

Religious education

The teacher introduces us to meditation. We sit cross-legged and try to fill our minds with blackness and think positively about people who we have been thinking negatively about. For 15 minutes the students sit, eyes closed, in total silence. When they leave the class they are slightly dazed. “Incredible!” “Amazing!” “We should do this in math!”

The bell rings. End of school for the day.

As we leave there is a fight at the school gates. “If anyone hits anyone, I’ll call the police,” says a teacher.

So has school gotten easier?

It’s difficult to say if school has become harder or easier since I was a child because teaching methods have changed so much. All I can say is that during my working life I have had many tiring experiences. Being back at school for a week was as tiring as any of them. Being a student today is very, very hard work.

Houses you’ll never forget
Casa Azul (The Blue House)

On the corner of Londres and Allende Street in Coyoacán, an old residential area of Mexico City, there is a house with bright blue walls, tall windows and green shutters, surrounded by trees. It is one of the most extraordinary places in Mexico, the home of the surrealist painter Frida Kahlo, who died in 1954, when she was only 47.

The entrance is guarded by two giant statues nearly seven meters tall. As you walk past them, you enter a garden with tropical plants and fountains. When you go inside the house, the first room is the spacious and airy living room. Here Frida and her husband, the painter Diego Rivera, entertained their famous friends, including the millionaire Nelson Rockefeller, the composer George Gershwin, and the political leader Leon Trotsky. Now the room is a gallery where some of Frida’s paintings can be seen.

The first thing you notice when you go into the kitchen is the floor – painted bright yellow to stop insects from coming in. There is a long yellow table where Frida and Diego often had lunch parties, and a yellow china cabinet holding traditional green and brown Mexican dishes. Here, their guests often found themselves in the company of Frida’s pets, Fulang Chang, a beloved monkey, or Bonito the parrot, who used to perform tricks at the table in return for butter!

Everywhere in the house you can feel the spirit of Frida and Diego. Upstairs, Frida’s palette and brushes are still on the worktable in her studio, as if she had just put them down. In Diego’s bedroom you can see his stetson hat and a huge pair of shoes – he had enormous feet. In another bedroom there is a cupboard with a glass door that contains one of the colorful Mexican dresses that Frida loved to wear.

Above the cupboard, in Spanish, are painted these words: “Frida Kahlo was born here on July 7, 1910.” In fact, she was born three years earlier (July 6, 1907), but she changed her birth date to the year of the Mexican Revolution. On the walls of the patio is another inscription “Frida and Diego lived in this house from 1929–1954.” Again, this is not entirely true. She and her husband lived in separate houses for five years during that period, and they divorced in 1939, though they remarried a year later. The house, like Frida’s life, is full of contradictions.
1 VOCABULARY & SPEAKING  friendship

a Complete the text with the phrases below.

Where did you meet?

Why do you get along well?

What do you have in common?

Do you ever argue? What about?

How often do you see each other?

How do you keep in touch the rest of the time?

Have you ever lost touch? Why? When?

Do you think you'll stay friends?

2 GRAMMAR  usually and used to a Have you ever tried to get in touch with an old friend? Why? Did you succeed?

b Read about the Friends Reunited website and answer the questions.

1 What's it for?

2 How do you use it?

Friends Reunited is a website that helps you find old friends and lets you read what people you've lost touch with are doing now.

How does it work?

New visitors find their old schools or workplaces, which are usually listed on the web page, and then add their names to the list of people already registered. They can also post photos and information about what they are doing now. When they want to contact another member, Friends Reunited forwards the message. Communication takes place without revealing personal e-mail addresses or contact details until members decide they want to do so.

c Now read about two people who registered on the website. Who did they want to meet? Why?

d Complete the texts with the sentences below.

he used to go to  I used to know  I used to live used to come  we used to go out e Look at the two texts again. When do we use used to? How do you make negatives and questions?

   An actor you used to like a lot but don’t anymore a How often do you see your really good friends? Would you like to see them more often? Do you spend much time with people you don’t really like?
5 READING

b Now read the magazine article. What does “edit your friends” mean?

d Read the article again. Underline five new words or phrases you want to learn.

e Do you agree with the article? Do you need to “edit your friends?”

Do you need to “edit your friends”?

Is your cell phone directory full of phone numbers of people you don’t really want to talk to? Do you go out with people from work or school more often than with your real friends? Do you say yes to invitations because you think you should, not because you want to? If you answered yes to at least two of these questions, then maybe it’s time to “edit your friends.”

Nowadays people tend to spend a lot of time socializing with coworkers or classmates. The result is that we don’t have enough time to see our real, close friends. As our lives get busier, it becomes more important to spend the little free time we have with people we really want to see, people we love and who really love us.

Who are the friends you need to edit?

A few years ago, I read a book about how to get rid of unnecessary possessions. It said you should ask yourself about each thing you have: Is it useful? Do I really like it? Do I feel better every time I look at it? If the answer is no to any one of those questions, you should throw it away. Maybe we should ask similar questions about our friends.

What kind of friends will you probably need to edit? Sometimes it’s an old friend — somebody that you used to have a lot in common with, but who, when you meet now, you have very little or nothing to say to. Or it might be a new friend that you get along pretty well with, but who is taking up too much of your time. Next time one of these people calls you and suggests a meeting, think, “Do I really want to see this person?” and if the answer is no, say no, and make an excuse. That way you’ll have more time to spend with your real friends.

Now read the article again. Choose the best summary of each paragraph, a, b, or c.

1 People need to “edit” their friends if...
   a they have moved to a different area.
   b all their friends are people from work or school.
   c they are spending a lot of time with people who are not real friends.

2 People today are often very busy, so...
   a they should see their friends less.
   b they should think carefully about how they spend their free time.
   c they should try to make friends with people from work/school.

3 The writer says that... a we should ask ourselves who our real friends are.
   b most of our friends are unnecessary.
   c we shouldn’t treat friends as possessions.

4 The kind of friends we probably need to “edit” are... a old friends who don’t talk very much.
   b new friends who talk too much.
   c friends that we don’t really want to see anymore.

d Read the article again. Underline five new words or phrases you want to learn.

e Do you agree with the article? Do you need to “edit your friends?”

HOW WORDS WORK...

1 Look at these expressions with get that have appeared in this lesson. Match them with their meanings A–G.

1 ...a book about how to get rid of unnecessary objects □
2 ...a new friend that you get along pretty well with □
3 ...I sort of relaxed and felt I was getting to know them again □

2 Complete the questions with get or an expression with get. Ask and answer the questions in pairs.

1 Who do you get best in your family?
2 Does it take you long to get new people?
3 Do you get more e-mails from friends than from coworkers?
4 How do you normally get with your friends (by text, phone, etc.)?
5 How often do you get things (e.g., clothes) that you don’t use anymore?

6 LISTENING & SPEAKING

a Read sentences A–F below. Now listen to three people talking. Which sentences are they talking about? Write 1, 2, or 3 next to the sentence.

A Men keep their friends longer than women.
B It’s more difficult to keep in touch with friends now than it used to be.
C It’s impossible to stay “good friends” with an ex-boyfriend or girlfriend.
D You should never criticize your friend’s boyfriend or girlfriend.
E You should never lend money to a friend.
F You can only have two or three close friends.

b Listen again. Do they agree or disagree with the statements? What are their reasons? What examples do they give?

c Now look at the sentences and mark them with a (✔) or (✘) to say if you agree or disagree. Think about your reasons.

d In groups, compare opinions. Try to give real examples from your own experience or of people you know. Use the phrases below to help you.

Useful language

Agreeing

I agree with that. I think that’s true.

Disagreeing

I don’t agree with that (at all). I don’t think that’s true.

Giving examples

For example, I have a friend who…

“Sorry, Frank, but I can no longer go on with this charade. Not only am I not your best friend, I’m not even sure I like you at all.”
MAKING SUGGESTIONS

a. Cover the conversation and listen. What's the problem? Where do Mark and Allie decide to take Scarlett?

b. Read the conversation. In pairs, what do you think the missing words are? Don't write them in yet.

Allie: I got a message this morning. It's from Jacques.
Ben: The punk princess? Yeah, I met her in London last year.
Allie: What's she like?
Ben: Let's say she's a bit ... difficult.
Allie: What are we going to ______ with her?
Mark: Why ______ you show her around Paris?
Allie: I have a ______ idea. Why don't you show her around Paris?
Mark: What, me? I'm new here!
Allie: You can't leave me to do this on my own.
Mark: OK, why ______ we take her to Notre Dame? I mean, it's her first time in Paris, isn't it?
Ben: I don't think churches are really her thing.
Mark: How ______ taking her on a boat trip?
Allie: Brilliant!
Mark: And then we could go up the Eiffel Tower.
Allie: ______ a good idea. I'm sure she'll love the view.
Ben: And she might fall off!
Mark: Thanks for your help, Ben. Shall we have lunch after that?
Allie: ______ go somewhere really nice. Do you have any recommendations, Ben?
Ben: ______ about La Renaissance? It's Jacques's favorite.
Allie: That sounds perfect. Uh, Ben, do you want to come, too?
Ben: Sorry, Allie. I'm really busy. But I'm sure you'll have an unforgettable meal.

SOCIAL ENGLISH  An unforgettable meal

a. Listen. What does Scarlett have for lunch?

b. Listen again and mark the sentences T (true) or F (false).
1. Scarlett isn't hungry.
2. She doesn't eat meat or fish.
3. She's allergic to seafood.
4. She didn't enjoy the boat trip.
5. They went up the Eiffel Tower.
6. Allie doesn't like Scarlett.
7. Mark guesses what Scarlett would like to eat.

c. Complete the USEFUL PHRASES. Listen and check.

d. Listen again and repeat the phrases. How do you say them in your language?
Would you like to stay in this beautiful house in the heart of the Canadian Rocky Mountains?

It's a spacious house with four bedrooms, a living room, a large kitchen, two bathrooms, and plenty of storage. There are breathtaking views of the mountains from all the windows. It has a large balcony, which is ideal for eating outside in the summer. The house has wooden floors, a jacuzzi™, cable television, and Internet.

It's a quiet, safe neighborhood and the neighbors are very warm and friendly. The house is within walking distance from stores and restaurants in the local town and a short drive from areas with excellent skiing and hiking. In the area around the house; you can see amazing wildlife such as bears, wolves, deer, and mountain goats.

This house is perfect for families or two couples. It's a non-smoking property and, sorry, no pets.

Rent this superb two-bedroom apartment. It's perfectly located between 43rd Street and 8th Avenue, five minutes from Time Square and most of the theaters, and a fifteen-minute walk from Central Park.

It's a nice 150-square-meter apartment on the 19th floor of a new building. It has two bedrooms, a nice living room with a huge balcony, a kitchen/dining room, and two bathrooms. The apartment has very big windows, so during the day it's very light and at night you have a nice view of midtown Manhattan, especially on the 4th of July, when you can see all the fireworks!

The neighborhood is colorful, and it's nice for people who like eating out or going to the theater and clubs. There's a subway station on the corner, and it's a ten-minute walk to Grand Central station. JFK airport is about half an hour away by taxi.

This apartment is nice for couples. Sorry, no children or pets and definitely no smoking.

a Read the two ads from a website. Which one would you prefer to rent for a two-week vacation? Why?

b Read about the house in Canada again. Highlight any adjectives which help to "sell" the house.

c Now read about the New York apartment again. Improve the description by replacing the word nice with one of the adjectives below. Often there is more than one possibility.

| breathtaking | ideal | magnificent | perfect | spacious | superb |

Useful language: describing location

It's perfectly located... within walking distance from... a (fifteen-minute) walk from... a short drive from...

The neighborhood is (safe, friendly, etc.) It's a (beautiful) area...

WRITE a description of a house / an apartment (real or imaginary) for a website.

PLAN what you're going to write. Use the Useful language box and Vocabulary Bank p.151 Houses to help you.

Paragraph 1 A brief introduction. What kind of house / apartment is it? Where is it exactly?

Paragraph 2 Describe the house / apartment. What rooms does it have? Does it have any special characteristics?

Paragraph 3 Describe the neighborhood. How far is it from places of interest, public transportation, etc.?

Paragraph 4 Say who the house / apartment is suitable for. Are there any restrictions?

CHECK the description for mistakes (grammar, punctuation, and spelling).

b. Look at the highlighted words and phrases. Can you guess what they mean?

The children who sang on Another Brick in the Wall by the British group Pink Floyd have changed their tune since 1979. Twenty-five years later, they are trying to take the group to court because of unpaid royalties.

The song, which was a number 1 hit in the UK and abroad, was an attack on school and education and it had the famous chorus, "We don't need no education, we don't need no thought control... teacher, leave those kids alone!"

The chorus was sung by thirteen schoolchildren from Islington Green School in London, who were taken to the Britannia Row record studios to sing on the recording by their music teacher. They never met the group and were not paid for their work. When the principal of the school heard the song with its anti-school lyrics, she banned the children from receiving any publicity or from appearing on TV.

