Re: Visitors

This is just a friendly reminder regarding visitors to the company. Since reception and secretarial staff are the first to meet visitors, make sure they know they must:
- make visitors feel welcomed
- offer the visitor a beverage

Additionally, office workers need to be prepared to lend a hand to all visitors. Visitors often ask for directions to certain addresses. Make sure your employees can show the way on a map. When the visitor departs the employee must:
- offer to call a taxi
- remind visitors to check their belongings

Please share this information with your office staff and have a wonderful week!

Regards,
Roger Burrows
CEO

Dear Peter,

I hope you had a good weekend! We're going to be very busy in the upcoming weeks, so I need you to place an order for office supplies ASAP.

I noticed we are running low on CDs. Please order four boxes of 50 CDs. It would be useful to have some DVDs, so please order one box of DVDs, too.

The filing assistant told me that we ran out of folders. We need to order another three stacks. You also need to order more stationery too. Two packs of pens in blue and two in black should be enough. Also, please replenish our supply of tape; I think we need an extra ten rolls.

The most important thing to remember is paper. Please order twelve reams of paper so we can be sure we won't run out.

Before you place the order, please ask around the office in case anyone needs anything.

Thanks, and have a good week.

Christine

THANKS FOR YOUR PURCHASE!
COME BACK SOON
Dear Melanie,
Welcome to the company! This is a quick note to tell you how the filing system works.

We keep the client files in suspension files in the drawers to the right of each desk. We file these geographically. Our European clients are in the top drawer, Asian clients are in the middle and American clients are at the bottom. We file the clients in alphabetical order. There are also digital copies of the client files on the computer. Just click on the Clients folder on the desktop.

We keep all correspondence in the ring binders on the top shelf. It is filed in chronological order. The most recent letters are on the right.

All the forms are in the blue box file. We file these according to subject: order forms, new client forms and so on.

Finally, project files are in the red binders. These are all in numerical order.

Good luck!
Margaret

3.1 The Petty Cash Ledger

It is your responsibility to keep the petty cash ledger up-to-date. Please record all expenditures daily on the computer spreadsheet and in the ledger. It is very important for us to keep a hard copy for our archives.

Note down the date and the amount in the correct columns. You will also need to write a code. You can find the correct code in the index at the back of the ledger. For example, the code for postage stamps is STP-1.

Please keep all receipts in the petty cash box and number them. Write the receipt number in the appropriate column as a cross-reference to the receipt.

Do not forget to make a note of any cash you receive. At the end of the week, add up the week’s expenditure. Start a new page at the beginning of every week.

Get ready!

1 Before you read the passage, talk about these questions.
   1 What are some ways that people keep track of their money?
   2 Why is it important for businesses to keep financial records?

1 What is this paragraph about?
   A why the company keeps a petty cash ledger
   B how to complete a petty cash ledger
   C the advantages and disadvantages of ledgers
   D common mistakes when filling out ledgers

2 What does NOT need to be recorded in the ledger?
   A the date
   B a code
   C spreadsheet figures
   D the receipt number

3 When should employees record expenditures?
   A every day
   B twice a week
   C monthly
   D every Monday

I sit down at my desk at work, I turn on my computer tower and it beeps as it boots up. Then, I reach over and turn on the printer. These computer operations are easy and familiar for most people. What most people are not familiar with is the discomfort of using a computer left-handed. For years, computer accessories have been designed for right-handed people. But not anymore.

I recently purchased a left-handed keyboard. The numeric keypad and the arrow keys are on the left side instead of the right. This new keyboard makes it much easier to type with both hands. As a result, my typing speed has increased.

I also bought the new “lefty-friendly” mouse. It’s made to fit a lefty’s hand, so there’s less wrist strain and fewer awkward movements. My new left-handed computer accessories have made a big difference. I can sit in front of my monitor and click buttons all day now!

Dear Staff,

I am pleased to invite you to celebrate our fiftieth year in business since the founding of our company. The evening will include dinner and entertainment at the Eastwood Golf Club, and will be held on September 20th.

As you may know, our company was first set up by two men, James Carlton and William Baker, in an old warehouse. Here they imported rubber and manufactured specialized items. Later, the business expanded. Thanks to good management in 1989, the company was able to relocate to its current premises. It faced closure in the nineties when it was forced to compete with new companies in the area. However, the company managed to maintain a foothold in the market by diversifying, cutting back on expenses and seeking out new markets. We are pleased to say that now the company is going from strength to strength. We appreciate that our success is due to the hard work and enthusiasm of our staff. Hence, this celebration is as much a ‘thank you’ to our employees as it is an anniversary celebration.

