This month we are looking at some phrasal verbs you can use to talk about the home.

Phrasal Verb Themes: The Home

Move Out
To stop living in a particular house or flat.

"Jane moved out of her house because she thought there was a ghost there."

Move In To (Into)
To start living in a new house or flat.

"Paul has moved into his new apartment in the city."

Move In Together
To start living in the same house as someone.

"After a three-year relationship, Jennifer and Nigel finally decided to move in together."

Put Somebody Up
To let someone stay in your home for a short time.

"She had nowhere to stay so we put her up for a few weeks."

Sleep Over
To sleep in someone's house for a night.

"Paul missed the last bus home so he had to sleep over at my place."

Do Up
If you “do up” a house, you decorate it and make it nicer.

"The house was looking a bit old so we decided to do it up."

Pull Down
To demolish a building, often because it's old or about to fall down.

"They pulled down the old house even though they'd promised not to."

Live On (An Amount of Money)
If you “live on” an amount of money, you only have that amount of money to buy the things you need.

"We can't live on the money we earn."