Peter Rowan, a royalty expert from Edinburgh, has spent two years trying to find the children, now adults, and he intends to help them make a legal claim for royalties.

Mr. Rowan said, "They probably won't get more than a few hundred pounds each, but this is about recognition. They deserve to have their work recognized even if it has taken 25 years."

Ian Abbott, 40, was one of the children who sang on the record. He said, "Now I don't agree that 'We don't need no education.' Education is so important. I really regret that I didn't study more at school. I would like to go to university now and get a degree. But work gets in the way when you get older. Sometimes I say to my nieces, 'You must study harder,' and they say, 'But why? Look at what you sang on that song.'"

Mirabai Narayan, another one of the children, now works as a teacher herself. She said, "I sometimes wonder if the song influenced my career. My job now is to help kids with learning difficulties."

Can you understand this text?

a. Read the article and mark the sentences T (true), F (false), or DS (doesn't say).

1. Another Brick in the Wall was also successful outside the UK.
2. The children got a little money for singing on the record.
3. The music teacher was a friend of the group Pink Floyd.
4. The principal of the school wasn't happy about the song.
5. Peter Rowan was one of the thirteen children.
6. He thinks the children will get a lot of money.
7. Ian Abbott is sorry that he didn't work harder at school.
8. He doesn't have any children of his own.
9. Mirabai Narayan is sure the song made her become a teacher.

6 SPEAKING

a Imagine that your town is thinking of becoming a “slow city” and is planning to do the following things:

- Ban all fast-food restaurants.
- Promote small family restaurants.
- Ban cars from downtown.
- Create more pedestrian areas.
- Create more green areas and plant more trees.
- Reduce the speed limit in the town to 30 km/h.
- Use speed bumps and traffic radars to control speed.
- Move all big supermarkets outside the city.
- Encourage local shops and ban multinational chain stores.
- Ban loud music in bars and clubs.

Mark the sentences with a (✓) or (✗) to say if you agree or disagree.

b Work in groups. Have a “meeting” to discuss each proposal and then vote for or against it.

Useful language

I'm for / against (banning...)
I think / I don't think it would be a good idea (to create...)

The problem with (reducing...) is that...
I don't think that would work.

That would really make a difference.

3 READING & SPEAKING

a In pairs, look at the list of subjects below. Who do you think talks about them more, men or women? Write M or W.

sports  work  clothes  health family  movies  politics  cars their house  the opposite sex

b Read the first paragraph of Gossiping with the girls? Does the writer agree with you? Who talks about most topics?

Gossiping with the girls?

Women are experts at gossiping, and they always talk about trivial things, or at least that's what men have always thought. However, some new research suggests that when women talk to women, their conversations are far from frivolous, and cover many more topics (up to 40 subjects) than when men talk to other men. Women's conversations range from health to their houses, from politics to fashion, from movies to family, from education to relationship problems. Sports are notably absent. Men tend to have a more limited range of subjects, the most popular being work, sports, jokes, cars, and women.

According to Professor Petra Boynton, a psychologist who interviewed over 1,000 women, women also tend to move quickly from one subject to another in conversation, while men usually stick to one subject for longer periods of time.

At work, this difference can be an advantage for men, as they can put other matters aside and concentrate fully on the topic being discussed. On the other hand, it also means that they sometimes find it hard to concentrate when several things have to be discussed at the same time in a meeting.

Professor Boynton also says that men and women talk for different reasons. In social situations women use conversation to solve problems and reduce stress while men talk with each other to laugh or to compare opinions.

c Now read the whole article. What does the writer say? Choose a, b, or c.

1 When women talk to each other they generally talk about ________.
   a unimportant things
   b very serious things
   c many different things

2 Men ________ as women.
   a don't talk as much b don't talk about as many things
   c don't work as much

3 In conversation women ________ than men.
   a talk more quickly
   b change the subject more often c talk more about work

4 At work, if there is a meeting that focuses on one subject, ________.
   a men will probably concentrate better than women
   b women will probably concentrate better than men
   c men and women will both concentrate well

5 One of the reasons why women talk to each other is ________.
   a to relax
   b to exchange ideas
   c to tell jokes

d Now prove that the article is wrong! Work in pairs or small groups.
If you’re a woman, try to talk for two minutes about:
sports  cars  computers
If you’re a man, try to talk for two minutes about:
fashion  shopping  losing weight / dieting

   5 New technology makes our lives easier. ________, it can be difficult to learn to use.
a Have you ever been to a spa? If yes, did you enjoy it? If no, would you like to go? Why (not)?

b Read the introduction to the article. Why did the journalists go to the spa?
Which treatment do you think a) Joanna and b) Stephen will like best?

Spas – women love them.
Can men enjoy them, too?

Two reporters, Joanna Duckworth and Stephen Bleach, decided to find out. They spent a day together at a health spa that offers thermal baths, saunas and steam rooms, an outdoor swimming pool, and a wide variety of massages and treatments.

These are some of the treatments they had:

Banana, papaya and strawberry body polish
– a treatment that will smooth and hydrate your skin, with a head massage – 40 minutes.

Kanebo Kai Zen facial – a deep intensive cleansing, with face and neck massage – 1 hour 40 minutes.

Elemis foot treatment
– a foot bath, pedicure and foot massage – 55 minutes.

c. Talk to a partner.

Do you know anybody who...

- is applying for a job? What kind of job?
- just retired? How old is he / she?
- was promoted recently? What to?
- works a lot of overtime? Why?
- was fired from his / her job? Why?
- is self-employed? What does he / she do?
- is doing a temporary job? What?
- has a part-time job? What hours does he / she work?

a. Look at the picture story and match a sentence with each picture.
   A. But he was happy because he had a good salary and a company car.
   B. He applied for a job with a food company, and sent in his résumé.
   C. He was fired. Jake was unemployed again...
   D. After six months, he got promoted.
   E. Jake was unemployed and was looking for a job.
   F. He had to work very hard and work overtime.

3 GRAMMAR  gerunds and infinitives a Complete sentences 1-16 in the questionnaire. Put the verbs in the gerund, e.g., working, or the infinitive, e.g., to work.

b Read the sentences and check (✔) only the ones that you strongly agree with. Compare your answers with another student.

c Now see in which group(s) you have most checks. Read the paragraphs on the right to find out which jobs would suit you. Would you like to do any of them?

The right job for you — match your personality to the job

1. I am good at __________ to people.
2. I enjoy __________ people with their problems.
3. I don't mind __________ a very large salary.
4. I'd like __________ as part of a team.
5. I am good at __________ quick decisions.
6. I don't mind __________ risks doesn't stress me out.
7. I don't find it difficult __________ by myself.
8. I'm not afraid of __________ large amounts of money.
9. I am good at __________ myself.
10. I always try __________ my instincts.
11. It's important for me __________ creative.
12. I enjoy __________.
13. __________ complex calculations is not difficult for me.
15. I find it easy __________ theoretical principles.
16. I am able __________ space and distance.

If you have most checks in 1-4, the best job for you would be in the "caring professions." If you are good at science, you could think of a career in medicine, for example, as a doctor or nurse. Also, teaching or social work are areas that would suit your personality.

If you have most checks in 5-8, you should consider a job in the world of business, for example sales or marketing. Other possibilities include accounting or working in the stock market.

If you have most checks in 9-12, you need a creative job. Depending on your specific talents, you might enjoy a job in the world of music, art, or literature. Areas that would suit you include publishing, journalism, graphic design, fashion, or the music industry.

If you have most checks in 13-16, you have an analytical mind. A job in computer science or engineering would suit you. You also have good spatial sense, which would make architecture and related jobs another possibility.

d Look at the sentences in the questionnaire. Complete the rules with the gerund or infinitive.

1. After some verbs, e.g., enjoy, don't mind use...
2. After some verbs, e.g., want, would like use...
3. After adjectives, use...
4. After prepositions, use...
5. As the subject of a phrase or sentence, use...

Who can remember most about the program?

e Do you think Jessica will pass the test? Why (not)?

From librarian to political reporter... In a month!

How Jessica went from working in a local library to interviewing politicians on TV in just 28 days

The Pretenders is a very successful and popular TV series. In each program there is a contestant who has just four weeks to learn to do a completely new job. At the end of the month the contestant has to take a "test," where he or she has to do the new job together with three other real professionals. A panel of three judges has to decide which of the four people is pretending to be a professional. Sometimes they can tell who is pretending, but sometimes they can't!

Jessica Winters is a 26-year-old librarian. She studied English literature at a university before getting a job at her local library. She didn't know it, but two of her friends sent her name to the TV company to take part in The Pretenders. "When someone from the program called me, I thought it was a joke," said Jessica. "First, I said no, but they asked me to think about it. In the end my friends and family persuaded me to say yes."

Jessica had four weeks to turn from a quiet, shy, librarian into a confident TV reporter. At the end of the month, she had to take her final test. This was a live TV interview with the secretary of education. She had to try to make the judges think that she really was a professional reporter.

An experienced political journalist, Adam Bowles, and politician Sally Lynch had the job of transforming Jessica. When they first met her, they were not very optimistic. "Jessica needs to be a lot tougher. She's too sweet and shy," said Adam. "Politicians will eat her alive." They had just 28 days to teach her to be a reporter...

Jessica had to spend the month in Washington. She was completely isolated from her family and friends - she could only talk to them on the phone. The training was very hard work. She had to learn how to interview people, how to look more confident, how to speak clearly. She also had to learn about the world of politics. "I'm feeling really nervous," said Jessica. "I'm terrified of being on TV. Also I've never been interested in politics - I don't know anything about it. I didn't even vote in the last election."
5 LISTENING

The secret to a long and happy life is... being lazy!

Joggers who get up early and run through the park, executives who try to work off stress with a game of squash, and people who do bodybuilding may all be shortening their lives. According to Peter Axt, a German researcher and ex-marathon runner, laziness is good for you.

"No top sportsman," says Axt, "has lived to a very advanced age." Among the examples of athletes who have died young, he mentions Jim Fixx, the author of The Complete Book of Running, and the man who almost single-handedly launched the American fitness revolution. He died at the age of 52. As Axt says, "Better not to start."

With his daughter Michaela, a doctor, he has written a book called The Joy of Laziness. It says that there are three keys to long life: to exercise less, to reduce stress, and to eat less food. He gives the example of an Italian village with an unusually high number of centenarians that seems to owe its communal good health to following the Axt principles. No one runs, siestas stretch though the afternoon from 1 pm to 4 pm, and the main activity seems to be sitting in the shade or gossiping.

The Axts' ideas are based on research which argues that animals have only a limited amount of energy. Those who use up energy quickly live for a shorter time than those who conserve energy. So an executive who wants to compensate for a stressful day by going to the gym is in fact multiplying his problems.

However, Peter Axt believes that light exercise is beneficial. "I jog gently for 20 minutes three or four times a week," he said, "but I have no time for men over 50 who insist on running several kilometers a day."

Making a complaint – is it worth it?

A As the machine was no longer under guarantee, Mr. Jones called a local repairman. He charged Mr. Jones $45 to look at it and then told him that he would need to spend $650 plus tax for a new part. Then Mr. Jones took the laptop to a well-known computer retailer – and they told him to buy a new one!

B Another customer's experience shows that it's worth complaining to the top people of a company if the local company staff are unhelpful.

C “Four days later, someone called me to say the DVD player/recorder was waiting for me and I could select 10 recordable DVD discs to compensate for my wasted time,” he says. “When I picked them up I was treated like a real VIP.”

D Mark Olsen wanted to buy a DVD player/recorder. At his local branch of a chain store that sells electronic goods, they told him that they didn't have the one he wanted in stock, but that they were expecting a delivery “soon.” However, when he went back, it still hadn’t arrived.

E Is it really worth complaining when goods or services are not satisfactory? According to a new report from a consumer magazine, it certainly is. As they point out, the old saying “if you don't ask, you don't get” is true for many situations, but particularly so when it comes to compensation. Take the case of Mike Jones. He bought a laptop computer, but just three years later he found that it was getting slower and slower.

F He returned twice over the following weeks, but each time they told him to come back in a week. He started calling about the machine instead. But after several weeks of calling unsuccessfully, Mr. Olsen lost patience and wrote to the managing director of the store.

G However, Mr. Jones still felt that his computer should not be out of date after just three years. He decided to write a letter of complaint to the company. A short time later, the company picked up the laptop, diagnosed a software problem, repaired it, and returned it with a new battery, all without charge. “I'd call that outstanding service,” said Mr. Jones.

Famous movies that moved us (literally!)

Sometimes when you see a movie, the sense of place is so strong that it makes you think "I have to go there one day." Here are three movies, from three different decades, that have made thousands of people pack their suitcases and catch a plane. There's travel information too, in case you want to go there yourself...