Please RSVP for the event by sending an email to my administrative assistant, Diane Logan, at dilogan@CBLtd.com no later than September 5th. Any questions about the event can also be sent to Ms. Logan.

I sincerely hope you will be able to attend our fiftieth anniversary celebration.

Carla Theaker
Director

1 Before you read the passage, talk about these questions.

1 What type of items come in the mail?
2 What are some things people need to do in order to send mail?

2 Read this interoffice memo about handling mail. Then, choose the correct answers.

1 What is the main idea of the memo?
   A how to avoid proofreading errors
   B how to process mail at a company
   C how to prepare letters for mailing
   D how to approve incoming mail

2 What information does NOT need to be put in the mail log?
   A the sender's name
   B the recipient's name
   C the sender's address
   D the recipient's department

3 A secretary who finds an error while proofreading a letter will most likely ___.
   A correct the error in the letter
   B give the letter back for correction
   C put the letter in an envelope
   D throw the letter away

On handling incoming mail:

Incoming mail will be distributed from the mail room every morning. Officially receive the mail by opening the letters, stamping each one with the date, and attaching the envelope to the letter with a clip.

You must document incoming mail by writing the sender’s name and address and the recipient’s name in the mail log.

Sort and distribute mail to its recipients. Mail delivered to the wrong department should be placed in that department's mailbox. Personally deliver mail marked “confidential” to the recipient. Do not open confidential mail or leave it in the recipient’s in-basket.

On handling outgoing mail:

Pick up outgoing mail from the out-baskets and document each letter in the mail log.

Proofread any letter from a manager. If there aren’t any mistakes, put the letter in an envelope printed with the outgoing address. If there are mistakes, mark them and return the letter to the manager for correction.

If you are asked to respond to mail, type a response letter, proofread it, and print it on letterhead. Print a matching envelope. Leave the letter and envelope in the manager’s in-basket for their approval and signature.

Outgoing mail will be collected by mail room employees every afternoon.

There are several letters that I'd like you to work on, once you have completed the agenda for Friday's meeting.

First, please compose an offer letter to Gerry Reynolds offering him the position of accounts manager. Inform Mr. Reynolds that the salary for the position will be $40,000 per year, and request that he accept or reject our offer by Friday, if possible.

Next, I'd like you to draft an announcement letter to be sent to all staff on Employee Appreciation Day, which will be July 30. Express my gratitude for everyone's hard work and thank them for a job well-done. Also, please announce the Employee Family Picnic coming up on August 12. I have attached the details about this picnic for your convenience.

Also, please draft a letter of congratulations for our Employee of the Month. This month's award is going to Jennifer Hanks. I would appreciate your discretion since the recipient is supposed to be a secret until the luncheon at the end of the month.

Please send drafts of all the letters to me for approval before they go out.

Thank you.

Global World Telecommunication's Handbook

1.1 Every Situation Has a Procedure

Welcome to an exciting career in telecommunications at Global World. Please be prepared to handle several different situations and procedures. In your capacity as a secretary your responsibilities include handling phones, faxes, filing, emails and screening calls. At the beginning of your training you will attend a seminar focusing on client interactions. The following topics will be covered in-depth during your training.

Screening Calls

While screening calls you will decide who receives the client's call. When talking with clients, be sure to listen carefully in order to understand their situations. Then, connect the calls to the Global World telecommunication professional that will be best able to assist them.

Connecting Calls

Frequently, it will be necessary to connect calls. Connecting calls creates a conference call between multiple people. There is a special multi-step procedure for connecting calls. First, check to see that the person who will receive the call is available. Then, connect the calls and finally, announce that the connection was successful.

Disconnected Calls

Sometimes, a call becomes disconnected. When this happens it is important to reach the client quickly and reconnect the call. When connections are lost and result in disconnected calls it reflects poorly on our company.

Hang Up

It is never appropriate to hang up on a client. Even if a client gets angry, you cannot end the call.

Get ready!

1 Before you read the passage, talk about these questions.
   1 Why do people use phones?
   2 How should you answer the phone at work?