1. The movie is set in the 1990s on a small tropical island. It is based on a best-selling book by Alex Garland and it was directed by Danny Boyle. It's about a young traveler (played by Leonardo DiCaprio) who finds a group of young people living on a beautiful, uninhabited island. But paradise soon turns into a nightmare...

   Where was it filmed?
The movie was shot on the beautiful island of Phi Phi Leh in Thailand, which is now visited by more than a million tourists every year. Most of the hotels were destroyed in 2004 by the tsunami, but they have now been rebuilt.

   How do I get there?
Fly to Phuket International Airport and travel to the island by boat or small plane.

2. This movie was nominated for 11 Oscars and it won seven. It's about a Danish writer (played by Meryl Streep) who goes to Africa to help her husband run a coffee plantation. To her surprise, she finds herself falling in love with the country, the people, and a mysterious hunter (Robert Redford). The movie was based on an autobiographical novel by Isak Dinesen, and was directed by the American director Sydney Pollack.

   Where was it filmed?
The story is set in 1914 and was shot on location in the Masai Mara National Park. Aside from the actors, the "stars" of the movie are the breathtaking scenery and the exotic wildlife, which look so wonderful on the big screen. The movie also had an unforgettable soundtrack guaranteed to move even the most unromantic.

   How do I get there?
Fly to Nairobi and then drive to the Masai Mara National Reserve, where the cast and movie crew lived during filming. Then take a three-day safari to see giraffes, elephants, lions, and much more.

The movie won the Oscar for Best Picture, and the following year tourism replaced agriculture as the country's top industry.

6 The people ______ wear Che T-shirts tend to be people ______ don’t conform.

e Compare your sentences 1 and 2 with text A. Find two differences.

f ☐ p.140 Grammar Bank 6C. Read the rules and do the exercises.

g Cover the text and look at the photos. Can you remember the connections with Che?
A This is the motorcycle that was used in the movie The Motorcycle Diaries. It is a 1939 Norton 500cc, which is the same model as the motorcycle that belonged to Che’s friend Alberto. The movie, whose theme song won an Oscar, is based on the motorcycle journey Che made with Alberto across South America. Che was from a rich family in Argentina, and it was the poverty he saw on this trip that made him decide that revolution was the only answer to South America’s problems.

B Gael García Bernal is the actor who played Che in the movie The Motorcycle Diaries. He is from Guadalajara in Mexico and has also starred in And Your Mother Too and Pedro Almodóvar’s Bad Education.

C Rosario is the town in Argentina where Ernesto “Che” Guevara was born on June 14, 1928. He was the first of five children, and his parents, Ernesto and Celia, were political radicals. From the age of two the young Che suffered from asthma, but his father told him that learning to live with his illness would make him a stronger person.

D Alberto Korda was the photographer whose photo now appears on T-shirts and posters all over the world. The photo, which was taken in 1960, is probably one of the best-known photos in the world—but Korda never received a penny in royalties. However, in 2000 he took some people who had made money from the photo to court, and won $50,000, which he gave to the Cuban health service.

E Aleidita, daughter of Che and his second wife Aleida, was his favorite child. She says that she doesn’t think that Che would mind that his photo has been so commercialized. “Look at the people who wear Che T-shirts,” she says. “They tend to be people who don’t conform, who are wondering if they can be better human beings. My father would have liked that.”

“Must-have” DVDs: Cinema Paradiso: 1989

Tim Hudson reviews a DVD that every movie lover should own.

1. Cinema Paradiso was directed by Giuseppe Tornatore. It stars Philippe Noiret as Alfredo, and Salvatore Cascio, who plays the part of the boy. The movie won an Oscar in 1989 for Best Foreign Language film.

2. The movie is set in an Italian village in the 1940s and 50s. It was filmed on location in Sicily.

3. It is a little boy called Salvatore who ends up becoming a famous movie director. At the beginning of the story, he goes back to his village for the first time in thirty years, for the funeral of an old friend, Alfredo. The rest of the movie is a “flashback” about his childhood. In his village there is only one movie theater, called Cinema Paradiso. Salvatore is crazy about movies, so he spends all his time there. He becomes friends with Alfredo, the man who shows the movies, and later he works as his assistant. But when he is a teenager he leaves the village and goes to work in Rome, and in the end he becomes a famous director. He never sees Alfredo again.

4. I strongly recommend Cinema Paradiso. It makes you laugh and cry, it has a memorable soundtrack, and it is a moving tribute to the magic of the early days of movies.

a. Look at the title and the photos. Have you seen the movie? Would you like to see it?

Designer brands aren’t for me!

Although I follow fashion, I hate the phrase “must-have.” If I read that Ugg boots or Prada sunglasses are the latest “must-haves,” my immediate reaction is to think, “Why must I have them?” Why should I fall for the designer’s manipulative tactics, which are only intended to increase his bank balance at the expense of mine?

Designer brands, in general, are for people who are too insecure to trust their own taste. These people decide that everything at Prada must be “cool,” so if you shop there, you can’t go wrong. I find it much more satisfying to stop by one of the cheap chain stores and buy a copy of the designer’s clothes for a tenth of the price. OK, you have to have a good eye to find the one garment in three that looks great. But it’s worth it! It’s like finding a piece of gold in a river. The find gives you immense satisfaction.

Which is why, according to a survey done by one bank, young people with money are abandoning the designer stores and buying their clothes in chain stores, second-hand stores, and in street markets. This is the best news I’ve heard all week. It means that young people have the confidence to trust their judgement. They are prepared to take risks to look individual and not mass-produced. That has always been my shopping philosophy. The exorbitant prices in designer stores are outrageous. Even if I had the money, I would think of all the other things I could spend it on!

Can you understand these people?

1. What was the problem with the woman’s steak?
   a) It wasn’t cooked enough.
   b) It was cold.
   c) It was overcooked.

2. What didn’t the man like about the movie?
   a) The acting.
   b) The music.
   c) The plot.

3. How much did the sweater cost?
   a) $25
   b) $67
   c) $77

4. How did the man feel after he saw the movie?
   a) Disappointed.
   b) Nervous.
   c) Excited.

5. What did Brunel do?
   a) He was an architect.
   b) He was an engineer.
   c) He was a boxer.

b Now listen to what happened. Were you right?
c Listen again and check. Then in pairs, write two sentences to explain how the story ended.
d Now do the same for Good luck?

Bad luck?
I missed you!

Ian Johnson, a 27-year-old builder, went to work in Australia for a year, leaving behind his girlfriend, Amy. Ian and Amy missed each other a lot and after being apart for six months, Ian planned a surprise. Without telling Amy, he caught a plane back to England to see her. After a 24-hour flight via Singapore and a 17,600-kilometer journey, he finally arrived at her house in Yorkshire in the north of England, carrying flowers and an engagement ring. He rang the doorbell, but nobody answered. He had a key to her house, so he opened the door and went in. The house was empty. Ian thought Amy had gone out for the evening and sat down to wait for her to come back. Tired after his long journey, he fell asleep. When he woke up, his phone was ringing...

Good luck?
Is there a doctor on the plane?

Mrs. Dorothy Fletcher was traveling with her daughter and her daughter's fiancé on a flight from London to Florida. Her daughter was going to be married there the following week. When they changed planes in Philadelphia, they had to rush between terminals to catch the connecting flight and Mrs. Fletcher, age 67, began to feel sick.

"I didn't say anything to my daughter because I didn't want to worry her or miss the wedding," said Mrs. Fletcher. But when the plane took off from Philadelphia, she suddenly got a terrible pain in her chest, back, and arm — she was having a heart attack. The cabin crew put out a desperate call to the passengers: "If there is a doctor on the plane, could you please press your call button..."

Can we make our own luck?

Some people seem to be born lucky – they meet their perfect partners, achieve their ambitions, and live happy lives.

Psychologist Dr. Richard Wiseman has done a lot of research to discover why some people are luckier than others. After interviewing hundreds of people with the questionnaire on page 101, he has concluded that people who think they are lucky achieve more success and happiness than those who don’t. Without realizing it, they are creating good fortune in their lives.

Using Dr. Wiseman’s techniques, you too can understand, control, and increase your own good fortune.

EXERCISES

A Make a list of your goals. They must be specific, not vague, e.g., “I want to spend more time with my family,” not “I want to be happy.” Now make a second list of all the advantages you would get if you achieved your goals, and the disadvantages. Compare the advantages with the disadvantages and you will see which goals are worth trying to achieve.

B Make a list of six new experiences you’d like to try. These could be simple, like eating at a new restaurant, or long term, for example, learning a new language. Number the experiences 1–6. Then throw a dice and whatever experience is chosen, go out and do it.

C When you experience bad luck, first cry or scream for 30 minutes. Then put your bad luck behind you. Do something to make the situation better, e.g., ask friends for advice and focus on a solution to the problem.

D If you are trying to decide between two options, write one of them down in the form of a letter. For example, if you are unhappy about a relationship, write to your boyfriend or girlfriend explaining that it’s all over. Read the letter. Would you really like to send it, or is something telling you that it doesn’t feel right? If so, don’t do it.
c Read just the article again (not the EXERCISES). Cover the text and from memory complete the expressions below with a verb or phrase. Then look at the text again and check your answers.

1. s ______ to be = give the impression of being
2. a ______ their ambitions = make their ambitions come true
3. v ______ your routine = change your routine, make it different
4. b ______ i ______ an old friend = meet an old friend by chance
5. m ______ an e ______ to relax = try hard to relax
6. c ______ yourself that your future will be bright = make yourself believe that your future will be bright
7. r ______ that things aren't so bad = understand that things aren't so bad

d Read EXERCISES A-D on page 102 again. Which one do you think is the best for making you luckier?

One of the great unsolved murder mysteries of all time is that of Jack the Ripper.

In the fall of 1888, a brutal murderer walked the dark, foggy streets of London, terrorizing the inhabitants of the city. The victims were all women, and the police seemed powerless to stop the murders. Panic and fear among Londoners was increased by a letter sent by the murderer to Scotland Yard. In the letter he made fun of the police attempts to catch him and promised to kill again. It finished, "Yours truly, Jack the Ripper." This was the first of many letters sent to the police. The murders continued — seven in total. But in November, they suddenly stopped, three months after they had first begun.

Jack the Ripper was never caught, and for more than a century historians, writers, policemen, and detectives have tried to discover and prove his identity. Hundreds of articles and books have been written and many movies made about the murders. But the question "Who was Jack the Ripper?" has remained unanswered. There have been plenty of suspects, including a doctor, a businessman, a painter, and even a member of the royal family.

Three years ago the American crime writer Patricia Cornwell left aside her fictional detective, Kay Scarpetta, and tried to solve the real-life murder mystery of Jack the Ripper. After spending a considerable amount of time and money on her investigation, and analyzing DNA samples, Cornwell thinks she has proved who Jack the Ripper really was...

Johnny Depp hunts Jack the Ripper in the movie From Hell
Now listen to the first part of an interview with Ken Morton, an expert on Jack the Ripper. Complete the information about the suspects. Check (✓) the person who Patricia Cornwell says is Jack the Ripper.

Listen to the second part of the interview and mark the sentences T (true) or F (false). Correct the false sentences.

1 Cornwell’s evidence is mainly scientific.
2 She took DNA samples from a letter written by Sickert.
3 Art lovers were angry with Cornwell.
4 Sickert was probably abroad at the time of the murders.
5 Maybrick confessed to the murders in a letter.
6 Ken Morton thinks that Prince Albert was a serial killer.
7 He doesn’t want to say who he thinks the murderer is.
8 He thinks the mystery will never be solved.

Listen to four questions the interviewer asked Ken Morton and complete them with the missing words.

1 You were a detective with Scotland Yard, ______ ______?
2 It’s incredible, ______ ______?
3 But you don’t think she’s right, ______ ______?
4 There’s been another recent theory, ______ ______?

Now look at questions 1–4. Does the interviewer think she knows how the inspector is going to answer?

Listen and complete the conversation between a police officer and a suspect.

P Your last name is Jones, ______?
S Yes, it is.
P And you’re 27, ______?
S Yes, that’s right.
P You weren’t at home last night at 8:00, ______?
S No, I wasn’t. I went for a walk.
P But you don’t have any witnesses, ______?
S Yes, I do. My brother was with me.
P Your brother wasn’t with you, ______?
S How do you know?
P Because he was at the police station. We arrested him last night.

Listen and repeat. Copy the rhythm and intonation.

“I’d like to ask you some questions about your personal life, signora.”

“Your personal life?” she repeated, as though she had never heard of such a thing.

When he didn’t answer this, she nodded, signaling him to begin.

“Nineteen years.”

“How many children do you have, signora?”

“Two. Claudio is seventeen and Francesca is fifteen.”

“Are they in school in Venice, signora?”

She looked up at him sharply when he asked this.

“Why do you want to know that?”

“My own daughter, Chiara, is fourteen, so perhaps they know each other,” he answered, and smiled to show what an innocent question it had been.

“Claudio is in school in Switzerland, but Francesca is here. With us. I mean.” she corrected, rubbing a hand across her forehead. “with me.”

“Would you say yours was a happy marriage, signora?”

“YES,” she answered immediately, far faster than Brunetti would have answered the same question, though he would have given the same response. She did not, however, elaborate.

“Could you tell me if your husband had any particularly close friends or business associates?”

She looked up at this question, then as quickly down again at her hands. “Our closest friends are the Nogares. Mirto and Grazia. He’s an architect who lives in Campo Sant’Angelo. They’re Francesca’s godparents. I don’t know about business associates: you’ll have to ask Ubaldo.”

“Other friends, signora?”

“Why do you need to know all this?” she said, voice rising sharply.

“I’d like to learn more about your husband, signora.”

“Why?” The question leaped from her, almost as if beyond her volition.

“Until I understand what sort of man he was, I can’t understand why this has happened.”

“A robbery?” she asked, voice just short of sarcasm.

“It wasn’t robbery. Whoever killed him intended to do it.”
d Look at the four questions. How are 1 and 3 different from 2 and 4?
1 Could you tell me how long you and your husband were married?
2 How many children do you have, signora?
3 Could you tell me if your husband had any particularly close friends or business associates?
4 Why do you need to know all this?

The BBC was planning to make a program about the Bob Marley hit song No Woman No Cry. A researcher contacted the Bob Marley Foundation if they could interview him during the summer. The researcher added that filming was scheduled for June, July, and August but “our schedule is flexible.” Unfortunately, Marley’s schedule was not: he had died in 1981. A friend of the Marley family told the Daily Mirror: “We didn’t think there was anyone on the planet who didn’t realize Bob years ago.” A BBC spokesman admitted: “We’re very embarrassed.”

Couple turns on after 37 years without power

An elderly couple is going to trade candles for light bulbs after 37 years without electricity at their home in Suffolk, England. Pat Payne, 74, and his wife Margaret, 72, brought up their large family in their farmhouse, without any modern appliances.

Their children left home years ago but now one of them has moved back and is paying £19,000 (almost $40,000) to have electricity put in the 200-year-old house next month. Mrs. Payne said that she was looking forward to "being modernized" but does not feel that she has missed much by not having electricity.

"It would have been nice to have been able to do the ironing or to have a vacuum cleaner instead of having to sweep the floor, but we got by," she said. "I think our children are more excited about us getting electricity than we are."

The couple has mostly lived off the land. Mr. Payne, a former farm laborer, grows vegetables in the garden. Without a refrigerator or freezer in the three-bedroom house, milk is delivered every other day and fresh meat is bought as needed. Water comes from a well.

Mrs. Payne used to wash clothes by hand, and with nine children that was a lot of clothes, but she believes that not having electricity may have been a good thing for her children while they were growing up. "Instead of watching television, they played together and used to make up games or read books," she said.

The life also suited her and her husband. "Neither of us has ever been seriously ill and we rarely get a cough or cold," Mrs. Payne said. "With our fresh vegetables and not having central heating, it's been a very healthy way to live." The couple has 24 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

5 READING
a You're going to read an article about a couple who lived without electricity for 37 years. Which two of these things do you think they missed most?
- central heating
- electric light
- a freezer
- a refrigerator
- an iron
- a TV
- a vacuum cleaner
- a washing machine

b Read the article once. Were you right? Do they regret living without electricity for so long?

c Read the article again. Then cover the text and say what the following numbers refer to.

| 37 | 74 and 72 | 19,000 | 200 | 3 | 9 | 24 | 8 |

d Answer the questions in pairs.
1. Do any of their children still live with them?
2. How does Mrs. Payne feel about the house being modernized?
3. Was it a big problem for her not to have an iron or a vacuum cleaner?
4. Where did they get most of their food from?
5. Why does Mrs. Payne think that not having electricity was good for the children?
6. How was it good for her and her husband?

Living without a TV

Almost every family today have a TV, in fact probably more than one, and people everywhere spend hours watching it. But a few families choose to live without a TV because they think there are advantages.

The first advantage is that families spend more time to each other. Second, they spend more time doing more creative things like reading or painting. Third, they spend more time outdoors, and are usually in good shape.

On the other hand, there are also disadvantages. For example, children who don't have a TV may feel different from their school friends, and often won't know what they are talking about. Also it is not true that all TV programs are bad. There are also good ones, like documentaries. People who live without a TV may know less about what's happening in the world.

In conclusion, although living without a TV has some advantages, I think today it's unrealistic and that we should just try to turn the TV off when there's nothing good on.

b Read the article again. Then cover it and in pairs answer the questions from memory.

1. What are the three advantages of life without a TV?
2. What are the two disadvantages?
3. Is the writer for or against having a TV?

The man who missed the lottery bus

Yesterday bus driver Dennis Hassall was behind the wheel as usual, reflecting on his fate as one of the unluckiest men in the world. Just six months earlier, he decided to give up playing the lottery with his 11 coworkers after four years of playing every week but winning almost nothing.

But last Saturday night, his coworkers, who had kept on playing, each received a check for £744,126. While they celebrated their success, Mr. Hassall worked his morning shift, driving a number 7 bus between Plymouth and Plymstock in Devon, England. He refused to talk to journalists.

The winners said they felt very sorry for Dennis, but they were not going to share the money with him. “He hasn’t paid his contribution since last summer,” winner Chris Robinson said. “He must be feeling pretty bad. But as far as I know, he has wished us all the best of luck.” All the winners are now planning to retire. For Les Read, 53, the win couldn’t have come at a better time. Two weeks ago he failed an eye test and is no longer able to drive. “If I hadn’t won the lottery, I’d have been unemployed.” Fellow winner Ian Crampton, 46, the man who picked out the six winning numbers, has been out of work for several weeks and is having chemotherapy and radiotherapy for a cancer-related illness. “Now I don’t have to worry about going back to work,” he said.

The leader of the lottery group, Dave Mallet, said, “We all feel very sorry for Dennis, but he knew the rules. It’s OK if you don’t pay for two weeks, but any more than that and you’re out. It wouldn’t be fair to the others. I haven’t spoken to Dennis yet, but we will be inviting him to the party we’re going to have at the social club. But I don’t know if he’ll turn up.”

5  Who do you think are safer drivers, women or men?
6A I want to speak to the manager

Student A

Look at the situations and role-play the conversations. Spend a few minutes preparing what you are going to say.

1 You're a customer. You bought something on sale at a clothing store yesterday (decide what) and there's a problem (decide what). Go back to the store. B is the salesperson. You'd like to exchange it for another identical one. If you can't, you'd like a refund. If you aren't satisfied, ask the salesperson to call the manager.

You start. Excuse me, I bought...

2 You're the manager of a restaurant. Your normal chef is off this week, and you have a temporary chef who is not very good. One of the waiters has had a problem with a customer, who would like to speak to you. When customers complain you usually offer them a free drink or coffee. If it's absolutely necessary, you might give a 10% discount on their check, but you would prefer not to. B is the customer.

B will start.

Practical English 7

I'm so sorry!

Student B

a A is going to tell you about some things you’ve done. Apologize and make an excuse.

b A has done some very irritating things! Tell A what he / she has done. A will apologize and make an excuse.

You didn’t pay me back the money I lent you!
You haven’t introduced me to your friend!
You’re sitting in my seat!
You finished all the milk in the refrigerator!
You didn’t reply to my e-mail yesterday!
Interviewer Rumiko, what do you eat on a typical day?
Rumiko I don't usually have breakfast because I can't get up early enough to eat! I normally just buy coffee and drink it in the office. Usually I have lunch in a restaurant near the office with people from work. When I was younger, I used to go to fast-food restaurants and have pizza, or fried chicken and French fries. Now I prefer eating something healthier, so I go to sushi restaurants or restaurants that serve organic food. And for dinner I eat out a lot, too.

Interviewer Do you ever cook?
Rumiko Well, I like to cook, but I work very late every day and also my kitchen's too small. My boyfriend's a better cook anyway.

Interviewer Do you ever eat unhealthy food?
Rumiko Well, I don't eat a lot of sweet things but I drink a lot of coffee every day. I think I'm addicted to caffeine.

Interviewer Are you trying to cut down on anything right now?
Rumiko No, I eat healthily and I exercise regularly, so I don't think I need to cut down on food.

Interviewer Are people's diets in your country getting better or worse?
Rumiko Oh, probably worse. I think the diet in Japan today is much more westernized than before and that's because people are getting fatter. But personally, I like the fact that there are more different kinds of food and restaurants now. I enjoy the variety, it makes eating out much more fun.

Interviewer Kevin, why did you decide to open a restaurant in Chile?
Kevin I'd always wanted to have my own restaurant. I'd visited Chile as a tourist and loved it, and I thought it would be a good place because Chileans are pretty open to new things, new ideas. So I opened Frederick's.

Interviewer Why did you call the restaurant Frederick's?
Kevin Because Frederick's my father's name. It's my middle name, too.

Interviewer What kind of food do you serve?
Kevin Mainly international dishes like pasta, steak and French fries, risotto - but we also serve several English dishes as well.

Interviewer Were Chilean people surprised when they heard that an English chef was going to open a restaurant here?
Kevin Yes, they were - very! I think people don't usually expect the English to be good cooks.

Interviewer Is your chef English?
Kevin No, he's Chilean - but I've taught him to make some English dishes.

Interviewer What kind of English dishes do you have on your menu?
Kevin Well, we're open in the morning, so we serve traditional English breakfasts, eggs, sausage, toast and so on, and then we have a lot of English desserts at lunchtime, for example, trifle - that's a popular English dessert made with fruit and cake and cream.

Interviewer Are the English dishes popular?
Kevin Yes, especially the desserts and cakes. I think people here in Chile have a very sweet tooth.

Interviewer I hear that you've met a lot of famous people in your career as a chef.
Kevin Yes, I used to cater for the tennis tournament at Wimbledon, and I've also worked for the royal family. I've met a lot of famous people who are very interesting, from every point of view.

Interviewer You said earlier that your chef was a man. Do you have any women working in your kitchen?
Kevin Yes, one, but the rest are all men. In fact, I think that's typical all over the world - there are far more men than women in restaurant kitchens.

Interviewer Why do you think that is?
Kevin I think there are a lot of reasons. The most important reason is probably the unsocial hours. Most women don't want a job where you have to work until late at night. Then there's the atmosphere. Women don't like being shouted at, and there's a lot of shouting in restaurant kitchens. It's also usually extremely hot, and I think women don't like that either.

Interviewer Do you think you'll stay in Chile?
Kevin Yes! I love Chile and its people, and the climate is perfect. The language is the most difficult thing for me, but the Chileans are very understanding.

Interviewer What was the most exciting game you refereed?
Juan Antonio It's difficult to choose one game as the most exciting. I remember some of the Real Madrid-Barcelona games, for example, the first one I ever refereed. The atmosphere in the stadium was great. But really it's impossible to pick just one - there have been so many.

Interviewer Who was the best player you ever saw?
Juan Antonio During my career, I've met many great players. It's very difficult to say who was the best, but there's one player who stands out for me, not just for being a great soccer player but also for being a great human being, and that was the Brazilian international player Mauro Silva, who used to play here in Spain.

Interviewer What was the worst experience you ever had as a referee?
Juan Antonio The worst? Well, that was something that happened very early in my career. I was only 16 and I was refereeing a game and the home team lost. After the game, I was attacked and injured by the players of the home team and by the spectators. After all these years I can still remember a mother who had a little baby in her arms and was trying to hit me. She was so angry with me that she nearly dropped her baby. That was my worst moment, and it nearly made me stop being a referee.

Interviewer Do you think that there's more cheating in soccer than in the past?
Juan Antonio Yes, I think so.

Interviewer Why?
Juan Antonio I think it's because there's so much money in soccer today that it has become much more important to win. Also, the game is much faster than it used to be so it's more difficult for referees to detect cheating.

Interviewer How do soccer players cheat?
Juan Antonio There are many ways, but for me the worst is what we call "simulation." Players pretend there has been a foul when there has been no foul at all! For example, sometimes a player falls down and says someone pushed him or hit him when, in fact, nobody has touched him. In my opinion, when a player does this he's cheating not only the referee and the players of the other team, but also the spectators. The spectators pay money to see a fair contest, not to watch people cheat.

Interviewer What's the most difficult thing about being a referee?
Juan Antonio Ah, the most difficult thing is to make the right decisions during a game. It's difficult because you have to make decisions when everything's happening so quickly - soccer today is very fast. Also, important decisions often depend on the referee's interpretation of the rules. Things aren't black and white. And of course making decisions would be much easier if players didn't cheat.

Interviewer So, in your opinion fair play doesn't exist any more.
Juan Antonio No, I didn't mean that. I think fair play does exist - the players who cheat are still the exceptions.

Interviewer A So what are you going to do next year, dear? Are you going to go to college?
B No, Gran. I've already told you three times. I'm not going to college. I'm going to look for a job. I want to earn some money.