Reading

2 Read this excerpt from an employee manual. Then, mark the following statements as true (T) or false (F).
   1 - The topics in the manual will be covered again in training.
   2 - When a call is disconnected, call the client back right away.
   3 - Secretaries should end calls with angry or rude customers.

Vocabulary

3 Match the words (1-6) with the definitions (A-F).

1 - telecommunication  4 - connect a call
2 - handle phones      5 - hang up
3 - disconnected call  6 - screen calls

A - to stop a call abruptly and on purpose
B - to decide who gets a phone call
C - sound being transmitted electronically
D - to move a call to another person
E - a phone call that ends by accident
F - to be able to use phones effectively and efficiently

4 Choose the word that is closest in meaning to the underlined part.

1 The training class starts in one hour.
   A interaction  B seminar  C connection

2 There are several ways to answer the phone politely.
   A appropriate  B in-depth  C multiple

3 It is very rude to purposely end a call on customers.
   A screen      B hang up    C disconnect
5 Listen and read the handbook again. Explain the procedure for handling phone calls.

Listening

6 Listen to a conversation between a secretary and an administrator. Choose the correct answers.

1 Why does the administrator talk to the secretary?
   A to ask for a customer's information
   B to explain a change in policy
   C to discuss a customer complaint
   D to fire her for a mistake

2 What will the secretary likely do next?
   A Call Mr. Seneca.
   B Write an apology.
   C Ask for a transfer.
   D Reconnect the call.

7 Listen again and complete the conversation.

Administrator: Rebecca, we 1 _____________.
Secretary: Is something wrong?
Administrator: I just 2 ____________ with Charles Seneca. I 3 ____________ you hung up on him!
Secretary: Mr. Bryant, I promise, I didn't 4 ____________ anyone!
Administrator: Why don't you tell me your version of what happened, then.
Secretary: Well, I was screening his call to see who he needed to talk to. But he seemed a bit 5 _____________.
Administrator: That's about what he said, too. But then he says you hung up on him.
Secretary: No, I was about to connect him to you, but 6 ____________ he was disconnected.
Administrator: Okay. That's possible, because he uses a cell phone.
Secretary: That's a relief! I thought I was in trouble.
Administrator: 7 ____________ Did you try to reach him immediately after the call was disconnected?
Secretary: No, I assumed he'd call back.
Administrator: That's a problem. If you're going to handle the phones, you do need to reconnect calls ASAP.
Secretary: I'm so sorry. I will next time.
Administrator: Good. Now, I'd appreciate it if you'd call Mr. Seneca and apologize.
Secretary: Right away.

- the customer's reaction to the disconnected call
- the secretary's version of events
- what the secretary should do
Today I taught a new employee how to write business correspondence. I realized that I know a unique vocabulary from working as a secretary that can be confusing to others. Now, I want to share some common abbreviations that you should use when you are writing professional letters.

The first step of formal correspondence is the heading which often requires several abbreviations. Use attn. before you write the person's name. This stands for "attention", and it helps the reader identify the letter's recipient. Re means "regarding" and comes before a short explanation of the letter's contents.

Next, write the name of the company which frequently ends in abbreviations like Corp. (corporation), Ltd. (limited company), and Inc. (incorporated). On the next line, write the person's position in abbreviated form. Dir. stands for "director" and CEO means "Chief Executive Officer".

The body of the message can also include abbreviations. Make sure to use ones that are standard in business writing instead of slang words. For example, an appropriate one is ETA which stands for "estimated time of arrival".

At the end, write encl., which stands for "enclosure", to indicate if you are enclosing other documents with your letter. These simple abbreviations can make your correspondence look more professional.
4 Write a word that is similar in meaning to the underlined part.
1 Using short forms of words or phrases saves space and time.
   __ b __ i __ n
2 Jack wrote a serious letter to announce he was leaving the company.
   __ r __ a __
3 The date should be included in the top written part of the letter.
   __ h __ i __

5 Listen and read the blog again. What did you learn from it?

Listening
6 Listen to a conversation between a secretary and a supervisor. Mark the following statements as true (T) or false (F).
1 __ The shipment will arrive later than scheduled.
2 __ The secretary has not contacted Trundle Incorporated yet.
3 __ The supervisor decides to change paper suppliers.