Interviewer A All right, dear; you don't need to shout. I'm not deaf. What time is it now?
B Ten after five. I'll make you a cup of tea.

Interviewer A Oh yes, dear, that'd be very nice.

Interviewer B See you tomorrow, then.

Interviewer A Hold on a minute. Where are you going?
B Out. It's Friday night, remember?

Interviewer B What time are you coming back?
A I'm not coming back. I'm staying at Mom's tonight.

Interviewer B I think you need a hat. It's going to be cold tonight.

Interviewer A Dad! Nobody wears hats any more! Bye!

Interviewer B Can I use your car tonight?
A No.

Interviewer B Why not?
A You'll crash it again.

Interviewer B I won't. I'll be really careful. I'll drive slowly.

Presenter Well, what about the middle child?
Norah Well, middle children are usually independent and competitive.
Presenter Competitive?
Norah Yes, because they have to fight with their brothers and sisters for their parents’ attention. And they’re usually people-pleasers. They like being with people, probably because they’ve always had other children to play with. However, on the negative side, middle children are often jealous of their brothers and sisters, and they can be moody.
Presenter And the youngest children?
Norah If you’re the youngest in a family, you’ll probably be very charming, very affectionate, and a pretty relaxed person. This is because parents are usually more relaxed when they have their last child. On the other hand, youngest children are often a little lazy. This is because they always have their older brothers and sisters to help them. And they can be pretty manipulative. They use their charm to get what they want.
Presenter OK, that’s all very interesting. Now, I’m an only child. People often have the idea that only children like me are spoiled. Is that true?
Norah Well, it’s true in many cases! Only children are the only ones. They don’t have to share with anyone, so they’re often spoiled by their parents and their grandparents. As a result, they can be somewhat selfish. They think of themselves more than other people.
Presenter OK. Well, that sounds like a good description of me! Is there any good news?
Norah Yes, there is. On the positive side, only children are usually very organized and responsible, and they can be very imaginative, too.
Presenter Well, thank you, Norah, and good luck with the book. And now it’s time for the news headlines...

1.13
My name’s Allie Gray and I’m from Cambridge in England. I met Mark about a year ago. He’s from San Francisco. We both work for MTC, a music company. I was working in the London office and he came there on business. We got on really well and we really liked each other.
Anyway, at the end of his trip, he invited me to go to a conference in San Francisco. We had a great time there. And then something amazing happened. When I was in San Francisco, I was offered a job in our new office in Paris.
When I told Mark, he told me that he was going to work in the Paris office, too!
There’s just one little thing. His job is marketing director, but mine is managing director, so I’m going to be his boss. I’ve been in Paris for three weeks now, and I love it. Mark arrived from San Francisco yesterday. He’s coming into the office this morning.

2.6
Interviewer So, how long have you been living here?
Angela For about six months now.
Interviewer Why did you choose Ecuador?
Angela Because I have always been interested in the culture and language of Latin America.
Interviewer Why did you want to take a year off?
Angela Basically I wanted a break from teaching. I love teaching children but I needed a change. Also, I’ve been drawing and painting since I was a child and I took art classes in college. I’ve always wanted an opportunity to study the art of the Andean countries, such as Peru and Ecuador.
Interviewer What have you been doing here since you arrived?
Angela Well, I’ve been taking some art classes at the university and getting to know some of the local artists. Luckily, many of them speak a little English, as I don’t know much Spanish yet. But I am learning the language as quickly as I can.
Interviewer Is Spanish a difficult language to learn?
Angela Not really. A lot of words are similar in English and Spanish. Listening is probably the most difficult thing for me. I often have to ask people to repeat things more slowly.
Interviewer Are the other students in your classes helpful when you don’t understand something?
Angela Yes, very. I think they’re happy to find that a foreigner loves the Ecuadorian culture and wants to learn about it.
TV host And this evening on Behind the Wheel we talk to Brian Russo, who is an expert on road safety. Brian, you did some tests to find out how dangerous it is to do other things when we're driving. According to your tests, what's the most dangerous thing to do?

Expert Well, the first thing I have to say is that doing anything else when you're driving is dangerous and can cause an accident. Because when you're driving you should concentrate 100 percent on controlling the car and anything else you do is a distraction. The tests we did in a simulator showed that the most difficult and most dangerous thing is to try and open a bag of chips or a can of soda. The reason is that most people actually need two hands to open a bag of chips or a can of soda, so they take both hands off the wheel for a second or two. And, of course, that's the most dangerous thing you can possibly do. In fact, one of the drivers in the simulator actually crashed when he did this.

TV host And which is the next most dangerous?

Expert The next most dangerous thing is to select a specific CD from the passenger seat. This is extremely dangerous too because to do this you have to take your eyes off the road for one or two seconds.

TV host And number three?

Expert Number three was making a phone call on a specific CD from the passenger seat. This is extremely dangerous too because to do this you have to take your eyes off the road for one or two seconds.

TV host And number four?

Expert Number four was listening to your favorite music they already knew.

TV host Yes, I can believe that. And number five?

Expert In fifth place was talking to other passengers. The problem when we talk to other people in the car is that we pay too much attention to what we're saying or what we're hearing and not enough attention to what's happening on the road.

TV host So no heavy metal when you're driving?

Expert Absolutely not.

TV host And in fifth place?

Expert In fifth place was talking to other passengers. The problem when we talk to other people in the car is that we pay too much attention to what we're saying or what we're hearing and not enough attention to what's happening on the road.

TV host So the least dangerous is listening to music you don't know?

Expert That's right. The least dangerous of all these activities is listening to unfamiliar music on the radio or on a CD player. It seems that if we don't know the music then we're less distracted by it. In this part of the tests, all drivers drove safely and well.

Nicole Have you started looking for an apartment?

Mark No, I haven't had time yet.

Ben Anyway, it's best to get to know Paris first.

Nicole Merci.

Ben Merci.

Mark Merci beaucoup.

Nicole Very good, Mark.

Mark Thanks. That's nearly all the French I know.

Ben Hi, Beatrice. . . . Yeah . . . just a minute. Sorry.

Nicole How do you like the office?

Mark Oh, it's great.

Paul Well, some Chinese refer to Americans as "the thank-you people," because of our constant use of the phrase. You don't usually hear the Chinese say please or thank you. It's just not part of their culture. In fact, the standard Chinese answer to "Thank you" means something like "You don't have to be that polite!" So I would say, yes, we are polite and we do use please and thank you a lot. A Chinese friend suggested that this might be because Americans generally don't know any other words in Chinese, but I don't think this is really fair. I think it's more a cultural thing.

Andrew I saw a survey the other day that said that Americans themselves feel they are not as polite as they used to be. Sixty-nine percent said that Americans are ruder now than they were 20 or 30 years ago. Many people blamed this on the faster pace of life in the US today. About 70 percent said that parents were to blame for not teaching their children good manners. They also said that kids saw too many examples of rude behavior on TV. I agree. I think we used to be polite, but we aren't anymore, especially young people.

Mark In my job, I've met a lot of Americans and I think they're polite in the way they talk and also in the way they respect other people's opinions. And their manners in general are OK. OK, this isn't true of all Americans. Some of the tourists that come here can be pretty loud and pushy, especially if they don't get the service they want, and they don't always know or respect some of our customs. I mean, you see Americans dressed in shorts, T-shirts, and sandals trying to go into a really nice restaurant. Then they don't understand why they can't do that, even when they see that all the local people are very nicely dressed — but, in general, I think the majority are OK.

Policeman OK, now, can you describe the man you saw in the bank?

Woman 1 He was, uh, sort of medium height, you know, not short — but not tall either. And quite skinny, you know, thin.

Woman 2 Yes. And he had a beard and a little mustache.

Woman 1 No, he didn't. He had a mustache but not a beard. It's just that I think he hadn't shaved.

Woman 2 No, it was a beard, I'm sure.

Woman 1 And anyway, Doris, you weren't wearing your glasses, so you probably didn't see him very well.

Woman 2 Yes, I did. I saw him very well.

Policeman OK, OK. So, no mustache then.

Woman 1 No, he had a mustache but he didn't have a beard.

Policeman And what about his hair?

Woman 2 Dark.

Woman 1 Yes, short, dark hair.

Policeman Straight?

Woman 1 No, I think it was curly. What about your, Doris?

Woman 2 Yes, very curly.

Policeman So, dark, curly hair?

Woman 1 Yes. That's what we said.

Policeman And what time was it when... ?

Interviewer Rafael Lloyd. A Spanish first name and an English last name.

Rafael Yes. My mother was Spanish and my father, English.

Interviewer Is Rafael your real name then or your stage name?

Rafael It's my real name: my mother was from Cordoba in Spain and Rafael's the patron saint of Cordoba. But it's also my stage name.
Interviewer: Oh, good. Are you bilingual?
Rafael: Yes, I am.

Interviewer: And, it's a strange question, do you feel more Spanish than British or vice versa?
Rafael: Well, I think I feel more Spanish in most respects, especially as a big part of my life revolves around Spanish culture. But I do like individuality, eccentricity, and tea. I must feel a little British too, I suppose.

Interviewer: Do you think you look more Spanish than English?
Rafael: Well, I think I look Spanish, but when I travel, people always think I'm from their country and people have stepped me in the street, for example, in Cairo and in Rome, to ask me for help, so I must have an international face. Maybe I should be a spy!

Interviewer: When did you start learning to play the guitar?
Rafael: I started when I was nine, when my family lived in Madrid. A teacher used to come to our apartment and give me lessons.

Interviewer: I see, so how long have you been working professionally as a flamenco guitarist?
Rafael: I started when I was 17, I mean, that's when I started to get paid for my first concerts. I'm now 39, and that's uh, 22 years.

As a flamenco guitarist living in Britain, is it easy to make a living?
Rafael: I think life as a musician is never easy. But I think it's easier in Britain than in Spain, because there are fewer flamenco guitarists here.

Interviewer: Where's flamenco popular, apart from in Spain?
Rafael: Well, the biggest markets for flamenco outside Spain are really the US, Germany, and Japan, but I've found that it's popular all over the world. It has a strong identity that people relate to in every corner of the planet.

Interviewer: Now, you don't look like the stereotype of a flamenco guitarist. People imagine flamenco guitarists as having long, dark hair...
Rafael: That's true. I used to have really long hair, but I decided to cut my hair short.

Interviewer: Are people in Britain surprised when they find out that you're a flamenco guitarist?
Rafael: No, not really. That's one of the things I like about Britain: no one judges you on appearance.

Interviewer: And what about in Spain?
Rafael: Well, actually, in Spain people find it much harder to believe that I'm a flamenco guitarist. I think Spanish people believe in stereotypes more than in Britain. And they judge you more on your appearance. But as soon as people hear me play the guitar, they know that I'm the real thing.

Interviewer: Could you play something for us?
Rafael: Of course.

Psychologist: Well, first of all, I would say choose wisely. On the one hand, don't choose something completely unrealistic. For example, don't decide to take up sailing if you can't swim, or parachute jumping if you're afraid of heights. But, on the other hand, don't generalize and think that just because you aren't very good at one sport, you won't be able to do any sports at all. I mean, just because you were bad at gymnastics at school, doesn't mean that you might not be good playing tennis.

Interviewer: What about the future?
Psychologist: Definitely. And never think you'll be bad at something before you've even tried it.

Interviewer: OK, so, let's imagine I've started to learn to play tennis and I'm finding it very hard work.

Psychologist: Well, first don't give up too quickly, keep on trying for at least a few months. It often takes time to begin to enjoy learning something new. Another thing that can help, if you're having problems learning something, is to give it a break and then try again, perhaps a month or two later.

Interviewer: And what if I find I really don't have a talent for tennis?
Psychologist: But the important thing is not to be too ambitious. I mean, if you've never been active in sports and you decide to learn to play tennis, don't expect to become the next Wimbledon champion. Just aim to enjoy what you're doing, not to be the best in the world at it.

Interviewer: But what if I get even better at tennis, I feel I'm not getting anywhere?
Psychologist: Well, sometimes you do have to accept it and say, "OK, this really isn't my thing," and you need to give it up. But why not try something else? There are lots of other things you can do. But remember that if you take up an activity that you're really interested in, even if you aren't very good at it, you'll make new friends because you'll be meeting other people who have similar interests.

Interviewer: So it might be good for my love life.
Psychologist: Exactly.

Interviewer: When you want to relax, do you always play tennis?
Psychologist: No, I have other hobbies.

Interviewer: What are they?
Psychologist: Well, I like reading, playing the guitar, and watching movies.

Interviewer: As the saying goes, "one man's meat is another man's poison.
Psychologist: That's true. I used to have really long hair, but I decided to cut my hair short.

Interviewer: Are you: a) a football fan, b) a basketball fan, c) a tennis fan, d) a guitar fan, e) a movie fan, f) a book fan or g) a sport you haven't heard of?
Psychologist: g)

Interviewer: What is it?
Psychologist: Oh, hi!

Rafael: Allie Well, what's it like?
Nicole: That was my... my daughter.

Carla: Well, because I want to be a doctor, and I want to get into a pre-med program at one of the big universities, like maybe the University of California. They probably won't admit me unless I get 650 or higher.

Interviewer: Do you think you'll get it?
Carla: I don't know. I think I did OK, but I'm a little worried about the math.

Interviewer: When will you get the results?
Carla: They'll go online next week. Believe me, as soon as they're online, I'll look up my scores.

Interviewer: And how will you celebrate if you get high scores?
Carla: I don't want to plan any celebrations until I get the results.

Interviewer: And what will you do if you don't get the scores you need?
Carla: I don't want to think about it. If I don't get into college, my parents will kill me. No, I'm juggling. I suppose I could apply to some schools that don't require such high scores.

Interviewer: Well, good luck!
Carla: Thanks.

Ruben: The TOEFL. That's the Test of English as a Foreign Language.

Reporter: Was it difficult?
Ruben: Well, not really, but I need at least 550 to get into a college. One of the schools I've applied to requires 600. But I'm optimistic. I think I did pretty well.

Reporter: When will you get the results?
Ruben: When they score the tests, they'll mail the results. It takes about six or seven weeks.

Reporter: And how will you celebrate if you get a high score?
Ruben: I'll go out for pizza with the other people in my class — well, with the people who did well on the test.

Reporter: Will you keep on studying English?
Ruben: Probably not — at least formally. I mean, if I'm taking college classes, I'll be learning a lot every day anyway.

Reporter: And if you don't get a high enough score?
Ruben: I'll take the test again in June.

Carla: I can see from your face that the results, uh, weren't exactly what you wanted. Am I right?

Carla: Yeah. I got a 700 on critical reading but only 620 on math.

Reporter: So what are you going to do now?
Carla: Well, my reading score was pretty good, so I'm going to wait and see if one of the universities I want will still accept me. If not, I'll try to find other schools that will take me.

Reporter: Were your parents angry?
Carla: No, they've been really nice about it. They know how disappointed I am. Besides, it's not that my scores were really bad.

Mark: You know. She's just taking an interest.
Nicole: Taking an interest. That's nice.

4.4

Well, Ruben, did you get a good score on the TOEFL?

Yes, I got a 650! I'm very happy. I didn't think I'd get such a high score.

And your friends?

They all did well, too, except one. But he didn't expect to do very well. He didn't do any work.

So are you going out to celebrate?

Oh yes. We're going out for pizza tonight and then we're going dancing.

Hello and welcome to our review of international TV programs. With me today is the television critic Michael Stein... So, Michael, what interesting foreign TV shows have you seen recently?

I saw a British series called That'll Teach 'Em. I must say I found the whole series absolutely fascinating. They took a group of 30 16-year-old students and sent them as an experiment — to a boarding school for one month. But it wasn't a modern boarding school; it was a 1950s boarding school. They recreated exactly the same conditions as in the 1950s — the same food, the same discipline, the same exams. The idea was to compare education today with education in the 1950s.

Well, I bet it was a shock for today's teenagers.

Well, it was, of course. It wasn't just the classes — it was the whole atmosphere. We mean, they had to wear the uniform from the 50s — horrid uncomfortable clothes — they hated them and they weren't allowed to leave the school once for the whole month, or watch TV, or use cell phones. And they had to take cold showers every morning, and go for cross-country runs.

Well, what was the worst thing for them?

The food, definitely! Most of them hated it. They said it was cold and tasteless. And the girls didn't like the cold showers much either.

What about the classes?

Well, of course the biggest difference for the kids was the discipline. It was silence all the time during the classes — only the teacher spoke. And anyone who misbehaved had to go to the principal and was either hit on the hand or made to stay after school and do extra work. And of course they couldn't use computers or calculators, but strangely enough the kids didn't really mind that, and in fact most of them found the classes interesting. Some of them said they were more interesting than their normal classes. They had to work very hard, though.

So what happened in the end? Did they pass the 1950s exams?

No. Most of them failed — although they were all really bright kids. There was only one student who actually passed all the subjects.

So, do you think that school subjects really used to be harder in the 1950s?

No, I think that the kids failed because the exams in the 1950s were very different. The students in the program will probably do very well in their own exams. On the other hand, 1950s students would probably find today's subjects very difficult.

How did the kids themselves feel about the experiment?

They were really positive. In general, they had a good time and they all felt they learned a lot. I think it made them appreciate their own lifestyle more. Some of them actually said it was the best month of their lives. It was an interesting experiment and the program was really well made. I really enjoyed watching it.
Allie: So, what are we going to do about lunch? Shall we leave now?
Mark: No, hang on. I have an idea. Let me talk to the waiter.

Waiter: Monsieur?
Mark: Do you think you could possibly do me a favor?
Waiter: Yes, of course, sir. What would you like?
Mark: Well, I think this place is great. More wine, Allie?
Allie: No, thanks.

Waiter: Mademoiselle...
Scarlett: What’s this?
Mark: It’s your lunch, Scarlett.
Scarlett: But I didn’t order anything.
Waiter: Voilà!
Scarlett: Hey, pizza margherita! Cool!

Tip number 1. Eat breakfast sitting down. Most people stay in bed until the last minute and then have a cup of coffee and a piece of toast standing up. This is really bad for you because it means that you start the day in a hurry. Your body and mind are already moving too fast. So do yourself a favor. Get up ten minutes earlier every day and have breakfast – nice and slowly.

Tip number 2. Forget the gym, and do yoga instead. Many people go to the gym after work to exercise because they think that this relaxes them, whereas doing yoga will not only help you get fit, but also helps you think more clearly.

Tip number 3. Go for a long walk. Walking is the most traditional form of exercise, but many people have just forgotten how to do it. These days we all just get into our cars. The great thing about walking is that you can’t walk very fast, so walking actually slows you down. And when we walk, we look around us at the birds, the trees, the stores, other people. It reminds us of the world we live in and it helps us stop, think, and relax.

Tip number 4. Spend 10 minutes each day in silence. Meditation isn’t new. People have been doing it for thousands of years and now it is becoming really popular again. In the United States you can find meditation rooms in companies, schools, airports, and even hospitals. Meditation is a fantastic way to teach your mind to slow down and to think more clearly. And spending time in silence every day will also benefit your general health.

And finally, tip number 5. Take a bath not a shower. Taking a shower is very quick and convenient, but it is another part of our fast-living culture. When you come home from work, instead of taking a shower, take a bath and spend half an hour there. A bath is one of the most relaxing things you can do. It will really help to slow you down at the end of a hard day.

Voice-over 1 The body polish Joanna: So? What did you think?
Stephen: It was just horrible! Horrible. Fruit’s for eating, not putting on your body. It was hot and sticky and extremely uncomfortable. And I felt so stupid. I’d never do that again. I gave it zero out of ten.
Joanna: Sticky? It was fruit, for goodness sake! I thought it was wonderful. It smelled so good and it was incredibly relaxing. I mean, how could anybody not like it? And the head massage was fantastic! That was one of my favorite spa treatments ever. Ten out of ten. OK, so now, the facial.
Stephen: Hmm. How long is this one?
Joanna: One hour 40 minutes.
Stephen: Oh, you’re joking! That’s too long. Joanna: Too long! It’ll be heaven. See you later.

Voice-over 2 The facial Stephen: Oh, that was so boring. It went on forever.
Joanna: I loved it.
Stephen: Well, I must admit my face feels different – much smoother. But I’m not sure I really want a smooth face. And it was nearly two hours and she used about 12 different creams and things. It normally only takes me a minute to wash my face – and I just use soap and water – the therapist said I ought to buy five different products!
Joanna: Well, I enjoyed every second. My skin feels great – really healthy. I give it nine out of ten.
Stephen: Hmm... I give it four.
Joanna: I guess that was that you were hungry, so you couldn’t relax. We could have a glass of fruit juice before the last treatment....
Stephen: Fruit juice? Oh, OK then, if you really want one.

Voice-over 3 The foot treatment
Stephen: Wow! Joanna: Don’t tell me, you liked it! Stephen: It was wonderful!
Joanna: I must say, your feet look... well, better. Clean anyway.
Stephen: Well, I’ve never liked my feet much to be honest, but now they look and feel great. That was definitely worth the time and money. Nine out of ten. What do you think?
Joanna: Yes, it was great. A real luxury. And I love the color they painted my nails. I agree – nine out of ten. You see, I know...

Voice-over 4 Week one.
Jessica: When I got to the studio on the first day, I was really nervous. I met my teachers, Adam and Sally. They were very nice to me, but I could see that they thought it was going to be impossible to teach me to be a reporter in just a month. As the problem with Jessica at the beginning was that she was too shy and too nice. Political reporters need to be hard – almost aggressive. And also she knew nothing about politics. She knew who the president was but not much else!
Jessica: I spent the first week preparing for the test. I was going to be a live interview with the secretary of education. There would be three professional reporters and me, all asking questions. I’d done lots of research, so although I was nervous, I felt well prepared.

Secretary: Well, let’s not forget that salaries are much higher today than they were under the previous government.
Jessica: Yes, but you haven’t answered my question. Are you going to increase them?
Secretary: Well, we’re planning to spend a lot more money on education in the next two years.
Jessica: Is that a yes or a no?
Secretary: There are no immediate plans to increase teachers’ salaries...
Jessica: So it’s a no then. Thank you, Secretary.
Jessica: When it was all over, came the worst part. I had to wait while the judges decoded which of us they thought wasn’t a professional reporter.
Adam: The judges gave their verdict – and incredibly none of the three realized that Jessica wasn’t a professional! She did very well.
Who knows, maybe one day soon you’ll be seeing her on TV... and this time she’ll be a real reporter, not pretending!
Jessica: It was great experience and I was pleased how I did, but actually I wouldn’t like to change jobs. I’m much happier working in the library.

Allie: What’s the matter? Is this about the meeting? Because I agreed with Jacques and not with you!
Mark: Yeah, well, we knew it wouldn’t be easy.
Working together, I mean.
Allie: It’s difficult for me as well. But if I don’t agree with you...
Mark: I know, I know, you’re the boss.
Allie And I have to do my job. I really thought that Jacques's idea was a bad one. And so did Scarlet.
Mark It's not a big deal, Allie. I'm fine, really. So who exactly was the Mona Lisa?
Allie I'm not sure. I think she was the wife of a baker...
Mark Is that why she's smiling? Because her husband has a good salary?
Allie I also read somewhere that she was a self-portrait of Leonardo.
Mark A self-portrait? You're kidding. Now, I don't know much about art, but Leonardo da Vinci was a man, right?
Allie Well, it's just a theory. Why do you think she's smiling?
Mark Well, in my opinion, she's the managing director of a music company.
Allie What?
Mark She lives in Paris, she's in love with her marketing director, and she has a lot of fun telling him what to do.
Allie That's really unfair!
Mark Hey, we're not in the office now -- you can't tell me I'm wrong! Let's get a coffee.
Allie Good idea.
Mark Don't turn around!
Allie What is it?
Mark I've just seen Ben from the office.
Allie Where?
Mark I said don't look! I don't think he's seen us.
Let's get out of here. Come on.

Interviewer So how did you get involved in the film, Dagmara?
Dagmara Well, as you probably know, a lot of the film Schindler's List was shot in Krakow, in Poland, which is where I live. And before the announced shooting of the film started, the film company had an office in Krakow and I got a job there translating documents and parts of the script -- things like that -- I was a university student at the time.
Interviewer But how did you get the job as Schindler's interpreter in the film?
Dagmara It's a funny story. I didn't think I would ever get to meet Spielberg or any of the actors.
But then, just before the shooting started, there was a big party in one of the hotels in Krakow and I was invited.
At first, I wasn't going to go -- I was tired after working all day, and I didn't think I had anything suitable to wear. But in the end, I borrowed a jacket from a friend and went. But when I arrived at the party, the producer -- who was Polish -- came up to me and said, "Dagmara, you're going to interpret for Steven Spielberg.
You have to translate his opening speech, because the girl who was going to do it couldn't come."
Interviewer How did you feel about that?
Dagmara I couldn't believe it! I was just a student --
I had no experience of interpreting -- and now
I was going to have to speak in front of hundreds of people. But when I started speaking, I was so nervous that I confused the dates of the Second World War -- but luckily managed to get to the end without making any more mistakes.
And afterward, during the party, Spielberg came up to me to say thank you -- he was really nice to me and said he was impressed by the way I had interpreted. And then he said,"I'd like you to be my interpreter for the whole film."
I was so surprised, I had to pinch myself to believe that this was happening to me.