7 Listen again and complete the conversation.

Secretary: Ms. Hendricks, I got an email from Trundle __ you should know about.
Supervisor: Trundle Incorporated? Oh, yes, the new paper supplier. What's it about?
Secretary: Well, they're __ the estimated time of arrival on the first shipment.
Supervisor: Wow, it's their first order with us and they're already __ the ETA?
Secretary: Yeah, it's not exactly good business, is it?
Supervisor: No, not at all. Have you called them to see if they can __ ?
Secretary: I did, but they just gave me __ .
Supervisor: I see. __ , forward that email to my account. What's the subject line?
Secretary: Um, it's 'Re: Shipping Date Order 1612'.
Supervisor: Thanks. I think I'll share that with our __ and see if she can convince them to ship __ .
Secretary: I imagine a phone call from the Chief Executive Officer carries more weight than one from a secretary, doesn't it?
Supervisor: It shouldn't matter who calls. They promised to deliver on time and they're not doing it.

Speaking
8 With a partner, act out the roles below based on Task 7. Then, switch roles.

USE LANGUAGE SUCH AS:
They've changed the ...
What's the subject line ...

- the company name
- the ETA
- subject line

Student B: You are a supervisor. Talk to Student A about a problem. Ask for details.

Writing
9 A company has changed the estimated time of arrival for a shipment. Use the blog and the conversation from Task 8 to write an email asking the company to deliver on time, using abbreviations where possible (100-120 words). Include:
- the original estimated time of arrival
- the reaction of your Chief executive Officer
- what your company will do if the order is late
When your boss travels, you want to get the best exchange rate for his or her cash. After all, they're going to need some local currency for daily expenses. How can you make sure that you are getting a fair rate when you exchange money?

A bank should be able to give you the daily rate for major currencies. Alternately, you can use an online currency converter to see how the other currencies compare to the dollar. The rates quoted by these sources are what you should be getting.

   5 Sign the _________ before depositing them.
   6 Jan is the nicest _________ at this branch.

Dear Ms. Jackson,

Welcome to your new position with Anderson and Co. Since you will be responsible for the daily bank deposit, I want to be sure that you know how it should be prepared. Please follow these instructions:

- Fill out a new deposit slip for each day's transaction.
- The account number is printed on the slip. You'll need to complete the date section above it.
- Write the total amount of cash in the appropriate box.
- List the checks according to deposit amount, from least to greatest. This will make it easier for you to calculate the total amount. It will also be easier for the bank teller to confirm your total.
- Place the deposit slip, cash and checks into the deposit bag.
- At the end of each day, take the deposit bag to the Elm Street branch of Community Bank and Trust. If the bank is closed, leave it in the drop-off box outside.

From time to time, you may need to make a withdrawal from the account. I will provide you with a separate slip on these occasions.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Sincerely,
Gloria Anderson

You will receive your wages on the 27th of each month. Your salary is paid one month in arrears.

Payments go directly into your bank account via direct deposit. Please make sure you complete the pay form with your bank details and give it to the payroll staff in Room 4.2 in order to receive prompt payment.

If you are on the sales staff, you will also receive commission of 5% on every sale. This is payable with your monthly salary. If you sell more than $10,000 worth of products in one month, you will also receive a bonus of $500. This sum is held in the company account until the end of the fiscal year.

Overtime is paid at 1.5 times your basic hourly rate. You will receive this rate for any work you do over 40 hours per week.

At your annual evaluation, you will have the opportunity to discuss whether you are entitled to a raise with your supervisor.

It is not company policy to give advances on salary. The exception is in an employee's first month of employment. Please speak to Jennifer Hunter in the payroll department if you wish to take advantage of this offer.

THE OFFICE WORKER

So, you're in charge of the books! It's not uncommon for secretaries and administrative assistants nowadays. It's not everyone's idea of an exciting job, but actually bookkeeping is one of the most important aspects of a business.

For tax reasons, every business has to keep a ledger recording of all its financial transactions. The ledger records important elements such as your profit and loss, incoming payments and outgoings. Hold onto all receipts and bank statements, and create a good filing system to store them. That way you have them if you ever need to back up your figures.

Good bookkeeping is also essential in that it helps companies to get loans. Banks like to see clear records. They will be more likely to invest in a business if they can see documentation of income and expenses. If you are still unenthusiastic about bookkeeping, try out the new bookkeeping computer software. These programs let you see information such as overdue accounts with a click of a mouse button. They can also give you insights into your company. For example, you can forecast sales and gain ideas on how to increase cash flow.

Just remember - although it may seem tedious, bookkeeping is an essential operation in any company!

Get ready!