6.7

Interviewer So what exactly did you have to do?
Dagmara I had to go to the film set every day. A car came every day to pick me up from my house -- I felt really important! And then what I had to do was to translate Spielberg's instructions to the Polish actors, as well as the extras. I had to make them understand what he wanted. It was really exciting -- sometimes I felt as if I was a director myself.
Interviewer Was it a difficult job?
Dagmara Sometimes it was really difficult. The worst thing was when we kept having to shoot a scene again and again because Spielberg thought it wasn't exactly right. Some scenes were repeated as many as 16 times -- and then sometimes I would think that maybe it was my fault -- that I hadn't translated properly what he wanted, so I'd get really nervous. I remember one scene where we just couldn't get it right and Spielberg started shouting at me because he was stressed. But in the end we got it right and then he apologized, and I cried a little, because I was really stressed -- and after that it was all right again.
Interviewer So, was Spielberg difficult to work with?
Dagmara Not at all. -- I mean he was very demanding. -- I had to do my best every day. He was very strict. I felt he treated me like a daughter. For instance, he was always making sure that I wasn't cold -- it was freezing on the set most of the time -- and he would make sure I had a warm coat and gloves and things. It was hard work but it was fascinating -- an amazing experience.
Interviewer What did you think of the finished film?
Dagmara I believe that Schindler's List is truly a great movie, a masterpiece. I think the actors were brilliant, especially Liam Neeson and Ben Kingsley and -- I love the way it was shot in black and white, with color in just one scene.
But, as you can imagine, I can't be very objective about it -- I mean, I lived through nearly every scene. And when I watch it -- and I've seen it a lot of times -- I always remember exactly where I was at the time. I mean, I can't help thinking, "Oh there I am, hiding under the bed, or standing behind that door."

Che Guevara was born in the city of Rosario, Argentina, on June 14, 1928. His first name was really Ernesto. He was the oldest of five children in his family. At the university, he studied medicine and had plans to be a doctor. He spent many travels vacationing around Latin America by motorcycle. The poverty he saw convinced him that revolution was the answer to Latin America's problems. In 1956, he met Fidel Castro in Mexico and joined him in the Cuban Revolution. In 1966, Guevara went to Bolivia and helped to lead a revolution in that country. On October 9, 1967, he was captured by the Bolivian army and shot.

It's 12:00 noon and so it's time for today's contest.
Today the topic is "Heroes and Icons." As usual, the rules are very simple. I'm going to give you eight dues and you have to identify the people. If you know all the answers, e-mail them to me right away.
The first person who sends me the correct answers wins a prize. Today's prize is two plane tickets to ... the Big Apple, New York City!
OK, so let's get started with those dues. I'll say each one twice. And remember, always give you the first letter or letters of the word I'm looking for. Today they are all people's names.

Let's start with an easy one. Two letters, B and G.
It's a man who's probably the richest man in the world, the founder of Microsoft. That's BG, the man who started Microsoft.
Number 2. Two letters, again, N and M. He's a man whose courage and humanity made him an icon for millions of people all over the world. He spent many years in prison in South Africa because of his fight against apartheid, but he eventually became president of that country.
Number 3 begins with M, just one word. It's the name of a woman who's had a lot of different jobs.
She's been an actress, she's even written children's books, but she's most famous as a singer. One word beginning with M.
And number 4. This time it's a man, and the letters are G and A, though many people just know him by his last name. He's an Italian designer whose clothes are considered among the most elegant in the world, and whose name is also on perfume bottles everywhere. G and A, for an Italian fashion designer.
On to number 5. Two letters, J and O. It's the name of a famous American woman, whose first husband was president of the United States and whose second husband was a Greek millionaire.
Although she died in 1994, she is still admired for her role in the women's movement. Two letters, J and O.
And number 6. It's a woman again and the letters are M and N. She's the woman who changed the shape of women's tennis, and is possibly the greatest female player of all time. She was born in Attractive male actor in Hollywood today. He first became famous in a TV hospital drama in which he played the part of a doctor. His first name begins with G and his last name with C. So that’s a Hollywood actor, G and C.

Finally, number 8. Two letters. M and C. She was born in Greece and died in Paris, and she is the woman whose voice is familiar to lovers of opera all over the world. Nicknamed “La Divina” her life was tragic, but her voice will never be forgotten. MC, “La Divina.”

So if you think you have the eight correct answers, e-mail them to me now at this address, Guessthenames@hitmail.com. That’s Guessthenames@hitmail.com. And the first person with the correct answers will win those twotickets to New York.

Time for some music.

Mark Dear all, Please find attached a copy of the latest sales report from the USA. Mark. Mark. So, did you guys have a good weekend? Ben Yes, fine. Jacques Not bad. Very quiet.

Ben What about you, Mark?

Mark Oh, I spent most of the time at home ... just being domestic, you know. The apartment’s looking pretty nice, now. You must come round for a meal one evening.

Jacques That would be very nice.

Ben So didn’t you go out at all?

Mark Oh sure. I went to the Louvre on Saturday. I felt like getting a bit of culture.

Jacques On your own?

Mark Yeah. I kind of prefer going to museums and galleries on my own. You can look at everything at your own pace.

Ben That’s funny. I went to the Louvre on Saturday, too.

Mark Really? I didn’t see you.

Ben Well, it’s a big place. I didn’t see you either.

Nicole I’ve just had an e-mail from Allie.

Jacques So have I.

Mark Me, too...

Nicole Dear Mark, Thank you for the information. And thank you, darling, for a wonderful weekend, Allie.

Narrator Ian thought Amy had gone out for the evening and sat down to wait for her to come back. Tired after his long journey, he fell asleep. When he woke up, the phone was ringing. Ian answered the phone. It was Amy.

Ian I said, “Where are you?” She said, “Ian, I’m sitting in your flat in Australia.” At first, I didn’t believe her, but then she gave the phone to Eddie, who lives in my flat in Sydney, and he told me it was true. I was so shocked I couldn’t speak.

Narrator Amy had had the same idea as Ian. She had flown from London to Sydney via Singapore at exactly the same time Ian was flying in the opposite direction. Incredibly, both their planes stopped in Singapore at the same time. Ian and Amy were sitting in the same airport lounge, but they didn’t see each other.

Amy I had saved all my money to buy a ticket to Sydney. I wanted it to be a fantastic surprise for Ian. I couldn’t wait to see his face when I arrived. You can’t imagine how I felt when I arrived at his flat and his friend Eddie told me he had gone to England! I just couldn’t believe it! When I spoke to Ian on the phone, he told me that he had flown back to England for a special reason and then he asked me to marry him. I didn’t know what to say or how to react but I said “Yes.” Ian it was just bad luck. If one of us had stayed at home, we would have met. It’s as simple as that.

Narrator The cabin crew put out a desperate call to the passengers: “If there’s a doctor on the plane, could you please press your call button...” The cabin crew were hoping to hear this [beep on airplane]. But they didn’t. They heard this [lots of beeps]. Incredibly, there were fifteen doctors on the plane, and all of them were cardiologists. They were from different countries and they were traveling to Florida for a medical conference. Four of the doctors rushed to give emergency treatment to Mrs. Fletcher. At one point, they thought she had died, but finally they managed to save her life.

Narrator The plane made an emergency landing in North Carolina and Mrs. Fletcher was taken to a hospital. After being in the hospital for four days, she was able to go to her daughter’s wedding.

Mrs. Fletcher I was very lucky. If those doctors hadn’t been on the plane, I would have died. I can’t thank them enough.

Narrator But now that she’s back in England, Mrs. Fletcher has been less lucky with the British hospitals.

Mrs. Fletcher I had fifteen heart specialists on that plane, but I’ll have to wait three months until I can see one in this country!

Interviewer Good morning and thank you for coming, Mr. Morton - or should it be Inspector Morton - you were a detective with Scotland Yard, weren’t you?

Ken Yes, that’s right. For 25 years. I retired last year.

Interviewer People today are still fascinated by the Jack the Ripper case. I suppose the first thing I’d miss most if I were to go back in time would be my cell phone, because I couldn’t imagine having to go shopping every day for food or it would go bad. So a refrigerator would be one thing, and then probably my laptop. It has a battery, but I could only use it for three hours or so without charging it. So I wouldn’t be able to do much work.

Andy Uh, well, it depends. I’d really miss the TV, but I suppose I could live without it for a week if I had to. And, uh, what else - oh no, my cell phone. I wouldn’t be able to charge it. I couldn’t live without my cell. I mean, that’s how I keep in touch with all my friends. And my MP3 player. I need my music. Yes, definitely those two.

Julia I think for me it would have to be first and foremost the dishwasher. Because with a family and so many dishes to do, I would just be at the sink forever. It would be a nightmare for me. I’ve often thought about having a washing machine for a week – I often do when I’m on vacation. I think I would miss the refrigerator, though. I’d hate not having cold drinks, and it would mean having to go shopping every day for food or it would go bad. So a refrigerator would be one thing, and then probably my laptop. It has a battery, but I could only use it for three hours or so without charging it. So I wouldn’t be able to do much work.

Tyler Well, I suppose the first thing I’d miss most would be my cell phone, because I couldn’t charge it, so I couldn’t use it, and I’d get very upset about that. There are some people’s numbers that are only stored in the phone. I don’t have them written down, and I wouldn’t be able to get in touch with those people. So cell phone. And the other thing I’d miss would be the lights. At this time of year especially, when the days are short, the mornings are dark, late afternoon’s dark too, I’d miss lights. So cell phone and lights.

Interviewer There’s been another recent theory, hasn’t there? About James Maybrick. Do you think he was the murderer?

Ken Well, somebody found a diary, which is supposed to be his, where he admits to being Jack the Ripper. But nobody has been able to prove that the diary is genuine and, personally, I don’t think he was the murderer.

Interviewer And Prince Albert, the queen’s grandson?

Ken This for me is the most ridiculous theory. I can’t seriously believe that a member of the royal family could be a serial murderer. In any case, Prince Albert was in Scotland when at least two of the murders were committed.

Interviewer So, do you think the murderer was?

Ken I can’t tell you because I don’t know.

Interviewer So you don’t think we’ll ever solve the mystery?

Ken No, I wouldn’t say that. I think that some day the mystery will be solved. Some new evidence will appear and we’ll be able to say that the case of Jack the Ripper is finally closed. But at the moment it’s still a mystery, and people like a good mystery.
1A present tenses: simple and continuous, action and non-action verbs

Simple present: I live, he works, etc.

- They work in a bank.
- Where do you live?
- He doesn't wear glasses.
- She usually has cereal for breakfast.
- I'm never late for work.

Present continuous: be + verb + -ing

- They work in a bank.
- A Who are you waiting for? B I'm waiting for a friend.
- A What are you cooking tonight? B I'm making pasta.
- A Where do you live? B I'm making pasta.
- A Who are you waiting for? B I'm waiting for a friend.

Action and non-action verbs

- A What are you cooking tonight?
- B I'm making pasta.
- A Great! I really like pasta.
- A What are you doing after class? B I'm going to the cafe.

- Use the simple present for things that are always true or happen regularly.
- Remember the spelling rules, e.g., lives, studies, watches.
- Remember the word order for questions: (question word), auxiliary, subject, base form of verb.
- Put adverbs of frequency, e.g., usually, before the main verb and after be.

1B past tenses: simple, continuous, perfect

Simple past: worked, stopped, went, had, etc.

- They got married last year.
- A What time did you wake up this morning? B I didn't have time to do my homework.

Past continuous: was / were + verb + -ing

- A What were you doing at six o'clock last night? B I was watching TV.
- A What were you doing at six o'clock last night? B It was a cold night and it was raining.

Past perfect: had + past participle

- When they turned on the TV, the game had finished.
- A I felt nervous because I hadn't flown before.

- Use the past perfect when you are talking about the past and you want to talk about an earlier past action.

1C future forms

be going to + base form

- My sister's going to adopt a child.
- Are you going to buy a new car? I'm not going to go to New York next week.

Predictions

- I think they're going to win. (They're playing very well.)
- It's going to rain. (The sky is very dark.)

- Use going to NOT will / won't when you have already decided to do something.
- With the verb go you can leave out the infinitive: I'm not going (to go) to New York.

Present continuous: be + verb + -ing

- Future arrangements
  - We're getting married in October. They're meeting at 10:00.
  - She's leaving on Friday.

- You can usually use present continuous or going to for future plans / arrangements.
- going to shows that you have made a decision.
- We're going to get married in the summer.

- Present continuous emphasizes that you have made the arrangements.
- We're getting married on July 12th (e.g., we've booked the church).

Will + base form

- I'll have the steak. (Instant decision)
- I won't tell anybody where you are. (Promise)
- I'll carry that bag for you. (Offer)
- You'll love the movie! (Prediction)

- Use will / won't (NOT the simple present) for instant decisions, promises, offers, and predictions.
- In sentences with I and we, shall (and not will) is sometimes used to offer to do something or to make a suggestion, but this is very formal. Shall we go for a walk?

2A present perfect and simple past #### present perfect simple: have / has + past participle (worked, seen, etc.)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>past actions at an indefinite time in the past</th>
<th>unfinished states or actions that started in the past and are true now</th>
<th>with already and yet</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I've been to Miami, but I haven't been to Tampa. She's never used an ATM. Have you ever lost your credit card?</td>
<td>I've known her for ten years. How long have they worked here? They've worked here since 2004.</td>
<td>I've already seen the movie. He hasn't found a job yet? Have they left yet?</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

- We often use ever and never with the present perfect. They go before the main verb.
- Use for + a period of time. E.g., for two weeks.
- Use since with a point of time, e.g., since Wednesday.
- Use How long ...? + present perfect to ask about a period of time from the past until now.
- For irregular past participles see page 156.

present perfect or simple past?

| I've been to Miami twice. (= in my life up to now) How long have you been married? (= you are married now) I've bought a new computer. (= I don't say exactly when) | I went there in 1998 and 2002. (= on two specific occasions) How long were you married? (= you are not married now) I bought it on Saturday. (= I say when) |

- Use the present perfect when there is a connection between the past and the present.

2B present perfect continuous

present perfect continuous for unfinished actions

| How long have you been studying English? He's been working here since April. They've been going out together for three years. | I've known her for ages. NOT I've been knowing her for ages. With live and work you can use the present perfect simple or continuous with for or since. I've been living here for six months. I've lived here for six months. |

- With non-action verbs (e.g., know, be, etc.) use the present perfect simple NOT the present perfect continuous with for or since. I've known her for ages. NOT I've been knowing her for ages.
- Use the present perfect continuous with for or since with action verbs (e.g., learn, buy, etc.).

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>present perfect continuous for recent continuous actions</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| A Your eyes are red. Have you been crying?
B No, I've been cutting onions. |

- Use the present perfect continuous for actions that have been going on very recently. They have usually just stopped.

2C comparatives and superlatives

comparing two things (or actions)

| My sister is a little taller than my brother. San Fransisco is more expensive than Chicago. This test is less difficult than the last one. Olive oil is better for you than butter. You drive more slowly than I do. Atlanta played worse today than last week. Flying isn't as comfortable as going by train. He doesn't smoke as much as she does. Her new car looks the same as the old one. |

- Regular comparative adjectives / adverbs: hard > harder, big > bigger, easy > easier, modern > more modern, difficult > more difficult, carefully > more carefully
- Irregular comparative adjectives / adverbs: good / well > better, bad / badly > worse, far > farther / further
- After than or as we can use an object pronoun me, him, her, etc., or a subject pronoun (I, he, she) + auxiliary verb, e.g., She's taller than me OR She's taller than I am but NOT She's taller than I.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>superlatives</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>He's the tallest player on the team. What is the most expensive capital city in Asia? This book is the least difficult to understand. She's the best student in the class. Who drives the most carefully in your family? That's the worst they've ever played.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

- Form superlatives like comparatives but use -est instead or -er and most / least instead of more / less.
- You normally use the before superlatives, but you can also use possessive adjectives, e.g., my best friend, their most famous song.
2A

7 It was _______ movie I've seen this year.
8 Sue is _______ member of my family.
9 The _______ way to travel is by train.
10 The beach was _______ from the hotel than we expected.
3A  must, have to, should (obligation)

obligation / necessity: have to / must (+ base form)

You have to wear a seat belt in a car.
Do you have to work on Saturdays?
I had to wear a uniform at my elementary school.
I’ll have to get up early tomorrow. My interview is at 9:00.

I must remember to call Emily tonight – it’s her birthday.
You must be on time for class tomorrow – there’s a test.

- Must and have to have a very similar meaning.
- Have to is more common in speaking and for general, external obligations, for example rules and laws.
- Must is more common in official forms, notices, and signs and for specific (i.e. on one occasion) or personal obligations.

prohibition: must not (+ base form)

Passengers must not leave bags unattended.

- Don’t have to and must not are completely different.
- Compare:
  - You must not drive down this street. = It’s prohibited, against the law.
  - You don’t have to drive. We can get a train. = You can drive if you want to but it’s not necessary / obligatory.

advice or opinion: should / shouldn’t (+ base form)

- Should is not as strong as must / have to. We use it to say if we think something is the right or wrong thing to do.
- Should is a modal verb. The only forms are should and shouldn’t.
- You can also use ought to and ought not to instead of should / shouldn’t.
- You should take an umbrella with you. You ought to take an umbrella with you.

3B  must, may, might, can’t (deduction)

when you are sure something is true: must

They must be out. There aren’t any lights on.
She must have a lot of money. She drives a Porsche.

when you think something is possibly true: may / might

His phone’s off. He might be on the plane now.
She might not like that skirt. It’s not her style.
She’s not at home. She may be working.
He hasn’t written. He may not have my address.

when you are sure something is impossible / not true: can’t

He can’t be sick. I saw him at the gym.
They can’t be Italian. They’re speaking to each other in Spanish.

- We often use must, may / might, and can’t to say how sure or certain we are about something (based on the information we have).
- In this context, the opposite of must is can’t NOT must-not.

3C  can, could, be able to (ability and possibility) can / could

- Can is a modal verb. It only has a present, past, and conditional form (but can also be used with a future meaning).
- For other tenses and forms use be able to.

be able to + base form

I am able to accept your invitation.
They weren’t able to come.
I’ll be able to practice my English in the US.
She has been able to speak French since she was a child.
I’d like to be able to ski.
I love being able to sleep late on weekends.

- You can use be able to in the present, past, future, present perfect, and as a gerund or infinitive.
- be able to in the present and past is more formal than can / could.

4A first conditional and future time clauses + when, until, etc.

First conditional sentences: if (or unless) + simple present, will / won't + base form

If you don't do more work, you'll fail the exam.
He'll be late for work if he doesn't hurry up.
She won't get into college unless she gets good grades.

• Use the present tense (NOT the future) after if in first conditional sentences.
• unless = if ... not
  I won't go unless she invites me. = I won't go if she doesn't invite me.
• You can also use an imperative instead of the will clause, e.g., Come and see us next week if you have time.

Future time clauses

As soon as you get your test results, call me.
We'll have dinner when your father gets home.
I won't go to bed until you come home.
I'll have lunch before I leave.
After I graduate from college, I'll probably take a year off and travel.

• Use the simple present (NOT the future) after when, as soon as, until, before, and after to talk about the future.
• as soon as = at the moment when, e.g.
  I'll call you as soon as I arrive.

4B second conditional

Second conditional sentences: if + past simple, would / wouldn't + base form

If I had more money, I would buy a bigger house.
If he spoke English, he could get a job in a hotel.
I'd get along better with my parents if I didn't live with them.
I wouldn't do that job unless they paid me a really good salary.
If I were you, I'd buy a new computer.

• Use the second conditional to talk about a hypothetical / imaginary situation in the present or future and its consequence.
• Compare:
  I don't have much money, so I can't buy a bigger house (real situation).
  If I had more money, I'd buy a bigger house (hypothetical / imaginary situation).
• Use were for all subjects if the second conditional if clause contains the verb be.

4C usually and used to Present habits and states

I usually get up at 8:00 on school days.
I don't usually go out during the week.
Houses in the suburbs usually have yards.
Do you usually walk to work?

Past habits and states

We used to be close friends, but we don't see each other anymore.
I used to go out with that girl when I was at school.
Did you use to wear glasses?
She didn't use to have blond hair. She had dark hair before.

• For present habits use usually or normally + simple present.
• For past habits use used to / didn't use to + base form. Used to does not exist in the present tense.
• We use used to for things that were true over a period of time in the past. It usually refers to something that is not true now.
  I used to live downtown. = I lived downtown for a period of time in the past, but now I don't.
• Used to / didn't use to can be used with action verbs (e.g., wear, go out) and non-action verbs (e.g., be, have).
• We often use not ... anymore / any longer (= not now) with the simple present to contrast with used to.
  I used to go to the gym, but I don't anymore / any longer.

6A reported speech: statements and questions

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>direct statements</th>
<th>reported statements</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>&quot;I like shopping.&quot;</td>
<td>She said (that) she liked shopping.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>&quot;I'm going tomorrow.&quot;</td>
<td>He told her he was going the next day.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>&quot;I'll always love you.&quot;</td>
<td>He said he would always love me.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>&quot;I passed the exam!&quot;</td>
<td>She told him she had passed the exam.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>&quot;I've forgotten my keys.&quot;</td>
<td>He said he had forgotten his keys.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>&quot;I can't come.&quot;</td>
<td>She said she couldn't come.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>&quot;I may be late.&quot;</td>
<td>He said he might be late.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>&quot;I must go.&quot;</td>
<td>She said she had to go.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

- Tenses usually change like this: present > past; will > would; simple past / present perfect > past perfect
- Some modal verbs change, e.g., can > could, may > might, must > had to. Other modal verbs stay the same, e.g., could, might, should, etc.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>direct questions</th>
<th>reported questions</th>
</tr>

<td>He asked me whether she had called.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>&quot;What's your name?&quot;</td>
<td>I asked him what his name was.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>&quot;Where do you live?&quot;</td>
<td>They asked me where I lived.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

- Must changes to had to BUT must not stays the same.
  "You must not touch it." She said I must not touch it.
- You usually have to change the pronouns.
  "I like..." > She said she liked...
- Using that after said and told is optional.
- If you report what someone said on a different day or in a different place, some time and place words can change, e.g., tomorrow > the next day, here > there, this > that, etc.
  "I'll meet you here tomorrow." > He said he'd meet me there the next day.
- After said don't use an object pronoun.
  He said he was tired NOT He said he was...
  He told me he was tired. NOT He told me he was...
- When you report a question, the tenses change as in reported statements.
- When a question begins with a verb (not a question word), add if (or whether).
  "What's your name?" I asked him what his name was.
- You also have to change the word order to subject + verb, and not use do / did.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>direct speech</th>
<th>reported speech</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>&quot;Go away.&quot;</td>
<td>She told him to go away.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>&quot;Don't worry.&quot;</td>
<td>The doctor told me not to worry.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>&quot;Can / Could you help me?&quot;</td>
<td>I asked the salesperson to help me.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

- To report an imperative or request, use told or asked + person + the infinitive.
- To report a negative imperative, use a negative infinitive (e.g., not to do).

6B the passive: be + past participle

- We often use the passive when it's not clear or important who does an action, e.g., My bike has been stolen.
- (Somebody stole my bike. I don't know who.)
- If you want to say who did the action, use by.

6C relative clauses

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>defining relative clauses</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Julia's the woman who / that works with me.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>It's a book that / which tells you how to relax.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>That's the house where I was born.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>That's the boy whose father plays for the Lakers.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>He's the man (who / that) I met on the plane.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

- To give important information about a person, place, or thing use a relative clause = a relative pronoun + (subject +) verb.
- Use the relative pronouns who / that for people, that / which for things, and where for places. Use whose to mean "of who / of which."
- That is more common than which in defining clauses.
- Who, which, and that can be omitted when the relative pronoun is the object, not the subject, of the clause, e.g., He's the man (that) I met on the plane. (The subject of met is I, so it is not necessary to use that.)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>non-defining relative clauses</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>This painting, which was painted in 1860, is worth $2 million.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Last week I visited my aunt, who's nearly 90 years old.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stanford, where my mother was born, is a beautiful town.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>My neighbor, whose son goes to my son's school, has just re-married.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

- If a relative clause gives extra, non-essential information (the sentence makes sense without it), you must put it between commas (or a comma and a period).
- In these clauses, you can't leave out the relative pronoun (who, which, etc.).
- In these clauses, you can't use that instead of who / which.
6A

1 Describing your job

a Read the texts and match them to the pictures. What are the jobs?

1 I only work part-time -- four mornings a week. And I sometimes work overtime on Saturday mornings. I don't earn a big salary. It's a temporary or "temp" job and I only have a six-month contract. But the working hours suit me as I have young children. When they go to school, I would like to find a permanent job and work full-time. What I like most about my job is working in complete silence! The only noise you can hear is people turning pages and whispering.

2 I took a six-month training course at a technical college to meet the qualifications for the job and then I worked for a local company to get some experience. I worked long hours for a low salary and so I quit last year and became self-employed. I prefer working for myself. I don't work regular hours (sometimes people call me in the middle of the night) but you can earn a lot of money in this job, especially in the winter. If I'm lucky, I'll be able to retire when I'm 60!

b Match the highlighted words in the texts and the definitions.

1 a written legal agreement
2 the knowledge you get from doing a job
3 a series of classes to learn to do a job
4 the time you spend doing a job
5 working for yourself, not for a company
6 to stop working when you reach a certain age, e.g., 65
7 left a job because you wanted to 8 lasting for a short time
9 for only a part of the day or the week
10 the experience, skills, and knowledge you need for a job

2 Saying what you do

Complete the Prepositions column.

1 I work ______ a multinational company.
2 I work ______ a manager.
3 I'm ______ charge ______ the marketing department.
4 I work ______ a factory.
5 I'm ______ responsible ______ customer loans.
6 I'm ______ college.
7 I'm ______ my third year.
